R. P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m8.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

DR. ROBACK'S

SCANDINAVIAN

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

WATER LIME.—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Dr. Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE.

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 12 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations the former will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 16th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

The best family medicine now before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines in fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W B MOFFAT, M.D.

New York, And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate.

n831ly HENRY LANCASTER.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh June 1st, 1858. 344

AGRICULTURAL.

Agricultural College.

We wish that every citizen of Michigan could pay a visit to this Institution. No one would fail to express surprise at what has been accomplished in the brief time since operations commenced. Every thing looks new yet from a heavy forest, a well cultivated farm has been 'put upon its passage:' and only the necessary time is required, to make it the most delightful spot to be found. The College edifice is a fine structure, built of the best looking brick in the State, and standing on a slight eminence, but a few rods from Cedar river.

We visited the place last week, for the first time since the Institution was opened; and must confess, we were not prepared for the change that has been made in the whole appearance of the farm, or to find all the appliances of a school of so high a grade. Every thing appears to be well systematised; and no person with 'a grain of candor in his heart, can look a the obstacles which had to be overcome, in an enterprise so new in many of its features, with no experience of any similar undertaking to fall back upon, without saying to those who have had the work in charge —'well done, good and faithful servants!'

Reckless demagogues, who would pull down every noble institution of our country from Freedom itself, to all our Asylums and schools, if they could thereby advance their party ends, may attack this enterprize, as they do others; and they will still signally fail. It is the farmer's school and they will readily understand the motives of those who attempt to prejudice them against its management. Let the people visit the College and judge for themselves; and we are not afraid to submit the case to the jury without argument. We hope that during the Land Sales, when there will be many of our citizens from all parts of the State, in Lansing, arrangements will be made to convey them to the Farm, at a trifling expense.—Lansing Repulican.

Manure Maxims.

At a late meeting of the Farmer's Club of the American Institute, Mr. Field read a paper on manures, in which he said—

The whole subject of manures may be stated in this proposition:

1. Manure does not waste so long as it is unfermented and undissolved, and these conditions may be effected by drying or saturation.

2. Fresh manure is unfit for food for plants.

3. Fermenting matter in contact with inert matter, has the power of neutralizing vicious properties, such as the tannic acid of peat, and making it a fertilizer.

4. Manure wastes in two ways—the escape of gas and the dissolving of its soluble salts.

5. The creative power of manure, mixed with other substances, is capable of multiplying its value many times.

6. The value of manure to crops is in proportion to its diffusibility thro' the soil. The golden rule of farming should be small quantities of manure thoroughly divided and intermingled with the soil.—Country Gentleman Feb. 4.

PROTECTION OF HORSES AGAINST FLIES.—A recent number of the Irish Farmer's Gazette, says that if a horse previous to being taken out of the stable, be well sponged with a decoction of laurel leaves about the head, loins, &c., it would be a preventive to his being annoyed with horse-flies. The decoction is made by boiling the leaves in water for a considerable time. The more leaves are used in proportion to the water the better it will be. The decoction should be carefully put away, as it is highly poisonous. While writing the above our attention is also directed to a statement in a recent number of the Moniteur d' Agriculture of Paris, which reminds its readers that M. de Serre a famous French agriculturalist made the discovery that a decoction of the leaves of the walnut tree, applied to horses and other animals as a wash, will be complete protection against the sting of insects. Try both.—Mich. Farmer.

TO MAKE PLAIN PLUM PUDDING.—Take three eggs, four pounded crackers, one quart of milk, one fourth pound of raisins, salt and spice to your taste.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain mortgage, made and executed by Barlan A. Osterhout and Mary Osterhout his wife to David Stout, to secure the payment of four hundred dollars and interest which Mortgage bears date February 25th A. D. 1854 and was recorded in the office for the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the 16th day of April A. D. 1854 in Liber S" of Mortgages on folios 53 and 54 on which Mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this notice the sum of Two Hundred and Seventy dollars (270) and no suit or proceeding in law or equity having been instituted for the recovery thereof; notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and pursuant to the Statute in such case made and provided the premises described in said Mortgage as follows to wit: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Macon, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan described as follows, to wit: Being the South Quarter of the North East Quarter of section Thirty-three, in town five (5) south of range five (5) east, being forty acres of land more or less, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the Fourth day of June next, at One o'clock P. M. of that day, at the door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan.

DAVID STOUT, Mortgagee.
DAVIS & BARTON, Attys.
Dated this 4th day of March A. D. 1858. 281w13

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by Mortgage dated the 25th day of February A. D. 1857 executed by Edward Brairton to Edward Egan and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of the County of Lenawee Michigan October 24th 1857 in Liber Z of Mortgages on folios 225 and 226 upon which Mortgage there is now claimed due the sum of Nine Hundred and Nine Dollars

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power in said mortgage contained and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided I shall sell to the highest bidder on the 13th day of May next at the Circuit Court room in the city of Adrian in the county of Lenawee, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day the premises in said mortgage described to wit: All that certain tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Cambridge, in the said county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows to wit: The east half of the south-east quarter of section three in township five (5) south of range two (2) east containing eighty acres more or less or so much of said premises as shall be necessary to satisfy the money aforesaid due upon said mortgage together with the interest thereon and the costs of foreclosure provided for in said mortgage.

EDWARD EGAN
MARVIN WOOD.
Attys for Mortgagee. Mortgagee.
Dated January 18th 1858. 277w12

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the city of Adrian on Friday the sixth day of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present Fernando C. Beaman Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Christiana Demuth deceased. On reading and filing the Petition duly verified, of Benjamin Demuth administrator on the estate of said deceased praying for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered That Monday the thirty-first day of May next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that all persons interested in said estate of the said deceased are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Farmers' Friend a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN Judge of Probate
A true Copy. 280w4

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money now secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th 1857 made by Jefferson Hefferington to Jacob Cheever Jun. and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 206 and 210 October 12th 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due for principal and interest one hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter of section three in Township six south of range five east in Michigan except ten acres off of the north end to Nathan Cheever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the Court House in the city of Adrian.

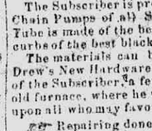
BIRDSEY & BAXTER, JACOB CHEEVER, Jr.
Attorneys. Mortgagee.
April 16th 1858. 288w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County, Michigan, on the 25th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty two dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest on said sum.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: The north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, more or less will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in said Village of Tecumseh in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 304t13



CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices according. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

DR. MCCRUMS Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON.
Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he could conduct his own purchases and personally live in the great metropolis of which he could send for the final selection of the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having been satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy BETTER than any single purchaser can. In fact we say to our friends familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent. although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield Wentworth & Co., Boston.
S. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies at Par (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies Railroads and other corporations.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

How to be the most beautiful woman in the world. How to be more beautiful after marriage, instead of more ugly as most wives are. How to transmit your beauty to your children without losing it yourself. How to be sweet without perfume, cheerful without constant coxy without rouge and radiant without paint. The means are certainly within the reach of every woman and are detailed with ample directions in Dr. Lyon's Letter to Ladies which will be mailed prepaid to your address on the receipt of 25 cents in stamps or American coin. Address

DR. T. L. CHAPMAN,
No. 47 West 13th Street, New York.

KEDZIE'S PATENT WATER FILTER.

THE BEST FILTER KNOWN FOR FAMILY USE; has given the highest satisfaction for many years; is scientific in construction portable durable and cheap. It renders rain water perfectly pure and sweet making cisterns more economical than wells, and avoiding the diseases arising from the hard water of limestone regions. Five sizes retail from $8 to $12 dollars. Wholesale to the trade at the usual discount. Can be forwarded safely by any distance. Formerly made by T. F. Chester & Co. made now only by JAMES TERRY & CO. at the old stand 6 J. E. & Co. State Street. Rochester N. Y. For descriptive circulars address James Terry & Co.

THOUSANDS THROUGHOUT the COUNTRY ARE SICK

Thousands would give half their fortunes to BE WELL.

Send them to Dr. TYLER who, by Spirit aid, can see what others guess at; can see your disease, see all its extent and progress, and see the means of cure. For descriptive circular and a list of almost miraculous cures performed during the past five years in the west and South send one three cent stamp and address Dr S. Tyler 342 Broadway New York.

Persons at a distance can be treated by sending a lock of hair age and symptoms. Consultations fee, $5.

S. W. FRANCIS' Patent Printing Machine.

THIS Machine is played by means of piano keys; two copies are printed at once in less time than is required to produce one with the pen. Divines, while in the pulpit, will be freed from the inconveniences attending an ordinary manuscript. Authors secured from looping the ends of many hours of mental application by the destruction of a single copy while in the hands of the publisher. Editors no longer trouble with illegible and unpaid. One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: The north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, more or less will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in said Village of Tecumseh in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 304t13

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

LATEST ARRIVAL

A James & Co.

GARDEN SEED AND GENUINE CHINESE SUGAR CANE SEED.

A JAMES has just received from the great Seed Store in Rochester, 2,000 papers of Approved Garden Seeds.

Marrowfat, Early June and Field Peas, by the bushel or less, Sugar Cane Seed warranted genuine, by the pack or less, cheaper than ever offered before in this State This seed has been selected expressly for this market. Early English White Potatoes, &c.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

TO COURTRY MERCHANTS.

D. S. WILLIAMS.

LATE WILLIAMS & CUNNINGHAM,

Having removed to the spacious lofts in the Cary Building, 105 and 107 Chambers Street, and 89 and 91 Reade street New-York, is now offering for cash or on approved credit, a large and well assorted stock of

HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS AND

UMBRELLAS, PARASOLS, &c.,

Of all the styles, qualities and materials usually found in market. Having one of the largest sale-rooms in the city (60 by 150 feet) with ample facilities, and an experience of near twenty years in the business, purchasers may feel assured of being as well served at this house as at any other in the trade.

☞ Orders from the country filled with care and promptness. 391

Medical, &c.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, In view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual disorders, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their consulting Surgeon, 64-A CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE, GRATIS to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate on commands the highest Medical Skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the free Dispensary for Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st. 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address for Report or treatise, Dr. GEORG R. CALHOUN Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
EZRA D. HEAREWELL, President.
396ly

Bragg's Arctic Liniment.

This unconquered Liniment upon which the great mass of afflicted of all lands rely for relief from the pangs of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, Erysipelas Cancer, Scrofula, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds and all cutaneous diseases, is rapidly supplanting all similar preparations. The proprietors care for the encouragement of sufferers, the following memorandum of a few of the wonderful cures effected by it during the past few months. Certificates from the parties named are in the possession of the proprietors; their length precludes the publication of all but a few.

One Bottle Triumphant.

Mrs. Moffitt, No. 545 Morgan Street, St. Louis, having suffered for three years with Rheumatism, and tried many preparations without effect, was cured by one fifty cent bottle of Arctic Liniment.

Out of Purgatory.

Henry Davis, Mound street St. Louis, who says he was "suffering the pangs of purgatory" with neuralgia for months was cured by three or four applications of the Arctic Liniment.

Pity the Little Children.

A little daughter of Mrs. Lee residing on Lake St Chicago was scalded all over by the upsetting of a kettle of boiling water. The Arctic Liniment was applied according to the directions and the fire was instantly extracted, and in a few days the little sufferer was well.

Restored to Beauty.

Mrs. George K. Tyler, Canal street, N. Orleans had long suffered from a painful and disfiguring eruption on the face and by the use of one bottle of the Liniment was cured, and restored to her original beauty.

A Horrible Tumor.

Eugene Mallory, Natchez was three years the victim of a horrible tumor on the neck which resisted all remedies until he tried the Arctic Liniment. Three bottles cured him in a few weeks.

Wonderful Cure!

Mrs Bedford, Mobile, was confined to her couch for three years with nimb palsy and after being in despair from the failure of all other remedies, was cured by the Arctic Liniment, in a little over a month.

Explosion.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 28th, 1857.

I hereby certify, that having been badly bruised and scaled by the explosion of a Steam Boiler, a friend induced me to try Bragg's Arctic Liniment. The smart was instantly extracted from the scalds, and in a very short time all the pain was gone from the bruises—In two weeks I was well, and able to resume my business.

The Blind See!

Webster City, Iowa, Nov. 9th, 1857.

DR. A. G. BRAGG.—Dear Sir: For more than three years I had been afflicted with inflamed eyes, in an aggravated degree and tried various Physicians, and several nostrums, to no effect. I was induced by Dr. Baum to try the Arctic Liniment and in two months was nearly well. My little daughter was afflicted in the same manner for the same time, and during a portion of the time was entirely blind in one eye. I applied your valuable Liniment, and her eyes are perfectly sound. Thus have I with one two-bitt bottle cured my daughter's eyes and my own, besides curing the rheumatism in my back. I would not be without your invaluable remedy in my home. Yours Truly

Wm. RUSSELL.

Webster City, Iowa, Nov. 9th, 1857.

I hereby certify, that I am well acquainted with Wm Russell, and with his astonishing cures he mentions, and know his statement to be strickly true.

Good for Animals.

This Invaluable Liniment is also equally efficatious in curing the diseases of animals as witness the following certificate: Messrs J & A. Arnot and Lynch, Arnet & Co., keep the two largest livery stables in the west and are generally known as Louis. Dec 23rd. 1857.

We, the undersigned, having used Dr. Bragg's Arctic Liniment for a number of months cheerfully testify to its superior efficacy in curing the diseases of horses; so well are we satisfied of the Arctic being the best Liniment made, that we would not be without it. We keep and have kept for a number of years, extensive livery stables in this city and consequently our experience about horses and their diseases is great and we unhesitatingly say, that the Arctic Liniment is the only one we have ever found ALWAYS EFFECTIVE. We cordially recommend it to all livery stable keepers and others having the care of horses

J. & A. ARNOT,
LYNCH, ARNOT & CO
Chestnut Street.

Caution.

Many Druggists, having old liniments on hand, will try to sell them to you as the best, but do you positively refuse to purchase them. Ask for "BRAGG'S ARCTIC LINIMENT" and take no other Liberal Proposition.

The proprietors agree to furnish each purchaser of a dollar bottle, with a free subscription to the U. S. Journal, for one year. This is one of the best N. Y. illustrated papers. A certificate entitling the holder to the benefit of this proposition is enclosed in the wrapper around every dollar bottle. The Arctic Liniment is put up in 25 cent 50 cent and $1. bottles. The 50 cent and $1 bottles contain 50 and 100 per cent more Liniment in proportion to their cost, and are the cheapest.

For sale by BRAGG & BURROWES,
Sole Proprietors. St. Louis. Mo.

An Agent wanted in every town and village. Applications must always be accompanied by responsible references. For Sale by Taylor & Curtis. Tecumseh.

Stilson & Curtis, Agents, Tecumseh.
Oct. 22n361y1

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co. premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

Miscellaneous.

PROSPECTUS OF THE WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED.

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

Its wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. $12.50 per annum.
15 " " $15.00 " "
20 " " $20.00 " " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent. and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 20th, 1858.

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh.

PIRCES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Patent Medicines.

DR ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician, succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague aschma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, prickling of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility, diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber, are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

PERU, Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 4, 1857.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK:—I have received much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills. that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach, for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. BEAUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMILLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel, Indianapolis Oct. 5, 1857

Dr. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMILLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

DEAR DOCTOR—Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills Card & co. so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my complaint—dyspepsia—after constipation with its attendant evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am now a believer, and will be the contrary. Why, I have taken as many as six (6) of them and other sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

TECUMSEH, Friday Sept 4, 1857.

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine, called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used curbus other medicines. After using two bottles I felt its effect very rapidly and upon using two more I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me therefore, to congratulate you upon having a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNETT,
Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday Sept. 2, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting. I was induced by a friend to try them, which I am now using. I have used the Purifier for the last twelve months, and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it unto me that at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac, gratis, from my agents.

Manufactory, Sales-Room and Office, No. 6 East Fourth street 3d building from Main street (in the O. S. N. BROWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Clinton. G. V. HAWKINS, Medina. F. N. BUTLER Morenci And by Druggists and Merchants generally

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 376m3

AN ENGLISH LADY, Widow of the late Archibald Fitzgibbon, Professor of Chemistry, having decided upon making America her future home, is induced from the most generous motives to give to all who may require it, a RECEIPT (discovered by her husband, and now in her possession only) for making a preparation for Restoring Hair to Bald Persons, changing it to its ORIGINAL COLOR, if it has become Grey, and preventing it from falling out. The preparation can be made at a very small cost. Persons sending for the Receipe should enclose five postage stamps, (Fifteen Cents,) to pay return postage and printing. Mrs Fitzgibbon desires that all correspondence be carried on with her son, who will devote as much of his time as the carrying out of his mother's wishes will require. Address,

ALFRED A. FITZGIBBON,
New York P. O. 375m3

ON MANHOOD,

AND ITS PREMATURE DECLINE.

Just Published, Gratis, the 20th Thousand

A FEW WORDS ON THE RATIONAL Treatment, without Medicine, of Spermatorrhea or Local Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, Genital and Nervous Debility, Impotency, and Impediments to Marriage generally, by

B. DELANEY, M. D.

The important fact that the many alarming complaints, originating in the imprudence and solitude of youth, may be easily removed without Medicine, is in this small tract clearly demonstrated; and the entirely new and highly successful treatment, as adopted by the Author, fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure HIMSELF perfectly and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day

Sent to any address, gratis and post free in a sealed envelope, by remitting (post paid) two postage stamps to Dr. B. DE LANEY, 88 East 31st street, New York City. 389*

Lancaster's LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n341ly HENRY LANCASTER

Drv Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 3 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 130 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms easy.

80 acres of land near the village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also 8 Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of polished iron, wood and all warranted to do as well as any. ☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 31. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JUNE 17, 1858. WHOLE NO. 396

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. R. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK, Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT,
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHEUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. D. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

S. A. STACY. L. D. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicag Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER. W. E. CHEEVER.
H. M. & W. E. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
301y TECUMSEH, MICH.

From the Ladies Repository for June.

THE GOOD MAN NEVER DIES.

BY R. L. BAXTER, ESQ.

The good man never dies,
Though his three score years and ten
May have passed unheeded by,
In the busy marts of men,
In the furrowed field or grove,
Upon mountain, sea or shore,
Still his untold deeds of love
Are a blessing evermore.

As the circlets of the sea,
At the pebbles tiny fall,
As the wavelets of the air,
From the mountain hunter's call,
As the streaming of the light;
So, mid weariness and strife,
Do his words of gentle kindness
Fill the infinite of life.

They live while he is wasting,
They breathe when he is gone;
Immortal in its freshness
Is every good deed done,
Immortal in its blessing;
Yet more undying still,
To wither and to blacken,
Is every deed of ill.

We do not die, we cannot,
For hasting ever on,
Are the moments that are past,
With the actions that are done;
With the keys of light and darkness
We before the future stand,
'Tis through the gateway of the glory
We must reach the better land.—

Smiles for Home.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

'Take that home with you dear,' said Mrs. Lewis, her manner half smiling half serious.

'Take what home, Caddy?' and Mr. Lewis turned toward his wife curiously.

Now Mrs. Lewis had spoken from the moment's impulse, and already partly regretted her remark.

'Take what home?' repeated her husband. 'I don't understand you.'

'That smiling face you turned upon Mr. Edwards, when you answered his question just now.

Mr. Lewis slightly averted his head, and walked on in silence. They had called in at the store of Mr. Edwards to purchase a few articles, and were on their way home. There was no smile on the face of Mr. Lewis now, but a very grave expresson instead, grave almost to sternness. The words of his wife had taken him altogether by surprise; and though spoken lightly, had jarred upon his ears.

The truth was, Mr. Lewis, like a great many other men who have their own business cares and troubles, was in the habit of bringing home a sober, and too often a clouded face. It was in vain that his wife and children looked into that face for sunshine, or listened to his words for tones of cheerfulness.

'Take that home with you dear.' Mrs Lewis was already repenting this suggestion, made on the moment's impulse. He could not bear even an impiled censure from his wife. And so she had learned to be very careful in this particular.

'Take that home with you dear! Ah me! I wish the words had not been said. There will be darker clouds now, and gracious knows they were dark enough before! Why can't Mr. Lewis leave his cares and business behind him, and let us see the old smiling face again. I thought this morning he had forgotten how to smile, but I see he can smile if he tries. Ah! why don't he try at home?'

So Mrs. Lewis talked to herself as she moved along by the side of her husband who had not spoken a word since her reply to his query, 'Take what home?' Block after block was passed, and street after street crossed, and still there was silence between them.

'Of course,' said Mrs. Lewis, speaking her own thoughts. 'Of course he is offended. He wont bear a word from me; I might have known beforehand, that talking out in this way would only make things worse. O, dear, I'm getting out of all heart!'

'What then, Caddy?'

Mrs. Lewis almost started at the sound of her husband's voice breaking, unexpectedly, upon her ear in a softened tone.

'What then?' he repeated, turning towards her, and looking down into her shyly upturned face.

'It would send warmth and radiance through the house,' said Mr. Lewis, her tones all a tremble with feeling.

'You think so?' Only try it, dear, for this one evening.'

'It didn't seem to require much effort just now,' said Mrs. Lewis, glancing up at her husband with something of archness in her look.

Again a shadow dropped down on the face of Lewis, which was again partly turned away; and again they walked on in silence.

'He is so sensitive!' Mrs Lewis said herself, the shadow of her husband's face darkening over her own. 'I have to be as careful of my words as if talking to a spoiled child.'

No, it did not require much effort on the part of Lewis to smile as he passed a few words lightly with Edwards. The remark of his wife had not really displeased him; it had only set him to thinking. After remaing gravely silent, because he was undergoing a brief self-examination, Lewis said—

'You thought the smile given to Edwards came easy enough?'

'It did not seem to require any effort,' replied Mrs. Lewis

'No, not much effort was required,' said Lewis. His tones were slightly depressed. 'But this must be taken into account; my mind was in a certain state of excitement or activity that repressed sober feelings, and made smiling an easy thing. So we smile and are gay in company, at cost of little effort, because all are smiling and gay, and we feel the common sphere of excitement. How different it often is when we are alone, I need not say. You, Caddy, are guilty of the sober face at home as well as your husband.'

Lewis spoke with a tender reproof in his voice.

'But the sober face is caught from you oftener than you imagine, my husband,' replied Mrs. Lewis.

'Are you certain of that, Caddy?'

'Very certain. You make the sunlight and the shadow of your home.—Smile upon us; give us cheerful words; enter into our feelings and interests, and there will be no brighter home in all the land. A shadow on your countenance is a veil for my heart, and the same is true as respects our children. Our pulses strike too nearly in unison not to be disturbed when yours has lost its even beat.'

Again Lewis walked on in silence; his face partly averted; and again his wife began to fear that she had spoken too freely But he soon dispelled this impression for he said—

'I am glad, Caddy, that you have spoken thus plainly I only wish that you had done so before, I see how it is.—My smiles have been for the outside world—the world that neither loved or regarded me—and my clouded brow for the dear ones at home for whom thought and care are ever living activities.'

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were now at their door, where they paused a moment and then went in. Instantly, on passing his threshold, Lewis felt the pressure upon him of his usual state. The hue of his feelings began to change. The cheerful interesting exterior put on for those he met in business intercouse, began rapidly to change, and a sober hue to succeed.—Like most business men, his desire for profitable results was even far in advance of the slow evolutions of trade; and his daily history was a history of disappointments, in some measure dependent upon his anticipation He was not as willing to work and to wait as he should be; and like many of his class, neglected the pearls that lay here and there along his path, because they were inferior in value to those that he hoped to find just a little way in advance. The consequence was, that when the day's business excitement was over, his mind fell into a brooding state, and lingered over its disappointments, or looked forward with failing hope in the future—for hope in many things, had been long deferred. And so he rarely had smiles for his home.

'Take that home with you, dear,' whispered Mrs Lewis, as they moved along the passage, and before they had joined the family. She had an instinctive consciousness that her husband was in danger of relapsing into his usual state.

The warning was just in time.

'Thank you for the words!' said he.—'I will not forget them.'

And he did not; but at once rallied himself, and to the glad surprise of Jenny, Will, and Mary, met them with a new face, covered with fatherly smiles, and with pleasant questions, in pleasant tones, of their day's employments. The feelings of children move in quick transitions. They had not expected a greeting like this; but the response was instant Little Jenny climbed into her father's arms.—Will came and stood by his chair, answering in lively tones his questions, while Mary, older by a few years than the rest, leaned against her father's shoulder and laid her white hand softly upon his head, smoothing back the dark hair, just showing a little frost, from his broad, manly temple.

A pleasant group was this for the eyes of Mrs. Lewis, as she came forth from her chamber to the sitting room, where she had gone to lay off her bonnet and shawl, and change her dress. Well did her husband understand the meaning look she gave him; and warmly did her heart respond to the smile he threw back upon her.

'Words fitly spoken are like apples of gold in pictures of silver,' said Lewis, speaking to her, as she came in.

'What do you mean by that?' asked Mary, looking curiously into her father's face.

'Mother understands,' replied Lewis, smiling tenderly upon his wife.

'Something pleasant must have happened,' said Mary.

'Something pleasant. Why do you say that?' asked Lewis.

'You and mother look so happy,' replied the child.

'And we have cause to be happy,' answered the father, as he drew his arm tightly around her, 'In having three such good children.'

Mary laid her cheek on his, and whispered, 'If you are smiling and happy, dear father! home will be like Heaven.'

Lewis kissed her, but did not reply. He felt a rebuke in her words But the rebuke did not throw a chill over his feelings; it only gave a new strength to his purposes.

'Don't distribute all your smiles. Keep a few of the warmest and brightest for home,' said Mrs. Lewis, as she parted from her husband on the next morning He kissed her, but did not promise The smiles were kept, however, and evening saw them; though not the outside world. Other and many evenings saw the same happy home. And was not Lewis a better and happier man? Of course he was. And so would all men be, if they would take home with them the smiling aspect they so often exhibit, as they meet their fellow men in business intercourse, or exchange words in passing compliments. Take your smiles and cheerful words home with you, husbands, fathers and brothers. Your hearths are cold and dark without them.

The Turk's Great Hunting Expedition.

The Herald correspondent says: "The announcement for a party having been formed to accompany Rear Admiral Mohammed Pacha and suite for an excursion to Minnesota, this summer, has created quite a sensation among the foreign attaches and other pleasure hunters in Washington.

Besides Vice-President Breckinridge, Senators Fitch and Rice, Becker and Cavanagh, Representatives from Minnesota, Governor Medary, Dr Coleman, Representative elect from Dacotah, there will be a large party from Washington, and among them many of the Foreign Legation. The beautiful lakes and prairies of Minnesota, abounding with fish, game, and the buffalo will afford such novelty and excitement to the distinguished Turk, other foreigners, and the whole party as cannot be found in any other part of the world. It is proposed to start in July, and to go to Breckenridge, near the dividing line between Minnesota and Dacotah, at the head of the navigation of the Red River of the North, and at the junction of the Bois des Sioux, or Sioux Wood River, with the Red River, or Otter Tail River. This will be the head quarters of the party. Only imagine Mohammed Pacha and suite, and these scented gentlemen of the Foreign Legations on a buffalo hunt on our magnificent prairies of the far West! What a chance for their health, after a dissipation of Washington society and city life! and then twelve or fifteen hundred miles of railroad continuously to travel, through great cities and scenery of mountains, lakes and great rivers, which for thousands of miles bear produce to the ocean, and the immeasurable prairies, how will these strike our visitors? Doubtless they will exclaim, God is great,' and this is a 'great country!' Speaking of this Western country of Minnesota and Dacotah, I may mention that there is a project being developed to connect by canal, less than a mile in length, two of the lakes in Minnesota, one connecting with the waters of the Mississippi and the other with the Red River of the north, by which a continued chain of communication will be opened between the Gulf of Mexico and Hudson's Bay—between the tropics and the artic zone—through the interior waters of this continent Let the Turkish Rear Admiral see these things and understand this fact, and he will apostrophise Allah, and say this is a 'great country!',"—Harper's Weekly.

This is the first really pleasant day we have had for the past week.—Monday June 14.

From the Waverly Magazine.

Mary Clemmer Ames, author of the following is one of the first among American poetesses She writes but little, but what comes from her must be such a sweetness which at once meets kind response in all hearts If such love and affection subsists between all the sons and daughters of our race how beautiful the sight! how joyous the society. We wish all the readers of the Waverley may be possessors of those, or kindred emotions.

CLARENCE CARLETON.

A WAIF FOR MY SISTERS.

How I miss you, my sweet sisters,
Now the summer days have come,
How I want you, precious sisters,
With me in my quiet home.
Scarce it seems like home without you,
Laughing Madge and thoughtful Nell;
How I miss—how I want you,
My poor words can never tell!

In these summer Sabbath twilights,
When so softly dies the day—
In the time so still and holy,
When we used to kneel and pray.
How I miss you as all lonely
Low I breathe my evening lay—
While I ask God's richest blessing
On my sisters far away.

Ever 'mid these golden twilights,
Ere the night her goblet fills—
Ere he quenches the fierce daylight,
Burning on the dusky hills,
Do I sit and softly listen,
As each well remembered strain,
Sung by you in summer twilight,
Floats back on the breeze again.
Wildly thrills my yearning spirit,
Though I know my eager ear
Catches not the cherished voices
Which I'm pining so to hear.

And amid the glowing daytime,
All along life's dusty way,
Mid the little cares and trials
That belong to every day,
How I miss your sunny faces,
How I miss your words of cheer,
And the soothing velvet footfalls
Which I used to love to hear.
Now no more I feel the throbbing
Of your heart pressed close to mine,
On me shines no dark eye glances,
With a light almost divine.

Gone the days of sweet romances,
Gone the blended smiles and tears,
Gone the hours of rich communing,
Buried with the buried years.
Never more as in the old time,
All together round one hearth,
Shall we make the dear old home stead
Echo with our ringing mirth
Nevermore! oh, sweetest sisters,
There is anguish in that word!
To my heart it seems the saddest
That the ear hath ever heard.

When the golden sandaled autumn
From the sapphire heaven comes down,
Ere she weaves the leaves of summer
In her gorgeous robe and crown,
You will gather, lovely sisters,
Round the sunny hearth of home,
But my seat will still be empty,
For the wanderer cannot come.

When you roam along the hillside,
Where the fragrant south wind grieves,
When you stand amid the shadows
Of the rustling, yellow leaves;
When your blended tears are falling,
O'er the tale which memory weaves,
When you sweetly sing together
In the holy Autumn eves,
When you join the ringing laughter
Of the children at their play,
When you kneel around the altar,
At the dying of the day,
Give one thought, oh! precious sisters,
Unto her who loves you so;
Unto her who craves all blessings
On your hearts where'er you go.
And where'er my feet may wander,
Wherese'er my lot is cast,
Though I die—believe, sweet sisters,
That I loved until the last

MARY CLEMMER AMES.

Power of Music.

The chief delight of the wandering tribes of Persia is to sit together smoking their pipes, and listening to songs and tales, or looking at the tricks and grimaces and enjoying the witticisms of buffoons (who are to be found in every quarter of Persia,) and some of whom are perfectly skilled in their art. A Persian chief of a Kurdish tribe, who remained several days with the British missions near Kermanshah, in 1801, had in his train a jester who possessed very versatile and extraordinary talents One day upon the march, the fellow, addressing the English envoy, said:—'You are no doubt very proud of the discipline you have established amongst your Persian servants, who march in your front in as regular style as your own soldiers? How long sir, has it taken you, to introduce this order among my countrymen?" 'About six months,' was the reply. 'Now,' said he 'if you will permit me, you shall see that I will, in less than six minutes, destroy all that you have done in six months.' Leave being granted he rode near the Persian horsemen who were leading the state horses, and who had strict orders not to leave their ranks, He had noticed they were almost all of the Lac and Fylee tribes, whose chief residence is among the mountains of Louristan, and he began to sing, as to himself, but in a clear and loud voice, a song which commenced, 'Attend to me, ye sons of Loristan; I sing of the glorius deeds of your forefathers' Before he had finished the song, to which all were listening with attention, the whole cavalcade was thrown into confusion by the kicking of horses, the Persians having broken the line of march, and crowded round to hear him more distinctly. The jester laughed heartily at the success of his joke, and said to the envoy, 'Do not be distressed at the fate of your fine discipline: I have heard of a man who, with nothing but the song I have just sung, collected an army, and was called a king for several weeks.' Travels in the East.

General Persifer F. Smith.

Brevet Major General PERSIFER FRAZER SMITH, of the United States army, commander of the expedition to Utah, died at Fort Leavenworth Kansas, on the 16th inst. General Smith was born in Philadelphia in November, 1798. He was a son of Jonathan Smith, formerly Cashier of the Bank of Pennsylvania, and afterwards Cashier of the Bank of the U. S. After graduating at Princeton, Gen. S., studied law under the late Charles Chauncey, Esq., of Philadelphia, and, upon admission to the bar, removed to New Orleans, where he resided, engaged in the duties of his profession, until the Florida war, when he volunteered for service there, and served during two campaigns under General Gaines It was here that his military talent was brought to the knowledge of General Taylor, and it was upon General T., recommendation that the Governor of Louisiana gave to him the command of the Louisiana volunteerefor service in the war with Mexico. He served under General Taylor in the campaign of the Rio Grande. In May, 1846 while in Mexico, he was appointed Col., of the Mounted Rifle Regiment that was raised for the war, and, for his services at the seige and capture of Monterey, he was brevetted Brigadier General. He was subsequently ordered to join General Scott and commanded a brigade on the memorable march from Vera Cruz to the city of Mexico, taking a prominent part in the most important battles. At Contreras he rendered efficient service, Gen., Scott in his official report, stating that he 'directed the whole attack in front with his habitual coolness and ability' On the day of the capture of Contreras, the battle of Churubsco was fought, and General Smith was also conspicuous in that conflict. Subsequently he was appointed, with other officers to negotiate the armistice. At the resumption of hostilities he participated in the affair at Chapultepec and was in active service at the capture of the City of Mexico. After the war was over, General Smith, who had been promoted to the rank of Major General by brevet, for his services at Contreras, was ordered to California, to the command of that military department. Subsequently he held a similar command in Texas; and, later still, was in command of the department of the West, with head quarters at St Louis. This department includes the country west of the Mississippi and east of the Rocky Mountains, exclusive of the district in the departments of Texas and New Mexico. On the 15th of April last, General Smith was assigned to the command of the department of Utah. Since his service in Texas, Gen., Smith had suffered greatly from a chronic diarhœa, which enfeebled his frame and incapacited him for severe labor. He leaves a widow and one son, Dr. Howard Smith of New Orleans, the offspring of his first marriage.

When Lord Chief Justice Holt was once on the Western circuit, a man was brought before him, and tried, cast, and condemned for a highway robbery. Being after this remanded to the town goal, he most earnestly requested to have a private interview with the judge. Holt, thinking he might have something of importance to communicate respecting his accomplices, went to him in the prison, when the man, prefacing his speech, with saying, he felt some embarrassment at claiming acquaintance with him in such a situation said,—

'Sir, my real name is Smith, and I had the honor of being at college the same time you were. Such a circumstance I think you must remember.'

'Indeed I do,' said the Lord Chief Justice, 'and I now see some remains of your face. Pray what has become of your old companions, Tom, Dick, and Harry?'

'They are all hanged except you and I,' said the poor man with a deep sigh.

'Oh! are they?' said the judge, 'why then I must try to get you a reprieve, that's all; it may else be said of our college except myself, were exalted from the bar to the gallows.'

☞ MARKET REPORTS.—'Tin plates are flat, lead heavy, iron dull, Champaigne is brisk, rhubarb and senna are drugs, starch is stiffening, and paper is stationary There is no life in dead hogs but considerable animation in old cheese.'

☞ At one of the Parisian schools, it was a rare occurence for the students to have fresh bread for breakfast One morning, smoking rolls were placed upon the table.

'Hold!' cried one of the students as the waiter was clearing the table; 'leave the remainder of those rolls until to-morrow. We want fresh rolls to-morrow, too.'

From the Paris Press.

The Americans Among the Antilles.

The last steamer from the West Indies brought us news of great interest.—We are informed of the cession of the Bay of Samana to the United States, with the right of establishing there a naval station and building fortifications. If this fact be true, it will entail, in the future, the gravest consequences.

Situated at the western extremity of the island of Hayti, the Bay of Samana is the finest, perhaps, in the world, and it is regarded as the most magnificent maritime and commercial position to be found among the Antilles. All the fleets of Europe could anchor there in perfect security. Timber for building purposes abounds in the neighboring forests, and the River Yuna opens communication with the whole interior of the country as far as Santo Iago, the largest town in the Dominican Republic after the capital.

Masters of this portion of the island, the Americans would exercise supreme supervision from Santo Domingo to Port au Prince. Such a supervision would be extremly dangerous to the liberty of the two States which occupy the Haytien territory. We can easily understand the repugnance and legitimate fear with which a nation, essentially interested in the maintenance of slavery, is looked upon, both by the Dominicans, who are mostly men of color, and the Haytiens, of whom a great majority are of the pure African race.

The cession will be further complicated by the project of annexing the entire Dominican Republic. But we do not think that this cession can be regarded yet as a settled fact. To whom will the stipulated indemnity be paid? Who has the right to receive it? No one, assuredly, since the Dominican Republic is an independent State. The treaty relative to Samana is itself extremely obscure. Five or six years ago, General Cazneau endeavored to conclude it; but our Consul at Port-au-Prince, M. Maxime Raybaud, frustrated his attempts. M. Elliot, Consul at Santo-Domingo, was more fortunate in 1854, and Santana ceded the bay to the Americans. It is this treaty that is evoked to-day; but the Congress at Washington refused to sanction it; it has even been disapproved of by France and England, and we do not think that it can create a right in favor of the United States.

If the establishment of the Americans at Sarmana is yet doubtful, the mail brings us another fact which appears to be well authenticated. We allude to the American occupation of the little island of Navaz or Navaze, situated between Hayti, Jamaica and Cuba, at about the same distance from the first two of these islands.

Navaz would be a very meagre possession if we only looked to the fertility of its land. It is deserted, and wholly void it is said, of vegetation. Deposits of guano, of which we do not know the extent or the value, form its only wealth.—But its shores approximate Cuba, which excites in such a great degree the cupidity of Americans. Furthermore, as Perim commands the entrance into the Gulf of Arabia, so Navaz commands the route from Jamaica to Europe. We see then that this Island, whose name does not even figure in the most voluminous geographical dictionaries, does not want importance in a political point of view.

If we are to credit our correspondence the Emperor Faustin (Soulouque) has engaged the Governments of France and England to intervene at Washington, and obtain the abandonment of Navaz.

France is interested in not allowing the United States to assume too strong a position in the Antilles She has good reasons for opposing an establishment of this republic in the bay of Samana, but we do not know of any serious objections that she could raise with regard to the Isle of Navaz, which has never been regarded as a dependency of St. Domingo and the seizure of which can do us no injury, unless we regard it as the first step towards the conquest of Cuba. This would only constitute it an argument by hypothesis. As to England she will surely protest, although she has no proprietary right in the island. But we scarcely feel in the humor to complain. Remembering the manner in which Aden, Perim and so many other points have been seized, we cannot help experiencing a kind of satisfaction, and repeating with pleasure: 'A voleur, voleur et demi.'

☞ The man who stoutly objected to his wife's learning to skate has at length concluded to let her slide.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

FOR MY SISTER.

A brother's hand, a brother's love—
Which still in after years
Shall speak to thee of life's young dream,
And youth unburned with tears.

But do not deem that ever thus
Thine hours shall glide away;
Life's many cares, thou too must share,
In many an after day.

O! may its riper, fuller joys
To thee be also given,
And better far than all, seek thou,
The heritage of HEAVEN.

R——.

St. Louis, June 7.

A dispatch from Leavenworth, dated 5th, says an affray between Lane and Jenkins had occurred. They both live on a claim which was contested. The The former enclosed an acre of land, on which was a well used by both parties in common. Lane recently locked the well, fenced up the entrance, and forbade Jenkins access to it. Jenkins declared he would have water at all hazards. Lane threatened to shoot him if he made a forcible entry upon the premises On Thursday afternoon, Jenkins, accompanied by four friends, well armed, cut the fence down and proceeded towards the well. Lane warned them not to advance or he would shoot. Disregarding his threat, Jenkins and his party advanced, when Lane fired, killing Jenkins instantly. One of Jenkin's men then shot Lane in the leg, inflicting a wound which confines him to his bed.

Lane has been arrested, and was to undergo an examination to-day. Much excitement existed. Jenkins was held in high estimation, and his death is deeply deplored.

A man named Wm. Wells is in custody at Lawrence charged with being a participant in the Linn county outrage.

The Democratic convention in St Louis to-day nominated J. R Barret to represent this District in Congress.

Judge Campbell has declined the nomination of the American convention, as have also the gentlemen nominated for the State. Another convention is called for the 14th.

WEALTH OF WM. B. ASTOR.—Those who have any kind of facilities for forming an idea about it amounts to $40,000,000 or $50,000,000. It is mostly in real estate. He lives plainly but still is not niggardly. He has five children, 3 sons and two daughters. The two daughters married rich, as also did the eldest son The youngest son is mentally weak. Astor himself is now in Paris. He and his his eldest son divide their time in living between this country and Europe.—Mrs. W. B Astor is a benevolent lady is a practical Chrisrian and is an active manager in a ladies benevolent institution in New York, and the chief support of another in Dutchess Country, where her summer residence is.—Albany Argus.

CONSEQUENCE OF SMOKING.—A young lady once declared that she could not understand how gentlemen could smoke.—'It certainly shortens their lives,' said she.

'I don't know that, replied a gentleman; there's my father, who smokes every blessed day, and he is now seventy years old.'

'Well,' was the reply, 'if he had never smoked, he might have been eighty.'

TOTAL ABSCENCE.—Except thou desire to hasten thine end take this for a general rule, that thou never add any artificial heat to the body by wine or spice, until thou find that time hath decayed thy natural heat; and the sooner thou beginest to help nature the sooner she will forsake thee, and leave the to trust altogether to art.—Sir Walter Raleigh.

☞ A western editor says he was taught when a boy, to refrain from grumbling at two things;—the one is, that which he cannot help, and the other, that which he can help.

☞ A gentleman the other evening objected to playing cards with a lady, because she had such a winning way about her.

New York, June 15

The Steamer Arago arrived at noon to-day with dates to the 22d.

Her news was mostly embraced in the accounts per Nova Scotia via. Quebec; but there are some items of importance.

The Atlantic telegraph fleet was expected to return to Plymouth on the 4th previous to the final departure to lay the cable.

Reinforcements are to be sent Canton.

The British minister at Florence had suddenly returned to England.

Schamyl, was collecting troops and a violent collision had occurred between the Circassians and Russians—five hundred of the latter being killed.

In addition to the statement from Cape Race on the subject, Mr. Fitzgerald said her Majesty's Government had signified to the Government of the United States that they were ready to adopt such measures as the latter might suggest to meet the difficulty that Slavery almost invariably entails on the American Flag.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, : : : : : : EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1858.

The Weather, and its Causes.

This is certainly in many respects an extraordinary season. There has been more irregularity in our seasons of late than formerly This might perhaps be expected from the change effected in the surface of the country by extensive clearing and cultivation.

But there is, we believe, a growing conviction that there is some other disturbing element involved in this irregularity far more potent than any mere local cause, but which reaches and affects our entire planet—and it may be our entire system

Whether this arises from some general revolution of the entire universe, involving our system of worlds with the rest, or whether our earth only is drawn aside or disturbed in its attractions by the vicinity of a comet, or some other disturbing cause, it matters not, the effect is at least manifest.

That the earth has heretofore from some cause changed its axis, to the extent of several degrees of latitude, is a well established fact, supported by indubitable evidences, and the general opinion is that that change was not gradual but somewhat abrupt.

This change, which must have occurred before the earlier records of history, else it would have been noticed by some of the nations involved in it, was a change from the south to the north—of from ten to twenty five degrees.

Whether from the same cause or not, the indications now are that there is a change taking place varying from the north towards the south.

It is said, we know not upon what authority, that this change has already been noticed by the astronomers of Europe, and that they find their transit, and other fixed instruments, so effected by it as to render them unreliable.

With a remarkably mild winter, we congratulated ourselves upon the promise of an early spring. But instead of that with nearly three months constant rain, we are having one of the most backward ever known in this latitude. And yet it has not been cold, it has only been rainy. There were only five days in the month of May in which it did not rain—and June thus far seems in a fair way to rival its forerunner.

The prevalence of rain seems to extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the gulf of Mexico to the lakes. We hear of it at Boston, New York, Charleston and New Orleans, St. Louis and San Francisco. On the other hand, in Prusia and Hindostan we are informed that it has not rained for two months, and that everything is perishing with drouth

We hear that wheat is much injured in the low lands, but with us it is good and for the most part uninjured. The corn crop must be light, and with not more than half the usual amount planted. Hay will be poor and of a poor quality. We shall have the usual amount of fruit unless it rains all summer. Potatoes about as usual, but not a large amount planted Our people in view of the exigencies of the season, will feel throughout, the need of diligence and economy.

THE GOLD DISCOVERIES IN BRITISH AMERICA.—M.. Garfield, a United States officer, writes:

"The Hudson's Bay Company * * * have been purchasing gold in considerable quantities from the Indians inhabiting that country (New Caledonia) for several years. Thus far, the news from all parties who have visited the mines has been invariably encouraging. I have not visited the gold fields in person, but have numerous and reliable friends there, from whom I received the most flattering accounts. All parties concur in the statement that the mines, so far as yet prospected, have proved rich. Ten dollars per day to the hand is the lowest return which has been reported. One friend of mine took out $500 in two weeks, with one man, and was doing still better when he wrote—Another party of three had taken out $800 in twelve days. Suffice it to say, the Indians have plenty of gold, the miners are in high spirits, the traders are very busy transporting supplies to the mines, and the whole Territory is in a ferment."

SORRY TO SEE IT.—We venerate and respect the name of Edward Everett, and are in almost all respects a subscriber to his creed of politics. But, much as we esteem his conservatism, we are very sorry too see that he has suffered his letter about the Sumner testimonials to come before the public. It can do no good—it only aids and abets the friends of the late fire-eating Brooks, It seems to us as if, if we had been born a Bostonian, we should have deemed it a stoop unworthy the vicinity of Bunker Hill to have written an apology for lending our sympathy to a fellow citizen who had been brutally struck down in his seat in the Capitol of the Nation.—Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer.

General News.

Lafayette, June 11.—3 P. M.

It commenced raining about 12 o'clock Wednesday noon, and poured almost constantly until this (Friday) morning. Wabash river rose with fearful rapidity The inhabitants on the river bottoms awoke in the morning to find their homes rapidly filling with water, and were obliged to escape in boats and by swimming on horses. Wea and Wild Cat creeks, two small streams, rose in a few few hours to raging floods. The T. W & W'n R. R. bridge across Wea creek was entirely swept away. Two other breaks west and not less than 5 culverts east on the same road are gone, and one on the New Albany and Salem road—The bridge across the Wea south, and a bridge at Brookston station North, are gone Also other serious breaks. It is impossible to estimate the damage to the Wabash & Erie Canal. At Wild Cat the feeder for this level, 4 miles east, the lock and dam and 500 feet of embankment are gone; also the State bridge.—Seven breaks between here and there. Several large breaks at Attica, Delphi, Logansport and Wabash. It will be impossible to use the Canal again this summer. The bodies of the fireman and engineer killed in the accident on the Lafayette & Indianapolis R. R. were recovered last evening, after hours of unremitting toil. The wreck was terrible. One bridge and several culverts on that road are gone. The Wabash river is still rising, and immense quantities of saw logs, rails, &c., are sweeping past. No trains or mails can leave for several days.—Whole farms are under water. Much grain stored in barns will be a total loss.

St. Johns, N. F. June 11.

The Canadian Campany's Screw Steamship Nova Scotia, Capt. McMasters' passed Cape Race on her first voyage to Quebec, she has 294 passengers. The steamship Europa from Boston arrived at Liverpool on the 2nd.

In the Liverpool corn market on Tuesday, trade was dull and prices for wheat hardly maintained. Flour maintained the rates of the previous Tuesday. Weather not very favorable for the growing crops. Sugar was without any improvement in rates; the transactions limited.

In the London market on the 1st, sales of coffee were progressing without alteration in price. Teas more steady—Congou 9½ a 9¾. Consols were without particular change—closing on the 1st at 97¼ a 97⅜ for money and 98 a 98 1-8 for account of July 5.

Great Britain.—Lord Stanley has been appointed to the India board, and Sir Bulwer Lytton Colonial Secretary, in the House of Commons.

On the 1st Mr Lindsay asked the Government if it was true that the U. S. vessels on the Havana, or western coast of Africa, had been fired into, boarded, searched, or detained by British cruisers and if so, by what authority or under whose instructions did the commander of those ships so act?

Mr. Fitzgerald said the Government had no official information; but they had reason to believe the reports had been exaggorated, They were as anxious as the American Government to avoid all cause of complaint, and strict orders had been issued to the officers on the stations to be especially cautious.

The Niagara and Agamemnon, having the Telegraph Cable on board, sailed from Plymouth on Saturday evening for the west coast of Ireland.

New York, June 12.

The yacht Wanderer shows a clear record and will be released to-day. She is bound on a pleasure excursion.

Chauncey Shaffer, a prominent lawyer and politician, attempted yesterday to shoot Justice Steers, while the latter was attending to his duties in the police court. Mr. Steers was one of the revival converts and is supposed to be insane.

Dayton, Ohio, June 12.

The Miami River rose about two feet last night. At noon to-day it is at a stand, and apprehensions in regard to the Dayton levee have pretty generally subsided. McPleasantown is completely inundated. Weather still cloudy with a slight drizzling rain. The Railroads have suffered very little as yet.

Boston, July 12.

The French packet from St. Pierrie to Sidney, reports a heavy gale previous to the first inst, on the banks of New Foundland, attended with immense loss of life and property to the fishermen, beside the loss and damage of vessels. It is said that no less than 300 persons perished during the storm. Orders had been sent to Halifax for 500 fathoms of cable.

Cleveland, June 12.

The propeller Indiana, with 250 tons of iron ore, is sunk 100 miles west of the Saut, on Lake Superior. Sunday evening Jude 6. The crew and passengers were saved in small boats, and reached here this morning. The vessel was partly insured.

☞ See our advertisements.

Washington, June 14.

The Times correspondent says that General Scott is in receipt of dispatches from General Johnston, dated Camp Scott, 5 days later than those received from Governor Cumming. Gen. Johnston arrives at conclusions directly opposite to those of Gov. C. touching the intentions of the Mormons, who, he says, are fortifying at every point. The Administration is now fearful that Gov. C. has been deceived. Private accounts from Salt Lake represent him as almost a prisoner, and the Mormon leaders as possessing full sway over the minds of the people.

There was but little opposition in the Senate to Col. Schell's confirmation; the vote standing 37 ayes to 7 nays.

There was some debate over Saunders the N. Y. Navy Agent, but he was confirmed, 33 to 9.

Schell was opposed by the Treasury influence and Saunders by Southern members.

Rumor is strong and positive that Governor Floyd is to leave the Cabinet, and it is also equally positive, that Cobb will have to resign. These rumors are to-day the subject of general conversation among the leading politicians.

It is contemlated by the War Department to order a strong force into Orizonia, to occupy various positions along the Sonora line.

The Secretary of War is about concluding a contract for a hundred thousand stand of O'Burside Rifles, now pronounced the best breech loading fire arms extant.

The Senate yesterday refused to confirm the nomination of Sharpstein as Postmaster at Milwaukee. Faule's nomination for Marshal of Kansas vice Winston, was laid over by objections from the Republicans. He will be confirmed to-morrow.

The extra executive session will probably adjourn on Thursday. Many nominations are not acted on, and more are to be sent in.

Mr. Winslow, member of the House, from N C., will probably be nominated Minister to Spain.

St. Louis, June 14.

For 41 hours ending six o'clock last night the river rose 29 inches and is now rising at the rate of one inch per hour.—Water is about 4½ feet below the highest flood mark of 44.

The upper Mississippi is still rising at Dubuque, and the head waters of the Illinois are again swelling. The Mississippi fell five inches at Boonville Saturday, but there is an additional rise coming from above. Heavy rains yesterday but clear this morning.

Dispatches from Cario state that on Srturday afternoon a crevasse opened on the Mississippi side of the town through which the water poured at a fearful rate, filling up the whole space between the Levees, and is now running over the embankments on the Ohio side. About a thousand feet of the Central Rail Road washed away. The left wing of the new hotel fell assunder and the balance was expected to fall during the night. Nearly all the houses were tumbling down, drifting away or sinking. Scarcely a building in the city is expected to withstand the flood. The water is 2½ feet deep in the second story of the Taylor House and is still rising rapidly.

Mound City is also in danger of being overflown.

Cincinnati, June 14.

River 41 feet and rising slowly.—Weather has cleared up finely. Rail Roads all in order.

Memphis, June 14.

The Steamboat Pennsylvania exploded her boilers on Sunday morning, at 6 o'clock, at Ship Island, seventy miles below Memphis, and burned to the water's edge. About 350 passengers were on board, and it is believed that a hundred are killed and missing.

The Diana, Imperial and Frisbee took all the possengers they could find in the water, on shore.

The boat was on her way from New Orleans to St. Louis, and was owned by Capt Kleinfelter, George Black & Co., and the two Engineers.

June 15.—The Steamer Memphis was the first to arrive at the wreck of the Pennsylvania. She took a large number of the passengers back to New Orleans.

The Diana arrived here at eleven o'clock Sunday night, with a large number of passengers for Louisville.

A meeting of citizens was called to express sympathy with the sufferers, and $1,000 was raised for their relief.

A committee was appointed to collect further aid.

Mr. Sauch, of the French Opera Troupe, died to-day from his injuries.—Several others not expected to live.

Liverpool Provison Market.—Wednesday morning, 2d.—Messrs Rich & Co, report the prospect favorable for the growing crops which operated to depress the markets for flour, wheat &c, although closing quotations are essantially the same as those advised by the Asia, on the 29th ult. The general tone of the markets for wheat and flour are of an extreme dullness.

New York Correspondence.

New York, June 15th, 1858.

The Protestant world is exhibiting a good deal of commotion just now, on account of the official exclusion of the Bible from the schools of the 4th Ward of this city. The Board of Education had the subject up the other evening, spent a four hour session of talk over it and resolved to "cordially recommend that the Bible, without note or comment, be read at the daily opening of our public schools." Whether the 4th Ward folks will "cordially" conform to the recommendation remains to be seen. The point at issue in the discussion was, whether the Board should require it or only recommend it. We have no law absolutely and in terms requiring the Bible to be read in the schools, though we have a city law declaring that the Board of Education shall not have power to prevent it. From this declaration quite a number of members inferred, and tried to argue, that the Board had power to require it; and, having the power, the regulation ought to be enforced. One young member, r. Cushing, was particularly church militant. He maintained that the Board had the power and ought to exercise it to the utmost—if there were schools any where who wouldn't have the Bible, why, make 'em. It was a fine occasion for the display of a great deal of piety and patriotism, and the impenitent members especially, seized the opportunity to give their devotion to the Bible an ostentatious airing.

On the same evening the same subject formed the text of an indignation discourse in Dr. Cheever's church. The American party, too, are greatly stirred up on the subject. They charge that Bishop Hughes is at the bottom of it, and are taking measures to get the 4th Warders away from his deleterious influence.

The swill milk committee on whitewashing are still industriously at work They hold two sessions a week, and are really so hard pressed by public opinion that possibly they may fail to discover any feasible plan "how not to do it" and may be compelled at least to make the milk-men fairly indicate to us which sort of milk they deal in, so those of us who prefer the grass-fed can have it, and those fastidious and over nice people who like a peculiarly rich and delicate article, and must have it regardless of expense, can choose the city manufactured kind. It is got up to order right under their eyes and noses and they know, of course, it is good. Besides one Dr. Shanks who seems to stand on a footing of intimate acquaintance with the stump-tails, assures the committee that swill milk is a good and wholesome beverage for children, and parents generally ought to prefer it.

We hear very little about "war" and "British aggression" just now. We have concluded to await for the the "apology" before we fight. The revolution in New Orleans sends a thrill of feeling throughout this city; though we hardly know what to make of it yet. We are reminded by it of the late Wooden dynasty and how near we came to a Vigilant Revolution ourselves.

I had such a jolly good time among the farmers the other week I could not help paying them another visit at their club meeting this week, and found the occasion quite as interesting as before I should think every farmer from the country on a visit to this metropolis would be highly pleased and profited to look in on these gentlemen and see how wise city-farmers can act and talk. The first topic discussed was the preservation of birds. It was maintained that birds destroy countless millions of worms which would otherwise destroy the crops. They also eat the seeds of other millions of noxious weeds and thus do a work of great value in keeping back parasites of that kind. Even crows, it was held, did at least as much good as harm A little care would prevent their doing the harm and then the good only would remain. Night birds of all kinds, like bats, owls, and hawks, ought to be preserved, as they destroy immense numbers of rats and mice. If the birds help themselves also to a little of our grain, fruit and corn, why they earn it, and we can afford to pay them this tribute for their services in ridding us of real pests. Solon Robinson gave utterance to the despair he once felt on seeing his crops on the Western prairie about to disappear before the ravages of the army worm, which litterary overrun his fields and covered the earth: but in the wake of this invader came myriads of black birds, so that the heavens were filled with them, and the army worm was routed bag and baggage and the crops were preserved He had been constitutionally a bird hater and bird shooter—his father had taught it before him; but that annihilation of a destroying insect when no help seemed possible, taught him a lesson, and ever after he said. God bless and preserve the birds

Then the debate took another turn on the subject of destructive animals, and Mr. Lawton brought the whole weight of the club down on the dogs. He denounced the whole canine creation as an utterly useless disgusting parasitic race. Every use they could be put to could be accomplished in far cheaper and pleasanter ways, and then, for distructiveness, they were unparalled by any pest on earth. Not half the number of sheep are raised throughout the country that would be, but for the dogs, so that their universal prevailence at large very perceptibly affects the price of mutton; and then the destruction of human life alone by hydrophobia is enough to consign the race to indiscriminate extermination Again, he defied the club to name one single use the animal could be to man that was not overbalanced by greater detriment. One member triumphantly suggested, "sausages!" This staggered the arch enemy of dogs, but he recovered presently, and concluded by hoping that either sausages or mince meat, and he cared very little which, might be the speedy destiny of every dog now having his day. The club very generally concurred in his opinion.

Then came up the subject of raspberry and strawberry culture on which many interesting things were said, but neither you nor I have space to put them in words.

☞ The name of Yuma is proposed for a new territory, to be formed from the western division of Utah.

☞ Baron Humboldt is in his 88th year. He has just written a letter to his friend Tickno of Boston.

MARRIED.

On the 10th inst., by the Rev. Peter Sharp Mr. JOHN B. PATTITON, to Miss MARY JANE DYER, all of Ridgeway, Michigan.

Special Notices.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
JAS. W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned

June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company, All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent

All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, Foot of Chicago Street.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR. NORIMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL, Tecumseh June 12, 1857 344

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them, HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halle'

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

New Advertisements.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description, Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARK,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckett & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PREMIUM,
Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. It is presented as a Memento of Friendship, not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Premium
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Premiums
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each
5 do do do	200 00 "
10 do do do	100 00 "
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 "
20 Gold Watches	75 00 "
50 do	50 00 "
100 do	25 00 "
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	25 00 "
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 "
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $20.00 "
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 20.00 "

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40: to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon the book, and the present will be forwarded without delay in one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
336 Broadway, New York.
395†

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the twenty second day of June, 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute of Michigan in such case made and provided, the said Mortgaged premises described as the certain tracts or parcels of land herein, to wit: The Village and Village of Tecumseh, situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-one (61 & 62) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the Twenty-fourth day of September A. D., 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.
Assignee.

Dated June 16th, 1858.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tract or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South East Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Township South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff
Dated June 15th, 1858. 396

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858. I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tract or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South East Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Township South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff
Dated June 15th 1858. 396

J. W. BEERS & BRO,

BLACKSMITHS

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship to beat Competition. Shoes toed for nothing and other work in proportion. Born put or bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street TWO doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh Michigan. 393y

CHEAP READING.
THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED
IS
The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured. It is printed from clear, new type, on a fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and county in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given. Address DANIEL ADEE, 211 Centre St. N. Y.

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E TINDALL

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	8	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2.00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4.87 P. M.
Going South,	6.30	"	2 40 "
Adrian to Detroit,	7.45	and	3.32

Local and Miscellaneous.

LOOK OUT FOR THIEVES.—Stolen from E. Jacobs, of Dundee, Mich. May 21st, a large bright bay Mare, 5 years old, had a white star in her forhead, black maine and tail. A liberal reward is offered.

A man by the name of James Duilly hired a horse and buggy from the Livery Stable of Henry Lancaster, Sunday morning with intention as he stated, of visiting a sister that was sick, two miles from Adrian, but said he should return on Monday. Monday came and went but nothing was heard from the horse or Duilly. Thinking, his sister might be worse, and he would probably return in a day or two, nothing was thought of it at the time, but as he was not heard from Tuesday, Lancaster began to think something was wrong and started Wednesday morning in search of them. The horse and buggy was found in Adrian, but Duilly had taken the cars for parts unknown.

On Friday night Bidwells' Boot & Shoe store was broken open, but nothing taken. Henry Paradise lost his Wheel-borrow and Washtub, on the eve'ng of the 11th. Clothes were taken from lines; in fact they take anything they can get hold of, from a horse and buggy down to a Washtub. Is there no way to stop this petty thieving? If necessary let us have a Vigilance Committee.

☞ We return thanks to the Orchestra for the serenade, Tuesday evening.

EQESTRIANS.—Three couple from Clinton, visited our village last evening, a ten mile ride. How many couple from Tecumseh can return the compliment.

CASH FOR WOOL.—A. Anderson and B. J. Bidwell are buying wool. Prices range from 25 to 35 cts.

☞ We are under obligations to our friend S. James, for a dish of choice Strawberries, the first we have seen this season.

PICTURE FRAMES.—We would call the attention of those wishing ornamental frames, to a sample hanging in Mr. Kings studio, from the Adrian Furniture Establishment of F. R. Stebbins. He keeps on hand a full assortment of all kinds and is prepared to furnish the glass &c to order, on short notice, and at hard time prices. His prices range from 50cts. to $25. If you visit Adrian, call and see his establishment.

Apportionment of School Moneys.

TREASURER'S OFFICE LENAWEE CO., }
ADRIAN, MICH, JUNE 11, 1858. }

MR. EDITOR.—It may gratify some of your readers to know upon what basis the Primary School Money for the year 1858 is apportioned among the several townships in this county. If you think proper you can publish the following:

Township.	No. of Children.	Am't
Adrian City	2 000	$1 000 00
Adrian Town	575	287 50
Blissfield	725	362 50
Cambridge	377	188 50
Dover	555	277 50
Fairfield	528	264 00
Franklin	531	265 50
Hudson	795	397 50
Macon	546	273 00
Madison	355	177 50
Medina	779	389 50
Ogden	355	177 50
Palmyra	486	243 00
Raisin	521	250 50
Ridgeway	320	160 00
Rome	140	70 00
Tecumseh	518	259 50
Seneca	600	300 00
Tecumseh	1 029	514 50
Woodstock	472	236 50
Total	12617	$6 308 50

The money is now at this office, subject to the order of the several Township Treasurers. JAMES GEDDES, County Treasurer.

Heart Rending Scene.

We have published a brief account of the sweeping away of the house of the Rev. Mr. Ilsley, of Roscoe, Illinois, by which his wife and eight children were drowned, but the tale of that night, as told by the Rev. gentleman before the jury of inquest is very sad and touching. He said:

The rain commenced to fall at about 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and increased in force until about 10. At 9 o'clock the water was up around the house, and rushing by with great force. Mr. I. proposed to his family, to leave the house but as men who were in the neighborhood had told them they had seen the water much higher than it was now, they concluded not to go out. At about 11 o'clock, Messrs. Thompson, Lane and Towers got up to the house and told them they thought there was no danger as the water had lowered. Mr. Ilsley went to the door and measured the height of the water, and found it had fallen 4 or 5 inches. Having concluded to remain in the house, the five younger children were sent to bed, and shortly after the balance of the family met in the lower room and had prayers, preparatory to retiring also. The other children then went up stairs and Mr. Ilsley proposed to his wife to remain up a short time longer. This must have been about 11 or 11½ o'clock. Just after three children went up, there was a great rush of water past the house, and Mr. I. went to the hall door with a lantern and looked out. He found the water rushing up with tremendous force on all sides of him and coming in at the door. He called loudly for help several times, but the water was too deep, and rushing with such tremendous force that no one could get to the ill-fated house.

Mrs. Ilsley called to Horatio, the eldest son, and ran up stairs immediately. She then called to her husband to come up, which he did, and opening one of the windows again screamed for help, but in vain. At this time he was just coming out of his study, and was standing in the entry, when he heard the children cry out, 'Father, Father,' and at the same moment he saw one end of the house fall out with a crash. He then felt the whole house sway up and down like a boat on a wave, and then fall into ruins. Just as it fell he heard his wife scream, and that was the last he heard or saw of his family He immediately found himself in the water, not knowing how he got there, and with no power to help himself, was tossed about, and hurried along with great velocity to the river. He took in some water then, but had enough presence of mind to guard against taking in any more and try to keep his head above water. His own simple and touching words best describe his feelings at this awful moment, and show his faith in that God he so long had served, He said, "I then commended my soul and my family to God, expecting to meet Him and them in eternity in a moment and I almost wish I had." He was carried on until he struck against some flood wood, and soon after, he was thrown against a tree into which he climbed, and managed to maintain himself for some two hours, during which time the people had discovered him, and were making a raft to rescue him, when Mr. Richardson swam out to him, and got hold of him just as his strength failed, and he was dropping off the limb.

The family thus suddenly cut off have only resided in Roscoe a short time, Mr. Ilsley having come from Beloit to take charge of the Congregational Society, in that village. The family consisted of 10 persons—father, mother, four sons, and four daughters. The eldest son was engaged in the bank of Marshall & Ilsley, in Milwaukee, and was home on a visit, J. P. Ilsley, of Milwaukee is his uncle. He was to return to his business to-day. They were, we are informed, a most intesesting family, and we heard but one expression in regard to their loss.

At daylight on Friday morning, search was commenced for the bodies and soon four were found. The babe and the youngest girl were found on the bed upon which they had lain down the night before, and the other two near by. When the babe was found, it held in its hand, on its breast, the watch which its brother had given it the night before to play with, and strange to say, the watch was uninjured and still going!—Toledo Blade.

RAIL ROAD CHANGE.—The interest of the Illinois Central and Galena & Chicago Union Rail Roads, in the Station in this city, which has been heretofore united and under the supervision of one man, has been divided. The companies will jointly occupy the warehouse and passenger depot as formerly, though the business will be done by different agents, and in different apartments. Mr. J. R. ROSEBROUGH has been appointed agent of the Central Company for this station. Mr R. has for a considerable time been employed in the freight department of the two roads here—is well acquainted with railroading—is an excellent business man affable and gentlemanly in his manners, and will no doubt make a most excellent officer.—Freeport (Ill.) Bulletin.

Hon. George Bancroft is in Georgia.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH June 17, 1858.

Wheat	70a75
Flour	4 00a4 50
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	30a60
Potatoes	20
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	1 00
do dried	5a6
Butter	11
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00a,500
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 50
do half bbl.	600
Hides	8
Calf skins	87
Sheep pelts	40a50
Salt, fine	2 00
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25
Wool	25a35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30	P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40	"
Leave Adrian for Detroit	7 45	"	3 32	"
Arrive at "			12 35	6 40 "
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45	"
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45	"
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50	10 04
Arrive at "	7 30	"	10 00	"
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 20	"
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 55	"
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 55	"
Arrive at "			12 10	7 99
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40	"
Arrive at			12 45	10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30	"
Arrive at "	7 36	"	3 28	"
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35	"

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PIRCES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.

Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting
Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FOUR for sale by
E TINDALL.

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Ran off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS. OILS.
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,
DRUGS and DYE STUFF.
GOOD LIQUORS.
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods,
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.
Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D. Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

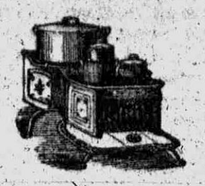
Enquire on the premises.
J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept, 24th, 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
Jany 14th. Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souvenirs, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Bubble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys, and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected
GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.
CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. Brown, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 336tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

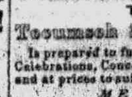
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS LEBARON,	WALLAS GRAY,
D. L. SHEES,	JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEARD,	ALFRED JAMES,
O. G. ADAMS,	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st. 1858 361y

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.



DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 14th. 360m3

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist.

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.
Tecumseh, December 17th. 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited
Tecumseh, March 1st. 1858. 350m3

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of
MRS. M. P. HENRY,
One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop
Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
BY
STANTON & TIFFANY,
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R. P. ANGIER. - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warrantad Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf.

APPOTHECARIES HALL!

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash.

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.
80 acres of land near the this village.
100 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
6 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
60 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by
B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.
Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 38?14

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate n43tf HENRY LANCASTER.

DR. MCCRUMS
Receipt Book, or
The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON.
Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 30?

AGRICULTURAL.

The Importance of Salt for Animals.

All kinds of stock require salt to keep them in good health, especially at this season, when the pastures are rich and they are eating large quantities of green food. Every farmer has observed that his cattle, horses, &c., are very fond of licking the salt earth of the barn yard and stables.

Whenever you observe this, you may be sure the animals want salt for nature is a pretty safe guide in such matters. Gov. Emerson says:

'In Spain, they give their sheep salt with great regularity—112 lbs. in five months to 1,000 sheep. Mr. Curwen gave salt to his stock daily for years.

For Horses he gave	6 oz. per day.
Milch cows	4
Oxen	6
Yearlings	3
Calves	1
Sheep	2 to 4 per week.

if on dry pastures; but if they are feeding on turnips or coles, then they should have it without stint. Some give it to the live stock on a slate or stone, some lay lumps of it in the cribs or mangers. It is an asserted fact, that if the sheep are allowed free access to salt, they will never troubled with the disease called the rot. Some recent experiments also lead me even to hope that I shall one day or other be able to prove it to be a cure for this devastating disease. I have room but for one fact. 'Mr. Rusher, of Stanley,' in Gloucester shire, in the autumn of 1828, purchased for a mere trifle 20 sheep decidedly rotten, and gave each of them for some weeks, an ounce of salt every morning. Two only died during the winter the surving 18 were cured and have lambs by their sides.'

The late Mr. Butcher, of Brock Hall, in Essex, for years employed salt for his cattle and sheep, on his farm near Burnham, in Norfolk.

One of his fields was so very unfavorable to sheep that before he used salt, he lost 10 or 15 sheep in a night, when feeding on turnips; but after he had adopted salt he never lost one. He used to let the sheep have the salt without stint; and he remarked that the sheep always consumed 4 times the salt on this particular field than when feeding on any other of the farm. Mr. Butcher one year let this field of turnips to a neighbor who did not use salt; and consequently after losing 10 sheep the first night gave up the field in despair.—Canadian Agricul turalist.

BE KIND TO YOUR HORSES.—I have in the course of my life seen a good many horses, some too, that were ugly. Now, it is my opinion there is no use of owning what might be called a real ugly horse. Use the whip and spur less, and in their place put kindness. Three grains kindness are worth all the whips and spurs in the world in breaking a horse. There are a great many horses injured for want of kindness. This, I am sure no one will deny. For instance a man has a colt to break. The colt has never been handled. The man, with several others to help him, drives the colt into the stable. He then forces the bit into his mouth, and if there are any who dare, they jump upon his back, well armed with a stout whip, and very often a spur. These he does not forget to use. He clings to the colt's back as long as he can, but is finally thrown off. He tries it again and again, till completely exhausted, the colt is obliged to yield—that is for the time being. No, to be sure it is not. The golden rule would apply as well here as anywhere. So be kind to your horses, my gentle friends.—Ohio Cultivator.

TO KEEP OFF STRIPED BUGS.—I put one pound of tobacco in a gallon of water, and boil to half a gallon; another pound dry, and beat or grind into snuff. When the striped bugs first appear on the melon or cucumber plants, I take a little brush—the feathers of a turkey's tail is as good as any—and sprinkle the young plants with the tobacco juice, until some runs down the young stem to the ground. An assistant ought to be on hand with his ground up tobacco, and put a pinch at the root of each stem; a teaspoonful will answer for three or four stems, but let it form a perfect little mound around it. This application not only makes the bugs leave but is the best stimulant I ever tried—far superior to guano.—Ohio Cultivator.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th 1857 made by Jedediah Harrington to Jacob Cheever Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber H of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210, October 13th, 1857 at 11 o'clock A. M. and no which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-one hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter of section three in Township six south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end to Nathan Cheever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 16th. 1858. 388w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to F Bills bearing date the first day of June 1857 which mortgage was executed in the Register's office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, for principal dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing eighty acres (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Old Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PEBLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh June 1st 1858 390w13

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and License from the Judge of Probate of the county of Lenawee I shall sell at public vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of Christian Dauchy died seized and possessed viz All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan and known and described as follows to wit. The North East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Town ship number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres more or less except so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Dauchy deceased. Terms made known at sale.

B. ALEXANDER DEMUTH. Administrator.

Tecumseh June 16th 1858 388w13

APPOTHECARIES HALL!

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills
Kentucky's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders.
for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall

J. W. BEERS & BRO,

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship to beat all Competition. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us Jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NORIMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 24 of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free P O Address, Adrian, Mich; 393

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent

All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L D DEWEY.
E N NICHOLS

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N Y.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING,
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO
F. S. CABOT & CO.,
BUYERS, 83 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the hundred and one little business or else purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and for a reasonable expense to him having become satisfied by a considerable extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want we have established for ourselves and will have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are entrusting and sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many thousand dollars and we believe in every case, these employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and talent compensation it is certain, that being constantly in the market buying largely for cash, we can not accrue those many single purchaser can. In fact we are to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No case, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods, sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to fulfill these wishes who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a mouthly five per cent although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have given a giving more at length the contemplated plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application thereto.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G Lambert of A & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake Howe & Co., Boston.
F. F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanbedi Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished relative to the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

How to be the most beautiful woman in the world. How to be more beautiful after marriage, instead of more ugly as most wives are. How to transmit your beauty to your children without losing it yourself—how to be saved without perfume cheerful without stimulant rosy without rouge and radiant without paint. The means are certainly within the reach of every woman and are detailed with ample directions in a "Letter to Ladies" which will be mailed prepaid to your address on the receipt of 25 cents in stamps or American coin Address

FOWLER & CO.
No. 47 West 13th Street. New York.

KEDZIE'S
PATENT WATER FILTER.

THE BEST FILTER KNOWN FOR FAMILY USE; has given the highest satisfaction for many years; is selected in construction portable durable and cheap it renders rain water perfectly pure and sweet making cisterns more economical than wells and avoiding the disease arising from the hard water of lime-stone regions. Five sizes retail from $8 to $12 dollars. Wholesale to the trade at 10 per cent discount. Can be forwarded safely any distance. Formerly made by J. E. Cheney & Co. made now only by JAMES PERRY & CO. at the old stand of J. E. C. & Co. State Street Rochester N. Y. For descriptive circulars address James Terry & Co.

THOUSANDS
THROUGHOUT the COUNTRY
ARE SICK.
Thousands would give half their fortunes to
BE WELL

Send then to DR. TYLER who by Spirit aid can see what others guess at; can see your disease, see all its extent and progress, and give the means of cure. For descriptive circular and a list of almost miraculous cures performed during the past five years in the west and South, send one three cent stamp and address Dr S. Cyler 442 Broadway New York Persons at a distance can be treated by sending a lock of hair, age and symptoms. Consultations free, $5.

S. W. FRANCIS'
Patent Printing Machine.

THIS Machine is played by means of piano keys: two copies are printed at once, in less time than is required to produce one with the pen. Divines, while in the pulpit, will be freed from the inconveniences attending an ordinary manuscript Authors secured from loosing the result or many hours of mental application, by the destruction of a single copy while in the hands of the publisher. Editors no longer troubled by the necessary correction of errors in proof sheet incident to manuscript copies: Reporters may with less labor furnish printed reports: Merchants while writing a clearer letter and saving time, will keep neatly printed copies instead of illegible ones: they now obtain by means of the copying press: and any person with failing sight or paralysed or amputed arm will still be enabled to pursu his literary labors with greater ease rapidity and certainty than ever before. By a slight modification raised letters may be printed for the benefit of the blind.

The Price of one Printing Machine, $100.

For Circulars with full particulars, send stamp, and address S. W. Francis & Co.,
No. 442 Broadway, New York

☞ TO COUNTRY MERCHANTS. ☜

D. S. WILLIAMS.

LATE WILLIAMS & CUNNINGHAM,

Having removed to the spacious lofts in the Cary Building, 105 and 107 Chambers Street, and 89 and 91 Reade street New York, is now offering for cash or on approved credit, a large and well assorted stock of

HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS AND UMBRELLAS & PARASOLS, &c.

Of all the styles, qualities and materials usually found in market. Having one of the largest salerooms in the city, (50 by 150 feet) with ample facilities and an experience of near twenty years in the business precludes any fear of being as well served at this house as at any other in the trade.

☞ Orders from the country filled with care and promptness. 391

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Brass Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON, D. D MARSHALL,
DELOS LaBARON, WALLACE GRAY,
D. L. SHARPS, JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEARS, ALFRED JAMES,
O. D. ADAMS, GEO. STAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858 391y

Mrs. H. M. BISSELL,

Rooms open from 9 o'clock A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh Oct. 13th. 380m3

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist.

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his professsion in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. F. Hall's New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their custom. A Call is solicited.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 386m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!
A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY.

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R. P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modded it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquor, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

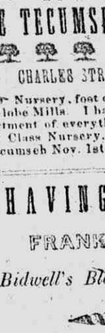
We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th. 1858. 378m3.

NEW MARBLE.



The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to effect insurance in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford,	Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX	"	$200 000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y		$150 000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.		$150,000.
CHARTER OAK	"	$200 000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY
TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matteris

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be sue of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money
MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.		12 50 per annum.
15	" " "	15.00	" "
20	" " "	20.00	" " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

Consumption Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writing on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Drs HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N Y

May, 1858.

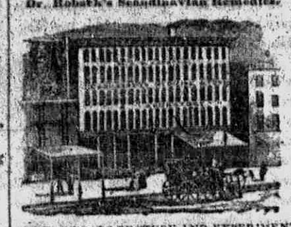
PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st. 1858. 394

Medical, &c.

DR FOBACK'S
BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.
DISEASE VANQUISHED.
—BY—
Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located; or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat bronchitis fever and ague asthma, low spirits, general incapacity, faintness weakness, prickling of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis rheumatism neuralgia, tumor cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration the liver, the kidneys, the stomach the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: It neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and research as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier $1 per bottle or six bottles for five dollars. Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1

Peau. Miami Co. Ind., Aug 4, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort and efficiency in business dyspepsia To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid my self of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time less than a month. I was entirely and permanently cured I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel: Indianapolis, Oct. 5, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir. I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much of time. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curd & Co so I can get them next trip Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my abstinate chronic constipation, with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your 'Pills fill the contract.' Why I have taken as many as six (6) of ——'s and other makers sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect, but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI, Friday Sept 4 1857.

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir. Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—After using two bottles I felt its effect very sensibly and upon using two more I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S BENNETT,
Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK. Dear Sir. Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scand navian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have now used the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendation. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of fifty-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. ANDREW MORRIS

The above certificate and many others can be seen at my office, or any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac cards from my agents Manufactory Sales Room, and Office. No 6 East Fourth street 2d building from Main street Indianapolis Ind.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N BIDWELL, Adrian, R BROWNELL, Clinton
G F CHAMBERS Medina F N BUTLER Monroe
And by Druggists and Merchants generally

Tecumseh, Jan 28. 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, TO FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases for the year ending January 1st. 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa Seminal Weakness Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment DR GEORG R CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association, No 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
390y EZRA D H EAREWELL, President.

SPRING EDICINE.
GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remtdies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. F. Halls'

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW
SUMMER GOODS
Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

JUST RECEIVED AT THE
GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,
Purchased in New York at
PANIC PRICES.
Since the Great Business Explosion,
20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime
NEW GOODS,
Will be Offered at COST, for the next
30 Days, For Cash.

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 3 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with Good Buildings, fine orchards and meadows, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also 3 Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by using these unrivaled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Port Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE THRESHING MACHINES

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April, 15th, 1858. 385tf

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Blood Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale by
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's
LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a one Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed. Give him a call.—Terms moderate.

HENRY LANCASTER.

n843ly

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857.

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 32. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JUNE 21, 1858. WHOLE NO. 397

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 99, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c. New Brick Store, Chicago Street. 340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES. Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts 340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, FANCY GOOD'S. Patterson's Block, Chicago Street. 340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c. Union Block, Chicago Street, 340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c. BOOKS & STATIONARY. Patterson's Block, Chicago Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS. Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets. 340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER Post Office Building, Chicago Street. 34ly1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS. New Brick Store, Chicago Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY Richard's Block, Chicago Street 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL. AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE. 340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION. Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets 340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO. A. COMFORT,

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS. Warehouse, Rail Road Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT. Warehouse, Rail Road Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER. Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW, MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC. Office—Union Block, Chicago Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. L. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD,

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW, MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC. Office—Union Block, Chicago Street. 340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER. W. E. CHEEVER.

H. M. & W. E. CHEEVER

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW NOTARY PUBLIC. Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets 340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, S &c. Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES. Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad. 3T0tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS. North Side, Chicago Street, 3tly TECUMSEH, MICH.

OLD LETTERS.

BY FRANCES BROWN.

Come from sinner, or from saint,
Cast them in, for the fire is faint;
The fire is faint and the frost is strong,
And these old letters have lived too long.
How welcome once it matters not,
Their worth away with time has sped,
The love is over, the hope is dead,
And the old friend has been forgot.

Cast them in they're hard to keep,
And will not let one's memory sleep,
For hints of age, and tales of change—
Oh, but the turns of life are strange;
The world where of they speak is gone—
How bright they came how dim they part,
These passing ages of the heart,
While life and we wear on.

Cast them in why should they last
When the light we read them by is past,
And never again will glide our days;—
Up like a banner goes the blaze—
It is waste paper and nothing more;
Some have been treasured up for years,
Some are blotted with heavy tears,
And some are dreams read o'er.

These are sprinklings with many a vow,
The love was never as warm as now—
Those by a trusty hand are penned—
Woe is me for that friendship's end—
There goes a page of boyish rhyme—
That was a sheet of good advice—
We took our own way on the ice,
And learned the worth of it in time.

One glossy curl of wavy gold
Was hid in this burning letters fold;
'Tis long since that golden head grew gray,
And the grave where it rests is far away!—
Up in its might the broad flame flashes!
And there they lie in what all our aims
Seeking and striving, hopes and schems,
Must come to—dust and ashes!

Ryan on the Weather.

Ryan has spoke at last, says the Detroit Advertiser, but we confess ourselves disappointed in the result. He is not quite definite enough for us to understand what the weather is to be this month. He tells what he said in past years, but that does not satisfy for this kind of weather. There can't be but 42 storms in any one season, so we must be nearly over with rains, for we have had nearly 40 in the last month. Ryan has not done justice to his reputation in this effort, he was too hasty in making it up and forgot the most important thing, what is to come from now to July. Let him try again.

MR. EDITOR:—My worst fears are realized. 1816, known in Ireland as the wet harvest, is the first summer I predicted on the weather. June, 1855, in Michigan, comes to the same figures as 1816, which is 42, the highest number of storms which we can have in any one season. How beautifully I could explain these things to satisfy the most incredulous. Here I will declare on the word of a man, that this is arrived at by simple addition—lunar calendar.

In June, 1855, I said, 'farmers look out for N. W. thunder storms in clover time, destructive rains in haying and harvest, in the main a wet summer.'—Last June I said 'we would have soaking rains in June and July, in August the best hay weather.'

We will have different times in harvest as we will have 33 rain storms this summer. Note the last day of this month, first and 8th of July, which will be a fair sample for July. I will write one the second of July for that month.

W. W. RYAN.

☞ Southey in one of his letters says: 'I have told you of the Spaniard who always put on his spectacles when about to eat cherries, that they may look bigger and more tempting. In like manner I make the most of my enjoyments; and though I do not cast mine eyes away from my troubles I pack them in as little a compass as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others.

☞ A critic in the fine arts, finding fault with a painting said: 'Why, this fellow cannot even paint a fly—see there!' and he extended his hand to point out the defect, when the wronged painter was acquitted and nature was libelled for the fly established its claim to its name, and flew away.

☞ A Western editor thinks Columbus should not have much credit for discovering America, as it was so large he could not well have missed it.

'Mother, this book tells about the angry waves of the ocean. Now, what makes the ocean angry?' 'Beccause it has been crossed so often my son.

'I say. Mick, what sort of potatoes are those you are planting?' Raw ones, to be sure—your honor would'nt suppose I would plant boiled ones.

☞ A chaplain at a State prison was asked by a friend how his parishoners were. 'All under conviction,' was replied

Sermon Preached at the Funeral of Theodore Roberts.

Tecumseh, April 13 1058.

2 Samuel, XII. 22: 23:—"And he said, while the child was yet alive I fasted and wept; for I said, who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live? But now he is dead wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me."

One of the most consoling and precious truths of Christianity is, that God reigns—that his providence extends to the most minute affairs of this life, so that even "a Sparrow falls not to the ground" without His knowledge and appointment. It teaches us that the time and circumstances of our birth—the events of our daily life—the hour and manner of our death, are all distinctly marked out by Him and that nothing can befall us in this life which He will not overrate for His own glory, and the highest good of His children.—And in view of this truth it calls upon us to submit to His sovereign will, even in the darkest hour of trial and bereavement without one murmuring or rebellious thought.

Amid the wreck of his fondest hopes and the disappointment of his most cherished plans, in the loss of the object of his deepest and tenderest love, and of all that is dear to him in this world, the Christian hears his fathers voice saying—"What I do, thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." "Be still" my child, "and know that I am God" And in the confidence of that faith which is the gift of God he cheerfully replies—"Father, Thy will be done."

Many bright examples of such submission are recorded on the pages of the Bible and among them (not the least touching and beautiful) is that of David, in the text.

"But now he is dead wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again?

This is the language, not of stoicism, but of the humblest submission as well as of the truest and deepest philosophy.—David gave evidence that he was no stoic, for while the child was alive he exhibited all the solicitude and anxiety of a kind and tender parent. We read that he "besought God for the child and fasted and went in and lay all night upon the earth."

Nor were his anxieties and efforts to save the life of his son inconsistent with submission to God's will—though he had been told that the child should surely die. Nathan the Prophet had said to him "Because thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, the child that is born unto thee shall surely die." Now how do we reconcile his solicitude; his praying and his efforts for the recovery of the child, with submission to God's declared will?

He might have understood the threatening to be conditional, for he says, 'Who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live?" "I acknowledge that it would be just in God to take him away. I have sinned and therefore, deserve this judgment but possibly He will be gracious."

Or it might have been that he did not understand the threat to imply immediate death and therefore prayed for his recovery from present sickness.

"Who can tell? The prophet has not specified the time when my son must die and he may recover from this attack" But when he found all means unavailing, when there was no longer room for hope, then he ceased from his anxieties his importunities with God and his efforts, "arose from the earth, washed and anointed himself and changed his apparel and came into the house of the Lord and worshipped"—comforting himself in the language of the text, "Now he is dead wherefore should I feast? Can I bring him back again?

This was true philosophy,—He had done all that he could do—all that parental affection could suggest to save the life of one most dear to him, and all had failed. It was an event over which he had no control, he could not stay the hand of death and therefore—having done all that he could—reason bade him be at rest.

But there was something more than an exhibition of philosophy here. David saw and recognized the hand of God in his affliction, and he felt that His decisions were not only sovereign, but right and good—for "He doeth all things well" even when "clouds and darkness are round Him."

We may remark here that one ground of David's submission was his confidence in God, and this should lead us cheerfully to acquiesce in all his dealings with us.

There are things which occur almost every day by human agency to which it is most difficult for us to submit and, submission is only produced in such cases by the consideration that God, in His infinite wisdom permits wrong to be done.

But in those instances where God has a direct agency, the case is totally different all He does is right and David's confidence in His integrity was one ground of submission to His will in this bereavement. Hence he says in one of his inimitable Psalms of praise—"They that heard thy name will put their trust in thee."

In the name of God, he read, almighty power, infinite wisdom—unerring Justice and exhaustless benevolence. And although God's dealings with him were peculiar, and trying—still, such was his confidence in Him that he could say "I know that, in mercy thou hast afflicted my soul," and again "It is good for me that I have been afflicted, for before I was afflicted I went astray."

An Apostle says: "Whom the Lord loveth, He chasteneth, and scourgeth every one whom He receiveth, "Oh! How often do we fix our affections so deeply upon the things of this world—as to compel (if I may use such a word in such connection) our Father in heaven to apply His chastening rod.

All this David understood: therefore he would not complain or murmur. His afflictions, trials, losses—one convinced him of the vanity of all earthly hopes and the emptiness of all earthly good, and when his beloved child was snatched from his embrace he seest all the more clearly the folly of trusting in anything here for happiness. His afflictions too, not only served to loosen his worldly attachment but to fix his affections more fully upon God, heaven and heaven'y things. Being thus led to a more devout consideration of God's character and of the dealings of his providence, he learned the true source of all his enjoyments and the high and noble purposes which earthly afflictions were designed to subserve in his behalf. He saw infinite wisdom and goodess displayed in them all and so great—so unshaken was his confidence in the character and government of God, that submission to Him became an easy and a pleasant duty. And while he mourned he yet rejoiced, he had a consolation which the world could never give.

Are there none here to day who can testify that in afflictions like David's there is an unfailing source of consolation in Christian submission? The precious promises of God are never more strikingly fulfilled, than when death has entered our dwelling and taken away some object of the hearts deepest love. Indeed, it is God's own word to believe, "I will be with him in trouble"—as though that presence, which can never be withdrawn, then became more real and intense.

The Minister of the Gospel has frequent evidence of this, in the daily discharge of his duties. He enters a house whose darkened windows and oppressive silence proclaim that "the spoiler" has been there. He finds, perhaps, that the blow has fallen where sure to be most deeply felt. And he is prepared for an overwhelming burst of bitter anguish, like that of Rachael, weeping for her children, and refusing to be comforted. But what does he hear from lips whence nothing but lamentation might have been expected to issue? "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord"

The mother will rise up from the side of her pale still child; and though on the cheek of that child (alas! never again to be warm with affection) there are tears which show how a parents grief has overflowed, she will exclaim with the Psalmist "I will sing of mercy and judgment; unto thee O Lord will I sing" And, when the slow, sad windings of the funeral procession are seen, and the Minister at the open grave, pours forth the rich, and inspiring words, "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth on me, though he were dead, yet shall he live"—is it only the low murmur of suppressed anguish, by which he is answered? Can he not feel that there are those in the group whose hearts bound at the magnificent announcement? And as he looks at the mourners, does he not gather from the uplifted eye and the moving lip, that there is one at least who is triumphing in the fulfillment of the prediction, "O death I will be thy plagues, O grave, I will be thy destruction?"

And what are we to say to this? what, but that, in the deepest moral darkness there can be music—music which sounds softer and sweeter than by day; and that when the instruments of human melody are broken there is a hand which can sweep the heart strings and wake the notes of oftiest praise? Yes; human philosophy done can impart no comfort to the afflicted; it may enter where all is right, but it leaves there, what it found; gloom, darkness and pleasure may take the Lyre, whose strains often enchanted; but the worn and wearied spirit has no ear in the thick gloom for what sounded magically when a thousand lights were flashing and every heart was bounding. But confidence in that God who is the Husband of the widow and the Father of the fatherless,—this can impart joy and consolation to the heart that is ready to break. This was one ground of David's submission; and this, his source of consolation.

But there was another ground of submission in his case. "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me."

David believed that all infants—dying in infancy were saved. He had not a doubt therefore that his child was in heaven; nor have we a doubt that our children dying in infancy are saved. How the idea that they are lost even gained credence in the world, is more than I can guess, for every thing in the Bible, and in the character of God, and of His government, teaches the very opposite of this

Rude nature once attempted to repel the infants which were borne in their mother's arms to their Saviour King; but He, who ever spake, as man never spake, rebuked the unfeeling refusal of man and opened the bosom of God as the home of children; saying "suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Amid the anthem peal of praise that rises up to God from the redeemed earth, the Psalmist hears infant treble, beautiful and welcome in the dispason: "Out of the mouth of babes and sucklins." Some of the sweetest hymns heard in heaven will be infant hymns; amid the harmony that rolls around the throne, will be melodies by infant voices, expressive of the gratitude and joy of full infant hearts. How precious is the truth, that parents, if saints of God, shall join in the songs of heaven, with their departed babes, who have already struck the key note and wait for them to join with them. This was David's hope and consolation and this one secret of his submission. He was satisfied that he, himself was prepared for death; that he had been adopted into the family of God, clothed with Christs' righteousness and cleansed with his blood So confident was he of this that he says in one of his prayers: Thou wilt guide me by thy counsels and afterward receive me into glory."

And he felt that the separation would not be long—for he was now an old man—he had seen the sun shine and the shade of human life, had quaffed the mingled cup of joy and sorrow, had witnessed the changes of many years, and wearied with life's cares and toils, he looked to the grave as a quiet retreat, "where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary, are at rest." And in view of that bright prospect, he could say with true christian submission: "Now he is dead wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me."

In view of this subject let me urge upon you who are called to mourn this day the loss of a beloved child, the exercise of uncomplaining submission True your son died not in infancy as did David's; but he died in the triumphs of that faith that sustained the Psalmist and that ought to comfort your hearts,—we cannot doubt that he had an intelligent faith in Christ and was fully prepared to dwell with Him Then let no murmur escape your lips; "mourn not as those without hope." God took your child, and "He doeth all things well." He has not willingly afflicted nor grieved you, but (though you may not see it now) He has done all for your highest good; and in the light of this painful bereavement you can now see whether or not you are willing to submit to the the reign of the blessed Jehovah. Here too, you may learn that "affliction spring not from the ground."

You did all you could to save the life of your son, nothing that parental care, tenderness and love, or that medical skill could do, was left undone; therefore you cannot reproach yourselves. Remember too the purity of that spirit which has taken its flight, and the blessedness of that home to which he has gone. His spirit is now with God in his temple above. He is one of the redeemed, who now throng the courts of heaven and surround the throne of the Most High Boundless perfection constitutes his holiness is forever perfected, and his affections are made to flow in ever during channels, toward the source of infinite perfection, and through all those all subordinate streams where it is distributed. The light of heaven encircles him, and its splendors delight his soul. His vision is unclouded and penetrates into the deep things of God. I see him among the glorious throng, now bending in holy adoration of the magesty of heaven, now a commissioned messenger of mercy to other and far distant worlds. Perhaps he hovers, now around your dwelling; perhaps he will stand at heaven's portals, and be the first to usher you into the presence chamber of the King; will you then complain? Will you murmur at the short, the momentary separation? He will never return to you, but you may go to him. Let this be your comfort, and your incentive to diligence and fidelity in every duty. O let this bereavement be the means of leading you to a new and whole hearted consecration of yourselves to God; and your consolation be that you are every day advancing nearer to that world "where the inhabitant shall never say, I am sick"—to that world where no mother will ever be called upon to watch at the dying bed, or press to her bleeding heart her cherished but fainting babes and no Father be compelled to entomb the cold remains of his dear children—dead. You may go to him, you are even now going to him whom you have lost and to that blessed Saviour "whom, having not seen, ye love."

And you, my young friends, the surviving brothers of the deceased. Is this your consolation? Are you going to him? You may. The way of salvation is open to you and you are affectionately invited to walk in it. That same Saviour in whom your brother trusted is able and willing and waiting to save you. Will you not then, this day give Him your hearts and accept from Him that grace which alone can secure to you a reunion with the loved and the lost? I entreat you neglect not that Saviour, and doom not yourselves to an eternal separation from all the loved ones here, and to an unending exile from God and heaven and happiness. "He shall not return to you, but you may go to him."

To the companions—the school-mates of the departed—who are here in such numbers, let me say a word. Look at that coffin, dear children—beneath its lid is the remains of one who only a few few days since sat with you in yonder school-house, and mingled in your sports in yonder play ground, a bright eyed boy of thirteen summers, full of life and hope and ambition. There is all that remains to us, of him whom we all loved, and whose cheerful and intelligent countenance was ever like a ray of sunshine on our path. We shall see him no more. He will mingle no longer with you in your studies or your amusements His body will soon be laid away in yonder grave yard, there to rest till the morning of the resurrection, but his soul, his immortal part, that which cannot die, is now in a better world than this. It is with Jesus with all the holy and happy spirits in heaven. And he would not come back to this world if he could. You may go to him, but he will not return to you Will you not, dear children, prepare to meet him there? Without some preparation you can never hope to go where he has gone. If you would die as he died you must learn to live as he lived. Let me mention some things in his character specially which you ought to cultivate and exhibit in yours. And first, he loved God, loved His word, respected His authority, and reverenced his name. He never took God's name in vain, as I fear some of these boys do. You never heard him use profane or indecent language. He knew that it was sinful and therefore he would not do it. He never told lies,—as to many childen do—but was always remarkable for his candor and love of truth. He remembered the Sabbath day to keep it holy. He loved to attend upon the services of the sanctuary, loved the Sabbath school, loved the Bible, loved to read religious books, loved to pray. And in these things he set an example worthy of your imitation. He honored his parents; he ever respected their wishes and their authority, and was remarkable for his cheerful and implicit obedience to their commands. He knew that they were his best earthly friends and that they were entitled to his love and obedience and he knew too that God required this of him.

He loved his school, his teachers and his studies and was always diligent, seeking to improve the time, and by the acquisition of knowledge to prepare himself for the duties of life. He was not satisfied with just enough study to enable him to get through with his recitations in the class, he sought to master the lesson, to understand thoroughly what he studied and this ought to be your effort if it is not.

He was ever kind and obliging in his disposition, he had a kind word for every one, and was always ready to confer a favor on any who needed it and in his intercourse with his companions he exhibited beautifully the Spirit of Christ. Patient under injury, contradiction, abuse, He never sought to be revenged on any one; not because he lacked spirit, but because his heart was so full of gentleness and love, and because he feared to sin against God.

Such were some of the features of his life. Now let me tell you, children, how he died. His sickness was short but severe and painful. The first fatal symptoms appeared late on Sunday night; then, when all hope was gone, and the physician had pronouced him incurable, his father with heavy heart went to his bed-side and said to him, 'Theodore, my son, we have done every thing for you that we could do, but we can't save you the doctor says you must die! Are you willing? are you ready?' It was a sudden an unexpected announcement; but received with perfect composure, while his features settled into the calm quiet of that peace that nothing could disturb, he said 'yes father, I am ready, I have nothing to fear.' Then calling the members of the family about his bed, he took an affectionate farewell of each one, commending each to God in prayer. After pouring out his whole soul in that death prayer, he bade the weeping ones good by, and left them with his farewell message to you his teachers and school-mates, (yes he remembered you, even then,) turned his face to the wall, and died? no? fell 'asleep in Jesus.' Beautiful triumphant scene! Such dear children may be your end, if like Theodore you 'remember your Creator in the days of your youth.'

To the teachers of this dear boy, and of these youth here to day let me say: You are admonished by this event to be faithful to the high trust committed to you. Your influence is great over the minds of your pupils, and your opportunities for giving them the right direction are immensely greater, than those of almost any one else except their parents. See to it then, that you deal faithfully with them and while you instruct them in this world's sciences, Oh teach them, both, by precept and example, to honor God, to live for Him; to keep ever in view the great end and aim of our existence here. One by one these pupils of yours will be called till at last, all shall appear before God in judgment; and you must meet them there. God grant that it may be a joyful meeting to teachers and taught.

Friends, Neighbors, Citizens, Parents, Children, all, Listen! Hark! hear you not the voice of God in this providence which has brought together this day? He is saying to each of us, 'Be ye also ready.' The frequent instances of mortality among us are but so many voices speaking in solemn tones, bidding us to prepare for death. Even since the dread decree went forth from Eden 'Dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return' these voices have been ringing in the ears of men.

The world's history is but an epitaph. The earth upon which we tread is but a mausoleum of empires. The end of all who have preceded us on the busy theatre of life has been the grave, each generation becoming in its turn the pall bearers of the preceding generation; the winds and the waves chant one ceaseless and eternal requiem over the graves of buried nations Daily are we admonished that we too must soon 'go the way of all the earth.' Are we prepared to go? Have we 'a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal, in the heavens,' into which we can enter when our 'earthly house of this tabernacle shall be dissolved?

Oh! let this be our one great concern; Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness;' and seek it now, 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might for the night cometh in which no man can work.'

☞ A young man wished to give his portrait to his lady love. Being aware that her parents disapproved of his suit, and fearing that they might be angry if his picture were found in her possession he wrote to the artist as follows:—

"Dear Sir: I wish to sit to you for my portrait. As it is intended for the eyes of one, personally, I wish it so painted that no one else will recognise it."

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

"THE MIRROR OF TIME."

"In the crowd
They could not deem me one of such. I stood
Among them, but not of them! In a shroud
Of thoughts which were not their thoughts."
CHILDE HAROLD.

'Twas mid the festive group I stood,
And smiled as bright as they,
And read the world of hidden things
Which before them trembling lay.
Oh! when I hear the joyous tone,
And ringing laughter died,
I think steals over the lip has flown,
Or sadness is depicted,
'Tis then bright eyes are speaking
The inner language of the soul,
No clouds of care were lurking then
"No dream of its control."

But time rolled on, and then I saw
The mirror of past years,
Again I saw that merry band
Though dimmed in mists of tears.
Oh change had kissed the beauty's pride,
And fled were tales of glee,
They all were gone like spirits bored,
So heavenly and free.
King Death had passed through many a room,
Cast bosoms worn with care,
And paused his breath upon their cheeks,
While clouds lay darking there.
'Lifes glowing fruits will ever turn,
And clasp as in their fold,
And lips be wreathed in young smiles,
While yet the heart is cold.

KATE MONTAGUE.

Singular Adventure of a Child.

A little girl, only three years old, daughter of John Scaffer, who resides at the corner of St. Paul and Atwater streets, had a singular adventure on Sunday last, which would scarcely be credited if not so well authenticated as to leave no room for doubt. Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer went to church in the morning at the usual hour, and left this child at home with a boy of nine years. About eleven o'clock she told her brother that she was going to see Charlotte, referring to a sister five years old, who died two years ago; and soon after she escaped from the house unobserved by the brother. When the parents returned from church the little girl was nowhere to be found. A search was made of the neighborhood, and finally the usual method of ringing a bell and crying for a lost child was resorted to. Towards evening intelligence was received that a child had been seen at Mt. Hope answering the description of the one missing. Mr. Shaffer could hardly suppose that his child had wandered so far from home, but he set out for the cemetery. At the canal bridge he met Mrs. Dr. Sloetzer with his child on the way home. Mrs. S. had found it at a house in Mt. Hope, where it had been taken care of, having been found in the cemetery.

This little girl, only three years old, had walked from near the Falls Field to Mt. Hope and to the extreme southern part of the grounds, where her father has a lot, where her little sister was buried. The distance is nearly three miles, and she had not been there often enough to make her at all familiar with the cemetery it is surprising that she would have found her way along the winding paths leading to the upper part of the grounds. She must have done all without assistance, and actually found the place where her sister Charlotte sleeps. How long she was going to the spot is not known, nor is it known how long she remained there.—It is presumed that she was much fatigued when she arrived, for she laid down upon the grass by the grave and slept. When she awoke she started homeward and came down to one of the ponds in the cemetery to quench her thirst, and there she was noticed by a man who took charge of her and detained her until Mrs. Sloetzer came along and recognized her.

The little wanderer was restored to her anxious parents about six o'clock, having been absent from home about seven hours, and most of this time she was alone and misstress of her own actions. Few children of twice her years could be trusted to accomplish such a journey alone. There is something of sublimity—of poetry in the adventure of this child which appeals to the finer sentiments of the soul.

A NOTEWORTHY SUGGESTIVE.—A merchant of New York City has addressed a note to the Secretary of State, suggesting a method by which a satisfactory arrangement could be made with Great Britain for inquiring into the nationality of suspicious vessels. He recommended that an American Lieutenant should be placed on board of every British cruiser, and that a British Lieutenant should be placed on board of American cruiser, on the look out for slavers; and that any suspected vessel should be visited and her papers examined by the officer whose national flag she might carry.

Nothing could be more feasable or reasonable than this, if our 'Government' wished to stop the slave trade.

☞ Printers toasts.—The press; it expresses truth, re-presses error, impresses knowledge, depresses tyranny and oppresses none.' Woman; the fairest work of creation—edition being extensive let no man be without a copy.—Babies; miniature editions of humanity, issued periodically, and displayed in SMALL CAPS.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1858.

A Model Newspaper.

We notice that one of our Detroit dailies, intimates that there is somewhere in the interior a newspaper, which aims in morals, politics and religion to be a model newspaper, and seems to take exception to any such effort on the part of any one.

We do not know to whom the writer refers, it may indeed be to our own self, but we presume not, for we fear we have never deserved any such encomium, but we do not see that it should be a matter of exception or reproach to any one to have at least made the attempt to be such.

It may be that it was the impression of the writer that no one but a city paper should be allowed to make any effort or to secure any attainment in that direction. It is one of the foibles of human nature to allow an increased responsibility to arrogate to itself an over-weening right to overbear, and dictate to the rest. But true merit is always modest and seeks to convince, rather than to domineer.

We fear however that even more than this, there was an impression and conviction that any effort to elevate the press, and especially an unpretending country press above the foibles and follies of fashionable slang and party trickery, was a thing in itself arrogant and to be smered down rather than commended.

Now it is well always to remember, that while one is exercising his own right of opinion, and expressing freely his own sentiments, every other member of community has the same right to his opinions, and to the expression of them, as the most talented editor of the most metropolitan press in the land. And to assume anything different from this is only an exhibition of human arrogance and human weakness.

A country press, is, in its sphere, and according to its circulation, just as important an agent in morality and civilization, and is just as potent for the evolution of thought and control of public sentiment, as a city daily or a printed book, and should in view of its bearing and influence be so far as possible made to conform in every respect to the best and purest models of the land.

We hope no one will be frightened out of an attempt to do this, by the reproach or success of any one, nor yield there own manliness and independence an offering to the dictation of either of real, or assumed greatness. We only wish there were more model presses in the State of Michigan, and for our own part shall never complain, should all the presses of the interior seek to make themselves not only nominally but truly and permanently such.

LENAWEE COUNTY TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.—It will be borne in mind that the Len. Co Teacher's Association meet at this place on Friday and Saturday, July 9th and 10th 1858.

We hope our citizens will take the necessary measures, in time to provide ample accomodation for such as may attend from abroad and we have no doubt the occasion will be one of interest and profit. The order of exercises for the Convention will be annouced in time.—Will other papers please extend the notice as far as possible.

LITERARY NOTICES.

Godey's Lady Book.

The July No. of this standard Magazine of Literature and Fashion is promptly upon our table. This is the commencement of the forty-seventh volume and the specimen No. for the year. All who think of taking it should examine this No. and while doing so, bear in mind that Godey means what he says, when he gives a specimen No. for the entire year. The Plate engravings, Fashion Plates and Literary contents are all alike superior. Address L. A. Godey Phila.—Terms $3.00 per anum.

Lady's Home Magazine.

Arthur's Ladies Home Magazine for July is received and always welcome.—This too is the first No. of a new volume, and should be examined as a specimen No. The engravings and fashion plates are good. Among its Literary articles we would particularly notice "Lalla Grayson" by Minnie Mary Lee—and "Spirit Love" by Almena E Sanders both beautiful and interesting, the one is prose and the other poetry. The whole No. is a marked improvement on the preceding volume. Published monthly by T. S Arthur & Co. Phila.—Terms $2.00 per anum.

Michigan Farmer.

The June No. of the Michigan Farmer, Published by R. F. Johnston Esq., assisted by Mr. L. B. Adams, is received, and worthy of particular notice. Our Michigan Agriculturalists may well congratulate themselves upon the possession of a Magazine not inferior to anything of the kind in the West. Address R. F. Johnstone Esq., Detroit—Terms $1,00 per anum.

General News.

New Orleans, June 18.

The Hon. Charles M. Waterman has been re-instated Mayor of this city.

Sugar closed quiet at 6 a 6¼ to no change to report in other articles.

Washington, June 19.

The Southern mail brings Galveston dates of the 9th inst.

The United States surveying schooner Dixon had arrived there.

All the crops in the north-eastern part of the State exceed anthing before known.

A party of Lynchers near San Antonio was committing terrible outrages.

The Indians on the Rieos were troublesome, and Captain Pope had lost a number of horses.

The crops on the Rio Grande were fine.

There had been a tremendous hail storm at Fort Davis.

New York, June 19.

The "Leader" of to-day says the Grand Jury have found a bill of indictment against Judge Russell for inciting to a riot in the affairs of General Wilkes with the Academy of Music.

The Washington correspondent of the Evening Post states that Captain Tinner, of New York, was unanimously confirmed as Minister to Venezuela.

The Tribune correspondent says that despatches from England were laid before the Cabinet yesterday. They do not in any form correspond with the expectations of the Administration or the opinions authorized by Lord Napier's assurances. While they disclaim any authority for offensive acts on the part of the cruisers in the Gulf of Mexico, and are prepared to make reparation to that extent, they insist upon the purpose of suppressing the trade by determined and effective means. A disposition to exercise the visit in the most acceptable manner is avowed, and to that end Lord Malmesbury expresses his williness and desire to receive any suggestions from the American Government. The unexpected tone of these despatches has made much impression in the Cabinet.

Private but authentic advices accompanying Gen. Johnston's despatches from Utah state that the submission of the Mormons is sullen and unsatisfactory, and notwithstanding all their professions, they still held possession of all the passes.

Washington, June 20.

Col. Kane arrived here last night, bringing despatches from Governor Cummings, whom he left at Camp Scott on the President. Their purport has not officially transpired, but it is ascertained that many of the accounts with which the public mind has been prejudiced are erroneous and calculated to deceive the country in respect to Utah matters generally. To this fact may be attributed the uncourteous refusal of Col. Kane to communicate with the press. It is understood that Col. Kane denies the truth of the telegraphic announcement from Boonville intimating that the army would move on the arrival of the Peace Commissioners, when in fact Gov. Cumming has requested it to remain where it is until further orders shall have been received from Washington.

Contrary to reports wildly circulated, Col. Kane does not admit that there has been any such want of harmony between Gov. Cumming and Gen. Johnson, as would jeopard the public interests.—He speaks in eulogistic terms of Gen. Johnson, and the high state of discipline in which the latter maintained his forces, and of the praiseworthy spirit manifested by the army. The Administration are much pleased with the manner he is understood to allude to the conduct of Cumming, saying that he is deserving of the gratitude of the country. There is great hope in Utah, as elsewhere, that the war is at an end.

The peace party had been armed sufficiently strong in time, to arrest the march of the Mormon forces against our own last spring.

It was the impression at Utah that Brigham Young who openly espoused the cause of the U. S. would in this respect be able to maintain his position there.—There was at one time a strong opposition to him before emigration commenced, but ever since then this feeing of hostility has been subsiding. All the northern settlesettlements are evacuated by the Mormons, with the exception of a few left to guard the public property at Salt Lake City, and, besides these, there are no Mormons south of the city for forty miles.

The 70 Mormon families alluded to in a recent dispatch, did not, as was stated, apply to Governor Cumming at Camp Scott for protection. They were brought there by him from Salt Lake City.

Two treaties were entered into at the Indian Bureau with the Upper and Lower Sioux of Minnesota, the object of which is to confine them to a portion of the large reservation set apart under the treaty of 1851, to quiet the land titles, and provide them permanent homes with the usual educational and industrial assistance.

Why is love like a canal boat? Because it is an internal transport.

St. Johns, N. F. June 21.

The steam Yeet, Victora, Capt Slaughter, boarded the R. M. steamship Persia, Capt. Judkins, yesterday, off Cape Race, and arrived this A. M.

The Atlantic Telegraph fleet took its final departure under sail from Plymouth, on Thursday, the 10th inst. We do not learn that Capt. Judkins passed near enough to speak to any of the steamers, but the weather is understood to be favorable for submerging the cable. The fleet is expected to reach mid-ocean on the 20th inst.

The Liverpool Cotton Markets, reported dull. Breadstuffs are without improvement. Provisions without material change.

London money market easy, and consols closed at 95¾ a 96 for account.

New York, June 21.

The correspondent of the Tribune says the report of Lord Malmsbury's explanation of the Gulf outrages does not correspond with the views presented to Mr Dallas and by him communicated by the preceding mail. So far from there being a slight difference of opinion, as alleged, there is a very material and positive disagreement which will be exhibited on the answer of this government soon to be transmitted.

St. Louis, June 19.

A Leavenworth despatch says that General Harney, Staff, and escort, left for Utah on the morning of the 15th.

The River fell eight inches during 24 hours ending at six o'clock last night—making a fall of 15 inches in all. At this rate it will take 2 or 3 days yet to discover the levee side walks. All the upper streams are falling slowly. Weather clear and very warm.

Troy, June 20.

The extensive flour mills of Bills, Thayer and Usher was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning, together with a large quantity of flour and grain. The loss is estimated at from 30 to $40,000, on which there is an insurance of $12,000.

New Orleans, June 19.

Mayor Waterman resigned after being reinstated. Summers was re-elected by the two Boards.

Herby the murderer of Stone has been acquitted.

Washington, June 21.

The State Department have received despatches from Minister Reed announcing his intended resignation and return from China.

Adrian, June 21.

During the storm on Saturday, the dwelling house of Mr. Baldwin, in the north part of the city, was struck by lightning. The fluid descended the chimney which it ruined, and passed along the floor, taking a rocker from a chair, without injuring a lady who was sitting in the chair, but another who was sitting in another part of the room, was so severely shocked that she fell to the floor with a child in her arms. The lady was deaf and the child senseless for a time in consequence. After the shock the people in the house perceived a smell as of burning cloths, when they went into the chamber and discovered in a wardrobe by the chimney, several garments that had been badly riddled and fired by the fluid. The fire was soon extinguished.

New York, June 22.

Patrick Slane's glass factory at Williamsburgh was demolished yesterday by the storm in the afternoon. There were 30 persons in the building at the time, all of whom were buried in the ruins; but only two were killed, and but 6 or 8 wounded. The killed are Bernard Slane, father of the proprietor, and Thomas Gill, the engineer. Mr. Slane's loss is $10,000. Rev. Ralph Hoyt's new church in this city was entirely demolished. Loss $15,000. Much other damage was done to buildings in the city and vicinity, and to the shipping in the harbor, and many persons were more or less injured. The lightning struck in some dozen places, but the only death reported from this cause is that of Bridget Farrell, of Brooklyn, who had rushed into the street to rescue her child from the storm when she was struck down.

Washington, June 22.

The Times Washington correspondent says Orders have been issued for the Frigate Saratoga to leave Panama and cruise as far as Guaymas, to investigate the injuries inflicted on Americans along that Coast.

Secretary Toucy has determined to have the new sloops built of wood and not of iron as has been suggested.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says: Col. Kane was in conference this morning with the President and Secretary of War. He expressed the opinion, that there is still cause for apprehending danger from the Mormons. His statements are not entirely satisfactory.—He has certain inexplicable reservations difficult to understand. When it was suggested that the mission of the Peace Commissioners was too late, he said, that they had still abundant opportunity for useful exercise. They meet again to-morrow, after which, the disposition of General Johnston's command and the advancing reinforcements will be determined.

New York Correspondence.

New York, June 16th, 1858.

We have had a streak of weather here which was decidedly a spell, so we were not only weather bound but spell bound for a whole day in doors. The month of May did some raining as most people remember; but June, after a sunny fortnight the start, concluded to have a splurge that in one day, should beat all the weather exploits of May in the great deep of water. Last Saturday will be remembered for some while as the day of the deluge. All the streams in the city were swelled to torrents in no time. In my own street particularly, the creek was so high our Bridget could not cross to the corner grocery for milk, bread and tea we had to wait, supperless, till the stream sub'd run by, and what made the matter peculiarly vexatious was we had distiguished visitors from Boston. The Light Infantry of that juvenile city arrived at our municipal domicile in the height of the storm. We marched the company up Broadway and showed them to Mayor Tiemann; then we omnibussed and ferried them over to the city nurseries on Randall's Island, and a wetter set of light infants never received the delicate attention, of a nursery before! These interesting preliminaries over, hosts and guests passed on to the order of the day, which was drill exercise and banner presentation to the Island boys, infantry speeches and juvenile replies, a cold (and for that matter, wet) collation, toasts drank in bumpers of rain water, and a good time generally in spite of the copious moisture. On Saturday night the company visited Wallack's theatre, on Sunday Dr. Higbee's (Episcopal) church and on Monday marched, reviewed, called round from regiment to regiment on our own military, and on Tuesday wheeled into a bee line for Boston amid the farewells of enthusiastic New York.

Speaking of guns reminds me that all our wars are ended. The Britisher concluded to call off his dogs and apologize: the Mormon resolved on the valorous discretion of running away: so we can't have a fight, and the hot blood we got up over the council fires of our political clubs will have no help for it but to cool of without a contest.

We have been enforcing, not only the right to visit but the right of search, a little on our own private account. Marshall Rynders, whose lynx-eyed vigilence takes but a moderate amount of sleep, thought he smelled a big rat, or a little bigger, or at all events something black in the yacht Wanderer, a private pleasure vessel which has been rather suspiciously fitting out to take a party of gentlemen all along the shore on a bender.—The Marshal had her thoroughly overhauled, but finding only hams, pickels, sandwiches, biscuits, baskets, bottles, in short all the delicacies of a coasting trip, but nothing that looked like Africa or the slave trade, he let her go again with an apology—for all the world as England does.

It is next to impossible to punish our criminals—leastways so as to hurt 'em any. If we do, with infinite labor, get occasionally one inside of prison walls, he turns out to be sufficiently a man of science to break out again. Sailor Dan, our pet ruffian, who outraged and murdered Therese Spitzlein last winter and who was snugly settled in Sing Sing for a ten year term of industry, meditation and repentance, managed in a few weeks to smuggle into his cell not only a cord of rope, but a cord of wood and a jack screw, with which he raised the roof one night and was off in a star twinkle. His out of style prison dress has been found in a deserted boat in our harbor, but he himself is still at large.

No wonder the proceedings of some of our courts should make a conscientious lawyer crazy and less wonder still that the first intended victim of his insanity should be a judge upon the bench—as in the case of Chancey Shaffer, who with not exactly a judicial oath on his lips, attempted to shoot Justice Steers while in his seat in court the other day. I remember Mr. Staffer as the most efficient shouter at a camp meeting near this city two or three years ago.

Richard Busteed, our corporation counsel, who thus far in his term of office has kept up such a winking at public plunder, has had to suffer a little of the private sort in his own residence. Some wag of a burgler, taking the counsellor at his word in some of his defences of wholesale official theivery (see the cases of Lowber and Devlin) broke into his house a little while the other night, and then broke out again with about a thousand dollars worth of plate, jewelry, clothing and other property.

The voice of the Sunday newsboy is once more heard in the land. He would'nt stay 'squelched' by the late police order. He submitted a week or two, but the Sunday and other papers have encouraged him to open his mounth and shut his eyes to the law. Besides the case has been carried up to the Board of Aldermen and a counter order has been applied for to stop the ringing of church bells on Sunday. This is demanded on precisely the same grounds that were urged for gagging the newsboys, viz: disturbing the Sabbath quiet of peaceful citizens—and 7 Aldermen were found ready to grant the order. Several speeches, to catch proper applause, were made in favor of it; and this, too, in a city that quite recently was said to be converted, and even yet has revivals and daily buisness men's prayer meetings!—The result will probably be a drawn battle, and the tongues of both boys and Bells will rattle on as before.

Our postmaster Fowler (the gallant man!) has appointed a woman to the clerkship in the post office. Her place is at the delivery where ladies call for letters. I saw the postmaster at one of the lectures in behalf of woman and the extension of her sphere two or three months ago, and he probably was "struck under conviction" then. No doubt a large portion of our postal work could be done just as speedily and well by women as by men: and probably the country wouldn't be done for if this example was largely imitated and extended.

There are plenty of adjourned Congressmen running around our streets at large. They are flush of funds and seem to be passing as many bills as if they were in Congress assembled and had a quorum.

An elephant once nearly killed an Irishman for an insult offered to his trunk. The act was rash in the extreme, 'but it was impossible,' said the Hibernian, 'to resist a nose you could pull with both hands.'

Special Notices.

ESTRAY.

Taken up on the morning of the 17th June one large brown horse with both white hind feet and a scar on the top of his head, as as though he had been doctored for the poll evil, the horse was coming from the west when found. The owner is requested to come and prove property and pay charges and take him away.

SAMUEL L. HENRY.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned.

June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, Foot of Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH, MICH.
398y

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NORIMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER SHARP,
Notary Public, . . Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

STONE COAL,

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL, Tecumseh, June 12, 1857. 344

WATER LIME—

'Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S. FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters. Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'Six Lectures' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway,

June 1858. New York.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

New Advertisements.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description, Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

ICE CREAM, SODA WATER, LEMONADE,
ORANGES and LEMONS
OHIO ALE,
ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrel or Barrel
Genuine Hamburgh Cheese
SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH,
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at
A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

PRINCIPAL, Mass., 20th Dec., 1856.
Dr. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. ERBN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: I owed your PECTORAL myself and in my family restored you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for the purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than be without it, take any other remedy.

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 7, 1856.
DR. AYER: I will cheerfully certify you from all the best remedy we possess for the cure of Hoarse Cough, Croup, and the chief diseases of children, is your PECTORAL in the South appreciate your skill, commend your medicine to our people.

HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEREY, Tn., writes, 31 Jan. 53: "I had a terrible Influenza, which confined me in bed six weeks; took many medicines without relief, but tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me entirely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MACKEREL, Pa., Feb. 3, 1855.
SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is gaining universal success in this section. It has relieved several cases of lingering consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.

HENRY L. FARR, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ANSON, MAINE, writes, Sept. 6, 1856: "During my practice of more than twenty years, I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL, giving more relief to consumptive patients, in such cases."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the unanswering proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known to have cured so many and such dangerous cases, as has your CHERRY PECTORAL. While it counteracts the most obstinate tendencies to consumption, it subdues the severest coughs, and relieves the most distressing symptoms, with such certainty, that no one who will use it, need despair of a cure, however hopeless the case may appear. Where the disease has progressed so far as to make the formation of tubercles in the lungs, and the consequent expectoration of purulent matter, the PECTORAL will be found to allay the irritation, and to facilitate the discharge of the latter, and thus prepare the way for the healing process. Where no organic disease has taken place, but the lungs are merely oppressed with a cold, the PECTORAL will be found to relieve the system, and to restore the patient to health, by the use of a few bottles. Where the liver is inactive, and the digestive organs are disordered, the PECTORAL will be found to act with the most happy effect, in restoring the healthy action of the liver, and in regulating the digestive organs. Where the blood is impure, and the circulation languid, the PECTORAL will be found to purify the former, and to impart vigor to the latter. Where the nervous system is shattered, and the mind is depressed, the PECTORAL will be found to restore the former to its healthy tone, and to dispel the latter. Where the whole system is prostrated by disease, the PECTORAL will be found to restore the appetite, to enliven the spirits, to build up the wasted frame, and to make the weak strong. Where the liver is inactive, and the digestive organs are disordered, the PECTORAL will be found to act with the most happy effect, in restoring the healthy action of the liver, and in regulating the digestive organs. Where the blood is impure, and the circulation languid, the PECTORAL will be found to purify the former, and to impart vigor to the latter. Where the nervous system is shattered, and the mind is depressed, the PECTORAL will be found to restore the former to its healthy tone, and to dispel the latter. Where the whole system is prostrated by disease, the PECTORAL will be found to restore the appetite, to enliven the spirits, to build up the wasted frame, and to make the weak strong.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER,
Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.
PRICE $5 CTS. 175 BOX. Five Boxes for $1.
SOLD BY
All principal Druggists.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the past twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

DR. MCCRUM'S Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON.
Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

Advertisements.
PRINTING,
THIS OFFICE.
REAM, A WATER,
LEMONADE
ES and LEMON
ALE,
N DRAUGHT,
Half Barrel or Barrel
Hamburgh Cheese
SMOKED
, HERRING and COD FISH,
White Fish by the barrel or ha
A. JAMES & CO.
June 24th, 1858
ER'S
ERRY
ORAL, oughs, and rseness.
ss., 29th Dec., 1855.
I do not hesitate to say have ever found so es, Influenza, and the tions of a Cold, is your
Its constant use in y family for the last ars is to preserve supe e treatment of those
N KNIGHT, M. D.
Esq., of Union, N.Y., writes:
y myself and in my family
l believe it the best medicine
d. With a bad cold I shall lars for a bottle than do without ooping Cough, Inflam
Saratoga, Miss., Feb. 2
I will cheerfully certify your fath ve possess for the cure of that the chest diseases of children. I the South appreciate your ski icine to our people.
HIRAM CONKLIN, M.
, MONTEREY, Tn., writes, 31 Jan. influenza, which confined me to be any medicines without relief; fin me by the advice of our excel lieved the soreness in my throat
e half the bottle made me comp nce and the cheapest as well as the e of every fa
the estimate of every pa
ve the BLOOD IS RESTOR
HY STATE and freed from
The system is not reduced
ation, but invigorated, and restraint from business
e in these medicines a r them all that medici
t.
PARED BY OFFAT, M.D.
And For Sale By DRUGGISTS.
MCCRUMS
ot Book, or seman's Friend.
Book, together with othe
, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON.
3d. 850
FFAT'S
E PILLS
AND nix Bitters
MILY MEDICINE NOW b e, for the cure of Scrofu or Eruptions of the Sk Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and see soon yield to their cur puted that during the past upwards of FOUR MILLI ave been benefited by the ines, a fact which speaks of their curative properties place them beyond the reach
the estimate of every pa
e the BLOOD IS RESTOR
HY STATE and freed from
The system is not reduced
ation, but invigorated, and restraint from business
Phthisic, and Bronchitis.
Wyer Manchester, Pa., Feb. 8, 1856.
Pectoral is the best remedy for Coughs
It has relieved several from the consumption, and is now curing a
HENRY E. PARKE, Sheriff
Mt. Pr. Austin, Monroe co.
During my practice of equal to your CHERRY PECT to consumptive patients,
Dittoes of evidence, but the nar virtues of this remedy is justly Consumption. remedy has ever been known such dangerous cases as reach; but seem to those lief and comfort.
S. New York City, March 3, 1857
ient: I feel it a duty and a pleasu your CHERRY PECTORAL has done even five months laboring under of Consumption, from which no to her much relief. She was steadily ing, of this city, where we have ded a trial of your medicine, b
we do your skill, for she has reco
She is not yet as strong as she h her cough, and calls herself well.
truly and regard,
ALDO SHELBY, of SHELBYVILLE despair till you have tried AYER is made by order of the best medical and He covers all around us virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger. athartic Pills.
Chemistry and Medicine have ht to produce this best, most own to man. Innumerable Pills have thrown which surpass ry medicines, and they will the esteem of all that powerful to cure. These ndicate the vital activities of the ses of its organs, purify the ies purge out the foul humors which ructions, stimulate sluggish or ic natural action, and impart s the whole system. Not only ny complaints of every body, ngerous diseases that have that, while they produce
e same time, in diminished doses, that can be employed for ny a pleasant to take, and free from any risk of harm. Can ch surpass belief were they not such exalted position and opinion of unleath. Many cians have lent their names to reliability of my remedies, while assurance of their tribute immensely to the how-ones.
pared is pleased to furnish gratis containing directions for their use and nces, of the following complaints:
Complaints, Rheumatism, Impu or wring from a Foul Stomach, S
Bad Digestion, Heartburn, Head
Inactivity of the Bowels and Irritability, Loss of Appetite, All Diseases which require an Ayer's Pills. They also, by Stimulating the system, cure would not be supposed they
ses. Partial Blindness, Neuralgic
Derangements of the Liver and ge-kindred complaints arising or obstruction of its functions, by unprincipled dealers who re more profit on. Ask for thing else. No other they his in its intrinsic value want the best and there is it.
by Dr. J.C. AYER, ytical Chemist, Lowell, M rs Exs. Five Boxes for $1.
SOLD BY Druggists.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,
George & Charles Spafford,
TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	8	15	30
One-third do	6	14	20
One-quarter do	4	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $3 a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via, Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57 P. M.
Going South	6 30	"	2 40 "
Adrian to Detroit	7 45	and	8 32 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ Chas. DeMott has Harper for July.

☞ A large amount of wool has been sold in our streets during the week; prices range from 25 to 38 cts.

☞ A cow belonging to Mr. Judson Church of Wheatland, gave birth to a calf a few days ago, which had a head like a horse, and weighed 130 pounds.—Tecumseh Herald.

We clip the above from the Toledo Blade. We are willing our cotemporaries should charge most anything to us, but the above is a little too extensive. A few weeks ago we sent our friend Rowlson, an anti-pick pocket pocket-book, (Smith's patent,) since which time he has manufactured some 1000 notes, and we presume the above is one of them. Will our friends please charge it to the Hillsdale Standard.

We would say to all lovers of art that they will be richly repaid by visiting Mr King's studio in "Bidwells" Block where Mr. W. R Wheeler the talented artist is producing a number of the finest portraits we have ever seen. Mr. W. has just completed a beautiful painting of a group of children for Mr. Tribou. We can truthfully say that no portrait painter who has ever been in our village before, has left a work that can compare with the production. Owing to the hard times Mr. W. has reduced his prices so that almost every family can afford to have one of these beautiful works of art for a trifling cost compared with the former prices of portraits. This group of children will be on exhibition for a very short time at the studio and if our citizens wish for an agreeable treat let them go and feast their eyes upon this beautiful work.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—During the shower yesterday afternoon the Storehouse of the M. S. & N. I. Rail Road was struck by lightning. The most singular freak we have heard of. The lightning seemed to have an upward course, as Mr. Wellman informed us, in a short time after leaving the Storehouse, and upon examination, found the top torn from the Scales and split through the center. It then struck the Chimney, tearing it to pieces in the second story and also on the roof—the north end of the building was forced from its pinning nearly two inches—a board that was fastened to the upper part of the building, was torn off and thrown against the roof with such force as to take a piece of the cornice with it.

M. S. & N. I. R. R. Office.
Tecumseh, June 23d 1858.

MR. EDITOR:—I am informed by the Gen'l Ticket Ag't. that arrangements have been made for issuing free return passes for July 5th, one of which will be given to each person buying a full ticket to any station on this Road on that day; said passes will be good on 5th of July only. J. W. WELLMAN, Agn't

A CULPRIT'S OPINION OF JUDGE WILSON.—Hon. E. H. C. Wilson has a bad name among the students of the Jackson College. Not long since, a genius whom he appointed to place for several years in the institution, made the following comments, as found in the memorandum book taken from him on entering the Prison.

"O, Judge Wilson is a d——d old fool!
He goes to his office, and sits down on a stool—
He rolls up his eyes, and lays back his ears,
And the first thing a feller knows, he's sentenced for ten or fifteen years!"

The poet is pretty near right in his conclusion if he is not in his premises. Judge Wilson is truly a terror to evil doers; and blacklegs of all sorts, are learning to give the southern counties a wide berth.

The Coldwater Sentinel, the only paper in Michigan which openly advocated the existence, perpetuation and extension of negro slavery in the United States, has expired. It is some consolation to know that such a paper could not survive in this State.

COMMERCIAL.

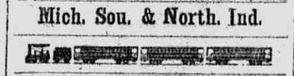
Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH June 24, 1858.

Wheat	10a75
Flour	4 00a4 50
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	30a50
Potatoes	20
Onions	50
Apples, green	1 00
do dried	3a6
Butter	11
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00a5 00
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 50
do half bbl.	600
Hides	3
Calf skins	87
Sheep pelts	40a50
Salt, fine	2 00
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25
Wool	25a35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.



1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38 A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00 "	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	7 45 "	3 32 "
Arrive at	12 35	6 49
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 "	5 45 "
Arrive at	9 55 "	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago		12 50 10 04
Arrive'at	7 20 "	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 "	1 20 "
Arrive at	7 20 "	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25 "	1 50 "
Arrive at		12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25 "	8 40 "
Arrive at		12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 "	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 30 "	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35 "

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothoary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING
At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh.

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style, Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m8.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting
Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by
E TINDALL

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS. OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

ROSIN and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd Fellows W. A. KING, and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

GIVE HIM A CALL

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE

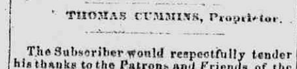
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.



A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

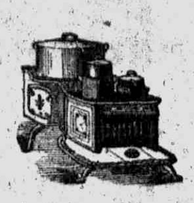
Enquire on the premises.
J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept, 24th, 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices
January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving
Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH
SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, A Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.
CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 351tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain, A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 336tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B J BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

Miscellaneous.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

☞ PRIZES GIVEN ☜

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do
50 do	60 00	do
100 do	50 00	do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains,	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $75 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40. Or to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded without one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or corrupt the taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL, NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. $12.50 per annum.
15 " " " 15.00 " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3w8o 211 Centre St. N. Y

Medical, &c.

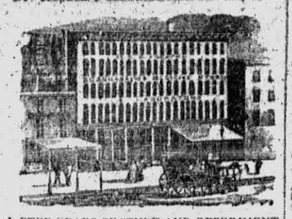
DR. ROBACK'S

BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in procuring a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, splenetic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague, asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, dissatisfaction and debility, diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber, are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid; it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor, and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which, if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

FROM MIAMI CO. Ind., Aug 4, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time (not from a quack) I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach, for often my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMullen, Pastor of Roberts Chapel, Indianapolis, Oct. 5, 1857.

DEAR W. ROEVER—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills, care of R. R. Card & Co., as I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I tell you so often I thought them, but I am bound to say that your Pills fill the contract. Why, I have taken as many as (O! of ——— and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect, but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Cincinnati, Friday, Sept. 4, 1857.

DR. ROBACK—DEAR SIR: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—After using two bottles I felt its effects very sensibly, and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me, therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGES BENNETT.
Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Enquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting, I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months, and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it, at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac gratis from my agents.

Manufactory, Sales Rooms and Office, No 6 East Fourth street 3d building from Main street Cin., O.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. ELDWELL, Adrian, R. BROWNELL, Clinton,
G. V. HAWKINS Medina, F. N. BUTLER Morenci.
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.
Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the fearful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago, directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c. And in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitious distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or treatment, Dr GEORG R CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.
GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
380y EZRA D HEARWELL, President.

SPRING DIDNE

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the personal influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Brass Horn Band.

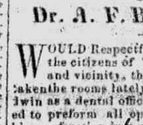
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS:

FRED. EMERSON	D. C. MARSHALL
DELOS LeBARON	WALLAS GRAY,
D. L. BUCKER	JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEARS	ALFRED JAMES
O. G. ADAMS	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858 361y

MRS. E. M. BISSELL



DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBEROTYPE ARTIST.

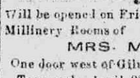
Rooms open from 9 a. m until 4 p. m. at her residence, on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 380m3

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.
Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

C. C. ADAMS,



Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with

AGRICULTURAL.

A Word of Warning to Michigan Farmers.

The schooner Correspondent has arrived from Detroit and will unload her cargo of 12,300 bushels of wheat in order that it may be thoroughly cleaned before being shipped to Liverpool.—Cleveland Herald.

Every farmer in this State who reads the above extract ought to blush that by sheer negligence the press of other cities can state such facts as the above. The truth of the matter is, that the cargo of wheat was bought in Detroit, from Michigan growers because the best the market affords. The berry was very nice, and it was deemed a fine sample for the English market. But the farmers who brought it to market had never cleaned it thoroughly. They put it up for market just as it came from the seperator of the thresher—foul, dirty, unfit for grinding and use. If our farmers don't stop this shiftless work, the reputation of Michigan wheat—now the first and best of any western grain—is forever lost, prices will rule it accordingly, and the State lose millions of dollars! Farmers! do you hear? And will you reform this shiftless work? It will be money in your pockets—depend upon it.—Detroit Tribune.

Vermin Riddance.

Half an ounce of soap boiled in a pint of water and put on with a brush while boiling hot, infallibly destroys the bugs and their eggs.

Flys are driven out of a room by hanging up a bunch of a Plaintain or Fleawort plant after it has been dipped in milk.

Rats and mice speedily disappear by mixing equal quantities of strong cheese and powdered squills. They devour this mixture with great greediness, while it is innocuous to man.

When it is remembered how many persons have lost their lives by swallowing in mistake, mixture of strychnine, ratsbane, corrosive sublimate, which are commonly employed for the purpose, it becomes a matter of humanity to publish these items.

House ants ravenously devour the kernels of walnuts, and shell bark hickory nuts. Crack some of these, and place them on a plate near the infested places; and when the plate is full of ants threw the contents in the fire.

Cockroaches as well as ants, are driven away by strewing elderberry leaves on the shelves and other places frequented by these troublesome insects.—Hall's Journal.

A Farmer's Experience for 50 years.

I have been an inhabitant of this country for more than half a century. In my childhood beasts of prey, such as bears and wolves roamed through what was then a wilderness. Then there were no good roads, no convenient school houses, nor churches. Then industry and rigid economy, plainness of dress and manners, and warmth of friendship in families and neighborhoods characterized the farming community. Then we farmers mostly lived in log houses, and partook of our homely fare with a good relish and with thankfulness to the great Giver. We had no stoves, no carpets, no sofas, no pianos in our homes. We neither wore silks nor fine broad cloths. Our clothing was of a coarse but strong texture. Then we had but few rogues or crafty speculators that seek their living from the honest labor of others. Our implements of husbandry were of a simple kind. We had no fine carriages or coaches; but our vehicles were carts and sleds, and now and then a wagon. To ride after an ox team was a common way of traveling; to ride in a wagon after a span of horses was a luxury. Then we had scarcely any conception of a coach, and much less of a railroad or a telegraph. Then our plows were all of wood except a small share at the bottom, and a coulter extending from the beam to the end of the share; the crotch of a tree cut to a suitable length, with iron or wooden teeth inserted, answered the purpose of a harrow. The virgin soil readily produced wheat, rye, oats, corn, potatoes, flax, &c. All these were more or less cultivated. The farmer in due time cleared off the superfluous forest, improved his farm, paid off his debts, helped to build roads, school houses and churches, and provided for the wants of his household; the mother and daughters did all the domestic work at home, spun the wool and flax and made garments for the family. Such in brief, was the way in which the farmer in this new country lived. He was industrious, and his sons followed in his path; the mother with busy hands performed her daily task; the daughters neither hated nor shunned labor, but co operated with the mother in domestic duties. But now every thing is changed. The implements of husbandry are vastly improved. The hoe and spade, the plow and the harrow, the hay rake and the reaping machine, all testify to value of recent improvements. Machinery now accomplishes much which fifty years ago had to be done by muscular power. Improvements in agriculture have been many and valuable within a few years past. Farmers now working no harder than they did a half century ago accomplish double. Where proper attention is given and farms carefully tilled and manured, much larger crops can be realized.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date October 8th, 1857, made by Jefferson Barrington to Jacob Beever, jr., and recorded in the office for the record of deeds for the County of Lenawee in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 208 and 210, October 12th, 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three, in Township one south of range five east in Michigan, excepting and reserving sold off of the north end, to Nathan Chevrier, will be sold at public auction on the 30th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB BEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 16th, 1858. 358w13

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was duly recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 260, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing eighty acres (more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PORTER BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 364w13

Administrators Sale

Pursuant to an order and License from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Public House in the village of Ogden in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed viz: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Ogden in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan and known and described as follows to wit: The North East quarter of the North West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) South of range number five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH,

Tecumseh June 10th, 1858. Administrator

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John T. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in Liber W of Mortgages on page 208 and 209 on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857 by the said John T. Woodruff to Albert F. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in Liber I of Mortgages on page 356 upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Eighty Dollars and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and in pursuance of the Statute the mortgaged premises described as follows to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan and known and described as Lots Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village will be sold at public auction at the door of the Circuit Court House in the City of Adrian in the County and State of Michigan on the Twenty fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD. Assignee.

Dated June 15th 1858.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca in said County known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South East Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th 1858. 356w

Sheriff Sale

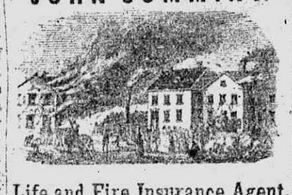
STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca in said County known and designated as The East half of the South west quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South East Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff

Dated June 15th 1858. 356w

Miscellaneous.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH . . . MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $200,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N Y $150,000.
ÆNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27th, 1858

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful, for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in ware-house and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in the great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do for by himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by considerably extended observation and experience that this is a general and universal want, we have established our House expressly for it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us for execute orders involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars and we believe in every case, these employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed, (it is certain, that being constantly in the market daily for cash we can buy cheaper than any single purchaser can. In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything to the best lands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce themselves, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the necessary arrangements to enable us to render service to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are usually five per cent although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from this. We have a circular giving more at length the plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot Philadelphia.
Gen. Billy Blake, of Blake Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales Cabot & Co., St. Louis
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

How to be the most beautiful woman in the world. How to be more beautiful after marriage, instead of more ugly, as most wives are. How to transmit your beauty to your children without losing it yourself—How to be sweet without perfume, cheerful without stimulant rosy without rouge and radiant without paint. The means are certainly within the reach of every woman and are explained in a pamphlet of fifty-five pages entitled "Letter to Ladies" which will be mailed prepaid to your address on the receipt of 25 cents in stamps or American coin. Address

DR. T. L. CHAPMAN,
No 47 West 13th Street, New York.

KEDZIE'S
PATENT WATER FILTER.

THE BEST FILTER KNOWN FOR FAMILY USE; it has given the highest satisfaction for many years; is scientific in construction portable durable and cheap. It renders rain water perfectly pure and sweet making cisterns more economical than wells. Has no scaling, thereby saving from the hard water of limestone regions. Five sizes; retail from $8 to $12 dollars. Wholesale to the trade at the usual discount. Can be forwarded safely by express. Manufactured by J. E. Chency & Co. made now only by JAMES TERRY & CO. at the old stand of J. E. C & Co. Stele Street Rochester N. Y. For descriptive circulars address James Terry & Co.

THOUSANDS
THROUGHOUT the COUNTRY
ARE SICK

Thousands would give half their fortunes to
BE WELL.

Send then to Dr. TYLER who, by Spirit aid, can see what others guess at; can see your disease, see all its extent and progress, and cure the most complicated. Descriptive circular and a list of almost miraculous cures performed during the past five years in the west and South, send one three cent stamp and address Dr S Tyler 442 Broadway New York.

Persons at a distance can be treated by sending a lock of their age and symptoms. Consultations fee, $5.

S. W. FRANCIS'
Patent Printing Machine.

THIS Machine is played by means of piano keys; two copies are printed at once in less time than is required to produce one with the pen. Divines, while in the pulpit, will be freed from the inconveniences attending an ordinary manuscript. Authors secured from loosing the result of many hours of mental application by the destruction of a single copy while in the hands of the publisher. Editors no longer troubled by the necessary correction of errors in good sized type sent to newspaper copies. Reporters may with less labor furnish printed reports; Merchants while writing a clearer letter and saving time, will keep neatly printed copies instead of illegible ones they now retain by means of the copying press; and persons with failing sight or paralyzed or amputed arm will still be enabled to pursue his literary labors with greater ease, rapidity and certainty than ever before by a slight modification raised letters may be printed for the benefit of the blind.

The Price of one Printing Machine, $400.

For Circulars with full particulars send stamp, and address S. W. Francis & Co.,
No 442 Broadway, New York

☞ TO COUNTRY MERCHANTS. ☜

D. S. WILLIAMS.

LATE WILLIAMS & CUNNINGHAM,

Having removed to the spacious lofts in the Cary Building, 105 and 107

Chambers Street, and 89 and 91 Reade street New York, is now offering for cash or on approved credit, a large and well assorted stock of

HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS AND UMBRELLAS, PARASOLS, &c,

Of all the styles, qualities and materials usually found in market. Having one of the largest sale rooms in the city, (50 by 100 feet) with ample facilities and an experience of near twenty years in the business purchasers may feel assured of being as well served at this house as at any other in the trade.

☞ Orders from the country filled with care and promptness. 391

Consumption. Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. T. HUNTER, of New York, whose practice is confining on the Respiratory Organs, and the irrational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as it 'Inhilation' consisted of some particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either H. HUNTER, M. D., or Drs HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N Y

May, 1858.

J. W. BEERS & BRO,

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship to best all Competition. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

Drv Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 12 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the th s village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " Wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee. Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by seeing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 357tf

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties. a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n343ly HENRY LANCASTER

DR. MCCRUM'S
Receipt Book, or
The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

Miscellaneous.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL C. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MRS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRESENT,
Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500.00	each
5 do do do	200.00	do
10 do do do	100.00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100.00	do
20 Gold Watches	75.00	do
50 do	60.00	do
100 do	50.00	do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	35.00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30.00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30.00	do

Gold Lockets Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

I Have 25 More
OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 357tf

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties. a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n343ly HENRY LANCASTER

DR. MCCRUM'S
Receipt Book, or
The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S
BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.
DISEASE VANQUISHED.
—BY—
Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character. Indigestion nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1

PERU, Miami Co. Ind., Aug 4, 1857.

DR C. W ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort and efficiency in business dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuassions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for two years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel;

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5, 1857.

DR C. W ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a few weeks, and from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts, and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

LOUISVILLE, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen bottles of your Pills—care of H. G. Cord & Co.—so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty-five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your Pills did the contrary! Why, I have taken as many as six (6) of —'s and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 4, 1857.

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—After using two bottles I felt its effect very sensibly, and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me, therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a source of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNITT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Enquirer.

HOMANSVILLE, Erie county, Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W ROBACK. Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them. I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I can't now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—nearly seventy years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly affected. MORRIS MORRIS

The above testimonials and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac gratis from my agents

Manufactory Salesrooms and Office No 6 East Fourth street Cincinnati, Ohio. Sold by druggists from Main street Cin. O

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian, R. BROWNELL, Clinton
G. WHEATONS Medina, P. BUTLER Morenci
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE act worthy of their name to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who applied by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate on commander the highest Medical skill of the age and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c. and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr GEORG R CALDEN Consulting Surgeon Howard Association, No 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO FAIRCHILD, Secretary
390y EZRA D EARLE WELL P esident.

SPRING EDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one, Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

☞ BLANKS of all kind, for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

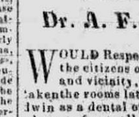
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL
DELOS LEBARON,	WALLACE GRAY,
D. L. SHEPARD,	JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEARD,	ALFRED JAMES,
Q. C. ADAMS,	GEO. SEAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 391y

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL



DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMEROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 366m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist.

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all operations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 369tf

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!
A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY,

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, at the Globe Mills. I have on hand a good assortment of everything usuall kept in a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT)

JACKSON, - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

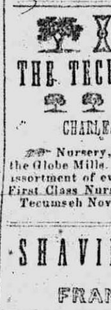
We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

NEW MARBLE.



The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County. This marble will be worked up to

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 33. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JULY 1, 1858. WHOLE NO. 398

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. J. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTI
New Brick Store, Chicago S
340y1. TECUMSEH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
34ty1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL.
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VAN TINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Rail Road and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER,
Shop, Chicago Steref, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. E. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER. W. C. CHEEVER.
H. M. & W. B. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC
Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Main, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
340tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUBL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
TECUMSEH, MICH.

FAMILY AFFECTIONS.

Be kind to thy FATHER—for when thou wert young,
Who lov'd thee more fondly than he?
He caught the first accents that fell from thy tongue,
And joined in thy innocent glee.
Be kind to thy father, for now he is old,
His locks intermingled with gray,
His footsteps are feeble, once fearless and bold;
Thy father is passing away.

Be kind to thy MOTHER——for lo! on her brow
May traces of sorrow be seen;
O well may'st thou comfort and cherish her now,
For loving and kind hath she been.
Remember thy mother, for thee she will pray,
As long as God giveth her breath;
With accents of kindness then cheer her lone way,
E'en to the dark valley of death.

Be kind to thy BROTHER—his heart will have dearth,
If the smile of thy joy be withdrawn;
The flowers of feeling will fade at their birth,
If the view of affection be gone
The love of a brother, wherever you are;
The love of a brother shall be ornament, purer and richer by far,
Than pearls from the depths of the sea.

Be kind to thy SISTER—not many may know
The depths of true sisterly love;
The wealth of the ocean lies fathoms below
She surface that sparkles above.
Be kind to thy FATHER, once fearless and bold,
Be kind to thy MOTHER so near;
Be kind to thy BROTHER, nor show thy heart cold
Be kind to thy SISTER, so dear.

THE JOURNEYMAN GENTLEMAN.

BY GEORGE ARNOLD.

Joe Conway was an oddity.

He especially delighted in mysteries, disguises, unexpected denouments, intrigues and romance generally.

Consequently, he was always getting into very bad scrapes, and—superfluous assertion—there was always "a lady in the case."

This made him a bit of a misogamist—an amateur woman hater.

Yet, for all that, he could not let the sex alone.

A profound love of nature and dissipation, attracted Joe and myself to the little village of D——, on the banks of that charming stream the Erehwon. We went to fish, to sketch, to see the scenery, and to drink, for, as Joe remarked, the waters of the Erehwon posess peculiarly refreshing qualities, when mixed with a little cogniac.

The afternoon of the second day of our sojourn found us seated upon a flower-spangled slope, skirted by willows whose gnarled roots were bathed in the pelucid Erehwon. We had sought the spot to smoke, converse and digest our somewhat elaborate dinner, in peace and quiet, with the beauties of nature before our eyes.

As is very apt to be the case, when two young men get together, our talk was of women.

Woman! what an inexhaustable subject for contemplation, conversation, writing, oratory, painting, sculpture and matrimony!

"It's all gammon," said Joe Conway, "woman don't appreciate cultivation, intellect nor good fellowship. All they look for is wealth and position, when they love. If they don't find those amiable qualities, they won't love, and if a fellow hasn't got them, he had better let the sex alone. It takes a gilded key to unlock their precious little hearts. That's so!

"You are sadly mistaken, Joe," said I, "and the worst of it is that you know it. You are angry with the husband-hunters who have given you chase, and revenge yourself by damning the whole institution of diminity. You are wrong. A man like you, young, rich, and—well, yes, without flattering, I think I may say tolerably good-looking, has no chance—You see only the designing ones, who are bound to marry your bank-account in spite of yourself, and they play off their charms upon you, adnauseam

"But where are the artless ones, who don't want money—who are willing to sacrifice themselves, and all that, for the sake of the tender passion?"

They are modest. The brasen-faced fortune-hunters crowd about you, and accustom you to being sought. The really good girls require seeking, and as that isn't in your line, you never know how many nice women there are in the world.

"I'll tell you what I'll do!" cried Joe, starting up suddenly, and half choking himself with a mouthful of cigar-smoke, "I'll test that question. I'll do it here in this very place. I'll turn mechanic, ignore my money and my family, make up to the prettiest, proudest girl in the village, and show you that she won't marry me poor. Then I'll come out in my true colors, and show you that my cash is pulssant to do that which my conversation and acquirements can not begin to do!"

"What, marry her?"

'Not much—make her ask me to, and laugh at her.'

I confess that I secretly hoped that Joe would not test the question. He was a capital fellow, as rich in accomplishments and cultivation as in money. Now I knew very well that D—— contained some very charming girls—daughters of retired sea captains, merchants, etc., who, however much they might love a mechanic, would see him hanged before they would marry him. Au contraire, a young gentleman of wealth and position would, probably, prove very acceptible.

But he was determined, and when I returned to the city, in a few day, I left Joe arranging a chest of carpenter's tools, and getting himself up in a pair of blue over-alls and a paper cap!

Joe had a wonderful talent for doing everything tolerably well. He played upon half a-dozen instruments, could survey had dabbled in the fine arts, understood short-hand, a little surgery and medicine, was a finished jockey, a fair gardoner, had built a stone bridge, written an epic, and half-souled a pair of boots!

With these somewhat varied accomplishments, he had no fear, of course, but what he could get along very well as a carpenter. No one knew him at D——, and when he introduced himself to the 'boss' carpenter of the village, he succeeded in persuading him that he was a journeyman of unusual talent.

He received several commissions, during the first fortnight of his experiment, but on the whole, it was rather lucky that he was not compelled to subsist on the proceeds of his labor. Otherwise, he might have found it difficult to pay his board—especially as he commissioned me to send him some five dollars worth of cigars every week.

One day after he had nearly exhausted his patience, and had done no end of plotting and planning in vain, the village carpenter asked him to undertake the restoration of a cornice on one the oldest and most aristocratic houses in the village of D.

Joe agreed, and in a short time was mounted upon a scaffold, about on a level with the third story windows of the mansion of Commodore Hulkington, dexterously making his measurements and plans for the new cornice,

It was not an easy task, for the work was elaborate, and the weather was warm. Two days elasped, and Joe had only got ready to commence putting up the brackets which sustained the heavy mouldings. Lunch-time came, and the amateur carpenter, getting in the shade unpacked his little tin dinner pail, and began a repast, at once simple and nourishing, when he saw that the window nearest him was open, and that some papers lying on an escritoire inside, were disposed to blow away.

'I know it is a trespass,' meditated he, 'but it is for the proprietor's good—I'll step into the room, and save, perhaps, some valuable documents.'

A little gymnastic exercise brought him down from his scaffold, through the window, and into a very elegant chamber.

'Hem,' said he, 'a woman's room.'

There were ornaments, statuetts, ormula ornoments, and forty other luxurious nothings, such as women of taste love to gather around them. A guitar reposed upon the bed, with some books in French and Italian. The couch itself bore the impress of a form, as if the tutelar deity of the chamber had been lying down, and passing her time with music and literature. There was a portfolio open upon the table, with a very pretty little water-color sketch, half finished; a well stocked library in the corner, bore evidence to the cultivated taste of the occupant, and everything about the chamber, from the bed with its shower of snowy curtains falling from its massive gilt ring, to the canary bird in the window, bespoke a refinement on the part of whoever had arranged the apartment, seldom found, except in young and beautiful women, who aspire to have their surroundings like themselves.

'Something elegant about this,' said Joe, gathering up the scattered papers, and placing them beneath a paper-weight on the escritoire, 'I must investigate this—here's an opening for a splendid bit of romance—poor, young carpenter, and rich, lovely woman eh? Lord bless me, there has been bushels of novels written on the same plot.'

After a hurried examination of the room, he regained his scaffold, and consuming his lunch, set once more about his labors, a little more hopefully than before.

Thus passed a week. Joe got into a very impudent habit of entering the chamber almost daily, in hopes of meeting the occupant of so charming a temple. He became familiar with all the books and music, whistled the canary into a convulsion of song, and drove himself half crazy with speculations upon the fair unknown.

He had heard her sing very sweetly of a morning, when she opened the window, and just caught a glimpse of her form; but she, seeing him, had withdrawn suddenly, and he had not been able to discover whether she was beautiful as a rose, or ugly as a camel.

He had found upon a half finished sonnet, on the table, several long, fine, brown hairs, apparently plucked out in a fit of abstraction.

Evidently, this girl was a blonde.

He had found gaiters of delicate colors and wonderful smallness—gloves of corresponding delicacy—tasteful and artistic dresses and sacques.

What will you say, oh, my matter of-fact and practical reader, when I tell you that my friend, Joe Conway, fell in love with a woman whom he had not yet seen—of whom he knew next to nothing.

Yet he did.

Quite naturally the erection of the cornice progressed slowly. The master carpenter wondered at it, but Joe assured him every morning, that it would only take a day or two longer.

One fine afternoon, Joe found, lying on the escritoire, an essay upon music, written in the same beautiful hand which he had so often seen and admired on the margins of books, and the papers in the chamber. Grown impertinent to an alarming degree, he laid down the saw which he had unconsciously brought with him, and perused the essay carefully.

It was well written and powerful, but there was an error in the philosophy. It would be dull for me to explain here, the mistake which Joe saw at once—it is enough that the fair writer had confused the laws which govern melody and harmony, and Joe devoutly wished for an opportunity to point out the error to her who made it.

He was just meditating an epistle, to be left with the essay, when the door opened, and his deesse inconnue entered.

Figure to yourself a young girl—say of nineteen or twenty—whose every line and contour spoke of grace and health—whose peach tinted cheeks, bright eyes, and lips like the inner fold of some tropic shell, told of vivacity, freshness and purity. Her hair was of that peculiar pale brown, almost a wood color, which may, perhaps, be best described as a mingling of ashy and golden tints, and fell in tangled masses—on each side of a neck white and delicate as the petals of the camelia.

She did not scream when she saw the carpenter sitting coolly in her arm-chair, making himself objectionably at home.—She only opened her large grey eyes, hesitated a moment, and said:

'Well, sir!' with an accent between surprise and disdain.

Joe arose and bowed politely.

'What do you wish, sir?'

Joe was put somewhat to his trumps.

'I wished to see what kind of a fairry inhabitant so delighted a domain!'

Truly, a nice speech for a journeyman carpenter to make to Commodore Hulkington's only daughter.

'Possibly you are not aware that you are intruding, sir. You will oblige me by departing.'

'Certainly,' said Joe, now in the full enjoyment of the romance of the thing, 'certainly, I will go, but you must pardon me one thing—I wish to explain a little question, on which you have doubts—Harmony in music, appeals to the intellectual or reasoning portion of the soul—melody to the passions and feelings.'

The young girl looked a little alarmed, and drew back a few steps.

'No,' said Joe, divining her thoughts, 'I am not insane. In your essay on music, you say that 'education refines and intensifies our perceptions of melody.—You should have said harmony' for that rules the brain, which organ is susceptable to the influence of education. Melody is lord of the heart alone, and you, mademoiselle, ought to be well aware that the heart cannot be taught—either in music or in love!'

'Sir,' she said, 'I do not know what to make of your conduct. You are very imprudent, and very—very——'

'Audacious! Yes, I acknowledge that,' interrupted Joe, 'but you must pardon me. I first entered your room to place some papers in safety, which the wind was about to blow out of the window.—Once inside, the air of elegance and refinement exhibited here, attracted me—Doubtless, you have noticed that one's surroundings become permeated, as it were, with something of one's sphere—so in your room, I experienced an emotion of pleasure—a consciousness of the presence of some invisible but charming spirit, and I have made bold to enter often, believing that, if you knew my motives, you would forgive me.'

The young lady was beginning to feel pleased. All women like admiration, even from their (so-called) inferiors, if it is delicately expressed.

The conversation proceeded. Joe proved to the fair esayist that she was in error and astounded her by the depth of his thoughts, the variety of his knowledge, and the elegance of his diction.

On leaving, he held out his hand—almost as soft and white as her own—and she, stifling the last traces of a false prejudice, gave it a cordial pressure.

'You have not long worked at your trade?' she said.

'Since my boyhood,' unblushingly answered Joe, 'but,' and he glanced at his hands, 'I have generally done the nicer kinds of work—joinery and the like.'

This excuse passed very well with a woman who had never had the honor of the acquaintance of a mechanic before.

The next day, when Joe heard the window opened, he presented himself, and after exchanging salutations, the twain fell into discussion, which became so earnest that Joe was compelled once more to enter the room.

Alas, for the progression of the new cornice!

For two weeks this state of affairs continued, and at the expiration of that time Louise Hulkington was compelled, maugre her pride to acknowledge to herself she loved Joe Conway, the journeyman carpenter,

He would not believe it. It contradicted his theory of the mercenary character of woman.

And, I notice, we never believe anything which contradicts our theories.

Finally, when the cornice had to be finished, Louise petitioned her father to have an ornamental wardrobe put up in her chamber. Of course, Joe had the task, although the old Commodore grumbled terribly about employing such a slow workman.

It took Joe six weeks to make that wardrobe!

By the time the job was done—very nicely done it was, too—Joe's theory was quite done up, and the sweet Louise Hulkington had promised to become his bride, in spite of her father—in spite of Joe's blue over alls and paper cap—in spite of the notions of the world.

Sensible girl!

There was only one thing left for Joe to do—to reveal to her his true position which I was very happy to corroborate.

Three months afterward, I said good bye to a newly married pair just starting for Europe, on a honey-moon trip.

As I held the tiny, white gloved hand of the bride, and saw her charming face beneath the gossamer-tissued veil, depending from her love of a bonnet, I said to the proud happy bridegroom:—

'Well, Joe, if you remember our conversation on the banks of the Erehwon, last summer, you can tell me what you think now of the sentiments you then expressed.'

'My dear George,' said the Journeyman Gentleman, 'there are exceptions to all rules.'

TERRIFIC HAIL STORM.—Morenci and vicinity was visited on Saturday last by a severe hail storm. The hail-stones were of great size. One was brought to our office which measured 5¼ inches around it in the largest way. One, picked up by Mr. Coffin, measured 5½ inches one way around it, and 6½ inches the other way. The storm did not do much damage in this village; but we learn that east and south of us, great havoc was made with the crops, poultry, window lights, &c.—Morenci Jour.

☞ The Kansas correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, writing June 2d, states that Mr. and Mrs. Dalton whose divorce case excited so much interest in Boston, are living in Lawrence, apparently a devoted husband and wife.

POWER'S IN LUCK.—Mr. William B Aster, now in Paris, has bought Power's statute called "California," for the sum of $7,500, and the Hon. Hamilton Fish has bought a third duplicate of the same artist's "Fisher-Boy," for the sum of $1,000.

Forget not the Loved Ones at Home.

BY I. R. GOODBURY.

Can I e'er forget my father?
Him whose hands so oft caressed!
Ah how well I now remember,
That fond pleasure to his breast,
Soothing there my wearied head,
He a parent's blessing gave,
Pure to heaven that blessing sped,
'Tis remembered there.

Can I e'er forget my mother?
Her whose love around me twined?
Though in distant climes I wander,
Love like hers I ne'er can find.
Soft and gentle was the kiss,
She bestowed upon her child;
Sure on earth no more such bliss,
Can again be mine.

Can I forget that brother,
Though long years have parted us—
Where is his dear form, I wonder?
Shall we ever meet in bliss?
And that gentle sister, dear,
Meek forbearing e'er to me,
Memory brings her dear form near,
I can ne'er forget.

How sad memory lingers fondly,
How my heart yearns with delight,
As on home's blest scenes I ponder,
They're my guiding star—my light;
When around that old hearth stone,
We all meet no more to part,
Then the bliss of earth is won,
A foretaste here of heaven.

Wheat or Tares.

'Wheat or tares—which are you sowing, Fanny dear, in the mind of this little fellow?' said Uncle Lincoln to his niece, Mrs. Howard; and he lifted a child, not beyond his fourth summer upon his knee, and laid one of his hands amid the golden curls that fell about his neck, and clustered about his snowy temples.

'Wheat, I trust, Uncle Lincoln,' replied Mrs. Howard, smiling, yet serious. 'It is an enemy who sows tares—and I am his mother.'

There was a glow of proud feeling in the countenance of Mrs. Howard, as she said, 'I am his mother.'

It was Mr. Lincoln's first visit to his niece since her marriage and removal to the city, some hundred miles away from her old home.

'Even a mother's hand may sow tares,' said the old gentlemen. 'I have seen it done, many times. Not of design, but in thoughtless inattention to the quality of seed she held in her hand. The enemy mixes tares with the weat quite as often as he scatters evil seed. The husbandman must not only watch his fields by night and day, but also the repositories of his grain, lest the enemy cause him to sow tares as well as wheat, upon his own fruitful ground.'

'Willie,' said Mrs. Howard, speaking to the little boy, about ten minutes afterwards, 'don't upset my work basket, stop! I say, you little rogue!'

Seeing that the wayward child did not mean to head her words, the mother started forward, but not in time to prevent the spools of cotton, scissors, emery cushion, etc., from being scattered about the floor.

Willie laughed in great glee at this exploit, while Mrs. Howard gathered up the contents of the work basket, which she now placed on the shelf above the reach of her mischievous boy. Then she shook her finger in mock resentment, saying—

'You little sinner! If you do that again, I'll send you off with the milk man.'

'Wheat or tares, Fanny?' Uncle Lincoln said, looking soberly at his niece.

'Neither,' replied Mrs. Howard, smiling gaily.

'Tares,' said Uncle Lincoln emphatically.

'Nonsence, Uncle!'

'The tares of disobedience, Fanny—You have planted the seed, and it has already taken root. Nothing will choke out the wheat sooner. The tares of falsehood you also throw in upon the newly broken soil. What are you thinking abot, my child?'

'The tares of falsehood, Uncle Lincoln! What are you thinking about?' said Mrs. Howard in real surprise.

'Did you not say that you would send him off with the milkman if he did that again? I wonder if he believed you'

'Of course he did not.'

'Then,' said uncle Lincoln, 'he has already discovered that his mother makes but light account of truth. Will his mother be susprised if he should grow up to set small value on his word?'

'You treat this matter too seriously, Uncle. He knows that I am only playing with him.'

'He knows that you are telling him what is not true,' replied Mr. Lincoln.

'It was only in sport,' said Fanny, persistently.

'But in sport with sharp edged instruments—playing with deadly poisons.' The old gentleman looked and spoke with the seriousness that expressed his feelings—

Fanny! Fanny! Truth and obedience are good seeds; falsehood and disobedience are tares from the Evil One. Whatever you plant in the garden of your child will grow, and the harvest will be wheat or tares, just as you have sown.'

Mrs Howard did not reply, but her countenance took a sober cast.

'Willie,' said she a few minutes afterwards, go down to Jane and tell her to bring me a glass of water.'

Willie, who was amusing himself with some pictures, looked up on hearing his name But as he did not feel like going off to the kichen made no response, and let his eyes turn to the pictures in which he had become interested.

'Willie!' Mrs. Howard spoke with decision, 'did you hear me?'

'I don't want to go,' answered Willie.

'Go this minute!'

'I am afraid.'

'Afraid of what?' inqured the mother.

'Afraid of the cat.'

'No, you are not. The cat never hurt you or anybody else.'

'I am afraid of the milk-man. You said he would carry me off.'

'The milk-man is not down stairs,' said Mrs. Howard, her face begining to crimson; 'he only comes in the morning.'

'Yes, he is. I heard his wagon a little while ago, and he's talking with Jane now. Don't you hear him?' said the little fellow with remarkable skill, having all the resemblance of truth in his tone and expression,

Mrs. Howard did not look towards her Uncle; she was afraid to do that.

'Willie,' the mother spoke very seriously, 'you know that you are not afraid of the cat. What you have said, therefore, is not true; and it is wicked to utter a falsehood.'

'Ho! ho!' laughed out the bright-eyed little fellow, evidently amused at his own sharpness, 'then you are wicked for you say that which is not true every day.'

'Willie!'

'The milk-man has not carried me off yet.'

There was a world of meaning in Willie's face and voice.

'You haven't whipped me for throwing my cap out of the window.'

'Willie!' ejaculated the astonished mother.

'D'ye see that?' and the young rebel drew from his apron pocket a fine mosaic breast-pin, which he had positively been forbidden to touch, and held it up with a mingled look of triumph or defiance.

'You little wretch!' exclamed Mrs. Howard, 'this is going too far;' and springing towards her boy, she grappled him in her arms and fled with her struggling burden from the room.

It was a quarter of an hour before she returned, alone, to the apartment where she had left her uncle. Her face was sober, and her eyes betrayed recent tears.

'Wheat or tares, Fanny?' said the old gentleman, in kind but earnest tones, as his niece came back.

'Tares,' was the half mournful response.

'Wheat where better, Fanny.'

'I see it Uncle.'

'And you will look well in future to the seed in your hand, ere you scatter it upon the heart of your child?'

'God helping, I will dear Uncle.'

'Remember, Fanny, said Lincoln 'that truth and obedience are good seed. Plant them, and the harvest will come in blessing.'

A lady wished a seat. A portly handsome gentleman brought one and seated the lady.

'Oh, you're a jewel.'

'Oh, no,' replied he, 'I'm a jeweller. Have just set the jewel.'

FOLEY ONCE MORE.—At Washington, the other day, a gentleman said to Foley, the Democratic letter writer.

'Well, Foley, they rather had you in that letter, didn't they?'

'Yes' said Foley, 'rather so—well, I writ it, that's a fact, but they mucilated it most d—ubly in publishing it!'

'Mucilated' is good—good enough.

FLATTERY.—Whatever dirty-shirted philosophers may say to the contrary, flattery is a fine social thing, the beautiful handmaid of life, casting flowers and odoriferous herbs in the paths of men, who, crushing out the sweet, curl up their noses as they snuff the odor and walk half an inch higher to heaven by what they tread upon.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

THE COTTAGE BY THE STRAND.

BY HELEN H. SEARS.

By cloud where sparkling waters,
Their foamy garlands flung,
Over shining glassy pebbles,

The clustering emerald foliage
And silvery burnish'd grass,
To willow wand and maple,
Mirrored darkly in the wave.

Around the broken lattice
The eglantine had twined,
And with its blossoms mingled
The glossy ivy twined,
And by the rain-washed doorstone,
The grass waved thick and tall,
And roses bloomed and withered
With none to mark their fall.

The roof was gray and sunken,
And down its steep decline,
The damp green moss was scattered
By the scathing hand of time
And 'neath the eaves the swallows,
Unharmed were wont to dwell,
And robins sung securely,
On the woodbined window sill.

The walls were rude and shaky
With the drapery of age,
Decay thereon had pictured
A mildew heritage,
And on the wide black mantel
Where the Bible used to lay,
The dusty clock stands silent,
And shadows are at play.

Long years ago the fire-light
Gleamed on the polished hearth,
And children gaily prattled,
And love was there and mirth,
But they who gathered round it,
Or grouped beside the door,
Have launched upon Death's ocean,
And gained the other shore.

No foothall breaks the silence,
The gate swings to and fro,
To summer winds obedient,
That murmur as they go
A song of sad remembrance,
To the plashing wavelet band,
That ripple a low melody
By the cottage on the strand.

Emetics as Detectives.

Capt. Walling of the New York police tried a new detective agent the other day which proved entirely successful. A young man had passed a counterfeit bill at a jewelry store and was detained until an officer could be called in During the interval he was seen to 'swallow something' supposed to be evidence of guilt. The officer came and took him to the Station house where he was searched and no bad money found on his person but the officer mistrusted there was some in it. The prisoner submitted gracefully to the search. At the close the following brief dialogue ensued:

Prisoner; Well, I hope now, sir, you are satisfied that I dont carry any bad stuff with me. I trust I can now go home about my business

Captain; My officer tells me that he has reason to believe that you have swallowed some counterfeit bills.

Pris Not I, sir, I do all my business square, and above board—it is some of the nonsense of that pusillanimous clerk.

Capt. A slight emetic would tell the story. It will take but a moment to clear yourself. [Laughter among the 'shadows' as though the serious captain intended a joke]

Pris. Clear myself! do you suppose that I am going to degrade myself by taking any d——d emetic?

Capt. Degrade or otherwise, I consider it my duty to try the thing on.

Pris. (Waxing wroth and putting himself in an indignant attitude)—I'd like to see you try it on! If a man touches me I'll be d——d if if don't thrust my fist down his throat and give him an emetic that will throw his boots and big toes out of his mouth.

Capt. Walling gave the prisoner to understand that he must submit to the operation and that he had better do it quietly, at the same time instructing one of his men to get an emetic. As the emetic was handed to the prisoner, he made some wry faces, but seeing he was fairly in for it, he gulped down the dose, saying, as he swallowed it, 'I have just taken dinner at upper Taylor's and I don't like to unsettle my dinner right after having settled for it

Several minutes elapsed, but no indication of the recent dinner showed itself.

Captain Walling being determined to make a thorough job of it, ordered another emetic, which the young man swallowed even more reluctantly, than the first. It was found that this was also likely to fail and the Captain insisted on his taking a tumbler of warm salt water as a sort of top off. The latter had the desired effect. Amid the chunks of meat lumps of potato, segments of asparagus and undigested strawberries, four counterfeit bills were found They had been compressed into such a small compass that a pretty rigid search was made before they were discovered The bills were unrolled, and proved to be a counterfeit three on the Hancock Bank of Ellsworth Me., a counterfeit bill of similar denomination on the Granite Bank of Connecticut, and two counterfeit ones on the Yates County Bank of this State. The prisoner was evidently surprised at the appearance of the bills, for he had, no doubt, too exalted an opinion of his stomach to think it would be guilty of uttering counterfeit money. There was a great deal of laughing among the detectives at the result, while the prisoner was marched off to a cell. He says his age is 23, and that he lives in Hoboken. Though a German, he speaks good English, dresses well, and altogether has the air and bearing of a nice young man.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, : : : : : EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1858.

Commencement at Ann Arbor.

[illegible] the commencement at the University of Michigan, and the most of it was spent by us in connexion with the exercises incident upon the same, it might naturally be supposed that our thoughts would for the time incline in that direction.

The University has of late come to occupy a far more prominent place in the public mind than it once used to do Many causes have combined to bring about this desirable result. Much credit is due to the indomitable energy and untiring devotion of the old Board of Regents, to the husbanding of its resources and promotion of its interests. They were also very fortunate in procuring and placing at its head its present able and efficient President, Dr. Tappan. Possessed of extensive erudition, enlarged educational views, and a truly catholic spirit, he has to a remarkable extent succeeded in infusing into the entire institution a goodly portion of his liberal spirit and enlightened policy.

It is we believe admitted that a better and more effective corps of Professors is seldom to be found collected together for the support of any institution of learning upon American shores.

There is now in successful operation not only the Classical, Literary and Scientific Departments, but also an able and well sustained Medical Department, and it is now in contemplation by the present Board of Regents to establish without delay a good and well appointed Law School.

When this shall be done, still more than ever will the good wishes, and interests of the citizens of Michigan gather and concentrate around the classic halls of this our State University, and tend, year by year to add an increasing importance and attractiveness to her commencement exercises.

It is a good indication that a State should be proud of her institutions of learning. That her Statesmen and scholars should love, from time to time, to gather beneath their classic shades and renew their devotion to science and letters, and as it were rejuvenate their toil worn spirits at those kindred founts from whence they first received their inspiration.

A large class of students, over forty we believe, and the largest class yet graduated from the University, took diplomas at the commencement just past, and the addresses of Dr, Tappan, Dr. Foster, Geo W. Curtis Esq, and Rev. Geo P Tindall, before the Societies, Alumni and Students, were all much admired and highly commended. The Orations of the Graduating class were, we think, as a whole well sustained, although it was of course impossible to give any very marked character to an oration limited to five minutes duration.

MEXICO.—The mail from the South is at hand. The New Orleans papers contain details of the Tennessee's news:

'The value of the imported goods stored at Santa Cruz, is said to be five million dollars, besides a large amount along the interior routes. The French minister refused to present the protest of the French citizens against the forced loan on foreigners. President Zuloaga had granted an exequatur to the United States Consul at Acapulco.

The idea of an United States Protectorate, says the Extraordinary, is ridiculed in Mexico. Anarchy reigns in Sonora, Guayamez was unsuccessfully beseiged for a week, by two thousand Indians. Whole villages had been burned, and the population murdered.

Santa Cruz de Mayo had been entered by Indians, and every man killed. The women and children were confined in a church and burned, with the rest of the town.

A battle had been fought on the plain of El Saltillo, between Pesquira and Landara, in which the latter was defeated and killed. The former had pronounced in favor of Juarez.

TEXAS GETTING ANTISLAVERY.—A late number of the New Orleans Bee says: "There is serious danger of the utter defeat of Southern hopes and aspirations touching Texas, and that in the very heart of the South, in the region of all others best adapted to the successful cultivation of Southern products, and to the consequent remunerating employment of slave-labor, a feeling of settled opposition to slavery exists, which if not counteracted, will ultimately neutralize the entire benefit conferred by the act of 1850, and incorporate the largest, finest and most fertile part of Texas into the family of free states."

James Dean living at Chicago Illinois, and who about a year ago received $200,000 by the death of an uncle in Australia, died a few days since from dissipation.

General News.

Washington, June 23.

The official advices received by the arrival from England are of a more favorable character than has been received towards this country, and disavow intentional offense against our flag, and mentions the fact that prompt orders have been issued to discontinue the visits which have given rise to the present difficulties. Her Majesty's Government does not insist on visitation or search as a right, but as both nations are striving to put a stop to the slave trade, it desires a mutual understanding or arrangement as to the proper and most acceptable manner of ascertaining the character of suspected slavers, This is the mooted point. The tenor of the dispatch was far from being unsatisfactory, in fact the doctrine so long maintained by our Government is considered as practicably acknowedged by Great Britain. The differences between the countries are not such as cannot be amicably accommodated.

It is understood that the cabinet to-day had under consideration the affairs of Utah which are so complicated as to require great caution in their management. From the present indications all the troops now on the way will continue their march to Utah. What additional measures will be pursued will depend on the character of the next official dispatches from that quarter.

The charge of Judge Eckles to the Grand Jury against polygamy, is condemned as being calculated to embarrass the pacification of the Mormons.

The Post Office Department transportation propositions have been received for carrying the mails from New Orleans and New York to Havana, and alternate with the Law line, and for similar service on the Bremen and Havre line, receiving the postage for remuneration, as contemplated by the recent act of Congress.

New York, June 23.

The steamer Persia, from Liverpool the 12th, arrived last night about 10 o'clock.

The steamship Indian Empire was appointed to sail from Galway, touching at Halifax, on Friday the 18th of June.

GREAT BRITAIN.—On the 10th in the House of Lords, on motion of Lord Brougham, a bill was read the first time, the object of which was to render the fraudulent negotiation of bills of exchange penal.

The bill abolishing property qualifications for members of Parliament was debated and read the second time.

The bill extending the franchise in counties to occupants of £10 tenements, the same as in boroughs, was brought up for a second reading.

Government opposed all action upon the measure at present, but upon a test there was a majority against the Government of 98, and the bill was read the second time.

On the 11th, in the House of Commons, in reply to an inquiry, Lord Stanley said Government had sent a despatch to India, disapproving of the policy of annexation, and disapproving the annexation of Dahr

The India reports were taken up, and after the rejection of the proposition by Lord John Russell, to limit the Council to 12 members, it was resolved that it should consist of not more than 15 nor less than 12.

A match has been made for a race between the American mare Prioress and Beadsman, the winner of the Derby The event is to come off at New Market in October, and the terms are £500 a side. The horses are to carry even weights, 119 lbs each, notwithstanding that Prioress has an advantage of two years over Beadsman.

A match has also been made between Ten Brock's horse Babylon, 4 years, and Lord Chesterfield's Telegraph, 5 years, at even weights, for £200 a side, to be run the day after the above.

The three mates of the American ship Gleaner have been committed upon the evidence of the crew of the ship.

Startling and disgusting disclosures had been made in regard to the confessional in the aristocratic neighborhood of Belgravia, London.

INDIA.—Sir H. Rose had completely defeated the enemy at Gomez, killing 500 men and capturing 7 guns. He was within 14 miles of Calpee on the 14th of May, and it was expected the attack would be made on the 16th.

The garrison at Jehaupore, 600 strong, was surrounded by 8,000 rebels with 100 guns, but no fears were entertained for their safety, relief being near.

A village in central India, had been stormed after an obstinate resistance, and all the mail inhabitants put to the sword.

A telegram from Vienna states that the British Consul General at Belgrade had been attacked and severely wounded by two Turkish soldiers.

LATEST.

London, Saturday 12.

It is stated in the Daily News city article, that a rumor prevailed yesterday afternoon, of its being the intention of the Governmet to call out an additional number of militia.

The Times has reason to believe that a circular has been issued by which it is the intention of the Government to offer no further opposition to the admission of the Jews to Parliament.

The French ministerial papers declare in favor of the American view of the question of the Right of Search, and characterize the blockading squadron as another failure.

The Times returns to the question of the great naval armament going on in France, and says that all the assurances in the world cannot do away the impressions that it is likely to produce. England is just the country to suffer by a razzia. Let her take care that a 3d tempest shall not find her unprepared as in India and the Crimea.

Wellsville, New York, June 25.

A Masonic celebration was held in this city yesterday. After the celebration the meeting adjourned to a large Hall for dinner. About 750 persons had entered, when about half of its floor gave away, precipitating about 300 of the company to the next floor, and at the same instant the floor above followed with a quantity of Cutter's fanning mills, lumber, &c. burying the mass of the people in the ruins. No one was killed; but from 40 to 50 were wounded—some 20 of them badly. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf, of Wellsville, Mrs. Daniel Dexter, of Independence Mrs. Colyin, of Bingham, Pennsylvania, and a Mr. Johnston, of Friendship, are reported dangerously injured. At noon to day all the sufferers are alive and most of them comfortable.

Rutland, Vt., June 25.

The Reform Convention met at 10 o'clock this morning, and organized by choosing J. Walker, of Glenn's Falls, President. Resolutions were introduced on spiritualism, anti-slavery, marriage, maternity, the Bible, land reforms, free trade, the Sabbath and divine worship—Speeches were made by Henry C. Wright, F. P. Brittain, Joel Tiffany, Mrs. Ernestine L. Rose, Wm. Goodell and Elder Grant. The convention is held in a tent. About 1,000 persons were present. The spiritualists and temperance men. Three trance mediums speak to-night.

New York, June 25.

We have Buenos Ayres advices of May 13th. The quarrel between Urquiza and Buenos Ayres remained in statu quo, Urquiza had been detected in trying to influence the municipal election of the province by corruption, which caused much excitement. A Buenos Ayres schooner had been wretched and 12 of the 36 persons on board, mostly of good families, perished. Business continued prostrated.

Toronto, June 25.

Parliament went into committee of the whole on supplies yesterday, and is still sitting. Much excitement exists. A violent personal altercation occurred between inspector General Caylor & Brown, the leader of the opposition, and a fight only prevented by the intervention of members No signs of an adjournment.

New Haven, June 25.

The racing yachts were spoken to day at one oclock under the Long Island shore, nearly opposite this city, by the yacht Mary, belonging here. The Rebecca led and the others came after her in the following order; Una, first; Madge, second; schooner Haze, third and the remainder of the fleet badly behind.

New York, June 26

The steamer Curlew arrived from Providence, reports the Rebecca ¼ mile east of Throgg's point, and the Una 3½ miles off the same point, becalmed and drifting, at 7 this morning.

New London June 26

Extensive preperations are making for a rowing match on the 5th of July, for which 25 entries of boats have already been made.

Concord June 25.

The Legislature will finally adjourn to morrow. Strong Republican resolutions on national topics are being discussed to-night.

New York June 26.

The Arago sailed to-day with 22 passengers, including the Ravel family, and $200,000 in specie.

Belleville, C. W. June 26.

A fire broke out in Hambly's block at 1 o'clock this morning, and 5 buildings, including the telegraph office were destroyed.

Riviere du Loupe, June 26.

There was a heavy fog on the St. Lawrence to-day. No signs of the Anglo Saxon, from Liverpool 16th inst.

St. Louis June 25.

A dispatch from Leavenworth (23d) per U. S. Express to Boonville, says two Companies of troops arrived at the Fort yesterday. Four hundred recruits from Columbus and Newport barracks will be due here on the 5th of July, destined to occupy Forts in the Department of New Mexico.

New York, June 26.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that dispatches were received here to-day, from Col. Johnston, and also a letter from civil officers at Fort Bridger. The dates of the letters are to the 26th of May. The latter present a less promising aspect of affairs, owing mainly to the proceeding which Judge Eckels and the U. S. Marshal had sought to institute in defiance to the Governor's policy. It was believed that their efforts were directed towards a collision, as the most effectual means of subjugation.—Brigham Young has assured Gov. Cumming that he was willing to give himself up if he could have a reasonable chance of justice, Gov. C., would return to Salt Lake about the first of June attended by the other civil officers. The Indian agent was to accompany him and open on office, either there or at Provo He had been successful in his negociations with several tribes of Indians and reports favorable progress with others. Instructions have already been sent from here to stop Eckles course, and additional orders will go by next mail.

St. Louis June 26.

The Republican's Independence correspondent, under date of the 23d, says: The Santa Fe mail had arrived, bringing dates to the 1st inst. Capt. Marcy had been heard from between the Arkansas and Platte rivers. In a severe snow storm on April 12th he lost 250 mules and a large number of sheep. Col. Loring proceeded very well until April 29th when he was overtaken by a severe snow storm, in which 6 of his men were frozen to death. Lieut. McNally, Regimental Quarter-Master, lost 40 or 50 mules, all his beef cattle and sheep. Mr Alexander who was sending trains to Utah, lost all his animals, except 15, and was obliged to abandon his wagons in the road. The New Mexico Mining Co., were fully organized and ready for operations. Their establishment is the most complete ever erected and the most sanguine hopes are entertained of ultimate success. Hall Porter & Co., are making rapid preperations for the transmission of the mails to California, via. New Mexico.

New York, June 26

Mr. Bennett's sloop 'Rebecca' won the yacht race. She arrived at the stake boat opposite Fort Schuyler at 45 minutes past 12 o'clock this morning. The Minnie was reported next behind at City Island, and the Una next at Captain's Island.

Lieut. Davis, of the British flag-ship Indus, arrived in this city yesterday, with despatches from Admiral Stewart for Lord Napier, and proceeded to Washington—He reports that the steamer Devastation, which had been dispatched with preemptory orders to the Styx and Buzzard not to overhaul any more American vessels, had returned to Bermuda, and reports having fallen in with those vessels and delivered the order to their commanders.

The Schooner Sciota which arrived here on Thursday, from Carthagena, brings Bogota dates of May 13. The New Granada House of Representatives had accepted in all its parts the Cass-Herran treaty; but the Senate had not receded from their amendments and modifications. The two Houses were to meet in joint ballot in a few days to finally determine the question. President Ospine is in favor of the treaty, and will do all in his power to preserve friendly relations between New Granada and the U. S.

New Orleans, June 26.

The steamer Tennesee, from Vera Cruz, has arrived below, but is detained at quarantine. Her dates from the City of Mexico are to the 19th inst. Admiral Zerman is among her passengers.

The forced loan to the government of Mexico had caused great excitement Foreigners refusing to comply are ordered to leave the country, and goods belonging to American citizens have been seized for non-compliance.

Mr. Forsyth, U. S. Minister to Mexico has demanded and received his passports

The Liberals are everywhere strengthening their position. Zuoloago is about going to Tampico for refuge.

Chicago, June 28.

Reports from Decotah Territory state that the Yankton Indians, 3,000 in number, are committing depredations in the white settlements along the Minnesota river. They are dissatisfied because the annuities, now due, have not been paid by Government; therefore they intend to recover their lands and drive the whites away. They have destroyed the village of Medary. They have also burned the town of Flandrau, and an emigrant train near Medary. The plundered settlers were concentrating at Minnesota Falls preparatory to defensive operations.

Philadelphia, June 29.

At an alarm of fire last night, a fight occurred between members of the Moyamensing and Shiffler fire companies, in which Samuel Carr, a member of the latter was instantly killed by a pistol ball, shot through the head, Two others were wounded. A fracas occurred in the evening on board the Gloucester ferry boat, in which Mr. V. Heall was killed The murderer escaped.

Boston, June 28.

Hon. Albert H. Nelson, late Judge on the bench of the Supreme Court, died yesterday.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right flank, 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face, small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T. MILLS.

Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
JAS W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned

June 17. J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co. expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

DR. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, Foot of Chicago Street.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y., Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan:

A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway; June 1st, 1858. 394

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL, Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

WATER LIME.—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (160 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m8

BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway.

June 1858. New York.

New Advertisements.

FOURTH OF JULY ODE.

Dr. Roback's Greeting

TO THE UNIVERSAL WORLD.

Hail glorious day, beneath whose azure sky,
A giant nation from the womb of Time
First sprung to life, and Liberty on high,
To an admiring world by right divine
Claimed the new born as hers, while tyranny
Cowered beneath that sun's resplendent rays,
Which blazed propitious on a land so free
As men and angels mingled hymns of praise

All hail, Columbia; o'er the rolling wave
Thy stars and stripes in many a fearful fight
Have floated proudly, while thy sons so brave,
With dauntless hearts and stern, resistless might,
Nobly have battled for thy rights and fame,
Winning from despots of the olden world
Fear and respect; long may thy name
Beam with bright hope, thy flag be ever unfurled

But not in sanguinary war's red path,
No, rather in the cause of peace and joy—
Not groans of anguish, but the merry laugh
Should welcome to our land the blue-eyed boy,
The God of Love, and Cornucopia's horn
Be emptied on thy hills and vales so free,
Thus may thy children greet the natal morn,
Of fair Columbia and of Liberty.

Ruddy-cheeked health, with blessed, joyous train
Of happy fancies, still shall bless the land;
From Roback's Swedish herbs flies direful pain
Dyspepsia's baffled, and the feeble hand
Of the poor nervous wretch no longer shakes;
From his famed Scandinavian remedies,
Fever and ague quail, while health awakes,
And dire disease, with all its horror flies.

Corrupted blood, pure as the limpid stream,
Soon neath their magic influence course free
The dull Dyspeptic's eye with healthful gleam,
Sparkles, and rings the laugh in jollity
Neuralgia, too, in all its horrid guise,
Is cured, as certain as that day succeeds
To darksome night; and thus as surely flies
All lung complaints before his remedy.

Yet one more agent in the glorious strife
Of battling Death, is called up at his will—
Another new and joyous lease of life
Is brought by his Blood Purifier and Pill
To all who have acquired the horrid taint,
Acute or chronic as it chanced to be
Of diseased liver. Quickly the complaint
Shall fly and leave that organ whole and free

Thus having to my patrons now proclaimed
The health inspiring virtues which possess
Those medicines throughout the land, so famed
As having thousands upon thousands blessed
I bid you all adieu; and may this day
Ne'er ever cherished by the free and brave,
And freedom's sun with bright and genial ray
Still gild the stars which o'er us proudly wave

For sale in Tecumseh,
By HENRY TAYLOR,
and by Druggists and Merchants generally throughout the United States and Canadas

Dr. ROBACK'S Medical Almanac and Family Adviser, gratis everywhere. See advertisement of the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Purifier, Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills in another column of this paper.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times,

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined. These Machines are Warranted to work well and on Suitable Ground, if well managed will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Twenty fifth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoag, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified, of Emeline A. Hoag, widow of the deceased praying letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pearson some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the two sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy) 393w3

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of certain Mortgage, made and executed by James Pettitt to William N Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1858. Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 19th day of A. D 1858 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and 12½ Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the power in said Mortgage described to wit: all that certain parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known described as follows, viz: The east half of the south east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting twenty (20) acres or so much thereof as is sufficient to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid and interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue at the Court Room in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee on the first day of October next at one o'clock in the forenoon of that day

J. E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st. 1858. 394w6

A list of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Tecumseh, for the quarter ending July 1st 1858.

Arnold George	Hall Elizabeth
Allen W	Holloway E T
Allen Mrs J	Hough F J
Allen Balis	King W R
Allen Dorathy	Kent B
Bailey Elizabeth	Kerr David
Bliss P	Lawren Miss
Beach Alex'r.	Lowerid S M
Barrett Henry	Larned Smyr
Basset Susan a	Myers Lawson
Blood Nathan	Millis Frank
Cawley J P	McCarter Joseph
Cole Mrs Mary	Mautline Dan'l
Coon John	Power Stephen A
Critten Miss Mary	Pitcher S
Chandler David	Pierce Calvin
Camburn Thomas	Russel E L
Clark Ester A	Randolph H M
Colliville D 2	Rhodes Edward
Curry Orrin 2	Shurts James
Drown E G	Sholes L G
Dakin Harriet	Stone Francis A
Draper Stephen S 2	Southworth H S
Ellis Robert	Swab William
Everitt John	Stuart Mrs. R
Foster A J	Scovill Rufus
Ferguson George Dr	Sinclair John
Gray William	VanDuzer C
Gillmore Isaac	Wheeler John
Granger O	Welber S
Goodrich Thomas	Wilson James
Glober Catharine	Wise A
Hathaway	Wetter Daniel
Holden Sally	Way M C
Hunter William	White Mary Jane

Persons calling for the above letters will please say They are advertised

Wm. McNAIR, P. M.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	12	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Business Cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern, Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	2 00	P. M.
Macon—Friday	7	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	10	"
	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South,	6.30	"	2.40	"
Adrian to Detroit.	7.45	and	2.32

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ Having decided to celebrate the glorious 4th somewhere, consequence is cannot issue but a half sheet next week.

☞ We return thanks to Mrs. Bissell, J. Woodard and John McConnell for those delicious strawberries. Mr. Woodard sent one that measured 4½ inches in circumference; don't think it can be beat.

☞ We left our village June 24th on the 6,35 A. M., train in company with the Tecumseh Band, to attend the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new Union School Building, at the city of Monroe, by the Free Masons, Odd Fellows, Firemen and citizens. The day was pleasant but excessively warm. Found our typo friends CLARK and GOODALL at the depot who welcomed us with their usual politeness and introduced the Band to a cool resort called FROSTS. The exercises of the day we will copy in our next from the Monroe papers. While strolling through the city we noticed many beautiful mansions on both sides of the Raisin. A good Hotel is much needed, aside from this we believe the city is well supplied with all kinds of business emporiums and three good papers (two English and one German,) to report their contents. We are requested by the Band to return thanks to the committee and their friends for their hospitality on this occasion, also to the gentlemanly conductor Mr. Lawrence.

We are under obligations to Friend GOODALL for a valuable Indian relic (spoon) which he apprise very highly. Have looked over our cabinet, and decided to return the compliment.

4th of July at Toledo.

The train for Toledo will leave Tecumseh 7,52 A. M. and arrive at Toledo 10 A. M. Leave Toledo for Tecumseh 2,30 P. M. Leave Tecumseh for Jackson 10,10 A. M. Leave Jackson for Tecumseh 7,45 P. M.—Tickets half fare. Persons going to Toledo, will have an opportunity to witness the exercises of the day and Fire works in the evening.

SENSIBLE AT LAST.—D. D. Marshall Deputy Sheriff, has been busy a few days past, introducing some discouraged persons to Chas. Hewitt, J. P., who after a short conversation with them learned where they obtained their whiskey, had two of the offenders arrested, and fined $10, and cost apeice. David is just like Joseph Bennett; all they want is, 'tell what you wish done, and it will be did.

LENAWEE COUNTY TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.—The second annual meeting of this association, which was to have been held at Tecumseh on the 9th and 10th of July inst., is, for reasons deemed both important and sufficient, postponed to the 29th and 30th of October next at the same place. Those papers in the county which have noticed the meeting for July will please to also notice the adjournment.

☞ A German newspaper is to be started in Monroe in this State, sometime during the present month. The Commercial speaks quite highly of Mr. Edward Dorsch, the gentleman who is to have charge of the editorial department. The title of the paper is to be 'The Monroe Unabhaengige.' It is to be independent in politics.—Terms one dollar per year.

We have received the first number of the above German paper. It is published by T S Clark at the Monroe Commercial office, and of course looks well. As Union Schools have been established since we received our education, we are unable to translate his columns, but from the flattering accounts we have received from those eminently qualfied to criticise the editor's abilities we presume its all right. We wish it success.

Young Womanhood.

Young Womanhood!—the sweet moon on the horizon's verge—a thought matured not uttered—a conception warm and glowing, not embodied—the rich halo which precedes the rising sun—the rosy dawn that bespeaks the ripening peach—a flower—

A flower which is not quite a flower,
Yet is more a bud.

[Gallyher's Hyperion.

Young Womanhood!—molasses touched with a little brimstone, spread on bread not buttered—a being all joints and angles, not filled out, an unformed form, deformed by stays—a pallid thing that loves the ripening peach—a young woman—

A young woman which is not quite a woman,
Yet something more than a gal

[Brooklyn News.

Young Womanhood!—a half moon not yet riz—a cake baked, but not turned—hot corn, all hot and smoking, yet not sold—a rich curdle which preceeds the coming butter—the down upon a goslin's back, that bespeaks the future goose—a butterfly—

A butterfly which is not a butterfly,
Yet ain't a catterpiller no how you can fix it.

[Sunday News.

Now comes our turn. Young Womanhood!—a giggle something short of a broad horse laugh—small potatoes half grown—a body and limbs developed with padding—the exhibition of bone and muscle enough for a coming matrimonial squabble—substantial finger nails that bespeak a first rate scratching—a gander—

A gander which is not quite a gander,
And yet is not a goose.

[N. O. Picayune.

While it is on the way, we may as well give it a shove; so here goes. Young Womanhood!—a red blackberry, just green enough to be sour as vinegar—a persimmon not yet frosted, yet ready to 'pucker' anybody's mouth who touches her—a something which is neither fish flesh, nor good red herring—a 'betweenity' too abstract for even a politician—a cat—

A cat which is not quite a cat,
And yet is not a kitten.

[Baltimore Sun.

Now comes us. Young womanhood!—a chicken in the shell—a small potato that isn't fit for family use—a peice of green 'live timber'—a herring half scorched over the fire—a moving sack of nothing tied round the middle—a young idea about taking the shoot—a lucifer match not yet ignited—a saucy cackling hen—

A hen which is not quite a hen,
Nor ain't an old rooster neither.

[Coffeeville Intelligencer.

Good lick! If it's a 'free fout' gentlemen, consider us in; we take one chance in that investment to a dead moral certainty, whether we win or lose by the operation. Here goes!

Young Womanhood!—Worry small turnips, few in a hill, hard to dig, and when dug not worth shucks—a buck wheat cake badly done on one side, and nary drop of molasses in the house—undeveloped crinoline—piano forturer—general teaser in chief to the whole family—embryo ball room ornament—oyster shells with the oysters just swallowed—an undeveloped rat—'in point of fact,' as Micawber would say—

A cunning, sharp eyed little mice,
That would be dear at any price

[Natchez Courier.

Young Womanhood!—a moving mass of undeveloped beauty, well supplied with tongue—a thing composed of hoops, flowers and flounces—a substance, to be by turns, pitied loved and flattered—a puff of vanity, void of solid substances, well calculated to deceive—a pigeon—

A pigeon which is not quite a pigeon,
And yet 'twill not do to call a squab,

[Jackson Flag.

We must have 'a finger in the pie,' if we get it burnt for our impudence.

Young Womanhood!—a proof sheet with but one error to be corrected—a gingercake not quite done, but will do to take along if a fellow hasn't time to wait—milk and peaches, that lack just a little more sugar—a five franc peice that will answer in the place of a dollar rather than take a ragged bill—a strawberry—

A strawberry that is not quite ripe,
Yet is no longer green.

[Shelbyville Expositor.

This fruitful theme, incapable of exhaustion inspires us too. Here goes our 'puff.'

Young Womanhood!—A rose, which conceals a thorn—a shy filly, hard to catch and fractious when caught—a green cucumber, more palatable than when ripe—a medley of incongruities and contradictions—loving, hating—gentle, ferocious—constant, capricious—compassionate, scornful—now attracting, now repelling—a sugar coated pill, least dangerous in small doses—a tonic for the heart ache—a cordial—

A cordial which is not all cordial,
And should be well shaken before taken.

[Exchange.

Young Womanhood—A horse that never goes—an ice empty cream dish—strawberries in rainy weather without sugar—a belle—

Which is not a bell,
Although it has a clapper (CLAW)

Phelps the R. R. Conspiracy Witness.

On the receipt of the intelligence of the death by drowning of Henry Phelps, the Jackson Patriot says, a young man who was sent to State Prison on Phelps' affidavit in the Railroad conspiracy case, took occasion to smile at this sad casualty, and went through the streets yelling at the top of his lungs, "Dead! Dead! Hank Phelps is Dead!" We believe he was not arrested by the officers, and seemed to be a subject of sympathy, tho' his "music" was rather annoying.

Our readers will remember that this man Phelps, after serving the State at the prison, discovered the plot at Michigan Centre to burn the depot at Detroit and Niles, and to place obstructions on the Railroad track by the citizens of that place; that a diabolical plot was exposed, and that upon his affidavit several persons were convicted and sentenced to State Prison. It further appeared at the trial that he (Phelps) was conversant with, and knew the haunts of all the thieves and scoundrels in the country; that he was familiar with the haunts of the notorious gang of horse thieves whose headquarters were at the Tamaracks, and Latta's near the Indiana line in this State. Hence public opinion has ever pronounced him the chief scoundrel in the great Railroad conspiracy case.

Time is obliterating all recollections of the exciting events and incidents of the conspiracy; and the deserted dwelling of Fitch, the dialpidated bowling alley, the taverns and other tenantless dwellings at Michigan Centre, are emblematical of the exciting scenes which were there enacted.

The Right of Visit.

The Louisville Journal, discussing the right of visit, says:

'In our judgment, the government that obstinately denies it, in practice as well as theory, offers its protection, in effect, to every pirate that roves the seas. This is no exaggeration. As respects the great purposes of police, the right of visit cannot be utterly denied without paralyzing every man-of-war on the ocean. Nothing can be clearer than this. If the flag of a respectable nation protects the vessel at whose mast-head it is flying from even the slight degree of scrutiny that may be requisite to ascertain its genuineness, a pirate obviously has merely to run up the flag of such a nation and laugh his pursuers to scorn. Imagine, under such a disposition as this, a freebooter roving for plunder on the high seas. A British cruiser heaves in sight, and the marauder hoists the American flag and passes on unchallenged. Presently an American vessel appears, and he hoists the British flag with the same magical effect. Next comes a French man-of-war, or a Spanish frigate, or a Portuguese corvette, and he sends his choice of the flags of all other nations up to the mast-head of his villainous craft, and, forthwith, it is sacred from the footsteps of the minister of justice.—In this manner the blackest brigand that ever infested the seas might run the gauntlet of all the war vessels of Christendom as if clad with enchantment. Pirates might just as well be presented with the freedom of the ocean at once. A doctrine which leads directly and unavoidably to such shocking absurdities can have no foundation in reason or justice.'

REMARKABLE WORKS OF HUMAN LABOR.—Ninoveh was fourteen miles long, 8 wide, and 40 miles round, with a wall, 100 feet high and thick enough for three chariots abreast. Babylon was 56 miles within the walls, which were 75 feet thick, and 100 high, with 100 brazen gates. The temple of Diana, at Ephesus, was 420 feet to the support of the roof. It was a hundred years in building. The largest of the pyramids is 481 feet high, and 653 on the sides; its base covers 11 acres. The stones are about 60 feet in length, and the layers are 208. Employed 330,000 men in building. The labyrinth in Egypt contains 300 chambers and 12 halls. Thebes, in Egypt presents ruins 27 miles around, and 100 gates. Carthage was 29 miles round. Athens was 25 miles round, and containing 359,000 citizens and 400 slaves. The temple of Delphos was so rich in donations that it was plundered of $50,000,000, and Nero carried away from it 200 statutes. The walls of Rome were 13 miles round.—Scientific American.

The Michigan Central and Southern Railroad Companies have made a compact by which the receipts of both roads, after deducting expenses, are thrown into a common fund, and then equally divided. The Central has the largest passenger receipts; the Southern the largest receipts on freight. The object, as stated, is to save money, "by having no runners, agents, competitors, low fares, rival trains, or other expensive competition for business;" for, under this arrangement, it makes no difference which route travel takes, as both share alike in the profits. The arrangement is said to save considerable expenditure to the Central, and add largely to the profits of the Southern.

It rains very hard this morning.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH July 1, 1858.

Wheat	70a76
Flour	4 00a4 50
Buckwheat	45
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	35
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	30a40
Potatoes	30
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	0 00
do dried	3a6
Butter	12
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chickens, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00a 500
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 50
do half bbl.	5 75
Hides	8
Calf skins	a7
Sheep pelts	40a60
Salt, fine	2 00
do course	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25
Wool	25a35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

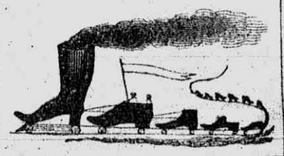
1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	3 38 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	7 45	"	3 32 "
Arrive at			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 4 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at			12 10 7 09
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	3 40 "
Arrive at			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 36	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh.

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388n6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1858.

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by
E. TINDALL.

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

ROSIN and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd W. A. KING, Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.
Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business; for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good & Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c.

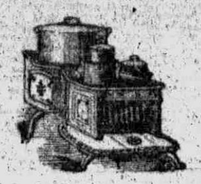
Enquire on the premises.
J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept. 24th, 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered,
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all.
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

——AT THE——

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Bable Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

CROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on
E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 356tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of
H. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct 15th.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

ICE CREAM. SODA WATER. LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrel or Barrel.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE

THE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRIZE TALE,
Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars,

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies One year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to
DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 385 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY
TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a
High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money
MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15	"	"	15.00 " " and
20	"	"	20.00 " " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL.

From the Grand Rapids Eagle.

Ticks on Sheep.

These creeping vermin so loathsome to the sight, are a very great annoyance to sheep, and should be exterminated. The best means of doing this, is what the farmer wants to know and practice. When sheep are infested with them they will give unmistakable signs of it, by frequently rubbing and scratching themselves, causing the wool to hang in shreds to the injury and waste of the fleece. Furthermore: the sheep cannot thrive while tormented by these blood-thirsty villains, sucking their life-blood out of them. Pecuniary interest, therefore, as well as common humanity, demands that this matter be looked to, and now is the time to think of, and make preparation for it. Having had some experience in this line of business, both in this country and the wool growing State of Vermont, I propose through the Eagle to give our farmers the benefit of it.

The modus operandi was given in connection with another subject in the winter of 1856—7, but as that is now numbered with the past, it may be profitable to repeat the substance of it, especially since observation has taught me, that the sheep of this country are greatly infested with these troublesome vermin. Procure, then, 4 or 5 pounds of common plug tobacco. Get the strongest, nastiest most stinking stuff you can find; for the virtue of the weed is directly in proportion as it combines these qualities. Boil it in one barrel of water, out of doors which will make a decoction sufficiently strong to kill every tick, and strong as can safely be used; for if made too strong it will dest oy both ticks and sheep, and make the men sick who perform the operation, as we have often heard of instances in Vt., where 2 or 3 sets of hands were required to dip 200 or 300 sheep. We say, boil it out of doors, for my own experience proves that it done within doors it will sicken all within. Let this be done the day before shearing. At shearing time provide a tub or trough of suitable dimensions to, contain enough of the liquid to immerse the body of the sheep immediately after shearing. Two men will be required holding the sheep by the feet with the back downward, and an extra tub for the sheep to stand in and drain; or if a trough be used, which is far preferable, the men may stand one upon each end, and then, raising the sheep out of the liquid, hold it until sufficiently drained. Don't forget to dip the lambs, also, for they will be found to have plenty of the vermin. I served my flock in this way some 5 or 6 years ago, and had they not mingled with other sheep from which they again became infested, they would probably remained free from them to this day, but we are bound to give the villains a little smoke from the 'bottomless pit' when we shear the sheep.

Sheep are also liable to a cutaneous disease, known as the scab or itch, which is the effect of certain microscopic animalcules inhabiting the skin and producing irritation and inflammation. The remedy is, to destroy the animalcules, for which a mixture of sulphur and lard, or mercurial preparations are sometimes used, although the latter is dangerous to the sheep, as it also is to the human subject. But the tobacco decoction already recommended will destroy the animalcules as well as the ticks, and thus cure the disease; and we should have no objection to every farmer raising a sufficient quantity for his own use, and to, supply the market with the medicinal drug, to be employed for the purpose for which nature designed it, viz: as a destroyer. It is a natural production, and every creature of God is good and nothing to be refused if it be received with thanksgiving;' and kept in its proper place. J. C. R.

ANOTHER PUDDING.—One cup of chopped suet, one of molasses, one of sweet milk, one of raisins, four of flour, one teaspoonful of saleratus, salt, cinnamon, allspice, and nutmeg. Boil three hours, or steam. Eat with hot sauce.

TEA CAKE.—Take one cup of milk two cups of sugar, a tea-spoonful of soda, half a cup of butter, three eggs, and sufficient flour to thicken it for baking.

If you milk out doors with the cow loose, provide good stools for each milker. See that they are never used to pound the cow with.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th, 1857, made by Jefferson Herrington to Jacob Theever Jr., and recorded in the office for the record of deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 207 and 208, October 10th 1857, at 11 o'clock, A. M., upon which mortgage is claimed to be due two hundred hundred and ninety-nine Dollars and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the land in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of Range five east in Michigan, except ten acres off the north end, to Nathan Chever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BALES & BAXTER, JACOB THEEVER Jr.
Attorneys. Mortgagee.
Adrian, June 20th, 1858. 394 13

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 206, 207 and 208, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold at the Circuit Court Room in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394 13

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and License from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at one o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Fenner died seized and possessed, viz: All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North East quarter of the North West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the purposes of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale.

BENJAMIN DEMUTH, Administrator.

Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage bearing date the twenty-first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in Liber W of Mortgages on pages 507 and 508, on the 17th day of March 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of May 1857 by the said John C. Wood to Alvin H. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber V of Mortgages, on folio 1265 upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and by pursuance of the statute in such case provided the premises described in the said Mortgage as certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, to wit: Lots Sixty-one and Sixty-eight of Assessors plat of said Village will be sold at public auction at the door of the Circuit Court House in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the twenty fourth day of September, A. D. 1858, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

ALLEN B WARD,
Assignee.

Dated June 15th 1858

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan Lenawee County ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, and dated the 15th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County Lenawee and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jons McCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan Lenawee county, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed, dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca in the State of Michigan and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jons McCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 14th 1858 396w

Miscellaneous.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Wredsport, N. Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 55 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some goods that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons in the country are desirous of having executed in the city orders for goods, but are deterred from doing so by the fear that they will not be executed to their satisfaction. We therefore solicit orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the articles received and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the cooperative plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F Cabot & Co. Boston.
Stanfield, Wentworth & Co. Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance companies. Railroads and other corporations.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

How to be the most beautiful woman in the world. How to be more beautiful after marriage, instead of more ugly, as most wives are. How to transmit your beauty to your children without losing it yourself.—How to be sweet without perfume, cheerful without stimulant, rosy without rouge, and radiant without paint. The means are certainly within the reach of every woman and are detailed, explained and illustrated in a "Letter to Ladies" which will be mailed prepaid to your address on the receipt of 25 cents in stamps or American coin. Address

DR. T. L. CHAPMAN,
No. 47 West 13th Street, New York.

KEDZIE'S

PATENT WATER FILTER.

THE BEST FILTER KNOWN FOR FAMILY USE; It has given the highest satisfaction for many years; is scientific in construction, portable, durable and cheap. It renders rain water perfectly pure and sweet, making cisterns more economical than wells, and saves the disagreeable taste arising from the hard water of limestone regions. Five sizes; retail from $8 to $12 dollars. Wholesale to the trade at the usual discount. Can be forwarded safely any distance. For sale or made by J. E. Cheney & Co. made now only by JAMES TERRY & CO. at the old stand of J. E. C. & Co., State Street, Rochester, N. Y. For descriptive circulars address James Terry & Co.

THOUSANDS

THROUGHOUT the COUNTRY ARE SICK.

Thousands would give half their fortunes to BE WELL.

Send then to DR. TYLER who, by Spirit aid, can see what others guess at, can see your disease, see all its extent and progress, and see the means of cure. For descriptive circular and a list of almost miraculous cures performed during the past five years in the west and South, send one three cent stamp, and address Dr S. Tyler, 442 Broadway, New York.

Persons at a distance can be treated by sending a lock of hair, age and symptoms. Consultations fee, $5.

S. W. FRANCIS'

Patent Printing Machine.

THIS Machine is played by means of piano keys; two copies are printed at once in less time than is required to produce one with the pen. Divines, while in the pulpit, will be freed from the inconveniences attending an ordinary manuscript. Authors secured from losing the profits of many hours of mental application, by the destruction of a single copy, while in the hands of the publisher. Editors no longer troubled by the unessary correction of errors in proof sheet incident to manuscript copies; Reporters may, with less labor, furnish printed reports; Merchants, while writing a clearer letter and saving time, will keep neatly printed copies instead of illegible ones; now chain by means of the copying press; and any person with failing sight, or paralyzed or amputed arm will still be enabled to pursue his literary labors with greater ease, rapidity and certainty than ever before. By a slight modification raised letters may be printed for the benefit of the blind.

The Price of one Printing Machine, $100.

For Circulars with full particulars, send stamp, and address

S. W. Francis & Co.,
No 442 Broadway, New York.

☞ TO COURTRY MERCHANTS. ☜

D. S. WILLIAMS.

LATE WILLIAMS & CUNNINGHAM,

Having removed to the spacious lofts in the Cary Building, 105 and 107 Chambers Street, and 89 and 91 Reade street New York, is now offering for cash or on approved credit, a large and well assorted stock of

HATS, CAPS, STRAW GOODS AND UMBRELLAS, PARASOLS, &c,

Of all the styles, qualities and materials usually found in market. Having one of the largest sale-rooms in the city (50 by 150 feet) with ample facilities and an experience of near twenty years in the business purchasers may feel assured of being as well served at this house as at any other in the trade.

☞ Orders from the country filled with care and promptness. 391

Consumption. Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writings on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum." Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Drs. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, NY

May, 1858.

J. W. BEERS & BRO,

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship to beat all Competition. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Butternwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand.

B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin, Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties. A single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

WB MOFFAT, M.D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n348ly HENRY LANCASTER.

DR. MCCRUM'S Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

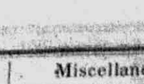
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON D. D. MARSHALL
DELOS LEBARON WALLACE GRAY
D. L. SHARES JEROME ALLEN
W. A. BEARS ALFRED JAMES
O. O. ADAMS. GEO SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

MRS. E. M. BISSELL



DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence, on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 13th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Balwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF

Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY,

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858 THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usually kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders.

for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

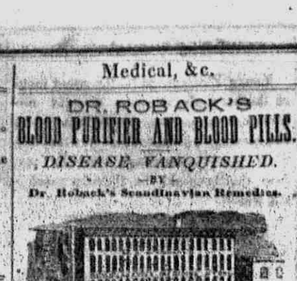
Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician, succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague, asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility, diarrhea, and all other disorders of the Organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber, are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is IN the waters, as much or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews healthy vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their reoccurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

PERU, Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 3, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Yours truly, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel:

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts, and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills cure of D. G. Curd's, or so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation, with its attending evils. I told you so then. I found your pills but I am bound to own that your Pills fill the contract. Why, I have taken as many as six (6) of ——'s and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect: but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Yours, GEORGE S. BENNETT.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 4 1857.

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines.—After using two bottles I felt its effect very sensibly, and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Enquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday Sept. 2, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting, I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. MORRIS MORRIS.

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac certificates from my agents.

Principal Depot, Sales-Rooms and Office, No. 6 East Fourth street, 3d building from Main street, Cin. O.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh.
N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Clinton.
G. V. HAWKINS Medina. F. N. BUTLER Morenci.
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan. 28, 1858. 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.), and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical Skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORG R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary. EZRA D H EASTWELL, President.

390y

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Miss ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Miss DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARK,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckel & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRIZE IN EVERY.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Prem.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Prems.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	$5.00 and 3
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$7.50 to 9.00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch worth $40; to any one sending 30 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $30. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded with in one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 835 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and is now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debase the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	14	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 20	A. M.	4 37 P. M.
Going South	6 30	"	2 40 "
Adrian to Detroit,	7 45	and	2 32 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

SELUBRIOUS.—Brick-block, third story, unfinished, tin roof, themometer shady 105, and no money to buy lemonade.

THE HARVEST.—With the exception of a few fields of late wheat, the harvest bids fair to be as good as was ever secured. Corn looks thrifty.

A few days since the following conversation was overheard.

Good morning farmer A; are you going to settle that little account soon?

Mr. A. Don't think I can; wheat badly rusted, corn just coming up, just my luck. Starts for the post office, meeting D and C who were braging on their crops, looks carefully around and seeing no person near, smiled beautifully, and said. I tell you what it is friends, I shall harvest the best piece of wheat in Michigan; will go 30 bushels. Corn stands knee high. This Mr. A pays 20 per cent, owes every body, and may be set down as a "strayed sheep" that some person will probably find on the 'tother side of Jordon, this fall.

We refer our readers to the advertisement of the Steamer North Star. The Tecumseh Band have accepted an invitation from the gentlemanly proprietors, S. & A. Turner, to accompany their celebrated Boat to Superior City, the 9th of August. Many of our friends have expressed their intention of going to Superior this fall, as business will be dull through the month of August, why not go the 9th.

For the Tecumseh Herald

Auburn Convicts.

A statement having been made from a source gaining credence from a considerable number, that among 800 convicts for the Auburn State Prison, there were sixteen methodist Ministers, (the statement made by way of derogating evangelical christian denominations) I take the liberty of requesting equal publicity to be given through your columns to a counter statement from one of the officers of the Prison, viz: (his own words) that among the convicts no one is or has been a methodist Minister, or one of any other evangelical denomination.

But granting that instead of sixteen there were 16,000 methodist Ministers imprisoned convicts and criminals, what would the fact establish? the moral tendency of christianity to evil? to the nurturing and perpetration of crime? or, the greater tendency to evil of the evangelical or orthodox creeds than of the anti-evangelical?

Has human reasoning come to such a pass as to appear in its mightiness to establish it as a fact that—whereas, crime, destitution, sufferings, persecution of innumerable kinds, crucifixions and death, have marked the history of christianity in its progress from its early dawning: therefore; Resolved, that "evangelical christianity or orthodox creeds" have done it? Is this so?

Pudor! Pudor! If all the Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, or denominations of christians of whatever name in christendom, were in prison to day, the fact would be none the less a fact, that christianity did place them there, but the antagonisms to it. VIRITAS.

☞ The Mississippi papers record the death of Mrs. Mary M. Gwin, the mother of Senator Gwin of California, in the 87th year of her age. Mrs. Gwin was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church forover seventy years, and her husband, Rev. Dr. Gwin, who died in 1841, was a minister of the same denomination for more than forty years, and one of the early pioneers of the Western and South-western States. For a long series of years he enjoyed the intimacy and confidence of General Jachson.

One line, and one fraught with instruction, includes the secret of final success—be prudent, be patient, and be persevering.

From the Monroe Commercial.

Laying the Corner Stone of the Union School Building.

INTERESTING CEREMONIES.—Notwithstanding the intense heat of the day, a large number of the people of our city and vicinity turned out on Thursday the 24th ult., to witness the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Union School building, performed by the ancient and honorable fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons. Although quite a common occurrence the world over, this time honored privelege of the order, was, we believe never before exercised in this city, and the novelty of the occasion probably drew many to witness it. The I. O. of O. F. Firemen, Civil Authorities of the City, the Clergy, and the various Masonic bodies throughout the County having been invited to assist in the celebration, a procession was formed on the public square, under the directions of the Marshal in the following order.

The Tecumseh Saxe Horn Band.
Germania Fire Co. No 1.
Monroe Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F.
Eureka Lodge No. 107, F. & A. M.,

escorting M W. Wm. M. FENTON, G. M. and other officers of the Grand Lodge, accompanied by members from Greenley Lodge, Adrian, Dundee, Petersburgh and Monroe Lodges.

The procession marched up Monroe Street, to Sixth St, down Sixth St., to the building. The Grand Master having commanded silence, the following deposits were made in the box

Constitution of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M, State of Michigan.

Transactions of the Grand Lodge for the past Masonic year.

By Laws of Eureka Lodge, No. 107 F. & A. M., Monroe Michigan.

List of principal officers U. S. Gov.
" " Members of Congress,
" " Officers Migh. State Gov.
" " Monroe County.
" " " Monroe City.

Public Institutions Monroe City, including secret societies, churches, &c. &c.

Copy Monroe Commercial.
" Monroe Unabhængige,
" Monroe National Press.

Box containing various gold, silver and copper coins of the day.

The box having been fitted into its place and the cement spread, the stone was lowered to its bed, and adjusted with the usual Masonic ceremonies. After trying it with the Plumb, square, and level, the Grand Master pronounced the stone 'well formed, true, and trusty,' and, pouring upon it 'the corn of nourishment, the wine of refreshment, and the oil of joy,' he invoked the blessings of heaven upon the building and its purposes. After a few appropriate remarks, he was followed by Rev. Mr. Strong, of the Presbyterian Church, Rev Mr Carpenter, of the Episcopal Church, and Franklin Johnson Esq., of the School Board, in short but able addresses alluding to the subject of education, our common school system, the necessity of preserving its non-secterian character, the advantages of Union Schools, and other topics suitable to the occasion.

The procession was then re formed and marched down Washington street to the square when it disbanded.

There was no formal public dinner, but the 'latch strings' of our Masonic fellow citizens hung hospitably out for the entertainment of their brethren and guests from abroad. Some 40, however, partook of a capital dinner served up for them on very short notice by Jos. Weier Esq., at his new Union Hall.

We were pleased to observe brethren from Adrian, Petersburgh and Dundee in attendance.

The afternoon passed off in pleasant festivity, and, at 5 o'clock, the brethren of Eureka Lodge, headed by the band, escorted the Grand Master to the M. S. R. R. Junction, where he took his departure for Detroit. On the arrival of the train for the west, we were obliged to tender the parting hand to those splendid fellows—the Tecumseh Sax Horn Band. A short visit of one day to our city had made them hosts of friends. They were strongly importuned to remain a day or two longer, and, while the matter was in doubt, visions of ladies' bowers, bright moonlight, and serenades, enchanted us—no, the boys we mean—alas! a fatal negative cut short our—no—the boys' dreams of delight,—the cars came thundering upon us, and away went our friends.

A LADY'S ANSWER.—When Philip Henry, the father of the celebrated commentator sought the hand of the only daughter and heiress of Matthews in marriage, an objection was made by her father, who admitted that he was a gentleman a scholar, and an excellent preacher, but he was a stranger, and 'they did not even know where he came from.' 'True,' said the daughter, who had well weighed the excellent qualities and graces of the stranger, 'but I know where he is going and I should like to go with him,' and they walked life's pilgrimage together.

TERRIBLE.—The surviving passengers of the steamer Penn., estimate the number of killed by the explosion of that boat attwo hundred and fifty.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date October 5th 1857, made by Jedediah Harrington to Jacob Hoover Junior, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 259 and 260, October 13th 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Chaver, will be sold at public auctionon the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, JACOB CHEEVER, Jr.,
Attorneys Mortgagee.
April 16th, 1859. 385w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A.M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 260, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid. One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction so the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next, at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858. 364tf3

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon, at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee, the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz. All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three [3] in Township number Nine [9] south of range number Five [5] East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH.
Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858. Administrator.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1856, executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July, 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages, on folio 730, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD, Assignee.
Dated June 15th, 1858.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858. I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th, 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South half of the West half of said South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 14th 1858. 396w

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James F. Moreliz to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 19th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north-east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 398w13

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Twenty ninth day of July in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoeg, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Emeline A. Hoeg, widow of the deceased praying that letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pomeroy or some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the twenty-sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heir-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.) n395w3.

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 10th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858, levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the ninth east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 8th 1858. 399w8

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH July 8, 1858.

Wheat	70@73
Flour	4 92@4 99
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	80@90
Potatoes	20
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	0 00
do dried	5@6
Butter	11
Tallow	8 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00@5 00
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 50
do half bbl.	5 75
Hides	3
Calf skins	07
Sheep pelts	40@60
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 @ 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	3@3 50
do black ash	1 00 @ 1 25
Wool	25@35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	5 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	7 45	"	3 32 "
Arrive at "			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at "	7 00	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 35 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at "			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at "			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	2 30 "
Arrive at "	7 35	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo. All Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 276w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PIRCES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. F. Hall.)

TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See
T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 20th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot. Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS. OILS.
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,
DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

ROSIN and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwell's Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.
Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fit" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings: a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c, Require on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept, 24th. 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices
January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Monroe,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Heller,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all.
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card, Cases and Recticule, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,

And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH
SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VANORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmer's Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by B. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on
B. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of
B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM, SODA WATER, LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT.
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.
SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH,
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Pasket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRESENTATION.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	2 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	3 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2	Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5	do do do	200 00 do
10	do do do	100 00 do
10	patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20	Gold Watches	75 00 do
50	do do	60 00 do
100	do do	50 00 do
300	Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200	Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
500	Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000	Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded without one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS.
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY
TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15	" " "	15.00	" "
20	" " "	20.00	" " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

From the Ann Arbor Argus.

Miraculous Preservation.

At 2 o'clock P. M., on Friday last our quiet citizens were startled by the announcement that the well on the premises of L. C. Risdon and W. S. Saunders—the latter now owned by L. W. Wallace—had caved in, burying two men under its mass of curbing and gravel. With hundreds of others we hastened to the spot and found the announcement too true.

James Bush and Horace Richmond had been engaged in taking up the stone for the purpose of cleaning out and sinking the well and stoning anew. They had reached the depth of 35 feet when the curbing gave way, and they were buried beneath seventeen feet of earth and rubbish. Forces were rallied and the work of exhuming commenced. Though no one had any hopes of rescuing the men alive—the supposition being general that they had been crushed or in the event of escaping instant death had soon been suffocated—all hands worked with a will. All the afternoon and through the silent hours of the night was heard the sound of the shovel, and the cry of 'heave ho!' to the men who manned the ropes. But little progress was made during the night, the gravel running in from the loose and treacherous banks nearly as fast as it was thrown out.

But with the mornings break the workmen were relieved and the 'labor of love' went on. To prevent further accident it was necessary to curb strongly, which made the progress slow. At 11 A. M., 1 of the workmen in the well sounded the 'depths below' with a crow-bar, and sent up word that there was air, which raised the hopes of a few of the most sanguine. At about a quarter to 12, a voice came up from the depths. It uttered: 'WE ARE BOTH ALIVE. FOR GOD'S SAKE TAKE OFF THE DIRT AND GIVE US SOME WATER.'—Then went up a shout from the congregated hundreds that made the welkin ring. Among those anxious and relieved spectators was the young—not 14 years old and but a few weeks married—wife of 1 sufferer, the mother of the other, and other relatives, and what a burden fell from their hearts.

Now, went on the work with renewed zeal, live men were to be saved and not dead men disentombed. Several feet of earth yet covered the sufferers, but a hole was bored through and a bottle of water 'telegraphed' to them. Richmond reported himself in a very comfortable position, with room to stand or sit; Bush was reported in close confinement, his legs imbedded in gravel, and his body in a stooping posture. The work progressed slowly, the utmost care being necessary to prevent its further caving. The sufferers were enabled to converse and give directions as to the removing of the curbing which arched over them and supported the gravel, and the sudden giving way of which might yet fatally terminate the tragedy.

At 4 o'clock P. M, after an entombment of 26 hours, Richmond was relieved and was drawn up from his gloomy prison depths, mid the clapping of hands. He was uninjured in limb, and though somewhat exhausted walked readily. In an hour or two he was recovered, and was on the spot to await the relieving of his partner.

Bush was not taken out of his prison until 8 o'clock having been confined 30 hours. He was somewhat bruised, and his lower limbs perfectly paralyzed, the pressure of gravel having stopped the circulation. So intense was the excitement in our community that we presume his arrival above ground was welcomed by over a 1000 people. He was taken to the residence of T. F. Hill, where for several days he lay in a critical condition. The circulation is now entirely restored and his recovery is confidently expected. Mr Hill is entitled to much credit for throwing open his house, and for the untiring care which he has bestowed upon the sufferer.

STRANGE OCCURRENCE AT ST. LOUIS.—A few days since Mr. Joseph King, a bookkeeper in the establishment of Henry Dean, was discharged on account of his intemperate habits. He took the matter very much to heart, and having bought strychnine, got a glass of lager beer, and went into the loft of the store of Mr. Gilman, where he mixed the strychnine with the beer, drank off half of it, lay down and went to sleep. Wishing to use the tumbler, Patrick Burke, the porter of the store, was sent for it. He found King sleeping, and drank the balance of the beer. He was immediately seized with gripings. King soon began to groan in agony, and the poison proved fatal to both.

☞ A fellow at Detroit, the other evening, knocked down and otherwise brutally abused a young lady, whom he had taken out on a boat ride, because during the excursion she danced with another. His name is McDonough.—The officers are after him.

A young woman named Mary Eaton drowned herself in St. Mary's Lake, four miles north of Battle Creek on Thursday last week.

General News.

Albany July 3.

Mrs. Thurlow Weed died in this city to-day at 12 o'clock after a long and severe illness.

Collingwood, C. W., July 3.

The Steamer Montgomery, which arrived last night reports the steamer Lady Elgin ashore, at Copper Harbor. She will probably prove a total wreck.

Savannah, Ga., July 3.

The British schooner Annie Sophia, from Nassau, arrived at quarantine on Friday afternoon with 15 to 20 of the crew of the wrecked ship Bombay, from the Canary Islands to Matamoras, and the Knickerbocker from Liverpool to New Orleans.

New Orleans July 3.

A fire occurred at 10 o'clock this morning on the corner of Hercules and Calliope street. Loss $30,000.

St. Louis, July 3.

Two hundred and 35 troops of the 2d infantry, under command of Lieut's Hendershot, Connor and Tarrand from Newport barracks, arrived yesterday. They were transferred to the U. S. Steamer Mink, and immediately proceeded to Fort Kendall.

Mobile July 2.

This P. M. a fracas occurred between H. Warfield and John & David Reed, brothers of the firm of J. Reed & Co—Both the Reed's were stabbed. The first named being dangerously wounded. Warfield was arrested and committed to prison, bail being refused at present.—The collision grew out of a feud of 10 years standing.

Chicago, July 3.

On the morning of the 1st the steamer Galena took fire at the landing at Red Wing, Minnesota. The origin of the fire is unknown. The flames spread with such rapidity that the boat was soon enveloped in flames. There were about 75 passengers on board, 68 of whom were saved. The following are known to be lost: John Sisson, Polly Porter, Nancy Porter, Charles Porter, Lydia Porter, of Michigan. The books and papers were lost. The boat was valued at $50,000, no insurance.

New York, July 3.

The remains of Monroe, escorted by the 7th regiment, reached the steamer Jamestown about noon, and were formally delivered over to the Virginia Committee. The National Guards embarked on board the Ericson at 11 o'clock. Both boats will sail at 3 o'clock if the weather is propitious. John Cochrane in an eloquent speech, formally delivered the remains to the Virginians; which was felicitously responded to by Jennings A. Wise, tendering the earnest gratitude of the people of Virginia to New York for the honor done to her distinguished son.

Cochrane could not abstain from making some remarks in reference to the example and memory of James Monroe. This was no mere pageant. It was a political, solemnity, necessary upon occasions to preserve the virtue and patriotism of the Republic. Monroe had set great examples of true patriotism and integrity. The 7th infantry had assembled to do honor to a fellow soldier of New York; for Monroe first drew the sword in defence of his country's liberty at Harlaem Heights and White Plains. He reviewed the political career of Monroe, saying, his greatest error—an error of judgement only—was, in the orator's opinion, his opposition to the Federal Constitution. This would have been politically fatal to ordinary men, but Monroe had too strong a hold upon the affections and confidence of his country. Monroe was among the few who could rise above the reproach of poverty, although in the multiplicity of his public cares, he had no time to care for his own future, and therefore retired from office in depressed circumstances.

Trinity Bay July 5.

A dense fog has prevailed off the coast for a day or two past and still continues. We have therefore no intelligence of the telegraph cable fleet, now fully due. The wires were disarranged in New Brunswick last evening and are not yet (Monday, half past eight A. M.,) in working order.

Trinity Bay, N. F. July 6.

The dense fog which has prevailed for the past few days, continues and rain is still falling. There is a strong breeze from the north east. We have no intelligence from the telegraph cable fleet now fully due here.

Jourdan, N. Y. July 6.

About half past nine o'clock last night, Peter Murphy stabbed his son-in-law, John Maher, six times with a large jack knife—twice in the neck, twice in the body, and once in the arm and leg. Murphy was perfectly sober but the other was slightly intoxicated. It originated out of some family difficulties. Maher is very low and slight hopes are entertained of his recovery. Murphy has been committed for examination.

This column lacks just one line.

New London, July 6.

At the Regatta yesterday, the 1st 3d and 6th prizes were taken by the Olympia, Oralcon, Nonis and Calonal, respectively of the Yale Navy of New Haven. The other five prizes were taken by the New London boatmen.

Cataragus, July 5.

Dennis Sullivan was sentenced by Judge Gravey on Saturday to be hung on the 20th of August, for the murder of Jno. Harman, at Carlton. They were both Irish laborers on the Bradford Coal Railroad.

Richmond, Va. July 5.

The remains of Ex-President Monroe arrived here at half-past eight o'clock this morning, and were received by an immense throng on the wharves including the military of Richmond. The Governor and Mayor went on board immediately and were introduced to the guests.—The 7th Regiment and National Guards arrived at half-past ten on the steamer Glencoe, which went over one hundred miles down the river to meet the Ericsson, which got aground. The military were received by George Mumford, in a speech, to which Colonel Duryee replied. The remains were taken from the Jamestown by the pall-bearers and placed in an open hearse drawn by six white horses, the band playing a dirge in the meantime. The procession moved a half at half past eleven. The flags of the public buildings, shipping, &c. were at half-mast. Many buildings were draped in mourning. Minute guns were fired and the bells tolled during the entire march. A shower of rain had lain the dust and rendered the heat less oppressive than it otherwise would have been, and the streets were thronged with people.

The procession arrived at Holywood Cemetery at one o'clock and the military formed in a circle around the grave. A dirge was performed.—After which, Gov. Wise delivered an address, giving a sketch of the life and services of James Monroe and the circumstances which led to the removal of his remains. He paid high compliment to the patriotism of New York, and made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the Union. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Reid of the Presbyterian Church, when the coffin was consigned to the grave, and the cannon fired and the ceremonies were closed.

New York, July 6.

The City of Washington arrived at 1 o'clock. The principal feature of her news are already received by telegraph from Cape Race.

Great preparations were being made to open the ocean telegraphic line. The Queen will inaugurate the event by sending a peace message to President Buchanan.

Trenton N. J., June 6.

A collision occured this morning between a coal and a freight train on the Belvidere and Delaware R. R., by which both engines and several cars were crushed. The conductor and firemen on the freight train were dangerously wounded. The engineer on the coal train was badly scalded and several others slightly injured. No one was killed.

Our President.

He entered the White House, says the Albany Evening Journal, with a promise of freedom to Kansas on his lips, and a scheme for enslaving it in his pocket. He declared war against Circulating Notes—and in six weeks was issuing them himself. Before the ink was dry with which he pledged "Economy"—he had drained the Treasury of its last dollar. Before the printers were done stereotyping his inflexible determination never to borrow—he was in Wall street soliciting a Loan!

He congratulated the Country on the final end of Slavery agitation—and he has been agitating it ever since. He ordered Paulding to stop the Filibusters—and then recalled him for doing it. Walker of Nicaragua he pronounced an outlaw—and tendered him the hospitalities of the White House. Walker of Kansas, he furnished with written instructions and turned him out for obeying them. In 1857 he took off the heads of all Postmasters who could not "hurrah for Popular Sovereignty"! In 1858, he takes off the heads of all who repeat the cry of 1857.

He withheld troops from Utah, where he proclaimed there was War—in order to keep them in Kansas, where he insisted all was Peace. He sells Forts at the West for a tithe of their cost in order to buy sites for Forts at the East at ten times their value—his subordinates, in both cases, pocketing the difference. He is continually asking for new Steam Frigates,—but he will not use those he has, either on the coast of Africa or the Gulf of Mexico. He sends out a steamer, ostensibly to catch the Styx—but with private orders in the Captain's desk, to do nothing of the sort. Claiming to be the most frugal of Presidents—he has spent more than any of his predecessors. Assuming to be above party prejudices he makes partizanship the basis even of his invitations to dinner.

Nothing from the Atlantic cable.

Indian Difficulties.

Saratoga Minnesota, June 16.

Day before yesterday three thousand Yanktonais (the same Indians that caused the disturbances in this vicinity last summer, and who seem to have come now but to execute the threats they then made,) arrived before Medary, and demanded recompense for intrusions upon soil which, they claimed, rightfully belonged to them, but which was sold to Government long ago, by the lower Sioux. Councils were held with their chiefs.—They said their lands had been sold from them, were being settled upon and dug up with roads &c, and that others were getting the pay for the land and all extra privileges thereon.

Government or the 'Great Father,' had promised them money, but it had not come, and they were now going to take the matter into their own hands." Upon this resolve, although they had been previously almost prevailed upon to pass on to the agencies, they commenced plundering the houses, from cellars to garrets. They demanded everything, even to our fire-arms and teams, but upon being sternly assured that the white man would die fighting before yielding his arms or his horse, they yielded this point. It was, however, with great difficulty that we could prevent, without violence, the young Indians from cutting the harness to pieces while hitching up our teams for departure, as we were insolently ordered to do.

The settlers, for several miles each way, were warned of the danger, and they fled to the town, leaving everything behind to be plundered and burnt by the Indians. At the moment we were ordered to leave, the torch was applied to every building in the town, and every claim cabin round about, which, in our retreating steps, we witnessed fall to the ground; the toil of our hands were heaps of ruins; the pioneers' homes were beds of ashes, to be scattered again to the prairies.

A train of immigrants coming into Medary at or about this time, were plundered of everything except their teams to retreat with. Word has reached us that Flandrau, 15 miles below Medary, was also burnt down and the inhabitants driven off. The settlers between Flandrau and the Falls will probably go into the town at the Falls, and prepare for defence. But I think the Indians will not go that far south, as it is out of their range of operations, for the present at least. They were to go directly from Medary to Yellow Medicine or the Upper Sioux Agency, where they would demand the annuities which these other Sioux are receiving on said lands, or the treaty therefor, to be now and henceforward paid to them; and if the Government agents refuse to acquiesce, they (the Indians) would sack every town on the Minnesota river, to the foot of the reserve, and every town and settlement on Wasioja (the river we are now encamped on) to its mouth.

Most of those that retreated from Medary and vicinity are encamped at this place and below on the same stream. We have sent two messengers to Yellow Medicine, while Mr. De Witt and party have gone into the Lower Sioux Agency. Mr. D. will go to Fort Ridgley and probably to St. Paul. The military force at Fort Ridgley is nothing for the emergency, scarcely adequate to the protection of the fort itself against an invading host of unenlightened savages. Something should be speedily done to avert a most calamitous warefare.

A man employed by a Mr. Eames, of Kalamazoo, to clean his well, one day last week, nearly lost his life by the noxious gases inhaled by him. A companion was lowered to his assistance by means of a bucket, but before he could be brought to the surface, he too became senseless. A physician was summoned, and by the application of proper remedies, the men were restored to consciousness.

At Port Huron, a little boy, son of J. F. Charboner, whilst playing in the streets was attacked by a ferocious dog and terribly bitten. He was much mutilated about the head and face.

At the same place a boy had his coat caught in a belt of a saw-mill, was whirled several times round the shaft, by which he had four ribs broken, and his ancle dislocated.

The Grand Rapids Enquirer, says that two sons of Mr. Childesdale—one seven, the other ten years of age—were drowned last week near that p'ace.

An apprentice in the office of the Ann Arbor Journal fell from a third story window, and was seriously injured.

Anton Hannisch, was drowned in the river at Grand Rapids on Sunday.

Baltimore, July 6.

A party of rowdies visited the woods near the city yesterday, where a Sunday school celebration was being held, and shot dead a boy 15 years of age, a son of Jno. F. Farlow. There was great excitement. The perpetrators of the horrible deed escaped, but many arrests were made. Otherwise quiet.

IN MANCHESTER.

At Manchester, on the 4th inst., by S. H. Perkins, Esq., Mr. WILLIAM A. HEATON, of Manchester, to Miss PHEBE AYARS of Bridgwater.

At Paw Paw, on the morning of the 23d inst., by Rev. A. C. Tuttle, Mr. I. W. VAN-FOSSEN, Editor of the Free Press, to Miss IRENE P. only daughter of J. H. SIMMONS, Esq.

New Advertisements.

FOURTH OF JULY ODE

Dr. Roback's Greeting

TO THE UNIVERSAL WORLD.

Hail glorious day, beneath whose azure sky,
A giant nation from the womb of Time
First sprung to life, and Liberty on high,
To an admiring world by right divine
Claimed the new born as hers, while tyranny
Cowered beneath that suns resplendent rays,
Which blazed propitious on a land so free
As men and angels mingled hymns of praise.

All hail, Columbia; o'er the rolling wave
Thy stars and stripes in many a fearful fight
Have floated proudly, while thy sons so brave,
With dauntless hearts and stern, resistless might,
Nobly have battled for thy rights and fame,
Winning from despots of the olden world
Fear and respect; long may thy name
Beam with bright hope, thy flag be aye unfurled

But not in sanguinary war's red path,
No, rather in the cause of peace and joy—
Not groans of anguish, but the merry laugh
Should welcome to our land the blue-eyed boy.
The God of Love, and Cornucopia's horn
Be emptied on thy hills and vales so free,
Thus may thy children greet the natal morn,
Of fair Columbia and of Liberty.

Ruddy-cheeked health, with blessed, joyous train
Of happy fancies, still shall bless the land;
From Roback's Swedish herbs flies direful pain—
Dyspepsia's baffled, and the feeble hand
Of the poor nervous wretch no longer shakes;
From his famed Scandinavian remedies
Fever and ague quail; while health awakes,
And dire disease, with all its horror flies.

Corrupted blood, pure as the limpid stream,
Soon neath their magic influence courses free;
The dull Dyspeptic's eye with healthful gleam
Sparkles, and rings the laugh in jollity.
Neuralgia, too, in all its horrid guise,
Is cured, as certain as that day succeeds
To darksome night; and thus as surely flee
All lung complaints before his remedy.

Yet one more agent in the glorious strife
Of battling Death, is called up at his will—
Another new and joyous lease of life
Is brought by his Blood Purifier and Pill
To all who have acquired the horrid taint,
Acute or chronic as it chanced to be
Of diseased liver. Quickly the complaint
Shall fly and leave that organ whole and free.

Thus having to my patrons now proclaimed
The health inspiring virtues which possess
Those medicines throughout the land, so famed
As having thousands upon thousands blessed,
I bid you all adieu; and may this day
Be ever cherished by the free and brave,
And freedom's sun with bright and genial ray,
Still gild the stars which o'er us proudly wave.

For sale in Tecumseh,
By HENRY TAYLOR,
and by Druggists and Merchants generally throughout the United States and Canadas.

Dr. ROBACK'S Medical Almanac and Family Adviser, gratis everywhere. See advertisement of the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Purifier, and Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills in another column of this paper.

A list of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Tecumseh, for the quarter ending July 1st 1858.

Arnold George	Hall Elizabeth
Allen W	Holloway E T
Allen Mrs J	Hough F J c
Allen Balis	King W R
Allen Dorathy	Kent B
Bailey Elizabeth	Kerr David
Bliss P	Lawrence Miss Julia
Beael Alex'r.	Loveridge S M
Barrett Henry	Larned Samuel
Basset Susan	Myers Lawrence
Blood Nathan	Millis Frank
Cawley J P	McCarter Joseph
Cole Miss Mary	Mantline Dan'l D
Coon John	Power Stephen A
Critten Miss Mary	Pitcher S
Chandler David	Pierce Calvin
Camburn Thomas	Russel E L
Clark Ester A	Randolph H M
Collville D 2	Rhodes Edward
Curry Orrin 2	Shurts James
Drown E G	Sholes L G
Dakin Harriet	S one Francis A 2
Draper Stephen S 2	Southworth H S.
Ellis Robert	Swab William
Everitt John	Stuart Mrs R
Foster A J	Scovill Rufus
Ferguson George Dr	Sinclair John
Gray William	VanDuzer C
Gillmore Isaac	Wheeler John
Granger O	Welber S
Goodrich Thomas	Wilson James
Gleber Catharine	Wise A
Hathaway	Wetter Daniel
Holden Sally	Wilson Jane M
Hunter William	White Mary Jane

Persons calling for the above letters will please say They are advertised
Wm. McNAIR, P. M.

List of Letters remaining in t. Post Office at Clinton, July 1st, 1858.

Allen J W	Marther Ann
Anson G W F	Merritt Wm W
Braun Christian	Morgan Henry
Bilger Christian	Publisher of the
Cobart Moses	Standard 2
Fowler John	Prichard William
Fox Horace	I helps Mary
Gue John D	Spencer Miss E
Gordon David	Savage Theodore 2
Gorham Josiah	Smith Samuel D
Gardner Logan E	Sikes Peter
Harran William	Sickles J D & W
Lockhart Fenton	Thompson John
Litchard Ance	Vandebarker Albert
Moylan Jeremiah	Wilsey Mrs Amanda

Persons calling for the above letters will please say they are advertised.
D. KEYES, P. M.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times,

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined.—These Machines are Warranted to work well, and on Suitable Ground, if well managed, will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent.
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

DR. MCCRUM'S Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right flank; 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face, small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T. MILLS.
Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore existing under the name of J. W. Osborne & Co., in this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned.

June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, Foot of Chicago Street.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address P. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR. NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 398

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, &c. Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domesticuses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857. 344

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by
E. TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway.
June 1858. New York.

GRAND Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. G. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saut Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.
CLEVELAND. At 5 O'clock P. M.		DETROIT. at 10 o'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th		Friday,	July 9th
Monday, "	19th	Tuesday,	" 20th
Thursday "	29th	Friday,	" 30th
Monday, Aug.	9th	Tuesday,	Aug. 10th
Thursday "	19th	Friday,	" 20th
Monday "	30th	Tuesday,	" 31st
Thursday, Sep	9th	Friday,	Sept. 10th
Monday "	20th	Tuesday,	" 21st
Thursday "	30th	Friday,	" 31st
Monday Oct	11th	Tuesday,	Oct 12th
Thursday "	21st	Friday,	" 22nd
Monday Nov.	1st	Tuesday	Nov 2nd
Thursday "	11th	Friday	" 12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers, the St Clair, Huron and Superior the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictured Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character.

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Saut Ste Marie Canal have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $45.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (the 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors,
Cleveland, Ohio.
S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 390w5

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 390w6

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by
E. TINDALL.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Hulls'.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,
George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5 a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern,	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Mason—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57 P. M.
Going South,	6 30	"	2 40 "
Adrian to Detroit,	7 45	and	5 32

Local and Miscellaneous.

SELUBRIOUS.—Brick-block, third story, unfinished, tin roof, themometer shady 105, and no money to buy lemonade.

THE HARVEST.—With the exception of a few fields of late wheat, the harvest bids fair to be as good as was ever secured. Corn looks thrifty.

A few days since the following conversation was overheard.

Good morning farmer A; are you going to settle that little account soon?

Mr. A. Don't think I can; wheat badly rusted, corn just coming up, just my luck. Starts for the post office, meeting D and C who were braging on their crops, looks carefully around and seeing no person near, smiled beautifully, and said, I tell you what it is friends, I shall harvest the best piece of wheat in Michigan; will go 30 bushels. Corn stands knee high. This Mr. A pays 20 per cent, owes every body, and may be set down as a "strayed sheep" that some person will probably find on the 'tother side of Jordon, this fall.

We refer our readers to the advertisement of the Steamer North Star. The Tecumseh Band have accepted an invitation from the gentlemanly proprietors, S. & A. Turner, to accompany their celebrated Boat to Superior City, the 9th of August. Many of our friends have expressed their intention of going to Superior this fall, as business will be dull through the month of August, why not go the 9th.

For the Tecumseh Herald

Auburn Convicts.

A statement having been made from a source gaining credence from a considerable number, that among 800 convicts for the Auburn State Prison, there were sixteen methodist Ministers, (the statement made by way of derogating evangelical christian denominations) I take the liberty of requesting equal publicity to be given through your columns to a counter statement from one of the officers of the prison, viz: (his own words) that among the convicts no one is or has been a Methodist Minister, or one of any other evangelical denomination.

But granting that instead of sixteen there were 16,000 methodist Ministers imprisoned convicts and criminals, what would the fact establish? the moral tendency of christianity to evil? to the nurturing and perpetration of crime? or, the greater tendency to evil of the evangelical or orthodox creeds than of the anti-evangelical?

Has human reasoning come to such a pass as to appear in its mightiness to publish it as a fact that—whereas, crime, prostitution, sufferings, persecution of innumerable kinds, crucifixions and death, have marked the history of christianity in its progress from its early dawning: therefore; Resolved, that "evangelical christianity or orthodox creeds" have done it? Is this so?

Pudor! Pudor! If all the Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, or denominations of christians of whatever name in christendom, were in prison to day, the fact would be none the less a fact, that christianity did place them there, but the antagonisms to it.

VIRITAS.

☞ The Mississippi papers record the death of Mrs. Mary M. Gwin, the mother of Senator Gwin of California, in the 87th year of her age. Mrs. Gwin was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for over seventy years, and her husband, Rev. Dr. Gwin, who died in 1841, was a minister of the same denomination for more than forty years, and one of the early pioneers of the Western and Southern States. For a long series of years she enjoyed the intimacy and confidence of Gen. Jackson.

One line, and one fraught with instruction, includes the secret of success—be prudent, be patient, be persevering.

From the Monroe Commercial.

Laying the Corner Stone of the Union School Building.

INTERESTING CEREMONIES.—Notwithstanding the intense heat of the day, a large number of the people of our city and vicinity turned out on Thursday, the 24th ult., to witness the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Union School building, performed by the ancient and honorable fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons. Although quite a common occurrence the world over, this time honored privelege of the order, was, we believe never before exercised in this city, and the novelty of the occasion probably drew many to witness it. The I. O. of O. F. Firemen, Civil Authorities of the City, the Clergy, and the various Masonic bodies throughout the County having been invited to assist in the celebration, a procession was formed on the public square, under the directions of the Marshal in the following order.

The Tecumseh Saxe Horn Band.
Germania Fire Co. No 1.
Monroe Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F.
Eureka Lodge No. 107, F. & A. M.,

escorting M W. Wm. M. FENTON, G.M. and other officers of the Grand Lodge, accompanied by members from Greenley Lodge, Adrian, Dundee, Petersburgh and Monroe Lodges.

The procession marched up Monroe Street, to Sixth St, down Sixth St., to the building. The Grand Master having commanded silence, the following deposits were made in the box.

Constitution of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M, State of Michigan.

Transactions of the Grand Lodge for the past Masonic year.

By Laws of Eureka Lodge, No. 107 F. & A., Monroe Michigan.

List of principal officers U. S. Gov.
" " Members of Congress,
" " Officers Mich. State Gov.
" " " Monroe County.
" " " Monroe City.

Public Institutions Monroe City, including secret societies, churches, &c. &c.

Copy Monroe Commercial.
" Monroe Unabhængige.
" Monroe National Press.

Box containing various gold, silver and copper coins of the day.

The box having been fitted into its place and the cement spread, the stone was lowered to its bed, and adjusted with the usual Masonic ceremonies. After trying it with the Plumb, square, and level, the Grand Master pronounced the stone 'well formed, true, and trusty,' and, pouring upon it the corn of nourishment, the wine of refreshment, and the oil of joy,' he invoked the blessings of heaven upon the building and its purposes. After a few appropriate remarks, he was followed by Rev. Mr. Strong, of the Presbyterian Church, Rev Mr Carpenter, of the Episcopal Church, and Franklin Johnson Esq., of the School Board, in short but able addresses alluding to the subject of education, our common school system, the necessity of preserving its non-sectarian character, the advantages of Union Schools, and other topics suitable to the occasion.

The procession was then re formed and marched down Washington street to the square when it disbanded.

There was no formal public dinner, but the 'latch strings' of our Masonic fellow citizens hung hospitably out for the entertainment of their brethren and guests from abroad. Some 40, however, partook of a capital dinner served up for them on very short notice by Jos. Weier Esq., at his new Union Hall.

We were pleased to observe brethren from Adrian, Petersburgh and Dundee in attendance.

The afternoon passed off in pleasant festivity, and, at 5 o'clock, the brethren of Eureka Lodge, headed by the band, escorted the Grand Master to the M. S. R. R. Junction, where he took his departure for Detroit. On the arrival of the train for the west, we were obliged to tender the parting hand to those splendid fellows—the Tecumseh Sax Horn Band. A short visit of one day to our city had made them hosts of friends. They were strongly importuned to remain a day or two longer, and, while the matter was in doubt, visions of ladies' bowers, bright moonlight, and serenades, enchanted us—no, the boys we mean—alas! a fatal negative cut short our no—the boys' dreams of delight.—the cars came thundering upon us, and away went our friends.

A LADY'S ANSWER.—When Philip Henry, the father of the celebrated commentator sought the hand of the only daughter and heiress of Matthews in marriage, an objection was made by her father, who admitted that he was a gentleman a scholar, and an excellent preacher, but he was a stranger, and 'they did not even know where he came from.' 'True,' said the daughter, who had well weighed the excellent qualities and graces of the stranger, 'but I know where he is going and I should like to go with him,' and they walked life's pilgrimage together.

TERRIBLE.—The surviving passengers of the steamer Penn., estimate the number of killed by the explosion of that boat attwo hundred and fifty.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th, 1856, made by Jefferson Harrington to Jacob Cheever Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210, October 12th, 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Cheever, will be sold at public auction on the 30th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 16th, 1858. 388w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bliesbering date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858. 394t13

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz. All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three [3] in Township number Nine [9] south of range number Five [5] East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH.

Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858. Administrator.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1856, executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, in Liber W. of Mortgages on folios 507 and 508, on the Twenty-fifth day of June, 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of May, 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots Nos sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.
Assignee.

Dated June 15th, 1858.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, bearing date the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following parcels of land, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th, 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed, bearing date the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th 1858. 396w

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage made and executed by James E. Merritt to William H. Merritt dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee Michigan, on the 19th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents of this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858 398w13

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Twenty ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoeg, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified, of Emeline A. Hoeg, widow of the deceased praying that letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pomeroy or some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the twenty-sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy)

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein I Shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell Deputy Sheriff.

Dated Jul: 8th 1858 392w6

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH July 8, 1858.

Wheat	90@75
Flour	4 00@4 50
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	38@50
Potatoes	20
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	0 00
do dried	3@5
Butter	11
Tallow	8 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00@5 00
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 50
do half bbl.	5 75
Hides	3
Calf skins	07
Sheep pelts	40@50
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3@4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25
Wool	25@35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	7 45	"	3 32 "
Arrive at "			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at "	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at "			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at "			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at "	7 56	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich. City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PIRCES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GEOCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

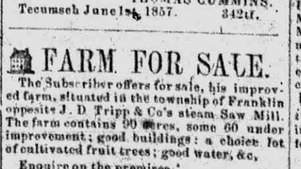
Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none. Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan



CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st, 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c.

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept, 24th, 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices

January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore, There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton, And we can't and shan't be outdone, We can Beat Adrian all Holler, If we don't we'll give you a dollar. Selling Nails at $4 a keg, From that we shan't budge a peg. Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred, And yet more that might be numbered. Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size, And every thing you may surmise. Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware, Full enough to make you stare. Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all, Be sure you find the Gothic Hall. Don't fear the Hardness of times, At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER-WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys, and Notions, which he will heresafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY, Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM. SODA WATER. LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT.

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese,

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at

A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the

GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckel & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRIZE EVERY COPY.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	50 00 do
100 do	30 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
500 Silver Watches	10,00 to $20,00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Gold and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress. The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial paths are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worth the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " 15.00 " "
20 " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

From the Ann Arbor Argus.

Miraculous Preservation.

At 2 o'clock P. M., on Friday last our quiet citizens were startled by the announcement that the well on the premises of L. C. Risdon and W. S. Saunders—the latter now owned by L. W. Wallace—had caved in, burying two men under its mass of curbing and gravel. With hundreds of others we hastened to the spot and found the announcement too true.

James Bush and Horace Richmond had been engaged in taking up the stone for the purpose of cleaning out and sinking the well and stoning anew. They had reached the depth of 35 feet when the curbing gave way, and they were buried beneath seventeen feet of earth and rubbish. Forces were rallied and the work of exhuming commenced. Though no one had any hopes of rescuing the men alive—the supposition being general that they had been crushed or in the event of escaping instant death had soon been suffocated—all hands worked with a will. All the afternoon and through the silent hours of the night was heard the sound of the shovel, and the cry of heave ho!' to the men who manned the ropes. But little progress was made during the night, the gravel running in from the loose and treacherous banks nearly as fast as it was thrown out.

But with the mornings break the workmen were relieved and the 'labor of love' went on. To prevent further accident it was necessary to curb strongly, which made the progress slow. At 11 A. M., 3 of the workmen in the well sounded the depths below' with a crow-bar, and sent up word that there was air, which raised the hopes of a few of the most sanguine. At about a quarter to 12, a voice came up from the depths. It uttered: 'WE ARE BOTH ALIVE. FOR GOD'S SAKE TAKE OFF THE DIRT AND GIVE US SOME WATER.'—Then went up a shout from the congregated hundreds that made the welkin ring. Among those anxious and relieved spectators was the young—not 14 years old and but a few weeks married—wife of 1 sufferer, the mother of the other, and other relatives, and what a burden fell from their hearts.

Now, went on the work with renewed zeal, live men were to be saved and not dead men disentombed. Several feet of earth yet covered the sufferers, but a hole was bored through and a battle of water 'telegraphed' to them. Richmond reported himself in a very comfortable position, with room to stand or sit; Bush was reported in close confinement, his legs imbedded in gravel, and his body in a stooping posture. The work progressed slowly, the utmost care being necessary to prevent its further caving. The sufferers were enabled to converse and give directions as to the removing of the curbing which arched over them and supported the gravel, and the sudden giving way of which might yet fatally terminate the tragedy.

At 4 o'clock P. M., after an entombment of 26 hours, Richmond was relieved and was drawn up from his gloomy prison depths, mid the clapping of hands. He was uninjured in limb, and though somewhat exhausted walked readily. In an hour or two he was recovered, and was on the spot to await the relieving of his partner.

Bush was not taken out of his prison until 8 o'clock having been confined 30 hours. He was somewhat bruised, and his lower limbs perfectly paralyzed, the pressure of gravel having stopped the circulation. So intense was the excitement in our community that we presume his arrival above ground was welcomed by over a 1000 people. He was taken to the residence of T. F. Hill, where for several days he lay in a critical condition. The circulation is now entirely restored and his recovery is confidently expected. Mr Hill is entitled to much credit for throwing open his house, and for the untiring care which he has bestowed upon the sufferer.

STRANGE OCCURRENCE AT ST. LOUIS.—A few days since Mr. Joseph King, a bookkeeper in the establishment of Henry Dean, was discharged on account of his intemperate habits. He took the matter very much to heart, and having bought strychnine, got a glass of lager beer, and went into the loft of the store of Mr. Gilman, where he mixed the strychnine with the beer, drank off half of it, lay down and went to sleep. Wishing to use the tumbler, Patrick Burke, the porter of the store, was sent for it. He found King sleeping, and drank the balance of the beer. He was immediately seized with gripings. King soon began to groan in agony, and the poison proved fatal to both.

☞ A fellow at Detroit, the other evening, knocked down and otherwise brutally abused a young lady, whom he had taken out on a boat ride, because during the excursion she danced with another. His name is McDonough.—The officers are after him.

A young woman named Mary Eaton drowned herself in St. Mary's Lake, four miles north of Battle Creek on Thursday last week.

General News.

Albany July 3.

Mrs. Thurlow Weed died in this city to-day at 12 o'clock after a long and severe illness.

Collingwood, C. W., July 3.

The Steamer Montgomery, which arrived last night reports the steamer Lady Elgin ashore, at Copper Harbor. She will probably prove a total wreck.

Savannah, Ga., July 3.

The British schooner Annie Sophia, from Nassau, arrived at quarantine on Friday afternoon with 15 to 20 of the crew of the wrecked ship Bombay, from the Canary Islands to Metamoras, and the Knickerbocker from Liverpool to New Orleans.

New Orleans July 3.

A fire occurred at 10 o'clock this morning on the corner of Hercules and Calliope street. Loss $30,000.

St. Louis, July 3.

Two hundred and 75 troops of the 2d infantry, under command of Lieut's Heindershot, Connor and Tarrand from Newport barracks, arrived yesterday. They were transferred to the U. S. Steamer Mink, and immediately proceeded to Fort Kendall.

Mobile July 2.

This P. M a fracas occurred between H. Warfield and John & David Reed, brothers of the firm of J. Reed & Co—Both the Reed's were stabbed. The first named being dangerously wounded Warfield was arrested and committed to prison, bail being refused at present—The collision grew out of a feud of 10 years standing.

Chicago July 3

On the morning of the 1st the steamer Galena took fire at the landing at Red Wing, Minnesota. The origin of the fire is unknown. The flames spread with such rapidity that the boat was soon enveloped in flames. There were about 75 passengers on board, 68 of whom were saved. The following are known to be lost: John Sisson, Polly Porter, Nancy Porter, Charles Porter, Lydia Porter, of Michigan. The books and papers were lost. The boat was valued at $50,000, no insurance.

New York, July 3.

The remains of Monroe, escorted by the 7th regiment, reached the steamer Jamestown about noon, and were formally delivered over to the Virginia Committee. The National Guards embarked on board the Ericson at 11 o'clock. Both boats will sail at 3 o'clock if the weather is propitious. John Cochrane in an eloquent speech, formally delivered the remains to the Virginians; which was felicitously responded to by Jennings A. Wise, tendering the earnest gratitude of the people of Virginia to New York for the honor done to her distinguished son.

Cochrane could not abstain from making some remarks in reference to the example and memory of James Monroe. This was no mere pageant. It was a political solemnity, necessary upon occasions to preserve the virtue and patriotism of the Republic. Monroe had set great examples of true patriotism and integrity. The 7th infantry had assembled to do honor to a fellow soldier of New York; for Monroe first drew the sword in defence of his country's liberty at Harlaem Heights and White Plains. He reviewed the political career of Monroe, saying, his greatest error—an error of judgement only—was, in the orator's opinion, his opposition to the Federal Constitution. This would have been politically fatal to ordinary men, but Monroe had too strong a hold upon the affections and confidence of his country. Monroe was among the few who could rise above the reproach of poverty, although in the multiplicity of his public cares, he had no time to care for his own future, and therefore retired from office in depressed circumstances.

Trinity Bay July 5.

A dense fog has prevailed off the coast for a day or two past and still continues. We have therefore no intelligence of the telegraph cable fleet, now fully due. The wires were disarranged in New Brunswick last evening and are not yet (Monday, half past eight A. M.,) in working order.

Trinity Bay, N. F. July 6.

The dense fog which has prevailed for the past few days, continues and rain is still falling. There is a strong breeze from the north east. We have no intelligence from the telegraph cable fleet now fully due here.

Jourdan, N. Y. July 6.

About half past nine o'clock last night, Peter Murphy stabbed his son-in-law, John Maher, six times with a large jack knife—twice in the neck, twice in the body, and once in the arm and leg. Murphy was perfectly sober but the other was slightly intoxicated. It originated out of some family difficulties. Maher is very low and slight hopes are entertained of his recovery. Murphy has been committed for examination.

This column looks just one line.

New London, July 6.

At the Regatta yesterday, the 1st 3d and 6th prizes were taken by the Olympia, Oramon, Noaic and Colonat, respectively of the Yale Navy of New Haven. The other five prizes were taken by the New London boatmen.

Cataragus, July 5.

Dennis Sullivan was sentenced by Judge Grater on Saturday to be hung on the 20th of August, for the murder of Jno. Harman, at Carrolton. They were both Irish laborers on the Bradford Coal Railroad.

Richmond, Va., July 5.

The remains of Ex-President Monroe arrived here at half-past eight o'clock this morning, and were received by an immense throng on the wharves including the military of Richmond. The Governor and Mayor went on board immediately and were introduced to the guests.—The 7th Regiment and National Guards arrived at half-past ten on the steamer Glencoe, which went over one hundred miles down the river to meet the Eriesson, which got aground. The military were received by George Mumford, in a speech, to which Colonel Duryee replied. The remains were taken from the Jamestown by the pall-bearers and placed in an open hearse drawn by six white horses, the band playing a dirge in the meantime. The procession moved a halt at half past eleven. The flags of the public buildings, shipping, &c. were at half-mast. Many buildings, were draped in mourning. Minute guns were fired and the bells tolled during the entire march. A shower of rain had lain the dust and rendered the heat less oppressive than it otherwise would have been, and the streets were thronged with people.

The procession arrived at Holywood Cemetery at one o'clock and the military formed in a circle around the grave. A dirge was performed.—After which, Gov Wise delivered an address, giving a sketch of the life and services of James Monroe and the circumstances which led to the removal of his remains. He paid high compliment to the patriotism of New York, and made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the Union. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Reid of the Presbyterian Church, when the coffin was consigned to the grave, and the cannon fired and the ceremonies were closed.

New York, July 6.

The City of Washington arrived at 1 o'clock. The principal feature of her news are already received by telegraph from Cape Race.

Great preparations were being made to open the ocean telegraphic line. The Queen will inaugurate the event by sending a peace message to President Buchanan.

Trenton N. J., June 6.

A collision occured this morning between a coal and a freight train on the Belvidere and Delaware R. R., by which both engines and several cars were crushed. The conductor and firemen on the freight train were dangerously wounded. The engineer on the coal train was badly scalded and several others slightly injured. No one was killed.

Our President.

He entered the White House, says the Albany Evening Journal, with a promise of freedom to Kansas on his lips, and a scheme for enslaving it in his pocket. He declared war against Circulating Notes—and in six weeks was issuing them himself. Before the ink was dry with which he pledged "Economy"—he had drained the Treasury of its last dollar. Before the printers were done stereotyping his inflexible determination never to borrow—he was in Wall street soliciting a Loan!

He congratulated the Country on the final end of Slavery agitation—and he has been agitating it ever since. He ordered Paulding to stop the—Filibusters—and then recalled him for doing it. Walker of Nicaragua he pronounced an outlaw—and tendered him the hospitalities of the White House. Walker of Kansas, he furnished with written instructions and turned him out for obeying them. In 1857 he took off the heads of all Postmasters who could not "hurrah for Popular Sovereignty" In 1858, he takes off the heads of all who repeat the cry of 1857.

He withheld troops from Utah, where he proclaimed there was War—in order to keep them in Kansas, where he insisted all was Peace. He sells Forts at the West for a tithe of their cost in order to buy sites for Forts at the East at ten times their value—his subordinates, in both cases, pocketing the difference. He is continually asking for new Steam Frigates,—but he will not use those he has, either on the coast of Africa or the Gulf of Mexico. He sends out a steamer, ostensibly to catch the Styx—but with private orders in the Captain's desk, to do nothing of the sort. Claiming to be the most frugal of Presidents—he has spent more than any of his predecessors. Assuming to be above party prejudices he makes partizanship the basis even of his invitations to dinner.

Nothing from the Atlantic cable.

Indian Difficulties.

Saratoga Minnesota, June 16.

Day before yesterday three thousand Yanktonais (the same Indians that caused the disturbances in this vicinity last summer, and who seem to have come now but to execute the threats they then made) arrived before Medary, and demanded recompense for intrusions upon soil which, they claimed, rightfully belonged to them, but which was sold to Government long ago, by the lower Sioux. Councils were held with their chiefs—They said their lands had been sold from them, were being settled upon and dug up with roads &c, and that others were getting the pay for the land and all extra privileges thereon.

Government or the 'Great Father,' had promised them money, but it had not come; and they were now going to take the matter into their own hands. Upon this resolve, although they had been previously almost prevailed upon to pass on to the agencies, they commenced plundering the houses, from cellars to garrets. They demanded everything, even to our fire arms and teams, but upon being sternly assured that the white man would die fighting before yielding his arms or his horse, they yielded this point. It was, however, with great difficulty that we could prevent, without violence, the young Indians from cutting the harness to pieces while hitching up our teams for departure, as we were insolently ordered to do.

The settlers, for several miles each way, were warned of the danger, and they fled to the town, leaving everything behind to be plundered and burnt by the Indians. At the moment we were ordered to leave, the torch was applied to every building in the town, and every claim cabin round about, which, in our retreating steps, we witnessed fall to the ground; the toil of our hands were heaps of ruins; the pioneers' homes were beds of ashes, to be scattered again to the prairies.

A train of immigrants coming into Medary at or about this time, were plundered of everything except their teams to retreat with. Word has reached us that Flandrau, 15 miles below Medary, was also burnt down and the inhabitants driven off. The settlers between Flandrau and the Falls will probably go into the town at the Falls, and prepare for defence. But I think the Indians will not go that far south, as it is out of their range of operations, for the present at least. They were to go directly from Medary to Yellow Medicine or the Upper Sioux Agency, where they would demand the annuities which these other Sioux are receiving on said lands, or the treaty therefor, to be now and henceforward paid to them; and if the Government agents refuse to acquiesce, they (the Indians) would sack every town on the Minnesota river, to the foot of the reserve, and every town and settlement on Wasioja (the river we are now encamped on) to its mouth.

Most of those that retreated from Medary and vicinity are encamped at this place and below on the same stream. We have sent two messengers to Yellow Medicine, while Mr. De Witt and party have gone into the Lower Sioux Agency. Mr. D. will go to Fort Ridgley and probably to St. Paul. The military force at Fort Ridgley is nothing for the emergency, scarcely adequate to the protection of the fort itself against an invading host of unenlightened savages. Something should be speedily done to avert a most calamitous warefare.

A man employed by a Mr. Eames, of Kalamazoo, to clean his well, one day last week, nearly lost his life by the noxious gases inhaled by him. A companion was lowered to his assistance by means of a bucket, but before he could be brought to the surface, he too became senseless. A physician was summoned, and by the application of proper remedies, the men were restored to consciousness.

At Port Huron, a little boy, son of J. F. Charboner, whilst playing in the streets was attacked by a ferocious dog and terribly bitten. He was much mutilated about the head and face.

At the same place a boy had his coat caught in a belt of a saw mill, was whirled several times round the shaft, by which he had four ribs broken, and his ancle dislocated.

The Grand Rapids Enquirer, says that two sons of Mr. Childesdale—one seven, the other ten years of age—were drowned last week near that place.

An apprentice in the office of the Ann Arbor Journal fell from a third story window, and was seriously injured.

Anton Hannisch, was drowned in the river at Grand Rapids on Sunday.

Baltimore, July 6.

A party of rowdies visited the woods near the city yesterday, where a Sunday school celebration was being held, and shot dead a boy 15 years of age, a son of Jno. F. Farlow. There was great excitement. The perpetrators of the horrible deed escaped, but many arrests were made. Otherwise quiet.

MARRIED.

At Manchester, on the 4th inst., by S. H. Perkins, Esq., Mr. WILLIAM A. HEATH, of Manchester, to Miss PHEBE AYRES of Bridgwater.

At Paw Paw, on the morning of the 23d inst., by Rev. A. C. Tuttle, Mr. I. W. VANFOSSEN, Editor of the Free Press, to Miss IRENE P, only daughter of J. H. SIMMONS, Esq.

New Advertisements.

FOURTH OF JULY ODE.

Dr. Roback's Greeting

TO THE UNIVERSAL WORLD.

Hail glorious day, beneath whose azure sky,
A giant nation from the womb of Time
First sprung to life, and Liberty on high,
To an admiring world by right divine
Claimed the new born as hers, while tyranny
Cowered beneath that same resplendent rays,
Which blazed propitious on a land so free
As men and angels mingled hymns of praise.

All hail, Columbia; o'er the rolling wave
Thy stars and stripes in many a fearful fight
Have floated proudly, while thy sons so brave,
With dauntless hearts and stern, resistless might,
Nobly have battled for thy rights and fame,
Winning from despots of the olden world
Fear and respect; long may thy name
Beam with bright hope, thy flag be nye unfurled.

But not in sanguinary war's red path,
No, rather in the cause of peace and joy—
Not groans of anguish, but the merry laugh
Should welcome to our land the blue-eyed boy,
The God of Love, and Cornucopia's horn
Be emptied on thy hills and vales so free,
Thus may thy children greet the natal morn,
Of fair Columbia and of Liberty.

Ruddy-cheeked health, with blessed, joyous train
Of happy fancies, still shall bless the land;
From Roback's Swedish herbs flies direful pain—
Dyspepsia's baffled, and the feeble hand
Of the poor nervous wretch no longer shakes;
From his famed Scandinavian remedies
Fever and ague quail, while health awakes,
And dire disease, with all its horror flies.

Corrupted blood, pure as the limpid stream,
Soon neath their magic influence courses free;
The dull Dyspetic's eye with healthful gleam
Sparkles, and rings the laugh in jollity.
Neuralgia, too, in all its horrid guise,
Is cured, as certain it's that day succeeds
To darksome night; and thus as surely flee
All lung complaints before his remedy.

Yet one more agent in the glorious strife
Of battling Death, is called up at his will—
Another new and joyous lease of life
Is brought by his Blood Purifier and Pill
To all who have acquired the horrid taint,
Acute or chronic as it chanced to be
Of diseased liver. Quickly the complaint
Exactly and learn that organ whole and free.

Thus having to my patrons now proclaimed
The health inspiring virtues which possess
Those medicines throughout the land, so famed
As having thousands upon thousands blessed,
I bid you all adieu; and may this day
Be ever cherished by the free and brave,
And freedom's sun with bright and genial ray,
Still gild the stars which o'er us proudly wave.

For sale in Tecumseh,
By HENRY TAYLOR,
and by Druggists and Merchants generally throughout the United States and Canadas.

Dr. ROBACK'S Medical Almadac and Family Adviser, gratis everywhere. See advertisement of the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Purifier, and Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills in another column of this paper.

A list of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Tecumseh, for the quarter ending July 1st 1858.

Arnold George	Hall Elizabeth
Allen W	Holloway E T
Allen Mrs J	Hough F J
Allen Balis	King W R
Allen Dorathy	Kent B
Bailey Elizabeth	Kerr David
Bliss P	Lawrence Miss Julia
Beast Alex'r.	Loveridge S M
Barrett Henry	Larned Samuel
Bassett Susan	Myers Lawrence
Blood Nathan	Millis Frank
Cawley J P	McCarter Joseph
Cole Mrs Mary	Mantline Dan'l D
Coon John	Power Stephen A
Critten Miss Mary	Pitcher S
Chandler David	Pierce Calvin
Camburn Thomas	Russel E L
Clark Ester A	Randolph H M
Collville D 2	Rhodes Edward
Curry Orrin 2	Shurts James
Drown E O	Sholes L G
Dakin Harriet	Stone Francis A 2
Draper Stephen S 2	Southworth H S
Ellis Robert	Swab William
Everitt John	Stuart Mrs R
Foster A J	Scovill Rufus
Ferguson George Dr	Sinclair John
Gray William	VanDuzar C
Gillmore Isaac	Wheeler John
Granger O	Welber S
Goodrich Thomas	Wilson James
Gleber Catharine	Wise A
Hathaway	Wetter Daniel
Holden Sally	Way M C
Hunter William	Wilson Jane M
	White Mary Jane

Persons calling for the above letters will please say They are advertised
Wm. McNAIR, P. M.

List of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Clinton, July 1st., 1858.

Allen J W	Marther Ann
Anson G W F	Merritt Wm W
Brann Christian	Morgan Henry
Bilger Christian	Publisher of the
Cobart Moses	Standard 2
Fowler John	Prichard William
Fox Horace	I helps Mary
Gue John D	Spencer Miss E
Gordon David	Savage Theodore 2
Gorham Josiah	Smith Samuel D
Gardner Logan E	Sikee Peter
Harran William	Sickles J D & W
Lockhart Fenton	Thompson John
Litchard Ance	Vandewarker Albert
Moylan Jeremiah	Wilsey Mrs Ai anda

Persons calling for the above letters will please say they are advertised.
D. KEYES, P. M.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times,

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined.—These Machines are Warranted to work well, and on Suitable Ground, if well managed, will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves.

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent.
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

DR. MCCRUMS
Receipt Book, or
The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON.
Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right flank, 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face; small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T MILLS.
Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned
June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.
Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, Foot of Chicago Street.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS. DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR. NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 392

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER, SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857. 344

WATER LIME.—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them.

HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway.
June 1858 New York

GRAND Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saint Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND, Arrive (Before) P. M.		DETROIT, at 10 o'clock, A. M.
Thursday, July	8th	Friday, July	9th
Monday, "	19th	Tuesday, "	20th
Thursday "	29th	Friday, "	30th
Monday, Aug.	9th	Tuesday, Aug	10th
Thursday "	19th	Friday, "	20th
Monday, "	30th	Tuesday, "	31st
Thursday, Sept	9th	Friday, Sept	10th
Monday "	20th	Tuesday, "	21st
Thursday "	30th	Friday, Oct	1st
Monday, Oct	11th	Tuesday, "	12th
Thursday "	21st	Friday, "	22d
Monday, Nov.	1st	Tuesday Nov	2d
Thursday "	11th	Friday "	12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers, St Clair, Huron and Superior the Straits, Island of Mackinac, the Pictued Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character.

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Sault Ste Marie Canal have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $41.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (16 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing
S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors
Cleveland, O.
S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon the right, title and interest of Hamilton Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, viz: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence south seventy-five degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links to a stake, thence north nineteen degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south line of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen degrees and fifty-five minutes, west fifty-five chains to the beginning containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Hamilton Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon the right, title and interest of Hamilton Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, viz: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence south seventy-five degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links to a stake, thence north nineteen degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south line of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen degrees and fifty-five minutes, west fifty-five chains to the beginning containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Hamilton Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale at
E. TIN[illegible]

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at
J. E. Hall's'

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 35. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JULY 15, 1858. WHOLE NO. 400

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1: TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT,
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER. W. E. CHEEVER.
H. M. & W E. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Rooms, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
340tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
340y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Lalla Grayson.

BY MINNIE MARY LEE.

The home of which Col. Grayson was master was one of beauty and luxury The house was neither grand, lofty, nor imposing, but was one of those angular, low-roofed structures, originally fashioned simply, which had been added to from time to time, as the taste or convenience of the owner prompted. Its pleasant piazzas, and numerous cosy niches and nooks, gave an appearance of comfort, happiness, and content. It was charmingly embowered in one of those delightful garden, of which eastern Massachusetts boasts so many. Cultivated with the greatest possible care, its flowers, and fruit, and shrubbery, evinced that rare perfection so seldom observed, because so seldom earnestly striven for.

Col. Grayson, his wife, and two daughters, composed the family who resided at Kennons, the name of this charming country retreat, The gentleman and his lady were truly deserving the epithets by which I designate them. Intelligent, refined, courteous and warm hearted, they were truly respected by those equal in wealth and position, and loved and reverenced by the lowly poor.

Lalla, the eldest daughter, at the age of nineteen was one of those exquisite creations whose beauty, instead of being externally developed merely, seemed to radiate from within; whose soul, attuned to fine harmonies and preceptions, gave a glow of fascination to the deliciate, but to ordinary observers somewhat plain casket which, for earth, enshrined it. Thus, while a few whom Lalla should meet in her lifetime would appreciate, and think her beautiful, exceedingly, and love her as only kindred souls can love, the many would turn from her to the more brilliant, more blooming younger sister, Mariana, whose radiant complexion, dark eyes, and abundant black hair, possessed more charm, because more plainly discernible to the outward eye, that in many introverts but little to the soul. At the age of fifteen her girlish grace of manner, and airs that gave token of more than incipient coquetry, were more noticed and applauded than the more enduring charms of the reticent Lalla. And yet the elder sister, with all her finer organization, her poetic, dreaming temperament, possessed that self-reliant spirit, that firmness of purpose, which would enable her to enact well her part upon the stage of life, how lofty or how lowly soever it might be. For hers was that rare yet happy combination of qualities that constitutes the true nobility of nature, and that under certain circumstances, carries to the heroic and sublime.

Col. Grayson had a brother, of great business character, who lived in a neighboring city. In the integrity and reputed wealth of this brother the Colonel had such unlimited confidence that upon being applied to for his signature as bondsman he gave it readily, not, indeed, without glancing at the amount suretied, but without realizing at all that should he, by fome fatality, be called upon to pay dearly for that once thoughtless writing of his name, it would be by the sacrifice of all his worldly possessions. Thus, thoughtlessly, wickedly thoughtlessly, has many a family been ruined; and thus, alas, was destroyed for them the happy home of the Graysons.

The sweet deliciousness of the perfume of flowers, and the soft fragrance of the Southern Summer breeze floated through the French windows into the drawing-room at Kennons, where were assembled a few invited guests. Kennons never looked so beautiful as now, never so luxuriant; bathed in the golden glow of an August afternoon, too Eden-like was it for an earthy home! Time passed, and Col. Grayson made not his appearance. Lalla knocked low at his study door, again, louder and louder still, till urged by a sudden and startling fear, she entered. "Father"—she stopped! That loved form sat, rigid and cold, in its arm-chair, an open letter still grasped firmly in a death-clasp of his right hand. We will not depict the consternation and grief that followed. Imagination is their best limner. The doctors pronounced his death to have been occasioned by disease of the heart, immeasureably hastened by the contents of that fatal letter, which had revealed to him the terrible consequence of becoming security for more than he possessed.

Mrs. Grayson, after some weeks, with a resolution and energy characteristic of New England women, had made arrangements for supporting her family in the city, when a sudden attack of typhus fever, consequent upon grief and over exertion, rendered the sisters motherless as well as fatherless. In this emergency, Lalla, who excelled in musical talent and acquirement, through the aid of friends obtained a situation as teacher of music in the far-famed seminary of C——. She was offered a home in the family of a gentleman who had formerly been intimately acquainted with her father. This generous offer of Mr. Low was the more willingly and fully accepted since it proffered in requital of obligations long since assumed to the deceased. Thus, while it offered something like a home to the lonely orphan, by saving her the expense of board, it enabled her to meet, with less economy and privation, the expenses of her sister's closing year of school.

It was a wonderful change in Lalla's life, from fond, devoted parents, a beautiful home, with all wealth-appliances, from entire freedom of time, thought and action, to strange scenes and associations, employment that at best must be somewhat irksome, often extremely annoying. And does not every one learn, soon or late, what a different aspect the shodow of death has thrown over all of life; how the feeling of desolation will come in the morning, at noon, or at night, suddenly, like the rush of a wave? And in this we permit ourselves to be submerged, because it seems like desecration to the memory of those we so loved, not to cherish thoughts of them, at all seasons and times.

The family of Mr. Low was very gay, fond of sociability and the cheery things of life. His house was constantly filled with visitors who, for wit and mirth were unsurpassed. For weeks and months persuasions to join parties in the drawing-room, or on pleasure excursions, were of no avail with Lalla, whose round duties was cheerfully performed. At length, being urged to afford musical entertainment, she consented, fearful of being thought ungrateful if she did not thus much exert herself to repay the generosity of the friends who had treated her with uniform kindness. The somewhat sad, yet subdued, resigned expression of Lalla's sweet face, rendered more pallid by her mourning dress, had awakened much sympathy in the hearts of many who had met her at table, or at incidental family gatherings. But, long before she was herself aware of it, she had made an impression on the susceptible heart of Edward Lancaster, a young lieutenant in the army, who was a frequent visiter at Mr Low's. Of impetuous temperament, quick and ardent in his attachments, demonstrative in his preferences, it was impossible that Lalla should long remain unconscious of her undesigning conquest. Nor was it strange that her own heart, bereaved of its loved ones, pining for the sweet companionship it had known and lost, should turn to that affection apparently so sincerely offered, and should be grateful for that kindness and devotion so acceptable ever to one who suffers, and that in silence.

Edward Lancaster had almost incomparable beauty of form and face, combined with manners peculiarly elegant and engaging. In assemblies of the fashionable he was ever the "bright particular star" that attracted the bright eyes, and agitated the hearts of romantic young maidens in their teens. Courted and flattered, even from boyhood, the wonder was that his head was not turned as often as his heart; but somehow he had arrived at the age of twenty-six with feelings and emotions of the soul, though somewhat blunted, by no means deadened, and with a respectable uprightness of character that was surprising to his former associates. A passionate lover of music, it was her perfect accomplishment in this art that first riveted the interest which Lalla had excited. Possessing an independent fortune, free from restraining filial ties, a seeker of his own pleasure, he hesitated not a moment in evincing to the world his preference for the company of the youthful teacher of music, to that of any and all the daughters of wealth and fashion. Many a remark and sarcasm were repeated to him of this and that disappointed mamma, or slighted belle; but they failed to make an impression on the resolution of Edward Lancaster to make Lalla Grayson his wife so soon as she could be prevailed upon to name the day.

Meantime, as acknowledged lovers, they rode frequently, and walked often together. In his society, under the genil influence of his love and constant kindness, the face of Lalla wore a new expression, borrowed from the sunny light that had driven away darkness from her heart. In his friendship was a solace which was not for her elsewhere. In his love was a balm, healing to the wounds of that love so suddenly and terribly disruptured. So great was the change, so blessed and sweet the alleviation, she did not seek to inquire if in the heart and soul of Edward Lancaster, the gay young devotee of pleasure and worldliness, her own soul had found its mate. Lalla Grayson, in her girlish dreams, may have had her ideal, and though the gallant Lieutenant more than realized it in physical perfection, perhaps something was wanting in his character on which to repose; that firmness, that sedeteness, that height depth of nature which woman may not attain, but which she so fully comprehends.

As it was Edward fully occupied the thoughts of Lalla. For the few months she was his betrothed, her life was but one dream of him He was the one ray of glory by which she had been brought from despair to serenity, from darkness to light; and now he beautified and glorified her existence, her world.

Mariana Grayson had now left school, and was visiting her sister at the house of Mr. Low. In a few weeks, at the expiration of the present session of school, Lalla was to be married, and Mariana was to succeed her as teacher in the Institution. The hours of the day, for five days of the week, were occupied by Lalla in her vocation. We need not say that dreams of Edward were thrilling more musically down in her heart than the discordant notes of her careless pupils Trusting and unsuspicious, she never conceived the thought that, while her own heart was true, that of Edward could stray from its allegiance. The appointed time drew near. The school vacation commenced. Lalla was busy, head, heart and hands. She could not understand why Mariana was so sullen, so petulant, so uncommunicative, except that the failings of her early youth were becoming more firmly seated and apparent as she advanced in years. Or perhaps, thought she, the prospect of my happiness, and of her own isolated, dependent condition, renders her thus impatient and irritable. I must endure patiently her ill-humor, knowing how to pity her lonely situation, so much more distasteful to her than it has been to myself.

It was Saturday night, the evening preceding the day set apart as the bridal one of the young officer and the orphaned Lalla. They were to be married in church, and leave immediately for a military station in the far North West, whither Lieut. Lancaster had been recently assigned his post. Lalla left her room soon after twilight had deepened, to meet her affianced in the parlor, as had been previously arranged. Her step, ever noiseless and elastic, had nearly reached the parlor, when she heard, for the door was slightly ajar, the voice of her sister, evidently intended to be low, but incautiously strong from excitement.

"But I really do not think you intend to tell her. You have promised me every day for the last week, that each night of the same she should learn from yourself of the transfer of your love. Now here it is Saturday night, and she is left in blissful ignorance that I am to be the bride instead of herself, to-morrow."

"But Mariana," said the voice o Edward, so low and tremulous as to be scarcely intelligible, "Lalla seemed so full of love and trust, I could not bear to pain her; though she has more than once rallied me for my gloom and reserve so unusual."

"And is such your love for myself, that you prefer to displease me than to give a moment's pain to her? Her love and trust! I tell you again she has no heart—she is a perfect iceberg—she has never had a fether's weight of love for human being yet. Upon my word, I believe you repent—you cling to her yet—go, then; take a snow flake for your bride, that shall chill and freeze you, but not to death."

"No, Mariana, I am rezolved. You, and you alone, shall be my bride. I only regret I could not have so bitter a consciousness of having wronged poor Lalla, who, till you came, I believed the only angel out of Heaven."

"Lalla; always poor Lalla! If you love me, let her name pass. But promise me now you will tell her all to-night. I will meet you in the hall after the ordeal is past, and learn how bravely you conduct yourselves. Till then adieu."

But before Mariana could leave the room, Lalla like a ghost glided in. She spoke energetically, though her words trembled with vainly repressed emotion. "I came not here to listen, but I have heard. Edward Lancaster, my betrothed, and Mariana Grayson my sister, my betrothed and my sister no more may man nor woman never wrong you, as I have been wronged; may Heaven give you more peace and blessing than you have given 'poor Lalla.'"

And the little figure in black glided out as noiselessly as it had glided in.—Had Edward Lancaster been alowed time to have studied his own heart, he would have learned that Lalla occupied, that moment, a far higher and holier place therein than her arrogant and aspiring, though more brilliantly beautiful sister. Unfortunately the temptress was at hand, and rejoiced that all had become as she thought, so quietly known to her sister; exultant at the prospects of the future, to her so brilliant, she at once and eagerly employed every art and fascination to render him thoughtful only of herself. And she succeeded. The morrow came, a golden, glorious day of Autumn, a day that was to have been so fraught with beauty and gladness to Lalla; a day that she spent alone in her little chamber, in bitterness and tears, wondering how, after such a gleam of happiness had dawned, such sorrow and blight should have fallen.

When Mariana appeared in church as bride, and Lalla was nowhere visible, great was the surprise and curiosity of the assembly. Much gossip and scandal was the consequence, amid all of which the young Lieutenant and his bride started off for Fort——away towards the Rocky Mountains; while Lalla, at the commencement of the ensuing session, resumed her accustomed duties. She had struggled manfully against this second great sorrow of her young life; and, though bruised and weary, maintained a calmness of exterior, and serenity of manner, from which the world judged her heart to have been but slightly affected by her late engagament.

One year from that very Sabbath morning that was to have been her bridal one, Lalla occupied her accustomed seat in church, as second in the choir. Her mind had been busy with the past; old hopes and memories had nearly overpowered her, when she veiled her eyes, and drooped low her head, while she endeavored to shut out all beside in a fervent prayer for peace, trust, and calm submission. Suddenly a voice from the sacred desk thrilled her, as voice of mortal had never thrilled her soul before. She did not look up—but remained bowed, and hushed, and trembling while that voice continued to read, with wonderful effect, one of the sublimest chapters of Isaiah. That finished, still motionless, she joined in the opening prayer that followed, and not until the hymn was being read, did she glance toward the eloquent, but stranger divine. Her first thought was, "St. John has returned to earth; surely this is the disciple whom Jesus loved."—Somewhere had she seen that face before—in picture or dream—but somewhere. The spirit that had flowed in his voice, shone in every lineament of his face also. The pale, wide forehead, the deep blue eyes so full of light—the mouth and chin so perfectly, so classically chiselle all animated with a divine efflatus—where had she seen before the person or the picture? Never had Lalla joined in the sacred song with more of spirit and beauty in her voice—never had her soul been so filled with harmony and melody.

The sermon was one of simplicity—more beautiful for its earnest truths, clothed in words that all could understand, than for any elaborate sentences, or learned and eloquent passages.

Mr. Green, the somewhat aged pastor of the church, on account of ill health, had been advised to take a trip to Europe, and had accordingly received from his parishoners leave of some months' absence. Eldred Emery, whose piety, talent, zeal, and extraordinary winning address had occasioned for him quite a celebrity, was invited to fill his place.

Need we say that he and Lalla met; that at their very first interview, she in the pastor, and he in the sweet singer whose voice had recognized each a kindred spirit; that ere the six months expired, Lalla Grayson had become the wife of Eldred Emery? In the blessed Springtime, when roses were bursting into bloom, Lalla stood a bride in the very church that had witnessed that other bridal; and if her thoughts recurred to it at all, it was only to feel how truly asunder she and Edward Lancaster would ever have remained, if wedded, and to realize how often prove our most bitter sorrows to be "blessings in disguise" For "as in water, face answereth unto face," so answered the soul of Eldred Emery to that of Lalla, his wife.

The Dead alone are Great.

The dead alone are great!
While heavenly plants abide on earth,
The soil is one of dowless dearth;
But when they die, a morning shower
Comes down to make their memories flower
With odors sweet though late.

The dead alone are fair!
While they are with us strange lives play
Before our eyes, and chase away
God's light; but let them pale and die,
And swell the stores of memory;
There is no envy there.

The dead alone are dear!
While they are here long shadows fall
From our own forms and darken all;
But when they leave us all the shade
Is round our own sad footsteps made,
And they are bright and clear.

The dead alone are blest!
While they are here clouds mar the day,
And bitter snow falls nip their May;
But when their tempest time is done,
The light and heat of Heaven's own sun
Broods o'er their land of rest.

From the Waverly Magazine.

RAIL-ROAD EXPERIENCE.

BY CHARLES C. TERRY.

I lost all my property when very young, and all my friends at the same time—except one, an old maiden aunt, who took snuff and lived on a small amount of money invested in United States stocks My having this one friend left, after having lost my money, was owing to an old love affair of my aunt's. When she was a girl of sixteen she fell in love with Lieutenant Buttons. Buttons did not reciprocate the affection so lavishly displayed by my aunt, and returned unopened the perfumed notes sent him. I may as well say, here, that the notes were not bank notes. My aunt, after this disappointment, vowed that she would never, as long as she lived give to any man her hand and fortune.

Some friends of the family, believers in spiritualism, after this vow of celibacy, claimed her as a convert to their faith; for they said—'If she never would marry as long as she lived, that she evidently contemplated a union in the world of spirits; and no maiden lady, they said, lives a single life without some hopes in this world, or the next.'

I can give two reasons why Lieut. Buttons did not marry my aunt. First, she was very plain looking. Second, her hand was larger than her fortune.

I was said to resemble the obdurate Buttons. When very young my aunt would entice me into her house with sweet cakes, and preserved fruits. When she had enticed me in, she would bid me to rest myself in a chair, while I partook of the refreshments. She would then sit down on the opposite side of the room and gaze at me for hours, with tears in her eyes.

Owing to a small family disagreement, my aunt did not visit at our house, and was compelled to resort to the sweet cake and preserved fruit subterfuge in order to refresh her memory of the flint hearted Buttons. It was owing to my resemblance to the hero of my aunt's attachment that my relation continued my friend after my broad acres were lost.

It was no love of kin—no out-pouring of affection—no generous impulse of heart As a man of the world, knowing this, I pocketed all the remittances and presents, and blessed my unlucky star that she was not old Mrs. Buttons.

It had been a cold and stormy day in and throughout the long hours the wind had blown the dead leaves in huge drifts along the road and in the desolate garden. I felt, that day, as gloomy and sullen as the weather without. I was without employment, and had spent my last dollar.—More than that my landlady's long bill was unpaid. More than that, it was four months past due.

While in this blue reverie, I was startled by a knocking at my chamber door. I almost expected to see Mr. Poe's raven stalk into the room. It was the squint-eyed girl employed by my landlady for the munificent sum of thirty-one cents per week. The girl handed me a letter bearing the post mark of Middletown, and and directed in the hand writing of my aunt. The letter read as follows:

Middletown, June 20, 1850.

'Dear Buttons,—Come to Middletown. Enclosed please find 10 dollars; don't spend the money before you start. Your loving Aunt, MARY WILLIAMS.

My aunt always addressed me, in her letters, as 'Dear Buttons.' I was rejoiced to receive the remittance contained in the letter. I paid strict attention to that part of her letter referring to the bank bills enclosed, by immediately walking down stairs and paying my huge landlady her bill. It was clear to my mind that it would be impossible to leave the house without doing so.

I returned to my room and packed my carpet-bag with the best my wardrobe contained, musing on the strange import of my aunts letter. Was she going to die and leave me sole inheritor of the safe investment in United States stocks? It could not be. The letter was written with vigor, in a regular hand.

It was not that any of my wealthy relations had deposited a sum of money with my aunt, and that I was to have the use of the interest? Could not be possible.

The most kind hearted of my relations lent me some money, and, before I found time to pay, the interest had doubled the original sum, and I had to sell my library in order to meet the demand. Never borrow money of your relations.

Five minutes walk brought me to the railroad station. On referring to the time table I found that the train would be due in ten minutes. That train never came due The telegraph told a fearful story of an accident. Five souls came due in eternity. Heaps of burning coals and fragments of gilded cars covered the track. On broken limbs, with bare nerves kissed the hot steam. The bridegroom of yesterday passed unnoticed his beautiful bride, but that disfigured blackened corpse was her.

A jury of twelve enlightened citizens exonerated from all blame the gentlemanly Conductor, the gentlemanly President, and the gentlemanly Directors. The gentlemanly Directors rewarded each one of the twelve jurors with a pass over their well managed road.

I went home or rather to my boarding house, and had horrible dreams all night. I was dashed down steep embankments, I was crushed beneath locomotives, and drawn beneath the iron wheels of rushing cars.

Early next morning I was at the station house, ready for the first train. In the ladies department five women, ten band-boxes and six babies were congregated. Around the stove were gathered travellers and the rough-working, illy-paid employees of the road. It has always been a mystery to me why those who perform the greatest amount of labor should receive the smallest amount of remuneration.—On the walls of the station house gorgeous hand-bills informed you how much more certain of death you would be on one route than on the other.

A shrill whistling of the engine, a sudden rumbling like thunder, and a trembling of station house as if the strong hand of an earthquake had grasped it, told me that the morning express train had arrived. The rumbling ceased—the five women, six babies and ten band boxes swept like an avalanche out of the ladies apartment, overwhelming the baggage master in its impetuosity.

'Plenty of time for refreshments,' cried the corpulent individual who superintended operations in the eating saloon.

'This way for your baggage cried the baggage master after having recovered from the effect of the avalanche. Around the stove were gathered the firemen and engineers, their faces blackened with smoke.

Said the engineer to the fireman, 'If we hed bin two minits later on the 'junction' we would hev bin smashed.'

Replied the fireman, 'Well! you was always a lucky cove; you didn't have more than a minit over on the up train last night; but then it was deuced dark, and the signal man was off on a bender.'

The engineer replied with a smile of triumph.

In the eating room, Iowa, Ohib, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan were represented by gentlemen from those States. The gentleman from Iowa, eating a cold sausage, said that they had lost half an hour while on the route from Iowa city. For his part he was astonished! To be sure, they had a little accident on the road last night—the 'lightning express' run into another train and killed five men. 'That stopped us some time, sir,' said he, 'but it was only an emigrant train we run into!'

The conductor said, 'It was all the fault of the emigrants. One of their number had been seen standing on the platform and smoking his pipe. While smoking he broke his pipe, fell off the platform, cars went over him and killed him had to stop the train—had to take on board what was left of him—got behind time five minutes and a half—'Night Express did not wait, came on and we had a smash up!'

The gentleman from Ohio thought the cars should run up to time, accidents or no accidents, and called in a loud voice, for 'another peice of apple-pie.'

The locomotive whistled, and the passengers rushed for the cars. When I took my seat I noticed that the seat opposite mine was occupied by a pale looking woman and a sickly child. Very soon the conductor came along. When he saw the woman and child he looked furious.

'Did I not tell you,' said the gentlemanly conductor, that you could not ride on this train without paying? I'll put you off at the next station.'

The pale looking woman made no reply, but the tears came into her eyes. The gentlemanly conductor glared on her in triumph. At last the woman found voice to say.

'My husband was employed on the Illinois Central Railroad. One day he was brought home a mass of crushed bones and torn flesh. I am going home—the home of my childhood—with my sick child. God protect me! I am without friends or money.'

'Stuff,' said the conductor.

I inquired of the Adonis of the rail how much her fare was. He replied, very sharply, 'Two dollars, sir.' I handed him a two dollar bill. He looked at the bill, then looked at me. He supposed I was a counterfeiter, or a life member of the Tract Society. He was far from the truth—I was a Bohemian in those days.

I did not do this out of kindness of heart, or because my compassion had been excited by the woman's story, but because I wished to foil the brutal triumph of the gentlemanly conductor over a poor and suffering woman. If she had been pretty and young she would not have been insulted.

Wood piles spun into broad sheets of water—fences, cattle, cottages, hills and mountains swept by in confused masses. The shrill whistle sounded—the car wheels groaned with pain beneath the iron pressure of the brakes. The brakeman shouted, 'Middletown!' and the train stopped. Breaking away from the 'God bless you's' of the pale woman, I stepped out into a confused crowd of hungry passengers and impatient travellers at Middletown station, Duchess County.

CANADA THISTLES.—Some 15 years ago in the packing of a box of dry goods, brought from the interior of the State of New York, were brought a few of the seeds of this noxious plant, which soon after made its appearance on the north side of Chicago street in the center of our village. Since that time, by much and constant care it has been kept confined to a small place upon a single block, and has we believe never been suffered to go nor on the other hand could it ever be wholly destroyed.

We see that it is now again in flower, and should at once receive attention, to prevent its spread. Considering the immense injury which its spread is capable of inflicting upon the village and surrounding country, we would suggest whether it is not well worth the expense, to dig it up and even sift the ground, if necessary, and thus seek once for all to eradicate it entirely. At any rate the village marshal should we think see to it that, if the owners of the premises continue longer to neglect it, it is not suffered to go to seed.

We notice also, that, owing to the peculiarities of the season, an unusual amount of the ordinary thistle is springing up in almost all the streets of our village, to the great injury of its good looks, and reputation for neatness and thrift and to the serious exposure of our garden grounds. Now is the time to destroy them for the season, a few minutes work, from each one around his own premises, if promptly bestowed, will remove the evil.—Verbum Sat.

Michigan Journal of Education.

The July No., of this home Journal of Education, so ably conducted by its talented editor and Publisher J. M. Gregory of Ann Arbor Mich., is received. It is worthy a better support, than we fear it is receiving, although it is under the patronage of the State Teachers Association, and reckons some of the best educational talent of the State among its associate Editors. Terms $1.00 per annum.

A MONSTER GRAPE VINE.—A Los Angelos correspondent of the Alta Californian, writes as follows: "At Montecito, four miles from Santa Barbara, there is a grape vine, probably the largest in the world. Its dimensions and yield would be incredible, were it not that my informant is a man of veracity, and he spoke from personal observation. It is a single vine, the main stock being ten feet in diameter. It is trained on a trellis 60 feet in diameter. My informant, with another person, counted 7,000 bunches, and the estimated yield was 18,000 pounds of fruit. Can this be beaten? The only thing that surprised me in the relation of my friend was that any person in Santa Barbara should have displayed the energy necessary to build the trellis for this noble vine.

An old maid speaking of marriage, says it's like any other disease, while there is life there is hope.

I cannot now think of a couple lines to fill this column. Therefore you will please excuse me.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

THE JULY SUN.

BY E. M. HALE.

Three summer days, in retrospective moods,
Back swiftly through the Past my thoughts do run,
Musing I ride to green fields or dim woods,
Beneath the splendor of this July sun.

I think me of the time while yet a boy
I wandered in the forests with my gun,
A dear companion then my chiefest joy—
And hunted 'neath a radiant July sun.

I call to mind the long and drowsy days,
When with some choice book from the library Ran—
I rambled by the stream, screened from the rays—
And fished and lead beneath a July sun.

And I remember fields of golden grain—
The broad green meadows—beauteous birds and flowers;
And how would fall the soft sweet summer rain,
Upon the earth, in cool delicious showers.

And I cannot forget each splendid morn,
Sacred to those who would the mid-day shun;
For fairer evenings, when with silver hours,
The crescent moon displaced the July sun.

And O, thou tyrant! his what mem'ries tender,
Come up before me when I think of them;—
And visions of a maiden pale and slender,
Who was to me this great world's brightest gem.

* * * * * * *

Her soul is with the stars—their beaming eyes
Out seem to tell me of that angel one,
Whose quiet grave, overgrown with myrtle, lies
Beneath the radiance of this July sun.

Horrible Murder in Washington city.

The vicinity of Georgetown was thrown into considerable excitement yesterday morning, by the brutal murder of a pretty, interesting young lady named Mary Shebey, by William Nugent, an Irish laborer on the Washington aqueduct. It is reported that Nugent became enamored of the young girl, and because she refused to marry him, took her life in a fit of jealousy whilst under the influence of liquor. His conduct previous to the commission of the deed was certainly very singular. He was frequently heard to mutter incoherently to himself, and behaved himself in so extraordinary a manner, that he was on Tuesday last taken to Georgetown and placed in confinement, from which he was released as soon as he evinced signs of returning self control.

Shortly after his release he returned to work, and was heard to complain of the severity of the tasks imposed upon him. On Thursday night he went quietly to bed but arose between 4 and 5 o'clock, and armed with a sharpened case knife, entered the apartment of the deceased and cut her throat. She lived but ten minutes, and when her father reached her side was just able to inform him of the manner of her death. The murderer was immediately secured by those who were attracted to the spot, but before the arrival of the officers, his fellow laborers commenced beating him in such a manner that he could not have survived for any length of time had he not been rescued. At one moment the mob evinced a disposition to hang him, so intense was the feeling against him; and this, in all probability, would have been accomplished but for the timely interposition of the murdered girl's father.

The conduct of this wretched man, after he was taken into custody, was such as to excite the deepest indignation and disgust. He appeared to be perfectly unconcerned, and ate a pie as if he had not been guilty of the most inhuman act a man can perpetrate. Indeed, he was heard to exclaim that he had determined to kill some one. The murderer was taken to the office of Mr. Justice White, in this city, who committed him to jail.

HARD TIMES IN KANSAS.—The Kansas Herald of Freedom gives a discouraging view of the times in Kansas. It says:

We pity the man who is compelled to to raise money now in Kansas. We were told by a money lender, the other day, that he was receiving from 10 to 20 per cent., per month for the use of money, and had been paid at the rate of 20 to 25 per month to discount notes. The lowest rates on good security, for the use of money seem to range between three and four per cent., per month. Business in all our Kansas towns is nearly suspended. Men with 20 or $25,000 cannot sell property at any price to realize a few hundred dollars. Real estate can be bought at ruinous rates, persons feeling compelled to sell to realize ready money, perhaps to save their credit. Hardly any branch of business is sustaining itself.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD.—An election was held Monday for Directors of this road, which resulted as follows;

J. W. Brooks, Boston.
Erastus Corning, Albany.
Thomas Tilletson, New York.
J. D. Williamson, New York.
Nathaniel Thayer, Boston.
Robert B. Forbes, Boston.
H. H. Hunneywell Boston.
H. H. Warden, Boston.
Elon Farnsworth, Detroit.

☞ The fare for passengers on board the steamer Leviathan, which is to commence running regularly between England and Portland, Maine, next spring, has been fixed as follows: First class, $105; second class, $60; third class, $30.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BAKER, ... EDITOR.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1858.

Bank of Tecumseh.

We notice that the Adrian Watchtower, blowing in the lead of the Detroit Free Press, is anxiously inquiring after the Bank of Tecumseh and, how the right of way over the lands belonging to the State came to be granted to the River Raisin and Grand River Rail Road, by the late Legislature, thus renewing as the Free Press and Watchtower assume, by legislative recognition, the forfeited charter of the Bank of Tecumseh.

Had the Bank really suspended, or was there any indications or reasonable probability that the bill-holders were about to incur loss through the bank, it might be supposed that a regard to the public interest impelled these inquiries, but when it is borne in mind that while every other bank in the State suspended, this bank has all along continued to redeem at its counter, and was for many weeks the only bank in the State that did do so—and that no material change has since that time been made either in the control or management of the bank, it must of course be conceded that other motives than these have led to this simultaneous attack.

The purpose of the attack is manifestly to seek to involve the Governor and Attorney General in an act, which as partizans, in the general prejudice against banks, it is hoped would be unpopular.

Now it does not appear that the Governor, in any recommendation which he made to the Legislature, referred to the Tecumseh Bank, or even the River Raisin and Grand River Rail Road, at all, or had them in mind, but only suggested, being requested to do so, whether it might not be well to grant the right of way over any un-improved lands belonging to the State, to any Rail Road company desiring to build a Rail Road from the South (which is, and which all felt to be very much needed) to the Capitol of the State. The old River Raisin and Grand River Rail Road company and charter, (as also the Grand River Valley R. R. Co.) came within those conditions, and the Legislature passed the act accordingly.

It does not appear that the Attorney General had anything to do with the law at all, or knew anything about it.

Whether the effect of the act, upon the Bank, is what is claimed for it by the Free Press and Watchtower, we are not disposed to discuss, but will only say that if it is so, we do not see any good sense in finding fault, with the Attorney General, for not pressing a quo-warranto against the Bank, which they claim the Legislature has already legislated out of his hands and decided against him.

Had he done so, we apprehend we should not soon have heard the last about his thus involving the State in hopeless, and unnecessary expense.

Now really we have no feeling in this matter, except such as would naturally be indulged, in seeing an institution located in our midst, and so far as we know well conducted, and uniformly and honorably keeping its faith with the public, thus attacked for the merest of partizan purposes; and while this has been so persistently done it has sometimes occurred to us, that it was at least a complimentary and an honorable concession to the present State administration, if it was the only vulnerable point of attack which its enemies could find against it—that, (even if true, which is very far from evident to any unprejudiced mind) it had consented to the confirmation of the charter of the only bank in the State which stood firm and solvent through our late financial crisis.

To so hopelessly be-labour and so palpably beg a conclusion to so weak a print, does seem to us beneath the dignity of any great party founded upon principle, and seeking by fair argument or honorable means to sustain a worthy cause.

LITERARY NOTICES.

The Atlantic Monthly.

The July No. of this excellent American Magazine has been received for some time and is deserving of a more extended notice than our limited space will allow. Although not yet one year old, the Atlantic has already given us several articles, which cannot become ephemeral, and it is now felt to be indispensible to the magazine reading of almost every parlor and reading room in the country. It is published by Phillips Sampson & Co. Boston at $300 per annum.

Petersons Magazine.

The August No. of Peterson is received. "The new baby" is a fine life-like plate, and the Fashion and pattern plates are as usual a leading feature in the No. "Catharine Luicoln" by Frank Lee Benedict, and, "King Philips Daughter" by Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, both to be continued, are among its leading literary contributions.—Its literary department is uniformly well sustained. Published by Chas. J. Peterson, Philadelphia, Terms $200 per annum.

General News.

St. Louis, July 8.

Our despatches from Leavenworth of the 6th, by the United States Express to Boonville, say the special messenger named in the previous despatch, reached the Fort yesterday, with the official orders for General Harney, which went forward this morning per Captain Simpson. The orders direct the following movements: eight Companies of the Second Dragoons, Majors Phelps and Reynolds batteries of Artillery, the 5th, 10th and probably 7th Regiments of Infantry, remain in Utah, the 4th Artillery and two Companies of Second Dragoons, occupy the District of the Platte, the first Cavalry is directed to remain on the Plains as late as practicable and make excursions among the Indians and keep them in subjection. The sixth or seventh Infantry proceeds to Oregon in view of the recent intelligence from the Pacific of Indian hostilities. Majors Harris and Hunts batteries are ordered to return to Fort Leavenworth. The Crops of Engineers now with the battalion of sixth Infantry, are to return to West Point after completing the work of opening a road to Camp Scott via. Cheyenne pass. The troops which accompanied Captain Marcy from New Mexico, return to that department.

Brig. Gen. Harney ordered to return to St. Louis and assume the command of the Department of the West, unless he may have received intelligence of the forcible opposition of the Mormons to the army now in Utah, in which case he is empowered to send forward the whole of the reinforcements, and continue on with them to Utah or return to take command of his Department, as he may prefer.

Lieut Col. Crossman and Capts. Turnley and Page are assigned to duty in Utah.

Capt Hancock is ordered to proceed with the regiment of infantry to the Pacific.

The officers of the Topographical Engineers, hitherto assigned to duty in Utah, are ordered to report to Gen Johnston. But the recruits and officers destined for the corps now in Utah will proceed to that department.

Asst. Adjt. Gen Buell remains attached to the Staff of Gen. Harney.

The Paymaster farthest in advance will go through with his funds to Utah. The others remain on duty in the department of the Platte. The force assigned to this department is expected to keep communication open between the Missouri river and Utah, and is under the orders of Brig. Gen. Johnston.

An express arrived from Utah yesterday, and the dates are old, and contain nothing new. Gen. Harney was at Ft. Kearney, June 29.

Geneseo, N. Y., July 9.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon, Isaac Wood, convicted of the murder of his sister-in-law, Rhoda Wood, by poisoning, at Dannville, in this county, was executed. The execution took place in the enclosure attached to the Jail. A military guard—composed of a company from Dannville and one from this village, and about 1500 spectators were about the premises. The execution was witnessed by about sixty persons. The prisoner was brought in attended by the deputy and a clergyman. He addressed those present, protesting his innocence and charging his conviction to prejudice and persecution. He said he died in the hope of a blessed immortality. At the conclusion of his remarks he appeared to be in considerable agony. The death warrant was then read; the drop fell, and Isaac L. Wood was launched into eternity! His remains will be taken to Avon for interment until his friends take charge of them. He continued his protestations of innocence up to the last moment of his existence.

Washington, July 9.

The Seventh Regiment National Guards will leave here at 5 o'clock on Saturday morning by Railroad and will arrive in New York about 6 o'clock on the same evening.

The President accompanied by Gen. Burnett, of New York, and the officers of the army and navy reviewed the Regiment at noon in front of the White House. The throng was immense and the Guards won the praise and admiration of everybody present.

New York, July 9.

The steamship Edinburgh left Glasgow at 6 P. M., of the 26th; but brings nothing later. She has 315 passengers. She experienced strong westerly winds through the passage and much foggy weather.—She saw nothing of the the telegraph fleet.

Halifax, July 9.

The British War steamer Styx, from Havana on the first inst., arrived at this port last night. She reports the yellow fever raging badly there. Her officers appear to be highly aroused at American's version of their proceedings in the Gulf of Mexico.

Columbus, O., July 9.

Albert Myres, convicted of the murder of Neville in the Penitentiary, was sentenced this morning, to be hung on the 6th of September next.

Lexington, Ky., July 10.

James Beard, City Marshal, was brutally murdered at 4 o'clock this morning, while endeavoring to arrest a man named Baker, who was engaged in the fight in the Market House. Baker stabbed Beard, the knife entering on right side, severing a lung and entering the heart, killing Beard instantly. The citizens were much excited. Baker was taken to the Watch House, thence to Jail. He was afterwards taken from the Jail by citizens and marched to the Court House Yard. A temporary scaffold was erected from the Court House window, second story, and at 8 P. M., Baker was swung off. The rope broke and he fell to the ground, a distance of about 30 feet, bruising his face considerably. He recovered in a few moments and was again taken up to the window and another rope attached.—He was then made to jump from the window again. He still hangs and will till 12 o'clock.

New Orleans, July 9.

The Barque Brilliant from Vera Cruz, brings papers of the 26th.

Business was prostrated. The vomito prevailed among the soldiers. The citizens were healthy.

There was an earthquake on the 18th in which 50 persons were killed.

News from the City of Mexico state, that the British and French ministers advise the payment of the forced loan. Forsyth opposes and demands his passports. He is awaiting instructions.

Vidaurri and Garza were marching upon the capital. Rehearzray had retreated to Jalappa.

Yucatan dates are to the 30th. The government imposes a duty of 50 cents per barrel on all foreign and home flour from August 1st.

Shocks of an earthquake had been felt at Quinitillan.

Washington, July 9.

Commander Page, who is designated to command the naval force to be despatched to Paraguay, has had an interview with the Secretary of the Navy, on the subject. That government, it is said, has very effective war steamers, and the fort which commands the navigation of the Parana river is of great power, and under French engineers, hence, it is deemed important to the success of the mission, that the United States should be prepared for all possible emergencies, the President having been clothed by Congress with ample power to enforce all just demands of our Government.

The Secretary of the Interior left here this evening for Mississippi, and will be absent about a month.

New York, July 10.

The examination of Gen. Lane, at Lawrence, Kansas, for the murder of Jenkins, has resulted in his acquital, by the unanimous decision of the Court.

Jack Henderson, who was arrested for complicity in the Delaware Crossing election frauds, has been discharged, Judge Lecompte declaring his arrest to have been illegal.

St. Johns, N. F., July 11.

The steam-tug Blue Jacket from Liverpool in 28 days reported having seen on the 24th a large and small steamer, both British, in lat. 51 32 north long., 32° west. They made signals but the Blue Jacket had no code and could not understand them. The same evening they saw a large steamer bearing down upon the others but could not make out whether they were English or American.

The Captain of the Blue Jacket says that one of the steamers was a large double decker frigate, with cog wheels fore and aft. She passed her within a mile. The other was a large paddle steamer and was distant half a mile from the other. A large steamer was bearing down upon them in the evening when they were lost sight of. The Blue Jacket's log of the 25th of June reports a strong breeze from the south-west by south and weather hazy with a westerly swell, lat by observation, 52 12. The weather continued moderate and thick till the morning of the 3d inst. when there were strong gales from the south west by west with a high sea.

St. Louis, July 13.

The Utah correspondent of the Republican, under date of June 18th says: The conditions agreed upon at the Conference between Governor Cumming, the Peace Commissioners and the heads of the Mormon Church are, "Troops shall enter the City without opposition. The Civil Officers shall be permitted to perform the duties of their offices without interruption, and an unconditional obedience to the laws of the land shall be given. On the other hand past offences shall be forgotten as stated in the Presidents proclamation." All the houses in the City have been closed against both Civil Officers and strangers, except one, which is occupied by the Governor and family. Everybody else were obliged to sleep in ther wagons or on the ground. The persons in the City were: Gov. Cumming, Secretary Hartnell, Powell, McCullough, Dr. Forney, Craig, Dodson, and Messrs. Simonton, Fillmore and Brown correspondents of N. Y. Times, Herald and Tribune.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right back; 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face, small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T MILLS.

Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned.

June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatomy Sts.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS. DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office in Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 21st of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 391

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S. FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (150 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway,
June 1858. New York.

CHEAP READING.

THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IN

The New York Press.

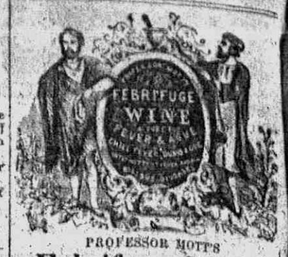
It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given. Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. James Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E. TINDALL.

New Advertisements.



PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the Blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR,
New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Levers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will soon work a cure in a few days. One bottle is general sufficient, and the very worst will yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

☞ JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m6

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS
OF THE
United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and to the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a splendid Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail:

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-shile Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	Post 6 00 20
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00 20
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00 20
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50 20
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00 20
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00 20
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00 20
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00 20
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00 20
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00 20
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	2 00 20
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00 20
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00 20
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00 20
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00 20
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00 20
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00 20

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide. 1 00 15

The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Bayley, 18x24 1 00 15

The Angle's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50

Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards 50

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue)

The United States Journal contains sixty large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books and Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefor.

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers
400 406 Broadway, New York.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times.

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined. These Machines are Warranted to work well and on Suitable Ground, if well managed will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves.

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent.
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 1361

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	9	15	30
One-third do	7	14	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements (the usual rates)

☞ Business Cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

	A. M.	P. M.
For the North	4 00
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday		P. M.
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 19	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South	6 30	"	2 40	"
Adrian to Detroit.	7 45	and	3 32

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ A few more pleasant days and our beautiful crop of wheat will be harvested. The yield is estimated from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre.

☞ We notice new carriages, harness and some good horses on Railroad street. They are owned by Collins Davis, who is establishing a No. Livery, in the Barn lately occupied by T. Barton. Call and see friend Davis.

BEWARE OF AN IMPOSTOR.—We have every reason to believe that James Davidson, Box No. 2258, Philadelphia P. O., who advertises to send a receipt for making the best Poudrette, and burning fluid upon the receipt of one dollar, is an imposter and we caution our readers against him. Let the country press pass him round.—Bordentown Register.

The Printer.

Published by Henry and Huntington, No. 1 Spruce Street N. Y.—Terms $1 per year in advance.

It contains a continuation of the history of early printing &c., also a large amount of valuable reading, a choice collection of advertisements which will be read with pleasure.—The specimens from Conners Foundry are calculated to make a printer long for loose "change."

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Reply to "Viritas."

MR. EDITOR:—I noticed in the Herald of the 8th inst. an article entitled 'Auburn Convicts." I should have passed the article by as unworthy of notice if Viritas had not circulated the report that I had made those "statements" in relation to the religious opinions of the "Convicts" in Auburn Prison.

Permit me to give "equal publicity through your columns" to a denial of all these charges.

I have never asserted either publicly or privately that there is now a Methodist Minister in Auburn Prison, "or one of any evangelical denomination"

The facts are simply these: From one of the Pulpits in this village, during the past Winter and Spring the denomination to which I have the good fortune to belong, has been constantly held up to ridicule and abuse.

Its advocates have been denounced as knaves or fools, and its believers classed with the depraved and abandoned of the land. I publicly replied to some of these charges; and though I acknowledged that Universalists were no better than they should be, nor as good as their doctrine taught them to be, yet felt justified in asserting that their moral characters would not suffer in comparison, with the members of any other christian denomination,—that though it had often been asserted that our Prisons were filled with Universalists yet when the truth had been ascertained it was found that there were no Universalists there:—that the Connecticut, Mass., Sing Sing, Ohio and Mich., Prisons had been examined, several times and no Universalists found, but many believers in Endless Misery—that at one time among 900 convicts in the Auburn Prison not one Universalist could be found but that 16 who had been preachers of the doctrine of Endless Misery were there.

I said nothing about Methodists, Baptists or Presbyterians, but gave the facts as I understood them, sad and sickening though they were; and advised those who lived in glass houses not to throw stones. Viritas knows very well that I have no disposition to bring christianity into disrepute or establish its "moral tendency to evil" (what does he mean by that phrase?)

And he knows very well too, that I can prove the truth of all, and more that I have affirmed.

I have not sought this controversy but have acted wholly in self-defense. My desire is to live in peace with all men; but if war it must be, I must be excused from having it with one who is ashamed to sign his name to his own productions.

J. B. GILMAN.

GOOD ADVICE.

When the Citizens of a small village wish to have a paper started in their town they should be sure to see the man proposing to start it. They should grow eloquent on the brilliant monied prospects which would inevitably arise from the embarking in such an enterprise. They should express themselves deeply interested in the establishment of such an institution, coupled with the most candid promises of support and patronage; and in fact take the most lively interest in everything that pertains thereto. The paper once started, and the publisher "in for it," why, then you can do just as you please; he, perhaps will allow himself to be imposed upon a trifle, before he will sacrifice the whole office. Then tell him if he asks you to take the paper, that you are taking several eastern papers, and that you are hard up, and cannot afford to take any more papers at present, but should you conclude to be a subscriber, be sure and keep your credit good with your eastern publisher. Send him the price of his paper in advance, and let your home publisher's account run to the end of the year. If there is any little musses in your village of a local nature, be sure and make a strong appeal to his conscientiousness and patriotism for the purpose of inducing him to 'put his foot in it,' and as soon as the matter begins to wax hot, don't fail to show a pair of clean heels, and leave him to fight it out, to his chagrine and your glory. Should you have work done at the office when he comes to settle, remember and draw down your eye brows, and make a long face.—Then tell him that such and such a paper somewhere, at some time, done advertising at such and such rates; perhaps, disgusted and sick at heart, he will throw off a portion of his already contracted bill; this being done tell him that money is so hard to get that he must take trade, and to clinch the nail hint something about discontinuing your advertisement, that perhaps will make the poor devil tremble into some reasonable concession or promise. In matters not of a personal nature—things beneficial to the village, you will of course consider the use of his paper as common property, you must try and make him believe that everything that he does for the place where he resides will accrue to his interests, making his paper popular but be sure and don't make any exertion to remunerate him in any manner for his trouble, that would be simply time and money throw away. If you have a little job of work to do, in the first place go to him and try and impress on his memory a sense of eternal obligation for your kindness in thus furnishing him a job; and you must tell him as the job is given in a spirit of kindness he should do it for half price. Do this part up very confidentially, and perhaps he will believe you and thereby prove that he is as big an ass as yourself. Follow these precepts closely and then thank providence that he in his kindness saw fit to give your place a paper.

WHAT IT COSTS TO COLLECT THE GOVERNMENT REVENUES.—One of the members of Congress, Hon. S. Colfax, of Indiana, in a recent speech in Congress, gave the following suggestive information as to the cost of collecting the government revenues:

And sir, I am opposed to the original amendment, certainly, so far as the appropriation for the custom-house in Elisworth in the State of Maine is concerned, where they collect $954 dollars revenue, while the building has cost $18,000, and the cost of collecting the revenue is upward of $3,000 per year.

In Portsmouth New Hampshire, the amount collected is $5,534, while the cost of collecting it is more than $10,000 per annum.

In Oswego, New York, the ambunt collected is $6,000 per annum, and the cost of collecting it is $18,000.

Newark, N. J., they collect the sum of $384, at an expenditure of $1,-500.

At Galena, Illinois, the amount of revenue collected is $763, and it requires an expenditure of $625, to collect it.

There has been already expended at Portsmouth $116,000 for a custom house where they collect $5,000.

At Oswego they have expended $113,-000 for a custom house, where they collect $6,000 per annum.

At Newark, N. J., they have expended $146,000 for a custom house, at which there is collected the sum of $384 per annum.

There are only four things necessary to make a capital speaker: first to have something worth saying; second, to know how to say it; third, when to say it; and fourth, to when he has said it, and forever thereafter thold his peace.'

A DEEP PLUNGE.—The locomotive and baggage car which fell through the trestle work, on the Eaton road, on the 20th ult., killing one man, and injuring four other persons, made a plunge to the bottom of the ravine, a depth of fifty feet.

Honesty is the best policy. Try it by paying the Printer.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH July 15, 1858.

Wheat	70a75
Flour	4 00a4 50
Buckwheat	37
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	44
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	90a100
Potatoes	20
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	0 0
do dried	5a6
Butter	10
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00a5 00
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	11 00
do half bbl.	5 00
Hides	3
Calf skins	07
Sheep pelts	40a50
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25
Wool	25a35

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

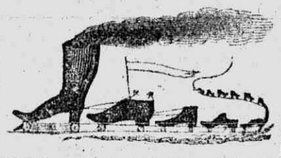
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 25	"	1 20 "
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 20 "
Arrive at	7 36	"	3 26 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, All Rail and Boston and other points east and south; via Lake Shore Railroad: at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Michi City and all points south: at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh.

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in General to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See

T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

GRAND Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Sant Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND. At 5 O'clock P. M.		DETROIT. At 10 O'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th		Friday,	July 9th
Monday, "	19th	Tuesday,	" 20th
Thursday "	29th	Friday,	" 30th
Monday, Aug.	9th	Tuesday,	Aug. 10th
Thursday "	19th	Friday,	" 20th
Monday, "	30th	Tuesday,	" 31st
Thursday, Sep	9th	Friday,	Sept. 10th
Monday "	20th	Tuesday,	" 21st
Thursday "	30th	Friday,	" 22nd
Monday, Oct	1st	Tuesday	Oct 1st
Monday, Oct	11th	Tuesday,	" 12th
Thursday "	21st	Friday,	" 22nd
Monday, Nov	1st	Tuesday	Nov 2nd
Thursday "	11th	Friday	" 12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers: lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior: the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictued Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Sant Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $14.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio.

S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, : : : MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN FINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 398y

APPOTHECARIES HALL!

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Robsck's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Hall's.

DR. MCCRUM'S

Receipt Book, or

The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,

Tecumseh, Aug. 3d. 350

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is. will not smash up, or Run off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods,

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room in Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards. Odd Fellows W. A. KING, and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is a good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor,

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept, 24th, 357tf

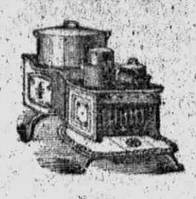
CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore, There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton, And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone, We can Beat Adrian all Holler, If we don't we'll give you a dollar. Selling Nails at $4 a keg, From that we shan't budge a peg. Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred, And yet more that might be numbered. Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size, And every thing you may surmise. Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware, Full enough to make you stare. Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all, Be sure you find the Gothic Hall. Don't fear the Hardness of times, At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Silver Veniers, Shell Card Cases and Receticuls, Jets, Bubble, Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 393tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of R. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM, SODA WATER, LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH, Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Miss SOUTHWORTH.
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE GOLDEN PRIZE GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages of forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRIZE EVERY ONE.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present,
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents,
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3	"
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5	"

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3	"
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5	"
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10	"
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21	"

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2	Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
2	do do do	200 00	do
10	do do do	100 00	do
10	patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20	Gold Watches	75 00	do
50	do do	50 00	do
100	do do	50 00	do
300	Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200	Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500	Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000	Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 20 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Broaches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40, to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER, PROPRIETORS,
695] 355 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

in typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress. The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable, and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum, invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10	copies to one P. O.	12.50	per annum.
15	" " "	15.00	" "
20	" " "	20.00	" " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL.

CANADA THISTLE.

This greatest of all vegitable pests to the farmer, is rapidly spreading over the land, and without the greatest care and precaution every neighborhood and State will be infested with with it. When it once gets a foothold it is next to impossible to eradicate it Were it confined entirely to the plowable lands and fields this would not be an impossible matter for like some other nuisances of a similar character a constant chopping of its leaves and stems would ultimately eradicate individual plants. But when a plant once gits a foot hold, its thousands of seeds, with their balloon-link appendages, are carried upon the wings of the wind, until first a neighborhood is seeded, and that neighborhood will seed a district, and a district will seed a State; the highways and roads are scattered with it, and then it is impossible to arrest its progress—for what is every body's business is nobody's—and there it retains undisputed possession, until the neighboring fields and pastures are filled with it, to the almost total exclusion of every other species of vegitation.

The canada thistle is not a native of this country, nor of Canada, but was first introduced into that country upon the banks of the St. Lawrence, from England, with the grass seeds brought over by the early settlers; from thence it found its way, in the same manner, into the Genesee Valley of N. Y., and into all that country bordering upon the shores of lake Ontario, and thence into many portions of the interior of the State, and into other States. I recently saw plants of it growing in Greensburgh, Ind., where the seeds and stems were brought from N. York by tree-peddlers in packing around their trees, where it was said to have extended to the surrounding fields and woods. The seeds are not only extended over the land by the winds, but the plants are multiplied also by stolons, that is, by runners, like the strawberry, with this difference; the thistle extends its runners beneath the surface of the soil, while strawberry runs above. So fearful is this plant regarded, that a law has been passed in the State of New York compelling rail rood and canal companies to mow them off twice during the summer.

In Connecticut there is a law empowering every town "to make such regulations as they may deem proper to destroy or prevent the spreading of the Canada thistle;" and the law also enjoins that "every owner or possessor of land shall cut or mow down the Canada thistles growing thereon, or in the highway adjoining the same, so often as to prevent their going to seed,' under a penalty of five dollars for every offence, payable to him who shall prosecute to effect.

In some parts of Canada and New Foundland, whole fields are abandoned on its account, and will probably never be reclaimed from its dominion. This plant is so vigorous and tenacious that the roots will run to the distance of eight or ten feet in a single season.

Farmers should be guarded in the purchase of their fruit trees, particularly when brought from a part of the country infested with this vegetable scourge. I have fearful apprehensions that it will be widely introduced not only into the rich lands of the West, but into many other sections of the country, in the straw and moss used in packing fruit trees—particularly trees coming from the eastern or western part of New York, in the midst of the Canada thistle, which are sent West and sold to our farmers. Whenever a plant of it is discovered no time should be lost in exterminating it to prevent its fearful spreading.

A NEW CENT COIN.—The mint at Philadelphia has produced a new coin of one cent denomination. The new cent piece like the one of 1857, is of nickel and of the same size; it has the head of an Indian girl upon one side, and the words 'United States of America,' with the date. Upon the reverse is a wreath, surmounted with a shield, with a bunch of arrows entwined at the bottom, and the words 'one cent' in the middle of it.

'I say, friend, your horse is a little contrary, is he not?'

'No, sir-ee!'

'What makes him stop, then?'

'O! he's afraid somebody'll say whoa, and he shant hear it.'

'Why, Tom, my dear fellow, how old you look.'

'Dare say, Bob, for the fact is I never was so old in all my life.

This column is finished for this week.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October, 8th, 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Jacob Hoover Jobber, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee in Liber 2 of Mortgages on page 265 and 270 October 12th 1857 at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the south end, to Nathan Chereve, will be sold at public auction on the 28th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr. Mortgagee. 388w13

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the first day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857 in Liber 2 of mortgages on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing eighty acres (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858 294w13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E. Merrick to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1857 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 19th day of May A. D 1857 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42 and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. WALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee. Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in Liber W of Records on pages 597 and 598, on the Twenty fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Alfred B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber X of Mortgages on folio 126, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction at the door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated June 15th, 1858. ALLEN B. WARD Assignee.

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Riga, in the county of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale.

BENJAMIN DEMUTH, Tecumseh, June 9th, 1858. Administrator.

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Twenty ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoeg, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Emeline A. Hoeg widow of the deceased praying that letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pomeroy or some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the twenty-sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate. (A True Copy.) n396w4

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County known and designated as The East half of the South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By Jno McConnell, Deputy Sheriff. Dated July 6th 1858. 397w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County known and designated as The East half of the South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South-west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By Jno McConnell, Deputy Sheriff. Dated June 14th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D 1858 to me directed and delivered. I did on the 8th day of April A. D 1858, levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton Edward Brairton and James Agen, and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows, viz. The west half of the south east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff. Dated July 6th 1858. 397w6

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business by the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly writing to us to execute orders involving purchases varying in amount from 50 cents to as many hundred dollars and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can act better than any single purchaser can. In fact, we aim to put our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send to country produce themselves, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent also in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert, of A. A. Lawrence & Co., New York.

Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.

F Cabot & Co., Boston.

Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston

J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.

And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz.: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also, the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten: also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated: all for $2 a year. Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE, 875m5w&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for thr cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate, of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

WB MOFFAT, M.D. New York, And For Sale By ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n843ly HENRY LANCASTER

DR. MCCRUMS Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON, Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON	D D MARSHALL
DELOS LeBARON	WALLAS GRAY
D L. SPICES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J A BEARS.	ALFRED JAMES.
D Q ADAMS.	GEO. SAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 391y

Mrs. E M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 a. m until 4 p. m. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m8

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS

A LARGE AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF

Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of MRS. N. P. HENRY,

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858 THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

Nursery, east of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-moddled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required. C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Febv. 18th, 1858. 378m3

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders.
for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician, succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by rectifying the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, offensive fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague asthma, dyspepsia, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility, diarrhea and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi, or seed of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralises them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions, cures the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor, and restores every animal function. Such is the natural effects of Dr. Roback's Famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills will not only obliterate the most painful disease, and prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle or $5 per half dozen. Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or 5 for $1.

PERU, Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 4, 1857.

W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel, Jeffersonville Ind. Oct. 6, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of R. G. Cord & Co. as I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your Pills did be contrary. Why, I have taken as many as six (6) of——'s and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect, but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 4 1857

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—After using a few bottles I felt its effect very sensibly, and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me therefore to congratulate you upon having a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Enquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly affected MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac gratis, from my agents.

Manufactory, Sales-Rooms and Office, No 6 East Fourth street 50 building from Main street 4th, O.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh

N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R BROWNELL, Clinton.
G V HAWKINS Medina F N. BUTLER Morenci.
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan. 28 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deception practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORG R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2, South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO FAIRCHILD, Secretary.

390y EZRA D HEARTWELL, President.

SPRING EDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $2000,000.
HOMSTEAD Woodsport, N. Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those going to house keeping, that he has in store and for sale the Largest and most complete Stock of ever offered in this place. The Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a great assortment, which will be kept full, and ordered at low figures.

FURNITURE

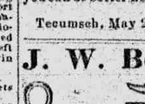
☞ Finished Coffins Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse to companies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian.

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro



BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either present or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys will be paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

Consumption Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writing on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public, and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. E. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians coming on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting us address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or DR. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N. Y.

May, 1858.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin, Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success.

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 36. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JULY 22, 1858. WHOLE NO. 401

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL.
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMFORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHEUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

J. BILLS. R. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. T. B. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER. W. E. CHEEVER.
H. M. & W. E. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL,
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y. TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
803y TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

CRACKERS.
A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

The Little Strawberry Girl.

BY MISS E. W. BARNES.

'Straw-ber-ries! Staw-ber-ries! Who will buy? Who will buy?'

The musical voice of Nellie thrilled the woods so sweetly, that the memory of the tones lingered with the passer-by, as he went to his daily task, and haunted him through the long hours, like the remembrance of a joy that has passed away.—Her rosy face, too, was worthy of a place in memory; with its sunny smiles and dimples, shaded by careless natural curls; and its soft, black eyes, large, and full and dreamy. It was not beautiful only, but so indicative of goodness and purity, and all that we most love to cherish as a heart picture of childhood!

Many an eye turned to look after Nellie, as she tripped along in the bright June morning, in her neat pink calico, and white apron, and large straw hat shading her pretty face; while her little baskets of fruit, covered with dewey fresh green leaves, were strung picturesquely over her arms and shoulders; and her hands contained each a large basket, filled to over-flowing with the smaller ones. She was so neat and attractive in her aspect, that many who would have passed others by unheeded, stopped to purchase the tempting fruit of Nellie, who was well-known, as she came with the other beautiful things of summer, and trilled her little song, like a bird beneath the open windows: 'Straw-ber-ries! Straw-ber-ries! Who will buy? Who will buy?'

'Come in, child; what is your price?'

'Fourpence a basket, Miss.'

Nellie stepped into the spacious hall of a fashionable house in Montague street, where a young lady stood, in her morning robe, with flowers in her hand just gathered from the conservatory, and surrounded with all the appliances of wealth and luxury.

'Well, they are worth all of that—so fresh and ripe. Give me a half a dozen baskets. Here, Mary! And while Mary emptied the baskets, she drew out her port monnaie, and dropped the sixty cents, in fives and tens, into Nellie's little purse—not into her hand, as the young reader must remember; for this apparently trival act was the pivot on which turned the moral event of the day and of our story.

The smile with which she received the money, and thanked her for it, penetrated like a sunbeam into the heart of Minnie Hamilton, for there was coldness there—the child of discontent and disappointment, which finds their way, sometimes, even into luxurious homes; and the association of poverty and contentment seemed very incongruous to one born in affluence, as she had been.

'You seem very happy,' she said, responding to Nellie's smile 'Do you earn your living by selling strawberries?'

'Yes, Miss; in the summer I sell berries; in winter, I go to school part of the day, and help mother the other part.'

'And what makes you so happy? Can you tell me the secret?'

'Mother says that we must be bright and happy, because we have so much to be thankful for.'

Minnie looked at her in amazement.—'So much to be thankful for!' thought she, 'and in their position! How does your mother support herself, child?'

'She takes in common sewing, Miss. Sometimes she sews half the night.'

'Then what in the world has she to be so very thankful for?' she exclaimed; and a silent self-reproach came stealing up from her heart, that she had so often murmured over some evil in her own lot, which certainly seemed a bright one in comparison.

Nellie smiled again sweetly, as she answered:

'Some people, as good as we are, have no home, and have nothing to eat. But mother and I have a little room to live in. She sings at her work all day long, because, she says, God is good to us. We have bread and potatoes every day, and on Sundays we have meat. Don't you think, Miss, that is something to be thankful for?' she asked simply.

A deeper tint glowed upon Minnie's cheek.

'Yes, yes, child,' she answered, nervously; and then followed a pause, during which she stored away in her heart, like hidden treasure, the lesson which Nellie had taught her, and which was to be reproduced often in after years, when discontent caused her to murmur at some little cloud, real or imaginary, that hung over her destiny. And she thought within herself—'it is your own sunny heart, poor child, that robes the world for you in its own love-lighted and rose tinted atmosphere. You are happier far than I, may God forgive me!'

Minnie Hamilton, a beautiful girl of eighteen, was an only daughter, petted and idolized by her parents. Indulgence had injured, though it had not spoiled her. So fully had every wish of her heart been gratified from her birth, that she regarded it a kind of privilege peculiar to her condition, to murmur if the slightest shadow came between her and the fulfillment of her and most extravagant desires. Poor Minnie! poor, though abounding in riches. 'One thing thou lackest,'—one thing which wealth cannot purchase—the joy of a sunny and contented heart.

Yet Minnie had noble qualities: generosity and active benevolence, with strong moral and religious principles. One shadow, the shadow of discontent, clouded them all.

Nellie had put her little purse into the pocket of her apron; and now, she issued into the street again and re-commenced her strawberry song, until she was summoned by another customer, who purchased largely. As she was about adding the payment she received to her little store, she discovered a small rent in her purse, and sitting down, she emptied the money into her apron to examine it. As she did so, she discovered among the fives and tens, a gold dollar, which had evidently been given her by mistake by the first purchaser.

'I will go right back with it,' thought Nellie.

She waited, however, to re-arrange her baskets; and while doing so, the tempter came with evil thoughts, to test her strength of principle.

'Why go back with it?' said the wicked voice; 'perhaps the lady meant to give it.

'But I do not know that,' said the tender conscience of Nellie.

'Well, you can do good with it?' said the voice, appealing artfully to her filial love: 'you can purchase something for your mother. She works hard enough for all she has, and this will buy her a neat dress to wear to church.'

For a moment—only a moment,—Nellie listened to the sinful suggestion, and she thought 'how pleasant it would be to carry a nice calico to dear mother, and how pretty she would look in it.—Perhaps, too, she could earn enough today to buy a bonnet to match; and how happy that would make her!' But suddenly the smile died away on Nellie's lips, her step grew less light. There was a weight at her heart. It was a burden of a guilty thought. She had parleyed with evil, and its shadow was on her path. It had dimmed the happines which innocence had hitherto bestowed.

And now, happily for little Nellie, conscience, 'that voice of God in the soul,' came powerfully to her aid. It recalled vividly the previous Sabbath evening, when her mother sat with her at the window, just as the sun was sinking, and after their scanty supper had been disposed of.

'Nellie, my darling,' she said, as she laid her head upon her knee, and smoothing back her dark hair, 'you could not go to Sunday School to-day, because you had no shoes to wear. Perhaps we can earn a pair before another Sabbath; but I will teach you the commandments.—Then Nellie repeated them after her.—All were vivid now to her memory; but especially, and as if written in letters of fire, stood forth the eighth—

'Thou shalt not steal.'

Nellie's heart sank within her. Had she listened, and obeyed that evil voice, what might she have become—a breaker of God's holy commandment! The sin would have lain heavy and dark upon her soul; dimming its sunlight, and weighing down her buoyant, happy spirit. And then her home would have been changed to her. She would have destroyed its peace, and her mother's cheerful songs would have been hushed. Nellie waited not a moment; but terified at her own thoughts, she rushed back with speed of light lest that evil voice should speak again, and rested not until she reached the home of Minnie Hamilton.

'You made a mistake, Miss. You gave me this'—holding up the gold dollar—'for a silver piece?'

'Did I? Well it was a mistake. I am very near sighted; but you are honest little girl, and you shall have it as your reward'

'No, Miss, thank you; I would rather have the silver piece.'

'You would?'.

'Yes Miss.'

'You are a singuler child. Pray tell me why you would rather.'

'Because—because—it would remind me'—Nellie burst into tears, and covered her face with her hands.

'Of what? tell me child.'

'How I was tempted to break God's command.'

'And to keep the dollar do you mean?'

'Yes, Miss.'

'But you resisted the temptation as God gave you strength. That was beautiful in you. Now tell me your name; I must remember it.'

'Nellie Townsend.'

'There is no sin, Nellie, in being tempted. The sin consists in yielding to temptation. Now that you have resisted you will find yourself strengthened in might to overcome evil. Henceforth I shall not fear for you. Only resist the first promptings to do wrong—resist them and all will be well. Nellie, you were not aware of it, but to-day you taught me a lesson of contentment, which I shall not easily forget; and you shall have the happiness of knowing that you, though a little child, have been a minister of good to me. And you must let me reward you. You must keep that identical dollar to remind you of what has occurred to-day, and you have no reason to be ashamed of it. Now tell me what was the temptation? What did you most desire to do with it?'

Nellie hesitated, and then said: 'Last Sunday mother had no neat dress to go to church. That would just buy a calico I only thought of it for a moment.'

Minnie Hamilton turned aside without speaking. When she looked again, there was a moisture on the eyelids which had not been there before.

'Does your mother require anything else? Does she not want a bonnet too?

'Yes, Miss; but I shall soon earn that by my berries. Mother's sewing has nearly paid the rent this month.'

'Nellie, you and I must be friends.—Go now and sell the remainder of your strawberries, and call on your way home.'

That evening Nellie was tripping home with her empty little baskets strung around her, as usual: but in the larger ones lay a new straw bonnet, trimmed with a neat ribbon, and a package which she was directed not to open until her return. Mrs. Townsend was looking anxiously for Nellie when she arrived, but what was her astonishment and gratitude when she heard her story with a full confession of the temptation, not a word of which she withheld.

When the package was opened, it was found to contain a fine calico dress for each, with a five dollar bill fastened within. Upon a slip of paper were written:

'For Mrs. Townsend, as an acknowledgement for a benefit received from her little girl, whom she has reared to be an example of truth and honesty and virtue.'

From this time Nellie and her mother were under the peculiar patronage of the Hamilton family. Sewing was supplied for which they received good pay, and Nellie was transferred to Minnie's Sunday School class, where she was regarded as a pattern of truth and integrity for her associates.

And shall not her example speak also to our little readers, and remind them of that which the Bible teaches—to 'resist evil,' and to 'follow that which is good;' for that will bring them 'peace at the last.

☞ A woman named Maby attempted to get on board a moving train, at Deerfield, Ohio, on Thursday last, with a child in her arms, when she slipped and fell between the cars, the train passing over her neck, severing the head from the body, and across the child's breast, cutting it entirely in two. The other cars in their progress caught up the dissected bodies and tore them limb from limb, until they presented such a horrid mass of broken bones and sanguinary members, that no one would have ever dreamed they had ever belonged to human creatures.

☞ The Nashville Homestead says that besides the excellent syrup and sugar made from the Chinese Sugar Cane, there is yet another article obtained from it which is of a pleasant taste, and doubtless healthy in its consequences. It is obtained by putting the expressed juice of cane into any clean wood or glass vessel, allowing it to stand ten or twelve days, when it assumes the appearance of limpid water and is fit for use. The flavor is similar to our best cider, and we suppose might be properly called cane cider.

☞ When you pay the printer, you need have no fear his. (the printer's) devil.

From the Adrian Expositor.

THE WEST.

BY LYDIA JANE PIERSON.

There's a beauty and a glory
In the bright and boundless West,
Reaching onward—ever onward
To where day lies down to rest,
Where the vison finds no limit,
Where the spirit feels no bound,
But a mighty sense of Freedom
Fills immensity all around.

And the soul looks up, and onward,
With a bold insatiate quest,
Hoping always—weary never,
Daring all things—in the West
For the West hath large resources,
In her rich and generous soil,
Which responds with lavish bounty
To the cheerful voice of toil.

And the West hath mighty rivers,
Where the noble steamships ride;
And dear lakes broad as oceans
Where a thousand vessels glide,
From the marts of busy cities
Seated proudly by the floods,
To wide regions—where the red man
Meets the pale face—in the woods.

For the West hath noble forests
By each lake and river side,
Where the giant's of the old time
Wave their branches, in their pride.
And the West hath mines of iron,
And exhaustless beds of coal,
Stores of lead, and wealth of copper
From her teeming mountains roll;

And the gold that bayeth all things,
And shateth every ill,
O'er her lap is strewn profusely
The adventurer's purse to fill.
There's a glory and a beauty
And a promise in the West,
Luring pilgrims onward, onward,
Toward where day lies down to rest.

We go forth from home and kindred,
From the place where dear ones sleep,
From true love and friendship,
Little heeding how they weep;
For a mighty expectation
Burns like phrenzy in the breast,
O, success, and joy, and honor,
That wait us—in the West.

Yet sometimes—forlorn and weary,
When the shades of evening come—
We sit still—and talk with Memory
Of our dear forsaken home—
Of kind parents—loving brothers—
And sweet sisters—young and fair,
With their smiles, and pleasant voices,
Earnest love, and ceaseless care.

And perhaps a lovely maiden
In the early bloom of youth,
Who has listen'd blushing, smiling,
To our tales of love and truth;
Now we seem to see them—gather'd
In the old familiar room,
Where the memory of the absent
Touches every heart with gloom:

And the features of the homestead
Buildings, fences, fields, and brooks,
Orchards, flowers, and berry patches,
Shady lanes, and sunny nooks,
And the beautiful companions
Of the bright or shadowy hours,
With their answering eyes and voices,
And the hearts that beat with ours.

How they brighten in the distance!
How doth absence make them dear!
Till the homesick spirit moaneth
With a prophecy of fear—
We shall see our dear home—never,
We shall meet our friends—no more;
And our life hath lost the treasure
That a world cannot restore.

An Interesting Sight.

Our attention was arrested yesterday while passing the vicinity of Lockport, on the canal, by a small scow-schooner floating thereon, and being towed along by three men. The novelty of the sight led us to make some inquiry as to what sort of a craft she might be, and who were the three men we saw emulating the tow-path horse. We found her to be a vessel of about 15 tons burthen, called the Pioneer, and that she had cleared from some point on Lake St Clair, with three families, numbering some seventeen persons in all, bound by way of the canal, Illinois and Mississippi rivers to St Charles, Missouri, to which point these enterprising families are emigrating. They have on board all their household goods, and lumber and other materials sufficient to build them a comfortable house apeice when they get to their journey's end.—Chicago Press.

☞ The clip of Michigan wool this year will be a very large one—much larger than ever before. The clip of last year was was about 3,700,000 pounds, and this year it will go considerably over 4,000,000 pounds, without doubt. The general feeling among eastern buyers is, that prices should range from 20 to 35c. for common to full-blood and extra clips or about 10 to 15c. lower than the prices of last year.

☞ The hog cholera prevails to a great extent, in Gibson county, Ia. In the vicinity of Princeton, some of the most extensive farmers are losing all their hogs. The disease is also committing ravages in the northern part of the county.—Thus far there has been found nothing that will effect a cure. A hog once attacked, seldom gets well.

Efforts are being made to organize a military company at Ann Arbor.

An Appeal for Mount Vernon

It is with feelings of the highest gratification we announce to the public, that the persevering efforts of the Ladies' Mount Vernon Association of the Union, have been crowned with success commensurate with their lofty aims and sacred patriotism, and that they have at last secured to the American people the privilege of making the Home and Grave of WASHINGTON the property of the Nation!

On the failure of the Mount Vernon Bill in the General Assembly of Virginia, we renewed our overtures to Mr. Washington to sell the property to the Association. These overtures met with a favorable response, and on the 6th of April, a contract was signed by Mr. Washington, which obligated him to transfer Mount Vernon to the Association; on its compliance with the following terms, viz:

The payment of two hundred thousand dollars, for two hundred acres of land, including the mansion, gardens, landing place, and, above all, the tomb.

Eighteen thousand dollars to be paid on closing of contract, and the remainder of the sum in four bonds, payable in yearly instalments, with the permission, after payment of the first bond, to pay to Mr. Washington any amount of the balance due, in sums not less than five thousand dollars, which sums will be credited to the Association; in this manner lessening the interest.

The title to the estate, and possession, to be given on payment of the principle and interest; and the privilege also granted of obtaining posession, on thirty days' notice, at any time the Association may be ready to furnish the entire purchase money.

The price asked for Mount Vernon by its proprietor, and which has never varied, has long been known to the public, and the Ladies of the Mount Vernon Association, in offering to become its purchasers, could not expect to acquire it upon other terms than those given as the ultimatum, to Congress and to Virginia.

Yet there is a concession made to the Association by Mr. Washington, as to the extension of time; and a very important proviso, to save interest, which can best be explained by the following letter addressed to the legal gentleman who negotiated the purchase on behalf of the Association:

To W. H. McFarland, Esq, and Gen. A. A. Chapman:

GENTLEMEN.—In the negotiation you have recently concluded with me, on behalf of the Ladies' Association for the purchase of Mount Vernon, the payment of interest on the deferred instalments from the date of the contract, while I retained possession of the property, was the only serious difficulty between us.

Having satisfied you that I could not yield this point, you finally conceded it.

As the contract is now closed, and I believe in a satisfactory way to both parties, it affords me pleasure to say to you, that if the Association meets its engagements with me on the 1st of Jan, 1859, as you inform me they will probably be both willing and able to do it, it is my intention, in that case, to remit to the Association all the interest on all the deferred payments.

This I shall be willing to do, partly as an inducement to the Association to obtain possession of Mount Vernon at an early day, but more particularly, as an evidence of my appreciation of the motives that have actuated the Ladies' Association in the cause it has undertaken.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, with the highest respect, Your obedient servant, JOHN A. WASHINGTON.

More than half a century has now elapsed since WASHINGTON walked among us—a half a century of neglect and ingratitude to his memory. Between the broken pledges of Congress, and the apathy of his mother State, the remains of the Father of his Country have lain unhonored by the mausoleum voted in the hour of a Nation's grief, and his home and grave left to the fate of private property, and accessible to the public, only through the forbearance or courtesy of its various private owners!

Ever and anon, a voice was heard to protest against republican ingratitude, for, ever and anon, the heart of this great nation seemed to throb with a remembrance of his virtues and of his services, and the priceless legacy he bequeathed. But, during the steam struggles of a young Republic, this voice was unheeded, and since America became a power on earth, it was either silenced by the din of party, and sectional strife, or stifled by the murmurs of Mammon, until the generations, which knew him not, were in danger of forgetting and wholly departing from those principles, which are the bulwark of our greatness, and those warning counsels which can alone maintain our Union in safety. But that Providence which has so often interposed for our rescue in the darkest days of the republic, when the ship of State, with no master hand at the helm, rocked to and fro on the angry waves of sectional strife and bitterness, which threatened to engulf it; has stirred the heart of woman to revive, through the rescue of the sacred ashes of the Father of his Country, that love for his memory, slumbering, but not dead, which could be made all powerful, in regenerating and healing influences!

A call was made to the women of the South, to gather around his grave and to be the Vestals to keep alive the fire of patriotism. The motives were pure—the intentions generous—but they failed! Ye, who watch the signs of the times, know ye not wherefore? Washington belonged not alone to the South!

Again the call was made, and this time to the women of the Nation. Again it failed!—and wherefore?

The title and all the power were to be given to a State; and Washington belonged not to one State alone!

Devoted woman would be neither baffled nor conquered; but she alone triumphs when the common homestead can be procured as a common heritage, for the estranged children of the common father, the spell of whose memory will yet have the power to reunite them around his hallowed sepulchre.

Unexpected success has crowned her efforts. Our country can be saved, one and indissoluble, forever—for woman has become her guardian spirit. In the sacred groves of Mount Vernon, she will learn those lessons, which will never leave us without a Mary, to train a Washington for her Country's hour of need.

Orators—Statesman—the noble brotherhood of Masons—Odd Fellows—patriots one and all, have come promptly to the aid of woman! And ye, women of the North and of the South, of the East and of the West, will ye not rally to the work? Will ye not vie one with another which will give most and do most, that we may on the 22d of February 1859, claim and take possession of the Home and Grave of him, who loved us all, and thus make his birth day the birth-day also of Republican gratitude, justice and fraternal love!

ANN PAMELIA CUNNINGHAM,
Regent Ladies' Mount Vernon Association.

A QUAKER JOKE.—A correspondent sends us the following good thing for the hot weather: K.——, the Quaker President of a Pennsylvania Rail Road, during the confusion and panic last fall, called upon the W——Bank, with which the road had kept a large, regular account and asked for an extension of a part of its paper falling due in a few days. The Bank President declined rather abruptly, saying, in a tone common with that fraternity:

'Mr. K., your paper must be paid at maturity. We cannot renew it!'

'Very well,' replied the Quaker, and left the Bank. But he did not let the matter drop here. On leaving the Bank he walked quietly over to the depot and telegraphed all the agents and conductors on the Road, to reject the bills on the W——Bank. In a few hours the trains began to arrive, full of the panic, and bringing the news of distrust of the W——Bank all along the line of the road—Stockholders and depositors flocked into the bank inquiring, 'What's the matter?' 'Is the bank broke?' A little inquiry by the officers showed that the trouble orginated in the rejection of the bills by the railroad. The President seized his hat and rushed down to the Quaker's office and came bustling in with the inquiry,

'Mr. K.——, have you directed the refusal of our currency by your agents?'

'Yes,' was the quiet reply.

'Why is this? it will ruin us!'

'Well, friend L.——I supposed thy Bank was about to fail, as thee could not renew a little paper for us this morning.'

It is needless to say Mr. L.——renewed all the Quaker's paper and enlarged his line of discount, while the magic wires carried all along the road, to every agent the sedative message,

'The W——Bank is all right. Thee may take its currency.'

☞ It has been said that pantaloons obtained on credit were breeches of trust.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Mans Requirements.

Rank no trump to crown my worthly fame
Or tell of wonderous deeds which I have done;
To such high honors I can have no claim;
But had I, I should count them vainly won:
Earth's fame is but a bubble at the best,—
It is not worth a mortal's toil to gain,—
It has no power to soothe the sorrowing breast,
Or ease the tortures of distracting pain.

I ask not wealth,—it is a gaudy plume
Pluck'd from the wing of fortune feckle thing!
It's fading lustre never long can bloom;
Or happiness and sweet contentment bring.
A competence is all I ask from wealth,
My daily wants and comforts to supply,
Give me, Kind Providence, content and health,
Then happy I shall live and peaceful die.

I ask no friend to shed one pitying tear,
Though the cold sweat of death were on my frame,
Or lowly bending o'er my silent bier,
Wish my fled spirit to return again.
No let oblivion o'er my name be cast,
When from this tenement my spirit's fled;
I care not that my memory should last
When I am numbered with the silent dead.

I ask no stone to mark the lowly spot,
O mound to show where my poor relics lay;
But all unheeded let me be forgot
And silent mingle with my mother's clay.
One boon alone from Heaven I wish or crave,
This virtue is, and her attendants bright,
And the kind Saviour's blood my soul to lave
From sins pollution to a spotless white.

Then when I'm call'd to leave earths callous throng,
Angels will bear my spirit home to bliss,
Nor would I wish life's moments to prolong,
In such a dark and sorrowing world as this.
No death's approach I'll welcome with delight,
And gladly drop this tenement of clay:
To dwell with Christ and holy angels bright,
In the pure mansions of celestial day.

A.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Theory of Lightning.

It is universally admitted that Lightning and electricity are one and the same substance. The properties and phenomena of the one differ from the other only in respect to degree. The irregular passage of lightning through the air and the discharge of an Electric Battery present the same appearance and effects, differing only in the amount of electrical fluid that may be accumulated at the time of discharge. It has like all other substances its origin in the earth, and thence it is communicated to the air and material substances generally. Some bodies contain more than others, and the same body contains more or less at different times, according to its relative position and connection with other bodies that are also either positively or negatively electrified. The electric fluid does not uniformly and equally pervade all parts of a body but one part may contain more and the other less, than its natural quantity. When a body that is positively electrified, is by means of a conductor brought in contact with a body that is negatively electrified, a communication of the electrical fluid from the positive to the negative is effected and equilibrium is produced. This phenomena when occuring in the air is familiarly termed lightning, and many gross absurdities are entertained with regard to its origin, law of action, &c Its direction is always from the positive to the negative. When a portion of the atmosphere that is positively electrified approaches another body or portion of the earth's surface that is negatively electrified, a discharge of the electrical fluid from the positive to the negative occurs, provided a conductor of the electrical fluid is present and favors its transmission. If, on the contrary a portion of the air that is negatively electrified is by means of a conductor brought in contact with a portion of the earth that is positively electrified a discharge from the earth to the atmosphere is effected and its effects are the same as in its downward course. It imparts no injury in its course if the conductors are perfect, but all non-conductors with which it meets it rends, burns, and destroys. Generally the air is positively electrified and probably always so in fair weather, and therefore the discharge generally is downward, but in very rainy weather (water being a conductor of electricity) the air parts with a great amount of its electricity which it again receives either through the medium of vapors that arise from the earth or by spontaneous discharges when circumstances favor them. Steam and gases generated in large accumulations of Hay and grain are conductors of electricity and barns and buildings that contain these are frequently visited with its effects An instance of the upward discharge of the electric fluid occured at the Depot of the M. S. & N. I. R. R. Co. in Tecumseh during the storm of June 23d which on account of its rare occurrence will pay the curious the trouble of going to see its effects. J. W. WELLMAN.

TELEGRAPH FLEET.—The most important intelligence by this arrival, is the failure of the attempt to lay the Atlantic cable. The Niagara and Gorgon arrived at Queenstown on the 5th. The Agamemnon and Valorous had not arrived on the 7th. The Niagara and Agamemnon met the third time on the 28th, and connected the cable. They then started afresh, when the Niagara having paid out over 150 miles of cable; all on board, entertained the most sanguine anticipations of success, when the announcement was made on the 29th, at 9 o'clock P. M., that the electric current had ceased to flow.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1858.

Insane Asylum at Kalamazoo.

We noticed in a recent No. of the Peninsular Journal and Independent an article that seemed to reflect severely upon the penuriousness of the State in not sooner completing this humane and much needed institution.

It is always an easy thing to give plausible and apparently sufficient reasons, for incurring almost any amount of expenditure in an acknowledgedly important and worthy object of this kind, but not always so easy to determine what is a true and judicious economy in the case, or how to provide the means for meeting its apparent exegencies.

It will be borne in mind that a very large share of the present indebtedness of the State, about which so much is said, and with which, so much fault is found, was incurred in this very way and therefore any reasonable attempt at economy in these matters should rather be commended than denounced.

Large appropriations have already been made to the asylum for this unfortunate class of our fellow beings, but with a mistaken zeal for grandeur and display, it was only employed by the Trustees then in charge, to lay the foundations of an extravagant edifice, thus necessarily, and perhaps not unintentionally involving a large increase of expenditure in order to make it in any respect available for the purpose for which it was designed, instead of being so used as to make it answer and meet in some good degree, the immediate exigencies of the case.

And even this expenditure of nearly $100,000, has by the recent unfortunate conflagration, been reduced, as we are informed, for the most part, to ruin and loss.

Now it was because the recent Legislature were unwilling to add to the indebtedness of the state, for the purpose of carrying out these extravagant plans, and raising to a completion these extravagant foundations, that they have been subjected to the animadversions thus bestowed upon them.

No one pretends that the actual wants of the Insane should be neglected, but it is not therefore by any means so certain that an expenditure of two or three hundred thousand dollars are indispensible to provide for them. Nor if blame is to attach anywhere in the matter, is at all certain that it should not rather attach to those who have expended so much means to so little purpose, instead of those who have declined to endorse and continue expenditures of a similar character.

And now that accident has reduced the enterprise almost to an undertaking de novo, we hope that what is hereafter done will look more to providing immediate accommodation for these now now needing it, rather than any prospective building up and ornamenting the Village of Kalamazoo with the most beautiful and expensive public building in the State.

This is all desirable enough in itself and when the State of our finances, shall enable us to gratify our public pride without regard to expense, it may perhaps be done—but for the present we may well be contented with less, and should see to it, that ideas of utopian beauty, do not defer the utility of a present home, for those now so greatly needing it.

Godey's Lady's Book

The August No., of Godey is promptly upon our table. A landscape engraving, entitled 'Summer' is its leading embellishment, and is most life-like and beautiful. 'Shattered by the first Storm,' also looks quite suggestive and natural. This No., also begins to lead in the Fall Fashions. 'The Fourth of July celebration at Dorcyvale' and 'The last votary of Venus' we notice among its Literary Contributions. Address L. A. Godey, Phil. Terms $3,00 per annum.

Washington, July 19.

Private letters from Mexico, state that Mr. Otway, the British minister, had received directions from his government to suspend relations with Zuologa government, unless a disposition was evinced by it towards making reparation to British subjects.

Capt. Longstreet has been appointed by the President as paymaster of the army, in place of Dashiell dismissed.

Gen. Ward B. Burnett, Surveyor Gen. of Kansas, has made all his appointments and will leave for the territory this week.

RAGS.—We are now in the rag business. Bring along your rags. The more we can get the better.—Waukesha Democrat.

These stringent times have reduced most Editors to the 'rag business,' and those who, like the Editor of the Democrat, think the more we can get the better, have a fair prospect of a large amount of enjoyment before them.—Milwaukee Free Democrat.

A young man without money among the ladies, is like the moon on a cloudy night—he can't shine.

Charles Mackay in a Slave Pen.

The following is from a recent letter of Chas. Mackay to the London Illustrated News:

On my first arrival at New Orleans, I lingered for a few moments at the open door of a Slave depot, without daring to go in, lest I should be suspected of espionage, or mere curiosity, and expelled. But seeing among the company an eminent merchant of New York, whose friendship I had been fortunate enough to make and whom I knew to be no slave dealer or supporter of slavery, I walked in and joined his party, drawn thither like myself by curiosity. On one side of the room the male slaves with clean linen, and shining new hats and boots were arranged; and on the other the females were disposed in their best attire, most of them exceedingly neat, but some bedizened with ribbons, of colors more flaring and tawdry than elegant or appropriate. I was immediately beset with entreaties to purchase.

"Buy me," said a young negress, who spoke French, and not English; "I am a good cook, a good needle-woman. Buy me."

"Buy me," said another, in the same language; "I am accustomed to children and can make myself useful in the nursery."

I felt a sensation somewhat similar to that of the first qualm of sea sickness to be so addressed by my fellow creatures—a feeling of nausea, as if I were about to be ill. I told the poor woman that I was a stranger, who had not come to buy. But they were incredulous; and when at last convinced, they returned to their seats with a sigh and an expression of deep disappointment on their dark and good-humored features. I entertained such a hatred of slavery that, had it been in my power to abolish it in one instant off the face of the earth by the mere expression of my will, at that instant slavery would have ceased to exist.

I then walked to the male side of the slave mart, where I was beset by similar entreaties, urged in every variety of tone and manner, and by almost every variety of laborer and handicraftman. Some were accustomed to cotton, and some to sugar plantation; some were carpenters, some gardeners, some coachmen, some barbers, some waiters—but all equally anxious to be sold. One man—who to my experienced eyes seemed as white as myself and whom I at once put down in my own mind as an Irishman of the purest quality of the county of Cork—got up from his seat as I passed, and asked me to buy him.

'I am a good gardner, your honor,' said he with an unmistakable brogue; 'I am also a bit of a carpenter, and can look after the horses, and do any sort of a job about the house.'

'But your are joking,' said I, 'you are an Irishman?'

'My father was an Irishman,' he said. At this moment the slave dealer and owner of the depot, came up.

'Is there not a mistake here?' I inquired.

'This is a white man.'

'His mother was nigger,' he replied. 'We have sometimes much whiter men for sale than he is. Look at his hair and lips. There is no mistake about him.'

Again the sickness came over me, and I longed to get in the open air to breathe a purer atmosphere.

'I would like to buy that man and set him free,' I said to one of our party.

'You would do him no good,' was the reply. 'A manumitted slave has seldom any self-reliance or energy. Slavery so degrades and cripples the moral faculties of the negroes that they require the crutch, even in freedom, and cannot walk alone. They find it impossible to compete with the poor whites, and if left to themselves, sink into the lowest and most miserably paid occupations.'

'You are an Englishman and a traveler,' said the slavdealer, 'and I should be much obliged to you if you would put any questions to the negroes.'

'What questions?' said I. 'Shall I ask them whether they prefer freedom or slavery?'

'I don't mean that,' he replied. 'Ask them whether I do not treat them well—whether I am not kind to them—whether they do not have plenty to eat and drink while they are with me?'

I told him I had no doubt of the fact; that they looked clean, comfortable, and well fed; but—and in that, 'but' lay the whole case, though the worthy dealer of New Orleans was totally incapable of comprehending it. The same feeling seems to exist all through the slave States.

☞ A father, questioning his children, one Sunday evening on that portion of sacred writ in Genesis descriptive of the construction of the ark, asked—

'How was light admitted in the ark; glass was then unknown?'

'Oh! Noah just lighted the gas!' answered one of little misses.

Louisville, July 17.

General Quitman died this morning at his residence, near Natchez, of the disease contracted at the National Hotel last fall.

What is the best line to lead a man with? Crino-line.

General News.

The Telegraph Fleet.

Boston, July 17.

The courier this morning publishes the following statement from John A. Richards, mate of the ship Alice Monroe—The ship experienced almost constant southerly gales, and was obliged to take a much more northerly course than she otherwise would have done. On the morning of the 27th, about eight o'clock, saw the frigate Niagara lying to in Latitude 52° 05'—Longitude 33° 15', and was boarded by a boat from her containing Mr. Cyrus W. Field of N. Y. and a Lieutenant of the Niagara. Mr. Field and the Lieutenant desired Capt. Cummings to take certain letters and papers relating to the Telegraph expedition to the United States, and wrote one or two letters on board the A. Monroe during the hour or more they remained there.—They also communicated to Capt. Cummings and Mr. Richards a statement of their doings for the past fortnight.

They stated that both vessels, the Niagara and Agamemnon, experienced the most violent southerly gales from the day they left Plymouth and were driven as far north as latitude 54°; much higher than the rendezvous, thus delaying their operations for several days. The Niagara behaved in all respects like a sea going vessel and was none the worse for the storms. The Agamemnon on the contrary, suffered severely at one time. The commander of the Agamemnon informed the 1st officer, that he had no hopes of saving his vessel two hours longer, so great was her straining; but the storm subsided at last and the Agamemnon, rode out the gale. A most unfortunate accident occurred on board, however, caused by the breaking loose of the cone which held the cable in its position on the gun deck. The cable got adrift, and was pitched about the deck undoubtedly much to its damage. Two hundred tons of coal also, got adrift on the same deck, and caused infinite trouble. Two seamen were injured by these accidents, one having an arm and the other a leg broken. The two vessels and their tenders finally arrived on the "ground" and on the morning of the 26th, a connection was effected, the weather being sufficiently calm the paying out of the cable had scarcely commenced before the wire snapped.

After a few hours' detention, another splice was made, and the steamers started. The Agamemnon and her consort for Ireland, and the Nigara and her companion for the American Coast. Signals were kept up between the two fleets constantly, a message being transmitted every 15 minutes, and all was going on well till about 40 miles had been paid out, when the electricians on board the Niagara discovered that the current was broken.—This was at half past 12 o'clock A. M. The Niagara was immediately put about, and had already reached the mid-Ocean rendezvous, where at 8 o'clock, she was first seen by the Alice Monroe. It was believed on board the Niagara that the cause of the second break was a kink in the Agamemnon, caused by its disarrangement during the gale, but of this, there is no certainty. Nothing was said to Mr. Richard's about the working of the new brakes, probably there had been no occasion to put them in use. The Alice Monroe parted from the Niagara shortly after noon of the 27th, and lost sight of her about four o'clock. The Agamemnon had not then come in sight. The Niagara had hoped that her consort would arrive in season to make another trial that day, but as the weather was foggy though calm, it is hardly probable that anything was done on the 27th. Two days subsequently, the weather was quite calm and favorable, but after that, there was another succession of heavy southerly gales, and the weather on the banks as experienced by the Alice Monroe was exceedingly rough.

New York, July 17.

The steamship Austria arrived early this morning from Hamburg, via. Southampton. She brings London papers of July 4th. She has nearly 400 passengers Reports heavy westerly gales and fog the the entire passage. Saw nothing of the Telegraph Fleet.

A despatch from Washington says a special messenger left Thursday for Mexico to minister Forsyth, approving his suspension of diplomatic intercourse, and directing the withdrawal of the Legation and his return home.

Later advices from Port Jervis state that Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Tioga, are so badly injured it is feared they will die. Rev. Edmund B Palmer, of Boston, it is also thought he will die. John E White, of this city, is also lying in a critical condition.

A private dispatch from New Orleans dated yesterday, says General Quitman lay at the point of death at Natchez. He could live but a few hours

The Austria brings nothing later than the morning edition of Saturday's Times.

No news in addition to that telegraphed from Halifax.

St Johns, N F, July 17.

The weather is dull and quite warm, not unfavorable to the telegraph fleet.

Washington, July 17.

The following named officers have been ordered to proceed to Washington and report to Gen. Clarke: Maj. Carleton and Lieut R. Johnson, of the dragoons; Capts. Waller, English and Underwood, and Lieuts. Bysell, Woods, Pottlebaum and Banneycastle, of the infantry; and Lieut Ayres, of the artillery. They will leave with the reinforcements from New York.

The steamer Water Witch has arrived here.

It is true as reported that Minister Forsyth has been instructed to withdraw the Legation in Mexico, and return home. Mr. Henry was bearer of dispaches to him.

Philadelphia, July 17.

One hundred and fifty Delegates to the National Convention of the Sons of Malta, have arrived here, including 15 from San Francisco, and Representatives from Cuba and Mexico. Delegates from France and England are expected by the Canada.—The Convention meets on Monday next.

A son of Prof. Pearson, of Union College, aged about 17 years, was drowned last evening in the Mohawk River.

New York, July 17.

The steamers City of Washington for Liverpool, and Bremen, sailed from here about noon to-day, with a large number of passengers. The U. S. Store Ship for Rio Janeiro, June 5th, from New York.

Quebec, July 17.

The steamer Anglo Saxon sailed for Liverpool at 10 o'clock this morning, with ninety-two cabin and three hundred and eighty-eighs steerage passengers.

St. Johns, N F, July 19th.

The weather is fine and clear, with a westerly breeze. Nothing has been heard of the Telegraph Fleet or the steamers Kangaroo and Asia, now due, off Cape Race.

Schenectady, July 19.

The repairs on the Canal break were nearly completed this morning, when the bottom gave way. Boats may pass to-night.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 15th, via. Boonville the 17th.—A fire broke out about mid-night on the 14th, which at one time threatened destruction of the denser portion of the City. It originated in the Green Room of the Union Theatre, corner of third and Delaware streets, and rapidly communicated to the adjoining buildings. Thirty buildings principally included in the Block bounded by the Cherokee, Shawnee, Second and Third streets, were reduced to ashes. Loss underestimated at $100,000, on which there is but trifling insurance.

There is no fire apparatus or organization in the city, and the progress of the conflagration was providentially arrested by a lull of wind and a copious fall of rain. A general panic was manifested at the breaking out of the fire, but the citizens afterwards worked energetically, and the flams were got under control at half past three oclock.

One hundred and fifty recruits from Carlisle Barracks, destined for the regiment of mounted rifles in New Mexico, arrived at the Fort last evening. They go forward forthwith.

New York, July 17

A dispatch from Port Jervis says the jury on the Erie Rail Road disaster has returned a verdict exhonerating the Company from all blame. The evidence before the jury was that the speed of the train was about 25 to 30 miles per hour, not so fast as usual. The track was in good condition, and on a straight line.—The injured are all very comfortable to-day, and many are leaving for their homes.

Five girls belonging to the House of Mercy were drowned in the North River, at the foot of Eighth street. They had gone into the river to bathe, and were walking out together from the shore with their hands joined, when they suddenly got beyond their depth, lost their footing and were swept away. Their names are: Asjarah VanJilder, aged 14; Hannah H Bryant, 15; Ellen Smith, 15; Margaret Smith, 16; and Louise Ever, 19.

Boston, July 17.

The steamship Canada will arrive at her dock at about 7 o'clock, and her mails will go forward on Sunday night, and be due on Monday morning.

New Orleans, July 16.

A collision of mail trains occurred on the Jackson R R, at Bahala. Several were wounded but none killed

Washington, July 17.

The New Orleans papers contain details of the news by the steamer General Rusk from Brazos, Santiago.

The advices from Monterey state that a portion of the liberal army under D. Galado and Blanco, attacked Guadalajara, carrying the out-works and driving the enemy to the main plaza which was to have been stormed on the 14th.

Miramon has left San Luis at the head of 4,000 men to aid the beseiged, and Zaragua was closely following his rear with a heavy force of rifles.

The best line to lead a woman with is a masculine!

MARRIED.

July 15th, by Rev. H. G. Bliss, Mr. EMORY A. MORRISSEY of this place, to Miss MARY M. MASON of Rochester.

A beautiful cake received.

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge, No. 142 I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description. Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
490 TECUMSEH, MICH.

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right flank, 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face, small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T MILLS.

Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned

June 17. J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co. expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent

All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested immediately to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS

Tecumseh, May 24 h, 1858 473

ONLY FIFTY CENTS.—The Rural Home, a large eight page, semi monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office at Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His Six Lectures on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway,

June 1858. New York.

CHEAP READING.

THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IN
The New York Press.

It contains 104 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3 w&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

New Advertisements.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the Blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent exterminsation of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease have afflicted you, the Wine will soon work a cure in a few days. One bottle is general sufficient, and the very worst cases yield to the use of two. It is sold for six quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400tf

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS OF THE
United States Journal Publishing House

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for these years 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a series of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. We is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes a choice of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-silde Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00
Beautiful Gold Pencil, war anted to be solid throughout	2 00
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gilt pen	2 50
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	1 00
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00
Superb Inlaid Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	3 00
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	2 50
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00
Set of Engraved, Ring gold Studs	2 00
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00

Among the Engravings are:
The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting
Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24 1 00
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue)

The United States Journal contains large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 most useful, entertaining, and popular of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents either for the Journal or for Books at lowest prices, is entitled to the same in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to the Premiums amounting to $1, also Books or Journals amounting to $2, also a club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to be paid postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, we wish to arrange with some person in every Post Office, to act as local agent or correspondent, who will be richly paid for his services. Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscribers at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers
406 Broadway, New York.
400

NOTICE TO FARMERS

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Improved Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined. These Machines are Warranted to work well and on Suitable Ground, if well attended to will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day. ☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TYLER.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,
George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	14	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5 a year, unless contracted with other advertisement.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Persons from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern,	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Manon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A.M.	4 37	P.M.
Going South,	6 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ It is estimated that over $150,000 has been paid for wool in Lenawee County this season.

☞ Our friend John Cummins has removed to his new office (over Anderson's store.) His sign reads "Justice of the Peace" and 'Insurance Agent.'

☞ Mr. James has received a fresh supply of smoked halibut.

GOING A FISHING.—We have noticed lately quite a number starting out for the 'Lakes' armed with 'tackle,' dinner and other 'fixins' for the purpose of hooking various members of the 'finny tribe.' Gentlemen, what is the use of your going so far to find good fishing ground? From our office windows we can point out one of the best fisheries in the world. You may not be able to catch any pike or bass or salmon; but we will warrant that with the right kind of bait you will be able to hook as noble 'suckers' as were ever caught in this world. Ours is a 'Sucker Fishery' and though occasionally a sun (sou) fish has been pulled out and some fine specimens of speckled trout seen, yet you can depend upon nothing but suckers. If caught soon they may be worth saving. They will spoil where they are.

The Government making Restitution

It will be remembered by some that a year ago last May, between $,1000 and $1,500 worth of goods, mostly artificial flowers and light millinery, were seized by the custom house officers of this port at Tecumseh, on a charge of being smuggled. They belonged to a Mr. John Larkin, who in emigrating to this country from England brought them with him, paying the duties as was subsequently proved in New York.

Besides the artificials, several peices of choice velvets, silks and plaids were also taken, these having been purchased in England intended for the future use of the female members of the family for their best clothing. The household were quite astonished at the summary manner in which they were stripped of their possessions and could not comprehend the nature of the crime they had committed.

After more than a year's delay the defense compelled the Government to go to trial yesterday in the U. S. Court, when our common Uncle was most ingloriously beaten. Meantime the goods cannot half of them be found and the remainder have been stored away where the rats have spoiled them, so that the goods are either lost, stolen or injured so as to be valueless to the owners.

A suit for restitution is immediately to be begun, and the Government, which really means all us tax payers must pay well for this extra effort on the part of our zealous custom house officials.—Detroit Tribune.

The Printer.

Published by Henry and Huntington, No. 1 Spruce Street N. Y.—Terms $1 per year in advance.

It contains a continuation of the history of early printing &c., also a large amount of valuable reading, a choice collection of advertisements which will be read with pleasure.—The specimens from Conners Foundry are calculated to make a printer long for loose "change."

EDUCATION IN MICHIGAN.—There were reported to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, for the last school year by the School Inspectors:

Counties	47
Townships,	578
School Districts	3,728
Teachers employed, females	4,605
" " males	2,131
Township Libraries	472
No of volumes	168,179

O! for a line to fill out this column.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Veritas Over Again.

An article signed Veritas which appeared in your columns two weeks since, and which called forth the reply of last week, had for its object the correction of an erroneous statement which had had some currency given to it "gaining credence from a considerable number." It was deemed of importance to give equal publicity to its correction as had been given to its promulgation, because of the bearings that had been given to it, and the deductions made from it, which were manifestly in use to the prejudice of evangelical christianity in the general, of a religious denominiation in particular.

It will be recollected that no personalities were employed and no allegations made as to its origin. It dealt with the thing as a matter of principle of much consequence compared with which the consideration of persons was of little consequence. But it being construed into a personality, and a personal response being given, permit me once more to occupy a space in your columns.

The reply only considered the article worthy of notice because of its author having circulated the report that he (the author of the reply) had made the statement. Answer: "Veritas" never circulated such a report, nor has he any knowledge of having used his name in connection with the subject. But the reply attaches one point of importance to the article in question entirely foreign to it, of which 'Veritas' had no previous knowledge and with which he has had nothing to do—viz. that from one of the pulpits of this village the denomination to which he belongs has been held up to abuse &c. Answer—Veritas has never in any public or private capacity; from the pulpit, or the rostrum, employed any of the denunciatives the reply names, nor is he aware of having at any time spoken in abusive terms of the denomination to which he has honor of belonging. All this is foreign to the object of the article to which he reples In treating the main question however he changes the aspect of the statement quite materially, placing it in the past tense, instead of the present, and making the number of convicts 900 instead of 800, but leaving the number of convict 'preachers of the doctrine of endless misery' the same 16. The writer is fully satisfied that the first statement passed through secondary channels—(he not knowing its primary source.) Contrary to the general rule, that a story never loses anything by handling, in this instance it has lost 100. The writer wishes it understood tha he replied to the first statement, which had so much the semblance of being vouched for 'as to gain credence' that he did not deem it at all improper to call for the proofs. He has not the means at haud to test the accuracy of this last statement, nor would he be guilty of the discourtesy of denying the verecity of him who makes it; but he would suggest that in all cases of this kind, corroboration of statements do not come amiss; for, notwithstanding, it may be true, as he says, there may be those who might call it in question; who might for instance think that 900 was a pretty large number for the Auburn State Prison to hold, to say nothing of what they miget say in regard to its being big enough to hold 16 'preachers of endless misery.' They might further say that it was large enough to hold some that did not preach that doctrine, about which the author of the reply has made a statement foreign to the article he replies to 'Veritas' saying nothing about it. Points like these as unnecessary as unpleasant to have brought in controversy, may be avoided by corroborating statements. In conclusion of the matter I trust the assurance will be received that 'Veritas' had not in view person or persons but a statement, having bearings that affected, the cherished interests of not a few.

Veritas.

HUDSON WOOL TRADE.—Carefully collected statistics shows the wool sales of the season, in this village, to be 85,042 pounds. One lot of first grade—32,860 pounds, was purchased at an average of 34 cents which equals $11,172,40. 52,182 pounds, at an average of 33 cts., per pound, which equals $17,220,06—making a sum total of $28,392,46.

Quite a sum of money to pay for the one article, but corresponding well with the general trade of this village. P.

Hudson Gazette.

☞ Our friend W. declares that his wife has five falls—"That she is beautiful, dutiful, youthful, plentiful and an armful."

☞ The wife of the president of one of our Universities, in congratulating a friend on the birth of a little girl whom she named Jessie, wrote—'since you have given your husband Jessie, we shall next hear of your 'raising Ned''

☞ A sturdy looking man in Cleveland a short time since, while busily engaged in cowhiding a daddy, who had insulted his daughter, being asked what he was doing, replied:—'Cutting a swell!' and continued his amusement without further interruption.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH July 15, 1858.

Wheat	70a75
Flour	4 00a4 50
Buckwheat	35
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	25
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	33a60
Potatoes new	75
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	75
do dried	5a6
Butter	10
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00a5 00
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	07
Sheep pelts	40a60
Salt, fine	1 87
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$2@4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

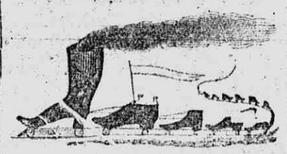
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	6 00 "
Arrive at "			12 25 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at "	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 36 "
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at "			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at "			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	2 30 "
Arrive at "	7 30	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elk Lart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad: at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads: at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Ilton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PIECES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order. equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th 1857.

Miscellaneous.

GRAND Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saut Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit

CLEVELAND At 8 O'clock P. M.		DETROIT, At 10 o'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th		Friday	July 16th
Monday, "	12th	Tuesday,	20th
Thursday "	29th	Friday "	30th
Monday, Aug.	9th	Tuesday,	Aug. 10th
Thursday "	19th	Friday,	" 20th
Monday, "	30th	Tuesday "	" 31st
Thursday, Sep	9th	Friday,	Sept. 10th
Monday "	20th	Tuesday,	" 21st
Thursday "	30th	Friday,	Oct 1st
Monday Oct	11th	Tuesday,	" 12th
Thursday "	21st	Friday,	" 22nd.
Monday Nov.	1st	Tuesday	Nov. 2nd
Thursday "	11th	Friday	" 12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contain the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers; lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior; the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictured Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character.

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Saut Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $44.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio.

or

S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS,

Life and Fire Insurance Agent

TECUMSEH. : : MICHIGAN.

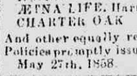
Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " $300,000
HOME STEAD Wredsport, N Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.



FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful, for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL!

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

DR. MCCRUMS

Receipt Book, or

The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,

Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably, he will not smash up, or Run off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon, or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens ornamental, Fire and Military Banners, Decorations &c., Odd furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kin l of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and Plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kibuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's Steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept. 24th. 357tf

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Hollow
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such plies of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes.

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store o

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains.

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Ecetieuls, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds! The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 335tf

Farmers Save Your Money.

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Caefing Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 356tf

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM. SODA WATER. LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the, Half Barrel or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Miss ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE,
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Brocket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRESENT

Worth from 50 Cents, to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years,	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
4 do do	250 00 do
10 do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10 00 to 30 00 do.

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Vest and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40. to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
335 Broadway, New York.

3351

PROSPECTUS OF THE WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED.

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a Paper for the Firesides.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.00 per annum, Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " 18.00 " "
20 " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL.

Cultivate and Improve.

Deterioration in Plants and Animals, is as possible as improvement. Nations, once renowned as the perfection of the human race, by neglect, have sunk back into barbarism.—Egypt was once so learned, that it is recorded, as a striking mark of his greatness, that Moses 'was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians.'—Egypt is now a semi-barbarous province of Turkey, so poor that none do her reverence. The Bedouin robber makes his haunts where was once the Alexandrian School, from which has come much of our civilization and science. Tyre, celebrated in Holy Writ, for her knowledge in the arts and Navigation, has lost her designation as 'Queen of the Sea,' and scarcely a vestige of her greatness, her art, or her power, remains.

We might extend our illustrations of the truth of our position, at the expense of our pride of human progress, but these are sufficient.

The best breed of animals extant, turned into the wilderness, will soon loose their distinctive qualities, and assimilate to the original wild stock. But a few generations are required to change the Berkshire, or China, into the long-nosed, flap eared wild hog, from which all our varieties have sprung.

So with our fruit. Let the best variety of apple known, grow up in a hedge, or in the woods, and, in a short time, the descendants will be no better than crabs.

We may follow this law of deterioration through the whole vegetable and animal creation, and we shall find it unerring—what is not progressing is retrograding. Every Farmer, then, may make up his mind, that unless, by his efforts, properly directed, in taxing Nature, he is improving his stock, and other products, they will deteriorate in his keeping. If we eat our best earliest grain, generation after generation, or sell it because the immediate profit is greater, the rich wheat kernel will soon become a shriveled concern, as unlike its ancester as a crab is to a pippin

By cultivation, all our choice varieties of apples have been produced from the wild crab of Asia—by neglect, they will return to that again. Our best varieties of peach have been by cultivation, produced from a fruit of Persia, that possessed, in its whole mass, the poisonous property that is now in the seed; and a person eating some of the rich, pulpy varieties of pears, can hardly imagine that it is a descendant of what Pliny described, eighteen hundred years ago, when he said, 'all pears whatsoever, are but heavy meat, unless they be well boiled or baked.'

While such has been the progress forward, of many of the fruits, others have greatly deteriorated, or progressed backward. Not long since, some wheat kernels were found in the coffin of one of the Gallic kings, who had been buried 1400 years. The wheat in its botanical character, is identical with the wheat of the present day; and yet, on being planted, it produced from 16 to 20 stalks to each grain; and had an average of 20 more grains to the stalk, and each grain heavier than our common wheat.

This shows that wheat culture has dwarfed the crop in the last fourteen centuries, so as to almost make the plant a different species; and every year's cropping is making it less, and less likely that we shall keep even the present deteriorated article good without constant care and skill in the use of fertilizers, and in the selection of seed.

The descendants of Vegetables, as well as of Animals, are the representatives of their ancestors. If consumption, scrofula, or other disease exist in the parent, it will appear in the children; though it may sometimes pass over a single generation, it is sure to appear in the next. It is so with the vegetables: sow peas, full of bugs, and you will get buggy peas; sow wheat, full of weevil and smut; sow shriveled and late ripened wheat, and it will require a miracle to produce a good crop.

Let every farmer then conscientiously resolve never to allow a good article to deteriorate on his hands; but, by taxing the forces of nature, to improve whatevar is entrusted to his care. Let him resolve, not only to compel the earth to yield her increase in abundance, but that the abundance shall be improved in quality.—Ohio Farmer.

See our advertisements.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 3d, 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Reuben Snyder, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 200 and 201, October 12th, 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M.; and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the lands in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end to Nathan Chevrier, will be sold at public auction on the 21st day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, JACOB CHEEVER, Jr.,
Attorneys Mortgagee.
April 16th, 1858. 358w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266 267 and 268 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid. One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section three in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold at the Circuit Court Room in Old Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 358t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E. Merritt to William H. Merrill, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee Michigan on the 19th day of May A. D. 1853 in Liber [illegible] of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st 1858. 328w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in Liber W of Mortgages on folios 397 and 398, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by said John C. Woodruff to Alden B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber [illegible] of Mortgages on folio 736 upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain lots or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD,
Dated June 15th 1858 Assignee.

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and License from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 8th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed viz. All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan and described as follows to wit: The North East Quarter of the North West Quarter of Section number Three [3] in Township number Nine [9] south of range number Five [5] East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale.

BENJAMIN DEMUTH,
Tecumseh June 10th, 1858. Administrator.

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Twenty ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Ferando C. Beaman Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoyt, deceased

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified, of Emeline A. Hoyt widow of the deceased praying that letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pomroy or some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the twenty-sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, be and is hereby assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy).
n398w4.

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858. I did on the 26th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as the East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jons McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th 1858 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858. I did on the 26th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H. Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 10th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein, I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th 1858 399w6

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO
F. S. CABOT & CO.,
BUYERS, 55 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis, to whom he could send for the transaction of some ridiculous or the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can not BUT BUY than any single purchaser can. In fact we say to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that.

We also have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO
Wm G Lambert, of L & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot Philadelphia.
G. Esty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Brimfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated July 5th, 1858 399w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858 399w6

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept. 17th, 857tf

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.
80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " Barton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.
Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n348ly HENRY LANCASTER

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band,
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON	D. D. MARSHALL
DE LOS LEBARON	WALLACE GRAY
D. L. SIMMES	JEROME ALLEN
J. A. BEARS	ALFRED JAMES
O. G. ADAMS	GEO. STAFFORD

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858 391y

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST,

Rooms open from 9 a. m until 4 p. m. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south west of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 13th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Hulin' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the SHORTEST notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY.
One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.
Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appotheary's Hall, Up Stairs.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

BY
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
(P. O. General Stage Office

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378n3.

Consumption, Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writings on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of conseiling may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Dr. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, NY

May, 1858.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

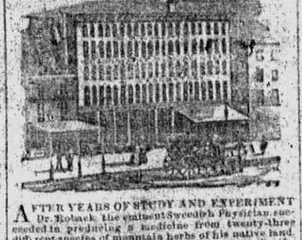
I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY
Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system, wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, sinking weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, leucorrhœa and debility diarrhœa, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the watery vitals or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid; it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's Famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

FORT, Miami Co. Ind., Aug 4 1857

Dr. C. W. Roback,—I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all feelings, dyspepsia or indigestion, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dyspepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel, Indianapolis Oct 5 1857

Dr. C. W. Roback—Dear Sir—I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind favors.

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville June 1 1857

DEAR DOCTOR:—Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Card & Co. so I can get them to my trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I have taken as many as six (6) of ——'s and other makers sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect. But I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Cincinnati Friday Sept 4 1857

Dr Roback—Dear Sir—Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and not receiving relief from the many remedies recommended by Physicians with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had exhausted other medicines of the kind. After using two bottles I was entirely cured, and upon using two more I found myself perfectly cured. You will please use this notice as you may see proper, as I am willing to recommend it to my friends and the public which is knowing of its merits, as the only sure remedy for the diseases of the human family.

Yours, &c. CHARLES S. BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

Dr. C. W. Roback, Dear Sir:—Having been afflicted for several years with severe chronic rheumatism, and having used a number of remedies without relief, and finding none of them to be of any benefit to me, I was induced by a friend to try your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills, and have now the pleasure of informing you that after using two bottles of the Purifier and three boxes of Pills I am entirely cured. I have also been troubled with Dyspepsia for the past twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to the occasion. So valuable is your medicine to me that I cannot say enough of it. I am an advanced agent of the celebrated Singer Sewing Machine, and have sold over seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Call one of my Family Medical Almanacs, gratis from my agents.

Principal Office, No. 6 and Office, No. 8 East Fourth street 3d building from Main street, in O. Lorado by GUNIO TAYLOR Tecumseh

In BRONSON Adrian, R. BROWNELL Hudson, and by HAWKINS Medina, F. N. BUTLER Monroe. And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858. 376w3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases, by quacks, several years ago directed their consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment DR. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
EZRA D. H. CAREWELL, President.
390y

SPRING EDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOM PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility, injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

See Advertisement.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

New Advertisements.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the Blood.

This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR,
New York.

To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is generally sufficient, and the very worst will yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m1

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS
OF THE
United States Journal Publishing House,

ENCOURAGED by the Unprecedented Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of 13 the largest and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a selection of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, so that every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail:

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60	90
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50	60
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	5	08
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2	06
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8	00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2	50

Tecumseh Herald.

C. S. & C. K. SPAFFORD, PUBLISHERS. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. OFFICE—BIDWELL'S BLOCK.

VOL. 8. NO. 37. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, JULY 29, 1858. WHOLE NO. 402

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wm. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

S. BILLS. H. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

M. G. CHEEVER W. E. CHEEVER.
H. M. & W. B. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
340y TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Ridgeway, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 304

CRACKERS.
Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

CLEAR THE WAY.

Men of thought! be up, and stirring night and day
Sow the seed—withdraw the curtain—clear the way!
Men of action, aid and cheer them, as ye may!
There's a fount about to stream,
There's a light about to beam,
There's a warmth about to glow,
There's a flower about to blow;
There's a midnight blackness changing into gray.
Men of thought and men of action, clear the way!

Once the welcome light has broken, who shall say
What the unimagined glories of the day!
What the evil that shall perish in its ray!
Aid the dawning, tongue and pen;
Aid it, hopes of honest men;
Aid it, paper; aid it, type;
Aid it, for the hour is ripe,
And our earnest must not slacken into play.
Men of thought and men of action, clear the way!

Lo! a cloud's about to vanish from the day;
And a brazen wrong to crumble into clay
Lo! the right's about to conquer! clear the way!
With the right shall many more
Enter smiling at the door;
With the giant wrong shall fall
Many others, great and small,
That for ages long have held us for their prey.
Men of thought and men of action, clear the way!

CHARLES MACKAY.

Agricultural College.

At a meeting of the students of the Agricultural College of Michigan, held July 9th, 1858, and consisting of their whole number, except eight or ten who were necessarily absent, the following measures were taken in reference to various articles which have appeared in the public press:

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Hastings. On motion, Mr Prentiss was appointed Chairman, and W. W. Preston, Secretary. The object of the meeting being stated, on motion Messrs. Abbott, Chatterton, Hastings Thruston, Osband and Powers were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressing the sentiment of the meeting. After a short session the committee reported the following which were adopted without a dissenting voice:

Whereas, We are represented as being dissatisfied and discontented, as being divided into factions, as having arrayed ourselves in opposition to the Institution, and as having held meetings for the purpose of censuring those who are closely connected with its management: therefore

Resolved, That we depreciate the publication in various papers of articles which are calculated to deceive the public in regard to the Agricultural College.

Resolved, That the attacks upon the Executive Officer, in the public press, and statements representing us as having passed resolutions censuring him or any persons connected with the Institution, are unjustifiably false.

Resolved, That in our opinion the Executive Officer and entire Faculty are most faithfully devoted to the highest interests of the Institution, and that they are eminently qualified for the duties which devolve upon them.

Resolved, That the statements in regard to our board are untrue, and that we believe our tables have been and are as well supplied as those of any Boarding Hall connected with any Institution of Learning in the country.

Resolved, That the educational advantages that we enjoy are perfectly adapted to our wants.

Resolved, That the College is worthy the support of every friend of education, and is a practical demonstration of the great principle which it embodies, the union of mental and manual labor.

On motion, Messrs. Hastings Monroe and Myers were appointed a committee to request publication of these proceedings in the Advertiser and Free Prec, of Detroit; the Democrat and Republican, of Lansing; also in such other papers as they may deem necessary.

On motion the meeting adjourned sine die.

A. N. Prentiss, Chairman.
W. W. Areston, Secretary.

☞ The Cincinnati Commercial furnishes the following directions to gentlemen in search of the typhoid fever: 'Take a seat with fifty-nine and a half of human bipeds in a railroad car, which the managers of the rood have carefully and judiciously closed against the admission of fresh or the escape of foul air, ride a few miles, and symptoms of the disease will soon manifest themselves by a burning head, freezing feet, aching bones, and disordered stomach. If you escape the disease under this treatment, it's no use for you to hope to get it.'

The World's Opinion.

If there be an influence to which we pay more respect, and live more in awe of than another, it is 'the world's opinion.'

But let us ask, wherefore need this dictate all our actions, sanction our every movement, and assume complete control over all that we may do? Every man is endowed with a mind of greater or lesser calibre; and in the exercise of his reason, if he waits ere he submits to the world the secret workings of his mind; in order that he may contemplate to his full satisfaction the manner in which it will receive his inspirations, the inspirations will have lost much of their beauty; their force will, in a great measure, have departed; their strength and bloom, whereby the world might have received some glorious benefit, will have partiatlly decayed; and the man will disapper, even in his own estimation, as one who beholds some golden opportunity for success in life vanish, whilst hesitating in his course to consider the propriety of grasping it!

Every true genius has realized the hour of inspiration, and felt the throbbing of mighty conceptions—conceptions at which the world would have been dazzled,—would have wondered at their beauty and brilliancy of design. But while contemplating, or rather endeavoring to prophecy what the opinion of the world might be concerning those inspirations, and faltering for fear it would be one of condemnation; the brain has ceased to throb with their pulsation; their life has silently passed away, and the man has only to mourn his own weakness—not to censure the mystery that lies enshrouded in the opinion of the world.

But why is this? Why does this 'opinion of the word' inspire such fear in our bosom? Is it such a monster that none dare count its praise or censure? Dare we reiterate, and herein lies the whole mystery! If we do not appear to the world in some form or manner, how are we to judge of its cast, whether it be favorable or censurious? There is altogether too much illusion in cherishing this spirit of cowardice!—a spirit that dare not face the world or co-equat with it. We stand in awe of an imaginary evil, and fearfully tremble lest our very thoughts ere they are barely uttered!

It is a most lamentable sight! To behold one who, we are well aware posesses the endowments of true genius, lack that inestimable trait—moral courage! Devoid of the bravery to place before the gaze of the public the inspiration of his soul, soly for fear that the world may not appreciate, and in its condemnation whither all his hopes! Rather than suffer the disgrace of having his ideas censured by that world—with the greatest imbecility of purpose, he complacently hears his ideas censured by that world—with the greatest imbecility of purpose, he complacently hears his very soul cry aloud with the burthen of brilliant thought, and obtain no relief, ceases its prayer, and sinks into a state of inaction!—watches the bright flashes of his genius pale and die away!

We all, apparently, seem to feel that if we only gain the applause of the world—as hollow-hearted as it is, no greater joy is ours! And on the other hand, if we are so unfortunate as to incur its disapproval, we could not be covered with a more damning disgrace! Oh how wrong is all this reasoning? If we are conscious of being blessed bountifully with the divine gifts of the Creator, what matters it whether we obtain the world's approval or disapproval? Neither can affect our inherent worth.

Because the opinion of the world has been passed upon our efforts, does it follow that the inspiration is altered? Not a whit. It has only received its market value! The effort, be it what it may, remains unchanged, and often those efforts of the greatest intrinsic value receive the lowest market price! Yet, it is a cheering consolation to know that, if it really possess a germ of beauty, the hour will arrive when its true worth will be joyfully proclaimed. Posterity is certainly an impartial critic!

If we are to allow, though, the 'opinion of the world,' to claim any commands over us, it should be only in one way, and that is, that if our efforts to obtain a truly great name in whatsoever sphere we may choose, are depreciated and despised, it should at once act as a powerful incentive to renewed efforts; to herculean tasks, and if we persevere, the very world that did censure and condemn, will be compelled to stand amazed at our grand achievements! And, where before it was so ready to disapprove, it will exalt and applaud to the utmost! This, then, at once proves its fickleness! For true inspiration ever the same did not gain its plaudits in the past; and now, while we are placed upon the very pinnacle we had desired to obtain, it acknowledges, not so much the beauty and inspiration of our genius, as the stupenduous energy and fortitude displayed; or perhaps better, the mechanical power employed in surmounting every obstacle, and daring it to impede us in our attempts to gain the height of our ambition, and worship at the shrine of our own choosing!

The world loves to be dazzled by glory! To have its gaze enchained, its soul transfixed by brilliant achievements; and, no matter what the medium may be through which such achievements are accomplished, or how unworty their designs may be hereafter, they are exalted, praised and fawned upon!

Thus unworthy men, and mere pretenders, by some sudden and momentary disply of grandeur, are often placed above their fellow-men, and proclaimed rulers of the people! Thus too, do we have corrupt monarchs and licentious rulers! Thus is pretension exalted, while truth is debased!

All things in this world are of a changeable nature; and nothing partakes so largely of this characteristic as 'the world's opinion.' What reliance, then, can we place upon it? or why should we regard an instrument fickle in its character; of a complexion as changeable as the winds; as a maker or unmaker of fortunes; a ruler over the actions of men, and a medium invested with power, to fondle or crush the inspirations of genius at pleasure? There is no reason extant that this should be; yet we regard it with as strange an admixture of awe and veneration as we would something supernatural!

This 'opinion of the world' is not so great an object of fear after all. It is only through our great dread of it that it acquires its false power and becomes notorious. Would we only pursue our ends through life, actuated by the purest motives and inspired by the holiest sentiments, regardless of the world's approval or censure; this great bug-bear, if we may so term it, would entirely vanish!

We are not more habituated to the lack of courage to place before the world the labors of our minds, than we are to the imbecility shown in bow-yielding up to the keeping of that few the freedom of our souls! Can anything be more pitiathan to behold a man—the handiwork of a great creator, men, for the want of a little energy and honest courage of spirit, surrender calmly to the cold-hearted and merciless criticisms of the world, without an effort to nurture into a full grown and active life the yet youthful, buoyant inspirations and exuberant outgushings of the soul! Let us cast off the false impressions which now envelope us, for they make us craven hearted; besides preventing our accomplishing the true purposes, or working out the noble ends for which we were created!

This world is a chequered one, and all of us have or must experience its vicissitudes. Every one of us must fight our individual battles, relying upon our individual strength to avoid all its quicksands If, then, this individuality is the motive power of our progress, why will we sacrifice it to a scanty few, who in their self-conceit proclaim themselves the critics of all human advancement? Why will we succomb to a power that lends no aid while we encounter the trying situation of life, but only awaits the moment of our debut to pass its most anguish opinion? In doing this, we at once relinquish all claim to manliness, and crouch before this false critic as a dog before its master! No one has ever yet succeeded in life by being wafted about on the waves of popular opinion. They may have been prosperous for a while, by bowing to the world's condemnation, or rejoicing in its phraise; but, not through life, for the very world that petted them becomes disgusted at their imbecility of purpose, and total lack of all manly character; and hence, of a necessity, they sink into obscurity!

None of the truly great men that we have known ever courted or moved in dread of the 'world's opinion,' as to their actions and determinations to grasp an immortal name Did they falter and hesitate for fear of incurring scorn, censure and abufe? Ah, no; they closed their ears to all this, and listened only to the sweet whisperings of their own souls If we may cite our example, no worthier one to illustrate our reasoning, can be found, than Byron. Can it be supposed that he cared very much for the 'world's opinion,' when the efforts of his youthful muse pronounced trash, and even his older productions lacking the fire of true genius? Bowed he beneath all their criticisms, acknowledging their truth and justice? No! Nerving himself, as a giant conscious of his strength and feeling the fire of true inspiration consuming his very soul, he hurled into the midst of those who denounced him as a pretender, that which has made his name immortal!

If he had feared to place before the world the laborings of his muse, for fear of their being condemned; or, having dared to give them publicity and receiving that condemnation, had he acknowledged its justice, and thenceforth have allowed his inspirations to flash through his brain without endeavoring to grasp them—instead of ranking as he now does, as one of the first English poets, his name would have been plunged into obscurity! His Childe Harold would never have been written!

Let us convince ourselves, then, that it is not in the power of the world to rule our happiness in life; but that the real secret or power lies in the strength and courage of our own souls, and we shall soon become true men—true to others as well as ourselves; and soon, ah! very soon, cease to stand in awe of what is regarded as 'the world's opinion!'

GEORGE W. F.

Big Trees in California.

The Big Tree forest, says the Bulletin, a paper printed on the stump of the 'big tree, is situated in a small valley surrounded by spurs of the Sierra Nevada, at the source of one of the tributaries of the Calaveras river, 15 miles from Murphy's 25 from Mokelumne Hill, 80 from Stockson, 80 from Sacramento, 30 from Columbia, and 24 from Sonora.

The grove and its immense trees were discovered early in 1850, by hunters, whose accounts were considered fabulous until confirmed by actual measurement.

A. T. Dowd, our present interpid expressman to Carson Valley, was among the first discoverers: he was at that time employed in hunting game for the workman of the Union Canal Company's works, which were in course of construction.

Mr. Dowd had wounded a grizzly, and followed him until he passed between the two 'guardsmen,' (two trees that guard the entrance of the grove.) The immense size and height of these trees so surprised him that he lost sight of the grizzly, who made his escape into the dense undergrowth. After stepping the distance around the bases of the tree, he cast his eyes in a northerly direction and saw one yet larger, at whose base he stepped, and found it to be near one hundred feet in circumference. Having lost sight of the tracks of his grizzly he returned to camp, when he related to his companions his discovery of the big tree. They listened to his story with marked attention, until the conclusion, when they all, in one voice exclaimed, 'that's a hunter's yarn—got a good thing on old Dowd now.' One, more knowing than the balance, placed his thumb on his proboscis, and with a gentle and graceful twirl of the fingers, intimated that 'you can't come it over me with your timber yarn; I'm to old in the Mississippi bottoms to believe any such a story as that.'

Dowd being rather sensitive, and not wishing his word doubted, said no more about his big trees for six moths, when another party chanced to wander into the grove, and corroborated all of Dowd's statements.

The valley in which these trees are found contains about one hundred and sixty acres of the sea.

Over one hundred trees of this species are now standing, and are found within an an area of about sixty acres of the valley. According to botanists, they belong to the family of Taxodiums, and have been justly named Washingtonian Gigantea and are, beyond doubt, the most stupendous vegetable product upon earth—The soil in the grove is rich alluvial, very deep and loose. The growth of the forest is the Washington gigantea, balsam fir, sugar pine, yellow pine, dogwood, hazel, and a luxurious and dense underbrush, strawberries, raspberries, and currants in great abundance, also, a rare plant, which for richness of color surpasses anything in the mountains. By some it is called the ice-plant; its botanical name has not as yet been given it

Mr. Roney, of Coulterville, informs the Mariposa Gazette that a grove of big trees was discovered the past week by a party of hunters from Garote, near Deer Flat, within one mile of the Coulterville and Yo.Semite trail. About forty trees were counted—the largest of which is said to be thirty-six feet in diameter. This measurement is probably something of an exaggeration, but we are assured that they are very large, and, from their proximity to the Coulterville trial, will be much visited.

RESTING.

BY JENNY MARSH PARKER.

My heart is asleep; I am thinking
And dreaming the sweetest of dreams;
The fever and turmoil are ended,
Forever and ever, it seems.

'Up and do!' says my fainting ambition;
But my idle hands lift not at all—
I hear but the voices that charm me—
The music that holds me in thrall—

The drowsey hum in the lilacs,
The singing birds in the trees,
The muttering brook in the valley,
The worrying humble-bees;—

The plowman's shout, and the whistle
Of the idle boy hoeing the corn,
Who, foi whistling and singing quaint ballads
But little has done since the morn.

Oh! this sweet quiet air of the summer,
With its fragrance so soothing and pure,
Is a balm for the spirit's distemper,
And sent for its comfort and cure.

So silly heart break not your dreaming,
Nor let a care trouble your sleep—
Why make this poor life a long labor,
And never a holiday keep?

A SAD FATE AND A LESSON.—Charles Latcha, the unhappy young man, who recently committed suicide at the free love institution on Berlin Heights, Ohio, left a farewell letter addressed to his associates, in which the misery of a misguided soul lost on a sea of error and delusion and self-bereft of tee guidance and hope of religion, is graphically and painfully set forth. He says:

"When I was miserably existing in the world, and looking to Berlin, I tho't, in Berlin I will be happy; there I will find 'brave and loving, and free men and women, and I will be happy.' And I have found the Berlin Socialists as brave and free as I expected, but I have discovered that no earthly, outside condition can make me happy. I exiled myself from the world, to save myself; but I cannot be saved!—and now, at last, I leap into oblivion! And here I unite my protest against and utter my curse upon marriage! And I curse religion! And I curse 'God,' the Father Monster! Most of you will only think of me as having 'passed on' to a happier sphere; but I see no existence beyond, and think I know what death will be to me; and I welcome 'the great fate of silence' which the universe has in store for its abnormal child! I die—as I have lived—alone! Farewell."

ILLINOIS PENITENTIARY STATISTICS.—The Galesburg (Ill.) Free Democrat says there were on the 11th of July, in the Illinois prison 608 convicts—514 at Alton, and 94 at Joliet, where they are employed by the Warden and Contractors in building the new Penitentiary. The number of female convicts is 9 only.

The health of the prisoners is usually good. Only two deaths by disease have occurred in the last seven months. During a part of the time the hospital has been entirely unoccupied, and at no time has it contained more than eight patients under treatment at once.

The new prison is approaching completion rapidly. During the summer the female department will be finished, and be temporarily occupied by the male prisoners employed in the construction of other portions of the immense building.—The crowded state of the Alton prison renders it very important that the new structure should be completed without delay—514 convicts now being crowded into space originally intended for only 312.

A SINGULAR CHARITY.—The N. Y. Daily News states that William B. Astor has determined to build three large steamships, so constructed that they can be for coumercial or naval purposes. The object that Mr. Astor has in view, is to give work to several thousand suffering mechanics and laborers at present out of employment. When the vessels are completed, he will offer them for sale to the United States government, and in case that it should decline, to the European powers. Any surplus that may remain after payment of the cost of construction and a reasonoble interest, Mr. Astor intends to divide among the workmen.—The cost will be about $2,000,000.

☞ "It is very dificult to live" said a widow with seven girls, all in genteel poverty.

"You must husband your time," said a sage friend.

"I'd rather husband some of my daughters," said the poor lady.

☞ An attorney before a bench of magistrates, a short time ago, told the bench, with great gravity, that "he had two witnesses in court in behalf of his client, and they would be sure to speak the truth, for he had had no opportunity to communicate with them!"

Keep the Staff in Your Own Hands.

There was living at Harlem, an old man who related the following remarkable story of himself. He was possessed of a good farm, with servants and everything necessary for his business, and had but one child, a son who, having married, it was agreed that the young couple should live in the house with the parent, as he was a widower. Things wen exceedingly well for some time, when the son proposed to the parent that he should make over to him his estate, promising to build a new house and otherwise improve the farm. The father, through persuasion, gave him a deed or gift of it, and everything belonging to it.

After a few years, as the father grew old, he grew a little fretful and dissatisfied, while the son thinking that he had nothing more to expect from him, forgot his filial duty, and used his father worse than he did his servants. The old man was no longer permitted to eat at the table with his son and wife, but compelled to take his meals in the chimney corner, and be continually otherwise ill used by them. The old man ate his victuals daily from a wooden bowl, which his son made for him. His grand-son saw his father make this bowl, and set about making just such another.

Being asked by his father what he made it for he answered, 'for you to eat out of when you grow as old as grandfather.'

Although this ought to have turned his heart, and made him reflect that as he dealt by his father, he might expect to be dealt with by his children when he grew old, still it had no effect upon him and the ill usage was carried to such an extent that the old man could no longer bear it, but left the house and went to a relation and neighbor of his, declaring that if his friend could not help him to get his farm back again, he should be obliged to come and live with him.

His friend answered that he might come and live with him, and, if he would follow his directions, he would help him to get his estate again. 'Take this bag of dollars, carry it into your room, at your son's, shut it up well in your chest, and about the time youexpect they will call you down to dinner, shut your door and have all your dollars spread on a table in the middle of the room. When they call you make a noise with them, by sweeping them into the bag.'

The bait took completely. The wife had peeped through the key hole, and saw the dollars spread out on the table and told it to her husband. When the old man came down they insisted on his sitting at the table with them, and treated him with uncommon respect.

The old man related to his friend what he had done, who gave him directions what to do if his son asked him for the money.

After a few days, the son discovered the old man very busily engaged in counting out his money, and at the next meal time asked what money it was that he had been counting.

'Only some money I had received for the discharge of one of the bonds I had standing out. I expect more in a few days, and I fear I shall be obliged to take Mr N——'s farm, upon which I have a mortgage, as he is not able to raise the money, and if the farm is sold it will not fetch as much as will discharge the mortgage.'

After a few days the son told the father he intended to build a house on the farm, and would be glad if the father would let him have the money.

'Yes, child, all that I have is coming to you. I intend giving you the bonds and mortgages I have, but then I think it will be best to have it put altogether in a new deed of gift. I will get neighbor L—— to call here and get a new one.'

Accordingly his friend and cousin, who had devised the scheme, came to the house, when the son gave the old deed, that another might be drawn from it.—When the old man had got the instrument in his hand, in the presence of this friend, he broke off the seal, and committed the writing to the fire, saying:

'Burn! cursed instrument of my folly and my misery!—and you, my dutiful children, as this estate is all my own again, you must remove immediately, unless you be content to be my tenants. I have learned, by sad experience, that it is best for a parent to hold the loaf under his own arm—and that one father can better maintain ten children, than ten children can one father.'

☞ Prussia is the largest exporter of wheat to England, next Russia, and third the United States.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

SABBATH SUNLIGHT.

The holy Sabbath sunlight,
Gilds the early morning sky;
And o'er the banks of darkness
Clouds of rosy flushes lie,
Earth wears the gorgeous mantle
Of Beauty jeweled with dew,
Time's creative hand hath woven
Long centuries ago.

The holy Sabbath sunlight,
How it floods with golden glow—
Forest, aisle and grove and mountain,
Hillside, glen and valley low;
Painting rainbows on the tears—
Night has swept o'er sweeping flowers,
And begemmed the far off years
Of creation's infant hours.

The holy Sabbath sunlight,
How lovingly it falls—
On lofty dome and minaret;
And lowly cottage walls,
Hung from a heavenly fountain,
Sparkling on the grassy sod—
Like a world of jewels shaken
From the diadem of God.

Oh, the holy Sabbath sunlight,
It sprinkles over all—
A baptism of peacefulness,
A gentle spirit's thrall!
And like the smile that lingers
To light the spirit home—
It sheds a radiant blessing
Upon to-morrow's sun

H. H. S.

A New Yearly Festival.

The Toledo Blade, says, we propose that on the tenth of next September, the citizens of all the region round about the Lakes, and as many more as shall see fit to join them make a pilgrimage to this consecrated spot. Let steamers sail from Detroit, Toledo, Sandusky, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo and other ports, freighted with passengers from their respective localities, to meet in the waters of Put-in-Bay. Let the people thus brought together mingle upon the beautiful islands, and as the hours pass pleasantly away in social intercourse, renew their vows to maintain the principles of universal liberty, and in each succeeding year let this day be remembered and celebrated in an appropriate manner by all our people.—Let them on that day lay aside the toils of labor, and devote themselves to enjoyment, and to cherishing patriotic recollections. Perry's Victory is truly an event worthy of commemoration.

What say our brethren of the Lake Shore Press?

We support the above movement cordially. Charter a good boat and send the programme Mr. Blade.

A Mormon Atrocity.—Another of those black-hearted, fiendish and atrocious deeds which cry aloud to heaven for vengence upon the perpetrators, has been given to it among the Mormor people, reached us. The fourth wife of a man living in the vicinity of Sals Lake City, whose name for the present I shall suppress—a young, amiable, refined woman, beloved by all who knew her, somewhat superior to the common mass, from the influence of early education—became impartinent and heart sickened at the abject state of misery so rapidly gnawing the very cords of her soul, and determined if possible to make an effort to reach the camp of the army. Her husband got some hint of it, and immediately mounted his horse, rode to Bingham's office, and asked of Brother Bingham what he shod do with her. Bingham told him to cut her throat, and thus save her from eternal damnation. The brute went home, and told the poor woman to prepare to die.—She, seeing the earnestness of his manner fell at his feet, begging, praying and imploring him to mercy; but he, while she was thus kneeling before him, took her by the hair, and cut her throat from ear to ear. This example was afterwards held up to the Mormon women in ward meetings as a warning to them.—[Tribune.

Regatta.—The Sandusky Register is informed that a prize regatta, to come off the last day of the State Fair is on the tapis. The project is in active hands, and will assuredly be well managed. The regatta will be regulated by the same code of rules observed at the late New Haven regatta. Two liberal prizes will be offered,—the first of about $150, and the second of about $75. An invitation will be extended to yachts belonging at all the ports of the Lake to compete for the prizes.

Wool in Great Britain.—The annual produce of wool in England and Wales is estimated at about 120,000,000 lbs. and the export of raw wool, about 30,000,000 lbs. The consumption in England is about 230,000,000 lbs.—Each inhabitant is said to consume annually the produce of 6 9-10 lbs. of wool.

☞ In Kansas, two weeks ago, Miss Irene Baker, a girl seventeen, married a man of seventy-five, from admiration of one of his political speeches. Thus is a common speech verified—"politics makes bed-fellows."

Santa Anna.—The Washington correspondence of the N. Y. Times says, that as soon as Santa Anna was restored to power in St. Domingo, our Government took the initiatory steps towards securing a foothold in that island which may lead to the establishment of a permanent government by the whites.

THE HERALD.

E. L. Baxter, ... Editor.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1858.

Cuba and Mexico.

The "manifest destiny" doctrine, some years since announced by General Cass, seems to be fast passing into history. There are many who have all along looked with apprehension and distrust upon the strong thirst and determination for the acquisition of increased territory on the part of the government. What the effect of such acquisition will be upon the integrity and prosperity of our common country is not even now by any means manifest, but whatever it is to be, it is we think certain that we must prepare to meet it and to abide by it.

Mexico continues involved in anarchy and confusion and hopelessly helpless herself seems, in the name of humanity and self protection to demand our aid. In whatever shape that shall be afforded, the result will be, that in the end, either by conquest or alliance, she will become incorporated into the Union. And could this nation learn at length to abandon its mad crusade for the perpetuity of human slavery, we do not know that it would be either true patriotism, or true philanthropy to regret or retard this result.

Cuba too, about which so much has been said and written, and with regard to which so much foreign interference has been invoked and promised, is becoming fast abandoned to her impending fate.—The London Times the great lawgiver of the English press, and not unfrequently of the English Parliament, is even now advocating her incorporation into this Union. The reasons for this assumed by the Times are two fold.

It is claimed that it will aid in the suppression of slavery, whereas it is now almost the only obstacle in the way of its suppression—and with the complicity of the Spanish government is likely to continue so. But even though it may be held by the United States as slave-holding territory, it is not believed that the United States will ever consent to renew the slave trade, and thus the only open mart for this nefarious traffic, will be effectually closed.

Another reason given by the Times, why it is desirable that it should thus pass into the hands of the United States is, that under their control its commercial value and importance to England and France and the other commercial nations of Europe and rhe world, would be many fold increased over that which it now holds, and consequently that it is greatly for their interest that this change of proprietorship should occur.

Under these circumstances it is futile to suppose that these nations will be found offering that active opposition to its acquisition by the United States, which was once looked for from them, nor that Spain unsustained by their moral countenance and support, will for a long time continue regardless of interest or convenience adverse to the change.

Reply to Veritas.—We have received from Mr. Gilman a reply to the last communication of Veritas, which we must admit is sufficient "prdof" of the unhappy facts alluded to in a former communication, and called for by Veritas. But after all we do not see that any one can possibly be benefited by an array of these unhappy lapses from the paths of rectitude and virtue, by orthodox or other ministers, or communicants, but would deem it far more conducive to the best interests of society and religion, as by one common consent to cast upon them the mantle of sorrow and regret—while pointing out to others the better and purer way.

With the consent of the writer, therefore, we withhold the communication from publication and must respectfully decline any further discussion of the subject in the columns of the Herald.

☞ Editors, publishers, &c., will please look at an adv. under our local head—We should cheerfully recommend the applicant, and would meantime be referred to upon the matter.

☞ Canada is preparing herself rapidly for annexation to the States. Geo. Brown, the opposition leader in the Canadian Parliament, came near having a fight, on toe floor of the House, a day or two since, with Inspector General Cayley. This is up to the average of a majority of our Congressional rows. Go ahead, gentlemen; if you get along at such a rate, we will soon take you in.

☞ The trial of Reapers and Mowers which took place at Laporte, Ind., last week, resulted as follows: Manney's Reaper with Witt's improvement, took first premium of $30. Aultman & Miller's National Mower, first prize, same am't.; Kirby's combined reaper and mower, first prize, same amount.

☞ A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, writing from Salt Lake City says that there is no money there but Mormon gold.

New York, July 24.

Stephen H. Branch, Editor, and Dan Adee, Printer, of the Alligator, were arrested here for another libel on Mayor Tiemann, and also, for a libel on Simeon Draper.

Washington, July 24.

The U. S. steamer Arctic, from Key West, arrived this morning. All on board are well.

St. Louis, July 26.

Despatches from St. Joseph (22d) per steamer D. A. January, state that advices from Salt Lake City to July 3d have been received. The Mormons had all returned to their cities and homes in different parts of the Territory. Gen. Johnston passed through the city and encamped thirty miles on the other side. No troops were in the city. Government officers were duly installed in various offices, and are preparing for the proper discharge of their duties. Brigham Young was anxious to be tried on charge of treason, but insists that the Jury shall consist of Mormons only.

Leavenworth, July 23.—By steamer to Boonville, Mr. Livingston, an old trader on the plains, arrived last night from Salt Lake City, with dates to June 30. The army had marched from the capital to Cedar Valley, forty miles below.

Brigham Young and the heads of the Mormon church had returned to the city, and the citizens were following en masse. All was quiet in the Valley.

Some returned teamsters are circulating a report of rich gold deposits in the vicinity of St. Vrain's Fort. These statements do not receive full credit in the absence of authentic information.

Leavenworth, K. T. July 23.

By U. S. Express to Boonsville, an express from Gen. Harney's head quarters at Cottonwood Springs, July 14th, brings a copy of a general order issued by Harney, July 12th, on the receipt of the instructions of Gen. Scott for the disposition of the Utah forces.

Gen. Munroe with the 4th artillery and two companies will remain in the district of the Platte.

Col. May is ordered to take post at Ft. Kearney, with 3 companies of Artillery, and one of dragoons.

Two companies of the 1rst cavalry under Maj. Sedgewick, are to repair at once to Fort Riley.

Six companies under the same command, under the same command, under Col. Sumner, will concentrate at Kearney for service on the plains.

Two companies of the same regiment now in Utah are ordered to Ft. Riley.

New York, July 26.

The massacre of Christians at Jeddah attracts much attention throughout Europe and particularly in England. Turkey had promised to avenge the massacre. It is reported that England and France would occupy the place.

Bombay dates of June 19th had been received.

The Calpee Rebels had defeated the Scindian Troops at Gwalior and a large number of the latter had gone over to the enemy. This confirms an account via Calcutta received by the Indian.

A strong British force was preparing to recapture Gwalior.

The Europeans in India were suffering much from the heat of the weather.

A proclamation from Parliament was expected on the 31st of July.

New Orleans, July 26.

There was a fire in Mobile, at midnight, which destroyed the Masonic Hall, Kellop st, Joseph's & Thompson's saloon, Royal st., adjoining the new custom house. Mostly insured.

Cincinnati, July 26.

S. B. W. McLane, late U. S. Surveyor at this port, denies the charge of being a defaulter to the amount of $10,000. It is claimed by him to have been in the hands of a banker to await judicial decision as to whom it belongs.

St. Louis, July 26.

The extensive furniture warehouse of Scarrett & Mason, Washington avenue, between 2d and 3d streets, was burned at 6 a. m yesterday. Lose $80,000. Insured for $55,000. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Masonic Temple.—The Masonic fraternity of Louisville have erected a building that has cost from $130,-150,000.—It has been built almost entirely at the expense of the members of the fraternity.

☞ It is rather melancholy that the two greatest living novelists, Dickens and Bulwer, are separated from their wives. Each of the two seems to be idolized by almost every lady in the world, except the one he interchanged vows with at the altar.—Louisville Journal.

☞ A firm in Boston have 60 sewing machines, operated by steam, at work making hay caps, to be used in hot weather. Our farmers will find these caps essential, in harvest time, when rains set in, as they have this year, just as the grain is ready for cutting.

☞ Judge Cato, of Kansas notoriety, ha resigned the office of U. S. District Judge of that Territory, and has gone in to the practice of law in Missouri.

General News.

St. Louis, July 23.

Leavenworth dispatches of the 20th, per U. S. express to Boonville, say that the expoess which left Ft. Leavenworth on the 2d with instructions for Gen. Harney to stop and await orders from Washington, has returned, having overtaken Gen. Harney 15 miles east of the crossing of Smith Fork, on South Fork of the Plafte, on the 8th instant. The General intended to go to Ash Hollow to meet the principal chiefs and a considerable body of Bheyenne Indians, who being aware of the presence of Gen. Harney in their country, were desirous of holding council with him for the purpose of renewing their assurance of friendship towards the whites.

Capt. Simpson, who was dispatched with orders countermanding the advance, left Ft. Kearney on the 11th, and probably came up with Harney's head quarters on the 16th.

The troops and trains are getting on well, but the latter hade been delayed by high water.

Col. May's column was met on the 9th, near Offalon's Bluff.

Col. Morrison was met above Plum creek on the 10th.

Col. Sumner was encamped near Fort Kearney on the 11th.

Majors Emerys & Whitney's trains were near little Blue on the 13th.

Several parties burned out by the late fire have commenced re-building. Vigorous measures are being taken to organize a fire department. Some of the apparatus arrived this morning. This is the hottest day of the season—mercury rising to 90 at 8 o'clock and 100 at noon in the shade.

Despatches from Independence (19th) per U. S. Express to Boonville, say Santa Fe dates to 1st arrived. All the water sourses on the route were very high.—Great preparations were making at Santa Fe to celebrate the 4th of July. Surveying party on Canadian reports a splennid country and abundance of water, grass, and every way suitable for a railway.—The mail party suffered no molestations from the Indians. Some of the trains which left here in the Spring had arrived at Santa Fe. Those on the Plains were getting along finely.

New York, July 23.

The Cunard Company advertise that the screw steamer Jura would leave Liverpool on the 17th, for New York.

The Great Britain would leave for New York on the 28th.

M. Marcoletti, the representative of the Costa Rican and Nicaraguan States in London and Haris, had presented his credentials to the French government and would be received by the Emperor on his return from Plombiers.

The Chronicle states that the blight had made its appearance among the potatoes in several places in that locality.

The Rev. Dr Sadlier of Trinity College, Dublin, had committed suicide by hanging.

At the quarterly meeting of the Iron Masters of the midland counties of England, which was held at Birmingham, no change was made in the standard rates. Prices, however, were regarded as entirely nominal and business was very dull—Many mills and forges are only partially employed.

It is reported from Madrid that Gen. O'Donnell will dissolve the Cortes in a very short time. It was also stated that he intended to arrange the army in large divisions as in France, and to place eminent Generals at the head of them. A semi-official Spanish journal says that the new ministry is no less decided than the preceding one to demand explanations from England on the subject of the offensive words of Lord Molmsbury on the question of English cruisers. The Cologne Gazette spreads the rumor that the concentration of Russian troops in Poland is to threaten Austria into fulfilling the treaty of 1846, relative to the incorporation of Cracow into the Austrian Monarchy. It is positively denied that Austria has bound herself by the treaty to give assistance to Turkey in case of need.

Washington, July 23.

Despatches from Utah to the 25th of June, received at the War Department to-day, state that orders have been issued that no one should leave the ranks of the army in passing through Salt Lake City except from absolute necessity, and the greatest care was to be taken that the herds do not trespass upon the fields of the citizens. Among the documents received is Gov. Cumming's pardon and peace proclamation to the inhabitants of Utah.

An officer of the army, writing from Washington Territory in relation to Col. Steptoe's defeat, says: "The route eastward and northward of Colville is now virtually blockaded. That no one can cross Snake river, and that it will require a force ten times as large as is now there before peace can be restored."

The Treasurer's weekly statement gives amount on deposit, as follows—$7,348,000, of which $4,660,000 is subject to drafts. The receipts for the week were $1,080,000.

St. Louis, July 23.

The Kansas Herald says: "Gen Calhoun has issued certificates of election to all those elected under the Lecompton Constitution. The Free State members from Leavenworth county receive certificates, which gives that party a majority in both branches of the Legislature. The returns for State officers will be made to the Legislature, in whose hands the whole subject rests." The Herald exhorts the people to vote for the Ordinance and settle the question without further strife or agitation.

Cooperstown, July 23.

The motion to stop by injunction the enforcing of the New York steam ordinance, made by the N. H. R. R, in the U. S. Circuit Court, is now under elaborate argument before Justice Nelson.—The city authorities and the property holders are represented by Messrs Dudley Field, Ex Judge Dean and Oakey Hall. The R. R. counsels are Messrs. Noyes and O'Conner.

New York, July 23.

The steamship Indian Empire for Galway, Ireland, left this afternoon with a fair complement of passengers.

Hunoke, the keeper of the hotel Napoleon and his barkeeper Davis, were held to bail to-day for perjury in the De Reviere case. Mulford the counsel in the same case for whom a warrant is issued has absented himself.

New Orleans, July 22.

Minute guns were fired from sun rise till sundown in honor of Gen. Quitman.

Mansfield, July 24.

At half past 7 o'clock this morning, as J. H. Cook, Proprietor of the Wiler House in this city, was standing in the public room of his house about ten feet from the street door, with his back partly towards it, conversing with Mr. A. J. Bates, a Daguerrean Artist, named Balliett, stepped into the doorway unperceived and discharged a revolver at Mr. Cook, the shot taking effect in the right side just above the hipy making a severe but not dangerous wound. The revolver was snapped twice before Balliett was seized and disarmed, the first cap only exploding. Mr. Balliett is under arrest and will have his examination on Monday next.—Mr. Cook is one of our most respectable anp enterprising citizens. The cause of the outrage is not fully known but is supposed to be some misunderstanding about money matters.

Detroit, July 24.

The 157th anniversary of the founding of Detroit is being celebrated to-day with great spirit. Weather delightful. Procession large and imposing. All the military and fire companies, and civic associations, are fully represented. The Councils of Windsor and Sandwich, and a Chatham fire company, are participating. Orations at Firemen's Hall, in English by C. I. Walker and in French by E. N. Lacroix. The ceremonies will conclude with a grand banquet at the Russell House this evening.

New York, July 24.

The steamship Glasgow, from Glasgow, July 10th, arrived here about half past one o'clock this afternoon. Her dates have been anticipated. The steamship Fulton sailed to-day for Southampton and Havre with 132 passengers and $35,000 in specie. Among her passengers were Hon. Joseph R Chandler, Minister to Naples, and family, and Professor Morse and family.

The Agamemnon and Valorous returned to Queenstown on the 12th. The final break in the Atlantic Cable was just below the stern of the Agamemnon, after 146 miles had been paid out by that vessel. They then returned to the rendezvous in mid ocean and cruised for the Niagara 5 days. On her arrival at Queenstown it was resolved to coal and start for the final attempt on the 17th, there being still 2,500 miles of cable on both vessels.

Albany, July 24.

The baggage and mail car on the down train on the Central Railroad due here at 4 50 a m., was destroyed by fire at St. Johnsville. The fire is supposed to have originated from some combustible article among the baggage. The contents of the car were nearly destroyed, and mails from Buffalo and some intermediate station lost.

Quebec, July 24.

The steamship Indian from Liverpool, with dates of the 14th of July, passed River DuLoupe at 4 o'clock this morning.

The news boat of the N. Y. Associated Press failed to get the despatches. She will probably reach here at an early hour this evening.

Rochester, July 24.

A remonstrance is in circulation in this city against the removal of Mr. Ruggles from the Western Division of the Canal. It is numerously signed by leading citizens of all parties.

Pittsburg, July 24.

George W. Cass resigned the Presidency of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, and J. Edgar Thompson was elected to fill the vacancy.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description. Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

Strayed or Stolen.

From the Subscriber, June 21st, a Large dark Bay Mare, star in the face, white off hind foot, heavy black mane and tail, scar on right flank, 16 hands high, 7 years old.

Also, a Black Colt, 2 years old, small star in her face, small breech near flanks. A liberal reward will be paid for information of the above described horses.

PHILO T MILLS.

Tipton, July 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Firm heretofore exhisting under the name of J. H. Osborne & Co, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due to and by the late firm will be settled by J. W. Osborn.

JOHN OSBORN.
Jas W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, June 14th, 1858.

The late firm would Respectfully tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage extended to them, and the undersigned would solicit a continuance of the same, promising to spare no pains to sustain the reputation which the shop has already earned

June 17, J. W. OSBORN.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Albert Anderson and W. N. Anderson of Tecumseh, under the firm of A. Anderson & Co, expired on the 22d day of March last.

A. Anderson is authorized to settle all debts due to and by said Company. All persons indebted to said firm are requested to call immediately and settle.

A. ANDERSON.
W. N. ANDERSON.

Tecumseh, May 17th 1858.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore exhisting between L. D. Dewey and E. N. Nichols of the town of Tecumseh, under the name and style of L. D. Dewey & Co., is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said Firm, either by Note or Book account, are requested IMMEDIATELY to call at their former place of business and settle the same.

L. D. DEWEY.
E. N. NICHOLS.

Tecumseh, May 24th, 1858. 393

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any [illegible] Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'Six Lectures' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway, New York.

June 1858.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALIÒN and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County. This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept. 17th, 357tf

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM, SODA WATER, LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese,

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH,

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the

GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckett's

The New York Weekly Golden Prize one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

Elegantly Illustrated Every Week.

A PRESENT.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. It is presented as a Memento of Friendship, not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies, one year	5 00 and 3 Presents
Five Copies, one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are contained in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$5 to 50 00 each
5 do do	200 00 "
10 do do	100 00 "
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 "
20 Gold Watches	75 00 "
50 do	60 00 "
100 do	50 00 "
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 "
250 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 "
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00 "
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 "

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Short Bar Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $75 each.

We will present to every person sending 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded with the paper in one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to DEAN & SALTER, Proprietors,

395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in matter, and is now, in the extent and variety of its matter,

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to corrupt the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to provide for readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced are mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES.
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS.
RECENT INVENTIONS.
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &c.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a share of attention. Special pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate reports of the Produce, Grain, Cattle and Stock

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will ever be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any other Weekly Journal feeling assured that it will well worthy the attention of the intelligent as a Good, Interesting, Agricultural and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers, and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum

Invariably in Advance

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum
15 " " "	15.00 "
20 " " "	20.00 "

and one extra copy to the person getting up the club.

Payment is to be made in advance. No papers will be addressed to any individual when the names are sent in, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT FREE TO ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,
George & Charles Spafford,

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$40
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern, Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	2 00	P M.
Macon—Friday	7	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	10	"
	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57 P. M.
Going South.	6 30	"	2 40 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

TWO PRINTERS.—The Advertiser is desirous of obtaining a situation in a newspaper office, such as a foreman or publisher.—Having been connected with the press in various States since 1832, and given all requisite attention of becoming acquainted with the business, he has no doubt of his competency to fill such a post acceptably. He desires to fill a paying and permanent situation, and if desired, would have help enough within his own family to take entire charge of a country paper.—He takes the liberty of referring to publishers of the HERALD, thro' whom he should be glad to hear of an early application. J. C. G.

The firm of G. & C. Spafford is this day dissolved by mutual consent.—All accounts will be settled by Geo. Spafford, who will continue the business as heretofore.

July 20th, 1858.

A Boy Wanted to work in this office. One that has been in an office a year or more prefered.

☞ Our flouring mills are running night and day; the receipts of new wheat are very large; prices range from 75 to 80 cents.

☞ A special train of fourteen cars arrived at the depot to-day at 12 o'clock, noon, having on board the remains of SAM BROWN, late Superintendent of the M. S. & N. I. R. R., under escort of his fellow employees, hook & ladder and fire companies and a large concourse of strangers, headed by the Hudson Band.

☞ Marshall Hyde has nearly completed the work upon the Avenue, it will compare favorably with any street in the State. If Mr. Hyde's health should continue good until fall, we apprehend our village will need fencing.

☞ The Jonesville Independent says, the following are the names of the gentlemen who will probably come before the Republican Congressional Convention for a nomination: H. Waldron, E. B. Fairfield, Hillsdale county; F. C. Beaman, Perley Bills, Lenawee county; J. W. Turner, Branch county.

☞ The Michigan State Teachers' Association meets in Niles on the third Tuesday in August. We learn that arrangements have been made with the Railroad Superintendents to furnish free return passes to those who attend the Association.

Ryan out for the Legislature.

Ryan the great weather prophet and Regulator offers himself to the people of VanBuren county as a candidate for the Legislature. We clip his bulletin from the Paw Paw Northerner:

To the People of VanBuren Co.,

By the will of God in directing my footsteps among you, great things is within your reach. By a single act of your will, the most singular and sublime discovery the world has ever known will be spread broadcast before you. You have seen me establishing strong points which you cannot account for. Raise then your voice one and all, and send me as a Representative to the Legislature next winter. I will present a bill and a single act of the Legislature will carry my theory in triumph before Europe and America.

W. W. RYAN.

The drunkard will never be dead,
I'll tell you the reason why;
The young ones—they'll grow up,
Before the old ones die.

☞ We have beautiful weather.

Mortgage Sale.

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1858, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Thomas M. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d 1858, in liber V of Mortgages, pages 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned the interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 20th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty dollars, and no proceedings having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, viz: All in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number one, in township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less, will be sold at public auction, on the 23d day of October next at one o'clock P. M. after noon, at Odd Fellow's Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIAN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 13, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK, Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON,
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.,
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

B. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMSTOCK,
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse Rail Road Street.
030tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHEUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

F. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. E. S. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

H. M. CHEEVER W. B. CHEEVER
H. M. & W. B. CHEEVER
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office, Rotunda, Griswold & Larned Streets
340tf DETROIT MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON,
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
870tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
891y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

CRACKERS.
A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH July 28, 1858.

Wheat	75@82
Flour	4 00@4 50
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	30
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	1 50@2 00
Potatoes new	75
Onions	0 50
Apples, green	75
do dried	5@5
Butter	10
Tallow	@ 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	08
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00@4 50
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	07
Sheep pelts	40@60
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 @ 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3@4 50
do black ash	1 00 @ 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 36 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at "			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at "	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 35 "
Arrive at "			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at "			12 45 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at "	7 36	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, All bany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at NAWAKA R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads; at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING
At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

Would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH
AT THE NEW
Grocery & Provision Store,
(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.
☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

Grand Pleasure Excursions,

1858. 1858.
LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.
The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,
NORTH STAR,
B. C. SWEET, MASTER,
Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Sant Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND. At 8 O'clock P. M.		DETROIT. At 10 o'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th	Friday	July 9th
Monday, " 19th	Tuesday, "	20th
Thursday " 29th	Friday "	30th
Monday, Aug. 9th	Tuesday, Aug	10th
Thursday " 19th	Friday, "	20th
Monday, " 30th	Tuesday, "	31st
Thursday, Sep 9th	Friday, Sept.	10th
Monday " 20th	Tuesday, "	21st
Thursday " 30th	Friday, Oct	1st
Monday, Oct 11th	Tuesday, "	12th
Thursday " 21st	Friday "	22nd
Monday, Nov. 1st	Tuesday Nov	2nd
Thursday " 11th	Friday "	12th

The Above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers: lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior: the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictued Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character

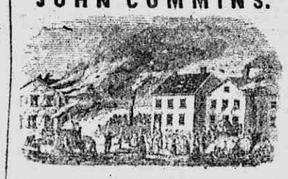
The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Sault Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $44.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors,
Cleveland, Ohio.
S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.
TECUMSEH. : : : MICHIGAN.
Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " "	$300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weed-port N Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.
May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse and companies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian
DAVID VAN TINE
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us Jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 893y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier, and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Hall's

DR. MCCRUMS
Receipt Book, or
The Horseman's Friend.
This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

WATER LIME—
Ames & Morriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And there probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track, but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,
DRUGS and DYE STUFF,
GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards, Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.
Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Esfablishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c.

Knquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept, 21th, 357tf

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E. TINDALL.

New Advertisements.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S
Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR,
New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Bable Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.
Tecumseh, March 1st. 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN

PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d. 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

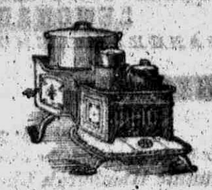
These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saveing of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. Brown, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858 389tf

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving
Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar,
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

A Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS
OF THE
United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60	00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50	00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6	00 Post 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2	00 9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8	00 9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2	50 9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4	00 9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8	00 9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4	00 9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6	00 6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6	00 6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5	00 6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5	00 6c
Gold Bare Cluster Pin for Gent	2	00 3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3	00 3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2	00 3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4	00 3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4	00 3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2	00 3c

Among the Engravings are:
The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00 12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Bonney, 18x24 1 00 12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50 9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards 50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 406 Broadway, New York.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times.

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined.—These Machines are Warranted to work well, and on Suitable Ground, if well managed, will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct 15th.

Miscellaneous.

ICE CREAM.
SODA WATER.
LEMONADE,
ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at
A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckst & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRESENT,
Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "
AND TO CLUBS.
Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do
50 do	50 00	do
100 do	50 00	do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
805] 536 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY
TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED
By any Paper within the range of its
Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of
The Weekly Blade
Will ever be to make it a
High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money
MARKETS
Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will nereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15 " " "	15.00 " "
20 " " "	20.00 " "	and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 25th, 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Jacob Bowyer Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z, of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210, October 12th, 1858, at 11 o'clock A. M.; upon which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit; the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Chesver, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.
April 16th, 1858. 338w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid. One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction so the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858. 394t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James F. Merritt to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 16th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit; all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north-east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st. 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty first day of February, 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June, 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 12th day of July, 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D., 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD,
Dated June 15th 1858 & Assignee.

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon, at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz: All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH,
Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858. Administrator.

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Thursday the Thirty ninth day of July in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of James B. Hoeg, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified, of Emeline A. Hoeg widow of the deceased praying that letters of administration on the estate of the deceased may be granted to herself and Josiah C. Pomeroy or some other suitable person for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the twenty-sixth day of July next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.) 398w4

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, dated the 14th day of April 1858. I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jons McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th, 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858, levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO
F. S. CABOT & CO.,
BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can BUY BETTER than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO
Wm G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence south eighty-five degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of
ITALION and AMERICAN
MARBLE
ever offered in Lenawee County
This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.
Call soon if you want the first choice.
EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept. 17th, 357tf

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Dr. Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchassd in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by
B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinkerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More
OF THOSE FAVORITE
THRESHING MACHINES,
On the way for this Village. They will be SOLD CHEAP
By D. D. MARSHALL.
Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fevers and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORTIENT. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate
n8481y HENRY LANCASTER

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."
CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c.; on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON.	D. D. MARSHALL.
DELOS LeBARON.	WALLAS GRAY.
P. L. SIMMER.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BEARS.	ALFRED JAMES.
C. O. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 381y

MRS. E. M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 13th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.
Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.
Tecumseh, December 17th. 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited.
Tecumseh, March 1st. 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!
A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of
MRS. M. P. HENRY,
One door west of Gillmans' Harness Shop.
Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.
FRANK JONES.
Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.
TIM BROWN.
Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

NEW TANNERY.
In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.
C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3

Consumption, Bronchitis & Asthma
MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writings on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

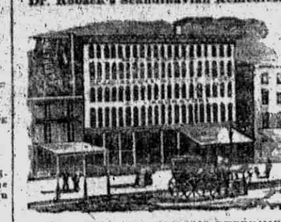
Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Dr. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N Y
May, 1858.

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN,
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Medical, &c,

DR. ROBACK'S
BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.
DISEASE VANQUISHED.
—BY—
Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague, asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

Peru, Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 4, 1857.

Dr. C. W. Roback: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasion of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMullen, Pastor of Roberts Chapel:

Indianapolis Oct. 5, 1857.

Dr. C. W. Roback—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

Dear Doctor: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Cook & Co. so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your Pills fill the contract. Why, I have taken as much as six (6) of some of the and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect, but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Saturday, Sept. 4, 1857.

Dr. Roback—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or the umsatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—all of which I can

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 37. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 5, 1858. WHOLE NO. 402

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street...
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKEY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

A. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT,
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS,
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

F. BILLS. D. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

M. A. STACY. B. H. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad,
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
341y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public. Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Ridgeway, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 304

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E TINDALL.

Free Land for Free Labor.

The system of old feudal wrong,
That makes the people pay
For room to live upon the earth,
Fades even now away.
E'er long the landlord shall become
A laughter and a scoff
As swells the tide of human rights,
To sweep his landmarks off.

For man perceives the truth at last,
Long faded in the dim,
That record, scroll, nor parchment writ,
Can take the earth from him;
For Nature makes a title-deed
To each one for his time,
And in his right, and who takes more
But perpetrates a crime.

This mighty truth shall turn the cheek
Of pale starvation red,
As over old ancestral parks
The paupers' shrines are spread:
This truth shall put the gewgaws all
Of kingcraft under ban,
And man shall meet his fellow on
The common platform—MAN.

Then prince and peasant, side by side,
Shall gladsome toilers be,
And grades go down the flood of night,
As dead-wood to the sea;
For when each has his human right
Of home upon the soil,
All shall be princes of the land,
Ennobled by their toil.

Glad time of earth's beatitude!
When man shall neither hoard nor steal,
But all mankind together work,
For universal weal;
The warlike and the evil, yield
And nations all take hold of hands
In loving sisterdood.

WIDOW WELLS;
—OR—
THE POT OF GOLD.

Deacon Bancroft, though a very good man in the main, and looked up to with respect by all the inhabitants of Centreville, was rumored to have, in Yankee parlance, 'a pretty sharp eye to the main chance'—a peculiarity from which deacons are not always exempt.

Deacon Bancroft was in the prime of life—45 or thereabouts—and still unmarried, and in all human probability likely to remain so.

Deacon Bancroft's nearest neighbor was a widow.

The widow Wells, who had passed thro' one matrimonial experience, was some three or four years younger than Deacon Bancroft. She was still quite a comely woman. Unfortunately, the late Mr. Wells had not been able to leave her sufficient to make her independent of the world. All that she possessed was the small old fashioned house in which she lived, and a small amount of money, which was insufficient to support her and a little son of seven, though hardly to be classed as 'productive' of anything but mischief.

The widow was therefore obliged to take three or four boarders, to eke out the scanty income, which of course imposed upon her considerable labor and anxiety.

It is not surprising, then, that, under these circumstances, she should now and then have bethought herself of a second marriage, as a method of bettering her condition. Or again, need we esteem it a special wonder if, in her reflections on this point, she should have cast her eyes upon her neighbor, Deacon Bancroft?—The Deacon was in flourishing circumstances. He would be able to maintain a wife in great comfort; and, being one of the chief personages in the village, could accord her a prominent social position.

One evening, after a day of fatiguing labor, the widow Wells sat at the fire in the sitting-room with her feet resting on the fender.

'If ever I am so situated as not to have to work so hard,' she murmured, 'I shall be happy. It's a hard life, keeping boarders. If I was only as well off as Deacon Bancroft.'

Still the widow kept up her thinking, and by and by her face brightened up.—She had an idea, which she resolved to put into execution at the very earliest practicable moment. What it was the reader will discover in the sequel.

'Henry,' said she to her son the next morning, 'I want you to stop at Deacon Bancroft's as you go along to school, and ask him if he will call and see me in the course of the morning or afternoon, just as he finds it most convenient.'

Deacon Bancroft was not a little surprised at the summons. However about 11 o'clock he called in. The widow had got on the dinner and had leisure to sit down. She appeared a little embarrassed.

'Henry told me that you would like to see me,' he commenced.

'Yes, Deacon Bancroft, I do, but I am very much afraid you will think very strange of it—at least of what I have to say to you.'

The Deacon very politely psomised not to be surprised, although at the same time his curiosity was visibly excited.

'Suppose,' said the widow, casting down her eyes—'mind, I am only supposing the case—suppose a person should find a pot of gold pieces in their cellar, would the law have a right to touch it or would it belong to them?'

The deacon pricked up his ears.

'A pot of gold pieces, widow? Why, unquestionably, the law would have nothing to do with it.'

'And the one who formerly owned the house couldn't come forward and claim it, could he, deacon?' inquired the widow, further, with apparent anxiety.

'No, madam, certainly not; when the house was disposed of everything went with it, as a matter of course.'

'I am glad to hear it, deacon. You won't think strange of the question deacon, but it happened to occur to my mind and I thought I would like to have it satisfied.'

'Certanly, widow, certainly,' said the deacon, abstractedly.

'And deacon, as you are here, I hope you'll stop to dinner with us, it will be ready punctually at twelve.'

'Well no,' said the deacon, 'I'm obliged to you, but they'll be expecting me at home.'

'At any rate, deacon,' said the widow, taking a steaming mince pie from the oven, 'you won't object to taking a piece of my mince pie; you must know that I rather pride myself on my mince pies.'

The warm pie sent forth such a delicious odor that the deacon was sorely tempted, and after saying: 'Well, really,' with the intention of refusing, he finished by saying, 'on the whole, I guess I will, as it looks so nice.'

The widow was really a good cook, and the deacon ate with much gusto the generous slice the widow cut for him; and after a little more chatting upon important subject, withdrew in some mental perplexity.

'Was it possible,' thought he, 'that the widow could really have found a pot of gold in her cellar? She did not say so, to be sure, but why should she show so much anxiety to know as to the proprietorship thus found, if she had not happened upon some?'

'I will wait and watch,' thought the deacon.

It so happened that Deacon Bancroft was one of the directors in a Savings Institution, situated in the next town, and accordingly used to ride over there once or twice a month, to attend meetings of the Board.

On the next occasion of this kind, widow Wells sent over to know if he could carry her over with him, as she had a little business to attend to there.

The request was readily accorded. Arrived in town, Mrs. Wells requested to be set down at the bank.

'Ah, ha!' thought the deacon; 'that means something'

He said nothing, however, but determined to come back, and find out, as he could readily, from the cashier, what business she had with the bank.

The widow tripped into the office, looking very nonchalant.

'Can you give me small bills for a five dollar gold piece?'

'With pleasure,' was the reply.

'By the way,' said she, 'the bank is in quite a flourishing condition is it not?'

'None in the State on better footing,' was the response.

'You receive deposits, do you not?'

'Yes, Makam, we are receiving them every day.'

'Do you receive them as high as—as five thousand dollars?'

'No,' said the cashier, with some surprise; 'or rather we do not allow interest on so large a sum. One thousand dollars is our limit. Did you know of any one who——'

'It is of no consequence,' said the widow hurriedly; 'I only ask for curiosity. By the way, did you say how much interest you allowed on such deposits as come within your limits?'

'Five per cent, madam.'

'Thank you, I only asked for curiosity. What a beautiful morning it is.'

And the widow tripped lightly out. Shortly afterwards the deacon entered.

'How's business, now, Mr. Cashier?' he asked.

'About as usual.'

'Had any new deposits lately?'

'None of any magnitude.'

'I brought over a lady this morning, who seemed to have some business with you.'

'The Widow Wells?'

'Yes.'

'Do you know,' asked the cashier, 'whether she had money left her, lately?'

'None that I know of,' said the deacon, pricking up his ears. 'Why? Did she deposit any?'

'No; but she inquired whether we received deposits as high as five thousand dollars.'

'Indeed!' ejaculated the deacon. 'Was that all she came for?' he inquired a moment afterwards.

'No; she exchanged a gold piece for some bills.'

'Ha!' pondered the deacon, reflectively 'did she give any reason for inquiring?'

'No; she said she only asked from curiosity.'

The deacon left the bank in a deep thought. He came to the conclusion that this 'curiosity' only veiled a deeper motive. He no longer entertained a doubt that the widow had actually a pot of gold in her cellar, and appearances seemed to indicate that its probable value was equal to five thousand dollars. The gold piece which she had exchanged at the bank appeared to confirm this story.

'I rather think,' said the deacon complacently, 'I think I can see into a millstone about as far as most people'—a statement, the literal truth of which I defy any one to question, though, as to the prime fact of people's being able to see into a mill stone at all, doubts have now and then intruded themselves upon our minds.

Next Sunday the widow Wells appeared at church in a new and stylish bonnet, which led to some such remarks as follows:

'How much vanity some people have—to be sure!'

'How a woman that has to keep boarders for a living, can afford to dash out with such a bonnet is more than I can tell! I should think she was old enough to know better.'

The last remark was made by a lady just six months younger than the widow, whose attempts to catch a husband had hitherto proved unavailing.

'I suppose,' continued the same young lady, 'She is trying to catch a second husband with her finery. Before I would condescend to such means I'd—I would drown myself.

In this amiable speech the young lady had unwittingly hit upon the true motive. The widow was intent upon catching the Deacon, and she indulged in a costly bonnet because she supposed he would be caught with finery, but because this would strengthen in his mind the idea that she had stumbled upon hidden wealth.

The widow had calculated shrewdly, and the display had the effect she anticipated. Monday afternoon, Deacon Bancroft found an errand that called him over to the widow's. It chanced to be about tea time. He was importuned to stay to tea, and somewhat to his surprise, actually did.

The polite widow, who knew the deacon's weak point, brought on one of her best mince pies, a slice of which her guest partook of with zest.

'You'll take another piece I know,' said she, persuasively.

'Really, I am ashamed,' said the deacon, and he passed his plate. 'The fact is,' he said apologetically, 'your pies are so nice I don't know where to stop.'

'Do you call these nice, said the widow modestly; 'I only call them common. I can make mince pies, when I set out to, but this time I didn't have as good luck as usual.'.

'I shouldn't want any better,' said the deacon, emphatically.

'Then I hope if you like them you will drop in to tea often. We ought to be more neighborly, Deacon.'

Deacon Bancroft assented, and really he meant what he said. The fact is, the deacon began to think the widow was a very charming woman. She was very comely, and she was such an excellent cook! Besides he had no doubt in his own mind that she was worth a considerable sum of money. What objection co'd there be to her becoming Mrs. Bancroft? He brought this question before her one evening. The widow blushed, professed to be greatly surprised—in fact she had never thought of the thing in her life—but on the whole, she had thought highly of the deacon, and, to cut the matter short accepted him.

A month afterwards she was installed as mistress of the deacon's large house, somewhat to the surprise of the village people, who could not conceive how she had brought him over.

Some weeks after the ceremony the deacon ventured to inquire about the POT OF GOLD which she had found in the cellar.

'Pot of gold!' she exclaimed in surprise; 'I know of none.'

'But,' said the deacon disconcerted; 'you know you asked me about whether the law could claim it.'

'O, lor! deacon, I only asked from curiosity.'

'And was that the reason you made inquiries at the bank?'

'Certainly. What else could it be?'

* * * *

The deacon went out to the bars, and for about half an hour sat in silent meditation. At the end of that time, he ejaculated, as a closing consideration 'After all she makes good mince pies!'

It gives us extreme pleasure to state, that the union between the deacon and the widow proved eventually a very happy one,—although, to the end of his life, he never could quite make up his mind about that Pot of Gold.

A GOOD STORY.

Between eighty and ninety years ago there lived in the Connecticut River valley two farmers, one by the name of Hunt and the other Clark. The former in esrly life, had been a man of strong will and somewhat hasty and violent temper. Sometimes he had been seen beating his oxen over their heads with the handle of his whip in a way to excite pity of the bystanders, and when expostulated with, he excused himself by saying that he had the most fractious team in the town. By and by an alteration took place in the temper of farmer Hunt. He became mild, forbearing and what was most remarkable, his oxen seemed to improve in disposition at evual pace with himself.

Farmer Hunt joined the church and was an exemplary man. His neighbors saw the change both in himself and his team. It was a marvel to the whole town. One of his townsmen asked for an explanation. Farmer Hunt said:

"I have found out a secret about my cattle. Formerly they were unmanageable. The more I whipped them the worse they behaved. But now when they are contrary I go behiud my load and sit down and sing Old Hundred, and strange as it may appear no sooner have I ended than the oxen go along as quietly as I could wish. I don't know how it is, but they really seem to like singing."

In the course of a few years the two farmers were chosen deacons of the church and they both adorned their profession.—About the time of their election a grievous famine prevailed in the valley, and the farmers generally were laying up their corn to plant the ensuing season. A poor man living in the town, went to Deacon Hunt and said:

'I have come to buy a bushel of corn, Here is the money for it, it is all I can gather.'

The deacon told him he could not spare a bushel for love nor money. He was keeping double the usual quantity for seed corn the next year, and had to stint his family. The man urged his suit in vain. At last he said—

'Deacon, if you do not let me have the corn, I shall curse you.'

'Curse me!' said the deacon, 'how dare you do so?'

'The bible says so.'

'Nonsense!' replied deacon Hunt; there is no such thing in the bible.'

'Yes there is,' replied the poor man.

'Well,' said the deacon, 'if you find any such text; I'll give you cheerfully a bushel of corn.'

They went into the house, when the poor man went to the old family Bible, turned to Prov. 11: 26, and read—'He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him; but blessings shall be upon the head of him that selleth it.'

The deacon was fairly caught.

'Come along, I will be as good as my word;' said he.

He took him to the corn house measured out a full bushel of corn, and helped the man put it into his bag, assisted him to put it on his shoulder; and just before his departure, being somewhat of a wag, he said with a twinkle of his eye, 'I say, neighbor, after you have carried this home go up to Deacon Clark, and curse him out of another bushel.'

☞ It is reported that a contract has been made between the Michigan Central Railroad Company, and Mr. T. T. Woodruff, by which his patent Sleeping Car is to be placed on that road. It is also to be placed on the Lake Shore Railroad, from Buffalo west.

☞ It is a noble sight to see an honest man 'cleave his own heart in twain, and fling away the baser part.'

Sale of the old Chairs of the House of Representatives.

Nothwithstanding the sacred memories which cluster around the old hall of Representatives, the sanctity which it has attained by reason of the great deeds accomplished within its walls, there was a scene witnessed there yesterday morning entirely unprecedented. In that grand old place the eloquence of a Clay, a Calhoun, has charmed and electrified the nation, but never before has the full round voice of the auctioneer appealed to the cupidity or acquisitiveness of an audience Devoted exclusively to the legislation of the whole Union, who could have tho't that the time would come when all its appointments would be sold under the hammer to the highest bidder!

By ten o'clock at least one hundred persons were in the hall, a number of them ladies. The interest manifested in the sale, the patience with which the spectators and purchasers followed the auctioneer from desk to desk and chair to chair, was worthy of imitation. The furniture was all of solid mahogany, and the prices, instead of being uncommonly low, exceeded the expectations of many who thought to procure great bargains.—A considerable portion of it is in a damaged condition, and so great was the competition, where competition was least expected, that a single arm chair with a writing accompaniament, was knocked down at ten dollars and a quarter, instead of the five or six dollars that the purchaser had made up his mind to give. Those old chairs, many of them with screws loose, brought an average of three dollars apiece, and the carpet was sold at about eight cents a yard.

The opening announcement of the auctioneer, Mr. Fisher—"terms cash, nothing delivered until paid for"—we feared would dampen the spirits of bidders; but as that worthy gentleman commenced with andirons, (congressional andirons, mind you,) which were knocked down at a very low figure, confidence seemed to be perfectly restored, and from that time to the end of the sale there was no flagging, no hesitation in the bidding. The first of the desks of the old members sold was that occupied for so many years by Hon. Joshua R. Giddings, of Ohio, who until the last session of Congress, was remarkable for his persistent opposition to the institution of slavery and its extension.—When the desk was put up, we looked around—for Black Republicans, supposing that they would be eager to obtain the prize. After a moment's pause one of them went 'a dollar and a half,' a second feebly cried out 'a dollar seventy five,' whilst a third articulated 'two dollars.'—It was here that we thought that the bidding would cease, so long did the auctioneer dwell upon the word 'two dollars, going, going, going,' but just as the word 'gone' was struggling for utterance, a fourth gentleman bid 'two and a quarter,' and the desk was sold.

The desk and chair occupied by Hon. John Quincy Adams brought $50. The bidding for this furniture was quite animated, and it was remarked by the bystanders, that in Massachusetts it would command $500. The desks occupied by Colonel Benton and Mr. McDuffie, of South Carolina, brought $6.25 apiece; the desks occupied by Col. Brooks ran up to $9, and that used by Governor Wise sold for $7. Upon the remainder of the furniture the bidding was very brisk, and the competition became very great. We understand that the total sales amounted to between two and three thousand dollars.—[Washington Union, June 29.

Ancient Shoes.—The shoes found in the sepulchral chamber of the mummy, discovered in the Short Cave, a neighbor of the Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, in 1813, were made of wrought bark, resembling South Sea Island cloth. The needles used in the making of these shoes, which were in the reticule with other trinkets, were without eyelets, and were probably used as knitting-needles are used nowadays. A substitute for a metal thimble was a piece of well-dressed deer-skin, that had a thumb-hole through it, so that when in use it covered the palm of the hand.—The needles had a head in the shape of common sized coat buttons, and some of these were handsomely scolloped. These needles were made of bone and horn, and were very smooth, showing that they had been much used.

☞ Some of the Canada editors are indulging in merry jests upon what they consider the probability of the dissolution of our Union. Their climate is cool but their impudence is cooler.

Where is Frazer's River?

The recent discoveries of gold on Frazer's River will lead many to examine their maps in vain for the purpose of finding the precise locality of this new important stream.

Frazer's River empties into the Gulf of Georgia, a branch of Puget's Sound, a few miles north of the 49th parallel, which is the boundary between our territory and the British possessions. Its head waters interlock with those of the Columbia and the Athabasca. For the first half of its course it runs in a southerly direction, when it runs westward. At the distance of 160 miles from its mouth it is joined by Thompson's River, a considerable stream flowing from the eastward. The Cascade range of mountains, which may be regarded as a continuation of the Sierra Nevada, ceases here. At the junction of the two rivers, and in the immediate vicinity, lie the diggings which are causing so much excitement on the Pacific Coast. They have been worked more or less since last Summer, but their real importance was not ascertained until lately.

Fort Langlew, the lowest post of the Hudson's Bay Company on Frazer's River, is situated on the left bank, about 25 miles from its mouth. Thus far the stream is navigable for vessels of considerable burden. The next post is Fort [illegible], at the mouth of Que-que alla River, 69 miles above Fort Langlew. To the 'Falls' is 12 miles further, and thence to Thompson's River Forks is 55 miles.—Thus the whole distance from the mouth of Frazer's River to the gold diggings at Thompson's River is 160 miles, or thereabouts.

Above Fort Langlew the river is practicable for bateaux of three tons burthen; a slow and tedious navigation—but after passing the 'Falls' canoes only can be used. But the journey must really be made on foot from the Falls, and is exceedingly laborious and rugged. There are no horses or mules to be procured in all that region.

It is by the route above indicated that most of the gold seekers will find their way to the new placers. There is, however, another route via the Columbia River and the Dalles, but the distance is 4 or 500 miles.

The latitude of the Thompson's River Forks is about 50 deg. and 30 min. or nearly 300 miles further north than Quebec. But it must be remembered that the climate on the Pacific coast is mild in comparison with that of similar latitudes east of the Rocky Mountains.

It will be evident, even from this imperfect description, that the Frazer River mines and not easy of access. The country is wild, mountainous and nearly inaccessible. But men trained in California are not easily daunted. They can doubtless, force their way wherever gold invites them to go.—N. Y. Times.

Virginia in Danger.

As often as once a month there is a volcanic eruption Southern society, somewhere; and, singular to say the only kind of matter thrown out of the carter is a negro, or, as occasionally happens, a whole shower of the terrible sons of Ham. A sort of miniature Vesuvius has just burst open in the city of Richmond, under the immediate eye of the Enquirer. Negroes have been found to be associating together for various purposes, innocent as they appear to us, but astounding to Virginia optics. We copy from the Enquirer a case in point:

"Who has not heard of the 'burial society' among the negroes of Richmond? A secret, and, for aught we know, oath bound mutual burial society, for the interment of negroes, with carriages, processions and uniforms. Fairs and suppers are given to raise and increase the funds of this society; and these fairs and suppers are secret, and none are permitted to enter that do not pay their regular dues. Subordination and obedience will soon become impossible unless the authorities set sudon the subterfuge of legal knowledge, and set about to find out and suppress these unlawful assemblies."

The italics are the Enquirer's. The peril from the burial society is enough to shake the strongest Southern nerves.—We hope the authorities will be equal to the emergency.

☞ A 'boss' doctor in Olean made a bet of $20 that he could remove from any horse anything which nature had not placed on the beast—meaning ring bone, spavin, &c. A wag took bet, and showed him a mortgage for a hundred and fifty dollars on a favorite horse, and pocketed the $20.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Childhood Days.

BY J. Q. A. WOOD.

Did I possess the envied bays
Of all the Grecian seers,
I'd give them to live o'er those days
That were so full of years.

Those childhood days, and youthful hours,
Sweet as a May-day's dawning,
When Love, like freshly gathered flowers,
Bloomed in the young heart's morning.

To kneel where I before have knelt,
And be soul-ely shriven,
To feel again, as I have felt,
That blessed word, forgiven —

To hear my blue-eyed mother sing
The plaintive ballad olden,
When her young cheek was in its spring,
And her soft locks were golden.

Remorseless days! a joyous train,
Each hour, a laughing rover;
Oh how I long, yet long in vain,
To live those dear days over!

To pass with one an hour alone,
Where love the lamps had lighted,
To call that heart again my own
Whose soft rebukes were slighted.

And yet, and yet, alas to think!
A word unfitly spoken,
May snap at once a golden link,
Which, else, had ne'er been broken.

May cause a token treasured long,
To be a chrystal shattered,
And hopes, that made the young heart strong,
Like withered roses scattered.

Oh, there are pale ones round my way,
That make my spirit lonely,
Dear mournful shades, that cannot stay,
But for a moment only.

As vapors o'er the silent tide,
As thoughts to the lone-hearted,
Voiceless as these, around me glide
The beautiful departed.

Yet, whiter than the white moon-beams,
They come,—the strong, the s'ender,
And beckon from the land of dreams,
So lovingly and tenderly.

With seeming as of other day,
They bid my heart be stronger,
And into mine, their pure eyes gaze,
Known here on earth no longer.

Sweet, earnest, spirit beaming eyes,
That from my path have faded,
Like stars from out the morning skies,
Like flowers in darkness shaded.

Then blame not that each harp string now
Should mournful thoughts awaken,
That clouds should gather on my brow,
For heart, and harp are shaken.

Terrible Death of a Child by Hydrophobia.

The Peoria Transcript gives an account of the death, by hydrophobia, of a very interesting child, the daughter of Mr. Henry S Wooder, of Mount Hawley, six miles from that city, between eight and nine years of age, on Friday morning last. The following are the particulars:

On Tuesday of last week, Sarah Ellen returned from school, and complained of feeling unwell, so much so, that she did not attend on the following day, although still able to be about the house. Thursday she was no better, and her parents thinking she was threatened with the typhoid fever, sent for Dr. Murphy, of this city. The Doctor arrived there about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and found her sitting upon the sofa at the side of her mother, to all appearances in perfect health; her pulse, however, was very irregular, with an occasional wildness in the eyes, and it was not long before she gave a sudden start, and placing her hand upon her throat, exclaimed, 'it troubles me to breathe, mother.' Minute inquiries were now instituted, when the fact was elicited which had not been previously thought of, that some five weeks since she had been bitten by a domesticated cat on the outside of the foot. A glass of water was ordered to be brought her, when the sight of it at once threw her into terrible convulsions. This was at two o'clock in the afternoon, and was the first intimation had by her distracted parents of the terrible disease with which their daughter was afflicted. Her agony and struggles in the spasms were awful to behold, and in one of them she bit her mother severely in the shoulder, and at another time scratched the father badly in the hand. In her spasmodic efforts, the saliva from her mouth was at times ejected across the room, and the only relief experienced was by the use of chloroform, which, in the end, seemed to lose all efficacy. She remained all the time in perfect possession of her faculties, and at three o'clock on Friday morning, exactly twelve hours from the attack of the first spasm, her spirit departed to the God who gave it.

And now comes the most remarkable incident connected with this heart-rending affair. Some four hours previous to her death, and soon after one of her most violent spasms, she told her mother that she had been visited by the spirit of her sister, (the family are believers in Spiritualism,) who left this earth for the better land about one year since, and that this sister had informed her of certain remedies, which if applied, would relieve her sufferings and smooth her passage to the tomb. The remedies were applied as soon as possible, and strange to relate, the desired effect was produced. She was freed from her convulsive fits, was enabled to breathe easier, converse freely with her parents and friends, occasionally drinking a little water, and finally falling into her last sleep, as gently as an infant reposing in her slumber.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1858.

Retrenchment and Reform.

It is to be regretted that this has so often been made the watchword of party, without any such subsequent results, as to indicate that it was at the time used for any thing more than party purposes, until it has become of little worth in the eyes of a great majority of the people.—We say that this is to be regretted, for the time has come, or if not, will in the present course of things soon arrive, when there is need of setting about this reform in earnest.

We are no doubt a great people, of large resources, and with a recuperative energy, hardly equaled upon the face of the globe, but to all these things there must be a limit, beyond which none can safely go, and beyond which if any people shall have gone, retreat or ruin will most certainly follow. We think that the signs of the times indicate, that that limit we are at least rapidly approaching.

When we reflect that the annual expenditures of our national government have reached the enormous sum of one hundred millions of dollars, which is from twenty to thirty millions, more than its present revenues, and that more than half of this is in every sense of the word unnecessary, but purely a matter of fraud, favoritism, and extravagant parrizanship, it will be seen how rapidly the national government of the country is verging towards bankruptcy and ruin. It is true that its revenues may be increased by imposing a heavier tariff upon its imports, but when it is considered that every dollar thus imposed, is in the end paid by our own citizens, just as much, and just as entirely, as if it were derived from a direct taxation, it may be doubtful how far the wealth and industry of the country will consent to be still further taxed, for so unnecessary and unworthy purposes.

The same evil though perhaps to a less noticeable extent, pervades state, county and even township official expenses, until economy is only another name for recklessness and extravagance from the beginning to the end.

But a far greater evil than any or all of these, is a spirit of individual recklessness and extravagance which pervades the entire nation. It was not in the power of the Roman government, whether of consuls or kings to destroy Rome, but when her people, pampered with the wealth of ruined cities, and conquered territories, became effeminate and corrupt, too proud and haughty for economy or toil, then it was, and not till then, she fell to rise no more.

An irresponsible, and unjust government may do much to embarrass and depress a nation, but it is the people only, who have the power to destroy themselves.

Economy in government, is no doubt much needed and should be both promptly and effectively enforced, but all this will avail nothing, unless the entire community, impelled by the depression and embarrassment a severe commercial crisis, shall also determine in all earnestness and sincerity to enforce a like retrenchment and reform upon themselves.

The Atlantic Monthly.

The August number has arrived in excellent season, and it is now, as always, welcome. With a due regard for the depressing influences that are supposed to be rained down from the dog-star, the editor has given his readers nothing of a heavy, but much of a light and graceful character, just adapted to the season when one craves amusemement rather than homilies. Of this character are 'The Romance of a Glove,' 'Our Talks with Uncle John,' 'Les Salons de Paris,' 'The Singing Birds and their Songs,' etc. Jas. Russell Lowell has a clever criticism of Mr Choate's windy oration, under the title of 'The Pocket Celebration of the Fourth.' Dr. Holmes presides at the 'Breakfast Table' with more than his usual flow of humor.

Escheated Lands.—Escheated lands are those which revert to the State for want of legal owners. The Defiance (O.) Democrat says that a case of the kind has occurred in Putnam county:

John Merryman, dying without any known heir, the Auditor of the county offers the property for sale—being 160 acres in sections 22 and 23, town 1 south, range 7 east, in that county. The proceeds go, under the recent laws, to the State Board of Agriculture. This is perhaps the first sale of the kind in North-Western Ohio.

Pension Decision.—The Commissioner of Pension decides that Bounty Land Warrants due deceased soldiers will go to the heirs at law, as provided for by the act of Congress, only when there is no widow nor minor children.

☞ The failure of the attempt to lay the Atlantic Telegraph cable has not discouraged the Stockholders. The stock is still quoted at £300-£400 per share.

The Next Congress.

Within a month the series of elections will commence which are to determine the political character of the next Congress. The choice of delegations to the House of Representatives will take place in the following order, according to the Tribune Almanac:

1858—August, 1st Monday—Alabama, Arkansas, Missouri and Texas.
September, 1st Tuesday—California and Vermont. 2nd Monday—Maine.
October, 1st Monday—Georgia and Florida. 2nd Monday—South Carolina 2nd Tuesday—Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.
November, 1st Tuesday—Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York and Wisconsin.
November, 1st Wednesday—Maryland.
1859—March, 2nd Tuesday—New Hampshire.
April, 1st Monday—Connecticut. 1st Wednesday, Rhode-Island.
May, 4th Thursday—Virginia.
August, 1st Monday—Kentucky.
October, 1st Monday—Mississippi.
November, 1st Monday—Louisiana.

The retiring members are rated, according to ordinary party divisions, as Democrats 130, Republicans 92, Americans 14 But it is hard to say precisely in what state party lines were left by the Kansas discussion. The House adopted the Montgomery bill over the Administration's Lecompton bill by a vote of 120 to 112. The Conference bill was subsequently carried by 112 to 103.

The terms of the following Senators expire March 4, 1859:

Alabama—Clement C Clay, (Dem) re-elected.
Arkansas—Wm K Sebastian, (Dem).
Delaware—Martin W Bates, (Dem).
Georgia—Robert Toombs, (Dem), re-elected.
Illinois—Stephen A Douglas, (Dem).
Iowa—George W Jones (Dem).
Kentucky—John B Thompson.
Louisiana—Jud P Benjamin, (Dem).
Maine—Wm P Fessenden, (Rep).
Massachusetts—Henry Wilson, (Rep).
Michigan—Charles E Stuart, (Dem).
Minnesota—James Shields, (Dem).
Mississippi—Albert G Brown, (Dem).
New Hampshire—John P Hale, (Rep re-elected.
New Jersey—Wm Wright, (Dem).
North Carolina—D S Reid, (Dem).
South Carolina—Jos J Evans, (Dem) deceased.
Tennessee—John Bell.
Texas—Sam Houston, (K N).
Virginia—Robert M T Hunter, (Dem) re-elected.

Of these twenty-one, fifteen are Democrats, three of whom were anti-Lecompton; three Republicans; two old Whigs, (Thompson of Kentucky, and Bell of Tennessee,) one of whom has generally been with, and the other against the Administration; and one American, (Gen. Houston,) who supported Lecompton Jones, Dem., of Iowa, is already succeeded by Jas W. Grimes, Rep.; Thompson of Kentucky, by L. W. Powell, Dem; Allen, Dem., of Rhode Island, by H. B. Anthony, Rep.; and Bell of Tennessee, by A O P Nicholson, Dem.

Of the remainder, the two Republicans, Fessenden and Wilson, will either be re-elected or succeded by others of the same politics, in all probability. The same remark will apply to the democrats, Sebastian, Benjamin, Brown and Reid. The place of Evans will also be filled by a democrat, as well as the seat now occupied by Houston.

The successors of Bates of Delaware, Shields of Minnesota, and Wright of New Jersey, may be said to be in doubt.

From the Adrian Watchtower.

Death of Reinhard Jeanichen.

Resolutions of the Adrian Guards.

At a meeting of the Adrian Guards held at their Armory on Sunday, July 25, 1858, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the death of our late comrade in arms, Private Reinhard Jeanichen, whose lamented remains we have this day followed to the tomb, our company has lost a valuable and efficient member and society a worthy and respected citizen.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved widow, and friends of the deceased, a soldier's heart-felt sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That we return our thanks to the Tecumseh Sax Horn Band for the excellent music furnished upon this occasion, and we hope ever to be able to extend to them a soldiers' welcome and hospitality.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be furnished to the family of the deceased, and also to the city papers for publication.

Capt. Frederick Hart,
Lieut. W. H. Cleveland,
Corp W. L Smith, } Com.

The Free Lovers.—The Sandusky Register states that there is a prospect of the Berlin Heights free lovers being scattered. Certain respectable persons are proposing, with probable success, to buy them out of house and home—and it is sincerely hoped that the matter be consumated.

SAM BROWN.

Sam Brown, whose death was announced in our paper yesterday (28th), was born in Brownsville, Jefferson co., N.Y., Sept. 30th, 1814. He was the second son of Maj. Samuel Brown, Dep. Q. M. General of the army during the war of 1812, and a nephew of Maj Gen. Jacob Brown, Commander in-Chief of the army of U. S., at the same period, and of Gen. Joseph W. Brown, many years a resident of Tecumseh in this county, now a resident of Toledo.

He was a brother of the late Maj T. S. Brown, for many years Chief Engineer of the N. Y. & E. Railroad, afterwards for five years, Consulting Engineer for the Emperor of Russia. Another brother, R. N. Brown, Esq., is now Superintendent of the Buffalo & Erie R. R.

Sam Brown received an education to prepare him for the mercantile business, in which he was for some time engaged, but for the last twenty years he has been actively employed upon railroads.

For a number of years he was Chief Clerk and Gen Freight Agent of the New York & Erie Railroad, and afterwards Superintendent of the Canandaigua & Niagara Falls Railroad. About three years since when the freight business of the Mich. Southern Railroad had fallen into much disorder, the directors were looking about for some time to extricate it, luckily succeeded by much persuading, to induce Sam Brown to accept the position of Gen. Freight Agent of this Company. He came to Adrian, where the office of the Agent was then located, and applied himself industriously to the task of bringing order out of confusion, which his experience and indomitable energy enabled him to accomplish to the entire satisfaction of the directors. In this, his administrative talents were so admirably exhibited, that when, something like a year and a half ago, Gen. Supt. Moore resigned, Mr. Brown was appointed to the place, the duties of which he performed without relinquishing the responsibilities of Gen. Freight Agent, and won for himself an enviable reputation as a thorough business man capable of accomplishing an amount of labor before which men of ordinary endowments would have quailed The vast labors which he performed proved too much for his frame and he was attacked with a disease incident to over work, which with an iron will he bore up against for a long time. But he was obliged to yield and keep within his house, and finally take to his bed where he was confined for a number of months, enduring without a murmur, a distressing disease—chronic abscess, for which he submitted to a number of formidable surgical operations, with inconcievable fortitude.—The continued draft upon his system from the abscess gradually wasted him away and he calmly expired on the morning of the 28th ult., in the prime of life. By his death the office of Gen. Supt. of the Railroad becomes vacant.

He leaves a widow, who is the daughter of Gen. Joseph W. Brown, and three children, a son and two daughters.

His funeral was largely attended on the 29th by his personal friends on the line of the railroad, for whose accommodation special trains were run from Toledo and La Porte. The firemen of this city turned out in a body to attend in uniform, and the Hudson Band played a mournful dirge while the procession moved to the depot where the remains were placed on a special train and conveyed to Tecumseh for burial.—[Adrian Watchtower.

☞ The Nashville Homestead says, that, besides the excellent syrup and sugar made from the Chinese Sugar Cane, there is yet another article obtained from it which is of a pleasant taste, and doubtless healthy in its consequences. It is obtained by putting the expressed juice of cane into any clean wood or glass vessel, allowing it to stand ten or twelve days when it assumes the appearance of limpid water and is fit for use. The flavor is similar to our best cider, and we suppose might be properly called cane cider.

"Why, of Course!"—The Charleston Mercury says that if the recent meetings for the reception of Senator Crittenden, in Kentucky, are the reflex of the feelings or opinions of the people of that State, she may as well be stricken from the roll of Southern States.

☞ New Administration organs have recently been started at Quincy and Springfield, Illinois, and the Daily Herald of that stripe, was started at Chicago on Monday morning.

Railroad Earnings.—The earnings of the Michigan Railroads this year thus far, have been as follows:

	1857	1858
Mich. Central (6 mos)	$1,276,642	$975,404
" Southern (5 mos)	995,171	772,587

Reappearance of the Plague.—The plague, after an intermission of twenty years, has re-appeared in a district of the Pashalik of Tripoli, named Beugaji, and at last accounts was continuing to make ravages as an epidemic. There was a rumor that it had reached Constantinople, but it was thought to be unfounded.—The most stringent quarantine regulations had been resorted to, and it is to be hoped that this scourge will be confined to the precincts of the districts in which it has reappeared.

General News.

New York, July 30.

The friends of Gerritt Smith held a preliminary meeting at Petersboro' on Wednesday, to make arrangements for the Convention called at Syracuse next week. Mr. Smith was present and addressed the meeting. He announced his intention to accept the Syracuse nomination providing the Convention making it should be a large one, and he has reason to believe it an earnest movement, but to reject it if the Convention should prove small and lacking in earnestness and devotion to the great question of Anti-Slavery.

James Kelly was hung this morning for the murder of his wife.

Toronto, July 30.

George Brown, leader of the Opposition, was yesterday entrusted by the Governor General with the formation of the new Ministry. He has not yet succeeded in completing this important duty. The House met this afternoon. It asked a further adjournment till Monday in order to allow Mr. Brown time to accomplish his task. Great excitement prevailed in political circles.

July 31.—Mr Brown has succeeded in forming a government. The Cabinet will be announced on Monday.

New York, July 31.

The Times' Washington correspondence furnishes the official reply of Lord Marmesbury to Mr. Dallas, who had called the attention of the British Government to the apprehended difficulties at Van Couver's Island, touching the passage of our citizens into the gold regions. Lord Malmesbury assures Mr. Dallas that the British Government are disposed to deal liberally with the citizens of the United States, who may desire to proceed to that quarter of the British possessions, but it would be necessary in the first place to look into the legal claims of the Hudson Bay Company in connection with this question.

Private advices have been sent to Governor Douglass, cautioning him to exercise the utmost discretion with regard to restrictive measures, and urging upon him a liberal policy.

Mr. Nugent, our agent, will take out to the Governor, a letter from Lord Napier, confirmatory of the general understanding between the two Governments, and recommending his zealous co-operation.

The papers of the United States legation at Mexico, have been turned over to Mr. Black, our Consul at the Capitol.

Washington, July 31.

Doctor Forney, Supt. of Indian Affairs for Utah, informs the Interior Department that the fifteen children belonging to the train of emigrants who were murdered at Sweet Water, had been found and ransomed by the whites from the Indians. Early in June four Germans were murdered eighty miles from Salt Lake City—supposed by Indians, who, it was reported, were creating difficulties on the Southern route to California. Dr. F. intends visiting them with a view to pacification.

The steamer Isabel, at Charleston from Havana, reports that the sloop of war Jamestown, was spoken off Havana, with 30 or 40 cases of Chagres fever on board, and that she was bound to New York.

New York, July 31.

The steamer Granada arrived yesterday, from San Juan, Nicaragua, with Greytown dates of July 20th. Among her passengers is Maxilo Gerez, who comes to relieve Senor Yrisarri as Minister at Washington. Gerez brings the Cass-Yrisarri treaty as modified and ratified by Nicaragua. It is said that he possesses extraordinary powers to make the convention acceptable to our Government. He is also to complete the Transit Route negotiations with Vanderbilt.

Nicaragua was excited by the rumors of another invasion by Wm. Walker.—Gen. Martenez, after depositing the government into the hands of the Vice President, had hurried to Castello, to put that place in a state of defense.

The rise of about 3-8 of a cent per lb. on sugar this week is predicted in the reduced stock in all parts of the country and the ascertained deficiency in the Cuban crop.

The Moravian Church and some 15 or 20 other buildings at Lebanon, Pa., was burnt on Thursday morning.

The deaths of the week reached nearly 700—almost half of which were from summer complaints.

A Canadian paper says great excitement had been created at Percy Bay by some 50 American vessels, which had anchored there, causing great damage to the nets of the Canadian fishermen, and the crews of which had gone ashore and abused the citizens. It was proposed to lay the facts before the Governor-General and demand through him redress from the American Government.

The board of brokers have appointed an Investigating Committee in relation to the alleged deception on the part of the LaCrosse Rail Road in advertising to pay the interest on the Land Grants Bonds and now declining to do so.

MARRIED.

On the 27th of July, at Winchester, Mich. by Rev. F P. Beidler, Rev. John Fletcher of Ceresco, to Alla H. Ladd, of Adrian.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description, Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.
Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.
Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

CHARLEL HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,
403 Tecumseh, Michigan.

Barley Wanted.
The subscriber is prepared to pay the
HIGHEST MARKET PRICE
For Barley. Bring along your samples.
A. JAMES & CO.,
Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Executive Committee.
Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society.
There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the above society, at the office of Bills & Baxter in the Village of Tecumseh on Saturday the 14th, day of August inst., at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing a Committee of Arrangements, and making such other preparations as may be deemed expedient for the annual fair of the society to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday the 6th day of September next.
B. L Baxter, Secretary.
Tecumseh, August 5th, 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U.S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N.Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,
The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.
The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.
Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Beware of Impostors.
CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are impostors! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His 'Six Lectures' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3
☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway, New York.
June 1858.

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

☞ Positively ☜
The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."
CHAS. DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

Lancaster's
LIVERY STABLE
The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with both hot and the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.
His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate
n34 3ly HENRY LANCASTER.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.
CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.
☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

New Advertisements.

ICE CREAM.
SODA WATER.
LEMONADE,
ORANGES and LEMONS
OHIO ALE,
ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.
Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.
SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH,
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twentieth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.
Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the Estate of Henry Bacon, deceased.
On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Elizabeth A. Bacon and Benjamin L. Bacon, administratrix and Administrator on the Estate of said deceased for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 6th day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all others persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted
And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
(FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.) 393m3

60,000
BUSHELS OF
Wheat Wanted.
E. TINDALL
Tecumseh, Aug. 5th.

NEW MARBLE.
The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of
ITALION and AMERICAN
MARBLE
ever offered in Lenawee. This marble will be wrought to order, in a style not to be excelled. None.
Call soon if you want the choice.
EMERSON & STOCKING
Tecumseh Sept., 17th,

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

NEW TANNERY
In Full Blast!
The Subscribers have purchased the Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a
TANNERY,
would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.
We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wool.
☞ All Work Warranted Good, as represented required. C. & W. B. ROWLEY
Tecumseh, Febr. 18th, 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY,
(Opposite M. C. R. R. depot)
JACKSON, ... MICHIGAN
Gen. General Stage Office.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	14	30
One-third do	8	14	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines,) three weeks, ...			1 50
One Square one week, ...			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4.57	P. M.
Going South,	6,30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO PRINTERS.—The Advertiser is desirous of obtaining a situation in a newspaper office, such as a foreman or publisher.—Having been connected with the press in various States since 1832, and given all requisite attention of becoming acquainted with the business, he has no doubt of his competency to fill such a post acceptably. He desires to find a paying and permanent situation, and if desired, would have help enough within his own family to take entire charge of a country paper.—He takes the liberty of referring to publishers of the HERALD, thro' whom he should be glad to hear of an early application. J. C. G.

☞ E. TINDALL wants sixty thousand bushels of wheat. See special notices.

☞ A. JAMES & Co., are anxious to see a good specimen of new Barley. Give them a call.

☞ DR. A. F. BARR, is at his office again.

☞ We are often asked why we don't publish the different calls of township meetings. The only reason we know of, is, we charge from 25 to 50 cts., a piece, just enough to pay for setting them up, and of course they are not handed to us. One of them is posted at the foot of our stairs. Please read it and charge your trouble to us.

☞ Our townsman, M. P. HENRY, is engaged manufacturing a Hair Tonic, which we have given a thorough trial, and take pleasure in recommending it to our friends. It will restore grey hairs to their natural color, prevent hair from coming out and produce a new growth. Try it! Price 50 cts. a pint.

☞ The new Hotel, is fast approaching completion. We understand it will be opened the 20th of this month, by W. P. SMALLAGE, late proprietor of the Michigan House. Mr. Smallage deserves the good will of our village, and the traveling at large.

☞ Z. B. Knight, who has ably conducted the Pontiac Gazette for four years past, as editor and proprietor, has sold out and retired from the editorial chair. The new proprietors are Messrs. Howell & Hosmer—M. E. N. Howell, editor.—We wish our brother Knight success in his future undertaking, and we wish the Gazette success with its new proprietors

☞ A bet was made in this city, recently, that Douglas would carry Illinois by 10,000 majority.—Grand Rapids Enquirer.

The amount of the bet, was the extract of a half bushel of Rye! The editor of the Enquirer holds the stakes!

WON'T TALK IN THE STREET.—The editor of the Buchanan organ in Springfield, Ill., seems to have a hard time of it in getting through the streets. He gives this notice:

"If some of the would-be politicians don't stop talking politics to us in the street, we shall 'talk to them like a father.' We are no street corner politician. If they want to argue politics with us, our sanctum is always open, as are the columns of the Democrat, for gentlemen of all creeds. When we go into the street it is for business or pleasure, not to debate or argue who is right or wrong in the coming contest.

SOUTH AFRICAN REPUBLIC.—By the French journals it appears, that, a recent letter from the Cape of Good Hope, gives an account of an Independent State, composed of white men, and established lately in Southern Africa, under the name of Trans-Vail. Its citizens are composed of men from various parts of Europe, who were chased away from the Cape in revolt and made a settlement where they now are, as far back as 1836.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.—About one year since, a journeymen carpenter named Dean, working in Chicago, received a legacy of £40,000 by the death of an uncle in Australia. Last week he died from the direful effects of dissipation.

☞ The steamer Vanderbilt arrived at New York, on the 1st instant. The Niagara and Agamemnon had passed Cape Clear on the 18th. Harvest accounts are very favorable from all parts of Europe. The French Government will join England in demanding reparation for the Jeddah massacre.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Hints to Sportsmen.

As the season for duck shooting approaches, a few words to sportsmen, perhaps, will not come amiss. There is in fact, no accounting for taste, as regards field sports. Some have no desire or inclination for them, and consider a sportsman but little better than a common vagabond. Such we pity, and have no wish to entice them into our sporting circle. We consider ourselves talking with sportsmen, and to such dedicate our thoughts, whether good or bad, and subjected to their criticism and theirs alone. Some men regard the amusement as effected merely by the number of shots; others by the size of game killed. For myself, I look to the excitement of pursuit, the science and skill requisite, the observation of the instinct of the animal employed or pursued, and last though not least, the exercise of mind and body. A man to shoot ducks, must know how to choose a gun and to use it. Many shoot well, but none but a man of true genius can shoot splendidly. Shooting, in its refinement and glory, is not an acquired art; a man must be born a shot, as much as he must be born a poet. You may learn to wing-break a starved pigeon, sprung from a trap, fifteen or twenty yards off; but to stop a woodcock, in a thick brake, where you can see him only with an eye of faith, or to kill a vigorous Teal, cutting the keen air at daybreak, at the rate of three miles a minute—requires an eye, and a hand, and a heart, which science cannot manufacture.

The doctrine of Frank Forrester, contained in his chapter on ducks, is correct beyond a question. Reading and writing are inflicted by schoolmasters, but a crack shot is the work of God. And heaven defend, that I or any other should depreciate the sport which can inspire such a writer. Poor fellow! he was born a shot, as well as the champion of American field sports and sportsmanship. Reader, have you in your various wanderings over this habitable globe, ever enjoyed one of the most exciting of all amusements—a good day's duck shooting? If such has been your fortune, can you not fancy yourself once more, as the season approaches, stalking along the reedy banks, or laying in your boat, your finger on the trigger, and waiting with a beating heart for the approaching flock to decrease the distance by a few yards more, before you open into their close column a raking fire from your double barrel. We know that you can, and therefore shall with a few hints on the choice and use of the gun leave you to fight your battles o'er again, and plan future campaigns against the unsuspecting ducks.

The best gun for general shooting, should be a fine double barrell, 32 inches in length, 14 gauge, and from 7½ to 8 lbs. weight and this I believe to be the most killing proportion that can be adopted, and by all odds the best gun for average shooting. Most persons use too coarse shot in shooting all kinds of game. For Duck, nothing coarser than No 5 should be used and No. 6 is better: good execution can be done even with No's. 7 and 8. Your powder should be coarse and clean, and equal quantities of each, in bulk makes a good killing charge, and you may rely upon it, that larger shot and larger charges will produce no good effect, besides hurting the shoulder, and perhaps bursting the gun.

Remember that for long shots you should increase the quantity of Powder and reduce that of Shot. To kill Ducks, cross shots at long distances, going before the wind, you should either keep the gun mooving in the direction of the birds' flight, after the trigger is drawn, if you aim directly at the bird; or you must fire from two to five feet in front, according to its distance and rate of locomotion. I have a friend who sports a good gun and is a splendid shot on Quail and Woodcock, but unlucky, killing Ducks, I have seen him stand and pepper away at them without their paying the least attention, more than a slight turn of the head, as much as to inquire 'who fired that gun;' but give him an old flint lock musket and the Ducks drop. The reason is, he holds his gun stationary when he aims, and consequently shoots too far ahead with his own gun, but with the musket, which is so slow of ignition, the birds have plenty of time to get along in front of it before it discharges.

These difficulties, however can be overcome by practice and calculation.

* * *

WATER WHEELS.—Particularly, we know, that water wheels do more work, and furnaces draw better during the night than the day, but we have not yet satisfied ourselves as to the reason why?—[Scientific American.

The outer air is colder at night, and this always adds to the draught of chimnies; the colder water of streams is heavier at night, and owing to lessened evaporation, the volume of water is larger.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

☞ We see from our exchanges, that, Central and Southern Illinois is visited by terrible and fatal diseases—as a consequence of high waters.

COMMERCIAL.

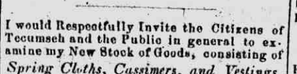
Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH August 5, 1858.

Wheat	75a82
Flour	4 50a5 00
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	28
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	30a60
Potatoes new	60
Onions	50
Apples, green	75
do dried	5a6
Butter	9
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00a,500
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	a7
Sheep pelts	40a60
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do dairy pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	83a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.



1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at "			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at "	9 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at "	7 20	"	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	3 10 "
Arrive at "			12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at "	7 36	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

June 10, 1858. J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture, warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice. CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 876w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 888m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

Grand Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saut Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND, At 8 O'CLOCK P. M.		DETROIT, AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.
Thursday,	July 8th	Friday	July 9th
Monday,	" 19th	Tuesday,	" 20th
Thursday	" 29th	Friday,	" 30th
Monday,	Aug. 9th	Tuesday,	Aug. 10th
Thursday	" 19th	Friday,	" 20th
Monday,	" 30th	Tuesday,	" 31st
Thursday,	Sep 9th	Friday,	Sept. 10th
Monday	" 20th	Tuesday,	" 21st
Thursday	" 30th	Friday,	Oct 1st
Monday,	Oct 11th	Tuesday,	" 12th
Thursday	" 21st	Friday,	" 22nd
Monday,	Nov. 1st	Tuesday	Nov. 2nd
Thursday	" 11th	Friday	" 12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers; lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior; the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictued Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character.

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Saut Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

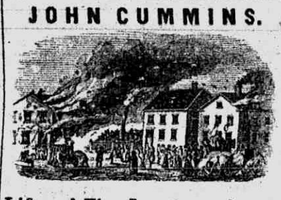
☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $44.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio.

S P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH. : : : MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHOENIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us Jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 893y

APPOTHECARIES HALL!

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

DR. MCCRUMS

Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,

Tecumseh. Aug 3d. 350

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards, Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

W. A. KING,

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their briliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh. Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c.

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept. 24th. 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

New Advertisements.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.

Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.

July, 1858. 400m4

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st. 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d. 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.

R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IN

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured.—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,

375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRESENT.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "
AND TO CLUBS.
Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2	Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5	do do do	200 00 do
10	do do do	100 00 do
10	patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20	Gold Watches	75 00 do
50	do	50 00 do
100	do	50 00 do
300	Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200	Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
600	Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000	Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

in typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and is now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &c.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western paper: WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.

Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10	copies to one P. O.	12.50	per	annum.
15	" " "	15.00	"	"
22	" " "	20.00	"	" and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL.

How to Eat Wisely.

1. Never sit down to a table with an anxious or disturbed mind; better a hundred fold intermit that meal, for there will then be that much more food in the world for hungrier stomache than yours; and, besides, eating under such circumstances can only, and will always, prolong and aggravate this condition of things.

2. Never sit down to a meal after any intense mental effort, for physical and mental injury are inevitable, and no man has a right to deliberately injure body, mind or estate.

3. Never go to a full table during bodily exhaustion—designated by some as being worn out, tired to death, used up, done over, and the like. The wisest thing you can do under such circumstances is to take a cracker and a cup of warm tea, either black or green, and no more. In ten minutes you will feel a degree of refreshment and liveliness which will be pleasantly surprising to you; not of the transient kind which a glass of liquor affords, but permanent; for the tea gives present stimulus and a little strength, and before it subsides nutriment begins to be drawn from the sugar and cream and bread, thus allowing the body gradually, and by safe degrees, to regain its usual vigor. Then, in a couple of hours, you may take a full meal, provided it does not bring it later than two hours before sundown; if later, then take nothing for that day in addition to the cracker and tea, and the next day you will feel a freshness and vigor not recently known.

My reader will require to be advised a second time who will make a trial as above, while it is a fact of no unusual observation, among intelligent physicians, that eating heartily, and under bodily exhaustion, is not unfrequently the cause of alarming and painful illness, and sometimes sudden death.

These things being so, let every family make it a point to assemble around the family board with kindly feelings, with a cheerful humor, and a courteous spirit; and let that member be absent from it in disgrace who presumes to mar the ought-to-be blest re union by sullen silence, or impatient look, or angry tone, or complaining tongue. Eat in thankful gladness, or away with you to the kitchen, you graceless churl, you ungrateful, pestilent lout that you are! There was a grand and good philosophy in the old-time custom of having a buffoon or music at the dinner table.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Some Facts in Agricultural Science.

What will produce mold—that is, water, carbon and salts—forms manure.

The great difference in the action of manures depends upon the differences of salts they contain.

Mold is active in proportion as it is more or less dissolved by watee.

Some substances render mold easily dissolved in water, and mold, being valuable in proportion to the ease with which it is dissolved, whatever enables it to dissolve may be added to it, and will increase its value. These substances are the alkalirs and alkaline earth,

The property of producing a substance which mold soluble depends upon the nitrogen of the manure. This nitrogen, in the process of decay of animal and vegetable matter, becomes ammonia.

A pound of nitrogen makes two and a half pounds of volatile salt, or ammonia; and equals a bushel of wheat.

The constituents of plants are, oxygen, nitrogen, hydrogen and chlorine gases, lime, clay, magnesia, iron, manganese and silex, potash and soda, phosphorus, sulphur and carbon. The first four are called gases; the following six are called earths and metals; and the last three are called combustibles.

When plants decay, they return to the earth she above elements, and form what is called mold or natural manure.

Mold is of two kinds—soluble and insoluble. It is valued in proportion as it is soluble.

Artificial manure is the salts, or a mixture of natural manure and salts.

The salts contain the sulphur, phosphirus and carbon, as sulphuric acid, phosphoric acid, and carbonic acid, and the chlorine as muriatic acid.

Decay is slow combustion, and gives the same products as fire. It is the union of the oxygen of the air with the carbon of the plants.

Potash and grease make soft soap.

Soda and grease make hard soap.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th, 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Jacob Shaver Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210, October 10th, 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same,

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six-teen of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Chesver, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian

BILLS & BAKER, Attorneys. JACOB SHEAVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 16th, 1858. 388w13.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 206, 207 and 208 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858. 293d13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage made and executed by James F. Merritt to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1855 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 9th day of May A. D 1855 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east, excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty first day of February, 1856, executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in liber W of Mortgages on folios 592 and 593, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages, on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Three Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the Twenty fourth day of September, A. D., 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD, Assignee.

Dated June 15th, 1858

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Deputh died seized and possessed, viz All that certain parcel of land situat in the township of Riga in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan and known and described as follows, to wit: The North East Quarter of the North West Quarter of Section number Three [3] in Township number Nine[9] south of range number Five [5] East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Dewuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH.

Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858 Administrator.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1858, executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F. Mott, to Orson B. Norton and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d, 1858 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith May 28th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less will be sold at public auction, on the 23d day of October next at one o'clock in the after noon, at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee

LUCIAN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right, title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By JOHN MCCONNELL, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated, June 15th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein I Shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th 1858. 399w6

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK? IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can. In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may favor us. Our charges for selling are usually five per cent., although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.

Wm. L. Klug, of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

[illegible] Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co. Boston.

[illegible] & Co., Boston.

[illegible] orth & Co., Boston

[illegible] ales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.

In attention is given to procuring and (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best offices. Information furnished of responsibility of Insurance Companies and other corporations

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 10th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten: also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

The marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS,

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in the Village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.

New York, And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed,—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n843ly HENRY LANCASTER

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

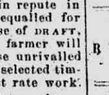
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

BRED EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS LEBARON	WALLAS GRAY,
D. L. SHOLES,	JEROME ALLEN
J. A. BEARS,	ALFRED JAMES,
O. G. ADAMS,	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL,



DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south west of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all operations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. F. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of

WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL

SELECTED STOCK OF

Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY,

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT)

JACKSON, - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

B. P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO. OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Apothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wool.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

Consumption, Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writings on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhalation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the Patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Drs. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N Y

May, 1858.

DR. ROBACK'S

SCANDINAVIAN

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Medical, &c.

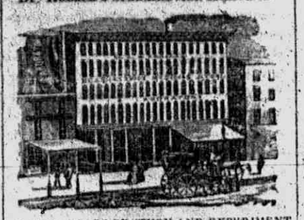
DR. ROBACK'S

BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character, indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits, consumption in its early stages, sore throats, piles, fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual debility, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, paralytic affections of paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility, diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber, are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid; it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which, if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

"In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS" Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

PERU, Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 4, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel:

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and advice, and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

LOUISVILLE, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curd & Co., so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me, that a twenty-five cent box of Pills could have relieved me of my chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your Pills did the contrary. Why I have taken as many as six (6) of ——'s and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI, Friday Sept. 4, 1857.

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted, I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines—but I must confess I felt its effect very sensibly and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me, therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Enquirer.

Sold by Druggists generally. Price 50 cents per box. Sent by mail on receipt of price.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give that information for the benefit of those similarly affected.

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac gratis from my agents.

Manufactory, Sales-Room and Office, No. 6 East Fourth street 3d building from Main street Cin., O.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh

N. BIDWELL Adrian, R. BROWNELL Clinton,

G. W. HAWKINS Medina, F. N. BUTLER Morenci,

And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan. 28, 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope), FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c. are constantly being published for gratuitious distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORG B. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2, South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.

399w EZRA D. H. FAREWELL, President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

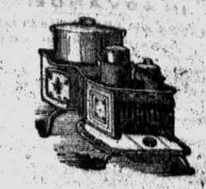
In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution, Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remtdies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every class,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save you[illegible]

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a splendid Gold Watches. Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted as solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Our plan is the only Publishing House that offers premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few articles, with the amount of the club for which is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time-keeper	$60	00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50	00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6	00
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2	00
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8	00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as gold, and gold pen	2	50
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4	00
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8	00
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4	00
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6	00
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6	00
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5	00
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	2	00
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	3	00
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2	00
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	1	00
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4	00
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	1	00
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2	00

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting
Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Bunney, 18x24
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains six large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular books of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same as in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and for Books or Journals amounting to $1, and for a club of $10, thus receiving for $10 Books or Journals amounting to $11, and for $11 amounting to $11. The amount to be sent postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person in every Post Office to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefor.

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers

400 Broadway, New York

NOTICE TO FARMERS

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Cast Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined. These Machines are Warranted to work well and on Suitable Ground, it will mow and will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858.

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

STONE COAL

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL

Tecumseh, Oct.

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 39. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 12, 1858. WHOLE NO. 404

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wm. W. CLARK, Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c. BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & COMPANY.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. P. L. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

W. M. STACY. T. D. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.

Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts

393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, —AND— INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

393 TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

A False Genius.

BY MISS A. A. PROCTOR.

I see a Spirit by thy side,
Purple-winged and eagle-eyed,
Looking like a Heavenly guide.

Though he seem so bright and fair,
Ere thou trust his fingered care,
Pause a little and [illegible];

If he bid thee [illegible]
Tending some ideal smart
In a sick and coward heart;

In self-worship wrapped alone, a
Dreaming thy poor griefs are grown
More than other men have known;

Dwelling in some cloudy sphere,
Though God's work is waiting here,
And God deigneth to be near;

If his torch's crimson glare
Showing the evil everywhere,
Tainting all the wholesome air;

White with strange distorted choice,
Still disdaining to rejoice,
Thou wilt hear a wailing voice

If a simple, humble heart,
Seem to thee a meaner part
Than thy noblest aim and art;

If he bid thee bow before
Crowned Mind, and nothing more,
The great Idol men adore;

And with starry veil unfold
Sin, the trailing serpent old,
Till his scales shine out like gold;

Though his words seem true and wise;
Soul, I say to thee, Arise,
He is a Demon in disguise!

RICH AND POOR.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

BY ELLEN L. CHANDER.

"Oh! mine was a perjured faith,
And mine a broken vow;
Else he I loved, and who loved me,
Were here beside me now"

'Come hither, Hanna, my poor, proud child!'

There was a world of music in my mother's deep, sorrowful voice, and I crossed the room in twilight, and threw myself on a low stool at her feet. The coal fire was smouldering in the grate. The carpet, with its dark, rich colors, looked warm and comfortable in the dim light, but outside the wind hurried howling by, and unquiet feet in the cold November rain paced around the house like a patient sentinel.

I had been a long time loved by one good and noble, and more than worthy. He was like some poet artist's conception of morning, with his calm high brow, his clear blue eyes, and golden tresses.—There was an expression of bold and fearless truth in his handsome features, and a look of loving tenderness about his mouth He was all sunshine, and he shone his way into my heart. I loved him, though I hardly acknowledged it to myself. He was poor, and I—I had but my proud old name, and the ruined mansion and the wasted patrimony of the proud race of Stuarts.

Another lover came, and this one was rich. The gold lay yellow and deep in his iron coffers, and the broad lands that called him master, all were green and fair. If Morgan Phillips was radiant with the beauty of morning, the other one, Hunt Henesly, was the personification of a stormy night, not wet with the rain of tears; but black, darkened and terrible with heavy tempest clouds, with now and then a star sparkling through them, like the gleam of a giant's burnished armor. I loved Morgan Phillips, but Hunt Henesley's wilder nature possessed a strange charm for my adventurous imagination.—With him I could realize every dream of my youth—I could cross the Eastern desert—bivouac among the Bedouins—stand among the ruins of Jerusalem—and weep over the fallen grandeur of Greece and Rome. With him I could float down the castled Rhine—look out on the stormy Hebrides—and follow the track of the old Norsemen across the Northern sea.

With Morgan Phillips what should I share? 'Love,' answered tremblingly the low voice in my heart, and I saw a vision of a peaceful home, where my presence would make sunshine. I twined the roses over the cottage walls, and rocked the blue-eyed children, bright with the golden hair of my husband; but the cozy table, with its visions of washing dishes and scouring knives; the blue eyed little ones; of my rocking, however fast the cradle jogged, would cry, and arrant fancy turned with a sigh of relief to the other picture—the lullaby of the peaceful Mediterranean, the summer isles upon her breast. Unconsciously I said aloud:

'I shall be Hunt Henesly's,' and then my mother called me to her side.

I thought, as I sat down at her feet, how beautiful she had been in years past, how beautiful she still was, with her great sorrowful black eyes. She looked at me steadfastly for a moment, and then she said, half sorrowfully:

'My child, you have promised to be Morgan Peillips' wife!'

'No, mamma, I am young yet.'

'Yes, very young; but if you have not promised, you have let him know for these many months that you loved him—that his presence at your side was welcome.—Now, Hanna, if you did not mean to wed him, was this right?'

I blushed, and was silent, and she continued:

'I know Hunt Henesley loves you also, and I will not counsel you. Your own heart will be your safest guide, if you will only follow it. Only, Hanna Stuart, my child, do not let ambition, power, luxury, or anything tempt you to marry without love. The retribution will be terrible,' and my mother drew her shawl about her and shuddered, albeit the room was warm. Her voice was low and husky as she went on:—

'I will tell you, my poor girl, a story of my own youth. You need the lesson and you shall have it.'

"I was motherless. I have the picture of the beautiful being who died that I might live, but she passed from earth ere she had clasped me to her breast. I was my father's idol, but at fifteen he died and left me poor. He had been wealthy, but after my mother's death he had trusted his fortune to a faithless steward, and I was scarcely above want.

"I was beautiful—the world said, and I knew it well. The face that met my gaze as I stood before the mirror, was bright and bewilderingly lovely. I had been educated in conventional retirement and my heart was fresh and pure. I loved!—Hanna, you have never known such a passion. It was worship—it was idolatry—it was the light of my life. And he I loved was poor. Allen Greame was fatherless like myself, but I was an inmate of his mother's cottage. Very tenderly they cherished the orphan committed to their charge. I knew that Allen loved me. I read it in every act; in the appealing tenderness with which his blue eyes rested on my face; in the care with which he anticipated my wishes, and in every intonation of his voice as he addressed me.

"But another suitor came. Allen Greame had never asked my love, and I never promised in so many words to be his bride, but for many months he had believed me all his own, and when your father visited the cottage, his eyes sought my face with a kind of questioning sadness. Time passed on, and seven weeks beheld me Percy Stuart's betrothed.—Looking back, I cannot see by what circumstance this change was brought about I worshipped Allen Greame as madly as ever. His smile was the sunshine of my existence. Your father loved me, or at least he idolized my beauty, and he was a noble, generous man. Still his presence had no power to awaken a single heart thrill. But he was rich and noble born. I coveted the proud rank of his wealth—the stately mansion and the old name,—It was a long struggle between love and ambition, but at last I laid my hand in his. Scorn me Hanna, hate me, I deserve it. I sinned wilfully, I knew I did not love him—the heart and soul were long yielded up in adoration to another—and yet I became his bride.

"Allen never reproached me, but the stony hopeless sorrow in his blue eyes was more bitter than the most terrible words. His mother was kind as ever, but I could see the hot tears fall upon the bridal garments she was making. And I—Oh, Hanna, I shudder, looking back thro' all these years, at the bare thought of my silent agony. I believe that I was more beautiful than ever. My eyes were wildly bright, and my cheeks flushed like wine an hundred years old mantling over a silver goblet. My bridegroom liked the impressive coldness of my manners. I do not think that he ever dreamed that I did not love him, and my stateliness accorded well with the lofty pride of himself and all his haughty family.

"I married him. The ceremony was over and he turned to kiss his wife for the first time, when a shriek rang thro' the church—a piercing, terrible shriek. Then there was a heavy fall. Allen was borne senseless. My husband might have suspected when he saw my anguish, that he was more than a brother. I called him, but he said nothing. He even acceded to my wild prayer that our bridal journey might be postponed until he was better, and permitted me to be a constant watcher at his bedside. My beloved had broken a blood vessel in his fall, and the fourth day he died. I held his hand as he faded gently.

"Katrine," he said, looking mournfully into my eyes, 'Katrine, it is very sweet to die thus with you beside me. I am dying of your love. I shall be happy, dearest, for an angel whispers you will be mine in Heaven. You have never said you loved me, but I know it. I know that my dying love is more to you than all this bright living world, and I am going where no shadows fall. Kiss me, Katrine, and then sing me that dear old song.'

"I had kissed him many times before, as a sister might—the free, innocent kisses of childhood; but then drawing his head to my bosom, I sang. It was a ballad we had sung many times together, when the stars were climbing up into the quiet sky. And I sang it now to the soul which was soon to climb above the stars—above the sky, even to the foot of the great white throne. He looked at me with floods of light swelling into his large blue eyes. Every moment he grew more beautiful, till I was frightened with his unutterable glory. I ceased, and his low voice whispered—'Katrine—Heaven.'

"The lids closed over those earnest eyes, peaceful as a child lays down to dream, and the golden head grew cold upon my bosom. I was alone—with my dead!"

My mother paused and clasped me to her heart, then releasing me she continued:

"Hanna, I knew in those early days your father loved me as he could love—not with the worship of the dead, but he was proud of me and tried to make me happy. He suffered much. The wife who rested on his bosom, slept in her dreams upon another's heart mixed with grave mould. When he clasped his arms around me, ever between their folds and my slender waist, were those cold arms of the dead. I pitied him, but my very soul was sick unto death, I could not feign the love which my heart could never—never feel.

"It was two years, Hanna, before you was born. He had learned of late to seek happiness otherwise. I did not trouble myself to inquire after the nature of his pursuits; I was grateful to be left alone. When you was put into my arms, I rained tears of blessings over you, and thanking God that my heart could love. As I lay there in silence, with my eyes shut, holding you on my heart, I heard my husband say:

"Perhaps this child will win her love for me. God grant it—we may yet be happier."

"It was a vain hope, Hanna; I was colder to him than ever. We both loved you. I would hold you in my arms hour after hour, raving madly over the dead who should have been your father. One night as I held you thus, my husband entered—

"Katrine," said he—"I shall die tonight—die by my own hand. I have lost my all at the gaming table, whither your coldness has driven me. I am sorry for your sake, and for the sake of our innocent child; but you deserve little else—who could sell yourself for station, when your being was another's?"

"I know his reproaches were just, and I sat still in defiant silence, holding you to my heart. For five minutes he stood silently looking on us. Then he spoke again with a softened tone:

'Nothing but a laborer,'—but the baby lays down her only toy, and claps her hands at each foot-fall, crowing, 'Papa! papa!'

'Nothing but a laborer,'—but as the night falls dark, those with anxious faces, clasped hands, and suspended breath, eagerly watch for the coming of him whose voice is forever hushed; who will never again whisper words of love to the wife who has worn out her life in toil for him; whose cheering tones will never more soothe the trouble of the little ones; whose strong arms lie, still and nerveless, never again to raise the crowing babe, who in her sweet sleep murmurs his loved name.

Mark the agony on the faces, as the messenger of woe approaches the door.—Hear the cry of anguish the poor widow gives, and see her fall fainting on the floor; listen to the children's sobs, and hear the babe's cry mingle with theirs as the wail of grief wakes her from her sleep. See the despair that falls on all as the corpse is borne in at the door where his coming was so anxiously looked for; and when the widow, turning from all consolation, calls, in heart-breaking accents, on the dear, loved name, and implores him to look up, to speak once more to her—when the children, kneeling near her, call in vain for mother's or father's care, then say, if you can, 'It is nothing but a laborer.'

☞ There are five hundred thousand more men than women in the United States. Hence, the female Free Lovers advocate polygamy.

The Patter of Little Feet.

Up with the sun at morning,
Away to the garden he hies,
To see if the sleepy blossoms
Have begun to open their eyes,—
Running a race with the wind,
With a step as light and fleet,
Under my window I hear
The patter of little feet.

Now to the brook he wanders,
In swift and noiseless flight,
Splashing the sparkling ripples
Like a fairy water-sprite.
No sand under fabled river,
Has gleams like his golden hair,
No pearly sea-shell is fairer
Than his slender ancles bare;
Nor the rosiest stem of coral
That blushes on ocean's bed,
Is sweet as the flush that follows
Our darling's fairy tread.

From a broad window my neighbor
Looks down on our little lot,
And watches the 'poor man's blessing'—
I cannot envy his lot.
He has pictures, books and music,
Bright fountains and noble trees,
Flowers that blossom in roses,
Birds from beyond the seas;
But never does childish laughter
His homeward footsteps greet,
His stately halls ne'er echo
To the tread of innocent feet.

This child is our 'speaking picture,'
A birdling that chatters and sings,
Sometimes a sleeping cherub—
(Our other one has wings)
His heart is a charmed casket,
Full of all that's cunning and sweet,
And no harp-strings hold such music
As follows his thrilling feet.

When the glory of sunset opens,
The highway by angels trod,
And seems to unbar the city
Whose builder and maker is God,
Close to the crystal portal,
I see by the gates of pearl,
The eyes of our other angel—
A twin-born little girl.

And I asked to be taught, and directed
To guide his footsteps aright,
So that I be accounted worthy
To walk in sandals of light,
And hear amid songs of welcome
From messengers trusty and fleet,
Oh the starry floor of heaven,
The patter of little feet.

Into the Sunshine.

'I wish father would come home.'

The voice that said this had a troubled tone, and the face that looked up was sad.

'Your father will be very angry,' said an aunt, who was sitting in the room with a book in her hand. The boy raised himself from the sofa, where he had been lying in tears for half an hour, and, with a touch of indignation in his voice, answered,

'He'll be sorry, not angry. Father never gets angry.'

For a few moments the aunt looked at the boy half curiously, and let her eyes fall again upon the book that was in her hand. The boy laid himself down upon the sofa again, and hid his face from sight.

'That's father now!' He started up; after the lapse of nearly ten minutes, as the sound of a bell reached his ears, and went to the room door. He stood there for a little while, and then came slowly back, saying, with a disappointed air,

'It isn't father. I wonder what keeps him so late; O, I wish he would come!'

'You seem to be anxious to get deeper into trouble,' said the aunt, who had only been in the house for a week, and who was neither very amiable nor very sympathising toward children. The boy's fault had provoked her, and she considered him a fit subject for punishment.

'I believe, aunt Phœbe, that you'd like to see me whipped,' said the boy, a little warmly. 'But you won't.'

'I must confess,' replied aunt Phœbe, 'that I think a little wholesome discipline of the kind you speak of would not be out of place. If you were my child, I am very sure you wouldn't escape.'

'I'm not your child; I don't want to be. Father's good, and loves me.'

'If your father is so good, and loves you so well, you must be a very ungrateful or a very inconsiderate boy. His goodness don't seem to have helped you much.'

'Hush, will you!' ejaculated the boy, excited to anger by this unkindness of speech.

'Phœbe!' It was the boy's mother who spoke now, for the first time. In an under tone, she added: 'You are wrong Richard is suffering quite enough, and you are doing him harm rather than good.'

Again the bell rang, and again the boy left the sofa, and went to the sitting-room door.

'It's father!' And he went gliding down stairs.

'Ah, Richard!' was the kindly greeting, as Mr. Gordon took the hand of his boy. 'But what's the matter, my son? You don't look happy.'

'Won't you come in here?' And Richard drew his father into the library. Mr. Gordon sat down, still holding Richard's hand.

'You are in trouble, my son. What has happened?'

The eyes of Richard filled with tears as he looked into his father's face. He tried to answer, but his lips quivered. Then he turned away, and opening the door of the cabinet, brought out the fragments of a broken statue which had been sent home only the day before, and set them on a table before his father, over whose countenance came, instantly, a shadow of regret.

'Who did this, my son?' was asked in an even voice.

'I did it.'

'How?'

"I threw my ball in there once—only once—in forgetfulness.'

The poor boy's tones were husky and tremulous.

A little while Mr. Gordon sat, controlling himself, and collecting his disturbed thoughts Then he said, cheerfully,

'What is done, Richard, can't be helped. Put the broken pieces away. You have had trouble enough about it, I can see—and reproof enough for your thoughtlessness—so I shall not add a word to increase your pain.'

'O, father!' And the boy threw his arms about his father's neck. 'You are so kind—so good!'

Five minutes later, and Richard entered the sitting room with his father. Aunt Phœbe looked up for two shadowed faces; but did not see them. She was puzzled.

'That was very unfortunate,' she said, a little while after Mr. Gordon came in. 'It was such an exquisite work of art. It is hopelessly ruined.'

Richard was leaning against his father when his aunt said this. Mr. Gordon only smiled and drew his arms closely around his boy. Mrs Gordon threw upon her sister a look of warning; but it was unheeded.

'I think Richard was a very naughty boy.'

'We have settled all that, Phœbe,' was the mild but firm answer of Mr. Gordon; and it is one of our rules to get into the sunshine as quickly as possible.'

Phœbe was rebuked; while Richard looked grateful, and, it may be, a little triumphant; for his aunt had borne down upon him rather too hard for a boy's patience to endure. * * *

Into the sunshine as quickly as possible! Oh, is not that the better philosophy for our homes? Is it not true Christian philosophy? It is selfishness that grows and repels, because a fault has been commited. Let us get the offender into the sunshine as quickly as possible, so that true thoughts and right feelings may grow vigorous in its warmth. We retain anger—not that anger may act as a wholesome discipline, but because we are unwilling to forgive. Ah, if we were always right with ourselves, we would oftener be right with our children.—[Steps Toward Heaven.

Nothing but a Laborer.'

BY VIRGINIA DE FORREST.

In passing along the street we saw a group of people congregated around a prostrate man.

'What is the matter?' we inquired.

'A man sun-struck.'

'Who is he?'

'Nothing but a laborer!'

'Nothing but a laborer.' A poor wife, sick and weary, watches every passer on the street, strains her ear to catch every foot fall, and hopes in vain that each one will prove to be the sunshine of her careworn and hard-working life.

'Nothing but a laborer'—but little children cluster around their mother's knee and ask in disappointed tones, 'why don't papa come?'

'Nothing but a laborer,'—but the baby lays down her only toy, and claps her hands at each foot-fall, crowing, 'Papa! papa!'

'Nothing but a laborer,'—but as the night falls dark, those with anxious faces, clasped hands, and suspended breath, eagerly watch for the coming of him whose voice is forever hushed; who will never again whisper words of love to the wife who has worn out her life in toil for him; whose cheering tones will never more soothe the trouble of the little ones; whose strong arms lie, still and nerveless, never again to raise the crowing babe, who in her sweet sleep murmurs his loved name.

Mark the agony on the faces, as the messenger of woe approaches the door.—Hear the cry of anguish the poor widow gives, and see her fall fainting on the floor; listen to the children's sobs, and hear the babe's cry mingle with theirs as the wail of grief wakes her from her sleep. See the despair that falls on all as the corpse is borne in at the door where his coming was so anxiously looked for; and when the widow, turning from all consolation, calls, in heart-breaking accents, on the dear, loved name, and implores him to look up, to speak once more to her—when the children, kneeling near her, call in vain for mother's or father's care, then say, if you can, 'It is nothing but a laborer.'

Items to Fill Up.

A young man without money among the ladies, is like the moon in a cloudy night—he can't shine.

If you would rise in the world, you must not stop to kick at every cur that barks at you as you pass along.

A fop is like a cinnamon tree—the bark is worth more than the body.

Snooks says, the ladies no longer 'set their caps' to catch the beau—they spread their skirts.

A young poet out West, in describing Heaven, says: 'It is a world of bliss fenced with girls.'

It is said some babies are so small that they can creep into quart measures. But the way in which some adults can walk into such measures is astonishing.

There is only one objection to people who 'mean well,' and that is they never can spare time to carry out their meaning.

When a daughter remarks, 'Mother, I would not hire help, for I can assist you to do all the work in the kitchen,' set it down that she will make a good wife.

Ladies have generally a great fear of lightning, and this has been superficially ascribed to their natural timidity; but the truth is, that it arises from their consciousness of being attractive.

A lady who obstinately persists in wearing hoops ought not to complain of being ridiculed. If she will make a barrel of herself she must expect to be treated as a butt.

Kit North says, it is no wonder that women love cats, for both are graceful, and both domestic—not to mention that they both scratch.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

The Old Green Lane.

'Twas a shady path by the brook, Lib;
Where the bright spring daisies grew,
And softly fanned by southern winds
Were the little violets blue;
But fairer the gloom of the maple bloom
Just laved in the summer rain,
When with bounding step at twilight, Lib;
We threaded the Old Green Lane.

'Twas a quiet nook 'neath the grapevines, Lib;
Where the sun came glancing through
And poplars shivered along the bank,
Hiding the pond from view;
And 'twas pleasant to sit in summer time
With their boughs for a leafy screen,
But fairer the curtains o'er us, Lib;
When we danced in the Old Green Lane.

'Twas beautiful on the hill-side, Lib;
Where the crimson berries grew,
When we sought for fated clover leaves
And the dew fraught Elfin shoe;
O, the warm light slept on the tangled grass
And glowed on the spangled plain,
When we gathered the roses and braided, Lib;
The wreaths, in the Old Green Lane.

'Twas a glorious place at twilight, Lib;
When the red lights, dying hue,
Grew thread-like 'mid the golden clouds
And pearl bands clasped the blue,
The starlight tipped the lofty limbs
With a mimic touch of flame,
As beneath the elm we lingered, Lib;
To talk, in the Old Green Lane.

That ample road I see it now
With its palisades of green,
Towering aloft in majesty
In the moon-lights hazy beam,
And when our last good night is breathed
And the light of life doth wane,
May we by the glow of love-light, Lib;
Walk through the darkened lane. H H S.

Correspondence of the St Louis Democrat.

Hunting at Gen. Harney's Head Quarters—Peril of an Officer.

Beyond Ft. Kearny, July 3.

Wolves were seen frequently during the day, and just as we came on the camping ground, a large one was started. Gen. Harney's gray-hound caught sight of him, pursued and over-took him—and never touched a hair. Whether he was afraid of the wolf or merely friendly I am unable to say. This chase was hardly over, when a herd (seven or eight) of Buffalo were discerned about two miles off. Capt Pleasonton, Gen. Harney's aid, set out in pursuit, by himself, armed only with a Colt's pistol and had a dangerous adventure. His purpose was to run the game towards the camp. He succeeded in driving them in the direction intended, when a body of teamsters, desirous of witnessing the sport, came in sight. The Buffalo took fright and made for the hills. The hunter pursued them, but rode a horse which was hard to manage besides. The hunter singled out a bull, and shot him twice, wounding him both times. By this time he was quite close to him, on the verge of one of those clayey precipices with which the place abounds. The hunted animal suddenly stopped, stretching out his forelegs, and wheeling upon them as on a pivot, bringing himself face to face with his pursuers.

The horse was unmanagable and rushed on the bull who set his horns to meet the onset. The collision was fearful. Pleasanton, conscious of his situation, had disengaged his feet from the stirrups, and just as the shock took place, or perhaps a moment sooner, sprung upon the back of the bull, from which he rolled down the precipice. The horse having been gored in the breast and belly, died instantly—The bull next charged on the dismounted rider but two more bullets from the revolver persuaded him to alter his course. Capt. Pleasanton, I am rejoiced to say suffered no personal injury. He took the affair very coolly, unbuckled the girths of the slaughtered steed, slung the saddle and accoutrements across his shoulder and carried them to the camp. No orr-reador or matador in the Spanish circus could have a more formidable antagonist or a narrow escape. The sport of Buffalo hunting is now fairly initiated. Capt Hitchcock, with the guide, chased another herd for miles. The Captain succeeded in lodging a bullet from the new Burnside rifle in one of them, and the guide hit another; but it was so late they had to turn from the pursuit before running them down. The buffalo has such great vitality that he runs for miles after being mortally wounded. No shot, unless it penetrates the heart, brings him to the ground at once.

A Mistake Corrected.

Office of Public Instruction,
Lansing, Mich July 30th, 1858

Having been several times written to in relation to the time of the Annual School District Meetings, and having learned that suits at law have been instituted in consequence of a misapprehension of the facts in the case, I deem it proper to state that the time of holding these meetings is the last Monday in September, as stated in the Revised Statutes and School Law, and as repeated in the Blank Reports and Circulars; and not the first Monday, as misprinted in the Compiled Laws. ERA MAYHEW, Superintendent.

[Township Clerks and Justices of the Peace would do well to correct the mistake with pen or pencil, in the copies they have in their possession.

☞ Men who make money, rarely saunter, men who save money, rarely swagger.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1858.

Another Political Canvass.

On every side we hear the notes of preparation, and are admonished that we are upon the eve of another political canvass. It is the commencement of a period peculiarly trying to a paper like the Herald, not devoted to the discussion of politics. Although, as is well understood, we claim to be independent rather than neutral, yet we have from the first, for the most part refrained from introducing those subjects which form the staple of a partizan contest. The misfortune of this is, that at such times the minds of men are so almost wholly occupied with those subjects, that they are but little disposed to attach any interest or importance to anything else, and a paper not occupied with these subjects is to them for the time, comparatively tame and valueless.

Yet while we have and must confess to these disadvantages of position, we have also some counterbalancing advantages which can hardly be overlooked, or lightly estimated. Without indicating any course or decision in the contest, we may oftentimes, more properly perhaps, and more dispassionately, suggest, the elementary considerations and principles upon which a decision should be formed.

The heat of a partizan contest is not by any means the most favorable position for a wise and deliberate conclusion upon any of the subjects involved, but the farther removed, we can be from this, the more likely are we to come to a correct opinion and deductions.

Now as to their political, as well as other sentiments, all persons desire to be, and think they are right. There can be no good reason why any one should desire to be otherwise.

Now to always concede this, and bear it in mind would add much to the amenities of a contest oftentimes but too harsh and uncompromising.

It is also well to remember that whatever may be our opinions upon any given subject, or however firm we may be fixed in them, others have just as good a right to think differently, as we have to think as we do. To abuse another then for thinking differently from what we do ourselves is the mark of a weak minded tyrant, and not of a magnanimous freeman.

Besides men oftentimes overreach themselves in making rude and unscrupulous attacks upon the principles or motives of an opponent, forgetting that human nature is so constituted that it cannot fail to sympathize with and in a measure favor the cause of one who is seen to be unjustly assailed. Policy then, if not principle, should always induce one to treat his opponent honorably and fairly, and were this dictate of courtesy and of good sense, alike to predominate upon the hustings, and sanctum, much needless animosity would be spared, and fewer causes, in themselves perhaps worthy of success, would be marred and it may be, hopelessly defeated, by an ill advised and unscrupulous support.

Petersons Magazine.

The September No. of Peterson is promptly received and always welcome.—It is embellished as usual with a plate engraving, copious Fashion and Pattern plates, and its reading contents are full, varied and interesting. Those wishing to obtain it will address C. J. Peterson Esq Phila.—Terms $2.00 per annum.

New York, August 9.

We understand that the recording instruments for the Atlantic cable are in such a state of forwardness as to insure the early opening of the line for business. It is understood that the transmission of the Queen's and President's first message through the cable will take place in the afternoon and probably in the course of the week. Instantly after the transmission of the President's reply to the Queen's communication the two messages by consent of the President and through the co-operation of the managers and employees of the telegraph lines throughout the country, will be made public, and from Quebec to the boundary of civilization in the Northwest. We have assurances from all points, that so soon as the Queen's and President's messages are received, there will be public and private demonstrations of joy, by the ringing of bells, firing of salutes and so forth, in every city and town throughout the whole country. It is understood that Mr. Field will cause notice to be given in advance of the day when the first message will be transmitted through the cable.

☞ Parson Brownlow, of Tennessee, is to hold a public discussion on the slavery question in Philadelphia, commencing on the 7th of September next.—His antagonist is Rev. A. Payne, editor of the Ohio Reformer.

A Mother is too good a creditor for her children ever to be able to repay her here below.

The Tenth of September.

The Erie Conductor, in endorsing the proposed Grand Pic Nic at Put-in-Bay on the 10th of September next, (which, by the way, bids fair to be generally accepted,) recalls some of the local incidents connected with Perry's expedition. The building of the fleet it says, was one of the 'fastest' enterprises of the age. Com Perry arrived in Erie on the 27th of Feb. 1813. He immediately commenced arrangements for building his vessels. Early in August following his fleet was ready for sea. The timber of which the vessels were built was standing in the forest when Perry arrived and was cut and prepared under his supervision.—His fleet consisted of nine vessels carrying 54 guns, and the British fleet consisted of six vessels carrying 63 guns. While Perry was getting his fleet over the bar which then existed at the entrance to Erie harbor, the British fleet passed up the lake in full view. As the American vessels were lighted to get them over, it would not have been a difficult matter for the British to have disabled them had they known their condition. They did not discover their advantage, however, and in a few days had an opportunity of testing the quality of American live oak, and the bravery of the forces under Perry.

The flag ship Lawrence is sunk near the old government house, on the north side of Presque Isle Bay, and the hull is visible a short distance under the water. Most of its best planks have been torn up and converted into canes, and a good many dollars have been realized in the operation. If enough timber can be procured from the remains of the vessel, we suggest that a large basket be made of the same, in which to carry provisions to the Put-in Bay party. It would certainly be an interesting relic to all the visitors on the occasion.

Decline in Railway Revenues.—The United States Economist, basing its calculations on the cost of the roads and their comparative earnings for five months in 1857, and for the corresponding period in 1858, of sixteen of the principal roads in the country, concludes that there has been in five months a decline of nearly $4,000,000 in the revenues of all the railroads in the United States, or an aggregate of capital invested amounting to $91,000,000.

☞ Francis P. Blair, Jr., the Free labor candidate of St. Louis, has been defeated by a majority of about 800.—This is what had been expected, from the fact that three candidates were in the field. An American candidate was run with no idea of his being elected, but for the purpose of dividing the Free labor men. The "unholy alliance" in this instance was between the Democrats and the Know Nothings

Judge Campbell's Opinion.—The Buffalo Commercial publishes the Opinion of our Supreme Court pronounced by Judge Campbell relative to the Lakes and Inland Navigation, and in doing so takes occasion to say: "The decision is perhaps the most important to our lake commerce which has been made for years. On this account and on account of the ability of the opinion itself, we permit it to occupy the space it does."

☞ The stockholders of the Fremont and Indiana Railroad voted at their meeting on the 3d in favor of a consolidation of that line with the Sandusky, Indiana and Louisville Railroad Company. The friends of the enterprise are very hopeful of the early completion of that road.

State Bank of Indiana.—The Cashier of this Institution has given notice in the Indianapolis papers that the charter expires on the 1st of January next; after which no provision is made for outstanding notes. Holders of notes are notified to present their claims to the proper branches for redemption immediately.

Accident to Senator Chandler.—Hon. Z. Chandler, we regret to learn, met with a serious injury by an explosion from a gas pipe at his residence in Detroit, on the 2d inst. He was thrown down and severely burned about the face, neck and hands. Several others, including Chandler's little daughter, were also hurt, but none so badly as himself. He is reported to be improving, altho' suffering much.

☞ It is stated that Brigham Young is willing to be tried for treason provided he can have a Mormon jury. He is like a certain Rev. gent, who, in order to effect the expulsion of a poor man, after an honorable acquittal by an intelligent committee, selected a jury whom he knew to be favorable to his inquisitorial purpose, and accomplished his object, no doubt much to his satisfaction. This is a demonstration of "the right of trial by jury" with a vengeance.

☞ Randolph says, that once upon a time a colored cook expected company of her own kind and was at a loss to know how to entertain her friends. Her mistress said, 'Chloe, you must make an apology.' 'Good Lor! missus, how can I—got nothing to make 'em with.'

General News.

The Atlantic Cable laid!

Trinity Bay, N. F., Aug 5.

To the Associated Press:—The Atlantic Telegraph Fleet sailed from Queenstown on Saturday, July 17, and reached mid-ocean on Wednesday, (28th,) made the splice at 1 P M, on Thursday (29th), and then separated—the Agamemnon and Valorous bound to Valentia, Ireland, and the Niagara and Gorgon for this place, where they arrived yesterday, and this morning the end of the Cable will be landed. It is 1698 nautical, or 1950 statute miles from the telegraph house at the head of Valentia harbor to the telegraph house, Bay of Bulls, Trinity Bay, and for more than two-thirds of this distance the water is over two miles in depth.

The Cable has been paid out from the Agamemnon at about the same speed as from the Niagara. The electrical signals sent and received through the whole cable are perfect. The machinery for paying out the cable worked in the most satisfactory manner and was not stopped a single moment from the time the splice was made until we arrived.

Captain Hudson, Messrs. Everett & Woodhouse, the engineers, the electricians and officers of the boat, in fact, every man on board the telegraph fleet have exerted themselves to the utmost, to make the expedition successful and by the blessing of Divine Providence it has succeeded. After the end of the cable is landed and connected with the land line of telegraph and the Niagara has disharged some cargo belonging to the telegraph company, she will go to St Johns for coal and then proceed at once to New York.

Signed Cyrus W. Field.

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.

The President who is at Bedford received the first intimation of the successful laying of the Atlantic Cable through the associated press. The following is a copy of Mr. Fields' message:

To the President of the U. S, Washington,—Dear Sir: The Atlantic Telegraph Cable on board the U S. steam frigate Niagara and her B. M. ship Agamemnon, was joined in mid ocean July 29th, and has been successfully laid, and as soon as the two ends are connected with the land lines, Queen Victoria will send a message to you, and the Cable will be kept free until your reply has been transmitted. With great respect, I remain your obedient servant, Cyrus W. Field.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.

The President has given permission to the associated press to copy the messages referring to the opening of the Telegraph Cable:

Bedford, Pa., Aug. 5.—To Cyrus W. Field, Trinity Bay: My Dear Sir—I congratulate you with all my heart on the success of the great enterprise with which your name is so honorably connected.—Under the blessing of Divine Providence I trust it may prove instrumental in promoting perpetual peace and friendship between kindred nations. I have not yet received the Queen's despatch. Yours, very respectfully.

Signed, James Buchanan.

Toronto, Aug 5.

The ministerial crisis still continues, and the excitement to-day has greatly increased.

Mr. Galt who was called in by the Governor General yesterday, has, to-day declined to undertake the formation of a new cabinet.

It is reported that Mr. Cartier who was a member of the Macdonald cabinet is called in to form a ministry.

Mr Brown's organ, the Globe, attacks the Governor General for not dissolving Parliament. A lengthy correspondence in writing between Mr. Brown and the Gobernor General was produced in Parliament last night.

D'Arcy McGee made a great speech condemning the Governor General and supporting Mr. Brown.

St. Louis, Aug. 5.

A despatch from St. Joseph. dat. Aug. 2, says the Salt Lake mail had arrived; but it brings no news of importance. Order and quiet had been restored in all Utah, and the Mormons expressed themselves highly pleased with the Territorial officers. Upon Gen. Johnston's entrance into the city, the few remaining Mormons fled.

Commissioners Powell & McCulloch had fully completed the duty assigned to them, and were passed at Fort Laramie, en route for home.

Gen. Johnston had issued a proclamation prohibiting the citizens and soldiers from disturbing the Mormons or their cattle, nor allowing any of the troops to enter the city on any pretext whatever.

The rivers along the route were all high. Indians all peaceable.

New Orleans, Aug. 5.

A vessel at the balise saw a suspicious looking schooner full of men in lat 26-00; lon 89-20. She avoided speaking; she had a swivel gun and other arms aboard.

Duel yesterday between Henry and Howell, former severely wounded.

Washington, Aug 5.

Tampico news of the 19th of July has been received at New Orleans. The Government troops under Muramon had triumphed over the insurrectionary troops at Huarataro, but were subsequently defeated. Pueblatell, Constitutionalists, while retreating from Guanaxato, was attacked by Cobas, a Zuloagist, from Celaha. His forces were routed and himself and many of them taken prisoners and afterwards summarily executed. There had been an outbreak in the districts of Zeirza and Hasteca in favor of the Constitutionalists, and Gen. Moreno of Tampico, had left that city with six hundred men to endeavor to suppess it. Previous to starting he issued a proclamation to the Pronuncialists offering them amnesty, on condition of surrendering their arms.

The War steamer Guerrero was at Tampico, as a harbor defence.

Gen. Vidaurri intended to send from San Luis Potosi 3,000 men against Guanaxato, and 4,000 more were to leave San Luis on the 12th for the Capital.

Gen. Caravayaral was on the road between Tampico and Toncassicque and Victoria, cutting off communication with tee interior.

Adrian, Aug. 7.

Cook & Waldron's flouring mill at Hillsdale, together with a considerable quantity of flour and grain, was burned this morning. Loss $12,000—no insurance. The fire took in the engine room.

Trinity Bay, Aug. 7.

The Atlantic Telegraph Cable was successfully landed here yesterday morning and is in perfect order.

The Agamemnon has landed her end of the cable and we are now receiving signals from the telegraph house at Valentia Bay, Ireland.

The U. S. steamer Niagara and H B. M. sts. Gorgon and Porcupine, will leave for St. Johns, N F, to-morrow.

Due notice will be given when the Atlantic telegraph line will be open for public business.

New York, Aug 7.

The keposits made with the U S. sub Treasury indicate that the bids for the new loan are $18,500,000 for the ten millions to be awarded. It is rumored that two bids will be made in Washington for the whole loan, and at full prices.

Instructions have gone to Gen. Lamar to advise Costa Rica and Nicaragua that the United Stares will take justice in their own hands. Teresa is not accredited here.

The steamer Glasgow, which left to day for Glasgow, took out 230 passengers.

The publishers, printers, editors and artists, of Frank Leslie's Journal, were arrested to-day for new libels on Aldermen Reed and. Mike Toumay, and swill milk.

Trinity Bay, Aug. 8.

The people here seem to have little faith—have made very slight preparations. One end of the Atlantic Cable was landed on the Irish shore by the Niagara on the 5th of August, 1857. The other end from the same vessel on the 5th of August, 1858. The shore-end from Valentia land last year remains; so both ends have been actually laid by the Niagara.

New Orleans, Aug. 9.

The steamer Virginia while on an excursion on the lake, was blown up at Jefferson wharf. She was completely wrecked and sunk in fifteen minutes. A number of persons were injured and some men were missing; there were but few on board. It is supposed to have been a powder explosion and foul play is suspected.

New York, Aug. 9.

Stocks dull, prices lower but closing firmer. Money supply offering continues large and rather easier at 3a4 per cent on call, and 5a6 for short best paper; the demond is good. London Exchange quiet and nominal.

The steamship Arago arrived this morning.

She brings 107 passengers and $28,000 in specie and 350 tons of merchandise on consignment.

A part of the Ravel Troupe are among her passengers.

She passed the Barussia hence for Southampton.

At Goodwood on the 26th, Mr. Tenbroeck won a match race with Orianda against Mimosa for £200 a side, for the Stewart cup.

New York, Aug. 9.

Flour—$4,35a4,50 super western; and $4,70a5,35 common to medium extra western. Wheat—$1,08 white western. Corn—72a78c.

Chicago, Aug. 9.

Senator Trumbull and Hon. John Wentworth addressed an enthusiastic audience on the political topics of thesday, from the balcony of the Tremont House, on Saturday evening. The number in attendance is estimated at 3,000.

☞ Senator Seward is occasionally pretty smart. A Pennsylvania Democrat rallied him on what the latter called his brightning prospects for the Presidency. 'No, sir,' said Mr. Seward, 'Pennsylvania must have her turn. She has not yet had a President and will claim the nomination.'

St. Louis, Aug 7.

Gen. Harney, Maj Buell, Capt. Pleasanton and Surgeon Wright, arrived here last evening.

The Councils between Gen. Hardey and the Cheyennes at Cottonwood Springs and the Pawnees near Fort Kearney, resulted in their pledging themselves not to molest the whites, and promising to remain at peace with each other.

The Utah correspondent of the Republican under date of July 3, says that Brigham Young has had all the animals, taken from the Government trains last fall, driven into Salt Lake City, for the purpose of having them delivered to Gen. Johnston. Young has desired that Gov. Cumming should receive them officially and forward them to Johnston.

Leavenworth, K. T. Aug. 4.

By U. S. express to Boonville, Aug. 7, complete returns from Leavenworth co., give a majority of 1,748 against the bill. Partial returns from Fawnee, Johnson and Franklin counties, increase the majority against the bill to 4,704.

Total vote of these counties as received is 6,846. It is thought that the whole vote of the Territory will reach 13,000. The bill is defeated.

Companies are now organizing in this city to go to Frazier river via the Plains.

Struck by Lightning—A severe thunder storm passed over this section on Sunday afternoon. We learn that a barn belonging to Mrs. Dowling, three miles west on the Plank Road, was struck, and consumed with its contents. The barn was filled with harvested crops, and agricultural implements. Partly insured.

We hear also that the 'Old American' in this city was struck and somewhat damaged by the shock.—Adrian Exp

DIED

In this village, on the 6th inst., of Scarlet Fever, Clara Francella, daughter of Stephen H. and Charlotte Crossman, aged 8 years and 4 months.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh, Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next, before, each full moon.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,
403 Tecumseh, Michigan.

ISLAND HOUSE.
W P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO. OHIO

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

Executive Committee.

Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the above society, at the office of Bills & Baxter in the Village of Tecumseh on Saturday the 14th, day of August inst., at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing a Committee of Arrangements, and making such other preparations as may be deemed expedient for the annual fair of the society to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday the 16th day of September next.

B. L Baxter, Secretary.

Tecumseh, August 5th, 1858.

☞ We wish to call the attention of the inhabitants of Tecumseh and vicinity to an article of Medicine known as Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, recommended for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Piles, and all Rheumatic affections; and is doing the work in every case when taken according to the directions, which accompany each bottle.—Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free. Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 398

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and Newcastle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL, Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

New Advertisements.

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or by the barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 6th. E TINDALL

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin, Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their effective proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties. a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and free from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY
W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York, And For Sale
ALL DRUGGISTS.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. CHARLES S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York,) known as the author of a "New and Successful Treatment" for the diseases of the Urinary Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is not connected with any professional connection with those sent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office, associate or partner at Buffalo, Cincinnati, Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not been for many years. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name or pretending to have now, or to have had any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter. A visit from the patient prefered. His "Six Lectures" on the above and explaining the method by which he treats the above diseases (160 pages, bound in cloth) mailed, post paid, for 40 cents. ☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Pittsburgh, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, 714 Broadway, New York, &c.

June 1858. 398

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood

I have at all times a supply of this admirable preparations. As Spring approaches and for the relief and cure of other diseases arising from impure blood or a derangement of the digestive organs or nerves, I have abundant evidence to prove that they are unequaled. Try them. HENRY [illegible]

Tecumseh, April 1858.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDDLE.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square. (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ogeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South,	6 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

ANTI-SLAVERY LECTURE!

JAMES E. BURR, who with Alanson Work and George Th ompson, was sentenced twelve years to the State Prison of Missouri, for an act of Humanity, will address the people of this place on the subject of American Slavery, in connection with his arrest, trial, imprisonment and pardon; at Union Hall in the village of Tecumseh, on Friday evening, August 13th, 1858, at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is respectfully solicited.

☞ The publisher's absence will serve as a sufficient apology for any lack of interest in our columns

☞ ICE CREAM!—At James', of superior quality. Every one should enjoy a dish of ice cream semi occasionally.

☞ Chas. DeMott has HARPER for August.

☞ Our friend S. WALKER of Cambridge has procured tickets for a harvest dance, Sept 16th. Music by Allen's Band; bill $2. A good time may be expected

☞ The MANSION HOUSE in this village, has been re opened again, under the direction of MR. WM NIXON, and we trust the Mansion will be well kept, and be made as it should be, the Traveller's Home. Mr. Nixon is a clever man and deserving of patronage.

☞ The steamer North Star left Cleveland, on Monday evening last, 9th inst, with the TECUMSEH BAND on board. A pleasant journey and safe return is the wish of their many friends.

☞ The next Annual Fair of the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society will be held in this village on Thursday, Sep. 16th, 1858.

☞ NEW BROOMS.—A meeting was held on the 2d inst., at the Astor House, New York, to take suitable action regarding the death of the late Gen Sup't Brown. It was largely attended by railroad men, and presided over by John F. Porter, Esq. Mr. Lockwood acting as Secretary—Resolutions of respect for the deceased and condolence with his family were passed.

☞ The earnings of the Mich South. Railroad for the third week in July, were $26,913 92, against $35,504 36 of the same time in 1857—a very small decrease when the average of business in each year is considered.

☞ The M. S. R. R., paid the interest coupons due on the 1st inst, on the Detroit, Monroe & Toledo, the Northern Indiana, and the Jackson and Goshen Branch Bonds at the Corn Exchange Bk. New York.

☞ STATE FAIR.—It has been decided to hold the next Michigan Annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society in the city of Detroit, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 28th, 29th and 30th, and October 1st. The Advertiser says:—The Fair will be held on the new Riding Park of Mr. Foster, on Woodward Avenue, above the Grand Circus. This is the most favorable location that has ever been secured for the Fair in this city, and as good as could be desired. It was a serious objection to the Fair, the two past years, having it located in Hamtramck, so far distant from the heart of the city and the hotels, and it was this fact that had its influence last year in reducing the receipts, and rendering it unsatisfactory to those who came a distance to attend it. We are glad to say this objection will not exist this year. The grounds are beautifully located, and this side of the toll gate. The committee are making all the necessary preparations to render it sat isfactory in every respect, and one of the best State Fairs ever held in the State.

☞ The poorest living man is an Iowa editor, who has become so hollow from depending upon the printing business alone for bread, that he proposes to sell himself for stovepipe at three cents a foot.

☞ "SHOW THEM UP."—A firm styled "Chichester & Sanford," advertising agents, Philadelphia, are serving the country press a scurvy trick in their line of business. A contract was made for the insertion of an advertisemgnt one year, and the price and times of payment agreed upon. At the end of three months these 'agents' sent a circular to their victims, informing them that if they would publish another advertisement one year gratuitously, they would pay according to contract—otherwise they might consider the contract canceled! Chichester & Sanford will pay for the time contracted for if they are pecuniarily responsible, and if there is any virtue in Pennsylvania statutes. The object of this article is to warn those of our brethren who are yet luckily innocent of the acquaintance of these sharpers.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

Served you right, Mr. Telegraph. If you will trust every one who sends you an 'ad.' with a request to publish it, dictating on what terms, if any, and how, and when you shall receive your pay, you ought to get 'bit.' There are but a very few Advertising Agencies that we will pay any attention to any way, and those we are always sure are all right. For a time we tried to do business with these fellows, but we soon found that we were doing their advertising for nothing and trying to collect it. We wish our cotemporaries would give these rascals their due, and we should in a short time be exempt from their attentions. It is a system which we have always been opposed to, and shall continue to oppose it so long as we are able.—Branch Co. Republican.

We have been thro' the mill, and have concluded to double the whole of our 'adv.'s' before we will accept promises to pay 3, 6, 9 & 12 months. S. M. Pettingill & Co., are the only persons we charge advertising to outside of Lenawee co.

G. R. & I. RAILROAD.—The Dayton (O.) Gazette states that Mr. D. Beckel, of that city, has recently entered into a contract for constructing 88 miles of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad, commencing at Kalamazoo and running 40 miles beyond Grand Rapids. The 88 miles are to be completed by the 1st of October, 1860; the price $1,200,000.

COAL BED.—The Eaton Republican says the Lansing Company have bored to the depth of 40 feet in the Delta Company Mines (Eaton county) and found the best of coal.

☞ A New York paper says that, "Christ's Church has been moved from 18th street to Fifth Avenue." We supposed, says the Albany Statesman it had left the city entirely a long time ago.

☞ The trained camel belonging to Dan Rice's circus was killed lately by the falling of a bridge, 9 or 10 miles from Greencastle, Ind. The elephant was on the bridge at the same time time, and fell through into the creek, a distance of 20 feet, uninjured.

☞ A chimney built in Northampton, Mass., in 1793, on being recently taken down, furnished bricks enough to build three modern chimneys, an underpinning to the house, a cistern, eight piers in the cellar, and a drain three hundred feet long, besides a wagon load sold and a lot on hand.

☞ The remains of two lifeless children were found nailed up in a box in St. Louis, on Sunday last, the coroner was summoned and an investigation was about to be held, when they turned out to be wax figures.

☞ The only living heir of the late President Monroe is Samuel L. Gouverneur, a clerk in the Treasury Department. His mother was the President's youngest sister.

☞ The gold on Fraser's River was first discovered by an American named Charles Adams, who fell a martyr to the discovery, having been shot by his partner, in a controversy about the gold.

☞ A process has been invented, and is in successful operation in London, for the manufacture of ice by the evaporation of Æther. The article produced is of good quality, and costs about $2.50 a ton.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

ENIGMA:

I am composed of seventeen letters.
My 15, 11, 1, is a very troublesome insect
My 4, 9, 16, 1, is a place of defence.
My 2, 3, 17, 1, causes must sickness.
My 14, 16, 3, 3, 11, is a color.
My 16, 13, 8, 12, 17, is the name of a valley.
My 4, 16, 9, 8, 1, we are not always pleased to welcome.
My 14, 3, 9, 16, 14, 3, is a male name.
My 16, 15, 11, is found very useful in summer.
My 2, 9, 17, 12, 1, 9, 11, is a sort of lace.
My 17, 11, 11, 5, 2, is a female name.
My 14, 3, 11, 3, 16, 13, 7, is a title of honor.
My 16, 5, 1, 8, are very destructive animals
My whole is a most delightful scenery.

L. M.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH August 5, 1858.

Wheat	75a82
Flour	4 50a5 00
Buckwheat	35
" flour	3 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	28
Clover seed	4 00
Beans	80a90
Potatoes new	60
Onions	50
Apples, green	75
do dried	5a6
Butter	8
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00a5 00
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	7
Sheep pelts	40a50
Salt, fine	1 88
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

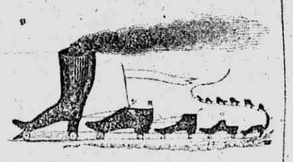
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 53	"	3 43 "
Arrive at	9 55	"	5 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 29	"	5 30 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 23	"	1 50 "
Arrive at			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at			12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 50	"	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 36	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 55 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad, at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south, at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice

CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 388w6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS.

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

Call and See

T. DEUEL

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

Grand Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saut Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND, AT 5 O'CLOCK P. M.		DETROIT, AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M.
Thursday, July 8th		Friday	July 9th
Monday " 19th		Tuesday, "	20th
Thursday " 29th		Friday, "	30th
Monday, Aug. 9th		Tuesday, Aug	10th
Thursday " 19th		Friday, "	20th
Monday, " 30th		Tuesday, "	31st
Thursday, Sep 9th		Friday, Sept	10th
Monday " 20th		Tuesday, "	21st
Thursday " 30th		Friday, " Oct	1st.
Monday, Oct 11th		Tuesday, "	12th
Thursday " 21st		Friday, "	22nd
Monday, Nov 1st		Tuesday, Nov	2nd
Thursday " 11th		Friday "	12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers; lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior—the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictured Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Saut Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

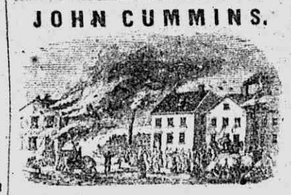
☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $41.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio.

S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport N Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in Warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders.

for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

DR. MCCRUMS

Receipt Book, or

The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,

Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probability is will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods,

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards, Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

W. A. KING,

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE

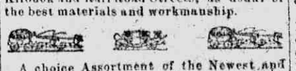
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, is continuing the Manufacture of every description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.



A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st, 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept. 24th. 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices

January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4.

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souvenirs, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Bable Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods. Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS.

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

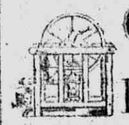
Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.



CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1856 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 384tf

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
276w6m 211 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DEVERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARK,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK.

A PRIZE!!!

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS,

Three Copies, one year	6.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
2 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do do	60 00 do
100 do do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	25 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$18.00 to $25 00 do
1000 Gold gilt, real, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 295 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL,

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum, Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15	"	"	"	15.00	"
20	"	"	"	20.00	" " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued, at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL

From Emery's Journal of Agriculture.

The Harvest.

Another harvest is past with its severe labor and anxiety, its hopes and fears, and the threshing season approaches, when we shall know more fully the result of the year's toil.—Like the mariner after an encounter with the elements, we naturally cast about to examine our craft and cargo, our moors and rigging, to ascertain if our late trip has payed and if it is safe to try another voyage with a similar cargo. I am pleased to see the reports of the harvest coming in from the difierent parts of the country, and while I would add my mite to swell the general intelligence, it is with the hope that brief and concise reports will be forwarded to The Journal from the entire breadth of its circulation.

To speak of the wheat crop of Kalamazoo county; the late sowed and tender varieties will range from a partiol to an almost entire failure; as we intimated some weeks since, our fears gave place to facts, our great growth of straw was struck with rust; spring wheat and late sown winter wheat will be minus in weight from ten to twenty five per cent., and added to this, we have had our first noticeable visit of the weevil, making another drawback. The Mediterranean (red wheat) comes in a fair crop; its early maturity seems to have been its great protection. Some pieces of white wheat will pass for fair, while very few will range as first rate either in quality or quantity. With the good r putation we have gained for the quality of our white wheat, we are unwilling to entertain the thought of falling back upon the more hardy and more unsaleable red varieties. The attack of the rust this season has been peculiar, and for which we must adopt some new theory; hitherto we have ascribed it to intermitting hot sun and warm showers, of which we have been entirely exempt this season. A severe storm closed our 'heated term' on the 9th of July, since which we have had very cool nights. [Have cool nights and consequent heavy dews anything to do with inviting rust?]

And now a word about the future. We anticipate a run with the weevil, and may like the whoat growers of Western New York be driven from the field. We naturally enquire, are there varieties of wheat, winter or spring, that will stand the ravages of the weevil better than ethers? If so, what are they?

This season the more tender and valuable varieties and late sown have suffered most, while the Mediterranean and Troy (red wheats) have scarcely been touched. Will you give us an article on the characteristics of your best wheats, particularly the 'white May' and 'Rio Grande,' [spoken of in No. 4,] and any other choice varieties, whether winter or spring, red or white, bearded or boardless, early or late, hardy or tender, &c.; as also, where seed can be had, and at what price. Our market opens for best wheat at seven shillings; oats and barley very light; corn promises very good or very poor according to quality of seed planted and the cultivation it has received. The season has been propitious. Fruit is very scarce indeed. This report may look rather blue and croaking, but is in accordance with facts.

Kalamazoo co., Mich., July 28.

TURNIPS.—There is still abundant time to sow turnip seed and secure a good crop; vacant spots in the corn field can be used to good advantage with them, and ground well prepared and sown in drills or broadcast would pay abundantly, and help very much the coming winter to carry stock thro'. There are several good varieties; the white and red top flat are among those that are now seasonable.

ILLINOIS STOCK IMPORTING Co.—This association held a meeting in Springfield on the 20th July, and after paying all indebtedness, made a dividend of twelve per cent., from collections up to that date. When the books are all closed, it is thought the total dividend will be upwards of forty per cent. A very handsome return on the original investment.

WHAT ENGLAND PAYS IN ONE YEAR FOR MANURE.—It is estimated that England pays annually $300,000,000 for manure, more than the entire commerce of that country. The total value of a year's crop has been reported to parliament, some time ago, as being about three thousand millions of dollars; the crop includes the animal as well as the vegetable. The turnip crop has been estimated in that kingdom, to be worth fifteen hundred millions of dollars.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Jacob Weever Jenne, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210. On the 29th day of August at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Cheever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 13th, 1858. 358w13

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest, at ten per cent.

All of said Amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold at the Circuit Court Room in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September, next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858. 394t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E Morgan to William H. Murfin dated the 2nd A. D. 1853 recorded in the Office of Register

County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 19th day of May A. D 1853 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bear ng date the twenty first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598 on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber F of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit, or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D., 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD. Assignee.

Dated June 15th, 1858.

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died siezed and possessed, viz: All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number five (5) East containing forty acres of land more o less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale. BENJAMIN DEMUTH.

Tecumseh, June 10th, 1858. Administrator.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1858, executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucian B Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith. May 18th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one, township seven south of range two east containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less, will be sold at public auction on the 23d day of October next at one o'clock in the after noon, at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIAN B ROWEN, Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed, dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By Jesse McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th, 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By Jesse McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th, 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein, I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian. J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th 1858 399w6

Sheriff Sale.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK? IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in the great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience, that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are continually sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can. In fact, we are to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent., although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert, of A & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.

Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.

F. Cabot & Co., Boston.

Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.

J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.

And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Luke, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten: also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twentieth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Henry Bacon deceased

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified, of Elizabeth A. Bacon and Benjamin L. Baxter, Administratix and Administrator on the Estate of said deceased for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixth day of September next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs-at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then, to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy) 3486w4

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR, for sale by E. TINDALL

Drv Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS,

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.

105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.

160 " " wild land in Allegan County.

80 " " Eaton county.

5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.

50 thousand Pine Shingle.

50 " " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.

1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

I Have 25 More

OF THOSE FAVORITE

THRESHING MACHINES,

On the way for this Village. They will be

SOLD CHEAP

By D. D. MARSHALL.

Tecumseh, April 15th, 1858. 387tf

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines (a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.

New York, And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modded it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Febr. 18th, 1858. 378m3

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

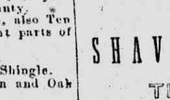
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON	D. D. MARSHALL
DELOS LABARON	WALLACE GRAY
D. L. SIGLER	JEROME ALLEN
J. A. BEARS	ALFRED JAMES
O. G. ADAMS	OREN STAFFORD

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 391y

Mrs. D. M. BISSELL



DAGUERREOTYPE, AMBROTYPE AND

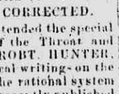
ARTIST,

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m3

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist



WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Calls solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL

SELECTED STOCK OF

Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY,

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Apothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Consumption. Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writings on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhalation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhalation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Drs. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N. Y.

May, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general, that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

HENRY LANCASTER.

n34tf

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st.. 6m

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Medical, &c.

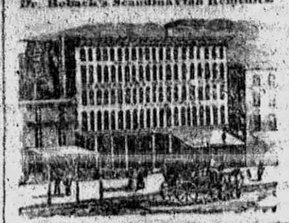
DR. ROBACK'S

BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of vegetable herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, [illegible] diseases, complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague, asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, hypochondriasis or paralysis, rheumatism, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility, diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

Penn. Miami Co. Ind., Aug. 4, 1857.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort and efficiency Indigestion or Dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could find and popular pictorial monthly, through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time less than a month. I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dispepsia left me my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev Mr McMullen Pastor of the Liberty Chapel: Lawrenceburgh Oct 5, 1857

Dr. C. W. Roback, Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection from which I have suffered much of late years. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and write me another one.

Yours, J. W. T. MCMULLEN

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

Dear Doctor:—Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curd & Co. as I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty five cent box of Pills could have relieved me of my chronic dyspepsia with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them but I am found to own that your Pills fill the contract. Why, I have taken as many as six (6) of them in a day and other days as many as ten (10) of them, and either one had a powerful effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Tuscumbia, Ala., Sept 4 1857

Dr. Roback, Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having never found medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted I was induced to try it, but not before I had spent a fortune other medicines. After using five bottles I feel as well as ever was in my life, and upon using two more I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me therefore to congratulate you upon having discovered a remedy which is producing relief to be a matter of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

Inquirer Office, Cincinnati Wednesday Sept 2 1857.

Dr. C. W. Roback, Dear Sir: I have been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at the usual hours; but after using your Blood Purifier and Blood Pills for a short time I was perfectly restored to health and strength, and have been ever since. I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully as efficacious as recommended. So much is my confidence in the medicine I never dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give the above information for the benefit of those similarly afflicted. MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Guides from my agent.

Manufactory, Sales-Room and Office, No. 8 East Fourth street 2d building from Walnut st., in O. H. BOWEN, Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Dutton. G. V. HAWKINS, Medina. E. S. BUTLER, Alpha. And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 378m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c., and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c., and order a continuation of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD Secretary

390y EZRA D. H. FAREWELL, President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,

GET THE CHEAPEST,

GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

We are now Receiving

Stoves, from a Nine to the Ton,
And we can't and won't be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Hollow,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at 4 cts a keg,
From that we won't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at 5 cts per hundred,
And yet more that might be mentioned
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Pell mell enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS OF THE United States Journal Publishing Ins.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sales of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a splendid Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. This is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid throughout	6 00
Beautiful Gold Pencil, war anted to be solid throughout	2 00
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	4 00
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	6 00
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00
Set of Engraved, lined Gold Studs	2 00
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	1 00
Superb Fancy Ruby Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting
Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 16 inches wide 1 00
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Bonney, 18x24 1 00
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 1 00
Sparking, from the painting by P. W. Edwards 1 00

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue)

The United States Journal contains six large

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 10. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 19, 1858. WHOLE NO. 405

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
S. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

E. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf. TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW.
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street,
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

W. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
340tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
301y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
308y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
308 TECUMSEH, MICH.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets.
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 304

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E TINDALL.

THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

BY PERRY BENSON.

How welcome the moment that places beside me
The Family Newspaper fresh from the press!
Though blessed with all others, were this boon denied me,
'Twere surely a grievance that naught co'd redress.

It soothes into quietude every emotion
Of care or of grief, that annoyed me before,
And gives me a respite like that of the ocean,
When, wearied, the waves are asleep on the shore.

I tear off the wrapper, and seated at leisure,
With nothing on earth to disturb or molest,
With careful inspection examine my treasure,
And cull out its jewels with infinite zest.

My thoughts, my best feelings, my fond aspirations,
I learn to extend till at length they embrace,
Not merely my own, but the weal of all nations,
However divergent in language or race.

Whatever relates to their shame or their glory,
Their wrongs or their rights—their revenge—or their love,
With interest I rea'd, and derive from the story,
Some lesson benign which I fain would improve.

When Charity's record awakes my compassion
For those in distress with pale want at their door,
I help them if possible—not from mere fashion—
And wish I could help them a thousand times more.

And when too I read of some brutalized being,
The blood of whose wife cries aloud to the skies;
From whom his own children in terror are fleeing,
I look at my loved ones, and tears dim my eyes.

Why should not the joys and the sorrows of others,
Engage the best thoughts and desires of my soul?
Both Reason and Charity call them my brothers,
Wherever they dwell, from the line to the pole.

The same azure canopy daily bends o'er them,
They enter the same rugged path from their birth
The same mortal struggle is ever before them,
The same solemn sleep in the same bit at earth.

What tho', when I'm reading, my heart oft is leaping,
As if at some joyful or tender refrain!
To joy with the joyous, and weep with the weeping,
Gives generous bosoms more pleasure than pain.

Though much meets my view, that looks dark and appalling,
Too much that would melt rougher natures than mine,
I see o'er this darkness a soft twilight falling,
Which heralds a day that shall never decline.

And when, o'er the printed page rapidly glancing,
I notice events that have just had their birth,
Which lesbow that the day so desired, is advancing,
I call them my gems and rejoice in their worth.

Then come, welcome Messenger, come with thy treasure,
Fresh from a thousand hearts fresh from the press!
I wait to receive from thee profit and pleasure,
And warmer compassion for woe and distress

STARTING A NEWSPAPER.

BY WM. S. HAELOCK.

The ubiquity of the Printing Press is one of this age's characteristics. Every Corporation and Company must have its special Organ to advocate its peculiar advantages—every village must be represented by an 'Advocate,' 'Watchman,' or a 'Torchlight.' What a few years ago was confined exclusively to the cities, is now extended to almost every village and town in the country. The Press is now indispensibly requisite to advance the character and interest of any particular locality.

It is a very easy matter for a few individuals, interested in some enterprise, to convene, and do the 'wind-work' towards establishing an 'Organ,' but to come up promptly with the 'material aid,' is widely different. To promise five hundred subscribers; to produce by a mysterious method of addition a thousand dollars to be made by job work and advertising, is easier than to hand over the two thousand dollars.

Now, the good citizens of Blowtown, in St. Jo—— wanting to increase the value of 'corner lots' and 'beautiful suburban residences,' determined to establish a weekly newspaper. To mature this design, innumerable meetings were held at the stores and such places as were most convenient. At these meetings, 'squire Pussyman, elder Blowhard, 'squire Easy-and-slow, uncle Ultraman, the Messrs. Skinflint, took the most prominent part. The matter was presented in every possible light. Pussyman thought the enterprise of vital importance—one that would do a great good without much sacrifice on their part. Elder Blowhard urged that a press be immediately established; though they should be compelled at first to make a little sacrifice, they would realize double the amount in less than six months, in the way of a rise in property,—the name of their beautiful Institution—Cornhill College—would be sounded abroad, and Blowtown would be known afar off. 'Squire Easy-and-slow, said, was for the measure. Uncle Ultraman thought that a Paper would pay the business men, as they could advertise at a small cost and receive a great benefit; besides, if they could once get 'the thing' agoing, they would shirk all responsibility on the individual embarking in the enterprise, and he couldn't back out, and if there were any loss, it would be the Publisher's. The Messrs. Skinflint said their motto was 'the greatest good at the least cost;' and that they believed a press would do the thing.

"For a Press"—was the verdict of the citizens of Blowtown. The next thing was to find some one to engage in the enterprise, who would control the paper and puff the town.

This was easily accomplished—a young Printer, who was attending College at Blowtown, by flattery, fair promises and misrepresentation, was seduced from his studies and persuaded to assume the responsibilities of Editor, Publisher and Printer of the prospective paper, to appear under the euphoneous title of "The Blowtown Scientific Investigator." Subscription Papers were signed by men, women and boys, so that in a short time a formidable list of names was presented.—But then, 'what's in a name?' The five hundred names were made up in about the style of 'Kansas Election Returns.' A few individuals subcribed for as many as ten copies. This was considered by them a great sacrifice.

Our young Editor began to feel sanguine of success. Such glowing pictures were presented to his mind, and such assurances of ultimate success, that he began to look with contempt upon other papers, which were a reality and not an utopian dream. He was induced to believe that the "Investigator" must soon be the first Paper of the country—that its subscription list would go up to thousands,—that everybody's children would soon be attending Cornhill College—and that, of course everybody's parents would take the paper, to learn how their sons and daughters progressed—that the Professors Snizzle would adorn and enrich the columns of the new Journal with sparkling gems from their 'classical' and 'gifted' pens. This was a grand picture to be contemplated by an ambitious, enthusiastic mind.

The City was immediately visited, and the necessary material purchased for issuing a Country Newspaper. In due time the press and fixtures arrived at Blowtown, when there was a great hurrah, and exclamations of "what a people we are!" Every one patted the Editor on the shoulder and said 'good fellow!' The amateur publisher now set to work in good earnest to 'set up the matter' for Vol. 1, No. 1. Expectation was now all on the qui vive, and for two weeks the conversation of the printers was chiefly in answering the all prevailing question, "When will the first number of the 'Investigator' be out?"

After days of toil and nights of waking, the long looked for paper appeared. It was a very creditable sheet—with a flaming salutatory, replete with adjectives, full of promises for the future, and done up at the close with an eloquent quotation from Shakspeare. It was a triumph of art and intellect among the people of Blowtown. The citizens with unanimous voice shouted 'bravo!'—and the Editor considered himself immortalized. He was the subject of discussion in the 'Sewing Society,' the social circle and the bar-room. Old women with daughters were all his true friends, (the Ed. was single;) young misses even cast upon him a loving smile; young widows and old maids greeted him with the most abandoned flattery. Many new names were added to the subscription list, and advertisements came rapidly in with a promise of prompt payment. So the new enterprise was now under full sail, with a fair sky, clear offing, and spanking breeze.

A larger number of subscribers were on the book than had been anticipated, and, though but few had paid in advance, yet, there was an assurance that the pay would be forthcoming when needed.—With full hope our hero pursued his prosperous voyage on the Editorial sea, little dreaming of any clouds or storms in the future.

Months passed away. Novelty had withdrawn its charm, while plain reality began to present to the publisher of the "Investigator" the asperities of the enterprise. Bills are coming due and money must be had to meet them. An attempt was made to collect, but only a dollar here and there could be raised. Subscribers began with one accord to make excuses, and fair promises for the future. Still hoping for that Millenium of publishers, when delinquent subscribers will pay up their bills, recourse was had to borrowing money at three per cent per month. This was a rash expedient, but the only alternative—as the many warm friends of the Press refused to do better. Repeated duns appeared in the columns of the indebted Paper, calling on all delinquents to pay up their arrearages, but with very little effect.

Dissatisfaction began to creep in, and whilom friends began to 'weary of well doing.' They couldn't see why it needed money to carry on a small paper. A paper with six hundred names on the list ought to live without complaint. The Skinflints thought they were not puffed enough and heaped their malediction on the Editor for presuming to charge for Editorial Notices. Pussyman thought his puffs were not quite as good as Easy-and-slow's. The politics of the paper began to be denounced in as many different ways as there were political parties. Thus, hundreds of complaints were entered against the hapless Editor, because he 'dared to call for justice.'

By this time our hero finds himself in no enviable position, sans dollars, sans friends, and sans hope! He had been charged exorbitant prices for all that he had received—high rents, outrageous bills for boarding, &c. Amid incessant labor at the case and press, he had failed to make his paper as interesting as was demanded. But no allowance was made; inability was the charge of exacting readers. The learned Snizzles had written some dry trash for the farmers on 'Gathering Seed Corn,'—a subject of which the author was profoundly ignorant. Also another article on 'Topography of a Frog Pond, with Critical Notes concerning the Inhabitants thereof.'

The volume was now half closed. A crisis in business affairs had almost paralyzed trade,—money was scarce and collections almost impossible to be made.—The last 'bundle' of paper had been used, while the paper mills refused further credit until the former supplies were paid. At this critical juncture our almost disheartened Editor made a last effort to collect outstanding accounts. By this time, patrons had ceased to be gentlemanly. If one paid up, he did so by withdrawing further patronage. Some denied their accounts, said they never subscribed and would not pay. It was no use. A sufficient sum of money could not be raised to purchase a fresh supply of paper; so, after a brilliant descending existence of six months, "The Blowtown Scientific Investigator" blowed up!

So ended the magnificent farce. The Editor found himself two hundred dollars out of pocket, besides six month's work His credit likewise gone, and but few friends remained. Slanderous tongues circulated all manner of false reports in regard to the Paper and the unfortunate Proprietor. The Office was soon sold to pay off the debts, when hungry creditors like ravenous wolves rushed together, each one struggling for the greatest share of the spoils. And the good citizens said AMEN!—it has cost us but little, and done a great deal of good! Who cares for the expense?

Mechanics.—No country has greater cause to be proud of its mechanics than the United States. In the pursuits of mechanism thousands have won for themselves names that will never be forgotten, and our list of most illustrious statesmen shows that very many of those who have risen to the highest distinction, were educated to get their bread by mechanical labor. The mechanic is, in every sense, of the word, a creator—bringing something into existence, which did not before, in that form, exist.

By his energy and industry our country has been belted with iron roads, and the waters made to ferment with ships, steamers, &c. Cities, under his intellect, have as it were, sprung into existence at the waving of his magic wand. The hum and buzz of his machines are heard singing their monotonous songs in every city and village, each proclaiming their majesty of labor. We honor and respect the Mechanic.

Ill Breeding—is not a single defect; it is the result of many. It is sometimes a gross ignorance of decorum, or a stupid indolence which prevents us from giving to others what is due to them. It is a peevish malignity which inclines us to oppose the inclination of those with whom we converse. It is the consequence of a foolish vanity which has no complaisance for any other person; the effect of a proud and whimsical humor which soars above all the rules of civility; or lastly, it is produced by a melancholy turn of mind which pampers itself by a rude and disobliging behavior.

Impressive and beautiful were the dying words of Gœthe:—'Open the shutters and let in more light!' But no more touching than those of the schoolmaster who had grown old and gray, and whose term of life was just closing. His eyes grew dim, and his thoughts returned for a moment, and he fancied it a winter's afternoon, and the night closing early in, and so dying, he murmured: 'It is growing dark, the school may be dismissed,'—and in an instant the holiday with him was begun.

THE LITTLE FROCK AND SHOE.

BY BENJ. R. MITCHELL.

A little frock but slightly worn,
Of blue and white delaine,
With edging round the neck and sleeves
Lay folded neat and plain;
Beside a little pair of shoes
With here and there a flaw,
Lay half concealed among the things
In mother's bureau draw!

Summer had passed away from earth,
With all her sweetest ties;
The birds had left their summer haunts
For more congenial skies;
The twilight breezes softly played
Among the dews of even—
An angel left his home on high
To gather flowers for Heaven.

The angel near and nearer came,
Where sister sick—did lie;
Then gently fanned her faded cheek,
And pointed to the sky;
The morning shone upon the bed,
The autumn wind blew free—
The angel moved its silver wings,
And whispered—"Come with me."

We gathered round her dying bed,
With hearts to weep and pray;
And many were the tears we shed,
When sister went away;
"No bitter tears had she to weep,"
No sin to be forgiven;
But closed her little eyes in sleep,
To open them in heaven.

We laid her in earth's green breast,
Down by the village green,
Where gently sweeps the dewy grass,
And summer flowers are seen;
And often when dear mother goes
To get her things to use,
I see her drop a silent tear
On sister's frock and shoes

A Word About Young Men.

The New York Express touches in an inimitable manner, a very delicate subject, in the following brief paragraph:

"Our young men are a painful study. As they lounge about the streets with bold leering faces, poisoning the air with oaths, or whirl madly along behind lashed horses, or loom up dimly amid the smoky glare of haunts of folly, sin, and shame—it is sickening to think that with them rest the future of the country, and in them lies its hope. It is no wonder that the hearts of fathers and mothers and sisters are filled with dread and grief. No wonder that the perpetual and earnest advice to the young man is to go into the society of ladies. The advice is good, and ought to be heeded. There is positive safety for him in the society of a modest, gentle, kindly and sensible girl. There is comparative safety only for him in the company of a vain, giggling, trifling girl.

"The most empty-headed and empty-hearted of coquettes is a more harmless companion for him, than a cursing, tippling fellow, who thinks mainly of all manner of silliness and sin, and will travel fast, although hell yawns at the end of the road. Yes, your young man's salvation is in the sweet smile and voice, and beautiful graces and accomplishments, of some fair creature, attractive alike in mind and body.

"But your young man dare not go and see a young woman he fancies, and make a friend and a companion of her. Will not all the Mrs. Grundies think and say that it means something, and immediately and vigorously set to work to whisper their suspicions loud enough for the world—including the respective families of the young persons—to hear them?

"Is not your young man a flirt, a despecate fellow, in whom there is danger, if he is known to go to see a half dozen girls at the same time? Has not this property which pervades our fine modern life something to do with the terrible outlawry and viciousness of the young men? Has not rigid, ghastly etiquette driven them from the parlor to the rum shop, and perhaps worse?

"In the days when some of us were boys and girls, it was not a proof that two young people were engaged to be married, when they were often together, and happy in the interchange of interest and sympathy and all kindly feeling. And somehow there were better boys then than there are now; and better girls too, as for that matter."

Girls.—There are two kinds of girls: one is the kind that appear the best abroad; the girls that are good for parties, rides, visits, balls, etc., and whose chief delight is such things. The other is the kind that appears the best at home, the girls that are useful and cheerful in the dining-room, the sick room, and the precincts of home. They differ widely in character. One is often a torment at home the other is a blessing. One is a moth, consuming everything about her; the other is a sunbeam inspiring life and gladness all along her pathway. Now it does not necessarily follow that there should be two classes of girls. The right education will modify both a little and unite their character.

How the Business of Courts is done by Professional Jurors.—There is always in attendance upon every Court, a number of men who make it a business to sit upon juries and earn a livelihood by the 'profession.' They are generally of the lazy Falstaff style, who can endure a deal of sitting, particularly if permitted to occupy a comfortable arm chair.

An incident related to us yesterday, illustrates the habits of these 'professional jurors,' which we will give without naming the Court, time or person. A cause had been submitted to the jury in one of the Courts of the city, and as soon as they retired to their usual room to deliberate, one of the professional jurors said:

—'I suppose we all understand this case. I move we find a verdict for the defendant.'

The motion was put by the foreman, and negatived.

The same individual jumped up again and moved that a verdict be found for the plaintiff.

The foreman of the Jury who could not exactly understand the haste and change of front of the Juryman, voted in the negative, very much to the disappointment of the professional Juryman.

Finding the foreman was about to discuss some of the points in the evidence, he whispered in his ear:

'Let us agree. There's another suit coming on in the Court immediately, and we'll lose the chance of getting on the jury!'

That was just what the foreman was desirous of avoiding—and therefore took his time.

When the verdict was finally agreed upon, and the Jury returned to the Court room, another Jury had already been sworn.

The professional Juror, observing the chairs already filled, stepped up to the foreman and said, in a tone of deep disappointment:

'There, I told you so!'

This incident furnishes sufficient condemnation of the professional Jury system.—Cincinnati Comm'l.

A Curious Story.—Some nine years ago, Mr. Watson, bookseller, in Newcastle market, sold a copy of Goadby's Family Bible in three goodly folios, to a customer who presented the appearance of a hard-working, decent man, and had several times before that picked up a volume, as it suited him, from Mr. Watson's stall, always paying for it honestly.

On this occasion he remarked that he was unable to pay at that particular time, but he would pay. The price was £2 10s. The bookseller liked the appearance of his customer, and let him have the volumes. Three years afterwards, Watson was taking a walk one day, when the person who bought his Goadby recognized him, and mentioning with some regret that he had not been fortunate enough to pay for his Bible yet, but, said he, 'I am an honest man, and I will.'

The next thing that Mr. Watson heard of him, was that he had gone to Australia, and from that time all traces of the purchaser of his Bible disappeared.

A few evenings ago he was in his usual place in the market, when a sun-burnt stranger made up to him, in pleasant voice with the salutation, 'I'm come to pay you for the Bible, I bought nine years since, it was £2 10s., I think.'

He had arrived in Newcastle, from Australia, about five o'clock, and it was only ten minutes after five when he thus wiped out his debt.—[English paper.

'The World does Move!'—Nothing could more clearly indicate the great extent to which English society and English politics have of late cut loose from the old landmarks than the ready concurrence of the British House of Lords—almost as notorious a refuge and representative of concentrative old fogyism as our United States Senate—in the proposition to strike from the English Church service the religious commemoration of the gunpowder plot, of the martyrdom, so called, of Charles I, of the restoration of Charles II, and of the revolution of 1688.

The triumph of Protestantism over Popery, the triumph of monarchy and the Church of England over republicanism and independency, the triumph of Parliament over the Crown, severally commemorated by these four festivals, no longer occupy the thoughts or excite the feelings of the English public. Instead of being any longer regarded as matters of present and operative interest, to be kept constantly before the nation, the feeling is now to wink out of sight all reminders that any such points of difference ever existed.—N. Y. Tribune.

A Remarkable Teetotaler.—Colonel Lehmanowski, who was for twenty three years in the army of Napoleon, addressed a temperance meeting in Alabama, giving the following strong testimony to the advantages of total abstinence from intoxicating drinks:

"You see before you a man seventy-eight years old. I have fought two hundred battles—have fourteen wounds on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, and the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing.

"In the deserts of Egypt, I have marched for days with the burning sun upon my naked head—feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust, and with a thirst so tormenting that I have opened the veins of my arms and sucked my own blood!

"Do you ask how I survived all these horrors? I answer that, under the providence of God, I owe my preservation, my health and vigor, to this fact, that I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life.

"Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of French arms, has stated as a fact that the 6,000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all of them men who abstained from ardent spirits."

Items to Fill Up.

To prevent a kitchen door from creaking, get a servant girl whose beau comes to the house to see her.

If you'd learn to bow, watch a mean man, when he talks to a gentleman of wealth.

The following, contains the alphabet: John P. Brady, gave me a black walnut box of quite a small size.

A year of pleasure passes like a floating breeze; but a moment of misfortune seems an age of pain.

The four great evils of life are said to be standing collars, stove-pipe hats, tight boots and tobacco.

The young woman who was driven to distraction, now fears she will have to walk back.

The man who threatens the world is always ridiculous; for the world can go on without him, and in a short time ceases to miss him.

Ladies of a certain age may perhaps envy the Emperor of China one of his luxuries; his birth day is celebrated once in ten years.

'Westminster Hall,' said pompous Lord Thurlow, 'is open alike to the richest and the poorest.' 'Yes, my Lord,' said Erskine, 'and so is the London Tavern.'

Women are fond of telling us they hate handsome men; but you may be sure that it is only to ugly men they say so.

Ambition often puts men upon doing the meanest offices; so climbing is performed in the same posture as creeping.

The ground of almost all of our false reasoning is, that we seldom look any further than on one side of the question.

A young man in New Orleans advertised for a wife. In less than two hours, we are told, eighteen married men sent in word that he might have theirs.

A merchant lately advertised for a clerk 'who could bear confinement.' He received an answer from one who had been seven years in jail.

'Thanks!' said a horrid old bachelor, 'no more women in heaven—they can't get in—their hoops are so broad they will have to go to the broad road—can't get through the narrow gate.'

'Ma,' said a little girl to her mother, 'do the men want to get married as much as the women?' 'Pshaw! what are you talking about?' 'Why, ma, the women who come here are always talking about getting married—the men don't do so.'

Some one says of a certain congregation that they pray on their knees on Sundays, and prey on their neighbors the rest of the week.

A yankee, describing an opponent says: 'I tell you what, sir, that man d's amount to a sum in arithmetic—add him up, and there's nothing to carry.'

It is an extraordinary fact that when people come to what is generally termed high words, they generally use very low language.

Fortune sometimes is heaped up like the snow, and like the snow melts and thaws to nothing.

Dubious—A kiss costs less and gratifies a lady more than anything else in existence.

A Brief History of the Atlantic Telegraph Enterprise:—The Route, Cost, &c.

We compile from different sources at hand, the following sketch of this grand undertaking, over whose success the civilized world is now rejoicing:

In the year 1853, Cyrus W. Field visited England. The result of his visit was the formation of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, with a capital of £350,000, for the purpose of connecting Europe with America by a submarine telegraph cable. In August, 1857, an attempt was made to lay down the Atlantic Submarine Cable, resulting in a disastrous failure. The cable was 2,500 miles in length, weighing nearly one tun per mile, capable of bearing a direct strain of over five tuns without fracture. The centre of the cable was formed by seven fine copper wires, twisted into a cord 1-16 of an inch thick. This strand was coated with gutta percha, forming a small rope of $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch thick; then coated with hempen twine twice soaken pitch and tar; lastly, an external sheathing of 18 iron wires, each wire being a strand of seven fiuer wires, making in all 118 wires.

The submersion of the cable was commenced on the 5th of August, 1857 — There were present the six steamer, Niagara, Agamemnon, Leopold, Susquehanna, Willing, and Mind, intended to assist in various parts of the operation.

The cable came up from the hold of the ship, around a central block, so to the open space above decks; it was there wound round grooved sheaths, geared together by cogs, firmly planted on girders. Thence it passed over a fifth sheath, out over the stern into the sea, sinking by its own weight.

A trifling accident happened on the 6th; this was repaired, and on the 11th, 380 miles (statute) had been submerged The engineer here concluded that there was too much 'slack' in the cable's course, and some modification in the machinery was consequently made This appears to have been badly attended to by a subordinate. The cable snapped, and thus ended the attempt of 1857.

It having been concluded from Lieut. Maury's calculations that the average state of the weather was much better on the Atlantic in the early part of summer, it was decided this year to attempt laying the Cable in June. It was also thought best to begin the submersion in mid ocean and pay out towards either shore. Accordingly the Telegraph fleet, consisting of the U. S. steam frigate Niagara and H. M. steamers Agamemnon, Valorous and Gorgon, left Plymouth on Thursday, June 10th, 1858

The Niagara had 850 tons, and the Agamemnon 450 tons of coal, and each about 1,000 nautical, or a little less than 1,500 statute miles of cable on board — The weather, at first favorable, became unusually boisterous, so that the fleet were not ready to commence operations until late on the 25th of June

The first splice was made between the Niagara and Agamemnon on the morning of Saturday, the 26th of June, and after each ship had payed out about 3 miles, the Cable broke on board the Niagara, owing to its over riding and getting off the pulley leading on to the machine.—Both vessels put about and returned, a fresh splice was made, and again lowered over at 7½ p. m. The paying out proceeded beautifully until early on Sunday morning, when the signals suddenly ceased. The Cable was cut, and the Niagara repaired to the rendezvous. The cause of the rupture was equally mysterious to those on board the Agamemnon, and no sarisfactory conjecture has since been made.

The Cable was again spliced on the 28th, and the steamers parted Everything worked beautifully during that night and the next day. But at 9 p m., on the 29th, the announcement of "no signals" was made on board the Niagara.—At that time 142 miles of cable had been payed out. It was subsequently ascertained that the cable parted, for some reason unknown, about 6 fathoms from the stern of the Agamemnon. About 400 miles of the Cable were lost during these trials, the effect of which upon the public confidence in the final success of the undertaking was most depressing.

But the managers continued indefatigable The fleet sailed a second time from Queenstown, on the 17th of July, joined the Cable on the 29th, and on the 5th of August the world had news of success.

The cost of the Telegraph Cable has been put down as follows:

Price deep sea wire, per mile	$200
" spun yarn and iron wire, per mile	265
" outside tar, per mile	20
Total per mile	$485
Cost for 2,500 miles	$1,212,500
" 10 miles deep sea cable at $1,450 pr mile	14,500
" 25 miles shore ends at $1,250 pr mile	31,250
Total cost	$1,258,250

The length of the telegraph line from Boston to Trinity Bay is about 1,600 miles—nearly the length of the Atlantic Cable In the course of the route there are the submarine wires, both of which, however, have always worked admirably.

The line traverses Maine and New Brunswick, going round the head of the Bay of Fundy. It then takes the northern shore of Nova Scotia, and crosses the Gut of Canso. Here is the first section of submarine telegraph. It is only two and a half miles in length, and serves as the connection between Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, touching the western coast of that island. From the western to the eastern shore at Aspy Bay is a wide space of territory, where the telegraph stations are few and far between, and great difficulty is necessarily experienced in repairing any break.

At Aspy Bay commences the second submarine line. It is 76 miles long, and connects Cape Breton with Newfoundland. The first attempt to lay these wires was made in 1855, but it then proved unsuccessful. In 1856 the effort was renewed with success, and for the last two years there has been little if any, interruption of the magnetic union between the two islands. The cable is quite large, composed of three strands, and has three conducting wires. From Port-au Basque, the cable station on the western part of Newfoundland, the telegraph extends directly across the island to Trinity Bay. The distance is not far from 400 miles, through a wild country, and for the most part an unbroken forest, where the trees had to be cut down to make room for the telegraph posts.

There are five stations along this whole distance; the territory is sparsely inhabited, and it is easily perceived how hard it must be to discover and rectify any occurrence which should tend to destroy the communication on this section of the line.

The telegraph is owned by three different companies, the American Telegraph, the Provincial, the Newfoundland and the London Telegraph Companies Being under such different management, the line as a whole, is exceedingly inefficient — Over a portion of it there has been a small amount of business, and no inducement to keep it in good working order. On the island of Cape Breton for instance, telegraph operators inform us that the wires are sometimes down for half the time.—In the future, if the Atlantic Telegraph is permanently established, these mishaps will be remedied. An accident to the American division of the telegraph is speedily repaired; but our provincial neighbors are a long time in finding out any trouble, and are equally long in its correction.

We have not referred to minor causes which prevent telegraphing as effectually as though the wires were displaced The lightning may melt the magnet at some station, and thus stop telegraphic intercourse, or the machinery meet with some other mischance, producing the same effect.

A line-like this from Boston to the locality where Europe and America are joined by magnetic bands, is subject to so many vicissitudes, it can be no special wonder to those familiar with the operation of the telegraph, that it is sometimes unable to transmit inteligence beyond a certain point.

The misfortune is to have such a state of affairs occur just when every whisper from the extremest limit of the telegraph is anxiously awaited by hundreds of thousands of people in every State of the Union.

It may not be amiss to state here that the telegraphing with Halifax may be considered as done by means of a branch telegraph diverging from the grand trunk line.

The New U. S. Loan.

The bids for the U. S. loan of ten millions were opened on the 9th inst., at the Treasury Department, at Washington.—Upwards of five millions were awarded at five per cent. premium; three millions at between 4½ and 5 per cent; and about two millions from 3½ to 4½ per cent. The principal successful bidders are the Bank of Commerce one million six hundred thousand dollars; Marie & Kanse, New York, about one million; Camman & Co, New York, seven hundred and fifty thousand; Howland & Aspinwall four hundred and fifty thousand; Chubb Brothers, Washington, three hundred thousand; Diexel & Co, Philadelphia, five hundred thousand; the U. S. mint at N Y, five hundred thousand; Trevor & Colgate, five hundred thousand; E. S Robbins & Son two millions; E Whitehouse, Son and Morrison, N Y., four hundred thousand; Carroll, Livingston & Co., N. Y, five hundred thousand.

Messrs. Robbins & Co, telegraphed the withdrawing of one hundred thousand of their bid, which, if allowed by the Secretary, consequently will leave but that amount awarded to them.

The aggregate amount of the bids was about thirty millions.

Among the successful bidders were Auguste Belmont, Riggs & Co., who offered to take the entire ten millions at a premium of 3 per cent.

☞ The Boston Post denies the truth of the statement which has lately been going the rounds, that Benedict Arnold was the only American General of the Revolution who was not a Mason. It now appears that he also was a Mason.

☞ Counterfeit 10s, photographed, on the State Bank of Ohio are in circulation at Cincinnati. Look out for them.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1858.

The Atlantic Cable.

It is pleasant to notice, how for once in the midst of all the selfishness and bitterness of political schemes and political warfare, all, have for the moment turned aside to the contemplation of other things and other objects.

The world is taken by surprise in the consummation of a project for uniting into one the continents of the sea-dissevered world, by an electric chain of ever flashing intelligence and thought. The project was indeed known and understood by all, but to most it appeared utterly chimerical, and even the more hopeful and sanguine looked only for its accomplishment in the dim and distant future.

But while the sceptical were still sneering and the fearful doubted and wavered, the deed has been accomplished. What a comment is this upon the increasing energies and untiring accomplishments of the human mind? What a reproof upon the slowly gathered history of the past?

For more than five thousand years the two worlds, now thus united into one, lay side by side, just as they now do, with the same restless sea laving day by day each sandy beach or rocky shore, utterly unconscious the one of the existence of the other. It may indeed be true that occasionally a Carthagenian or Spanish galley, driven out by adverse winds, was stranded upon the shores of Mexico or Darien, or an Icelandic bark was driven upon the rocks of Labrador or New England; for traces of such an involuntary migration hither have from time to time come down to us—but if so, none ever returned from these unkown lands, to tell the tale.

Five centuries ago, and this new World was yet unknown to all the wisdom and intelligence of Europe. One hundred years ago, and America was yet a comparative wilderness. It was a long and weary way, to traverse the wide waste of waters that separated it from the busy commerce of the old World.

Since that time how rapidly have changed the successive phases of our history? How marked, beyond the flight of fancy, or ken of prophecy, has been the transformation? Looking upon the past, who shall dare, to limit or foretell the future!

The effects and results of this last great achievement of genius—its influence upon commerce, upon literature and science, upon national prosperity, and universal brotherhood—none may dare to predict. The wide world is awed into silence, and stands wondering alike at the event, and what shall be its issue.

"The Printer."

We have received No 4 of The Printer, a monthly, at $1 per year, issued by Henry & Huntington, New York. The work is a model specimen of the "art preservative of all arts," and should be taken by all members of the craft.

☞ The Gerrit Smith State Convention, of New York, seems to have been a grand fizzle. Several of the most prominent members left in disgust, and the chairman resigned. The resolution nominating Mr. Smith for Governor received seven votes.

The War on Douglas.—The war between Senator Douglas and the Administration is growing fiercer. The article in the Union, reading Douglas out of the Democratic Party, has provoked a bitter speech from the Senator in reply, in a canvassing address at Paris, Illinois, he treated especially of this attack upon him, defied the power of the Administration, and denounced its iniquities. The Union of a late date returns to the fight and berates the "Little Giant" with a liberal supply of epithets.

Thus wags it in the political world!

Another Radical Convention.—The success of the recent "Free Convention" at Rutland, Vermont, has decided the leading spirits at that demonstration to call another Convention of a similar character to meet at Utica during the coming fall.

☞ Michigan is the first to inaugurate an Agricultural College. As yet it has only accommodations for one hundred students. At the commencement of the present term there were but twenty-eight vacancies, while ninety-three applicants appeared and were examined.

Wholesale Damnation.—Bishop Duggan, the Roman Catholic Bishop of the diocese of Chicago, lately excommunicated Father Chiniquy and his congregation of some three thousand French Canadians living in Kankakee.

Cause—in Father Chiniquy's language: "Because they prefer the authority of the Gospel, rather than that of the Romish Bishops.—Chicago Herald.

☞ The oldest church building on our continent, is probably the one now standing at Hingham, Mass., which was erected in 1681. From this place many generations have been pointed out the way to heaven and immortality.

Queen Victoria's Message and the President's Answer.

To the Hon. President of the U. S.

Her Majesty desires to congratulate the President upon the successful completion of the great work in which her Majesty has taken the deepest interest.

Washington, Aug. 16.

The reception of the Queen's Message rapidly spread throughout the city and this evidence of the successful working of the Telegraph Cable occasioned much rejoicing. In some quarters however, its authenticity was doubted until a despatch from the General Agent of the Associated Press removed all doubts. The first intimation on the subject to the President was communicated through Senator Bigler from the Washington Associated Press when the President returned to the city from the Soldier's Home and received at the White House the message from her majesty, Queen Victoria.

He then prepared a su table reply.

The Queen's message was received by the President with some doubts as to its authenticity, but the matter was relieved of all doubts by the following message from the Superintendent of the Newfoundland line:

Trinity Bay, Aug 16--7 P M.

The message to the President purporting to be from the Queen actually came over the Atlantic Cable, from Valentia, Ireland, and is unquestionably authentic. The President's reply will be sent as soon as received.

To her Majesty Victoria, Queen of Great Britain.

The President cordially reciprocates the congratulations of Her Majesty, the Queen, on the success of the great national enterprise accomplished by the science, skill and indomitable energy of the two countries. It is a triumph more glorious, because far more useful to mankind than was ever won by conqueror on the field of battle.

May the Atlantic Telegraph under the blessings of heaven prove to be a bond of perpetual peace and friendship between the kindred nations and an instrument destined by Divine Providence to diffuse Religion, Civilization, Liberty and Law throughout the world.

In this view will not all nations of christendom spontaneously unite in the declaration that it shall be forever neutral and that its communications shall be held sacred in the passage to their places of destination even in the midst of hostilities.

And, JAS. BUCHANAN.

Cyrus Station, N H., Aug. 16.

To the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Co., New York.

Europe and America are united by telegraph. Glory be to God in the highest, on earth peace, good will toward men.

Signed—Directors Atlantic Telegraph Co. Great Britain.

New York, Aug 16—8 P M.

The bells of Old Trinity are now ringing a merry peal; flags are flying, cannons firing—the greatest enthusiasm prevails at the joyful intelligence at the union of America and Europe by telegraph.

Chicago.—A correspondent of the Cleveland Review, writing from Chicago, says:—"I should say that every real estate man is mortgaged for five times what he can pay. As a general item upon this point, I will state, upon the authority of a friend who saw the records, that the assessed valuation of the taxable property of Chicago, last spring, was about thirty six millions of dollers, while the amount recorded upon bond and mortgage, which it was pledged to secure, was over one hundred and nine millions of dollars!—Comment is unnecessary to explain the total bankruptcy of this inflated town.—Among the older inhabitants there are a few men of means; but the city belongs to eastern capitalist, who hold it on bond and mortgage security, and who could not, in the aggregate, realize thirty cents on the dollar, if they sold out the town tomorrow."

Railroad Decision.—The Maryland Court of Appeals, in the case of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company vs Wm Lamborn, has decided that the railroad companies in that State are not responsible for injuries done to cattle and stock by their cars, in any case in which cattle, &c, are on the railway track through any negligence or fault on the part of the owners of them; that the owner of cattle is bound to keep them in an enclosure or in custody, at his peril; for every entry of them on another's possession is a trespass, and this law applies as well to the intrusion of cattle and horses upon the land over which a railroad company is entitled to its franchise as to the property of a private owner.

Comfort.—The Wytheville (Va) Telegraph, says that Ex-President Comfort, of Mexico, dined at that place, in passing through on Sunday, and was ousted from the the table by the landlord, for conduct unbecoming a gentleman.'

☞ Mrs. Macready was recently received into the New Jerusalem Church, at Chicago, by the rites of baptism.

General News.

New York, Aug. 12.

A private dispatch from North Carolina states that Vance, the American candidate for Congress in Clingman's District is certainly elected.

Bedford, Pa., Aug. 13.

The President and party left the Springs this morning and will pass the night at Cumberland. The President is greatly benefitted by his sojourn here.

Cleveland, Aug. 11.

The Cleveland, Painesville & Ashtabula Railroad stockholders held a meeting to day. The old Board of Directors is re-elected, except E. M. Gilbert of Utica, Hamilton White of Syracuse, and C. C. Dennis of Buffalo, to take the place of Hickox and Page of Ohio, and Case of Auburn. The new men were elected by N. Y. Central interest. Vote very full—97 per cent of the entire stock being represented.

New Orleans, Aug. 11.

Gen. Walker is in Alabama. He left Mobile on the stamer Legrand for Montgomery on Monday, the 9th.

Zuologa has abandoned Tampico. The liberals were advancing.

Deaths from yellow fever here last week, 140.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.

Returns from the different Congressional Districts of the State, indicate the following result: 2d district, Anderson, 4,500 majority; 3d district, Clark, 4,000; 4th district, Craig, 4,000; 5th district, Woodson, 500; 6th district, Phelps, 5,000; 7th district, Noell, 3,000.

St Johns, Aug. 12.

To the repeated enquiries which are made every hour through the day as to the condition of the cable and the probabilities about the reception of the Queen's message, we are unable to return any other answer than that the cable remains all right. The signals are passing through its whole length satisfactorily; but that the electricians have not yet concluded their arrangements for putting their recording instruments into operation.

Washington, Aug 13.

The New Orleans True Delta of the 7th contains an extract from a letter written by Judge McAlpine, dated Manzeanell's July 9th, in which he expresses his confidence that the liberal or federal party will succeed in Mexico. In the desperate battle on the 2nd of July near Colima, the federal troops lost but few men, while the church forces had 800 killed. 300 deserted in a body at Colima. There were accumulated from the neighboring mines $20,000,000 of silver bullion, which could not be transported because of the troubled state of the country Intelligence from Rio Grande to the 5th, represent the re-actionists at variance and the liberals successful everywhere.

Washington, Aug 15

The President returned here last evening and proceeded to his summer residence.

Gen. Harney and the Peace Commissioners, Messrs. Powell and McCulloch, also arrived here, yesterday, and severally had interviews with the Secretary of War.

Mr. Stockton, Minister to Rome, and Gen. Thayer, of Alabama, Minister to Belgium, are both awaiting their final instructions.

New York, Aug 15

The steamship Philadelphia, from Havana, Aug 8th, arrived here this morning. The brig Nancy, of New Orleans, recently seized at Havana as a slaver has been discharged.

Two cargoes of Coolies, numbering nearly 800, had recently arrived at Havana under the Dutch and Spanish flag.

A letter from Havana says that the rumor that the United States was meditating a purchase of Cuba, has caused great excitement there.

Yellow Fever continued to rage. Capt. Albert Gage is among its recent victims

All the vessels of the Spanish fleet had been ordered into port by the admiral, in order to escape the autumnal hurricanes; all the sailing vessels were rapidly getting to the north-east.

New York, Aug. 16.

Flour—$4,75a5.60, common to fair extra western. Wheat—quiet but firm; prices remain nominally the same, with no transactions of magnitude to report.—Corn dull. Oats dull and lower.

Buffalo, Aug. 16.

Flour—$5,37½ for good super Ohio; $5,62½a5 75 for extra Ohio, Indiana and Canadian; $5.85a6,00, for double extra Wheat—$1,30 for new white. Corn—73a74 for sound. Oats—46a48.

Chicago, Aug 16.

George Watson, Esq., Sup't of G W. Railroad, died at Springfield, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

New Orleans, Aug 14

Deaths by yellow fever in the Charity Hospital; week ending 12th, 87. Deaths by yellow fever yesterday were 52. A great excitement consequent.

DIED

By a communication to Mrs Bissell, we are informed of the death of her sister Mrs Mary A. Armstrong

She died on the 24th of last month, at Waukon Iowa and leaves a husband and three children to deplore the loss of a kind and affectionate wife and mother. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. Abner Spofford, and was born at Chaumont, Jefferson County N. Y. in 1824. Her father and family were early pioneers in the West, removing to this place in 1824

She resided among us until 1847—and afterwards removed to Indiana.

She was married in 1848, and for the last few years has been a resident of Iowa.

In 1843 she professed faith in Christ, and united with the Presbyterian Church at Tecumseh. She was ever after an ornament to the Church—a sincere, devoted and humble christian, furnishing in her life a beautiful exemplification of the power of christianity to mould the heart and guide the life.—Her piety was practical, kind and beneficent. She seemed never so happy as when engaged in some labor of christian love to those around her, especially to the young.

She was much employed in teaching school, in our village and vicinity. She excelled in teaching, and in a very eminent degree secured the affection and confidence of her pupils.

It was in this department of labor among us, that she displayed the most eminent qualities of a practical christian.

She seemed never weary of efforts to mould the hearts of her pupils to love the right and hate the wrong; to love her Saviour and trust his mercy And many, no doubt, at the mention of her name will rise up and call her blessed.

In affliction, and especially in her last sickness, her christian character shown brighter and brighter. She grieved not that she must die, but that she must leave her dear husband and tender offspring.

While her relations and friends mourn her death—they will find comfort in the assurance that she lived the life of a practical christian and died the death of the righteous.

P. Bills.

Special Notices.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office, 403 Tecumseh, Michigan.

ISLAND HOUSE,

R P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO. OHIO

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

BY

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(Opposite the Post Office)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

Executive Committee.

Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the above society, at the office of Bills & Baxter in the Village of Tecumseh on Saturday the 14th, day of August inst., at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing a Committee of Arrangements, and making such other preparations as may be deemed expedient for the annual fair of the society to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday the 16th day of September next.

B. L. Baxter, Secretary.

Tecumseh, August 5th, 1858.

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B. Hoeg late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Wednesday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY, } Commissioners.
SIRELL C. LEBARON, }

August 24, 1858. n405w4

☞ We wish to call the attention of the inhabitants of Tecumseh and vicinity to an article of Medicine known as Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, recommended for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Piles, and all Rheumatic affections; and is doing the work in every case when taken according to the directions, which accompany each bottle.—Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 401-4w

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O Address, Adrian, Mich., 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

New Advertisements.

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese,

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or barrel, at A. JAMES & Co

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

80,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E TINDALL.

Tecumseh, Aug. 5th.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin, Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.

New York, And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—Dr. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never sent from New York, and has not been many years. He has no other office or associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not. ☞ Beware of all persons using his name or pretending to have now, or to have had any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter A visit from the patient prefered. His 'Six Lectures' on the Law, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.," of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway, New York

June 1858.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A D 1854 executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the county of Lenawee April 22d, 1856, in liber V of mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723 Thomas M Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and six dollars and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, viz: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the township of Dover, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as the south half of the south west quarter, of section number twenty four, and the north west quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty five, in township seven south of range two east containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less will be sold at public auction on the 13th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee, holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 23d 1858. 397m3

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD
TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	7	10	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5 a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge Mosrow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57 P. M.
Going South	6 50	"	2 40 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ AT HOME AGAIN!—The "boys" of the Tecumseh Sax Horn Band, from their trip to Lake Superior. By their conversation they must have enjoyed themselves hugely!

☞ TOWN PUMP!—Broke down, and occasioning disappointment to the thirsty, of all species. Whose business is it, to see to it, Mr. Marshall?

☞ THE NEW BRICK BLOCK on Chicago street, now being erected for the Messrs. Richards, Gilman and Deuel, is fast assuming form and proportion, under the superintendence of Hugh Richards, Esq. We do like to hear the pleasant ringing of the trowel and the steady stroke of the mason's hammer. In all villages this kind of music must always accompany growth and prosperity. This block when finished will add a good deal to the appearance of our village.

☞ Our streets have during the week last past, afforded quite a lively and stirring appearance; and gives the guarantee from all sides, of a revival of business, in all its various directions and interests.—We observe that our farmers have a more pleasing countenance—our mechanics too are recovering from the embarrassing and discouraging state of things, which they had to contend with during the last nine months. Now, it may not be much of an undertaking to divine the cause of all this, while the prices for our products and commodities have a secure upward tendency again. And we are warranted to say, that, should we be so fortunate as to have public confidence restored again,—a common consent, "to live and let live," we shall soon be upon the threshold of better days, than Lenawee county, together with Tecumseh and our sister villages, have seen for many years.

☞ The President of the Detroit Board of Trade has written a letter to the Superintendent of the M. C. Railroad, concerning the foul condition in which wheat sent over the road is received in that market, in which some valuable suggestions are given to country shippers and producers. He says:

"A handsomely cleaned sample of wheat will bring more money, and when such can be found, the Farmer may be sure it will be sought after. An instance occurred last spring with a Miller, who found that he could send his wheat in here and sell it to better advantage than to manufacture it into flour. Two samples were shown; one that had been put through a smut mill, the other in the condition it came from the farmer. The result was the well cleaned wheat sold for 7c per bushel more than could be obtained for the other—the loss in cleaning being only 1½ cts. per bushel."

THE CROPS IN MICHIGAN.—An intelligent correspondent of the Pontiac Jacksonian, who has been through the counties of Oakland, Shiawassee, Clinton, Ionia, Livingston, Genesee, Washtenaw, and Jackson, states that the weevil has done but little damage this year, though it seems to be gaining ground, and may in a few years, as in some parts of New York, entirely destroy the crop. The rust has done some damage but to no great extent. Grass throughout the State is heavy, all the spring crops are good except corn, which is backward, though warm weather and a good fall may yet bring it to perfection.

☞ The debt of the county of Washtenaw due the State of Michigan, on the 1st of July, 1857, as stated by the Auditor General, and claimed by the State, amounted, as we understand, to the sum of $16,537.

DR. Grisson, the County Treasurer, believing there were errors against the County went hunting for them, and a laborious work in casting interest and correcting errors, found the debt reduced to $9,632 08.

☞ The Directors of the M. S. R. R. have decided to pay a $2000 incumbrance on the homestead of the late Superintendent, Sam Brown, and thus secure the same to the family of deceased. Corporations sometimes have souls!

Culinary Matters.

PRESERVING FRUIT IN CANS.—A correspondent of the American Agriculturist furnishes that valuable journal with a description of his method of preserving fruit which he states that he has successfully practised for years. At this season of "berries," and in the coming autumn, the information will not be without value to many of our readers:

Take wide mouthed bottles, either pint, quart, or two quarts—according to the size of the family—and, placing them in cold water in a common wash boiler or other convenient vessel, let them come to a boil. Sweeten, and cook the fruits as for immediate use, being careful not to cook too much; as the more it is cooked, the less it will contain of its natural aroma and deliciousness. Have ready new drilling or cotton cloth, cut into pieces amply large to come down over the rim of the bottle and be tied, and cords long enough to go twice round the neck of the bottle and tie. Have ready melted, sealing wax made of equal parts of resin and bees wax.

"Take the bottles as they are to be filled from the hot water, and immediately fill them with the heated fruit. Then thoroughly coating with the melted wax one side of one of the cloths, place the coated side down, over the mouth of the bottle. Press down and tie firmly and smoothly, and with a spoon cover the upper side of the cloth with wax also. Set in a cellar or cool place, and the fruit will keep for years.

As the melted wax will sometimes run through the cloth upon the fruit, though it does not injure it, if a piece of white paper be cut round, a little larger than the mouth of the bottle, though not large enough to come over the edge of the rim, and pressed upon the centre of the coated side of the cloth before it is placed upon the mouth of the bottle, and then carefully placed over the mouth of the bottle, it will keep the wax from the fruit.

"The advantages of this process are—glass will never corrode, and, if carefully used, will last for many years; in putting up the fruit no weight is needed to keep down the cover, as in the selfsealing cans and jars of Arthur's, and they are more easily opened than any other except the tin can with the screw cap. The process of sealing is more perfect than with the cork, and we think more rapid.

It will be well to look at the bottles after they are sufficiently cool for the wax to harden, and, if the wax has run through the cloth, re-coat."

☞ Mr. Rarey's career has been unexpectedly stopped in England. He had cleared some $80,000 by his horse-taming secret, when suddenly Routledge, the cheap publisher, got hold of a pamphlet published by the horse tamer in America and printed it. It contains in a small compass all the art of horse taming.

☞ The old and erroneous idea that the whole region of the Rocky Mountains south of the 40th parallel, in a sterile region, presenting an almost unbroken field is completely refuted by Governor Stevens' exploration. One of the officers of his party, Lieutenant Saxton, says in his report: "I find that my previous ideas of this Rocky Mountain range are, so far as this section is concerned, entirely erroneous. Instead of a vast pile of rock and mountains almost impassible, I find a fine country, well watered by streams of clear, cold water, and interspersed with meadows covered with a most luxuriant grass."

THREE CHILDREN PICKED UP IN LAKE ERIE.—The Windsor Herald gives the following particulars of the finding of three children floating in Lake Erie, on Thursday last: "Mr. Owen was crossing from Sandusky to Kingsville in a small schooner, when, about eight miles from one of the Islands, he fell in with a small boat containing three children, the eldest about 11 or 12—a girl—the others much smaller. The boat was full of water, drifting before the wind, and they up to their necks in water. From being so long in the water they had become almost speechless, and were with difficulty freed from their hold on the boat. From the eldest Mr. Owen learned their names and where they belonged, and kindly took them home. From the father he learned that they had been in the water from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. They had been seen in the boat in the morning, shortly after which they were missing. The father started in pursuit, but failing to find them returned to the Island."

Boston, Aug. 15.

A fire occurred in Broomfield street, early this morning. The Granite Warehouses, numbers 18 and 20, with their contentents, were damaged to the amount of $10,000. It was occupied as sales room of the institution of the Blind, by Messrs. Johnson & Frye, Book Binders, and Miss Stewart, the Artist.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

ENIGMA.

Answer to Enigma in the Herald of last week.

THE FALLS OF NIAGARA.

FLORINE LEBARON.

They are building a new Presbyterian Church at Sturgis.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH August 1858.

Wheat	1 00 a 105
Flour	4 50 a 5 00
Buckwheat	37
" Flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	28
Clover seed
Beans	30 a 50
Potatoes new	28
Onions	63
Apples, green	62 a 75
do dried	5 a 6
Butter	11
Tallow	8 a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00 a 5 00
Pork	4 50 a 5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 00
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	7
Sheep pelts	40 a 50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do dairy pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	2 a 3 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

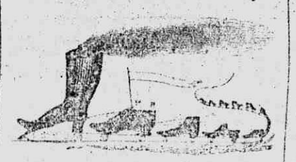
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	3 36 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 35 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 26	"	8 40 "
Arrive at			12 45 10 52
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 35	"	5 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			12 35 6

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Michigan City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Applebacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice. CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858. 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods. ☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See

T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

Grand Pleasure Excursions,

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Sault Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Outonagon, La Pointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland	and Detroit.
CLEVELAND At 5 O'clock P. M.	DETROIT, at 10 o'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th	Friday, July 9th
Monday " 19th	Tuesday, " 20th
Thursday " 29th	Friday, " 30th
Monday, Aug. 9th	Tuesday, Aug 10th
Thursday " 19th	Friday, " 20th
Monday " 30th	Tuesday, " 31st
Thursday, Sep 9th	Friday, Sept. 10th
Monday " 20th	Tuesday, " 21st
Thursday " 30th	Friday, Oct 1st
Monday Oct 11th	Tuesday, " 12th
Thursday " 21st	Friday, " 22nd
Monday Nov 1st	Tuesday Nov 2nd
Thursday " 11th	Friday " 12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers; lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior—the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictured Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character.

The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Sault Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $44.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, time 8 days, distance 2200 miles, by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors, Cleveland, Ohio.

S P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH. : : MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOWARD Wredeport, N. Y. $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27 '58. 1858

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian.

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes used for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us Jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 388y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

DR. MCCRUM'S Receipt Book, or The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excellent Receipts, are for sale by

DAVID HENDERSON,

Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 350

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by

E. TINDALL.

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

Variety.

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall. One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors, Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental Fire Boards, Odd Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil

W. A. KING,

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and plain Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.

Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."

JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st, 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c.

Enquire on the premises.

J. D. HAMPTON.

Franklin, Sept. 24th, 357tf

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 8th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m4

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Receticuls, Jets, Bubble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at A very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no alterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Burnt Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co's premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
H. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 389tf

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured. It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country, to solicit subscriptions; to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE.
375m3ov3c. 213 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS. ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS. DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRESENT

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list:

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do	250 00 do.
10 do do	100 00 do.
10 patent lever, hunting, cased watches	100 00 do.
25 Gold Watches	75 00 do.
50 do	60 00 do.
100 do	50 00 do.
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do.
250 Silver Hunting cased watches	25 00 do.
500 Silver Watches	$15 00 to $20 00 do.
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob chains	$5 00 to 10 00 do.

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $25 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded without one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 305 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and is now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

and they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or corrupt taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTER,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " " 18.00 " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payments to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

AGRICULTURAL.

Luck in Farming.

There are few words oftener upon the lips of a certain class of farmers, than LUCK,

Smith is a 'lucky dog,' because his corn never rots, his wheat never winter kills, his sheep never get into his rye, and his cows never invade his meadows or orchards. His crops are better than his neighbors', his butter brings more in the market, and even his wife and children have a more contented look than other people. Every thing he touches thrives. What a lucky man Smith is!

Now, the fact is, luck has nothing to do with Smith's succes in life. If you watch the man, you will find that every result he reaches is anticipated and planned for, and comes of his own wit and work. It is the legitimate reward of his labors, and it would have been bad luck if it had turned out otherwise. His corn always comes up, because he always selects the seed himself, and hangs it up by the husks in the garret, where it is thoroughly dried. He does not plant until the sun has warmed the soil enough to give the germ an immediate start.—His wheat fields he drains with tile, and the water that used to freeze and thaw on the surface, and throw the roots of the wheat out and kill them, now passes down into the drains and runs off. His fields are green and beautiful in the spring, when his neighbors' are russet-brown and desolate. His fences are in good repair, and his animals are not made breachy by the continued temptation of dilapidated walls. His wife and children are comfortably clothed and fed, and are not kept in a continual fret and worry by a husband and father, who has no system or energy in his business. "A time and place for everything,' is his motto carefully carried out.

The shoemaker is always called in when his services are needed, and none of his household get wet feet, catch cold, have the lung fever, and run up a doctor's bill of twenty dollars, for want of a shilling's worth of leather at the right time, in the right place.

Smith does not believe in luck. He knows that health in a family and thrift upon the farm depend upon a thousand little things, that many of his neighbors are too lazy or careless to look after. So while they are at the tavern, or loafing in the village, or running a muck in politics, he is looking after these little things, and laying his plans for next year. He has good corn even in the poorest year, because the soil has the extra manure it needs to bring out good long, plump, well capped ears. He meant to have eighty bushels to the acre, and he has it, good measure, and running over. Talk to him about luck, he will say to you:

"It's all nonsense. Bad luck is simply a man with his hands in his breeches pockets, and his pipe in his mouth, looking on and seeing how it will come out. Good luck is a man of pluck meets difficulties, his sleeves rolled up, and working to make it out right. He rarely fails. At least I never did."

Smith is right. Attend to your business, and you will have good luck.—American Agriculturist.

Falling Fruits.

Already the apples, pears and plums are beginning to drop abundantly from the trees. If you examine these, you will discover not a single sound specimen among them. They have fallen, not by the winds, but quite likely, prematurely from disease. Cut them open, and you will find either eggs, or grubs already at work at the substance of the fruit. Every one of these fruits is a pest-house, to be immediately destroyed.

It is good work for the boys to pick them up, and throw them into the pig stye, where they will be devoured, or rot among the fermenting manures.—We are persuaded that the destruction caused by the curculio, and by the grubs that prey upon the apples and pears, is caused mainly, by the neglect of this simple precaution. The fallen fruit is suffered to lie upon the ground, and mature its progeny of insects. The next year they swarm in increasing numbers, and the farmer complains that there is something peculiar in his soil and climate; he cannot grow good fruit. The difficulty is in the man and not in the soil. Pick up the fallen fruit.

☞ Prussia is the largest exporter of wheat to England; next comes Russia, and the third in the list comes the United States.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th 1857 made by Jedidiah Harrington to Jacob Cheever Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z, of Mortgages on pages 209 and 210, October 12th 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Cheever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, JACOB CHEEVER, Jr.,
Attorneys Mortgagee
April 16th, 1858. 358w13.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Dibble Bellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858. 394w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James F. Merritt to William M. Merritt dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 and recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 19th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north-east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st. 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February, 1846, executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 12th day of July 1857 by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which "assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.
Assignee.

Dated June 15th 1858

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three [3] in Township number Nine [9] south of range number Five [5] East containing forty acres of land more or less, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth deceased. Terms made known at sale BENJAMIN DEMUTH,

Tecumseh, June 16th, 1858. Administrator.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1858 executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. S. Myers to Lucian B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d 1858 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723 Thomas M. Cooley assigned the said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith May 24th 1858, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-five dollars and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less, will be sold at public auction, on the 23d day of October next at one o'clock in the afternoon, at Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIAN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jesse McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th 1858 396w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858, I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August dest. at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jesse McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 14th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Legal Advertisements.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twentieth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Henry Bacon deceased. On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified, of Elizabeth A. Bacon and Benjamin L. Baxter, Administratrix and Administrator on the Estate of said deceased for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.) 3403w4

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times,

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined.—These Machines are Warranted to work well, and on Suitable Ground, if well managed, will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent
Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

☞ Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

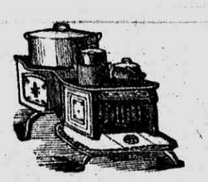
Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all;
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times.
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th. 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS.

FRED. EMERSON — D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS L. BARON — WALLACE GRAY,
D. L. SMILES. — JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEARS. — ALFRED JAMES
O. O. ADAMS. — GEO. SEAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st. 1858. 391y

MRS. E. M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence, on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 386m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to perform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. F. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL

SELECTED STOCK OF

Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY.

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.
Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Apothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Consumption, Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writing on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published lends many persons to apply for "Agencies," as if 'Inhilation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public; and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a 'subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H. MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Dr. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 828 Broadway, N Y

May, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING
Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

Lancaster's

LIVERY STABLE

The subscriber takes this method of informing the citizens of this place and the community in general that he is now prepared to accomodate them with anything in the above line they may wish, from a saddle Horse to a four-Horse team.

His Horses are of the best the country affords, and his carriages both for appearance and durability cannot be surpassed.—Give him a call.—Terms moderate

n3131y HENRY LANCASTER

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov. 1st. 6m

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the Blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints, epileptic fits, coughs, consumption in its early stages, sore throat, bronchitis, fever and ague, asthma, liver spirits, scrofula, neuralgia, tumor, cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhœa, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the extreme merit or seeds of disease, what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, restores bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr. Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiments as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half-dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

PETER MIAMI Co. Ind. Aug. 4, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no loss by inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort and efficiency in business dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a goodsized catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of, I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach, for when my dyspepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours,
JOHN S. DENUTE

From the Rev. MR. MCELHANEY, Pastor of Roberts Chapel.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier in my case, from which I have benefited much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, &c. W. T. MCMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

LOUISVILLE June 4 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curtis & Co. as I expect them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty-five cent box of Pills could have relieved me of my chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I was bound to own that your Pills did the control. Why I have taken as many as seven boxes, and other remedies sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they act—that's all I want.

Dr. ROBACK—DEAR SIR: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past seven and a half, and having at a your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Pills in their highly recommended. I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other remedies. After using two bottles of the Pills I was entirely relieved, and I can say with truth that I have not had a return of the disease since. I would say to you, you may use this testimonial in any manner you please, as I feel that I owe it to you for the speedy cure I have received at your hands, and I would recommend all afflicted with rheumatism to give your Pills a trial, and they will be convinced that they are the best medicine in use for the diseases of the human family.

CHARLES BENNETT.

Late of Cincinnati, Ohio.

INDIANAPOLIS Wednesday Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my regular business at times, and having heard of your Blood Purifier and Pills, I was induced to try them. I have been using the Purifier for the last three months and find the medicine fully equal to the recommendations. Should any one desire to make further inquiries with the view of it as my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give the information for the benefit of those similarly affected. MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. All for sale by Family Medicine Generally, at my agents.

Manufactory, Sales Room and Office, No. 6 East Fourth street 2d building from Main street, Cincinnati, O.

For sale by H. D. CRARY, TAPPAN & CO. Adrian. B. F. CONNELL, Clinton. G. W. HAWKINS Medina. F. N. BUTLER Monroe. And by Druggists and Merchants generally

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases and the deception practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, selfstyled years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE, GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c., and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism Masturbation or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE B. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD Secretary.
EZRA D. HEAREWELL, President.
390y

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 86 BARCLAY STREET

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business on the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable rate or price to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that there is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, these customers have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being regulated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can sell at less than any single purchaser can. In fact, we are to one friend much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends, wish to avail us country produce themselves, and we find it to our interest to do so sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may come to us. Our charges for selling are a usually 5 per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying, one of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.
And many others.

N. B. Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, Life, Fire and Marine, in the most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Proposals Offers, in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a selection of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium from the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as costly, and gold pen	2 50
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00
Superb Fined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	5 00
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	2 00
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	3 00
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	1 00
Set of Gold Cornelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	1 00
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with Stone	2 00

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 41. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 26, 1858. WHOLE NO. 405

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, M'CH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

CROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER

HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets

310y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

310tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. HILLS. D. L. BAXTER.

HILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN HOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.

Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

TIMOTHY DEUEL,

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,

403 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

Death of Washington.

BY CHAS. A. LANFREAR.

It is early morn; and wide o'er the land
Falls the mantle of Peace, as though an angel brnd
Spread out its folds, o'er glen and hill,
To worship near, 'tis so calm and still.

'Tis the dawning hour of the Sabbath day,
And it seems the winds hardly dare to play,
For they've hung their harps on a snowy cloud,
And hushed the strings which would vibrate loud

List! what means the sound of tolling bell?
What mourful tale does its music tell?
Whose noble form, from the good and brave,
Lies cold and shrouded for the grave?

Hark! peal after peal breaks on the ear!
And echoes respond both loud and clear;
Sadly they come, knell after knell,
Yet it tolleth on their mournful bell;

Now solemn strokes from each neighboring spire
Speak to the world of OUR COUNTRY'S SIRE!
Ah yes! let them speak till the day is done,
Let them mournfully toll for Washington.

Last night when our eyelids were closed in sleep,
For, sad of those who we left to weep,
When the solemn stars were watching on high,
Did this noble Father of Freedom die.

He was not alone, with none to hear
What his lips might speak, for, standing near,
Were loved ones bending o'er his brow
To catch the whispers, faint and low.

And still they gazed, each loving friend,
And still did they o'er the dying bend;
They would give THEIR lives the soul to stay;
But no! the angels must bear it away.

Yes! while they were looking, his spirit fled,
And they stood alone with the honored dead;
In the sacred room—where others slept,
Were standing those who mourned and wept.

Then the eagle dressed in sable hue
His trembling form, and sadly flew
O'er hill and dale with heavy wing,
To bear the story the church-bells ring.

No more will he lead his soldiers brave—
No more will he weep o'er each early grave—
Nor hill, nor glen, when burdened with care,
Shall witness his form low bowed in prayer.

Crowds gather around that coffin now;
Tears gently fall on that marble brow;
Heavy sighs escape from that quivering breast,
For our country's Father has gone to rest

Our Nation's Flag is now drooping low,
And each seaman's ship moves sad and slow.
They would hush their voices, but each feathery wave
Sings a parting hymn to the Chieftain brave.

Come, mothers and maidens, come ye to-day
And strew laurels and cypress along the way;
E'en scatter the "roses," 'twill hide the gloom,
For Our Nation's Hero we bear to the tomb.

In a quiet spot near where waters weep,
We have laid the loved one down to sleep;
Where angels will love to hover round,
To guard from danger that hallowed ground.

Aye, they rest their wings on marble domes
And gravite towers, 'mid stranger's homes,
Whose tops seem piercing the azure sky,
And speak of virtues that ne'er will die.

They point to a home in the spirit-land,
Where dwells a happy and joyous band;
Where forms are robed in the purest white
And midst them the one now lost to sight.

His hands are clasping a golden lyre,
And his fingers play on each silver wire;
Walking songs of Peace and Victory given,
Which echo loud from the highest Heaven.

A circle of gems shine round him there—
The loved ones who shared each toil and care;
Each wearing a crown, so bravely won,
While their starry plumes bent to WASHINGTON.

Economy.

No man is rich whose expenditure exceeds his means; and no one is poor whose incomings exceed his outgoings; it is no small commendation to manage a little thing well. He is a good wagoner who can turn in alittle room. To live well in abundance is the praise of the estate, not the person. I will study more how to give a good account of my little, than how to make it more.

Let honesty and industry be thy constant companions, and spend one penny less than thy clear gains; then shall thy hide-bound pocket begin to thrive, and will never again cry with hunger; neither will creditors insult thee, nor want oppress, nor hunger bite, nor nakedness freeze thee. The whole hemisphere will shine brighter, and pleasure spring up in every corner of thy heart. Now, therefore, embrace these rules and be happy. Banish the bleak winds of sorrow from thy mind, and live independant. Then shalt thou be a man, and not hide thy face at the approach of the rich, nor suffer the pain of feeling little when the sons of fortune walk at thy right hand: for independency, whether with little or much is good fortune, and places thee on even ground with the proudest of the golden fleece.

Oh, then be wise, and let industry walk with the in the morning, and attend thee until thou reachest the evening hour for rest. Let honesty be as the breath of thy soul, and never forget to have a penny, when all thy expenses are enumerated and paid; then shalt thou reach the point of happiness, and independence shall be thy shield and buckler, thy helmet and crown; then thy soul shall walk upright, nor stoop to the silken wretch because he hath riches, nor pocket an abuse because the hand which offers it wears a ring set with diamonds.

From the Waverley Magazine.

OLD PHILIP.

BY NELLIE WILD.

It was long ago. I was a school girl then, and when my daily tasks were ended, and I closed the gate of the schoolhouse yard, I seldom failed to see the old man with his basket of fruit on his arm, standing near the schoolhouse. 'Children,' he would say, 'make hay while the sun shines.' Sometimes he would look at me and say, 'stand still a minute, child, and let me look at you.' Child indeed, thought I; I was almost fourteen, and though smaller than the most children at that age, I was no child in my own estimation; but I loved to talk with the old man who spoke to me so very kindly.

He was old—eighty, perhaps. His figure was tall and muscular, with a slight stoop in the shoulders; his features were attenuated; there was an expression of melancholy in his faded blue eyes, but on his lips there rested a smile which must have been sunny in his youth. His voice was slightly tremulous, but in its tones there lingered the echo of a deep, rich music which neither age nor sorrow could wholly crush out. I seem to see him now with his basket of fruit on his arm, the summer sunshine falling on his thin, silver hair, and the wind tossing the tatters of his faded coat, gazing thoughtfully into the merry faces of the little maidens, and breathing a prayer. I have since thought the rose-color of early life might not be blanched; yes, I think this was his prayer, or something like it. The old man bade us call him 'Philip;' and we did so, without knowing his sir-name or residence.

One day we missed him from his accustomed place near the gate. Weeks came and went; they passed rapidly with us, and the holidays came. It was the last day of school: the girls had all left the schoolroom except myself, and I was the last always, I know not why. The yellow sunset light was streaming in at the west windows, as I flung my straw hat upon my tangled yellow hair, and ran down the steps and out of the gate. Old Philip was in his old place again, beside the gate, with none of the fine fruit that he was once accustomed to bring, only a few early apples. He was very pale, and his haggard face told, at a glance, that he had been ill. I do not remember what I said, but I expressed my pleasure at seeing him again. He seemed pleased that I had not forgotten him, and took my hand, for the first time, and looked earnestly into my face, causing a blush to burn on my cheek and brow, and I withdrew my hand. I thought I saw a tear on his cheek as he turned away, but it was only for a moment, and the placid smile was again upon his lip.

'You do not come again to school,' he said pleasantly.

'Yes, when the holidays are over.'

'And, then, mayhap, the old man may be at rest,' he sorrowfully said; 'and forgotten,' he added, after a pause.

'I will not forget you,' I answered; 'but you will come again; it is only six weeks.'

We presented a strange contrast; the old man with his tattered clothes, and his long, wavy hair floating on his faded collar and the old hat which rested on, but could not shade his furrowed brow. I, the only child of a wealthy father, in my snowy robe, and leghorn hat, and rose-colored ribbons, with the light-heartedness of the half child, half-woman that I was—yes, it was a strange contrast, but I did not think of it then.

'What is your name?' he asked; 'it is Lucy.'

'No: it is Nellie.'

'Nellie, do you wish to know why you interest me more than the other children. I will tell you.

He drew from his bosom a locket glittering with tiny diamonds, and placed it in my hand. It was a lovely face I saw, worthy the costly setting, and I thought I should never weary of looking at it. It was the miniature of a child, with large, hazel eyes, flaxen hair parted smoothly on the white brow, and falling in loosed braids on her pale cheek. She might have seen twelve summers—not more. Then I knew why the old man loved me more than others; the likeness bore a strong resemblance to myself. The eyes were larger, and the pale cheek was fairer than my rosy and sun-browned face; but it was like me; I saw that instantly.

The diamonds glittered in the rays of the setting sun as the old man replaced the locket in his bosom, and I was surprised to find that he whom I had always believed to be very poor was the owner of such a costly trinket.

'She was like you,' he said, turning away, as he spoke, to dash away a tear; 'and now you know why I love you; we may never meet again in life—for I am 'wearing awa' like a snow-wreath in thaw, to the 'land o' the leal,' but we shall meet again there,' and he pointed to the sunset.

He started on his homeward way, and suddenly it occurred to me to follow and see where he lived. I followed at a little distance, as he threaded his way among the busy passers by, each with his separate load of care, joy or sorrow. Slowly and wearily the old man plodded on, too slowly for my eager feet, far out over Roxbury neck, and on, a long way for such as he. At length he turned from the street, and crossing a lot of vacant land, he at last paused, and entered a dilapidated building more like a shed than a human habitation. When I had examined it closely, that I might be able to find it again, I turned homeward.

It was almost dark, and I ran across the open lot, eager to mingle with the crowd. Lights were shining from many windows, and the gas lights on the distant street looked like glow-worms, small, and burning steadily.

As I drew near home, sounds of music and laughter told of guests, and I crept in unperceived.

Two days after I sought the home of Old Philip, with my father's permission. I knocked at the door; it was opened by an old negress. It had not occurred to me before that I must speak, I inquired for her master; for such I thought he might be.

'He's not at home,' she said. I hesitated, then inquired after his health. 'He has been ill,' she said, 'but he's better now'

I opened my basket and presented my offering of grapes. She looked at them with greedy eyes, and when I spoke of my acquaintance with the old man, and told my name, without venturing to raise my eyes to her face, she opened the door wide, and invited me to enter.

'My child,' she said, 'if you don't mind the sight of poverty like ours, come in; old master will soon be at home, and thank you better than I can, for your present, which will please him, I guess; although he won't take much from strangers as think him a beggar, often, with his poor dress.'

But I was eager to be gone, and promising to call again, I rose to depart, taking, at the same time, a hasty survey of the wretched room.

It was more than a week before I had another opportunity to visit my old friend. My knock was answered again by the old negress.

'Your master,' I began, 'is not at home.'

'Yes, child, you can come in; my master is very bad again.'

She led me into the room and closed the door. At first it was so dark that I could not see; but the old man saw me, and held out his hand. He was silent for a moment, and then he opened his eyes and called, 'Sylvia,' while a flush passed over his face. 'They told me she was dead,' he said, as the woman drew near to his bedside. 'They told me she was dead; my Lucy, my little child; but I knew she was not.'

Old Sylvia burst into tears. 'Old master be crazy again,' she said, rocking herself back and forth in her old rickety chair, and wiping her eyes with her tattered apron.

'Is he very ill?' I ventured to ask.

'Yes, he is often so; but not so bad as now.'

'Shall I send for a physician?' I inquired'

'O, no! no, my master will not see him.'

'But he must, or he will die.'

'She did not answer.

I determined to leave a note at old Dr. White's, a friend of my father's, which I did as I went home; and then I drew nearer to the old man and bade him goodbye. He called me Lucy, and bid me come back soon. His eyes were closed, and he spoke indistinctly. It was my last look at my old friend in life.

Two days after, my father, having become interested in the story I had told him of the strange old man and his diamonds; he went to see him. The old man was dying, but he was in his right mind; and when he was told who his visitor was, he expressed a desire to see me, and hear me speak once more. My father remained with him all night; at times he was wandering away to some old spot he mentioned, where there was a grave, he said, and he would beg them to lay him there; then he would bewail his poverty, and cry out that he could not rest in his grave so far from home.

Towards morning he became calm; and once his eye fell upon my father standing near. He thanked him for his kindness to a poor stranger, and seeing the morning light coming in at the little east window he asked him if he had remained with him all night. When answered in the affirmative, a smile spread over his wasted features. 'I am dying!' he said; 'and it is pleasant to die with friends around me, though they be strangers.'

'There is some place where you wish to be burried, my friend,' said my father; 'is it far from here?'

'So far away that I shall never rest there,' replied the old man; 'it is my wish—no matter, I shall sleep as well here as there. I shall find them in heaven.'

'Believe me, my friend,' said my father, unless that spot be far beyond the sea, you shall sleep there; your last wish shall be granted if it is within my power.'

The old man grasped his hand, but he could not offer a word of thanks.

Two hours after sunrise my father was forced to leave him, and without the hope of ever seeing him again in this life. The same day at sunset I went again, with my father, but we found the old man at rest. He was far beyond the sunset.

The old negress was preparing to depart. She was not going till she had seen her old master carried to his grave, she said, for she put very little confidence in my father's promise that the old man should be buried with his friends. But she respected me, and she placed in my hands the diamond locket, telling me, at the same time, that her 'old master had bid her give it to me,' for I would love it as he had done; and this was several days before he had seen my father.

'I might have kept this,' she said, referring to the locket, 'but I loved old master, and I respects his last request.—It is the likeness of his little Lucy, and a dear little missy she was. We have been hungry many a time, but master would not sell it.'

'Have you often suffered from hunger or cold?' questioned my father.

'At first we did, but not lately; I sewed sometimes; but when master was sick I could not earn much. I am going to sew for a lady till I get enough money to go to Philadelphia; I've got a brother that's free there, and he will help me; at least he won't let me starve.'

By degrees she related what she knew of the old man's story, with much feeling.

The old fruit man had once been a southern planter. His plantation was left him by his father, and it was one of the finest in the land. He had married in early life, but his wife had been dead many years. His eldest child was now the possessor of his father's vast property. This son was his only child for many years; and, petted and spoiled by his parents, he grew to manhood self-willed, and thoroughly selfish and heartless.—When he was about sixteen years of age, a little child came to share, with the boy, the father's affection; for the mother died in a few months after the birth of the child. Alfred was jealous of the little one, and he regarded her as an intruder, and was fearful that she might share the property, which was fast disappearing, for his indulgent parent could deny him nothing.

When Lucy was eleven years of age the miniature was painted, and the locket, which was an heirloom in the family, and had been brought from England a hundred years before, was fitted to it. Alfred was very angry that so valuable a peace of property should be given to Lucy, and he sought many opportunities to possess himself of it, but without success.

Soon after the old man was taken ill. He was delirious much of the time, and, much to the surprise of his friends, Alfred was constantly with him, often accompanied by a friend of his, as dissolute as himself, and a lawyer by profession.

When the old man recovered he was astonished to find that, during his illness, he had transferred all his property to his son. The blow had nearly crushed him; not the loss of his property, merely, but the vileness of his son was the heaviest blow. His friends wondered, but the old man was silent. For the sake of his little Lucy he sometimes thought he would expose his son's infamy; but something of the old love yet remained for his son, heartless as he was, and he could not do it, if, indeed it were possible to do so, for the witnesses were men of unblemished reputation; he had been delirious only a portion of the time, and he had no proof of his son's guilt.

Two years he remained in his old home Alfred married in the meantime, and his wife was harsh to the father, and unkind, and often cruel to the child. When the little Lucy was thirteen years of age she died, and the father was left alone. Three days after she was laid in her grave he left Virginia; and bringing old Sylvia, the sole property of his lost child, came to Boston. Old Sylvia had saved a large sum of money, earned by hiring out, and the old man sold fruit and cakes; and so they struggled along, always refusing alms. When old Sylvia's money was expended she worked for more, for the faithful creature would not leave the old man.—As old Philip grew older he clung to the memory of his child, and nothing could induce him to dispose of the locket containing the miniature of his child. He never mentioned his son but once; and then he said, 'I forgive him, and I no longer wish to remember that I have a son.' His last wish was, that he might live to earn money sufficient to bury him in the place from whence he came by the side of his wife and child. When he gave the locket containing Lucy's picture to old Sylvia he believed that he should sleep in a pauper's grave; but he would not, even to sleep by the side of his child, dispose of the locket to one who would not prize it.

This is the old man's story. He sleeps in his own land by the side of his wife and child.

Old Sylvia removed to Philadelphia.—Her brother was once a slave of her old master's, but he purchased his freedom when very young. Old Sylvia could read and write a little, and my father bade her write to him if she ever needed a friend

Some years after my father was travelling Virginia, and he learned, from a stranger near the plantation that was once Philip Heartley's, that the old woman's story was correct.

The wicked son wasted his property, and at the time of my father's visit it was owned by an old fried of Alfred's who had won the greater portion of it by gambling, it was supposed.

Alfred was now poor and unfortunate; four sons had died in childhood; another, who had reached the age of manhood, was thrown from a carriage while intoxicated, and died from his injuries; and his only remaining child, a daughter about twelve years of age, was blind.

THAT 'GALLANT ZOUAVE.'—If our readers do not know what the result of that affair was, between Col. Blount, wife and daughter, and 'Capt. De Réviere,' which we alluded to in the Rural of July 15th, we will now tell them. Col. Blount ascertained that De Reviere had already married a wife in this country, and had deserted her. He produced her before his wife and daughter, to their utter horror. It was also shown that Dr. Reviere had escaped from the galleys in France, and was one of the most heartless scoundrels that ever existed. Miss Blount, at last, was glad to escape from her mother, and seek protection from her father. The last we heard from them was, that the Col., wife and daughter were about to sail for Mobile. Mrs. Blount appeared somewhat baulky in returning, as it would be very humiliating for her to return to Mobile, where she used to move in the best of society. Poor woman! She will know enough hereafter, it is presumed, not to believe the fabulous inventions of the imagination, that French galley slaves may have to tell her.

Later accounts say that on the arrival of Colonel Blount at Savanah, Geo., Capt. DeReviere 'turned up,' to the Colonel's horror, and the ladies again became his friends!—Rural New Yorker.

DOGGEREL.—The following specimen of genuine doggerel is afloat in newspaperdom without paternity:

'Marshal, spare the dog! touch not a single hair!—he worries many a hog from out the muddy lair. Oh, when he was a pup, so frisky and so plump, he lopped his milk from a cup—when hungry, at a jump. And then his funny tricks, so funny in their place—so full of canine licks, upon your hands and face. You will surely let him live? Oh, do not kill him dead! he wags his narrative, and prays for life—not lead. Go, get the muzzle, now, and put upon his mouth, an' stop that bow wow! and tendency to drouth. He is our children's pet, companion of their joy; you will not kill him yet, and thus their hopes destroy? No, Marshal, spare that pup! touch not a single hair. Oh, put your pistol up, and go away from here!'

☞ Actions speak more forcibly than words; they are the test of character.—Like fruit upon the tree, they show the nature of the man; while motives, like the sap, are hidden from our view.

My Cottage Home.

BY MARY A. KEARLES.

In a little fairy valley
Where the oak and maple twine,
Where a silver streamlet wonders,
Is this pretty home of mine.
Where the wild flowers bloom the sweetest
And the robins love to come,
And the brightest sunbeams linger,
In my little cottage home

I have heard of fairer countries
And of skies that brighter seem,
Where the flowers are ever blooming
And the trees are ever green.
And of cities with their splendor
Far beyond the ocean's foam,
Yet I am well contented
With my pretty cottage home.

To be sure no terraced gardens
Are around my simple cot,
No choice exotics, yet as sweet
The wild forget me-not.
No peak except the forest,
Where the red deer loves to roam,
Yet nature seems to bless me
In my quiet cottage home.

Some boast of fame and glory
And others sordid wealth,
Yet I envy not their glitter
With the blessed boon of health.
The king may claim his palace
And the titled lord his dome,
They know not the enjoyment
Of a simple cottage home.

The Bank Robbery at Bethel, Connecticut.

Between Saturday night and Sunday morning last the Hatter's Bank at Bethel was robbed of $86,000 in specie and bills of that and other banks.

They entered at the main door of the bank in the night by means of a skeleton key, proceeded to the Director's room in the rear, took up the carpet on one side of the room, and then sawed out a trap-door under the large centre-table, through which they entered to the vault below.—Here they worked for a week nights, until they succeeded in undermining the vat and taking therefrom $86,000. After they had finished their night's work, they came up through the trap door, replaced it, put down the carpet again and tacked it down, and left the bank apparently precisely as they found it. For fear the table might be moved and the trap-door get displaced by being stepped on, they inserted screws in the boards to keep them from moving Thus they proceeded each night until they secured their plunder and decamped, unsuspected, even.

On Monday morning the officers of the Bank went to the vault to unlock it and found that the bolt to the inner door would not move, and supposing that the lock was out of repair, they worked at it until noon, when they succeeded in opening it, and found a plug in the key hole on the inside, and the bottom of the vault dropped out. This was the first intimation they had that the bank had been molested. The robbers had worked in the rear and underground.

There were two concerned in the robbery, one boarded at the hotel adjoining the bank, and the other boarded at Forrester's hotel in Danbury. They were well known by persons in the vicinity, but no one suspected their business A week ago Saturday, the one who boarded at the hotel next to the bank, left his room late in the evening with a box under his arm, and did not return again.

On Friday last the boarder at Forrester's Hotel in Danbury hired a horse to go to Brookfield, and stay over night, and never returned. He paid for his horse in advance. The hotel keeper was looking after his horse on Monday when the robbery was discovered. A gentleman of Bethel, who know the person who hired the horse, saw him driving towards New Haven yesterday, and there were two persons in the wagon.

Deputy Sheriff G. W. Morris, from Danbury, was in this city to-day, to communicate with the police, the press and the banks. It is probable that the rogues seen in the buggy went to a railroad and are now out of the State.

The whole capital of the Bank was $100,000. The rogus took $86,000 of it; $7,000 in specie and $1,300 in bills of other banks; the balance in bills of the bank.

☞ There is to be a "great National Horse Show" at Coldwater on the 1st, 2d 3d and 4th of September. One Thousand Dollars is to be distributed in premiums to be competed for, besides discretionary premiums.

☞ The Odd Fellows of Coldwater celebrated the Anniversary of the existance of their Lodge on Thursday last. An addres was delivered on the occasion by Hon. H. WALDRON, which is highly spoken of.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Condolence.

BY L. M. HALE.

O lonely heart; O loving heart, neglected—
Droop not with sorrow that knows no relief,
Let not the memories of the Past, reflected
On thy soul, o'ershadow it with grief.

Let not the falsity of one frail mortal,
Drive joy forever from thy pathway, here;
If thou hast met with darkness at Youth's portal,
Step onward through the gloom, devoid of fear.

There is a Future; Cling not to the Present,
But leave thy griefs and sorrows in the Past.
If all life's pleasures are so evanescent,
We should we fel dark grief our axies o'ercast.

There are true Hearts.—not all are false, deceiving,
And thou shalt yet be loved, through coming time,
O lonely heart, cheer up—in Truth believing,
And tread the Future with a faith sublime.

Gang Plow for the West.

New inventions in agricultural implements are constantly being made, and to Western farmers who own large farms upon the prairies, the gang plow, below referred to, must be very valuable. We copy from Emery's Journal of Agriculture:

We have had the pleasure of witnessing the successful operation of one of the most valuable labor saving agricultural implements ever invented—one destined, we think, to produce quite a revolution in the tilling of the soil. Yesterday Jesse Frye had a trial of his newely invented gang plows at our cottage farm, and showed to a large number of our farmers and others plowing on a scale hitherto deemed only capable of being done by steam. His plows were two, three, four and six gangs, with shares of 17 inches each.

The two gang plow, cutting thirty-four inches, was pulled easily by two medium sized horses, and the three gang by three, and then by six horses. The plow pulled by six horses and cutting fifty-one inches, did its work admirably, as did the two gang. The large six gang plow was tried with two ox team—ten yoke of cattle—two yoke abreast, cutting one hundred and two inches. There were about four yoke more than absolutely necessary, and it appeared evident to every observer that there was too much team for the plow.

To say that all who saw the operation of these plows were pleased would but express a modicum of their feelings. To see two ordinary breaking teams that had been breaking with the twenty-two-inch plows, now breaking eight and a half feet wide with one plow, and that with more ease than they worked to their old plows, could not but call forth expressions of surprise and gratification in the extreme.

Mr. Frye has demonstrated new principals as applicable to plows and their manufacture and use, and if any inventor ever made a successful debut, he certainly has. To Illinois we consider it a great boon, and cannot but believe that every farmer will avail himself of it.

STEAM ON THE ERIE CANAL.—At last we have a successful little steamar running on the Erie cannal. Her first trip was made in five days, running time, from Buffalo to Albany.—She may be propelled easily at double the speed of the ordinary horse boats, and at about one half the cost of such boats.

Wisconsin Banks.

A meeting of the Business Men of Chicago, was held at Metropolitan Hall on the evening of the 19th inst., to express their views in regard to the Wisconsin currency which had been thrown out by the bankers of that city. Speeches were made strongly condemnatory of the courses pursued by the bankers who issued the circular. The following resolutions were adopted by the meeting.

Resolved, That we believe in a sound, convertible currency, and that if any of the currency, or the bills of any of the banks now in circulation in this city be inconvertable; it is the duty of our bankers and business public generally, to adopt such measures as will render them readily convertible into the coin or New York exchange as easily as possible

Resolved, That we will sustain our banks, in every effort made in good faith to retire, inconvertible money from circulation.

Resolved, That we believe Wisconsin currency to be well secured, and if any of the Banks in that State refuse to redeem we will nevertheless take their issue at par and place it in the hands of some Banker who will send it home for redemption.

Resolved, That we recommend the people not to sacrifice on this money, as we believe it to be perfectly well secured and ultimately good.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, : : : : : EDITOR.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1858.

Time is Money.

In a recent article we adverted to the tendency of the present age towards extravagant expenditure, not only in the administration of government, but also in private life, and sought to find in it, to some considerable extent, a reason for the present severe, and almost universal embarrassment. But if any one will look carefully around, and observe the habits of the people, and then compare them with these of New England or New York, half a century ago, he will not fail to see, that the community as a whole, are no less lavish in the expenditure of their time.

The inclination and tendency towards fast living and mushroom, speculative prosperity, makes drafts alke upon both. The citizens of Michigan, and especially the citizens of Lenawee, are possessed of a country that ought to make every freeholder independent.

Manifold more than sufficient to supply all the possible wants of the community, is now every place reaped from its abundant harvests, and gathered from its productive folds, but there is no country so fruitful nor income so great, that it may not be readily exhausted upon imaginary and unreal wants. So too there is no country so fruitful as to produce its harvests without the necessary cultivation.

Now the farmers in Lenawee are in general, what are here considered thrifty and hard working men—and yet if almost any family will carefully consider how much time is lost, that might be saved and usefully appropriated how many of the subordinate members of the family are left unemployed, not only for hours, but even for the principal portion of their time, growing up not to habits of economy and thrift, but of idle selfishness and pleasure seeking, it will be seen and felt that these remarks are not wholly without occasion

It may be, and undoubtedly is for the most part true, that the necessary culture of the soil, is ordinarily securred, but this is too often done by the employment of hired help, and that subordinate members of the family may spend their time in idleness.

The misfortune of this economy is, that not only the hired help have thus to be supported and paid out of the proceeds of the farm, before anything can be taken for the support of the rest, but it also at the same time takes more than twice as much, to support a family in idleness, as it does one, for most part dilligently and properly employed.

Now in seeking to give distinctness to the idea, we have perhaps over stated the case—but it is at the same time manifest, and especially to those from the more sterile and unproductive portions of our country, that relying upon and enjoying, the fertility of a soil, almost unsurpassed upon the continent, we have too much forgotten that careful economy of time, and especially with regard to the training and employment of our children, to the useful and productive pursuits of daily life, which is to no small degree essential to the permanent wealth and propriety of any people.

Greely's Advice to Printers.

The compositors in the Tribune Office recently presented Mr. GREELY with a large silver watch. After acknowlidging its reception in suitable terms, Mr GREELY concluded his address with the following piece of advice:

"Friends, I came to this city twenty-five years ago, since which time I have been printer and editor, both as employee and employer. I have observed the course pursued by our craft, and I would give you a word of my experience in the way of advice. I have found that "strikes" for an increase of wages generally resulted in evil, and I would advise you, my friends, to adopt some other mode for the redress of grievance than this. It has always been my desire, to be on such terms with those working together with me in the office, that if I found it necessary I could say to them: "Men, I am not able to pay you so much this week as I was last"—all feeling an equal sympathy in our common prosperity."

THINGS LOST FOREVER.—The following words from the pen of Lydia H. Sigourney are full of instructive meaning Lost wealth may be restored by industry; the wreck of health regained by temperance; forgoten knowledge restored by study; alienated friendship smoothed in forgetfulness; even forfited reputation won by patience and virtue, but who ever looked upon his vanished hours, recalled his slighted years stamped them with wisdom, or effaced from Heaven's record the fearful blot of wasted time The foot print on the sand is washed out by the ocean wave, and easier might we, when years are fled, find that foot print then recall lost hours.

A Lake Vessel at London

Capt BUCKE, of the Schr D. B. Sexton writes to his friends in Cleveland, dating his letter at "West India Docks, London July 30, 1858," in which letter he "cracks on" slightly about the speed of our lake craft, compared with the common run of vessels which he left behind him in the Channel. He says:

"Our passage from Queenston to this little village was very tedious, in consequence of continual head winds. We fell in with a fleet of about forty sail "beating" up the English Channal, and the way we beat them was really astonishing. Some of them, the fast ones I suppose, had collors flying; and just by way of letting them know what we were, our ensign was flying at the peak until we had passed to windward of every sail in the fleet.

The Captain has a good item about "centre-boards," as viewed through the "hinspector's heyes,"

"The vessel is a greater wonder to the people here than the Crystal Palace' or Thames Tunnel' is to us. Our spars, rig and model, are all curiosities. The Pilot who boarded us at the "Downs" was surprised as well as disappointed, when it was made known to him that the vessel was only drawing nine feet of water But the 'centre-board' has puzzled them all. They think it is a Yankee fixture to smuggle tobaco, etc., with. The Custom House inspector, when searching the vessel, examined the outside of the case very closely, and was most anxious to see the interior, but appeared very doubtful and uneasy when told that the principal entrance to it was up through the bottom of the vessel—the opening in the deck being too small to admit either himself or attendant. There is now a Custom House officer stationed on board, who watches every part of the vessel, and particularly about the region of centre-board.

In conclusion, Capt, BURKE speaks of the direct trade, and makes some sensible suggestions respecting the business:

"It is now evident that direct trade between lake and ocean ports is quite practicable to Lake vessels, however, would be better adapted to sea voyages by having them lighter sparred. In fact it would be necessary for them to be so, if they were required to make late Autumn or Winter passages. As to its being a profitable business I am yet unable to say; but I fear that the present depression in trade and commerce here will have a tendency to discourage many from persevering in it. When fleets of first class ships are laid up in all the principal ports from the depressed state of commerce, which is the case at present, it is unreasonable to expect that small vessels can make large fortunes on long voyages We have had an offer of a small cargo of iron to Quebec, at about $5 per ton."

Wheat Crop of the Country.

The wheat crop in the several states may be considered as harvested and partially ready for market. We can, therefore, give the following returns with some degree of certainty:

New York—The crop is under last year's about fifteen per cent., but the quality is much better.

Pennsylvania—The crop is fully an average one, but ten per cent. less than last year, per acre.

Maryland—The crop is an average one, but less per acre and better in quality, than last year.

Virginia—The wheat crop in this State is twenty per cent less than last year for the amount of ground in cultivation, and the quality not much superior.

North Carolina—The crop in this State is probably nearer to a total failure than in any other. The yield being fully fifty per cent. less than last year, and poor in quality.

Kentucky—The crop is above the average, but less than last year; the quality is, however, unsurpassed.

Tennessee—The crop is a good one, but under the average in the yield per acre The quality is good.

Missouri—The amount of the wheat crop in this State is not fully known, but it will generally compare well per acre with the other Western States.

Ohio—The yield of wheat per acre is fully twenty per cent less than last year, but from the increase of land in cultivation, the decrease from an average crop will not exceed ten per cent.

Iowa—The accounts from the centre of the State in regard to the wheat crop are very gloomy. The crop will hardly average ten bushels to the acre. Oats are generally a failure.

Illinois—In southern Illinois the yield of wheat is about a fair average, rather under than over. The winter wheat has been generally successful, and spring wheat the reverse In other parts of the State the yield will not be over half the usual crop

Indiana—In Indiana the yield of wheat has been from one-half to two-thirds of the average crop

Minnesota—The yield of wheat in this State is of better quality than usual, and in quantity nearly two-thirds the usual crop

Michigan—The yield of wheat in Michigan is over two-thirds an average crop, and generally of good quality.—N. Y. Courier & Enquirer.

General News.

New York, August 20.

We understand that since Mr. Field has sent in his resignation as Acting Manager of the Atlantic Telegraph Co a feeling of strong regret has been very generally expressed among the stockholders in this country and letters have been addressed to him begging of him to withdraw his letter; but owing partly to his impaired health and and partly to the pressure of his private business affairs, Mr. Field, as we understood, felt himself compelled to persist in his course.

The steamship Star of the West took out 500 passengers and the Granada 400—all for California and the Frazer's River.

"The steamship Hermann will sail to-morrow direct for San Francisco, and will take out nearly six hundred.

A project is on foot to establish in this city a Military Company, composed of Resident natives of new England. It is to be called the 'NEW ENGLAND GUARDS.' Upwards of 40 names are now on the rolls.

The Captain of the Montreal Field Battery is now in town making arrangements for the accommodation of his Company, which will arrive here about the 31st, and participate in the grand Telegraph Celebration.

Chicago, Aug 20.

During the storm on Wednesday, a fishing boat with 8 persons aboard capsized in the lake, fifteen miles from Milwaukee Three persons aboard capsized in the lake, fifteen miles from Milwaukee.—Three persons named Cornelius Myer, Frederick Hessing, and another name unknown, drowned. The balance were rescued by the steamer Traveller.

New Orleans, Aug 20

Deaths by yellow fever on Thursday, was 28.

Boston, August 21.

The whale ship Junior arrived at New Bedford last evening, having on board, as close prisoners, eight of the mutineers who murdered Capt. Archibald Mellen and the 2d mate of that ship. The Junior, under Capt. Gardner and other new officers, sailed from Sidney for New Bedford April 25. Capt. Mellen was shot with a whale gun.

Quebec, August 22.

The steamship Anglo Saxon, from Liverpool the morning of the 11th inst, arrived at this port this forenoon. The Canada, from Boston, arrived at Liverpool on the 7th. The North America, from Quebec, arrived at Liverpool at 9 A M., and the Kangaroo at about 11 A M., on the 11th.

GREAT BRITIAN.—Great anxiety was felt in regard to the Atlantic Cable. The first regular message from Newfoundland was received at Valencia on the night of the 9th. The speed of transmission is said to be greater than was obtained at Plymouth, and the currents were apparently as strong The shares continued to be quoted at £900. No message, except government ones, can be sent during the electrical experiments, which are expected to occupy several weeks.

The London Times reviews editorially the lamentable condition of Mexico, and concludes as follows; 'It seems that there is nothing left for the United States but to consummate the work they have begun, and annex the land of Montezuma and Cortes, which even under the whip of the slave driver will not regret the illusion of liberty of the Mexican Republic.

As the Arabia was leaving Liverpool for N Y. on the 7th, an absconder from New York, named Jas Tilton, who was doubling on his pursuer by returning to America, was arrested by the police and lodged in jail. Nearly $30,000 in American securities was found in his possession.

The India mail of July 4th, and Madras the 10th, had arrived at Alexandria News of little importance. The rebels had returned in force to the jungles of Juggeshore Gen. Layard had resigned on account of ill health. The Gevalior rebels were believed to be making for Bhurtpore Maunsingh was beseiged at Shajurah by the Begums army Gen. Whitelock's force had captured Tiernan in Bamba.—The Calcutta import market was quiet.

Hong Kong dates are to June 23d, and Paiho June 1st. The boats had advanced to Tiensing, without opposition and commanded both the river and the great canal The English and French ambassadors was located ashore near Tiensing The American and Russian fleets had followed the allies up the river. A Mandarin of high rank, the second officer in the empire, had arrived from Pekin as special commissioner to negotiate, Reinforcements continued to be dispatched from Hong Kong. Canton continued much disturbed Several Europeans and Sepoys are reported as having been murdered

FRANCE.—The papers teem with accounts of the Cherbourg feats, which had concluded with a banquet on board the Le Britague Queen Victoria left on the 6th under the triple salute. The fleets were continued on the 7th, by the inauguration of the Napoleon dock and the launch of the man-of war Ville de Nats

The consumption of gun-powder during the fetes was enormous. It was rumored that Napoleon would return Victoria's visit in a private and friendly way at Osborne during the autumn. The Empress had ordered a pyramid of granite to be erected at the head of the new dock to perpetuate the Queen's visit. The fetes terminated on the 8th with the inauguration of the Statute of Napoleon.—The Emperor delivered a pacific speech on the occasion, saying it to be part of his destiny to accomplish by peace the great designs conceived during war. He said the government would not wage war except in defence of national honor and the great interests of the people.

New York, Aug 21.

The Chamber of Commerce to-day passed congratulatory resolutions on the succesful laying of the Atlantic Cable and appointed a committee to procure suitable testimonials to be presented to Capt Hudson and the other officers of the Niagara.

Geo R Ives, of Brooklyn, is making extensive preparations for a grand cable celebration in the vicinity of his country residence near Great Barrington, Mass., the birth place of Cyrus W Field. Many distinguished gentlemen from this city will be present.

The municipal cable committee to-day directed their Secretary to extend invitations to President Buchanan and his Cabinet, and also to all the foreign ministers at Washington and Governors of several States, to be present at the festivities in this city on the 1st of September

There is rather a wide spread desire manifested among our citizens to get possession of a peace of the Atlantic Cable for a keep sake. Telegraph operators are much annoyed by requests to get bits of it for their friends and others, or to inform them where they can be got—In order to supply this want, the Messrs. Tiffany of this city have bought the one hundred miles of Cable now remaining on the Niagara, which they intend to cut up in small sections for sale, to be mounted or otherwise, as purchasers may prefer.—The bargain for the Cable was closed on Saturday at about $400 per mile. We understand that the Messrs Tiffany & Co also intend to prepare and present to every State and Collegiate Library in the United States as well as to all the Libraries in Canada and other British possessions The Atlantic Telegraph Co. have also decided to present a specimen of the Cable as a souvenier to each and every Telegraph Co in existence.

Charleston, Aug 23.

The brig Ellshover, from Havana for Falmouth, England, has arrived at quarantine Her officers and a portion of her crew have died with yellow fever and the remainder are sick.

Yellow fever has been declared epidemic in this city The health officer reports 28 deaths from fever for the week ending Aug.

Philadelphia, Aug 23.

The Bark 'White Wing' from Porto Cabello 21st reports that an English vessel of war arrived off Laguira on the day she sailed and called a meeting of the British subjects on board The result was unknown The English and French fleets were expected off Porto Cabello the day after the 'White Wing' sailed.

Albany, Aug 24.

The American State Council met at the Association Hall to-day. Nearly 400 delegates were present. A motion being made to give a pass word to delegates and exclude all others from the Hall, Erastus Brooks opposed it, saying that the time was past when policy dictated closed doors, and for his part, he was ready to throw open this and all future conventions to the public, so that misrepresentation and falsehood might no longer be published to this world as true.

Washington? Aug. 23.

Passed Assistant Surgeon Edward Hudson, has been promoted to Surgeon, vice Mr. Nelson, resigned. L W. Leach has been appointed Assistant Surgeon, vice Hudson promoted E G. Potter, master, has been appointed Lieutenant, vice J. S. Reid, deceased. R H Lansdale, of Washington Territory, has been appointed agent for the Flat Head Indians in that Territory, and Rush Spencer, of Wisconsin, has been appointed Receiver of Public monies, at Superior, in that State, vice Dean, removed.

Washington, Aug. 23.

The War Department has despatches from Utah to July 22nd, but they contain nothing of general interest The troops are erecting temporary warehouses and preparing to go into winter quarters.

Leavenworth, Aug 20.

By U S Express to Boonville, 24th inst, we have official returns from 26 counties. Partial from 2, and 4 yet to hear from, which gives the following result:—Whole vote 13,380. Majority against proposition 9,048.

New Orleans, Aug 23.

Deaths by yellow fever on Saturday, 78; deaths last week, 310.

Worcester celebrates the 1st of Sept. as a general holiday.

Special Notices.

WANTED.

A Good Jour Shoe Maker. Enquirer at the Boot and Shoe Store of J. W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, Aug 17th.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No. 13, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

Executive Committee.

Northern Lenaw Agricultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the above society, at the office of Bills & Baxter in the Village of Tecumseh on Saturday the 28th, day of August inst., at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing a Committee of Arrangements, and making such other preparations as may be deemed expedient for the annual fair of the society to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday the 26th day of September next.

B. L. BAXTER, Secretary.

Tecumseh, August 5th, 1858.

MRS. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A M until 4 P M at her residence, on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his professsion in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858 380m2

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley Bring along your samples

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

☞ WE wish to call the attention of the inhabitants of Tecumseh and vicinity to an article of Medicine known as DR. KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY, recommended for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Piles, and all Rheumatic affections; and is doing the work in every case when taken according to the directions, which accompany each bottle.—Price invariable $1,00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi monthly quarto, UTICA, N. Y., is the BEST and CHEAPEST farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N.Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR. NOTEMAN,

The Anniytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh

Beware of Imposters.

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have now, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office. No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter A visit from the patient prefered. His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 391m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co.." of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway,

June 1858. New York

New Advertisements.

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses, and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

Tecumseh Union School.

The Tecumseh Union School will commence its first term of the ensuing year, on Monday September 6th. It will open under the superintendence of Prof Lawton, who is assisted by Miss C. Buck, Preceptress, Mr J. C. Bateman, teacher of Mathematics, and Miss L. A Bigelow instructor in the ladies grammer department. Three other assistants will also be provided to teach Writing, Instrumental and Vocal music.

Thorough instruction will be given in the Classics, in French and German, and in all branches of study designed to fit Students for college, or to prepare them for the practical business of life.

From the applications already received a large number of non-resident pupils is expected, and those wishing to secure a boarding place, should apply immediately to the Principal or Director of the school.

It is also particularly desirable, that the scholars from abroad should present themselves on the first day of the term.

P. BILLS, Director.

Tecumseh, August 24th, 1858

THE

NORTHERN LENAWEE

Agricultural Society

Will hold its Third annual Fair In Kneeland's Grove on the east side of the Village of Tecumseh, on Thursday Sept., 16th, 1858,

Commencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Entries can be made with the Secretary any time before the Fair, and no entries will be received after September 20th, at 10 o'clock A. M.

☞ It is expected that this Fair will be one of unusual interest, it is therefore confidently anticipated that the Farmers generally will not only attend themselves but will come well supplied with favorable specimens of their products

A committee of arrangements will be upon the ground, and attend to locating stock and articles for exhibition.

Membership Cards may be had at the office of the Secretary on the Fair Ground.

B. L. BAXTER, Secretary. M. A. PATTERSON, President.

See Pamphlets for 1858.

WILLIAMSON'S

PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK

Miniatures taken on GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER.

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times,"

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 406

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

80,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, Aug. 5th

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$40
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	8	10	15
One Square (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisement to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South.	6.39	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

Meeting of School Inspectors.

The School Inspectors for the Township of Tecumseh, will meet at the house of Mr. H. Nimocks in Clinton; on Saturday at 10 o'clock A. M. Aug. 18th A. D. 1858, for the purpose of considering a petition to alter the boundary line between School destricts No 2 & 3 in said Township. Also for the purpose of determining the bounderies of the several school districts in said Township.

CHAS. D. STEVENS Town Clerk.
Tecumseh Aug 18th 1858.

☞ We have received the March and June numbers of the Cosmopolitan Art Journal. It is filled with choice reading, and contains the annual report of the academy, list of drawing for 1858; the Greek Slave was drawn by Mis A. E. Coleman, Cincinnati Ohio. This association offers splendid inducements the coming year, who wants to subscribe? For further particulass please call at this office.

HARVEST DANCE.—Chas. Davenport is preparing to give a capital dance at his new Hotel, in Macon, on Friday Sept. 10th. Music by Luther's & Smith's Band. Bill $1,50.

☞ See Special Notice.

Republican State Ticket.

THURSDAY, Aug 19, 11 P M

The Convention has just closed the nominations, and presented the following ticket:

For governer; MOSES WIENER, of Oakland; Lieut Governer; EDMUND B. FAIRFIELD, of Hillsdale; for Secretary of State; NELSON G. ISBEL, of Livingston; for Treasure, JOHN MCKINNEY, of Van Buren; for Auditor General, DANIEL L CASS, of Ingham, for Com. of State Land Office, JAMES W. SANBORN, of St Clair; for Attorney General, JACOB M. HOWARD, of Wayne; for Sup't of Public Instruction, JOHN M. GREGORY, of Washtenaw; for Member of the Board of Education, WITTER J BAXTER, of Hillsdale

State Fairs for 1858.

Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14, 15
Illinois, Centralia, September 14. 15, 16, 17, 18.
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 4,5, 6, 7, 8, 9,
Iowa, Osealoosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6,7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September, 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshier, Dover, Oct 6, 7, 8.
New York, at Syracuse, Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28.
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October, 4, 5, 6, 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St. Johns, Oct. 13, 14.
St. Joseph, Centreville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28, 29, 30.
Genesee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7,
Southern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 16
Marion, Niles, Oct. 6 and 7
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.
Lapeer, Eastmanville, Sept 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct, 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5. 6 and 7.
Branch, Goldwater, Oct. 6. 7 and 8.

Cable for Sale

NEW YORK, August 18.—Tiffiany & Co., the celebrated jewelers, in order to satisfy the great public demand have purchased the remainder of the cable on board the Niagara, 80 miles, and sell in small pieces.

☞ The Firemen of Rochester are highly incensed at the manner in which they were treated at the great fire that city on the night of the 16th inst. The statements made since in regard to them. They talk of disbanding all the companies. The papers say they shall not be deterred by such threats from telling the truth.

New way of Paying a Subscription.

A Correspondent of the Lagrange Whig gives the following amusing account of the way a farmer was taught how cheaply he could take the papers:

"You have hens at home of course.—Well I will send you my paper one year, for the proceeds of a single hen for one season; merely the proceeds. It seems trifling, preposterous, to imagine the products of a single hen will pay the subscription; perhaps it won't but I make the offer."

"Done!" exclaimed Farmer R., "I agree to it," and appealed to me as a witness to the affair.

The farmer went off, apparently much elated with his conquest; the editor went on his way rejoicing.

Time rolled around, and the world revolved on its axis, and the sun moved in its orbit as it formerly did; the farmer received his paper regularly, and regaled himself with the information from it, and said "he was surprised at the progress of himself and family in general information."

Some time in the month of September I happened up again in the office, when who should enter but our old friend, Farmer R.

"How do you do, Mr. R.? said the editor, extending his hand, and his countenance lit up with a bland smile; "take a chair, sir, and be seated; fine weather we have."

"Yes, sir quite fine indeed," he answered, and then a short silence ensued during which our friend R, hitched his chair backwards and forward, twirled his thumbs abstractedly, and spit profusely.—Starting up quickly, he said, addressing the editor, "Mr. D. I have brought you the poceeds of that hen'

It was amusing to see the peculiar expressin of the editor, as he followed the former down to the wagon. I could hardly keep my risibles down.

When at the wagon, the farmer commenced handing over the products of the hen, which on being counted, amounted to eighteen pullets, worth a shilling each, and a number of dozen of eggs, making in the aggregate, at the least calculation, $2,50—more than the price of the paper.

"No need," said he, "of men not taking a family newspaper, and paying for it too. I don't miss this from my roost, yet I have paid for a year's subscription and over. All folly, sir; there is no man but can take a newspaper; it's charity, you know, commences at home."

"But resumed the editor, "I will pay for what is over the subscription.' I don't intend this as a means of profit, but rather to convince you I will pay for—"

"Not a bit of it, sir; a bargin is a bargin, and I am already paid, sir—doubly paid, sir. And whenever a neighbor makes the complaint I did. I will relate to him the hen story. Good day, gentlemen."

President Buchanan Waiting his Turn at a Wash Bowl.

On Saturday last, President Buchanan arrived at the Relay House, or Washington Junction as it is more properly called en route for Washington city.

On passing into the bar room the President threw off his coat and his white neck cloth, carelessly pitching them over a chair, opened his shirt collar, and tucked up his sleeves for a wash, conveniences for this purpose being in the apartment. At the time, however, both basins were occupied by two young men, neither of whom seemed to be aware that the President was about. He waited patiently some time, when some one spoke and invited him up stairs. He declined, however, quietly remarking that he would "wait for his turn." And as soon as the basins were vacated he "took his his turn" in a jolly good wash in the public bar-room. This done, he seemed rather perplexed about the arrangement of his neck cloth, and seemed likely to tie his nose and mouth up in it Somebody just then offered assistance and the President was briefly equiped.

At about this time a person who had come into the room, sung out pretty near to him, "Look here, I thought the old President was to be here to-day." The speech was cut short by a nudge, while a momentary comical expression passed across the face of the same "old President" A cigar was handed to him by a friend; he took a good satisfying drink of—not "old rye," but ice-water, had barely fired up the cigar, when the bell rung, and "all aboard" summoned the Chief Magistrate of the United State to his seat in the cars, and away they went to Washington.—Baltimore Sun.

RHEUMATIC PAIN EXTRACTOR.—Take 10 lbs. rosin, 1 lb. beeswax, 1 lb. tobaco, 1 quart beef's gall, 1 oz. campher gum, 1 handful horse radish, 1 do. wormswood. Take the three last, boil together, and get the strength out, then add the rest, then add tallow enough to make it of the right consistency. N. ALLEN.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH August 26, 1858.

Wheat	1 00 a 1 10
Flour	4 50a5 00
Buckwheat	33
" flour	1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	28
Clover seed
Beans	50a60
Potatoes new	38
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5a6
Butter	12
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00a,500
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	3
Calf skins	a7
Sheep pelts	40a60
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do dairy pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

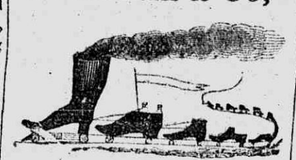
1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38 A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00 "	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00 "	00 0 "
Arrive at "		12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 "	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55 "	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago		12 00 10 04
Arrive at "	7 30 "	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 "	1 20 "
Arrive at "	7 20 "	4 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25 "	1 50 "
Arrive at "		12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25 "	8 40 "
Arrive at "		12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 "	9 30 "
Arrive at "	7 38 "	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany, and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.
June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 23d 388m3.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

Grand Pleasure Excursions.

1858. 1858.

LAKE SUPERIOR LINE.

The New, Fast, Low Pressure Steamer,

NORTH STAR,

B. C. SWEET, MASTER,

Will leave Cleveland for the City of Superior touching at Detroit, Saut Ste Marie, Portage Lake, Copper Harbor, Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Ontonagon, LaPointe and Bayfield.

Dates of Leaving Cleveland and Detroit.

CLEVELAND, At 8 O'clock P. M.		DETROIT, At 10 o'clock A. M.
Thursday, July 8th		Friday,	July 9th
Monday "	19th	Tuesday, "	20th
Thursday "	29th	Friday, "	30th
Monday, Aug.	9th	Tuesday, Aug	10th
Thursday "	19th	Friday, "	20th
Monday "	30th	Tuesday, "	31st
Thursday, Sep	9th	Friday, Sept.	10th
Monday "	20th	Tuesday, "	21st
Thursday "	30th	Friday, Oct	1st
Monday Oct	11th	Tuesday, "	12th
Thur-day "	21st	Friday, "	22nd
Monday, Nov.	1st	Tuesday Nov	2nd
Thursday "	11th	Friday "	12th

The above Steamer is not surpassed in point of Speed and Accommodations by any Boat on the Lakes. She is built for this particular trade, is over 1100 tons Burthen, is fast, staunch and new. She performs her trips with surprising regularity, and is so well appointed and furnished, as to make her a Palace Home to the Pleasure traveler.

FINE BRASS and COTILLION BANDS accompany the Steamer each trip.

The Lake Superior Route in the Summer Season, is altogether the most picturesque, healthful and delightful to be found on the American Continent. It contains the grand, the beautiful, and the useful, and bids fair to be one of the most fashionable resorts in the United States. It includes in its circuit the Detroit, St Clair and St Mary's Rivers; lakes St Clair, Huron and Superior; the beautiful Island of Mackinac, the Pictued Rocks, besides many other local ties of great interest and attractive scenery.

To the invalid, the cool and bracing climate will be highly salubrious, while sportsmen find the facilities for fishing and hunting of the most inviting character

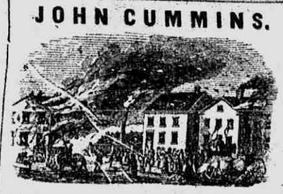
The Copper and Iron Mines, the leading business interest of this region, will always continue to attract the enterprising and scientific to their vicinity, and the new and easy communication by the Saut Ste Marie Canal, have made the voyage one of uninterrupted comfort and pleasure.

☞ Fare for the Round Trip, including Board and State Rooms, $44.

☞ Rooms secured for the round trip, (time 8 days, distance 2200 miles) by addressing

S. & A. TURNER, Proprietors,
Cleveland, Ohio.
S. P. BRADY, Agent, Detroit, Mich.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Westsport, N. Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms; May 27th, 1858.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian
DAVID VAN TINE
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 809y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

DR. MOCRUMS

Receipt Book, or

The Horseman's Friend.

This Valuable Book, together with other excelent Receipts, are for sale by
DAVID HENDERSON,
Tecumseh, Aug 3d. 360

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Variety.

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

Ornament Your Homes.

The Subscriber has opened a room In Metropolitan Block where he is prepared to execute Landscapes in Oil, Crayon or Water Colors. Transparent Window Shades, Parlor Screens, ornamental

Fire Odd W. A. KING, Boards. Fellows and Military Banners, Decorations &c., furnished at short notice. He is also prepared to execute Drawings of all kinds in India Ink or in Colors. People who can not afford to furnish rooms with Oil can for a trifling Cost obtain a nice crayon picture colored or otherwise, which all admit are the richest kind of furniture for their parlors. My window shades are not cheap stamped or printed Curtains, but are painted with oil colors and warranted to retain their brilliant colors.

LANDSCAPE PAINTING,

Bidwells' Block, Up Stairs.

He would also solicit orders for views of public buildings or private residences taken from nature, from which engravings can be had for preservation. Also views taken in oil or crayon. Fancy and phin Signs executed on Cloth, Glass or otherwise, and warranted to give satisfaction. Having been engaged in the profession above six years, he flatters himself that he can please. Ladies and Gents

GIVE HIM A CALL

and examine some of his work. Rooms directly over Bidwell's Store.
Tecumseh May 20th 1858.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh, Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE

MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st. 1857. 342tf.

FARM FOR SALE.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his improved farm, situated in the township of Franklin opposite J. D Tripp & Co's steam Saw Mill. The farm contains 90 acres, some 60 under improvement; good buildings; a choice lot of cultivated fruit trees; good water, &c,

Enquire on the premises.

J. B. HAMPTON.
Franklin, Sept, 24th. 357tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR,
New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor. New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m4

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Buble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars,
Violins, Flutes and Accordeons.
Music Books and Sheet Music
Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings,
And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.
Tecumseh, March 1st. 1853. 351in2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C A Stacy, P. Bills, J G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 388tf

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IN

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St, N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE,

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRIZE GIFT!

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing		$500 00 each.
5	do do do	200 00 do
10	do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches		100 00 do
20 Gold Watches		75 00 do
50	do	50 00 do
100	do	30 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches		50 00 do
200 Silver Hunting vased watches		35 00 do
500 Silver Watches		30 00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains		$10.00 to $25.00 do
		$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates,

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.00 per annum.
15 " " " 16.00 " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

AGRICULTURAL.

Things to be done Now.

It is often recommended to collect muck in winter, because that is a season of comparative leisure. It is well to draw it from the swamp then, but now is the time to dig it out and throw it up into heaps to dry for winter transportation. When lying in its native bed in the swamp, it is full five sixths water. What a waste of labor, then, to raise and haul it in that state to the barnyard! Dig it out now, while the swamps are comparatively dry, throw it into heaps, cover them if possible, and in winter it will be in a fine condition for removal. Have you no swamp to draw upon? Perhaps, then, your neighbor has an inexhaustible supply, where you could easily purchase a right to dig. Save the chips and refuse dirt from your woodhouse and log heaps, collect turf from our low and wet pastures, or from the side of fences where the plow and hoe cannot reach in the ordinary course of cultivation.

Now is the best time in the whole year for draining swamps and low lands. In spring or fall, the labor would be greater, so well as a hundred fold more unpleasant. Such lands, where there is a great flow of water at certain seasons, require open drains, at least for the main ditch.—Branches running into this central channel may be made with tile, or stones. In digging the main, open ditch, it is important to make the sides of it quite sloping to prevent their caving in and filling up the water courses. We have seen such lands, which previously, were almost worthless, made the best part of several farms.

Take good care of the manure heap during the summer. Too often, during the busy summer season, the cleaning of the pig-sty and stables, and the various refuse matters accumulating in the rear of one's premises, are suffered to be exposed to the sun, wind and, wasting their most valuable properties and, filling the air with a noisome stench.

We have often urged the gathering up and preservation of all fertilizing materials, such a bones, chips, weeds, old plaster and lime, kitchen slops, &c., and we now repeat the exhortation. Let all these things speedily find their way to the compost heap. And the heap itself should be looked after. If on the north side of the barn, it will be better than on the south. And if covered it will be, better off still. Such a covering can be made without much trouble or expense. Set in the ground, six, or eight, or more posts, according to the expected size of your heap, and throw over them a shed roof of boards or slabs, sloping to the south. Board up the shanty on three sides, leaving the north open.—Now, see to it that a generous pile of muck, or its equivalent, is deposited just outside this shed, and you will be ready for operations. Wheel in manure from all quarters as it accumulates, and lay it in rows or heaps the whole length of the shed, treading it down firmly, and covering it with successive layers of muck. In this way, the manure will be preserved from the action of the elements, and volatile gases which the summer heat so rapidly envolvs, will be absorbed and saved. If any one thinks this won't pay, let him try it and see.

Green Corn Cake.

This has been one of our August luxuries, and it will be in season all through September. It may be made of green sweet corn, or of any other kind; the sweet varieties are the best. Husk as many ears as may be desired and without boiling them, grate off the corn. Stir into this about two table spoonfuls of flour for every dozen ears, and also one egg, previously well beaten. Add a little salt, and a very little sugar, if the corn be sweet; if not sweet, add about two table-spoonfuls to the dozen ears.—Let the whole be well stirred, then bake it in a greased tin basin, or tin pan, for a full hour, in a hot oven. It is good without dressing, but may be eaten with butter or cream.

THE MORMONS.—The Mormons have returned to Salt Lake City, and are as quiet and law abiding, as Uncle Sam could desire. It is a good thing to show a little cold steel to a refractory people, and the glittering bayonets sent out by Uncle Sam, have had a good effect on the blustering, rebellious Mormons. The army is encamped about 30 miles from Salt Lake City, and will remain there for the present.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th, 1857, made by Jeremiah Harrington to Jacob Hoover Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z, of Mortgages on pages 208 and 209, October 12th 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceedings at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land in said mortgage described as will be the west half of the south west quarter, and the south west quarter, of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six, south of range five east in Michigan, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Wheeler, will be sold at publication on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

April 16th 1858. 588w13

Mortgage Sale

JACOB FRENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857 in Liber Z of mortgages on Pages 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of which principal and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PARLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage made and executed by James E. Merritt to William H. Merritt dated April 2nd A. D 1855 recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee Michigan on the 10th day of May A. D. 1855 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at the date

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty-six (36) in town five south of range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres of said tract heretofore sold and conveyed by said James E. Merritt to Southworth in said land, which said mortgage is also duly assigned by said William H. Merritt to the undersigned, will be sold at public vendue, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B WARD, Assignee.

Dated June 12th 1858

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and License from the Judge of Probate of the county of Lenawee in Michigan, I will sell at public vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Rigi Hotel in the village of Riga, in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Smith died seized and possessed viz All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the county of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, and known and described as follows, viz: The North East Quarter of the North West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less much thereof may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of said Christian Smith, deceased. Terms made known at sale.

JAMES CAMPBELL Administrator

Tecumseh June 10th 1858

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856, executed by W. W. Rice and Benjamin F. Myers to Warren R. Brown and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d, 1856 in Liber Y of Mortgages on Pages 742 and 743. Thomas M. Cooley assigns the interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, by deed dated and assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-six dollars and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, to wit: the real estate of said deceased, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixth day of September next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy.)

n403w4

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B Hoag late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Woodin the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY. } Commissioners.
SIRELL C. LEBARON. }

August 24 1858. n405w4

Legal Advertisements.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten: also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated July 5th. 1858 899w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten: also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 899w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twenty-third day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Henry Brown deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Elizabeth A Bacon and Benjamin L. Baxter, administratix and administrator on the Estate of said deceased praying for a license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixth day of September next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy.)

n403w4

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

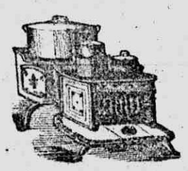
Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered,
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Sash piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, five orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.
80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots nicely situated in diiferent parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work ☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand.

B. J. BIDWELL.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin, Fever and Ague Dyspepsia Impure and ill fact most all diseases arising out of Impure Blood.

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines, a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.,
New York, And For Sale By all
ALL DRUGGISTS.

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby 19th, 1858. 878m8.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS.

FRED. EMERSON — D. D MARSHALL.
DELOS LEBARON — WALLAS GRAY.
D. L. MCLEES. — JEROME ALLEN.
J. A BELLS. — ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS. — GEO. SCAFFORD.

Tecumseh May 1st. 1858. 391y

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M at her residence on Logan Street one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather

Tecumseh Oct 15th. 360m5

DENTISTRY.

Dr. A. F. Barr, Dentist

WOULD Respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that he has taken the rooms lately occupied by Dr. Baldwin as a dental office, where he is prepared to preform all opperations incidental to his profession in a neat and workman-like manner.

Tecumseh, December 17th, 1857. 370

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction WARRANTED to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st. 1858. 380m2

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

A LARGE AND WELL
SELECTED STOCK OF
Millinery Goods,

Will be opened on Friday, April 23d, at the Millinery Rooms of

MRS. M. P. HENRY.

One door west of Gilmans' Harness Shop.

Tecumseh, April 22d 1858.

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Apothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Consumption Bronchitis & Asthma

MISAPPREHENSION CORRECTED.

The success which has attended the special treatment of affections of the Throat and Lungs, introduced by Dr. ROBT. HUNTER, of New York, whose practical writing on the Respiratory Organs, and the rational system of inhalation have been so recently published, leads many persons to apply for "Agencies," as it 'Inhalation' consisted of some 'particular nostrum.' Such a misapprehension is calculated grossly to mislead the public: and Dr. Hunter therefore feels it to be due to himself and to the practice of Inhilation with which his name and reputation are identified to state again, that "Inhalation," as advocated by him is a SYSTEM OF TREATMENT based on a correct knowledge of the condition of the patient, and cannot therefore be a subject for Agencies.

All persons desireing to consult or come under treatment, must apply personally or by letter to him, or his associate, Dr. H MELVILLE, when the fullest information regarding the treatment will be given, either to patients themselves or to physicians consulting on their cases without charge.

Those who are desirous of consulting may address either R. HUNTER, M. D., or Dr. HUNTER & MELVILLE, 823 Broadway, N Y

May, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 3571f

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

CHARLES STRONG, Proprietor.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. I have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh Nov 1st. 6m

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

—BY—

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback, the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three diff rent species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity expels disease from the system wherever it may be located, or whatever may be its character Indigestion, nervous complaints, epilectic fits coughs consumption in its early stages sore throat bronchitis fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis rheumatism neuralgia, tumor cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are energetically cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, relieves bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the results of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half dozen. Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

Penn. Miami Co. Ind. Aug. 4, 1857.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of full comfort, and efficiency in business dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time, less than a month, I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dyspepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel. Indianapolis, Oct 3, 1857

DR C. W ROBACK—Dear Sir—I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curd & Co. so I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a temporary decent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them but I have found to my own cost that Pills fill the contract. Why I have taken as many as six (6) of Seeley's and other makers' sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect, but I have no trouble with your Pills they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI Friday Sept 4 1857

DR ROBACK—Dear Sir—Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines without any benefit. After using two bottles I felt that I was entirely and unquestionably cured. You will allow me therefore to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

JAMES S BENNETT

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

CINCINNATI Wednesday Sept. 2, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir—Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have continued the Purifier for the last three months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy seven years.

Should you deem this information for the benefit of others, you are at liberty to give it publicity.

Yours respectfully, STEPHEN MORRIS

Those similarly affected.

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac gratis from my agents.

Manufactory Sales Room and Office, No. 6 East Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh

S. BROWNELL Adrian. J. BROWNELL Clinton.

G. F. HOWARD Medina. J. N. BUTLER Morenci.

And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 576m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION. In view of the fatal destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deception practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several Years ago directed their consulting Surgeon as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of disease in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE, and counsel, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa Gleet, Syphilis the effects of Onanism or self abuse &c. and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the use of Onanism Masturbation or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c. &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr GEORG R CALVERT N. Consulting Surgeon Howard Association No. 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia Pa

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD Secretary.
EZRA D HEAREWELL President.

3901y

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YOR
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO
F. S. CABOT & CO
BUYERS, 86 BARCLAY STREET

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, sometimes very strongly wished that he had a near every resident and friend living in this great city, to whom he could send for the trifling some business or the purchase of some article he could not make. It convenient to go to the do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that business would be well done, and at a reasonable pense to him. Having become satisfied by a consiably extended observation and experience that is an almost universal want, we have established house to supply it. We have found that thousan persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly re in amount from 25 cents to many hundred dollars and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the rendered and the equity of our charges. We that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reable, being predicated on the times and the service it is certain, that being constantly in the ... [illegible] largely off each, we can and do serve the single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our ... much more in prices than the commission we ... No man, who only occasionally comes here can ... militar with a market so extensive as this. We ... here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with and know where to go to find everything in ... and at the lowest rates. We have found that ... our distant friends wish to send as country ... to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested ... sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made very best arrangements to enable us to do ... those who may consign to us. Our charges for ... are a usually five per cent, although in some ... of very large or very small transactions, equity ... require it to be varied from that. We have a ... giving more at length the scope and plan of our ... ness with statement of our charges for buying ... of the leading articles, which will be sent on ... tion.

Letters of inquiry only should contain ... prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co. York.

Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co. Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co. Boston.

F. Cabot & Co., Boston.

Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.

J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis

And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to ... Insurance Policies. (Life, Fire and Marine) ... and most reliable offices. Information ... the standing and responsibility of ... nies, Railroads and other corporations.

Novel and Extraordinary

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMI...
OF THE United States Journal Publishing ...

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled ... of our novel and extraordinary ... Offers, in the circulation of the ... lished and popular pictorial ... UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in ... our valuable Books, we now announce ... new programme of premiums for the ... 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated ... Union Series of twelve large and ... Steel Plate Engravings, and a choice ... Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds ... Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality ... passing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of ... richest first class articles, warranted ... solid gold, or precisely as represented ... every person selects his own premium ... is the only Publishing House that offers ... miums on this plan, or that furnishes ... class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the ... cles, with the amount of the club for which ... is given as a premium, and the postage ... quired for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled ... carat Gold Watch, warranted a ... time Keeper $60 0
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 ... carat Gold Watch 50 0
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and ... Gold Pen, warranted to be solid ... gold throughout 6 0
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted ... be solid throughout 4 0
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and ... Gold Tooth Pick combined 8 0
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen 2 50
Rich Gold Bead Bracelet 4 0
Rich Gold Mosaic Bracelet 8 ...
Fancy Gold Mosaic Locket, ...
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent
Set of Gold Cameo Studs
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly ...
A Miss's Ring, solid 10 carat gold set with stone
Among the Engravings are:
The Signing of the Death Warrant of ...
Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting ...
Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long ... inches wide
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue)

The United States Journal contains ... large folio pages, ably edited and ... illustrated. Price only 50 cents a ...

Our Catalogue contains over ... most useful, entertaining, and ... of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents ... either for the Journal or for ... low cost prices, is entitled to the ... in any of the premiums of this ... from the schedule. He is also entitled ... tra Premiums amounting to $1. ... Books or Journals amounting to $1. ... club of $10, thus receiving for $10 ... Journals amounting to $11, and ... amounting to $11. The amount ... postage on the Premiums, should be ... each order.

Every render is invited to form ... we wish to arrange with some person ... ry Post Office, to act as local agent ... respondent, who will be richly ... Specimens and Catalogue sent ... plication. Send on a few subscribers ... once, and select your premiums ... above, or when you receive the Catalogue ... J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers

400 406 Broadway, New York

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood

I have at all times a supply of ... mirable preparations. As Spring ... and for the relief and cure of chronic ... arising from impure blood or a derangement of the digestive organs or nervous system, ... abundant evidence to prove that ... equaled. Try them.

HENRY

Tecumseh, April 1858.

NOTICE TO FAR...
FOR SAL...

At Prices To Suit The Times.

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Draught Reapers and Mowers ... These Machines are Warranted ... and on Suitable Ground, if well ... will cut from 12 to 16 acres per ... ☞ Please give me a call and ... yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858.

rk Advertisements.
O YOU EVER
T ANY THING
NEW YOR
SEND YOUR ORDER TO CABOT & CO
. 86 BARCLAY STREET
one, certainly every merchant strongly wished that he had a nd friend living in this great e could send for the transcen the purchase of some article g, it convenient to go to the mself with full confidence tha be well done, and at a reasonable having become satisfied by a bservation and experience that ersal want, we have establish it. We have found this due to Georgia are constantly orders, involving purchases 25 cents from many hundred n every case, these employing th with the quality of the he equity of our charges. We , shall in all cases be fair and ented on the time and labor hat being constantly in the ff each, we can buy assets that can in fact, we save to our rices than the commission ly occasionally comes here on arket so extensive as this. We e are thoroughly acquainted to go to find everything in st rates. We have found that ude wish to send us country s the proceeds to be invested oney. Accordingly we have gements to enable us to do ousigh to us. Our charges for ve per cent, although in very small transactions equity varied from that. We have a length the scope and plan of ment of our charges for buying rticles, which will be sent on quiry only should contain ies.
ER BY PERMISSION TO bert, of A. & A. Lawrence
, of Naylor & Co., New rn, of David S. Brown &
, Philadelphia.
e, of Blake, Howe & Co.
o., Boston.
ntworth & Co., Boston. of Wales, Cabot & Co.
hers.
ular attention is given to ries. (Life, Fire and Marine) ble offices. Information and responsibility of and other corporations. and Extraordinary
HEDULE OF PREMI
OF THE
ca Journal Publishing
GED by the Unexampled vel and extraordinary
e circulation of the popular pictorial
TES JOURNAL, and e Books, we now
mme of premiums for 59, embracing the s of twelve large Engravings, and a
s. Rich Jewelry of fered on a scale of previous offers.
ry is composed class articles, warranted r precisely as represented selects his own premium ublishing House that his plan, or that furnish elry.
ing is a list of a few of e amount of the club for premium, and the s delivery by mail.
tached Lever, Enameled ld Watch, warranted
er
ine Enameled Dial 18
l Watch
le-slide Gold Pencil and , warranted to be solid ughout old Pencil, warranted throughout
, Gold Watch Key and
th Pick combined
Silver Case Pencil, war-me as coin, and gold pen
Band Bracelet
d Mosaic Bracelet
ed Gold Locket, engravurned
d Cameo Ear Drops
Coral Ear Drops
o Pin for Lady
ntine Pin for Lady
Cluster Pin for Gent
Cameo Studs
raved, lined gold Studs
Carnelian Sleeve But-Lady or Gent ndship Ring, solid 16
ld, richly enameled
tting, solid 10 carat gold stone
e Engravings are:
ng of the Death Warrant
, from the celebrated untington. 22 inches wide per's Last Shot, from the inting by W Banney, 18x24
er's Daughter, from the inting by Landseer from the painting by Edwards
all Schedule, see our Cata ited States Journal
o pages, ably edited
ed. Price only 50 cents talogue contains over ful, entertaining, and y
erson sending us 50 cents
r the Journal or for ceeds, is entitled to the f the premiums of his own schedule. He is also entitled miums amounting to $1, or Journals amounting to $1.
10, thus receiving for $10 amounting to $11, and ng to $11. The amount on the Premiums, should er.
reader is invited to form to arrange with some Office, to act as local ent, who will be richly hens and Catalogue sent
. Send on a few subscribers
d select your premiums
r when you receive the Cata
M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers
406 Broadway, New York
DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
d Purifier and Blood
e at all times a supply of e preparations. As Spring the relief and cure of chron from impure blood or chron digestive organs or nervous nt evidence to prove that
d. Try them. HENRY
mseh, April 1858.
TICE TO FAR
FOR SAL
Prices To Suit The Hard ve some of Easterly's Celebrated he Reapers and Mowers Machines are Warranted a Suitable Ground, if t from 12 to 16 acres per Please give me a call and gives
S. W. CROSMAN
umseh, July 1st, 1858.

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 42. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 2, 1858. WHOLE NO. 407

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
A. RAYNOR, President, Wm. W. CLARK, Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON,
DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL,
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD,
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

E. S. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMFORT,
E. S. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

PUBLISHED BY S. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

S. L. BAXTER. E. D. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
30ly TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
340y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Three Doors East of the Post Office,
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858. 39tf

From the Northwestern Christian Advocate.

The Hindoo Mother's Sacrifice.

Upon the fragile raft, that she
Had wreathed with blossoms rare—
An offering to th' unconscious stream—
She lay her baby fair;
His small hands clasped her own, his laugh
Gushed upward glad and free;
His soft eyes sparkled with the light
Of careless, baby glee.

His heart was fluttering on the wings
Of joy; his lovely face
More lovely grew with every change—
More full of artless grace.
His winsome looks, and cooing voice,
So musical and low,
Reached the heathen mother's heart,
Where yet love's light did glow.

Though hidden by the gloomy vail,
That superstition's hand
Had gathered round her heart and o'er
That lovely Indian land
Oh, for some hand to rend the vail!
To point those blinded eyes
Beyond the Ganges, to the cross,
Where hangs the sacrifice!

But 'twas not there!—she pressed the tears
Back to her throbbing heart,
From whence the half-repentant sigh,
Unbidden dared to start,
And, loosing from her hand his grasp,
To feel it NEVER MORE,
With steady hand and tearless eye,
She pushed him from the shore!

A frighted look swept o'er his face,
A wail rose on the air,
His little arms were pleadingly
Uplifted, as in prayer;
A horrid head rose from the wave,
One cry and all was o'er—
The broken raft still drifted on,
The babe was seen no more!

O Ganges! many an infant form,
In thee hath found a grave—
A sacrificial offering
Unto thy heedless wave!
But now the morning sunlight beams
Upon those hoary waters,
A hand is raised to point them to
The ONLY sacrifice. LINA LINWOOD.

From the New York Mercury.

Dare-Devil-Dick.

How little do we, as we sit toasting our shins by a bright blazing fire, know of the trials and sufferings which our forefathers underwent, for the liberty which we now enjoy—that liberty of which we are so fond of talking, but which is so ill appreciated! The American army took up their quarters for the winter of '77 and '78, at Valley Forge; the English were encamped in Philadelphia. Owing to a change in the quarter-master's department, the American army were wretchedly supplied, and at no time were the sufferings of the soldiers as great, as at the commencement of the year 1768; bare-footed, inadequately clad, and worse than all, short of provisions, the troops suffered all the horrors of an inclement winter. Both armies had scouting parties out in search of provisions; these parties stole provisions when they could; when they could not they bought them. The inhabitants of the neighboring country were mostly Germans, who cared little or nothing about the war; to them these foraging parties had become a great source of terror, and as they began to dread the visits of these unscrupulous surveyors, the farmers and millers formed themselves into protection clubs. Their hay, grain, horses and cattle, were deposited together in shed, cave, or other retreat formed in the dense woods. Over these store houses they took turns to watch, the watcher being provided with a musket, to fire in case of an attack, which signal being repeated by those living the nearest, would come to the rescue.

On a small tributary of the Scuylkill, some ten miles from the American quarters lived a worthy Dutch Miller named Van Steen; his mill was nearly a mile from any other residence; near it was a natural cave and here a club of self protectors held their meetings, stored their grain, and housed their cattle. As it was some distance from the road, and in a very retired locality, it was seldom watched. Van Steen's family consisted of him self, his wife and one daughter, an only child; he lived in his mill, where by industry and prudence, he had accumulated a nice little property. His daughter Johanna was a smart, robust, active girl of about eighteen summers, capable of doing a better day's work than half of our modern men, and very pretty withal—She often went to the neighboring village for her father. She had been upon one of these errands, and was returning home; it was growing dark, and she yet had some miles to ride, so she urged her horse forward at his utmost speed; as they were going down a short, but turning declivity, the horse fell, throwing his rider to the ground with great force. At the moment Johanna's horse fell, a gentleman in the undress of an American officer appeared in sight at the foot of the hill, and in an instant he sprang from his horse and stood at her side. Johanna was but little hurt, and, what may appear strange to our modern ladies, she made no offer to faint, but her horse was badly lamed—so badly that it was impossible to ride him home; the officer offered her his horse to ride, and volunteered to lead her's; it was growing quite dark, and she had some five miles more to go, ere she reached her father's house; the scouting parties of both armies, to say nothing of bands of Indians which were constantly in that neighborhood, would render a walk of that distance alone, and at that time, not only disagreeable, but dangerous; so she consented to mount the captain's horse, and allow her's to be led.

The American officer whom we have thus unceremoniously introduced to our readers, was Richard Wilson, a captain in the American army. He was one of the few men connected with the Revolution who were possessed of property. Being the second son of an old and noble family of England, his inheritance was a fine education and a few hundred pounds; with these he sought the shores of America, and embarked in mercantile pursuits and land speculations; being very shrewd, and devoting his whole time to his business, he soon amassed quite a snug fortune.—At the commencement of the difficulties between the two countries, his sympathies were with the land of his adoption, and at the early part of the war he joined the American forces. Soon after he raised a company of men whom he armed, equipped and commanded. They were brave men, every one, and he the bravest of the whole; many a deed of daring had he done; often had he led his company, in the still hours of the night, upon a small party of the enemy taking them prisoners; sleldom loosing a life, and often without firing a musket. By the means of corresponding agents in all the cities of the States, and well paid spies within the camp of the enemy, he obtained information which insured the success of all his forays; none of his followers knew of his manner of keeping posted, but imagined that their triumph in all their skirmishes in which they were engaged, was owing entirely to the superior bravery of their leader; but it was as often the effect of his stratagem. He was honored and revered by his followers, known and loved by the whole American camp, but dreaded and feared by the British forces; his skill, daring and bravery, won for him the nick name of 'Dare-Devil-Dick.'

Captain Wilson had been to meet one of his spies, from whom he had received information in regard to the stores secreted near Van Stee's mill, and was returning to camp to perfect his plans for a plundering expedition when he met Johanna, unhorsed and as we have described.—As he walked by her side, leading her lame horse and she riding his, he drew from her her name, and certain particulars in regard to her father's family, his habits, &c, with considerable information regarding their neighbors, which he tho't would be of use to him at another time, when he should come to secure the stores. But they had gone hardly two miles before the Captain became quite interested in his companion, and the farther they proceeded together, the better he liked her, and when at length they reached her father's house, he did not need a very pressing invitation to walk in, warm himself and partake of some refreshments.—It was late at night when the Captain left Van Steen's; even then he lingered long at the door with Johanna, engaged in low conversation, and as he mounted his horse he willingly promised to call again in a day or two. His feelings, as he rode back to his quarters, were entirely different from what they had been a few hours before. He gave up all thoughts of plundering Van Steen's grain and cattle; he decided instead to captivate his daughter.

For weeks Captain Wilson was away from the camp more than usual, yet his company received no orders from him; it was nearly a month since they had been ordered even to hold themselves in readiness to march at a moment's notice; and his men began to wonder what the matter was, and his lieutenants to feel uneasy, and fearing that their brave captain was turning traitor; but Wilson did not notice their uneasiness, or if he did, it made no difference in his course of action. On one or two occasions the Captain had spoken with Van Steen in regard to purchasing stores of the club with which he was connected, but they wanted gold, and declined taking the notes of the Continential Congress, which was all Wilson could offer. One evening after they had exhausted their attempts to trade, with no better success than before, and old Van Steen had retired with his pipe and his wife, to forget the world and its cares, in smoke and sleep, leaving his daughter and young Wilson to talk over things more pleasant to young hearts than gold, but not half as substantial. Johanna told the Captain that there had been a British officer in the vicinity that day trying to buy the grain; that the protective club of which her father was a member, had received an offer from him, for hay, grain, horses and cattle, and they were only waiting till the morrow before the accepted his terms, to see if something could not be done with Wilson; so she advised him to accept her father's offer or he would lose the trade.

'Good,' exclaimed Captain Dick, 'just as I could wish! Let the British buy them they can pay for the stock but will never use it.'

'Why, what do you mean?' inquired Johanna.

'I mean just this,' replied Wilson, 'you are to be my spy; you shall keep yourself advised in regard to all the movements of this officer; you must learn from your father when he is to come for the provisions, what he is to pay, about how many men he is to bring to convey it to their camp, and everything else regarding the matter that you can find out, and inform me; I shall be here every night, and you can tell me what you have learnt during the day. When the British come to take their goods, I shall be on their track with my men, meet them on their return, take them prisoners, and of course, secure the stores without paying a penny for them.'

'Capital! capital!' exclaimed Johanna, so loud that she feared she had woke her father, which would have been a miracle. They completed their plans, and the captain mounted his horse, and started for camp, his head crowded with ideas—He made his command happy the next morning by telling them that he should have a smart job for them in a few days, and to be prepared for hard work and plenty of it.

For two nights the captain learned nothing from his spy, more than that the officer had engaged sixteen horses, twenty-three head of cattle, a hundred bushels of grain, and three ton of hay, but he was still in the neighborhood buying more horses. The next evening Johanna informed him that the British had that day, bought about twenty horses, with cattle and sheep, and that all were to be removed the next night. 'They are to be here at eleven o'clock,' she added 'with one hundred and twenty men, and remove everything. I saw the officer myself and talked with him: he called me 'very pretty,' just as though I didn't know that before, and said that after he got through whipping the d—d Yankees, he should have to come and make love to me.'

'The fool!' muttered Wilson.

'Oh, don't be angry, Dick,' said Johanna, he's nothing but a red coat, and they don't know anything, you know—But you was telling me the other day how much you paid your spies, and last night you called me 'your best spy;' now what are you going to give me?'

'Give you? Why, the name of Mrs. Captain Wilson, when the war is through. Won't that do?'

'It will.'

Early the next morning, Captain Wilson appeared at the head quarters of the army, and laid before Gen. Washington his information in regard to the stores, his means of obtaining it, and his intended plan of operation; he then asked the privilege of picking one hundred men, to be detailed with his command, for the expedition. Leave was granted him, and everything done to facilitate the enterprise for the Commander in Chief placed great reliance on Captain Dick. All day long two hundred men were in active preparation for one of 'Dare-devil Dick's hard jobs,' and at night-fall everything was completed. About eight o'clock the detachment were mounted, and took up their line of march. The proceeded nearly five miles, then turned from the road down a small winding, which, followed for a quarter of a mile, brought them to a clearing on which stood a house and barn; near these buildings the mill-creek emptied into the Schuylkill. The men dismounted, the horses were fastened, unbridled and fed and a guard posted, two men were detailed to watch the stream, and report the first signs of floating lumber, as Johanna had agreed the moment the British commenced to work, to tip a pile of her father's boards into the water, below the dam, so that the swift current would sweep them down, and Wilson would be notified of their operations; refreshments were furnished the men, and they were ordered to be within hearing of the house, as they were liable to be wanted at any moment. The company had rested nearly two hours, when the guard reported 'planks coming down the stream.' The men were divided, half of them being placed under the command of Lieutenant Watts, and the whole detachment rode back. Sentinels were placed at the top of the hill, from which they could have a full view of more than a mile, with instructions to report the moment they saw the enemy advancing. The captain and lieutenant stationed their commands on either side of the road in ambush, and ordered them them to stand by their horses' heads until they saw Captain Wilson mount—then every man was to mount and wait for the word 'charge,' when the enemy were to be surrounded, but not a shot fired unless the British showed fight.

For an hour and a half these brave and patient men waited; then the men from the out-post drove up to the captain, and informed him that a body of horsemen, with a baggage-train, were approaching. Then everything was still; the slightest whisper would have been heard by the whole two hundred. Captain Wilson led his horse behind a large rock, and leaving the faithful animal, he climbed to the top of it, where he could overlook his entire force, and see the British troops when they reached the brow of the hill. Shortly the tramp of horses was heard, which grew more and more distinct, until Wilson could see them; he noticed that their commander seemed to carry something before him on his horse, as he drew near or it resembled a female form. Could it be Johanna? And he was less calm than was his wont, as he entertained the thought. They had descended nearly half of the hill. He decided that it must be Johanna, and wondered, as he slid down from the rock, how she came there. He led his horse out of the sight of the advancing foe, and mounted; in an instant every man was in his saddle, and Captain Dick returned to the rock. It was but a minute ere the officer passed him; just then the moon shone clear through the hazy clouds, and Wilson's eyes met those of Johanna; but there was not a word, nor a sign of recognition; the troops moved on; about fifty men had rode by when the captain, putting spurs to his horse, dashed into the road, crying 'Charge!' The half-a-sleep enemy had hardly aroused themselves before they were surrounded by the Americans, with drawn swords and pistols, and at the same moment the order was given there was a single pistol report, and the British captain fell from his saddle to the earth—dead. Surprised as they were both at the attack and loss of their commander, they made no resistance, but surrendered without a shot being fired or a blow struck—Captain Wilson gave his lieutenant a few orders regarding the disposition of the prisoners and the preparations to be made for the march home; then turning to Johanna, who still held a pistol in her hand, he asked: 'How came you here?'

'In pushing the boards into the river,' she said, 'I made a great deal more noise than I expected to, which attracted the attention of my father and the English officer. When they inquired as to the noise, I told them that I was standing upon the pile of boards, watching the soldiers, when they fell into the water, and I came near going with them; nothing more was said, but I noticed that the officer watched me very closely. After the wagons were all loaded, commander called his lieutenant, and placing the gold in his hands, told him to take my father into the house and pay him. Instantly I was seized, gagged, bound, and placed upon his horse, and the troops moved forward. After marching nearly a mile, a halt was ordered, the gags removed, and I was unbound. Until now I had not thought that our plot was discovered, or at least that I was suspected, but from the careless manner of the company, and hearing nothing said about it, I decided that it could not be. In riding along I discovered a pair of pistols in the belt of the captain, and my mind was instantly made up. I resolved that when your men appeared, I would draw the pistols and and shoot him, or I feared he might shoot me. When my eyes met yours in the moonlight, my heart beat quick, and my hands instinctively went almost to the pistols, but by a strong effort I governed myself, and appeared calm. When you sprung into the road I seized both pistols—discharging one, and killed the villain; if I had not, I should have fired the other.'

'You are a noble girl,' said the captain, and he shook her hand warmly.

Joe Bowers' Wedding.

The county of——, "away up in the mountains," boasts of one of the best judges in California. On the bench he is firm, decided, and prompt, not caring the snap of the finger for either the applause of friends, or the mutterings of enemies. He is, perhaps, the most devoted to the law in all creation, and has his head so full of what he terms "judical talk," that he not unfrequently finds himself making learned charges and passing sentance outside of the court room.

On a recent occasion the judge was called on to exercise the "power and authority in him vested," in the case of a young couple, who desired to have their harts united in the holy band of wedlock. Of course he consented to preform the pleasing duty, and on the appointed evening was promply on hand at the house at which the affair was to come off. The room was crowded by the beauty and fashion of the town, and none looked more dignified or happy than the judge himself, who was dressed within an inch of his life.

It is customary on occasions of the kind referred to, for good folks of the mountain towns to pass around the wine quite freely, and to their everlasting credit, we will add, they consider it no harm for one to manifest his interest in the joyous event by getting "lively."—The judge is an ardent admirer of the fair sex, having in the course of life led the third one to the alter. To use his own language, he is a "great believer in weddings," and that he should become a little mellow amid the glorious scene of the evening, was not to be wondered at by those who knew him intimately.—He had the weakness of all good judges. He would take his "tod."

The wine had passed roundand round and round. The music had ceased. The time for making Joseph Bowers and Nancy Harkens one, had arrived. Every heart throbbed with the most delightful emotions. The young gentlemen desired to know how "Joe" would stand it, and the young ladies were anxious to see how "Nance" would suffer the anxious shock. Others, again, who had closely observed the turn of affairs during the evening fixed their attention upon the judge to see how he would come out of the scrape.

At length the trying moment was announced, the judge arose very cautiously from the chair, which he had occupied in one corner of the room and casting his eye over the company, he recognized the sheriff of the county, who was present as an invited guest. The judge had imbibed just enough to make him forget the nature of his business. He was full of his "judical talk," and required nothing but presence of the sheriff to start him. Looking sternly at the officer, he shouted.

"Mr. Sheriff, open the court and call order!"

A general twitter followed this command, in the midst of which the sheriff took the "court" gently by the arm, and led him to his seat in the corner, at the same time informing the august personage of his mistake.

Everything now bid fair for a pleasant and sudden termination of the affair, until another annoyance, which was nothing less than the absence of the bridegroom, was observed. It turned out that he had just stepped across the street to join his friends in a parting drink, but before his return, some cold blooded wag had whispered into the ear of our fogy the cause of "delay in proceedings." Instantly the chair in the corner moved, and in that direction all eyes were fixed.

"Mr. Sheriff," slowly drawled the judge, "bring Joe into court on a supernar"—the judge had his own way pronouncing the word—then addressing the bride who stood in the foreground, and hung her head in deep confusion, he added: "I spose you're the plaintiff—Well, don't take on. Innocence and virtue will be protected by this here court."

This was the saddest blunder of all.—The judge was again made to see his mistake, and would have been for a considerably set back, had it not been for a corrective in the shape of "forty drops of the critter," which he instantly applied.

In a few moments all was ready in right down earnest. The bridegroom had arrived, full of joy. The company pressed forward. The excitement was intense. The Judge never looked so dignified in his life. He evidently felt every inch a Judge.

"J-o-e B-B-B-o-w-e-r-s," commenced the man of law, in that distressing style of speech with which he was invariably when under the influence of liquor, "J J o e B B B o w e r s, stand up.—Have y y you anything to as say w w h y a s s e n t e n c e—"

"Stop, stop, stop Judge," shouted the Sheriff from the back part of the room. "You are not going to hang the man, but marry him."

The Judge drew a long breath and blinked rapidly, but stood his ground well. Recovering himself, he proceeded.

"J J o e B B o w e r s, do y you t t take Nancy H H Hargens for y y your wife, so h h elp you God?"

This was a tolerable effort, and Joe nodded assent.

"N N Nancy Harkens, it now remains for this here C C Court to—"

Here the Sheriff again interrupted the Judge, reminding him of the real business of the evening.

"Miss N Nancy," resumed the Judge after being set right, "d d do y y y ou t t take J Joe B B Bowers for a husband, t t to the best of your knowledge and b b belief, or d d do you not?"

"You bet!" softly answered the light-hearted Nancy.

The Judge then took the hands of the happy couple, and joining them wound up the business as follows:

"It now r r remains for this h h here C C Court to pronounce you J J Joe Bowers, and y y you, Nancy Harkens, man and wife; and" (here the Judge paused to wipe the prespiration from his face,) "m may G G G—Or mity h have mercy on y y y our s s s ouls! "Sheriff, move the culprits!"

The company roared. Joe and Nancy weakened. The Sheriff was taken with a leaving. The Judge let himself out loose in a glass of apple-jack. It was the gratest wedding ever witnessed.

Horrors of the Middle Passage.

A correspondant of the New York Journal of Commerce, writing on board the United States frigate Powhatan, at St. Helena, Feb 1st gives an interesting account of a visit to a slave vessel which had been captured by the British cruisers and taken St. Nelena. The slaver was a brigatine, built about four years ago, at New London, Conn, and admirably constructed for speed. She measured about 220 tons, and her slave deck was only four and a half feet high, and yet no less than six hundred and fifty Africans had been crowded into this small vessel. The utmost compression compatible with life was resorted to, and, had not a large portion been mere children, they could not have been stowed away. The writer says the following method was employed to economize space:

"The Africans were placed in rows, face to face, lengthwise of the deck, and each one running one leg between the legs of the one sitting opposite. Another row was placed back to back against the exterior row first seated, and thus the whole deck was almost a solid mass of living human flesh. To keep them still and and powerless, and prevent insurrection, a ring was put on one ancle, to which an iron bar was attached, which reached up to the body, and to which the manacles were fastened, were put on their wrists.—Thus situated, a long iron bar ran along over the line of ancles, to which the irons were attached which fastened the feet. Thus, nearly all motion of the body and exercise of the limbs was impossible, men in the stocks having as much liberty as they had, with all the advantages of light and air. Even for a day such a position would be painful and almost intolerable; and what then, a passage from continent to continent, over the broad Atlantic, amidst storms and calms, and seffocation, and occupying often sixty days and more!

"Occasionly the slaves were taken on deck in gangs, where they may breath the pure air a short time, and where they are washed by having buckets of salt water thrown upon them, their fetters and manacles yet remaining on them and the salt water washing the sores and flesh which their sitting position on the hard planks their pressing against each other, together with the galling irons have made. Both men and women are either utterly naked, or else have hardily the equal of a fig leaf apron for their protection. The stench and filth are necessarily horrible and indescribable, which a stable or a stye can hardily exceed, and seldom equal. It is not strange that a frightful mortality soon broke out, which ended the woes of many, and would have done of all, but for the Providential capture."

Ex President Comonfort, of Mexico, is two daughters, and suite, have been visiting Niagara Falls.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

I wish Somebody'd Come.

The flowers are blooming on the lawn,
The birds are singing free,
And everything is full of life
And happiness but me;
The clouds look strangely dull to-day,
They're shadowy as my dreams,
And very lonely seem to me
The sunlights golden gleams;
As for the birds I heed them not,
They had as well be dumb,
They cannot charm my heart to day—
I wish somebody'd come!

I've tried my books—my music too,
I've looked it o'er and o'er—
But, pshaw! I cannot see my notes,
My eyes keep wondering far,
Unanswered notes before me lie,
I'll count them—one, two three,
And here's my letters waiting, too,
But what are they to me
My books are stale—my music is Discordant as a drum,
My voice is very hoarse to-day—
I wish somebody'd come!

The sun is setting in the west,
And twilight deepens now,
And night comes forth, an ebon queen
With jewels on her brow,
The Cat 's sleeping on the hearth,
The bell has rang for tea,
And not one living soul has come
What can the matter be?
The day is gone, the night comes on,
And I will look no more—
There Betty! don't you hear the Bell!
Somebody's at the door! L A E

Charleston, Aug. 27.

The brig Echo, of Baltimore, has entered this harbor with 300 Africans on board. She was captured five days since off the north coast of Cuba by the U S brig Dolphin an was brought into port by Lieutenant Bradford.

Burglaries Arrested.

On Saturday last, Charles Gest and S H. Barnes were both arrested by Mr. J McClelland and H. Bricker, near Utica, Licking County, O. These two desperadoes, in company with another prisoner, whose name now escapes our memory, on Wednesday night last, broke from the Coshocton County jail, where Gest and Barnes had been confined for participating in the burglaries a few months since, noticed by us at the time,—the same exploits in which Lawyer McIntyre was supposed to have been mixed up with.

For the arrest of these three prisoners, the Sheriff of Coshocton County had offered a reward of three hundred dollars By the arrest of Gest and Barnes, McClelland & Bricker have made a neat operation.

This Barnes is considered one of the gratest scoundrels in Ohio, and a most expert burglar, He was pardoned out of the Penitentiary about a ye r ago by Gov. Chase.

Although Gest is well known throughout this section of country, yet he and Barnes, after their escape from jail, kept the main road all the way from Coshocton to the place where they were arrested—Their escape from jail was effected by sawing out the bars of the prison window Mc-Vern Nat.

State Fairs for 1858.

Michigan, Detroit, Sept, 28, 29, 30, & Oct 1,
Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14 15
Illinois, Centralia, September 14. 15, 16. 17 18.
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 5. 6. 7, 8. 9.
Iowa, Oscaloosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September, 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshier, Dover, Oct 6, 7, 8
New York, at Syracuse. Oct 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh. September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28.
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October. 4. 5. 6. 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St Johns, Oct. 13, 14
St, Joseph, Centreville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28, 29, 30.
Genessee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7,
Northern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 16
Berrien, Niles, Oct. 6 and 7.
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.
Ottawa, Eastmanville, Sept 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct. 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5. 6 and 7.
Branch, Coldwater, Oct. 6. 7 and 8.

[CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

'Forward march!' cried Wilson, and they moved forward, Johanna and himself riding at their head. In a short time the entered the lines of the American camp, with one hundred and thirty prisoners, some three hundred horses, also cattle, sheep, hay and grain; of Wilson's many forays, this was the most successful. When Johanna's story became known through the camp the next morning, she became quite a heroine, and received every attention, until she and Captain Dick started for her fathers house.

During the remainder of the war, Wilson was a great favorite throughout the army, and when peace was declared, five years later he made Johanna, not Mrs. Capt. but Mrs Col. Wilson On the spot where she shot the English captain—the spot where her horse fell the night her husband first met her, Wilson erected a house which is still standing and is occupied by the descendants of Dare-Devil Dick and his best spy.

THE HERALD.

B. L. Baxter, : : : : : Editor.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1858.

The Peace with China.

It is not a little singular, that one of the first practical uses made of the Atlantic Cable should be conveyed to the Western World intelligence of the peace consummated with China on the part of France and England, nominally, but in reality in behalf of the whole civilized world. Either of these two events are sufficient to constitute the triumph of a century. Of the laying down of the Cable every one has spoken, and its success every one is celebrating.

The Peace with China is the initiation of a change in an unbroken policy of more than four thousand years. We are informed that it cedes and confirms to all civilized nations, an unfettered and uninterrupted commerce, and to all religions equal privileges.

For more than four hundred centuries China has been to the world without, a sealed book, and so too for the most part has the world beside been shut out from them. Its millions have lived and died, knowing and caring only for themselves. The restless changes of the busy world, its cares and turmoils, its building up of Kingdoms, and tearing down of thrones, its triumphs of freedom, or dynasties of tyranny, have passed them by unheeded

They waged no war upon others and allowed no one wage war upon them with impunity. Or rather perhaps, they were so situated that no one could afford or attempted to do it, if we except the attempt of Zingis Khan in A D. 1214, who conquered as far as the middle Kingom, and Tamerlane in A. D. 1405, who died, before reaching its confines. For the alternation of Mongolian, Mantchou and Celestial rule did not affect materially its its integrety or identity.

In the meantime its unbroken history, running back almost to the flood, if not to the sole surviving patriarch of ante-deluvian years himself has passed on undisturbed and undestroyed. No Vadal Goth has broken down its monuments, no ruthless foe destroyed its Alexandrine libraries.

What the archives of this remarkable nation may yet unfold, how many myths of early tradition they may define and render history, how far they may be able to correct the confusion of an uncertain chronology, it is impossible to predict, but now that these sealed store-houses of knowledge, are about to become the common property of mankind, we may safely look for developments of extreme antiquity and uncommon interest

To commerce too, the addition of the celestial empire with its varied products, and toiling millions, cannot be a matter of ordinary importance The identity of China and Japan are such that what China has done in this respect, Japan must of necessity adopt without delay, thus giving to commerce a third part of the world hitherto for the most part unknown to it

Upon China itself its effects cannot but be immensely beneficent. The seclusion of four thousand years, whatever it may have been to history and science has manifestly been to them a curse—crowded and starving to the lowest point of human existence, enfeebled by one continued intermarriage of consanguinity, they have long needed to break over the barriers of of an immemorial seclusion, and let a surplus of their crowded millions out into the broad fields and untilled wastes, of other lands. The impulse thus given to the world, will not soon be lost, a new element will be combined with those already at work shaping its destinies, while China itself will be open to the same modifications of civilization and religion, and become not only renovated in itself, but it may be an instrument of renovation and good to others.

☞ The following squib from the Cincinnati papers is not without its 'point' here: 'A member of the bar last evening pointed out to us, amongst those in attendance upon the deliberations of the City Council, no less than ten 'professional jurors'—men who make it their business to hang around the the court house and get a precarious livelihood by sitting upon juries, in different courts.—A friend met one of these hangers-on of the courts in the street, a day or two ago, and inquired, 'How is business?'—The reply was, 'Very dull—nothing doing. If I only had something else to do, I'd quit this jury business! He was a 'professional juror'—and it is of such persons that too many of our juries are made up. Good fortune, protet the rights of litigants when submitted to these bidders for the jury business.'

Blessed is he who blows his own horn; for whosoever bloweth not his own horn, the same shall not be blowed.

Honor, innocence, happiness, time, and money lost, are never regained.

Northern Lenawee Agricultural Fair, will be held in this village, Tuhrsday Sept. 16th. 1858.

Reliable News from Frazer.

We are premitted to copy the following from a private letter from a well known citizen of this county to a friend in this place. It can be relied upon as a plain unvarnished account of things as he saw them:

Victoria, Van Couvers' Island, Monday, July 12th, 1858.

'I arrived at this place last Thursday, on the steamship Orizaba, after a passage of six days from San Francisco, and am now writing from a camp in the bush, in the suburbs of this delectable town. The town of Victoria at present presents about the same appearence that Sacramento did in forty-nine—everybody living in tents, with the exception of the old settlers or employes of the Hudson Bay Co., who all have comfortable houses

'The Surprise has made one trip to the gold mines since I have been here, but I concluded not to go up on her, but to build a boat in company with——and cruise upon our own book. The Surprise charges $30 for the trip, and will allow no one to take over two hundred pounds of provision, or baggage of any kind, and charge $2 per hundred for that.

'There are thousands of people here who are anxious to go back to California, and would do so if they had the means.—There are now 600 or more packed up waiting upon the beach for the arrival of the Cortes, bound down, who are going back.

'The accounts from the mines are very conflicting, and it is impossible to learn anything definet, although nearly all agree that there is plenty of gold but it is almost impossible to get it. I think there will be no work done at the mines until cold weather set in, when the snow will stop melting and the water in the rivers will fall.

'Tell everybody of our acquaintance to stay at home by all means unless they have got plenty of money to spend, and consider the trip equivalent compensation.—For my own part I am inclined to believe that the Frazer River excitement is one magnificent humbug, but as I have got so far upon the journey I am bound to see the end before I return to California.—When I return I think I shall go through Washington and Oregon Territories, so that I may get as enlarged a view of the elephant as possible.

'There are plenty of Indians in this part of the world. I have seen more than I ever saw altogether in the State of California. They are light colored, and many have light hair. Men who have seen the big Indians of the north, tell me there is no difference between those upon Frazer River and these here, and that all the large stories about their fighting, &c, is all humbug, as I expected.

Our boat will not be done for about a week, and I am going to improve the time by visiting the interior of the Island, starting to morrow if the weather is favorable, in company with two Englishman, who live with a tribe of Indians forty miles from here. They have been there for nine years, and have Indian wives and children. They tell me there is plenty of deer, black bear, grouse (smilar to a partridge), and any quantity of all kinds of game and fish. I shall be gone about a week and if I can make it profitable to hunt we will all go at it for a few weeks, and not go up the river until later in the season.

'I have not been over to Whatcom yet. Every one says that it is a dull place as the Hudson Bay Co. have control of the river, and make all vessels come to this port for their clearance up the river. The Surprise does not stop upon the American side. We stopped at Port Townsend on our way up 'The Island of Van Couver is heavily timbered with fir, and covered wit a dense growth of underbrush, and is a romantic and beautiful spot, and is probably worth more than the whole of Washington Territory for agricultural purposes. The woods are full of blackberries, gooseberries, strawberries, cherries, &c, and as they are now ripe we have plenty to eat. A person can get all the clams and oysters for the digging, as well as catch all the fish one wants of the finest kind.'

* * * * * *

'I stopped at San Francisco eight days, intending to come up on a clipper ship, and bought a ticket, paying the same as on a steamer, but seeing that she would be crowded as badly as the steamer, I sold out and took the latter. She had 1750 passengers, being crowded full from one end to the other—as were all others that left while I was there. They charge double the price to go down that they do to come up, as they do not want to take passengers down at present as it would discourage emigration and spoil their business.

'Men who have left their business below, and sacrified their property to rush up here upon this wild goose chase have missed the figure largely, and they are all sorry that they have been such fools.

'As soon as I return from my hunting excursion I will write again. Tell T——, and all others who are trying to get a raise to come to Frazer River, to hold their hats until I pioneer the way and see what the show is, as I shall most certainly, do and that thoroughly before I return to California.

'I wrote this in a blanket tent, upon a small cracker box, with the wind blowing a perfect hurricane, and you will therefore make allowances, &c.—Colona Republican.

General News.

New York, Aug 28

A dispatch from Halifax to the Cable Company says:—Capt. Dayman and 4 officers of the British steamer Gorgon, together with a Lieutenant and 4 officers of the Indus, have started for this city to join in the Cable celebration

A letter from Key West states that the slaver recently captured by the Dolphin and ordered to Charleston, is the brig Putnam, formerly the Echo of Boston.—She was from the coast of Africa with 318 slaves. Her crew were confined, and the prize placed in charge of Lieut. Bradford The slaver's captain is on board the Dolphin which vessel was to leave on the 23d for Boston.

A dispatch from Washington says, that at the urgent request of the Governor of Texas, some companies of cavalry have been diverted from the Utah column, towards Fort Arbuckle. It is in contemplation to establish a military post near the Waschita mountains to keep the Camanches and other tribes in check.

The committee on the celebration yesterday decided on inviting all the living Ex-Presidents to be present at the ceremonies on Wednesday, and that all public and private places of business be closed on that day.

Leavenworth, Aug. 28.

A military Commission authorized by the Secretary of War to adjust certain difficulties between the Quarter Master's department and the contractors who furnished the mules for the Utah expedition, met yesterday at Fort Leavenworth.—Present—Major Sherman, Lieut Col Roberts and Gen. Gaines. The board made two ineffectual attempts to organize and its preliminary proceedings were exceedingly inharmonious. The question of precedence of rank had not been indefinitely settled last evening.

St Louis, Aug. 28

A despatch from Kansas City, Aug 26th per U. S Express to Boonville, says Monsieur Bordeau and party arrived there the night before, from Parks' Peak, for the purpose of procuring outfits for the purpose of working newly discovered mines. They bought several ounces of gold and confirm the existence of mines which are situated on Cherry Creek one of the most Southern branches of the Platte, in lat. 39°.

St. Louis, Aug. 28.

The following is the number of trains sent out on government account by Maj's. Russell and Waddell, contractors for supplying the army of Utah From Kansas City 14 trains, 26 wagons each. Nebraska Territory, 35 trains, 26 wagons each These trains left previous to the 18th Other trains are being loaded.

Milwaukee, Aug. 28.

Rufus P Jennings, of the firm of Chandler and Jennings, and Mr John H Sullivan, agent for B. Douglass and C., went out in a small boat last eve. and have not been heard of since. Boat found on lake shore Jennings and Sullivan are lost without a doubt.

St. Johns, N. F., Aug. 28.

The U. S. mail steamship North Star, from Havre and Southampton August 18, passed Cape Race at 3 P. M. yesterday. The Hamburg steamer Austria, from N. Y. arrived at Southampton Aug 18. The steamship America, from New York, arrived at Liverpool Aug. 16.

England.—Further appointments of members of the Council for the government of India had been made.

A splendid banquet had been given by the Duke of Malakoff to celebrate the Napoleon fete. It appears that the Commons, previous to the prorogation, ordered the return of the lands of Vancouver's Island from the Hudson's Bay Co. to the crown. A vessel is to be put on the route between Liverpool and British Columbia. The British Government are going to send a corps of engineers there, and build roads and bridges, and erect block houses for the reception of gold, and at the same time to form a military organization.

The American propeller Abby Langdon had been wrecked at Fresh Water Bay, Isle of Wright. The potatoe disease was making its appearance Another steamer is announced to take its place in the Galaway line. The copper mines of Australia are becoming very rich £900,000 of Australian gold is known to be on its way from Australia

At a meeting of the European and American Steamship Co it was resolved that a committee be appointed to look into Messrs. Crooky & Co's. accounts, the company being very much in debt.

Favorable intelligence had been received from Bombay. Two suspensions are announced at Calcutta and others were expected to follow. There is a financial crisis at Shanghai. The new crop of tea is very inferior.

France.—Last month's accounts of the Bank of France are unsatisfactory.—The papers contain detailed accounts of the progress of the Emperor and Empress in the provinces. The Paris Conference had another sitting. The resumption of diplomatic relations between France and Naples is reported. Two new line of battle ships are to be built immediately for the French navy, in which ribbed cannon are to be used:

Spain.—The yellow fever has made its appearance in some of the Spanish ports.

Austria.—Austria denies the intention of forming an army of observation in Dalmatia.

Germany.—In the Frankfort Diet the propositions of the Executive Committee relative to the affairs of Holstein, were adopted by a large majority.

Turkey.—English reports from Montenegro confirm the version given of the last conflict between the Turks and Austrians.

Candia was tranquil.

Baltimore, Aug. 28

Advices are received here from Porto Cabello, of Aug 15. The English and French fleets had commenced the blockade of Venezuelean ports The steam frigates Buzzard and Tarleton, together with a French steamer, appeared at Laguira Aug. 12, and at Porto Cabello Aug. 14. capturing a large number of coasting vessels at both places.

On the appearance of the fleet the shipping in ports was deserted by officers and men—most of them jumping overboard and swimming ashore. This demonstration was occasioned by the refusal of the government to release General Monegas

New York, Aug. 30.

The news by the Empire City, arrived to-day, is mostly anticipated by the Catawba at Charleston. The stock of sugar at Havana is 14,000 boxes against 224,000 at the same period last year.

Exchange on northern cities 3¼ a 3½ on New Orleans 4 a 4¼.

The officers and owners of the brig C. Perkins had been cited to appear for the second time to answer to a charge of being slave traders.

Charleston, August 29.

The Official Report of the deaths for the week ending yesterday include 39 from yellow fever.

The cargo of Africans from the 'Echo' have been landed at Fort Pinkney and placed in charge of the United States Marshall. The whole affair has created much excitement here.

The Steamer 'Catawba' has arrived from Havana and Key West, 25th inst.

The United States brig-of-war 'Dolphin' had sailed from Key West for Boston with the supposed Captain of the 'Echo.'

At Havana sugars were active at a considerable advance. Molasses 4 to 5 reals.

New York, August 30.

The steamship City of Baltimore, which arrived to-day, brings advices to the afternoon of the 18th. but they are mostly anticipated by the North Star off Cape Race Cotton, Wednesday was steady; sales 8000 bales, of which 2000 was for speculation and export.

Breadstuffs very quiet.

Provisions unchanged.

The London Times says that the message of Queen Victoria to President Buchanan, which contained 99 words was sent over the Atlantic Cable in 67 minutes. The message of the Directors in England to those in America, which contained 31 words, was sent in 35 minutes The latter message was sent first and both despatches were repeated back to insure their accuracy. The Queen's message had not been published in England. Mr Field's first message to the Directors had been received in England—the last 38 words being transmitted in 27 minutes.

The steamer Pacific was to take the place of the Indian Empire, and would leave Galaway on the 24th of August.—The latter boat is undergoing repairs,

The Bank of France is expected to reduce the rate of discount from 4½ to 3 per cent. A deficit exists in the Austrian Budget of £4,000,000. A conspiracy had been discovered at Limburg, Austria, among some school boys from 12 to 15 years old Eleven were tried and sentenced—one to death and the others to imprisonment. The investigation is said to have led to the discovery of a most formidable conspiracy with ramifications in Russian Poland, having in view a general rising of the Slavonic population of Austria to form a Republic

The Ocean Telegraph shares are quoted at £850 to £860

London, Wednesday noon.—Advices from Paris indicate the drobability of an expedition against Madagascar by the united armies of England and France.

Washington, Aug 31.

Gov. McMullen of Washington Territory has arrived here. He represents that, when he left the Territory, about a month since, the Indians of the Cascade mountains were disposed to be friendly, but fears were entertained that they might be influenced by the tribes residing east of the mountains, who defeated Col Steptoe. A vigorous campaign against them, and severe chastisement will however, probably have an effect to produce a general peace among the savages who must sensibly feel the power of the Government. He says the Indias are in the habit of plundering and killing the settlers in the most exposed proportions of the Territory.

Special Notices.

WANTED.

A Good Jour Shoe Maker. Enquirer at the Boot and Shoe Store of J. W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, Aug., 24th.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F.

Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.

Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE

For Barley. Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS!—The Rural American, a large eight page semi-monthly quarto, Utica, N. Y., is the Best and Cheapest farmer's paper in the U. S. Samples free Address T. B. MINER, Clinton, Oneida, Co., N.Y.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR. NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines: The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y: Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

f all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrafula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inflamitary.

Price ingariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

New Advertisements.

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last ten days in each month, and be happy to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept, 1st 1858.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

The Only Original Gift Book Store.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
500 Parker Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo S. Pin Ear Drops and Pins.	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	3 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens with cases and holders	2 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 50
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6500 Gold Rings, (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents Gold Rings,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
5500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleeve Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
5000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books, &c &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

Evans' new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above.

N B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country

Any book published in the United States, the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included, on receipt of Publisher's price.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue. Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher.

407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

TRIAL OF Threshing Machines

At the Northern Lenawee Agricultural F... to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday, ... 16th, 1858. There will be a trial of Th... ing Machines for Thirty Minutes each, ... purse of Seventy Five Dollars or over, ... pointed by the Committee of Arrangem... for said Fair, to the Machine which shall ... found to excel, reference being had to ... amount and character of the work done ... said trial.

Threshing Machines generally are inv... to compete Entrance fee $2.5 Threshi... to commence at 10 o'clock A. M.

B. L. Baxter, Sec'y.

Tecumseh, Sept., 1st, 1858

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER

And see the new Horses, Harness, Carriages, and be at once convinced it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish wishing anything in his line of business the best the country affords. Call on him—Terms moderate.

Tecumseh Union School.

The Tecumseh Union School will commence its first term of the ensuing year, on ... September 6th. It will open under the ... pervintendence of Prof Lawton, who is ... ed by Miss C. Buck, Preceptress, Mr ... Bateman, teacher of Mathematics, and ... L A Bigelow instructor in the Indian ... mer department. Three other assistants ... also be provided to teach Writing, Instrumental and Vocal music.

Thorough instruction will be given ... Classics, in French and German, ... branches of study designed to fit Scholars ... college, or to prepare them for the ... business of life.

From the applications already receive... large number of non resident pupils is expected, and those wishing to secure a boarding place, should apply immediately to the Principal or Director of the school.

It is also particularly desirable, that ... scholars from abroad should present themselves on the first day of the term.

P. BILLS, Director.

Tecumseh, August 24th, 1858

THE

NORTHERN LENAWEE

Agricultural Society

Will hold its Third annual Fair ... In Kneeland's Grove on the east side of ... Village of Tecumseh, on Thursday Sept., 16th, 18...

Commencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Entries can be made with the Secretary ... time before the Fair, and no entries will be received after September 26th, at ... A. M.

☞ It is expected that this Fair will be ... of unusual interest, it is therefore confidently anticipated that the Farmers generally will not only attend themselves but will be well supplied with favorable specimens of their products

A committee of arrangements will be on the ground, and attend to locating stock and articles for exhibition.

Membership Cards may be had at the office of the Secretary on the Fair Ground.

B. L. BAXTER, M, A. PATTERSON, Secretary. President.

See Pamphlets for 1858.

WILLIAMSON'S

PICTURE GALLERY

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on GLASS, IRON, LEATHER PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times."

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th.

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT

Or by the Half Barrell or

Genuine Hamburgh

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and ...

Mackerel and White Fish by the ... barrel, at A. JAMES'

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	14	20
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A.M.	4 57	P.M.
Going South.	6.30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ Our Story this week, is concluded in first column, second page.

☞ There is to be a trial of Threshing Machines at the Fair, Sept., 16. See advertisement.

☞ TECUMSEH EXCHANGE, is the name of the new hotel built by Mrs. Hoeg. P. W. Smallegg has leased the Exchange and will be prepared to receive guests this week.

STRONG, LANDON & Co., Proprietors of the Tecumseh Nursery, are prepared to supply a choice collection of Fruit and Shade Trees. We believe this Nursery contains the largest and best assortments to be found in the State. Person attending the fair the 16th, will please remember that this Nursery is but a few rods north of the fair ground.

THE UNION SCHOOL will commence its first term of the ensuing year, on Monday September 6th.

☞ Hon. Joseph R. Williams, President of the Michigan State Agricultural College, has received an invitation to deliver the annual address at the New York State Fair, to be held at Syracuse, October 5, 6, 7, 8, which he has accepted.

SIGNS.—It is a good sign to see a man enter your sanctum with a friendly greeting: 'Here is the money to pay you for my paper the coming year.'

It is a bad sign to hear a man say he is to poor to take a paper—ten to one he carries home a jug of 'red eye' that costs half a dollar.

It is a good sign to see the color of health in a man's face.

It is a bad sign to see it concentrated in his nose.

It is a good sign to see an honest man wearing his own clothes.

It is a bad sign to see them filling the holes in the windows.

It is a good sign to see a man wiping the perspiration from his face.

It is a bad sign to see a man wipe his chops as he comes out of a cellar.

It is a good sign to see a woman dressed with taste and neatness.

It is bad sign to see her husband sued for her finery.

It is a good sign to see a man advertise—and pay for it.

☞ About fourteen years ago, a boy drove a load of charcole into Providence, R. I., to sell. He peddled a while on Main street, and with his load about half sold out began to ascend College street which is one of the steepest grades in the city. The boy took it leisurley, and seated on his exalted car, with elbows on his knees and dropping whip, made the classic shades of Brown resound more and more, as he approached with his signal cry—"charcoal! charcoal!" The people on the walks on either side were making merry, apparently at his expense; on he went, shouting "charcoal" louder than ever. But when he arrived at the summit of the hill he began to think that something was wrong, and turning around, he saw he had lost the tail board of his cart at the foot of the hill, and that all his 'charcoal,' except a few broken crumbs in the bottom of his cart, was strewn the entire length of the street. But he could not stop for all that, and with force of desperation sang out, as if once for all, "Jerusalem! all Jehoshaphat!! charcoal!!"

☞ The Marshall Statesman closed its 14th volume with last week's issue. It is one of the oldest and most reliable Republican papers in the State. The Statesman has ever been ably conducted, and shows plainly that no time nor expense is spared to make it, as it really is, one of the best country papers in the State.

DETROIT, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18, 1833.

OFFICIAL RETURNS, of the Delegate Election, as received at the office of the Secretary of the Territory:

	LEON WOODBRIDGE.		WING.
Wayne,	238	351	409
Oakland,	446	238	233
Crawford,	3		69
Iowa,	182		24
Macomb,	319		36
Cass,	192	1	34
St. Joseph,	208	12	55
Berrien,	89	2	64
Brown,	11		78
Mackinac,	11		57
Branch,	34		23
Jackson,	46	36	7
Calhoun,	37	10	5
Kalamazoo,	189	23	25
Monroe,	67	26	778
Washtenaw,	412	519	32
Chippewa,	92
Lenawee	119	129	248
Total,	2695	1800	2177

The New Brunswick papers give an account of a new and peculiar harness which is attracting considerable attention The ordinary saddle is disposed with: also the whiffle tree and breeching. The wagon is controlled by two friction rollers fastened at the end of the shaft bars. The shafts are held and controlled by two terrots, at the hames The horse can be detached from the carriage in a moment by means of two spring hooks, arranged at the forward end of the trace which is convenient at all times, and more especily in case the horse becomes frightened and runs away.

☞ The Texas Penitentiary seems to be doing a good business. From Oct., 1857, to June 1858 the value of the cotton manufactures at the Penitentiary was $71,823, and of the woolens $33,148.

PARADISE FOUND.—We presume a few of our readers have heard of "Paradise Lost," and they will doubtless be glad to learn that it has just been found out in Indiana. The Lafayette Journal says that in Lewis township, Clay county, there are 170 families, all white except 1 There are 165 voters, and during the last 20 years there has never been a fight or quarrel at any election held in the township It conttains 7 school house, 7 road districts, 7 bachelors and 7 large men; 3 churches, 3 pair of twin boys, 3 carpenters, 3 post offices, 3 crazy men, and 3 men over 75 years old. There is not a doctor, or lofer in it—nor grocery nor a pauper.

THE FASHIONS.—The Fall fashions for bonnets, if the Philadelphia North American is properly informed, provide artificial fruits as a substitute for flowers. The latter will pass entirely out of use. Instead of roses, Johnny jump-ups and daffy down dillies, the bonnets of our belles will be graced with clusters of artificial currents, fox grapes cherries and other fruits, done in glass, of the least possible thickness. The new bonnet is a unique affair, resembles a cabbage leaf trimmed with tomatoes. The price is cheap only thirty dollars!

DYSENTERY.—As this disease is some what prevalent at the present time, especially among children, we copy the following cure from the Middletown Republican, which paper states that it has been used in that vicinity for many years with entire success even in the worst stages of disease:—Take Indian corn roasted and ground like coffee, or coarse meal browned, and boil in water to produce a strong liquid, and drink a teacupful two or three times a day." We recommend to those who are afflicted with this complaint to give this simple remedy a trial, as it certainly can do them no harm One day's practice it is said, generally effects a cure.

Utica, Aug. 28,

Horatio Seymour was to-day unanimously elected delegate to the Democratic State Convention from this district.

Beware of Imposte .

CAUTION TO INVALIDS.—DR. SAMUEL S FITCH, (Office 714 Broadway, New York) known as the author of a "New Curative Treatment" for the diseases of the Lungs, Heart, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys Skin Nerves Muscles, Joints, Blood, &c., and for all Female Complaints, continues his practice with his usual success. ☞ He is never absent from New York, and has not been for many years. He has no other office nor any associate or partner at Buffalo, Chicago Detroit, Pittsburg or elsewhere, and has not had ☞ Beware of all persons using his name, or pretending to have one, or to have had, any professional connection with him. They are Imposters! Apply, personally or by letter, directly to himself at his office, No. 714 Broadway, New York, where alone his treatment can be had. Remedies sent to any part of the country, and treatment conducted successfully by letter A visit from the patient prefered His 'SIX LECTURES' on the Lungs, and explaining the method by which he cures the above diseases (180 pages, bound) sent by mail, post paid, for 40 cents. 394m3

☞ BEWARE, especially of the advertisements of "Fitch, Dodge & Co." of Detroit, and "Fitch & Sykes" of Pittsburgh, Chicago, &c. 714 Broadway.

June 1858. New York.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices

January 4th Union Hall.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH, October 2 1858.

Wheat	1 00 a 1 10
Flour	4 50a5 00
Buckwheat " flour	25 1 50
Barley	40
Corn	50
Oats	28
Clover seed
Beans	50a60
Potatoes new	38
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5a6
Butter	12
Tallow	a 10
Lard	9
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	5
Turkey do	6
Beef	4 00a,500
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 40
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8a10
Sheep pelts	40a60
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

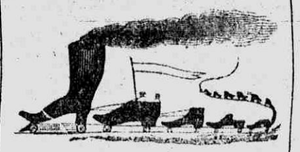
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38 A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00 "	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00 "	00 0 "
Arrive at "	12 35	6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 "	3 45 "
Arrive at "	9 55 "	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago	12 00	1004
Arrive at	7 30 "	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 "	1 20 "
Arrive at "	7 20 "	3 35 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25 "	1 50 "
Arrive at "		1210 700
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25 "	8 40 "
Arrive at "		12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 "	9 30 "
Arrive at "	7 36 "	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elk Lart		10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, All Way and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10. 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods. ☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Kegs fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON.	D. D. MARSHALL.
DELOS LeBARON.	WALLAS GRAY.
H. L. SIGGLES.	JEROME ALLEN.
A. A. BELLS.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

MRS. E. M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likeness taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

O. G. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. F. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited.

Tecumseh, March 1st. 1858. 380m2

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, A. 5th.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857. 344

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, - - - MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX "	$300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov. 20. '56. 314.

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious, Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.

Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh

July, 1858. 400m4

Cheap for Cash

—AT THE—

New Brick Jewelry Store of

J. E. HALL,

Watches, Clocks, & Jewelry

New Style and Beautiful Patterns.

Gold Guard and Fob Chains,

PURE SILVER WARE,

Pearl Souveniers, Shell Card Cases and Recticuls, Jets, Bubble Beads, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Perfumery and Confectionary

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Melodeons, Guitars, Violins, Flutes and Accordeons. Music Books and Sheet Music Books and Stationary, Paper Hangings, And a great variety of Fancy Goods, Toys, and Notions, which he will hereafter sell at a very low rate for Cash. Watch repairing and Job Work done by a good workman at fair prices.

☞ Call and See.

Tecumseh, March 1st. 1853. 351m2

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

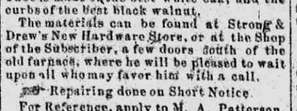
Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.



CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d. 1857. 355tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.

E. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 385tf

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address, DANIEL ADEE,

375m3or&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DIVERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

☞ Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE. GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckett & Co.

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRIZE WITH

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The Articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS OF THE WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &c.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum. Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " " 15.00 " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

AGRICULTURAL.

To Keep Butter Hard and Cool.

A writer in the Scientific American recommends to the ladies a very simple arrangement for keeping butter nice and cool in the hottest weather. Procure a large, new flower pot of sufficient size to cover the butter plate and also a saucer large enough for the flower pot to rest in upside down; place a trivet or meat stand (such as is sent to the oven when a joint is baked) in the saucer, and put on this trivet a plate of butter; now fill the saucer with water, and turn the flower pot over the butter, so that its edge will be below the water. The hole in the flower pot must then be fitted with a cork; the butter will than be in what we may call an air-tight chamber.—Let the whole of the outside of the flower pot be then thoroughly drenched with water, and place it in as cool a place as you can. If this be done over night, the butter will be as "firm as a rock" at breakfast time; or, if placed there in the morning, the butter will be quite hard for use at tea hour. The reason of this is, that when water evaporates, it produces cold; the porous pot draws up the water, which in warm weather prickly evaporates from the sides and thus cools it, and as no warm air can now get at the butter, it becomes firm and cool in the hottest day.

Hay Makers

Prof. Pallas describes a little animal called the rat hare, which inhabits the moist and gloomy forests of the Altaic mountains of Siberia. This animal is sometimes solitary, at others numbers congregate in a common dwelling. About the middle of August they begin the collection of their winter stores of food. With this purpose they bring together and spread out on some sunny rock near their chosen habitation several varieties of nutritious grasses. These are cured in the sun, and, in the month of September, the hay thus made is put into one or more stacks under some sheltering rock. These stacks are often eight feet in diameter and six feet in hight. A subterranean gallery is then constructed leading from their burrow to the center of the hay stack. Thus however deep the winter's snow, they have an uninterrupted and covered pathway to their store of food.—Pallas found on a patient and careful examination of the hay, that it consisted of the choicest grasses and aromatic herbs, cut when most vigorous, free from flowers or ears of seed, or herd, woody stems, and dried so slowly as to form a green and succulent food. Can't our farmers read the lesson of the Siberian hay makers?

Failure of the Cincinnati Grape Crops.

Within a radius of twenty-five miles of Cincinnati it is computed that there are 2,500 acres of ground devoted to the culture of grapes. In favorable seasons the average of wine per acre is two hundred gallons, equal to five hundred thousand gallons, as the whole crop for the section described worth, fresh from the press, $700,000. The failur of the grape crop is therefore a serous loss to the cultivators, and we regret to see, by a communication in the Cincinnati Gazette, that to the general loss of the fruit crop of apples, peaches, &c., in Ohio this season, that of the grapes is to be added. The writer says:—The crop this year may be designated as almost an entire failure. Some few vineyards will have something of a crop, but in the aggregate all the wine produced will not pay the expenses of the tender of the crop.

Items of Interest.

Corn fodder is a valuable substitute for grass; and if drilled in, yields three of four times the quantity per acre that grass does.

Lime soils are injurious to sheep, as by the oil in the wool they render the fibre hard and brittle.

A handful of bran meal, mixed occasionly in the mess of a cow, will pay ten fold its cost in the richness of the milk.

Give hogs, occasionly, a tablespoonful of a compound of three parts ashes and one of salt, for each hog, mixed with their food, and it will kill kidney worms.

The first stages of decomposition of manure is a dry mold. This, if applied to plants will dry moisture from them, and be a positive injury.

Mr Chales Dickens, it is said, does not intend to bring out any more serial tales. He is in his 50th year.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date October 8th 1857, made by Jefferson Harrington to Sarah Beaver and recorded in the office for the record of deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 204 and 205, October 12th 1857, at 11 o'clock A M. and on which mortgage there is now due and owing nine hundred and seventy-five dollars and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the said mortgage described in and the east half of the south west quarter and the south east quarter of the south west quarter of section three in Township six south of range five east, in the Township of Cambridge, in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, except two acres south of the north rod to Nathan Chever, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the City of Adrian.

SHUN & BAXTER, Attorneys. JACOB BEAVER, Jr. Mortgagee.

April 26th 1858 390w13.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Billsbarrow dated the First day of June 1857 which mortgage was recorded in the Register's office for Lenawee County in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 206 207 and 208 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-five Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to recover or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter of section three (except four acres off the north end thereof) in the Township of Raisin in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres (same more or less) will be sold at the Front Court Room, in the Village of Adrian in the County of Lenawee at public auction on the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P M.

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee 394t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain mortgage made and executed by James S. Merritt to William H. Jerrill dated April 23rd A D 1855 recorded in the Office or Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee Michigan on the 30th day of May A D 1855 in Liber U of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42 and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents (145 15)

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five south of range three east, except three (3) rods square in the south east corner thereof as is necessary to convey said mortgaged premises, and the said mortgage and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the east front door of the Court House in said County of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated July 1st 1858. ISAAC HALL, Assignee

STACY & WOOD, Attorneys for Assignee.

Tecumseh June 3rd 1858 388t13

Mortgage Sale.

Default has been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage bearing date the first day of August A D 1855 executed and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fifth day of September A D 1855 in Liber T of mortgages on pages 208 and 209 which said mortgage was duly assigned in writing by the said Isaac C. Woods to the undersigned, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 29th day of September A D 1857 in Liber 2 of mortgages on pages 204 and 205 which said assignment of said mortgage is duly acknowledged and entitled to be recorded, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises described as follows, to wit: All that certain tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Seneca in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, to wit: Sixty-one and Sixty eight (61 68) rods square off of the north end of the west half of the south west quarter of section twenty-eight (28) in Town eight South of Range two East, which interest of said Simeon H. Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the twelfth day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 10th 1858. 389w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff

Dated July 5th, 1858. 390w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said county of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: all that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north, nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty five chains to beginning, containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall exposed for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff

Dated July 5th, 1858. 390w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twentieth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Henry Baron deceased. On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Ezekiel A. Booth and Benjamin L. Baxter administrators and Administrator on the Estate of said deceased for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the 30th day of September next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition and that all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks or three weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A True Copy.) FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate n403w4

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B. Hoag late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY. } Commissioners.
SIBELL C. LeBARON. }

August 24, 1858. n405w4

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-moddled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Febv. 18th, 1858. 378m8

CRACKERS.

A Prime Article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS,

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise,
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.

New York, And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED

IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—it is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated, all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 241 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckett & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRESENT,

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "
AND TO CLUBS.
Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500.00	each.
5 do do do	200.00	do
10 do do do	100.00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100.00	do
20 Gold Watches	75.00	do
50 do do	60.00	do
100 do	35.00	do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	30.00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30.00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 20.00	do

Gold Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys Gold and Silver Thimbles and a variety of other articles worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40 to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

All communications should be addressed to DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 235 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will nereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum, Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " " 15.00 " " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

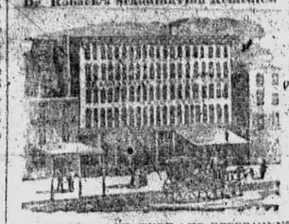
Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

BY

Dr Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.



AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a condition of health and purity, expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character. Indigestion, nervous complaints epileptic fits coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat bronchitis fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, pricking of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis rheumatism neuralgia, tumor cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea, and all other disorders of the organs of respiration the liver the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fibre are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materia medica or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid; it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span.

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial. Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle or $5 per half-dozen, Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1

Peru, Miami Co, Ind., Aug 4, 1857.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort and efficiency in business, dyspepsia. To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue. I consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted and in a short time less than a month I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach, for when my dispepsia left me my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DENUTH.

From the Rev Mr McMullen Pastor of Pokeyts Chapel:

Louisville, June 4, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves. Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me.

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills, care of H. G. Card & Co. as I can get them next trip. Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty-five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation, with its attending evils, I told you so when I bought them but I am bound to own that your Pills fill the contract. Why, I have taken as many as a dozen of them and other makers sometimes not one effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

Yours truly, Friday, Sept 4 1857

DR. ROBACK: Dear Sir: I have been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier recommended, I purchased a bottle of the Purifier and Pills and commenced using them, with whom I am happy to say I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines. After using two bottles I felt myself greatly relieved, and upon using two more I found myself perfectly cured. You will please send me therefore a certificate upon receiving a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK: Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at this time, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to its recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot now dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of fifty-seven years.

Believe me this is a confirmation for the benefit of those similarly affected. MORRIS MORRIS

The above remedies and many more can be had at my office by any one at any time. Office of my Family Medical Message, Cards from my agents, Manufactory Sales Room, and Office No. 6 Fast Fourth street 3d building from Main, Third Floor.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNE, Clinton.
G. V. HAWKINS Medina. E. N. BUTLER Morenci.
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the useful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deception practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c., and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Sexual Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases &c. &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr GEORG R. CALHOUN Consulting Surgeon Howard Association No 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO FAIRCHILD Secretary
500w EZRA D B FAREWELL President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

See Advertisement.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one pertaining every purchase he sometimes very strongly wishes that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in the great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable rate, perfectly so long having become satisfied by a considerable experience and observation and reflection that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that many of our purchases from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been rendered aid the easily of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the file and labor assumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charge for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co. N. York.

Wm. L. King of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Phila

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.

F. Cabot & Co., Boston.

Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.

J. C. Cabot, of Wales Cabot & Co., St. Louis.

And many others

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House,

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the United States Journal, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a splendid set of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Our's is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time-keeper	$60	00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50	00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid	Post
gold throughout	6	00
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2	00
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8	00
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2	50
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4	00
Fancy Gold Medal Bracelet	8	00
Superb Ring Gold Locket, engraved and garnished	4	00
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6	00
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6	00
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5	00
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5	00
Gold Bare Cluster Pin for Gent	2	00
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3	00
Set of Engraved, Gold Studs	2	00
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve But tons for Lady or Gent	4	00
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4	00
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2	00

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00

The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24 1 00

The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Lambert 50

F. W. Edwards 50

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same discount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to the extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, as we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefor.

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 408 Broadway, New York.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic diseases arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is no abundant evidence to prove that they are equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR

Tecumseh, April 1858.

NOTICE TO FARMERS

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times.

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined. These Machines are Warranted to work well and on Suitable Ground, if well managed will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

Please give me a call and examine for yourselves S. W. C

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 43. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 9, 1858. WHOLE NO. 408

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VAN TINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAN CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMSTOCK,
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.
MILLERS→PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. HILLS. D. L. BAXTER.
HILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. E. D. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
308y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Three Doors East of the Post Office,
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

Music of Labor.

The banging of the hammer,
The whirling of the plane,
The crashing of the busy saw,
The creaking of the cane,
The ringing of the anvil,
The grating of the drill,
The clattering of the turning lathe,
The whirling of the mill,
The buzzing of the spindle,
The rattling of the loom,
The puffing of the engine,
The fan's continual boom,
The clipping of the tailor's shears,
The driving of the awl—
These sounds of honest industry,
I love—I love them all.

The clicking of the magic type,
The earnest talk of men,
The toiling of the giant press,
The scratching of the pen,
The tapping of the yard-stick,
The tinkling of the scales,
The humming of the cool in; stove,
The surging of the broom,
The pattering feet of childhood,
The housewife's busy hum,
The buzzing of the scholars,
The teachers kindly call—
The sounds of active industry,
I love—I love them all.

I love the plowman's whistle,
The reaper's cheerful song,
The drover's oft repeated shout,
Spurring his stock along;
The bustle of the market man,
As he hies him to the town;
The halloo from the tree-top
As the ripened fruit comes down;
The busy sound of threshers
As they clean the ripened grain;
The husker's joke and catch of glee
'Neath the moonlight on the plain;
The kind voice of the drayman,
The shepherd's gentle call—
These sounds of pleasant industry,
I love—I love them all.

Oh, there's a good in labor,
If we labor but aright,
That gives vigor to the daytime,
A sweeter sleep at night;
A good that bringeth pleasure,
Even to the toiling hours;
For duty cheers the spirit,
As dew receives the flowers.
Then say not that Jehovah
Gave labor as a DOOM,
No!—'Tis the richest mercy
From the cradle to the tomb.
Then let us still be doing
Whatever we find to do,
With cheerful, hopeful spirit,
And free hand, strong and true.

From the London Family Herald.

The Secret of Success.

The shadows of life surround us on all sides, and the sweet sunshine of our existence only serves to render them more distinct. Indeed, life may be compared to a long avenue of trees, in the centre of which is a broad strip of glorious light, and on each side gloomy masses of darkness, that seem struggling to meet and devour that delicious track of brilliancy.

So it was with man; on each side of him are shadows; but he may avoid them if he chooses, or make as much use of them as the weary traveler does when he shelters himself in their repose from the too scorching rays of the sun. Darkness has its uses as well as light; it is the earth's couch, and is as necessary to its healthy existence as light, for universal nature is made up of friendly extremes.

Not so, however, reasoned a young man, as he stood by the side of a sun-dial erected in one of those old churchyards so common in the rural districts of England, and which we all love for the quaintness of their sacred edifices and antique aspect. He was evidently about twenty two, and dressed in mourning, for he had just lost his only relation, and had to carve his way in the world alone and unaided.—He was contemplating the sun-dial, and as he saw the shadow move, his reflections were rather of a sombre character.

'We are but shadows after all,' he muttered half aloud. 'We creep on like this shadow, and then vanish in the deeper darkness of night. Not so this shadow; round and round it goes for ages, marking the brief time which man has carved out of the infinite. But, ah me! I fear my lot will be a brief shadow, a stalking gloom, traversing through a few years, and then be swallowed up in the hideous night of the grave.'

'Say not so, Frank!' exclaimed a gentle voice, as a hand light as the touch of a feather was laid on his shoulder. He started, and a gleam of joy shot over his features as he recognized the speaker.

'Say not so, Frank,' repeated the maiden, for such she was, 'this shadow teaches us our duty, and far from reminding us of our doom, it tells us how slowly, but surely time travels, and that while we are here we should not be despondent. See! there is sunshine behind and sunshine before! so look upon the shadow as a monitor, a friend, and take a lesson from its unvarying industry.'

'You have grown quite a philosopher,' the young man said, sadly, as he fondly caressed the delicate hand that was with out any coyness placed within his; 'but you always were placid and hopeful. I will try; but oh! Lucy, it is hard to part with those we love. Years may elapse before we meet again and then—then.'

'Never, Frank Webster,' replied the maiden earnestly. 'Lucy Dixon's heart was not given away lightly or to one undeserving, and she will not refuse her hand when the proper occasion arrives, unless upon such provocation as a Christian girl ought not to overlook. Have the same faith in me, Frank, as I have in you. I trust you.'

'Dear, dear Lucy,' returned the young man earnestly. 'May heaven shower every blessing on your head! I do trust you—I will.'

Leaving them to their sweet though mournful conference—for they were about to part for an indefinite period—and what is sadder to young hearts than the parting of lovers—we will say something about their previous history.

Both were orphans, and each had been brought up by a relation. Lucy Dixon by an aunt, Frank Webster by an uncle. Lucy had received what is called a good education for a country girl in humble life, and fortunately for her it happened to have been a practical one. She could write English with propriety, knew a little of arithmetic, but she knew a good deal more about housekeeping. She was what is called a famous manager, and performed her work with such tact and delicacy that few noticed she was working until she had worked, and hard too. She was a bee, without its buzzing or sting. Her aunt dying, she found herself possessor of a few pounds and a little furniture. Alone and unprotected, what was she to do?

Frank Webster had been educated in a different manner altogether, as it was only natural he should have been. His uncle, being childless, doated upon him, and being a thriving, although a small farmer, placed him in a neighboring grammar-school, where he received a classical education, and the good old man even denied himself some indulgencies to allow him three years' study at one of the universities. So that when Frank Webster had passed his twenty first year he was good scholar, knew Greek and Latin, was well up in mathematics, and had even taken to Gant and the German school of philosophy. His uncle was proud of him; but the farmer happening to die suddenly, a host of next of-kin pounced on his property, and Frank turned his back on the home of his childhood with just one hundred pounds sterling in his pocket. What was he to do? He knew no busines or profession. Having no friends, the Church was closed against him; and as to the law, his pecuniary means forbade him to look to that as a resource. What was he to do? London suggested itself to his mind; and, after a short deliberation, to London he resolved to go and try his fortune, as hundreds of thousands had done before him. And Lucy, his dearly betrothed, what was she to do with her scanty purse? We shall see.

To town Frank Webster came, with no settled aims, no defined purpose. Poor fellow! he was swathed up in his own shadow the very moment he entered the metropolis. Being duly located at a coffee house, his first step was to make a tour of this wonder of the world, London: the second to v sit some old collage friends who having selected professions, were laboriously pursuing them; his lost to see what he could do for himself. He had a high opinion of his own powers, and felt confident that he could fill any position either in law, divinity, politics or literature. He had recourse to the papers—every young man similarly situated does the same—and day after day did he carefully peruse those advertising columns which are so eloquent an in index to the splendor, business, wants, and miseries, of the metropolis of the world.

At the end of a month he found nothing that would have suited him. He then advertised his own wants, with, at the end of a month, no better result. He began to be alarmed, and took to authorship, that tempting refuge for the friendless and embarrassed, who fancy they have talent. It is one of the leading peculiarities of a large class of the young men of the present day, that if they have received a tolerable education, they rush to the conclusion that they are geniuses—Some aspire to the stage—others to the press—others to the high art of writing books, and astonishing the world with new ideas. A few succeed, but they are few and there is purchased by severe privations, and the most humiliating mortifications. The rest, after a faint struggle, fall back on less ambitious pretensions, and seek a livelihood in more humble and profitable capacities.

Frank Webster, who really and ably, belonged to this aspiring class; but he had no genius. He possessed the machinery of thought, but not the tact, solid judgment and keenness of perception necessary to give it adequate motive power. He therefore wasted his time and abilities by not knowing, or earnestly striving to know what to do with them, to say nothing of any power to keep on doing when he had made the grand discovery. His continuous querulous complaint was, 'I am only a shadow, unless travelling round the dial of mis'o tune.' However, he did write a book, full of Greek and Latin, and, in his own opinion, a very learned composition. By the advice of an acquaintance he forwarded it to an eminent publisher, and in due course waited upon that worthy gentleman.

'Sir,' said the latter, 'your book is a very good book in its way, but it won't take. The public don't want such books They would rather know something about California, or Australia, or Borneo, or even Kamschatka, than ancient Rome or Greece. Good morning, sir,'

'Three weary months wasted,' Frank sighed, as he threw his manuscript into the fire.

But youth is ever hopeful, especially when it has a few pounds in its pocket.—So Frank continued to write cheerful letters to Lucy, and in return received the most affectionate opes; but to her repeated inquiry 'whether he had settled down,' he always returned an evasive answer.

His second literary effort was novel, which met the same fate as his learned composition. Then he betook himself to less pretentious sources, and failed in them all. Occasionally he earned a few pounds, which inspired him with hope for a time; but at the end of a couple of years he was almost penniless. In despair he accpted an offer to be amanuensis to a blind author, but the latter suddenly dying, in a short time, he was thrown on the would homeless, tatteered and destitute. He was seen no more by any of his metropolitan acquaintances.

So much for the man who came to London without a profession or an aim, and not possessed of any experience or natural gift for his selected calling; for authorship not only requires a preparatory special training, but a large share of that commodity, which, if not precisely talent, is a blending of ability with anabashed confidence. But Frank was not only one among thousands who enter the metropolis with bright hopes and high aspirations, with the ertainty of having them scorched and blighted. Success in any department of life requires capacity for it, and a pliant adaptibility to the circumstances as they rise. Genius will force its way anywhere; but mediority must be trained to follow some peculiar calling, and that alone. Like the shadow of the sun dial, it must go its allotted round.

And what of Lucy all this while? The poor lonely girl had no very ambitious visions of the future. She was a practical little body; and instead of saying what she was to do, she asked herself, 'What can I do?' We commend this wisdom to all young persons. It is one of the secrets of success in life.

'What can I do?' she thought, 'I can teach children and I can sew—well, what better can I do than this? I can do it, and I will.'

So, smoothing her rich auburn hair, and arraying herself in her neatest attire, she waited upon the rector's wife, and to her joy was promised every assistance. The good old lady went round among the villagers, and in less than a month Lucy had twenty chubby-faced little children for scholars, and the promise of more. She also took in plain needlework, and having diligently studied the higher branches of the art, soon began to have orders from ladies in the neighborhood who admired her for her industry and propriety of conduct. In the course of a year her business increased, and at the end of two years more was so flourishing that she was obliged to have assistants, and transfer her school to a young woman, who, like herself, had been left to make her own way in the world.

'How rich I am getting?' she innocently exclaimed one summer evening. What a nice surprise for Frank! I wonder he don't write. I hope he is not ill; but he would have been sure to let me know if he was. Perhaps he is so busy that he has no time to write to me. I will send him a long, sweet letter, and post it myself.'

Little she knew that at that moment Frank was approaching the village, wayworn, haggard, hungry almost shoeless.

In the morning, as was usual with her, Lucy looked out of the window for the postman, and as the window commanded a view of the church-yard, she observed a meanly clad person leaning on the sundial, apparently absorbed. Surprised at such an occurrence, for the villagers were by no means addicted to such contemplation, she regarded him with great attention.

'Some poor highway pilgrim,' she thought; 'if he comes this way I will give him a half a crown for Frank's sake, for it was there we parted. But I had better send it.' And forthwith calling her maid of all work, (for Lucy Dixon now kept a servant,) she dispatch her with the coin.

Frank Webster—for, as the reader may have guessed, it was he—was leaning on the pillar in a sad reverie.

'My words were prophetic,' he said to himself; 'my destiny is but a destiny; it began and is ended; and there is an end of it. Shadows begin at nothing and end at nothing. Three times three hundred and sixty-five runs has this dial recorded, and yet there is the shadow still—silent, sombre—slowly moving as ever. So with myself, I have gone the round of the years, and have come back only to gaze on the symbol of my own fate. Roll on shadow!—time and tide are to thee a nothing. Thy dumb authority ends where it began, and begins where it ended.'

While he was thus morbidly meditating, a girl addressed him, saying, 'Please sir missus sent you this,' and she presented half-a-crown.

'Alms!' he cried, as the red blood mantled his forehead, 'take it away!'

His look frightened the girl; so throwing down the coin, she scampered away.

'And has it come to this?' he groaned 'and on this spot, too, sacred to the memory of my happiest days! Oh, Lucy dear Lucy, may you never know the misery that has fallen on me!'

He was about to hasten away when the girl returned, saying her mistress did not mean to affront the gentleman.

'Who is your mistress?' he asked.

'Miss Dixon; sir' replied the girl.

'Miss who?' shouted Frank Webster.

'Miss Dixon, the milliner,' said the girl.

'Lucy Dixon?' exclaimed Frank, interrogatively.

'Missus's name is Lucy, sir,' replied the girl.

'Not married! not married!' exclaimed the fallen man, 'and true to me. And what am I? A wandering vagabond about to enlist at the nearest depot. My shadow is now black indeed!'

He could no longer restrain himself, so leaning on the sun-dial, the hot tears gushed from his eyes, and he sobbed aloud.

The girl stood petrified; but in a few seconds Frank, mastering his emotion by a great effort, picked up the half-crown, and pressing it passionately to his lips, turned to servant, and said: 'Tell Lucy—I mean tell your mistress—that I will wear this next my heart, in remembrance of her goodness, till my dying hour. Is Miss Dixon well?'

'Yes, sir,' was the reply.

'And happy?' he asked.

'Yes, sir, she's got a nice shop,' said the girl; 'yonder it is.'

Frank looked in the direction indicated, and perceived a neat little shop-window, graced by some choice articles of feminine attire.

'I would not see her for the world; she would despise me,' he muttered.—'Tell her,' said he to the girl, 'that the stranger will ask for a blessing on her head every hour of his existence.' And so saying, he walked out of the church yard, and took the road that led away from Lucy's abode.

The girl's incoherent account, coupled with what she had witnessed in the churchyard, threw Lucy into a state of violent agitation. The stranger's knowledge of her, his extreme emotion, and Frank's long silence, raised an extraordinary suspicion in her mind.

'It must be Frank!' she exclaimed, and hurriedly putting on her bonnet, she ran down the road with the speed of a fawn.

She soon overtook the wanderer, and one glance at his face, although pale and emaciated, was sufficient.

'Frank, dear Frank!' she cried, as she laid her hand on his arm.

'Lucy!' he gasped, and fell senseless on the road. The shock had exhausted his strength.

Loudly calling for assistance, some laborers approached and carried the insensible form of the withered but once handsome Frank Webster to the nearest inn, where he was speedily put to bed, and Lucy dispatched messengers for medical assistance.

For weeks poor Frank lay hovering between life and death. Lucy, the gentle hopeful Lucy, was all the time his tender and loving nurse. How great was her joy when he was pronounced out of danger! She bowed down her head, and, as tears glistened in her eyes, her lips moved, but only One knew the language they breathed.

When Frank was sufficiently recovered, he related his adventures. After he left London, he procured employ as a copyist in an attorney's office. In that situation he failed; for he was continually making blunders. He then became a strolling player, and, being the worst actor in the company, only received a kind of bread and watter salary. On the breaking up of the company, he resolved to enlist as a soldier; but an unconquerable desire to to visit his native place, and once more behold his loved Lucy, seized him, and he travelled two hundred miles on foot for that purpose. The state of his apparel induced him to abandon the latter object, and he merely intended to pass through the village without disgracing her, or wounding her feelings by his woeful appearance.

Some days afterwards, Frank said to Lucy: 'When I contrast what I have done with what you have done, how humiliated I feel! You tried to do what you could do, and have succeeded. I tried to do what I could not do, and have failed, and deservedly so; for my eyes are opened now.'

'Hope for the better,' said Lucy sweetly. 'You have passed through a severe ordeal, but the experience you have gathered will be of priceless value to you hereafter.'

'Ah, Lucy dear, that sun-dial teaches a great lesson. I grumbled at the slow, monotonous traveling of the shadow, without thinking if it went round quicker it would sow there was confusion and disorder in the world. The lesson has been profitless. I now feel that a man should be content with the station he is fitted to fill, and never be tempted from it by any object entirely unsuited to his habits.'

'My dear Frank,' said Lucy, archly, 'you became morbid on the subject of shadows. You interpreted their meaning wrongly; for we all of us have a shadow, and if we only would admit it, perhaps it is one of our best friends.'

When Frank was restored to convalescence, the good rector, one of his earliest friends, procured him the situation of usher in a neighboring school. It was just the situation that suited him, and he rapidly rose to the highest class as a teacher. In due time he married the wise and good Lucy Dixon, and the benevolent rector and his lady lived long enough to see him head master of the very grammar-school in which he had been educated, which was one of the most richly endowed and flourishing in England.

So much for people doing what they can do, and continuing to do it, and for those who try to do what they cannot do, and, of course, fail, and a consequently severely punished for their temerity.

The following correspondence is said to have taken place between a New Haven merchant and one of his customers:

'Sir—Your account has been standing for two years; I must have it settled immediately.'

To which in reply:

'Sir—Things usually do settle by standing; I regret that my account is an exception. If it has been standing too long, suppose you let it run a little.'

☞ A wag, observing on the door of a house, the names of two physicians, remarked that it put him in mind of a double-barreled gun, for, if one missed, the other would be sure to kill.

☞ 'Will you take something?' said a teetotaller to a friend while standing near a tavern. 'I don't care if I do,' was the reply. 'Well,' said the teetotaller, 'let's take a walk.'

☞ As two children were playing together, one—little Jane—got angry, and pouted. Jonny said to her: 'Look out, Jane, or I'll take a seat up there on your lips.' 'Then,' replied Jane, quite cured of her pouts, 'I'll laugh and you'll fall off.'

☞ When you are whistling in a printing office, and they say 'louder,' don't you do it.

Mrs. Snow's Literary Husband.

Yes, I'm Mrs Peter Snow, an editor's wife. I well remember the day when Mr. Snow asked me to be his. I confess I like Mr Snow, and thinking it would be a very fine thing to be the wife of an editor, I said "yes" as prettily as I knew how, and I became Mrs Snow. I have seen ten years of married life, and I find my husband to be an amiable, good natured man. He always spends his evenings at home, and is in that respect a model man; but he always brings a pile of exchanges which is limited only by the length of his arms, and reads while I patch the knees and elbows of our boy's pantaloons and coat. After we have had a quaker meeting of an hour's length, I break the silence by asking:

'Mr. Snow, did you order that coal I spoke to you about?'

'What did you say, my dear,' he asks after a few minutes silence.

'Did you order that coal I spoke to you about?'

'Indeed, my dear, I'm sorry; but I forgot all about it. It shall come to-morrow.'

Another hour's silence which is relieved by the baby's crying; and rather liking to hear a noise of some sort, I make no effort to quiet him.

'My dear,' says Mr. S., after he has cried a minute or so, 'hadn't you better give the baby some catnip tea to quiet it. He troubles me,'

The baby is still, another hour passes without a breath of noise. Becoming tired of silence, I take a lamp and retire for the night leaving Mr. S. so engaged with his papers that he does not see me leave the room.

Towards midnight he comes to bed, and just as he has fallen to sleep the baby takes a notion to cry again. I rise as quietly as possible, and try to still him. While I am walking the room with a small Snow in my arms, our next—a boy of three years—begins to scream at the top of his lungs. What can I do? There is no other course but to call Mr. S., so I call out:

'Mr. Snow! Mr Snow!'

The third time he starts up and replies:

'What, Tim, more copy?'

As though I was Tim, that little imp running about his office. I reply rather tartly.

'No I don't want any more copy—I've had enough of that to last me my life time I want you to see what Tommy is crying about.'

Mr. Snow makes a desperate effort to rouse himself, as Tommy stops to take a breath, he falls asleep again, leaving me pace the room in as much vexation as I can comfortably contain.

The next morning at breakfast, when I give Mr. Snow an account of last night's adventure he replies:

'Indeed, my dear, I am sorry the children troubled you.'

This is always the way. If I complain it is 'indeed, my dear, I am very sorry.'

But should the very same thing occur the subsequent night, directly before his eyes, very likely he would not see or know anything about it unless it happened to interrupt his train of ideas. Then he would propose catnip tea; but before I can get it into the infant's stomach he will be far away in the realms of thought, leaving me not a little vexed at his apparent stupidity.

Mr. Snow knows the nature of every paper published in England and the United States, but he can't for the life of him tell the names of his children. He knows just the age of every American journal, but e dont know the age of his own baby. He knows how every contributor looks, but I don't believe he can tell whether my eyes are black or blue. The world says Mr. Snow is getting rich. All I know is he gives me money to clothe and feed our boys, and that too without complaint of poverty. I hope the world is right, in opinion, and when I am fully satisfied that it is, I shall advise him to resign his editorial honors, and spend a few months in becoming acquainted with his wife and children. The little ones will feel much flattered at making the acquaintance of so literary a gentleman.

☞ The State of Wisconsin has no Lunatic Asylum.

☞ At Hanover, a young lady was a few days ago fined one thaler, for, in the words of the judgment, "having worn so large a crinoline as entirely to fill the foot pavement and impede circulation."

☞ There are now in the Chicago jail eight persons awaiting trial for murder.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

FOOTSTEPS.

There is music in the footsteps
Of children, at their play,
A song, of glad heart freedom
Bright, as a summer's day.
And as the sound floats round us
With cheerful joy enwove,
We almost see the glitter
Of the shining land of love.

There is music in footstep
That glideth round the bed
Where on the fevered pillow
Reclines the aching head,
Infancy, smiles in slumber
Peace, seals manhood's, weary eyes
For in a mothers footsteps
Lurks a song of Paradise.

There is music in the footstep
For which we've waited long,
Sweet, as low voices breathing
Some half remembered song,
Rippling lips, hidden fountains,
Thrilling the spirits cords,
And to the chilled heart bounding
Like whispered loving words.

There is music in the footstep
When at the twilight hour,
It rings amid the silence,
A note of mystic power,
That sends the crimson glowing
To the cheek, whence it had flown
For the sound is nearer growing
And we know the loved have come

Hast ever waited, longing
For the absent one to come;
When the light was dimly burning;
And the hours sped slowly on:
Did'st lay the book down softly,
And turn with anxious start;
Uncertain which you counted;
Steps, or beating of your heart

I remember when I listened
By the window, when the gloom
Seemed with wearied phantoms propelled,
And darkness filled the room,
Yet still I watching lingered
While nights ever wakeful bird,
Lulled his sore, as if he wondered
If twas fathers step I heard,

I remember when I listened
In the starlight at the gate,
Listened for a brothers footstep
Fearful, that he came so late,
And his firm tread has an echo
Sweeter than aeolian Lyre
When southern winds are sweeping
O'er its trembling golden wire

There is music in the footstep
Lingering yet beside my own,
And glad I hear them bounding
Across the floor of home;
But when to them I listen
Alone at close of day,
With them seems blent the echo
Of the steps across the way

H H S

Over 2,400 Persons Smothered in Southern Kansas.

It is our painful duty as a public journalist, to record the most heart rending and terrible occurrence that has ever came under our notice. That our readers may understand the nature of this terrible catastrophy, we give the details:

Last winter there existed in the county of Johnson, Southern Kansas, two populous cities, Oxford and Shawnee. At the December election, these places polled a vote of 2,400, or about 1200 each: Oxford the greatest number. On the 2d inst an election was held in Kansas, the result of which has already been kindly forwarded to Mr. James Buchanan, an anti-credit and anti paper money advocate who lives at Washington. At the election these formerly populous cities cast an aggregate vote of 159, Oxford polling 29, and Shawnee 121. Of these votes 60 were proposition rejected.

We were at first at a loss to know what caused this great falling off, but a strange foreboding of something dreadful, together with an anxiety to lay before our readers the earliest intelligence, impelled us to dispatch special messengers to Oxford and Shawnee, to ascertain if our presentiment was true. The couriers returned late last night, and our worst fears are conformed.

It is well known that Oxford and Shawnee contain but seven houses each. The inhabitents are advocates of the doctrine of Phalansterry. In order to accomodate the large population within their limits, which as their vote shows, amounted to over 7,000 each, their inhabitents were compelled to sleep 1,000 in each bed! Although this custom answered very well during the winter, it was attended with dreadful results in the summer, as the sequel shows. Only 150 inhabitants of those devoted places remain! The rest have every one been smothered to death, and thus paid the penalty of their folly in sleeping 1,000 in a bed!

We trust this lesson will serve as a warning to others, and not follow the unfortunate Oxfordians and Shawnees adopted. Their melancholy fate is horrible to contemplate.

St. Louis, Sept. 4.

The Democrats of the 8th District, Ill., nominated Phillip B. Fouke for Congress, in place of Robert Smith the present member. There were 70 ballots cast.

Prof. W. H. Rarey, the original 'hoss' Tamer and brother of Mr. Rarey of European celebrity, will give an exhibition of his wonderful powers over wild horses in the amphitheatre, during the fair of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association next week.

New Orleans, Sept. 4.

The number of deaths by yellow fever yesterday 77

THE HERALD.

B. L. Baxter, Editor.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1858.

Agricultural Societies.

One week from to-day is the time appointed for the Annual Fair of our Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society.—Within a few weeks will be held our State and County Fairs, and the most of the Agricultural Fairs around us.

It is a time of year when the attention of the entire community is more or less turned to the Agriculture of the country, and to those engaged in its prosecution, or the promotion of its interests.

The results of another year's labor and experiments are thus brought out, computed and compared for mutual profit and mutual information. In order that this may be the more marked, and more productive of results, it is highly important that the largest practicable amount and variety of farming product, and mechanism should be brought out for comparison and exhibition at these Fairs.

Very few, we would hope, attend them, or compete for the premiums, merely as a scheme for making money—or value, as the principal good to be derived from them, the amount which they may happen to draw as premiums To the great majority this could never be the case—Like mutual Insurance Companies, all the money received, must come from the members, or stock holders, out of which must first be paid the current expenses of the association, and only the balance can, in any form, be distributed back again to the members It is idle therefore to suppose that in the aggregate, they can receive back again anything in addition, or even the same amount of money which they have thus paid out. Besides almost every one bringing stock or articles upon the ground for exhibition, in doing so put themselves to expense and trouble to very nearly if not quite the amount they hope to receive in return

This is not then by any means, the object or motive which induces the necessary effort to sustain these public fairs.—Those whose most engage in them, and devote the most time and money to their promotion, feel and very well understand that they are pecuniarily and for the time making a sacrifice for the promotion of future and an ultimate good And so it has been and is

As in the matter of rail-roads, which the farming community were disposed for the time to entertain a feeling of strong prejudice, but when built they find to have increased the value of their lands, despite of themselves, some five or ten dollars per acre. So these societies thought at the first to savour too much perhaps of experiment and book-learning, have already been seen and felt to have added immensely to the productiveness and character of agricultural labor throughout the land.

Well, indeed, can every farmer afford to devote the time and money necessary to attend such of these occasions of agricultural jubilee as come legitimately within his reach, for whether he feels it or not, the have already brought to him knowledge and skill with which he could not afford to part at any price.

And yet in proportion to the fullness of the attendance and amount and variety of articles on exhibition, are found to be the interest and advantages of the occasion.

Every farmer then as he values the noble and enobling employment to which he has devoted his days and years, as he would add more to its importance in dignity, and productiveness in results, owes it to himself, and to the community, and more than all, to the common interests of his employment and profession, to see to it that no effort is wanting on his part to render an occasion of the kind now referred to, one of uncommon attractiveness and interest.

To our Northern Lenawee, Union Township Fair, let us hope that not only our agricultural patrons, will themselves come, but that they will also see that their neighbors come along with them, and while thus giving to a society organized and sustained only and solely for their individual benefit and advantage the aid of their countenance and support. that they will at the same time not forget nor omit to bring along liberally also of their stock and implements for entry and exhibition It is not so much the premiums awarded, as it is the large extent of the exhibition that is of advantage to the community at large, and the latter should therefore be sought for, rather than the former.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—Rumor of a horrible affair reached us as we were going to press. One of the leading merchants of this city on last evening, without provocation so far as we learn. assaulted a Mr. D G. Rose, a merchant of St. Louis, with a hammer, completely and litterally knocked in the top of his head Eye-witnesses say that it was the most horrible, unprovoked attack they ever witnessed.—Belleville Adv.

Time is money.

Cranberry Culture.

On Monday last we had the pleasure of visiting the Cranberry farm of our friend L. D. Halstead of this village. His farm is situated in the township of Quincy about six miles from this village in a Southeasterly direction. To those who feel an interest in the cultivation of that delicious fruit, a visit to his farm can but be a matter of interest. Mr H. has for some time paid much attention to this branch of agricultural, and that with great succes and profit to himself He has now about fifteen acres of what might be called dry march, planted with Cranberries, six or seven acres of which are now bearing, and he assures us that his crop will average him one hundred bushels per acre and even more in a favorable season, This may seem like a large story to those unacquinted with the raising of this fruit, but while there, we saw a spot of ground measuring about two rods in length by one in breath, from which had just been gathered, over three bushels of as fine berries as we ever saw. The price which he obtains for this fruit in market, average $3.00 per bushel, while the cost of cultivation is quite small. At first the ground has to be cleared of the shrubs and bushes which generally grow upon the marshes, and this is the gratest expense that is incurred. The plants are then planted in rows about two feet apart one way and one the other.—The best time for transplanting the vines is in the last of October or the first of November, but they will do well when transplanted in the spring. After the ground is prepared, and the vines planted there is no other care necessary until the berries are ready for harvesting.

He tells us that the crop is quite certain, and that unless it is injured by early frost, he rarely fails of obtained a good yield, and besides this, the market is always sure. He never has the least difficulty in finding a ready market for his fruit, and that at prices highly renumerative. In view of these fracts, it seems strange to us that our farmers who have on their farms pieces of land which have always been considered worthless bucause of their being what is usually called marshes, have not paid more attention to this branch of agriculture, By clearing off these marshes and planting them to cranberries, they will not only add materially to the beauty and consequent value of their farms, but will in a short time find that those wet places heretofore given over as useles, are the most productive and valuable parts of their places.

Much of the swamp lands which are now in market at a low price, if properly prepared and planted with Cranberries would in a short time be more productive than much of so called farming lands.

Mr. H. informs us that, although the Cranberry grows naturally in many of the marshes in this State, he obtained his vines from Minnesota, and that the berries from these vines are larger, and the vines more handy than those which are natural to this country.

He has the vines for sale at reasonable prices, and will readily give any information in his possession to those who may desire, it. We hope our farmers will give their attention to this subject, as we feel assured that they will find it for their interest to turn their attention to the raising of this popular luxury.—Branch Co. Rep.

A City in the Air—The Mirage on the Plains.

Travellers across the plains assert that they have seen on Noble's Pass Route, about thirty miles this side of the Humboldt river, the most wonderful phenomenon that they think could ever have been witnessed in any part of the world It is no less than a city in the air—complete in every aspect and concomitant. It is seen in the early morning, and stands self poised above the dead level of a broad and airy plain, which is covered with a large white dust that rises in clouds at the touch of a horse's hoof, or ascends in magnificent spiral towers in the breath of the little whirlwinds that are occasioned by the intense heat. The line of the base of the city forms an angle with the line of the plain, so that the city seems to lean over the earth, and a full view of its streets and buildings is presented. All the streets seem to tend to one point where they concentrate, and whence of course they diverge. The architectural beauty and splender of this city in the air are of a character unequalled by anything upon the face of the earth. The buildings rise one after an other, in proud, palatial grandure, and their tall towers glitter like molten silver in the sun. Clean and perfect was the work of the mysterious architect who framed those marble-looking wonders of the air. The apparent extent of the city is about six miles in circumference, and the nearest approximation of the base to the earth is a distance of about fifty feet. Not having seen this phenomenon, of course we cannot enter into any minute description of it; we can only give the general idea which we have presented We are assured that the illusion is perfect—nothing wanting whatever to fill up the picture—a magnificent city, silent as the bottom of the sea; but glittering in the full life of the sunshine, and self sustained in the heavens.—Marysville, California Express.

General News.

Affairs at Quarantine.

New York, Sept. 4.

There was little or no excitement about the Quarantine last night. The U. S frigate Sabine was towed down from the city and anchored abrest of the Government Stores, to protect them and the shipping should the threatened attack be made on them by the mob. The walls of the Quarantine were strictly guarded.

Tompkins was arrested at 1 o'clock last night and brought to the city.

The whole number of buildings burned by the mob is 32. There was no further disturbence in the infected district, though it had been threatened to burn the dwellings therein last night. One hundred policemen, well armed with rifles, and having a six-pounder, remained on the premises all night.

Warrents were issued yesterday for the arrest of the prominent actors in the outrages, including Ray Tomkins, the reputed ring leader.

The stevedore Matthews, who was shot in the first attack on Wednesday evening will not live. Many of those infected patients who were driven from the Hospital, are said to be scattered about this city and Brooklyn. One smallpox patient was lying in the City Hall park all of yesterday afternoon, the police refusing to touch him. Mayor Powell of Brooklyn has appointed a police force of 100 to patrol the wharves, and prevent the landing of any more of the Hospital fugitives.

Carroll, livery stable keeper, Miller, lager bier saloon keeper, and C. F. DeForest, justice of the peace, have been arrested; and there are some 150 more warrents out for various parties engaged in the mobbing.

Yesterday, the Common Council of Jersey City entertained Capt. Hudson and the other officers of the Niagara, at a grand banquet in the depot of the N. J. R. R.

Caroline Vanduser was arrested in this city, on a charge of having, 3 years ago, at Troy, murdered the infant child of Mrs. Jane Howard, who was then living in the same house with her. Cause, jealousy.

The steamship Ariel sailed to-day for Southampton and Bremen, with 180 passengers and $387,000 in specie.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4

Col. Rector has been instructed by the Secretary of the Interior to proceed to Florida, and, as the season will permit, to take measures for the removal of the Seminoles, who are now in the everglades. The Secretary of War is desirous that this shall be done under the superintendence of Col. Rector alone, without Florida or the citizens of Florida.—White flags will be distributed through swamps for the purpose of calling them together to a counsil. No military force will be employed. The Indians will be removed to Arkansas, where Billy Bowlegs and his band are transferred, should the negotiations be successful.

St. Johns, N. F. Sept. 4.

The steamship Fulton, from Havre, via Southampton, at 3-10 P. M. Aug 25th was intercepted off Cape Race on Friday afternoon, but owing to unfavorable weather our dispatches did not reach here till a late hour last night.

The steamship Indian, from Quebec Aug. 14, arrived at Liverpool on the 24th.

Queen Victoria continued her progress in Germany. She was received everywhere with the most extravagant demonstrations of respect and good will, Preparations were making for a royal visit to Leeds upon the return of the Queen from Germany. The Agamemnon had been on fire, but fortunately sustained little damage. There had been a collision between two excursion trains on the Oxford and Wolverhamton Railway. The consequences were dreadful. Several persons were killed, and a great many frightfully injured. Accounts of the harvest in Great Britian are very satisfactory. The late rains caused some delay in gathering, but no permanent injury was done.

The treaty concluded with the Chinese does not confer on the allies the rigt of having permanent diplomatics at Pekin but their Consul Generals, resident at Tien, will be admitted to direct intercourse with the Cabinet of the Emperor A telegram from St Petersburg says the Chinese Empire is to be open to foreigners, and the left bank of the Ameor River henceforth to be the boundary between Russia and China. Baron Gros, the French Plenipotentiary, is expected home fro China in October.

Messrs Chandomer, Duncan & Kibb, of Liverpool, had suspended, but their estate will cover their liabilities.

The Emperor Alexander of Russia will arrive at Warsaw on the 4th of September, when the 35,000 troops who have been concentrated there, will be reviewed by him. Grand Dukes Nicholas and Michael will go to Caucasus to take part in the military operations against Schamyl.

The French Ambassador at Constantinople sent a note to the Porte supporting the application of Prince Daniels of Montenegro, who demands of the Turkish government to give up to him the harbor of Spitzen in the Adriatic, which he claims is in Montenegrian Territory

New York, Sept 6.

The U. S. brig Dolphin, Lieut. Maffit commanding arrived here this morning from Key West. She is on her way to Boston, and put in here to send Townsend, Captain of the slaver Echo, to Charleston for his trial. The D is to be fitted out at Boston for the Paraguay expediton.

New York, Sept. 6.

The steam frigate Niagara, says the Herald's Washington correspondent, has been ordered to proceed immediately to Charleston, to carry back the Africans taken on the slaver Echo. Com. Chauncey will command her.

New York, Sept 6.

Judge Nelson of the U. S. Circuit Court to-day delivered an opinion sustaining the legality of the city ordinance prohibiting the New Haven Railroad Company from using steam below 42d street. The officers of the Gorgon and Iudus took their leave of the Mayor today, and go to Halifax in the Canada, from Boston on Wednesday. Nathaniel H. Johnson, of Harford, and one of the firm of W. H. Lee & Co. of this city, was accidentally killed by a fall, at Yonkers, last evening. The Quarantine war has assumed no new feature. Further arrests have been made, including Thos. Garrett, a notorious ring-leader, from whom bail was refused. He was subsequently brought before Judge Davies of the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus. The case was argued on both sides, and the Judge reserved his decision until to-morrow. Gen. Superintendent Tallmadge was suspended to-day, by the Police Commissioners, for refusing to obey an order from Gen. Nye, to send policemen to Quarantine, on the night of the second fire. At a meeting of the Health Commissioners, Mr. Bean, the boss stevedore at Quarantine, applied for a hundred rifles or muskets to arm his men with. The Mayor promised to lay the matter before the Commissioners.—The Board transacted no business, however, for want of a quorum. The steamship Moses Taylor took out 450 passengers for California. The Bank Statement shows a decrease in loans of $198,584—increase in specie $231,656—increase in in circulation $281,403—decrease in deposits $580,367—increase in undrawn deposits $214,459. Total of specie $28,048,662.

New York, Sept. 7.

The first public meeting in this designed to secure a union of the Republican and American parties on practical issues and Anti-Administration grounds, was held last night, about 600 persons were present. The Chair was taken by Robert H. McCurdy, the principal Speaker was Wm. M. Everett of this city, An address was also made by the Hon. Mr Broom of Pa, and a few remarks were addressed to the meeting by Mr. Joseph Haxie. A series of resolutions drafted for the occasion, were adopted unanimously.

The 4th story of the store of I J. & G. Boker 31 front street, gave way last evening, under the great weight of flour. The 3d and 2d floors were carried with it and the building was almost totally destroyed.

It is reported that Gov. King has gone to Albany and will proclaim the County of Richmond in a state of insurrection, and to call out the military for the defence of the Quarantine establishment, to direct the authorities to build, and order the Attorney-General to prosecute the rioters, and to sue the County of Richmond for damages.

Affairs at Staten Island are getting very exciting. The Castleton Board of Health have passed resolutions to station a force of fifty men at the Quarantine gates to prevent any one passing in or out.

A collision between a freight and passenger train occurred at Fiskill on the Hudson River Road this morning. Two freight cars were demolished, and the Engineer of the freight train and two passengers on the other train were killed, and several others were wounded.

Oswego, Sept. 6.

Mr Everett, Engineer of the Atlantic Telegraph arrived at Oswego this evening. He was received by an immense concourse of citizens and escorted to the residence of his mother by military. He gives an informal reception this evening. To-morrow an address will be presented him by our leading business men and a more formal reception will be had at the city hall. A grand dinner will be given him in the evening.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.

A man named Osborne was shot dead near Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, yesterday, by two brothers named Daniel and David Fink. Some dispute occurred between the three. Osborne was carrying water from the well belonging to the Finks, at the time. Both of them have been arrested.

MARRIED.

In Manchester, September 7th, by Rev. J. B. Gilman, Mr. GILES O. VANDERGRIFF of Adrian, to Miss MARY E. MORGAN of Manchester.

Special Notices.

WANTED.

A Good Jour Shoe Maker. Enquirer at the Boot and Shoe Store of J. W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, Aug., 24th.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,

22 CLIFF STREET, NEW YORK.

MANUFACTURER OF

Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, Nursing Bottles, Etc.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&eo408m3

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS. DeMOTT

Tecumseh, May 1858.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O. March 8, '58.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK.—Dear Sir; For the benefit of suffering humanity permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for Indigestion and Liver Complaint; I have suffered from the above mentioned diseases for five years and have tried a great many physicians, but all to no purpose, I was advised by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. I was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your office and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and one box of Pills to commence with, and bless the day I found your valuable medicines, for I am enjoying good health at present, and feel confident that the cure is permanent. Let others buy and take what they please, as for me, give me the Blood Purifier and Pills for all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs I take no other medicines and have not for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, T. V. DUBOIS.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 21st of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Schrafula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rhematism, Chronic or Inflamitary.

Price invariable $1.00 per bottle

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

New Advertisements.

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of, THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above institution as Chief Physician and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhilation.—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the improvement I do not advise the use of Medical Inhilation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to well known to need any culogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic and the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration I have consented to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines the same as used in the Institution prepared to suit each individual case. Inhaling Vapors Medical Instruments, &c., &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United states or the Canadas. Terms—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use. Inhaling Vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6 to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month. If the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment Patients by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letter for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No. 5 Broadway cor Twelfth St. N Y

P S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected

1y.no15m6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Saturday the Fourth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Abram Hale, deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Susana Hale widow of deceased, praying that letters of Administration, on the estate of said deceased may be granted to herself and Charles Hale, heir at law of deceased, or to some other suitable person, for reasons there in set forth

Thereupon It is ordered, That Monday, the fourth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper published and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN Judge of Probate

(A True Copy)

To-Days Advertisements.

TRIAL OF Threshing Machines

At the Northern Lenawee Agricultural to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday Sept 16th, 1858. There will be a trial of Threshing Machines for Thirty Minutes each, for purse of Seventy Five Dollars or over, to be awarded by a Committee of Judges to be appointed by the Committee of Arrangements for said Fair, to the Machine which shall be found to excel; reference being had to the amount and character of the work done previous to said trial.

Threshing Machines generally are invited to compete Entrance fee $2 Threshing to commence at 10 o'clock A. M.

B. L. BAXTER, Sec.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1st, 1858

THE

NORTHERN LENAWEE

Agricultural Society

Will hold its Third annual Fair In Kneeland's Grove on the east side of the Village of Tecumseh, on Thursday Sept., 16th, 1858,

Commencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Entries can be made with the Secretary up to time before the Fair, and no entries will be received after September 26th, at 10 o'clock A. M.

☞ It is expected that this Fair will be one of unusual interest. It is therefore confidently anticipated that the Farmers generally will not only attend themselves but come well supplied with favorable specimens of their products

A committee of arrangements will be on the ground, and attend to locating stock and articles for exhibition.

Membership Cards may be had at the office of the Secretary on the Fair Ground

B. L. BAXTER, Secretary. M. A. PATTERSON, President

See Pamphlets for 1858.

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on GLASS, IRON, LEATHER, PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times."

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th 405

Novel and Extraordinary.

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce a new programme of premiums for the season 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a splendid Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, Gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality unsurpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums amounting to $1, for a club of $10, and Premiums amounting to $11, for a club of $100, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to be paid for postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, or we wish to arrange with some person in every Post Office, to act as local agent or correspondent, who will be richly paid for his services. Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscribers at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO.,

400 465 Broadway, N. Y.

WATER LIME

Ames & Morrison's superior article. For directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by

TIMOTHY SEAD.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

BLANKS of all kinds for sale at the office of

J. E. Hall

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,

IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

Space	Three months	Six months	One year
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	8	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines) three weeks			1 00
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $4 a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Mason—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 37	P. M.
Going South,	6 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

NEW GOODS.—That Cash or Ready Pay fellow—A. B. Ward, has been to New York, purchased a large stock of Fall and Winter Goods, and returned to sell them 'cheap.' He is the first in town, as usual. Look out for his advertisements.

☞ A splendid monument has just been completed at the Marble Factory of Emerson & Stocking. We venture to say, it is the largest and most beautiful piece of work in the County. It weighs three tons, and cost $175. Call and see it.

Our Union School

We are happy to give notice that a music teacher has been employed, and that a fine opportunity is now offered to all attending the school, who may wish to take lessons.—Daily instructions will be given on the Piano, Melodeon, or Organ if desired, at as low prices as it can be had in any similar school, and without any expense to those whose children do not take music lessons. We know of no school at present, in the state, which offers so good advantages in the department of music.

We are often enquired of by our patrons from abroad, in regard to the facilities here for obtaining board, and the price &c. Board may be had in private families at, from twelve shillings to two dollars and a half a week, and almost any number of rooms may be rented by those who wish to board them selves, at from one and sixpense to three shillings per week. There are many families now who wish to take boarders, and those coming to town to attend school should apply to the Principal for board at once, as he can always direct them to some good place.

In regard to tuition we would say that it is not the policy of our school to charge a merely nominal rate for a few of the lower branches of study, and then charge extra for all the higher branches thus making out in reality, a very high tuition. It will never cost any more to attend the school than the prices which have been advertised.

And with our schools organized and conducted as they now are, with buildings every way convenient and adapted to school purposes, and with teachers so competent, as we believe and devoted to their charge. We think that those who are under the necessity of sending their children from home for instruction can not do better than to send them to the Tecumseh School.

☞ The head clerk of a large mercantile house was bragging rather large of the amount of business done by his firm.

"You may judge of its extent," said he when I tell you that the quills for our correspondence, only cost $2,00 a year."

"Pooh!" said the clerk of another house, who was sitting by, "what is that to our correspondence, when I save four thousand dollars a year in ink, by merely omitting to dot the i's."

An Excellent Weekly Paper.

We have been favored with an advance copy of this week's Boston Olice Branch, whose advertisement appears in our columns. This well known weekly, which was always popular, is now to have the benefit of such changes and improvements as must put it in they very front rank of the literary papers of the country. Its editors and publishers will be, Mr. Henry Upham, of the firm of Upham, Ford & Olmstead, who has already signalized his fitness for the post, and Mr. George L Dix, whose name now first appears, although his friends have recognized his hand in the columns for some time. Mr. Dix has long been with the house of Phillips, Samoson & Co., a situation which he still retains, and which keeps him in extended relations with the press of the United States. An able corps of contributors, among whom we observe many of our first class literary names, will give their services to the preparation of every number.

We do not see, therefore, why Boston should now to produce a literary paper for family reading, which will vie with those of any other city. All departments of interest from commerce and agricultural to the story and fiction, seem to be duly provided for, and talent, enterprise and capital are embarked in the undertsking. We wish it success. The first number under the new arrangement—a quarto of very neat appearence—may be had on Tuesday at the periodical depots.—Boston Journal

The State Fair

The Detroit Tribune of Monday says, the active preparations are already being made to get ready for the State Fair.—Some of the buildings are already built, and several are under process of erection The buildings are on a scale which has never been attempted before in this State In the center is a grand ampitheatre of one hundred feet in diambter, already built. This is to be surrounded with four tiers of seats for the accommodation of the visitors who may desire to see the beautiful animals passed upon by the Judges as they are led into the ring and put thorugh paces, and submitted to criticism. In the centre of the ring will be a pavilion for the accommodation of the Judges, and in the upper story of which will be placed a band of music, so that the ear as well as the eye may be pleased. In front and forming one side of the ampitheatre, will be placed the President's stand, from which he can supervise and direct the management of the exhibition at all parts of the grounds. Beneath the President's stand and forming one of the points, is the Secretary's office. The whole arrangement of the ampitheatre and President's stand is a new feature in our exhibition, which will add immensely to the interest of the exhibition, and is calculated to aid the despatch of business.

The Tribune states that Mr. R. N. Rice, of the Michigan Central Railroad, and Mr. Campbell, of the Southern Road and Mr. Muir, of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, have agreed to convey stock and all other articles for the exhibition, free, and visitors at half price.—This is characteristic of these gentlemen and we have no doubt but that thousands will avail themselvs of this opportunity to visit the fair, who would not otherwise have attended.

The Wheat Crop

For the past three weeks we have asserted that the crops in this State were not as bad as represented, and we think the result will bear us out in the assertion. We are receiving more wheat this month than we have ever received in the same month before, which would not be the case were the crop a short one. We do not mean to say that the crop is extremely large, but we do mean to say that it is an average, as the figures will show.—One of the largest crops we have had was in 1853, the number of acres sown with wheat that year was 473 571, from which was harvested 7,029,632. an average of 14¾ bushels to the acre. The nearest approach to that crop was last year. Now, if we take into consideration the fact that almost every farmer of any note had quite a quantity of wheat over from last year's which is estimated at 8 bushels to the acre, will give us full as much wheat as we have had any year since 1853 up to last year. Not only are we receiving large quantities of grain, but every other place of importance is receiving as much or more in proportion than we are. The receipts at Chicago this year to the present time exceed those of last year by over four millions of bushels, and the shipments for the same time by over five millions of bushels. There has been over, 60,000 more barrels of flour shipped this season from Milwaukee than last, the shipment of wheat exceed those of last year by more than a million of bushels. At Michigan city grain is coming in very fast, and also in all the interior towns. At Buffalo everything is full, and in New York city the amount of grain in store at present is only 300,000 bushels less than there was in store last season at the close of navigation. The accounts from Europe say the crop of 1858 will not be as large as that of 1857, but in 1857 the crop was above an average, and the probabilities are that the this years is at least an average. In our own country we have had some bad accounts from one of the best grain States (Illinois) in the Union, and some not altogether favorable from Iowa, but reports from the northern part of the last named State are that the crop is large, and also that there is a large amount of old wheat in the country. With the surplus from last year, and the crop of this year making an average crop, upon what can we base the supposition of a scarcity.

Webster's Dictionary for Schools

OFFICE OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.
Lansing Mich., Aug 26, 1858

MR EDITOR:—Being very frequently inquired of in relation to the privileges of school districts in the purchase of this work, I wish through your columns to be permitted to say, school districts that omitted to vote a tax of $4.00 at their last annual school meeting to buy a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, may vote said tax at the approaching school meeting, to be held the last Monday of September, and certify the same to the Supervisor of the township. With the early receipt of the Supervisor's order at this office, the Dictionary may be forwarded in season for the use of schools the ensuing winter.

IRA MAYHEW,
Superintendent.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A Gomes & Co

Tecumseh, October 9 1858.

Wheat	95@100
Flour	5 00@5 30
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 00
Barley	40@50
Corn	50
Oats	30@35
Clover seed
Beans	50@60
Potatoes new	30@37
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	12
Tallow	8@10
Lard	8
Eggs	6
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	1 00@1,500
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 00
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8@10
Sheep pelts	40@60
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	6 00@ a 7 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

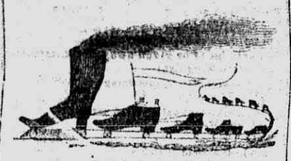
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	5 30	P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40	"
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	6 00	"
Arrive at		"	12 05	6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45	"
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45	"
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50	10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00	"
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30	"
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 25	"
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	3 35	"
Arrive at		"	12 10	7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40	"
Arrive at			12 40	10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30	"
Arrive at	7 36	"	3 28	"
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 25	"

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany, and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossings with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads; at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt

June 10, 1858

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 23th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods. ☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE REESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none. for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted. JEROME ALLEN

Tecumseh, May 18th 1857

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Brass Band,

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON, D. D MARSHALL,
DELOS LEARNARD, WILLIAM GRAY,
D. L. CHILES, JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BEERS, ALFRED JAMES,
O. G. ADAMS. GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 391y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

Mrs. H. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh Oct. 16th. 360m5

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. L. Hails' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the most shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and he pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept., 1st 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT,)

JACKSON, MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R P. ANGIER, PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothacary's Hall, Up Stairs.

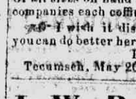
Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.



Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 395y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, April 5th

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS,

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH MICHIGAN,

is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " $800,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y. $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms

May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscriber announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in A style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept. 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none. Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of E. D. SIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the Above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m4

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M A Patterson, C A Storey, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 353tf

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity

Wm. Brown, Proprietor
R. T. MERRILL, Agent

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

Miscellaneous.

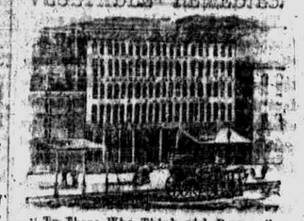
DR. ROBACK'S

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

THE GREAT

SCANDINAVIAN

VEGETABLE REMEDIES.



"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class, who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Inarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actual effects were compared by ingenious men, with the distinguished Physician's statements, and it was found that every stage of the progress of cure, was precisely as he had described it.—The result was that the mind of the country became interested, and that persons of the highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronized the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious Swede, to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age

The Blood Purifier and Pills.

are now universally recommended by well informed and candid persons, as an immediate cure for

Indigestion,

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramps in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleepiness, Nightmare,

General Debility,

Nervous Tremore, Fainting Fits, Epilepsy, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples on the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Mercurial Sores, Glandular swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Virtus' Dance, Nervous Twitchings,

Female Complaints,

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS,

Of distinguished men in every profession, warmly recommending the preparations may be seen at Dr. Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal proprieties which Physicians have heretofore tried in vain to combine in one preparation. They relieve the bowels, purify the bile and blood, and invigorates the constitution, at one and the same time. To this fact all who try them will subscribe. The absence of mincrals, and of every stupifying drug, renders them harmless, even to the most delicate female, or the feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper than any other Pills, for it takes a less number of them to produce a better effect.

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1, per bottle or $5, per dozen. Of the Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or 5 boxes for $1

☞ Read Dr Robsck's Special Notices and Certificates published in a conspicuous part of this Paper from time to time. Dr. Roback's Medical Almanac and Family adviser, containing a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information can be had gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Rooms, No. 6 east Fourth st, 3d Building from Main street, Cincinati, O. Labatory in Hammond street.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian, R. BROWNELL, Clinton
G. T. HAWKINS Medina F. N. BUTLER, Morenci.
R. E. BIRD Clayton, W. H. JOHNSON, Hudson
And by Druggists and Merchants generally

Tecumseh, Jan. 28 1858. 376m

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches 18k cases,	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
300 Parlor 7 Stop Organs,	10 00
500 Cameo Set Ear Drops and Pins,	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencils cases with Gold Pens,	5 00
5000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	3 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 50
2500 Ladies Gold Pens with Cases and Holders	1 50
4000 Gold Rings, (Gallery),	1 00
2000 Gents, Gold Rings,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
3500 Miguet do	1 50
3500 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleave Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
80,000 Ladies' Gilt Edged Card Cases,	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins	2 00
5000 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books &c &c, not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $20.

Evans' new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores.

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above.

N B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country

Any book published in the United States, the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included, on receipt of Publisher's price.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address

Send for a Catalogue. Address,

G. G EVANS, Publisher

405m8] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at

THIS OFFICE.

AGRICULTURAL.

Draining Prevents Injury from Drouth.

That dreaning "deepens the soil," "increases the effect of manures" and "lengthens the season," of working the land, we have already shown; the fact that it "prevents the injurious effects of drouth," however seeming a paradox, remains to be accounted for.

We all know that a deep and mellow soil retains moisture much better than a shallow and hard one. "Water is held in the soil between the minute particles of earth. If these particles be pressed together compactly, there is no space left between them for water." Compact subsoils are but little permeable to water; compared with the same when broken up, pulverized, and mellowed. The one is porous and drinks in moisture like a sponge; the other absorbs it in but small quantities and readily parts with the same on the application of heat. The one takes it from the air; which passes freely through it; the other imperviously to the air, or any slightly powerful influences remains unchanged. Undrained soils, as we have shown, become compact after heavy rains, by the evaporation of the water with which they are saturated; drained soils, on the contrary, become more porous from the filteration of the same amount of moisture into the drains below.

Draining prevents injury from drouth, by giving a better growth to plants in the early summer. Seed sown on any soil containing stagnant water, sends no roots below that water-line, but may for a while grow well from roots near the surface.—But let drouth come, the water-line sinks rapidly, the roots having no depth to seek moisture below,' are parched and burned, and without rain the crop is irreparably injured. On a drained and deepened soil the roots go down without obstruction, and are thus prepared to withstand the effect of the long continued dry weather so often experieuced. That they will do so, a thousand facts in the experience of the farmer will prove to him that observe them.

If it be granted, as we think it must be, that draining deepens and mellows the soil, it follows that draining prevents drouth from affecting injurious ly the growth of plants. In 1854, an excessively dry sea on, Professor Hin of Massachusetts gathered a mass of testimony in regard to its effects on the crops, and the best means of preventing injury to the same. The returns came back, as with one voice, in favor of deepening and mellowing and frequent bultur, in the case of hoed crops. "The drouth affected deep plowed lands very little: on those that were faithfully subsoiled, the corn leaves did not roll at all, while on those that were shallow plowed, the corn crop suffered much, and other crops were seriously affected." A case has been stated, where a crop of beans were planted, without a shower of fifteen minutes duration; or supply of water from any source, save from the dews of heaven, and the moisture from beneath. At the same time, in fields adjacent, vegetation was parched and crisped, making no growth whatever from lack of moisture.—Country Gentleman.

☞ The Louisville Courier pays the following tribute to the occupation of the farmes: "If a young man wants to engage in business that will insure him in middle life, the greatest amount of leisure time, there is nothing more sure than farming. If he wants to engage in a healthy occupation, let him till the soil. In short if he would be independent, let him get a spot of earth to keep within his means, to shun the lawyers: be temperate, to avoid the doctor, be honest that he may have a clear conscience; improve the soil, so as to leave the world better than he found it; and then if he cannot live happily and die content, there is no hope for him.

☞ Let the society thou frequentest belike a company of bees gathered together to make honey, and not of wasps, which do nothing but hum, devour, and sting.

☞ It is stated as a fact, that, while an Albany widow was praying with great fervency, "O thou knowest the desire of my heart," a brother responded in broad accents, A man.

☞ From Utah the mail of July 31 has arrived at Leavenworth. Salt Lake City was quiet, the army being occupied with preparations for winter.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date October 8th 1857 made by Laurence Herrington to Jacob Cheever Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Q of Mortgages on pages 399 and 400, October 12th 1857, at 11 o'clock A. M. and on which mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars; and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given that the land mentioned mortgage described to wit: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township six south of range five east in Michigan except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Cheever will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the County House in the City of Adrian.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys
JACOB CHEEVER, Jr. Mortgagee
April 19th, 1858. 388w13.

Mortgage Sa e

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Billsbearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction so the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee
Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394l13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E. Merrict to William H. Merritt, dated April 22nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 1st 1858 393w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bear ng date the twenty first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in Liber W of Mortgages on Folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 12th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber I of Mortgages on folio 726, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same Notice is therfore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute the Mortgaged premises described therein to wit. All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Eight (8) seven (7) eight (8) & 68 (original plat of said Village) will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the twenty-fourth day of September, A. D 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.
Dated June 15th 1858 Assignee.

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, I shall sell at public Vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed, viz All that tract or parcel of land situat in the township of Riga, in the County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres of land more or less or so much thereof may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale

BENJAMIN DEMUTH.
Tecumseh June 10th. 1858 Administrator.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22nd 1856 in liber V of mortgages folios 721 and 722, and 723 Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 18th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee
Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated June 15th, 1858. 398w

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County, known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight, all in Town Eight South of Range Two East which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian.

J R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By Jame McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated June 15th 1858. 396w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three, also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten, also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th 1858 399w6

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

Legal Advertisements.

SHERIFF SALE.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated July 5th, 1858 399w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.
Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN. County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Tuesday the Twentieth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Henry Bacon deceased.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified, of Elizabeth A. Bacon and Benjamin L. Baxter, Administratrix and Administrator on the Estate of said deceased for license to sell the real estate of said deceased for the payment of his debts for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a Session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy) 404w4

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B. Hoeg late of Tecumseh in said county, deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY. } Commissioners.
SIRELL C. LEBARON. }
August 2d. 1858. 405w4

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-moddled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m8.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

Drv Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

R. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all.
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept, 24th 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.
80 acres of land near the thie village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
60 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J BIDWELL.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties; a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect

PREPARED BY
W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York. And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED
IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured — It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS. ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PREMIUM.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty Copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do.
50 do	60 00	do.
100 do	50 00	do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops Cuff and Breast Pins Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 5 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40 to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a
High Toned, Useful and Instructive
JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15 " " "	15.00 " "
20 " " "	20.00 " "	and	one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

Medical, &c.

DR. ROBACK'S

BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS.

DISEASE VANQUISHED.

—BY—

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Remedies.

AFTER YEARS OF STUDY AND EXPERIMENT Dr. Roback the eminent Swedish Physician succeeded in producing a medicine from twenty-three different species of mountain herbs of his native land, which acts directly upon the causes of disease in the blood, and by restoring the corrupted fountain of life, to a co dition of health and purit. expels disease from the system wherever it may be located or whatever may be its character Indigestion nervous complaints epicotic fits coughs, consumption in its early stages sore throat bronchitis fever and ague asthma, low spirits, sexual incapacity, feminine weakness, prickling of the skin, symptomatic of paralysis rheumatism neuralgia, tumor cancer, diabetis, lassitude and debility diarrhea and all other disorders of the organs of respiration, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the nerves, or the muscular fiber are unerringly cured by this preparation. It is to the materies morbi or seeds of disease what an alkali is to an acid: it neutralizes them with absolute certainty, while at the same time it regulates the secretions, removes obstructions from the bowels, creates appetite, renews bodily vigor and regenerates every animal function. Such is the nature, such are the effects of Dr Roback's famous Scandinavian Blood Purifier, which if taken in conjunction with his Scandinavian Blood Pills, will not only obliterate the most painful disease, but prevent their recurrence, and lengthen life beyond the ordinary span

In the SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE BLOOD PILLS, Dr. Roback presents the result of twenty years of experience, hard study and experiment as to what a perfect pill should be No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle, or $5 per half dozen; Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five for $1.

PERU, Miami Co. Ind. Aug 4, 1857.

DR. C. W. ROBACK: I have received so much benefit from your scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills that I have thought it my duty and it is no less my inclination to give you a plain statement of my case. I was for years afflicted with that bane of all comfort, and efficiency in business dyspepsia To recapitulate all the so-called remedies which I have used to rid myself of this disease, would indeed make a melancholy catalogue I also consulted with the best physicians I could hear of. I was induced to try your remedies through the persuasions of a friend, and after using them a few days was greatly benefitted, and in a short time less than a month I was entirely and permanently cured. I was also afflicted with the most violent nervous headache, which I suppose was produced by my disordered stomach for when my dyspepsia left me, my headache left with it. I now feel better in every respect than I have for ten years.

Very truly yours, JOHN S. DEMUTH.

From the Rev. Mr. McMULLEN, Pastor of Roberts Chapel: INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5, 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK—Dear Sir: I have used your Blood Purifier for a nervous affection, from which I have suffered much at times. While it is pleasant to the taste, it certainly has a happy effect upon the nerves Please accept my thanks for your kind regards and acts and believe me,

Yours, J. W. T. McMULLEN.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN STEAMBOAT CLERK.

Louisville, June 4, 1857

DEAR DOCTOR: Send me half a dozen boxes of your Pills care of H. G. Curd & Co. so I can get them next trip Six weeks ago nothing could have convinced me that a twenty-five cent box of Pills could have relieved my obstinate chronic constipation, with its attending evils. I told you so when I bought them, but I am bound to own that your Pills fill the contract. Why I have taken as many as six (6) of them at one and other matters sometimes without effect and sometimes with too much effect; but I have no trouble with yours—they are just what I want.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 4, 1857

DR. ROBACK—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with neuralgia or rheumatism for the past year and a half, and having seen your medicine called the Scandinavian Blood Purifier highly recommended by gentlemen with whom I am acquainted I was induced to try it, with whom I am acquainted I was induced to try it, but not before I had used various other medicines — After using two bottles I felt its effect very sensibly and upon using two more, I found myself perfectly cured. You will allow me, therefore, to congratulate you upon making a discovery in medicine which is proving itself to be a worker of such wonders in the diseases of the human family.

GEORGE S. BENNETT.

Local Editor Cincinnati Daily Inquirer.

INDIANAPOLIS Wednesday Sept. 2 1857

DR. C. W. ROBACK Dear Sir: Having been troubled for several years with extreme debility and weakness, so much so that I was unable to attend to my ordinary business at times, and having heard of the wonderful cures that your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Pills were effecting I was induced by a friend to try them.

I have been using the Purifier for the last twelve months and find the medicine fully equal to recommendations. So valuable is it to me that I cannot dispense with the use of it at my advanced age of life—seventy-seven years.

I cheerfully give this information for the benefit of those similarly affected MORRIS MORRIS

The above certificates and many others can be seen at my office by any one at any time. Get one of my Family Medical Almanac, gratis, from my agents

Manufactory Sales-Room and Office, No 6 East Fourth street 3d building from Main street Cincinnati, O

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh

N. BIDWELL Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Clinton.
G. V. HAWKINS Medina F. N. BUTLER Morenci.
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.
Tecumseh, Jan. 23, 1858 376m3

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c., and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate on commands the highest Medical skill of the Age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitious distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value

Address, for Report or treatment Dr. GEORG R. CALHOUN Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors
GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary
396w EZRA D. H FAREWELL, President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remtdies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr Jaynes' Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 89 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean, that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can use service than any single purchaser can In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent., although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying and of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies

REFER BY PERMISSION TO
Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., N. York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake How

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 44. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 16, 1858. WHOLE NO. 409

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

840y1. TECUMSEH, M CH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

840y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H BUTTON,

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

841y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER

HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

840y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, Rail Road and Kilbuck Streets

840y TECUMSEH MICH.

A. P. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT

Warehouse, Rail Road Street

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. E. L. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, S &c.

Brownville . Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

870tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street.

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

390y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINGS.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT.

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office.

393 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, . . Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858 394

The Maiden's Prayer.

BY J. G. WHITTIER.

She rose from her delicious sleep,
And put away her soft brown hair,
And, in a tone as low and deep
As love's first whisper, breathed a prayer;
Her snow-white hands together pressed,
Her blue eyes sheltered in the lid,
The folded linen on her breast
Just swelling with the charms it hid.

And from her long and flowing dress
Escaped a bare and snowy foot,
Whose step upon the earth did press
Like a snow-flake, white and mute;
And then from slumbers, soft and warm,
Like a young spirit fresh from heaven,
She bowed that slight and matchless form,
And humbly prayed to be forgiven.

O, God! if souls unsoiled as these,
Need daily mercy from thy throne—
If she upon her bended knees,
Our holiest and our purest one;
She with a face so clear and bright,
We deem her some stray child of light;
If she with those soft eyes and tears,
Day after day, in her young years,
Must kneel and pray for grace from thee,
What far, far deeper need have we!
How hardly, if she win heaven,
Will our wild errors be forgiven!

'Gentle Words and Loving Smiles.'

The sun may warm the grass of life,
The dew the drooping flower,
And eyes grow dim and watch the flight,
Of Autumn's opening hour;
But words that breathe of kindness,
And smiles we know are true,
Are warmer than the summer time,
And brighter than the dew.

It is not much the the world can give,
With all its subtle art,
And gold and gems are not the things,
To satisfy the heart.
But, Oh! if those who cluster round
The altar of the hearth,
Have gentle words and loving smiles,
How cautiful is earth.

From the Waterville N. Y Times

Singular Discovery.

Some of our readers will remember that several years ago, a man named Walker, while at work on the highway, a few roads below the distillery, lost a crowbar in the following singular manner:

"He was endeavoring to loosen some sharp stones that appeared to be firmly imbedded in the road, between two of which he struck a heavy blow with the point of the bar, to his surprise it slipped from his hands, passed out of his reach into a cavity below. There has long been a tradition that the shary bluffs on either side of the ravine, were connected by a subterranean passage has been used as a means of security and defence in time of danger by the people who constructed it, but what manner of people they were was unknown to this g neration.

The circumstance created considerable excitement at the time, but no serious at tempts were made to recover their missing crowbar, because it would interfere with the highway. But the spot was visited by most of the village savans, and a variety of opinions were ventured upon thouching the subterranean passage, and its probable uses and belongings. At length, however, the circumstance was forgotten, or only occasionly alluded to by the wonder-loving story tellers of the town.

Yesterday afternoon, however, while two boys were at play, about ten rods west of the road and near the margin of the creek, they discovered a hole in the ground nearly large enough to admit the body of a man. It excited their curiosity to such a degree that they thrust long poles into it, but could not touch bottom. They immediately made these circumstances known to three laborers at work near the lower mill. Some lights and rope were soon procured; the hole was enlarged, when two of the men and one of the boys were let down into the cavity

They decended about thirty feet before they struck bottom, when they found themselves in a subterranean passage, running nearly east and west, and about twenty five feet wide. It was built of coarce, unhewn stone, but of a different quality from any known to exist in this vicinty. The stone were laid in a dark and very tenavious cement, and the whole work was very handsomely done.—The floor was nicely hewn limestone, like Eastman's quarry, and were probably brought from it. The day was so far advanced that little was done toward an exploration of this singular work; but discoveries that were made were very important, and may lead to a solution of the mystery. The explorers on going eastward about thirty rods, came upon a large square or court, which was estimated by them to be about fifty feet in diameter. In this court they found the following articles, which will doubtless lead to further discoveries.

Several bundles of arrows and many hundreds of bows of hickory so massive and inflexible that neither of the men could bend them

Sixty-two stands of fire arms, of that description commonly known in military parlance as "blunderblusses," and were in general use in the reign of Louis XIV. of F ance. Their locks showed them to be of French manufacture, as thy bore the impression of the French coat-of-arms Their stocks were much decayed and fell to pieces on the slightest touch The barrels were of brass and covered over with a very thick coat of mingled mould and verdigris.

Eleven rusty and much battered swords were found, without scabbard or mountings of any kind. Their hilts were of eladorately carved bone; but they do not exhibit nice workmanship, and they are totally void of inscribtions of any kind.

An iron bar, supposed to be the one lost by Walker some thirty years ago. It was broken about three inches from the tip. It is 51 inch in length and weighs twenty-three pounds.

Nineteen iron sauce pans, eight copper boilers, and one hundred and ten iron goblets were found distributed about the room in entire disorder, leading one to conclude that some feast or festival had been broken up without "previous notice." In the north east corner of the Court were found two skins, containing parched corn, very dry and hard, but wholly untouched by mould. Under this immence heap of provision, was found a helmet of brass and iron, the front pice of which bore the following lette s in Roman characters.

"D. L. O. S."

"Dark Deeds" of India.

A recent writer gives the following account of someting that fell under his personal notice in India:

Our conversation was here interrupted by a gardner, who presented the Rajah and myself, respectfully, with a nosegay; and who volunteered the information, that some workmen, in digging the foundation for a wine terellis had come opon an old house under the earth, and in it had been found several gold and silver coins.

'Where?' asked the Rajah.

'There!' said the gardner pointing in the direction

We hurried to the spot, and found that the workmen had gone; but sure enough, there were the walls of an apartment, formed of red stone and white marble.

'This quarter of Agra,' said the Rajah to me, 'was formerly inhabited by persons of the highes. ank. Where we are now standing, was, o doubt, once the site of a palace; and hese walls are those of the ty-khana—a vault beneath the dwelling from which the light is excluded In these dark places are usually perpetrated what you English call 'dark deeds.'

I expressed a desire to explore this newly discovered apartment of former days; but the Rajah told me it was then too late, as the workmen had gone; but he promised me that if I would come to him at daylight, on the following morning, he would have great pleasure in gratifying my curiosity.

On the following morning, having spent a very dreamy night, I was carried in my palahquin to the Jatnee Bagh. Such was the name of the Jooteepersad's garden house, in which Lall Singh then resided The Maharajah was dressing. I was confronted by a Sheik with an enormous beard, whose hair was a yard long, and tied up in a peculiar knot on the top of his head, and who politely inquired if I would take coffee. Ere long the Rajah made his appearence, and we went together to the newly-discovered ty-khana, which was now guarded, since gold and silver had been found there. The work men, some twenty in number, came and commenced their labor; that of clearing away the earth in all directions, in order to get to the bottom of the apartment in the ty-khana. This was accomplished in about two hours, and we then stood upon a stone floor in the center of a room about sixteen feet square. In several of the niches were little lamps, such as are burnt on the tombs of Moslems, and a hookah and a pair of marble chairs were found in this subterraneous apartment, of which the sky was now the roof Whilst examining the walls, I observe that upon one side, there was a ledge about six feet high from the floor (and carried up therefrom), and about a foot in width. This ledge, which was of brick and plaster, resembled a hugh man.

☞ A man lost his dog on Washington St. Boston, the other day, and when he whistled it made a fashionably dressed young lady jump about as if she had the St Vitas Dance. Finally she gave a sudden jump forward and the unfortunate dog escaped

ALONE.

Patient and faithful, and tender and true,
Praying and thinking, and working for you—
Fearing all-silently sorrow for years—
Hopefully striving to conquer my fears;
Say, did my patience, my tenderness, truth,
Merit no more than the blight of my youth?

Give me once more my wild energy back,
Give me the hopes that illumined life's track;
Give me the faith that I wasted on you—
Give me the love that I squandered there too—
You cannot; too lightly you cast them aside,
And for you and all others those feelings have died

Yet, though the hopes I cherished are dead,
Though the light from my spirt forever hath fled;
Though 'twas doubting in God, when I doubted in you,
As my standard and type of the real and the true.
O'er the wreck of my life I would never repine,
If the peace I have lost were added to thine.

THE LOST BRIDE.

BY ARTHUR L. MESERVE.

The axe of the woodman had resounded through the deep forestwood of Kentucky, and the wild denizens of the forest as they heard its prolonged echoes, started from the rolling tide of the noble-river, and listened for a moment to the before unheard of noise, and then in affright bounded into the deep forest wild wood, until many a hill and dale was placed between them and the object of their alarm. The sharp report of the rifle had awoke the echoes of the wild-wood glades, and the white wreath of smoke that floated upward through the leafy boughs of the forest trees, telling the fate of some noble buck that had stood gazing at their destroyer, with their great, staring eyes, little thinking that harm would come to them. The crystal waters of the river had received the boats of the pile faces; and the strong block-houses of the great pioneer of the then great west, Daniel Boone, was reflected from the bold bluff upon its shining waters.

The time of which we write is in the spring of 1776, one year later than when Boone and a few hardy companions had erected their stong-hold in the wilderness preparatory to the removal of their families; and on the day of their arrival at the block-house is the time we have chosen to open the first scene of our story.

Never could there be a more glorious day than that of the 17th of May, 1776, the day that saw the dozen boats of the hardy pioneers push off from the forest where they had encamped the previous night, and bounded over the ripling waters on the last day of their journey; for when the unclouded sun had sunk behind the western wilderness, they had arrived at their chosen home.

The day was perfectly fair; not a cloud obscured the horizon, but the gentle breeze that rustled the foliage of the forest trees that gird the shore, only served to cool the air which otherwise would have been oppressive. The forest was clothed with its dark mantle of green; and the wild, melodious songs of the thrush and oriole poured forth from the depths of the forest, served to render it almost a scene of enchantment, combined with the sight that every few rods presented of the noble deer that stood on the banks of the river gazing with curiosity not commingled with fear at the passing boats; or peeped out from some glade in the back-ground, nearly discernable through the forest thicket.

The advancing boat that contained Boone, also bore besides his family a youthful couple that had been united by the man of God but the day previous to their starting for the forest; and, with buoyant hopes they had joined the expedition, and hand in hand will struggle for a heritage in the wilderness.

Gasper Vincent had won her simply by self alone; for he could boast not of the wealth that other competitors for her favor had at their disposal; but in the eye of the lady true manhood was far better than gold, and deciding accordingly, she bestowed her heart and hand upon one that she knew would make her happy, although he could not boast much of this world's goods; and although his rivals were much chagrined that the poor hunter should bear away the fairest flower of the settlement, they all, save one kept their peace.

Royal Morton was a cousin to the lady, and a man of passionate temper.—He had laid seige to the maiden's heart, but she knew his deeds of villainy too well to listen to his suite; and so she plainly told him aster he had importuned her for an answer, although he might have read it in her words and actions towards him; and when at last he knew her final determination, and also that she was about to wed the forest hunter, Gasper Vincent, his rage knew no bounds, and he swore that henceforth he would live only for revenge, which should come right speedily.

From that time until the bridal day, Marion saw him not; but when the little cortege issued from the church of the settlement, he rudely pushed past them, and as he did so he hissed the word 'revenge,' then was lost in the forest that lay near by; and on the morning when all the people were assembled by the river side to bid farewell to those who were to seek a home in the western wilderness he was not among them; but she freely forgave him, for she wished to be not in anger against any one as she left her early home perhaps never to return to the well beloved spot again.

Onward and onward sped the boats propelled by the stout arms of the pioneers until the sun had reached the meridian; and then they drew them high upon the gravelly strand, and beneath the shadow of a gigantic tree that cast its shade by the river side, they gathered to partake of their noonday meal; and well did they relish it, for the future seemed bright to them, for the passage was well nigh over, for in a few hours they would be at the block-house.

Their repast concluded, some threw themselves on the ground, in the deep forest shade to spend the hour allotted for their rest, while others wandered away by the margin of the river, and yet others deep into the wild wood; and when they had gathered at their place of departure one of the number reported that some half a mile down the river there were plain marks of where a boat had rested on the strand; and also the foot prints of several persons that wore the Indian mocassins; and among them could be distinguished the track of some one that wore the same sort of shoes as they made at the settlement; and that all the marks were of recent date.

'Some strolling Indians,' observed Boone, who had listened to the recital; 'but I think, Robert, you must be mistaken as to the foot-prints of a white man.'

The one addressed as Robert reiterated his statement, but it gained little credence with Boone; not so much so as to raise his curiosity to visit the spot, as he considered it impossible for any one person to be so far away in the forest in company with Indians, alone; and so they were skimming over the water beneath the renewed strokes of the boatmen.

The sun was half way from the meridian to the edge of the horizon, when a sharp turn in the river gave them a full view of their home; and one long, wild shout of joy rung out upon the silence of the forest, as the block-house burst upon their view; a shout of heartfelt gratitude to Him who had brought them in safety to their chosen home; and that night saw the great pioneer of the western wilderness beneath his own roof surrounded by those who had borne him company, a band that laid the foundation of a great and flourishing State.

Gasper and Marion, Hand-in-hand, stood that eve upon the river brink; and although their thoughts wandered back to the distant settlement, they were happy in each other's love, and resolved to bravely bear the hardships of the pioneer's life to win a name for themselves; but they little knew of the sorrow that was soon to come upon them, ere they could put their plans in execution, for alas we know not what the morrow may bring forth.

The morning sun rose in unclouded splendor, as bright as the day that had preceded it, and gazed down upon the pioneers, whose rude fortress lay enveloped in its bright and sparkling rays The dew law in pearly drops upon the leaves and tender grass, and on the opening flowers that were blooming in all directions. The hardy pioneers seemed to drink in the inspiration of the glorious scene, and with grateful hearts gazed around in pride and pleasure upon the lovely spot they had selected for their future home.

The sun was some three hours in the heavens, when Marion with a light basket on her arm, came down to the river-side where Gasper and several others were engaged in unloading the boats; and on inquiries where she was going, replied that she had started on an exploring expedition into the forest in search of the wild tulip, in which it abounded; and after receiving the admonition not to wander too far away, she bade them good morning, and bounded light as a fawn into the forest. Gasper watched her retreating form until she had disappeared, and then resumed his work with a light heart, for now he had some one to care for and protect

Again has the sun reached the meridian, and the last load has been taken from the boats and conveyed to the block-house, and as they were gathered together to partake of their noontide meal, Gasper looked around in vain for Marion, and then asked:

'Has not Marion returned from the forest yet?'

'I have not seen her,' replied the person addressed; 'but supposed she was down to the boats waiting to come up with you when you had finished.'

'I'll go and seek her,' said Gasper, rising from the table where he had seated himself.

'We will await your return, as you will undoubtedly meet her ere you go far,' observed Boone, as Gasper disappeared through the doorway.

The women expressed fear that some accident had befell her in the woods, but were overruled by the men, who said that she had without doubt wandered farther than she intended, and that Gasper would soon return with her

An hour passed, but still they came not, and so they sat down to their repast without them; but just as they had finished, Gasper returned, but he came alone.

'Has she not returned?'—'Have you not seen her?' were the questions asked and answered by both parties; and then Boone and Gasper, with all but some dozen men who were left to guard the block-house, went forth to scour the forest in all directions to find the lost one; for that she was lost there could be no further doubt; and that afternoon for miles around; the woods rang with the name of Marion.

All through that long afternoon till the sun was gilding the tops of the forest trees, was the search kept up; but no success attended their labors; and the dusky mantle of twilight was settling down, and the gray mists of evening were rising from the river when all save Gasper had gathered at the block house, and he well nigh frantic with agony was scouring the forest in all directins, calling upon the name of his bride, but naught save the wild wood echoes was the answer.

The eving repast that the woman had prepared was scarcely tasted, and preparations were immediately made for the renewal of the search which was to be carried on through the night; and after preparing themselves with torches, they were about to set forth amidst the entreaties of the female portion of the garrison not to return until some clue was found that would throw some light on her fate, when a boat containing but a single warrior of the tribe that dwelt near, who had been a great friend to Boone the season before, was seen approaching the shore.

He landed near the other boats, and as the pioneers in a body advanced to bid him welcome he stepped on shore and proceeding towards Boone, he held out his hand and bid him welcome back again; then drawing himself up to his stateliest height, he said:

'Does the Pale-faces seek for the White fawn that went out into the forest to gather flowers in the early dawn?'

'Yes,' answered Boone, eagerly; 'know you aught of her!'

'Yes; and Orienico has come hither to tell his pale-faced brothers where they may find her.'

'Speak thou,' exclaimed Boone, rather quickly.

'Yesterday,' began the chief, 'when the sun was half way home to the sunset, a pale face sought my wigwam. I received him kindly, and begged him to make known his errand to our village—Then he told me that he loved the White Fawn, that was to come that night to your stream wigwam; and he wished me and my braves to steal away the young pale face's bride, and give her to his keeping. But Orienico would not do so base a thing to offend his white brother, and so he told him; and he departed in anger from our village.

'I wished to do my pale brother a kindness, so I followed him to the camp of the Pambieves, and heard them engage to do his bidding. I followed them and saw them surprise the young fawn, and then swiftly bear her up the river, and all day long I followed them until they encamped; then I took the young pale face's boat and hurried hither, and I am now ready to show my brother to where the White Fawn pines for her absent mate.

'Bring hither my bugle,' exclaimed Boone, when the chief had concluded; 'let us call in the almost distracted Gasper from his fruitless search; and then we'll soon be on our way to punish the miscreant, Royal Morton, for his villianies, for surely it must be him'

Blast after blast woke the echoes of the forest, and the water echoes caught up the shrill notes and repeated them over and over again, until the whole valley seemed speaking as with one loud, wild voice.

As this was to be the signal that some clue to the lost one was found, it soon brought the weary Gasper to them, and soon he knew all.

The look of dispair that he had worn through the afternoon had been succeeded by that of joy when he heard the bugle's notes, but now a look of fierce determination, intermingled with despair, settled on his brow as he exclaimed:

'Better that Marion were alone in the forest this night, than in that villian's power; but if Royal, Morton dare lay hands on my angle wife, his blood shall pay the forfit. Come, men, let us be on our way.'

They needed no second invertation, but followed the chief and Gasper, and soon they were threading the forest that skirted the bank of the river, guided on their way by the full moon, that was raising in all its splendor, rendering their way almost as light as mid-day.

On, on, over many a weary mile, midst giant trees, now by the shining water now in the deep forest far from its banks, did the hardy pioneers pursue their way, and not till the moon had reached the centre of the crystal arch, did their guide bid them be wary.

They had now reached a spot where gigantic rocks lay around in the greatest profusion, and where huge trees intervene their branches above the rocky ledge, and at the edge of this wild spot Orienico bade them look forward, and amid the thick underbrush they saw the dying embers of a camp fire.

Here their guide bid them noiselessly to remain, while he crept forward to reconnoitre; and it seemed an age ere he returned.

But he came at last, gliding along in the shadow of the giant trees with all the caution of the Indian race, and in a moment stood beside Gasper and Boone.

'Did you see Marion?' and 'is she in safety?' were the first words of the husband spoken, ere the Indian could speak.

'The White Fawn is unharmed,' replied the chief, 'and lies beneath the shelter of a huge rock, bound with the soft, white buds of wampum. The pale face is also sleeping but a short distance from her, by the camp-fire, and six braves of the Pambieves lie with him, while the seventh is keeping guard leaning against the trunk of a pine tree that stands near by. Let the white chief follow me with his braves, and soon the wicked pale face will be his captive, and the Fawn returned to loving mate"

'Will the Pambieves resist?' asked Boone, 'for I do not wish to shed blood if it can be helped, in this affair.'

'We must surprise them,' was the laconic reply of the chief.

With noiseless steps they moved along in the deep shades of the forest trees. Gasper had approached near the tree where the watch was leaning, who started as though he heard some suspicious noise; but he seemed to think that it was but the sighing of the wind among the trees, and again relapsed into his listless watch; but his duty was ended for that night, for Gasper with one blow from his rifle laid him senseless on the ground ere he had had time to utter a single cry of alarm.

As the sentinel fell, the pioneers sprang forward and secured Royal Morton and his allies, while Gasper bounded to the side of Marion, who, awake, had witnessed all; and in a moment her bonds were cut, and she clasped in the arms of her husband.

No very gentle knocks were administered to the sleeping Royal, which soon brought him to his feet; and, imagine his rage and astonishment when he became aware of his position; and curses loud and deep, were showered upon the head of Orienico, when he saw him with the pioneers

The Pambieves had risen to their feet and stood silently regarding their captors, but a word from Boone told them they were free; and with a crest-fallen air they turned away, and plunged deep into the forest, in the direction of their tribe.

They arrived at the block-house in safety with Morton as their prisoner; and the next day, he at the request of Gasper and Marion, was set at liberty and allowed to return to the settlement from whence he departed the same day, and never more troubled the wildwood home.

Orienico remained a true friend of the pioneers to the close of his life, and Gasper and Marion never forget the great obligation that they owed him; and one of the first families in Kentuckey can trace their lineage back to the Lost Bride of the Wilderness

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

The Emigrants Tomb.

'Tis neath the western forest shade
In the dark recess of a a sunbright glade,
Where the "red warrior" stalks and the bright prairies bloom,
By a pure purling stream is the Emigrants tomb.

From the emerald isle far o'er the wave
He came for gold and found a grave,
The love of his youth, his hope and pride
Like a "blighted flower" had pined and died.

Ah! yes, the star of the emigrants night,
The one that proved a beacon light,
Watted softly a prayer o'er the smiling deep,
And returned to Him her watch to keep.

Heart broken to the western world he sailed
Death dimmed his eye and his brown cheek paled,
He died and was buried by a stranges hand
In a rough chisled tomb, in a foreign land

KATE MONTAGUE

Tenth of September.

Yesterday was one that will long be remembered by all who joined in the commemoration of theb attle of Lake Erie. Although the morning here was unpropitious, and the lowering of clouds and pouring rain betokened the destruction of the opportunity for the enjoyment of a ramble through the woods and over the rocks, yet ere long the rain ceased to fall—the clouds passed away and the atmosphere, purified by shower became clear and sweet, and the remainder of the day was as fine as could be desired. Commencing at the hour it did, the rain no doubt frightened many of our citizens from their purpose of going. We have no doubt the numbers from this city were greatly lessened from what they would have been under other circumstances.—We are not at the time of writing this advised of the numbers who went from here, but we can only say the steamer Bay City and the Propeller Jersey City, both, fine boats had each a goodly number on board. We should think from observation there was abont an equal number on each. The run down to the Bay was delightful, and we believe was marked by uninterrupted enjoyment. A discription of the trip, the scenes over which we passed, or the appearance of the beautiful Bay in which was anchored the Fleet of Com. Perry previous to the memorable engagement of Sept 10th, 1813, is beyond the powers of our pen to express Such things need to be seen and participated and to be understood or appreciated A brief description however may not be amis This we will attempt to give now for the benefit of those who were so unfortunate as not to be participants, and will add that when another such occasion present we trust that all who possibly can leave their homes and their business will devote a day to pleasures of a healthful kind.

Passing down a broad and beautiful river—a stream, which for its quiet beauty and natural loveliness, we venture to say, is not equalled by any stream between the Alleghenies and the Rocky mountains—we soon found ourselves in the broad bay of Maumee Soon Turtle Island and the Light house were past—To the left, on the banks of the Classic Raisin, lies our sister city Monroe. Far in front lies the Islands of West, Middle and East Sister, the former of which has attained some notoriety of late, from the fact, of its having afforded a refuge for so many of our citizens during a night in which their friends were mourning them as lost. Leaving the West Sister to the left, we passed on in full view of the (watery,) field on which was fought the battle of "Lake Erie" This contest took place between the West and Middle Sister Islands.

Proceeding on our way, the group of Islands which from "Put-in-Bay" soon stand out to our view and present one of the lovelist picture that our eyes ever rested upon. The Bay is large enough to accommodate an immense fleet. It is crescent shaped, with the verge or back of the crescent turned to the Lake and its inner space or opening depending for protection from the main land at no great distance It is, we believe, regarded as a harbor of perfect safety

When the fleet had arrived from the various ports, the harbor presented a scene of splendor such as we have seldom witnessed There lay the steamers—Queen City, from Sandusky; Island Queen, from Fremont; May Queen, from Detroit; Ocean, Forest Queen, and Arrow from Cleveland, and the Bay City and Jersey City, from Toledo. In addition to these there was the U S. steamer Michigan—the Revenue Cutters—and a number of sloops and schooners, bearing the denizens of various towns upon the Lake shore, to witness the joyous gathering and to participate in the festivities of the day

We will not pretend to estimate the numbers in the vast assemblage, but they may be counted as thousands.

Yellow Fever.

Savanah, Ga., Sept. 13.

The Chairman of the Board of Health reports a few sporadic cases of Yellow Fever, since Wednesday, of a mild type, but no epidemic.

Charleston, S. C. Sept. 13.—The deaths by Yellow Fever, in this city, during the week, were 101.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, : : : : : : EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1858.

Classical Studies.

It is quite common, and we regret to say, quite popular with many of the present day, to decry the study of the languages as for the most part useless and unprofitable. The idea seems to be this, that while there is so much of actual science unexplored in the brief time ordinarily devoted to the education of our youth, it must be regarded as a relic of obsolete barbarism, and little less than utter folly, that so considerable a portion of that time should be devoted to the acquisition of languages no longer spoken and so wholly removed from the great and practical truths of modern science.

If the principal end and aim of an educational course were, to acquire only a knowledge of the practical sciences, to store up facts, and truths, to use the same again in business, or in intercourse with the world, to lay up a fund of knowledge to be drawn upon, as the exigencies of after life might require, then indeed would there be reason in this view of the case.

Aut if it were so then would good sense dictate that no inconsiderable portion of the present curricle of collegiate, and even academical education should be greatly modified Of how little worth in such a cause, would be, not only the dead Languages, but Geometry, and the higher mathematics, and many other studies which are almost unknown to practical use in after life?

It will therefore readily be seen, that, while in Education the acquisition of knowledge is important, and ought not to be overlooked, it is not however the only, nor even the principal advantage to be looked for its pursuit

The acquisition of knowledge, is, and is expected to be the work of a life-time. It is not the province of the Schools to teach its pupils, whatever is to be learned, for this is hopeless, but the rather to so employ and discipline the mind as to best cultivate its energies and powers, and fit it to afterwards educate itself, and apply itself not only to the acquisition of knowledge, but also to all the active duties of life

Now if it should appear, that the study of problems never to be thought about or used again, or the acquisition of a language never to be spoken again, can best do this, then are these the very studies which it is the first duty and highest interest of every scholar to pursue,—and any course that would ignore these, for the sake of devoting all of the brief space of time devoted to education, to merely accumulating the thoughts and discoveries of other men, would be a short-sighted folly indeed.

This much having been premised, we think we may safely say of the classics, that the experience of centuries has shown that there is no way, in which, by an equal amount of study, one may hope to put themselves in so thorough possession of the principle and power of our mother tongue as by the cultivation of a requisite familiarity with the construction and philosophy of the languages in which they were written.

The reasons for this are obvious, but we have not now time to dwell upon them. The fact, is we believe, undisputed.

To every one then who in any sense expects or desires to fit himself for high attainments as a public speaker or writer, it becomes a question of serious importance, to consider, whether he can, in obedience to a mere popular prejudice, forego the discipline and advantages, which are likely to accrue to him, for these purposes, from the prosecution of studies, so time honored, and by the verdict of the learned of every land and age, so uniformly held to be both essential and important, to the more perfect and higher discipline of the intellectual powers in this respect.

State Fairs for 1858.

Michigan, Detroit, Sept. 28, 29, 30, & Oct. 1.
Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14, 15.
Illinois, Centralia, September 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 4,5, 6, 7, 8, 9,
Iowa, Oscaloosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September, 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshier, Dover, Oct. 6, 7, 8.
New York, at Syracuse, Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28.
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October, 4, 5, 6, 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St Johns, Oct. 13, 14.
St. Joseph, Centreville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28 29, 30.
Genessee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7.
Northern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 16
Berrien, Niles, Oct. 6 and 7.
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7, and 8.
Ottawa, Eastmanville, Sept 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct. 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5, 6 and 7.
Branch, Coldwater, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society.

Next Thursday is the meeting of the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society at Tecumseh. The ready access to Tecumseh from this city we trust will be an incentive for many of our people to improve the occasion by a visit to our pleasant and thriving sister town, to witness the gathering of the sturdy and active farmers of the northern towns In point of fertility of soil, and science in its cultivation, we doubt if any part of our rich county can be shown to outstrip the north; and that if the weather is pleasant there will be a good show at Tecumseh on the 16th, we have no doubt. We have been told in the outset that the erection of this northern society possibly originated in a jealousy of localities; but be that as it may, we think such feelings are now all done away, and that the northern and the general societies can act independently, and yet for the general good We know that many of the leading members of the northern society are also leading and hearty members of the county society—The present Secretary of the northern society, B L. Baxter, Esq., last year delivered before the county society the excellent address to which many of our citizens listened, and which many more read in the colums of the Expositor.

We see by the Herald, that a premium of $75 is to be awarded to the best Threshing machine, on trial, at this Fair at Tecumseh. The Fair is to be held at Kneeland's Grove on the east side of the village. Our citizens can leave here five minutes before eight A M., and return at 2,40 P. M. This will give ample time to attend the Fair and be at home by 3 o'clock We wish there may be a good delegation on the occasion —Expositor

A FAMOUS POULTICE.—A correspondent of the Providence Journal says, that in ninety nine cases out of a hundred, cranberries applied as a poultice will effectually cure the erysipelas There is not an instance known where it has failed to effect a cure, when faithfully applied before the sufferer was in a dying state.—Two or three applications generally do the work This remedy is so simple and so easily obtained, that every one afflicted with the disease should give it a trial.

A Brutal Assault with an Attempt to Murder.

Last evening as the passenger train from Detroit was in the vicinity of Ada, about eight miles from this city, the engineer discovered the body of a man lying upon the track just ahead of his train. Signal was given and the train was stopped, just as the forward wheel of the locomotive thouched the cloths of the senseless man! The engineer percieved four men running for the woods and he gave the alarm to the passengers, several of whom made quick pursuit after the ruffians who had evinently been trying to murder the man upon the track. After a desperate race three of the four men were secured, taken to the train, bound bro't to town and lodged in jail The injured man was also brought to town and taken to Sheriff NORTON'S residence, where he was attended by Dr. SHEPARD. His name is LAMBERT, a large, stout man, well known to many of our citizens, as one of the workman upon the Monroe street pavement. He is very badly wounded and bruised from head to foot, covered with blood, and evidently had a desperate struggle with his ruffian assaulters. He says that at first seven men attacked him—three left, leaving four pounding him with stones and bludgeons. The supposition is that these four men, after beating LAMBRT senseless, placed him upon the track to make a sure thing of their diabolical deed.

Fortunately the engineer discovered LAMBERT and thus his life was saved!—Two of the ruffians have been in jail before, and are known to have been connected with the difficulties at Lowell. They are evidently desperate characters, and their destiny is nothing short of State Prison

P. S. At 10 o'clock last evening LAMBERT was comfortable. He has nine severe cuts upon his head.—Grand Rapids Press.

Portland, Me, Sept. 14.

We have but few additional returns from the Govenor's vote. Summers (Rep) is donbtles elected to Congress in the 1st District In the 3d District Johnson (Dem) is 189 votes ahead, and is probably elected. The towns to be heard from in the 3d District, last year gave 347 Republican majority. The indications now are that the Republicans have elected 5 of the 6 Congressmen

Norfolk, Va Sept 13

The U. S scool ship Preble arrived here yesterday.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 3.

John Bissell, Jr., well known as a Pittsburg merchant, died to-day from the effects of a gun-shot wound received accidentally yesterday in parting two dogs who were fighting, while on a hunting excursion.

General News.

New York, Sept 13.

The steamer Vanderbilt arrived late last night. The Queen had returned to England. Nearly £1,500,000 in gold had been received from Australia Gen. Grant left Lucknow to relieve Mannsnigh and capture Fitzhad Diplomatic agents of the Allids are Allowed to reside temporarily at Pekin. Chinese Envoy comes to Paris

Flour advanced 6d closing steady. Corn dull. Provisions steady. Some say corn advanced 6d.

Liverpool, Sept. 1.

Richardson & Co., quote flour firm at an advance of 6d, closing steady. Wheat firm at 1 a 2d higher and closing quiet Red western 5s 6d a 6s 5d; white 6s 3d a 6s 6d; white southern 6s 9da7s 4d.

The Vanderbilt had 335 passengers. 12 vessels had been wrecked on the English coast, during the last week Only one life was lost. Paul Morphy had played 8 games at once, blind-folded, at the Birmingham Chess Congress, winning 7 games. Ten steamers are to be employed on the New York & Galway route, and eight others to English and continental ports as feeders. Some large firms in Liverpool are in difficulty Calcutta and China exchange was 3 per cent in favor of England. General business at the port of London active

Rudolf Jung & Co., of Paris, in the silk trade have suspended. Eighty ships loaded with grain had arrived at Marseilles, Aug 15

French commercial affairs show a gradual improvement. Great hopes are entertained for a treaty of commerce with China.

The Turkish ministry is out and a new one formed. Sebastopol is to be a commercial station without fortifications. The Jesuits obtain exclusive authority to establish a branch of their order in China

The Prince of Prussia is to be Regent at the expiration of the term of his present powers. Prussia addressed a note to Vienna on her occupation of Ratsdadt.

Austria addressed a circular to her agents respecting the navigation of the Danube. Austria is alarmed at the peremptory refusal of the Plenipotentiaries of Paris conferees, to submit to arrangements made by Austria for the counteraction of the treaty of Paris The fortifications at Kars are to be rebuilt.

The teamer Star of the West, arrived Saturday night, with nearly $1,700,000 treasure California dates to August 20th The Anti Lecomptonites had nominated John Curry for Supreme Judge, and the Republicans endorsed the nomination. The Lecomptonites nominated O. G Baldwin. The antics have also nominated Hon. Jas. C McKibben and and W. L Hadley for Congress The grading of the San Francisco & Marysville Rail Road is rapidly progressing.—The Telegraph is extended to Ureka. Advices from Frazer River are to the 14th. The river had fallen and the mines were doing better. A fire at Sonora on the 5th destroyed $40,000 worth of property.—The Presbyterian Church was burned.—The difficulties between Col Fremont and the Merced Mining Company continues. The latter refuses to yield possession of their vein, and the men who occupy it, insist that they will resist. H M. Willis, City Prosicuting Attorney, has resigned in consequence of charges of disreputable conduct in social relations—1000 Chinamen had landed in California during 10 days The markets were very dull, owing to large arrivals and a small demand. Auction sales, trifling. Provisions steady—financial matters easy beyond anything yet known. Collections highly satisfactory and money at one-quarter per cent, Merchandise securities. On August 16th the business portion of Georgetown, El'Dorado Co, was burned—losses exceeding $100,000 A desperate affray occurred at Peria Bar, Stanislaus River, Aug. 4th, between French and Americans in regard to a mining claim, resulting in the death of three of the latter—Leonard Shock, Abraham Delavan and Robert Warren, and the wounding of George Crooks, Chas McKanny and Rodger McClure—Americans. The French were outnumbered in the fight and used guns The murderers had not been arrested. This will lead to further complications Canty had left for Aspinwall. A flood in the San Juan had much damaged property on its banks.

Chilian dates to July 31st are received. The country is reported more prosperous than for some time, but no general news of importance.

New and rich copper mines had been discovered in Bolivia

The duty on foreign cotton goods has been reduced from 40 to 15 per cent.

Public tranquility seems safe from disturbance.

Advices from Central America state that two American butchers, who were trading with the frigate Saranac at San Juan del Sur, were arrested by military authority for alledged violation of the municipal rule. Capt. Kelly of the Saranac ordered some marines ashore, but before they landed the men were released. The Saranac was at Panama at last accounts.

The inhabitants of the Isthmus feared an outbreak, the result of the election agitation and a new army decree ordered a large force to Panama.

Gen. Castilla has been elected President of Peru.

Mr. Broderick proceeds to Washington overland before the assembling of Congress

Col. Canty attempted to seize Punta Arenas in Costa Rica. He was opposed by the British Consul at Greytown and the British naval officers, who proposed annexing the point to Mosquito.

Springfield, Ill, Sept 13.

Judge Breese of this State publishes a letter in the Missouri Republican on the subject of Illinois politics, in which he denies that he is not a candidate for the Senate. Also the assertion that he supports Douglas. He denounces all disorganizers and conspirators against the honor and integrity of the Democratic party and says he will follow that party and no single person.

New York, Sept 14th.

The steamers Fulton and Water Witch are to proceed immediately from Washington to Norfolk, to take in their materials of war for operations against Paraguay Commodore Stubrick goes out in the Frigate Niagara, early next month—A letter to the Tribune dated Jefferson, Ohio, Sept 8th says, the great comet was seen from that place, early on the morning of the 7th The Health Committee, together with Mayor Freeman visited quarantine yesterday, P. M., for the purpose of inspecting the ruins and determining what portion of the former buildings to replace. They decided to repair the small pox hospital immediately and to rebuild all the other buildings as soon as practicable The Commissioners are fully determined to maintain their position on the ground. They however have a plan under consideration for building piers and warehouses at the west end of the narrows where infected ships with their cargoes can be detained This plan will meet the views of merchants and ship owners and also the Steten Islanders.—The detachment of marines were yesterday removed from the store house at Quarantine when Richard Adams Locke, the Government store keeper closed the Government Store house against the Quarantine officers. This was done in direct defiance to the orders of Col Sowell.

The President has appointed Andrew Jackson Smith of Texas, as Consul at Laguayra and Jas F. McGuire, as Consul at Melbourne, who is a resident merchant there, vice Barr deceased.

Capt. Plensanton will accompany Gen Harney to the Pacific.

Sir Wm. Gore Ousely's mission to Central America is in part to negotiate a treaty with Nicaragua. The naval department is officially advised of the arrival of the Savannah and Saratoga at San Juan Del Norte and of the departure of the Plymouth on the first inst for Vera Cruz to bring home minister Forsyth.

Charleston, S C., Sept. 14

The steamship Havana from Havana and Key West of the 10th inst., has arrived at this port.

Sugar unchanged Molasses firm, 5 to 6 reals. Freights dull, Sterling Exchange on N. Y 3¾ per cent.

Albany, Sept. 14.

The paper mill at Chatham 4 Corners was burried this morning, together with a dwelling and several out-houses A man named Levi Garvey was burned to death in the dwelling.

Property owned by Mr Isaacson.

Halifax Sept 14.

The Comet was seen here last night about 165 deg. ascension; 27 degs declination north

Springfield, Mass, Sept 13

A new mill of the Hartford Powder works of Enfield, Conn, exploded this afternoon. Four workmen were killed. Three of them leaving families. One of the killed was the foreman Mr. Casche.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.

In the 5th Congressional District of this State, Owen Jones has been re-nominated by the Democrats Jos. Wood is the candidate of the opposition

New York, Sept. 14.

Advices from Port au Platte, of the 2d inst, indicate a continuance of the political troubles in that country owing to the efforts of Santa Anna to oust Valverade from the Presidential chair, and the rivalry existing between the cities of Santiago and San Domingo for the seat of government, recently Santa Anna and Valverde met near Cidov, each at the head of a few hundred men, but Valverade and men refused to fight agtagonist, the President mounted his horse and fled Santa Anna, with 500 men subsequently entered Santiago, the present Capitol It is thought that Santa Anna will be elected President.

Washington, Sept. 13.

The Government hat received information that Mr Reed, our Minister to China has made a liberal treaty with the Chinse Government similar to that made by France and England. We are to have a Minister at Pekin.

Special Notices.

WANTED.

A Good Jour Shoe Maker Enquirer at the Boot and Shoe Store of J. W. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, Aug. 21th

A. H. C. BROCKEN,

22 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK.

MANUFACTURER OF

Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, &c.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers Photographers, and Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price List sent on application. o4eo408m3

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 21 of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 893

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

If all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inflamitary

Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-9w

New Advertisements.

A Card from Dr. James M Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY—My connection for the last eight years with the above Institution, as chief Physician and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivaled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—added not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive divect and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhalation the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of these fearful and often fatal diseases yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic and the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consultation I have concluded to and after due consultation I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all who cannot call personally at the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction to my professional brethren and the public I remain respectfully and sincerely yours &c. N. B. I would say to correspondents that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above named and that the medicines the same as used in the Institution prepared to suit each individual case. Inhaling Vapor Medicine In both a letter will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or the Canadas Terms—For a thorough treatment by letter as follows viz: $12 per month for one patient which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also Inhaling Vapor and inhaling apparatus. Payment as follows—$6 to be paid to express agent on the receipt of the box of medicine and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month If the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment Patients by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination Patients availing themselves of Dr Jarrett's treatment may rely upon a immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No. 80 Broadway cor Twenty Ninth St. N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected ekeo408m6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Saturday the Fourth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Abram Hair deceased

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Susana Hair, widow of deceased, praying that letters of administration on the estate of said deceased may be granted to herself and Charles Hair heir at law of deceased or some other suitable person, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the fourth day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court there to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy) n40sw4.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.

Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.

Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices

January 4th Union Hall

To-Days Advertisements.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight. Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Clarissa Van Valkenburgh, Randall T Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valkenburgh, minors.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Harlon B Osborn, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors for the reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the next of kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN

[A true Copy] 40sw3 Judge of Probate

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Billesbach dated the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Register's office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 20th day of October 1857 in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 268, 269 and 270 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction, on the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858.

The above Sale is postponed and will be on the same place at One o'clock, P. M. on Saturday 25th instant. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee

Tecumseh September 16th, 1858.

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use—

Wire down and no further commission at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire the best chance at my late arrival of New Goods will please call and purchase before VICTORIA comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 16th!

A. B. WARD.

Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, but late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that the experience and success for the past fourteen years will incure him a continuation of the confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 402y

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Common Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E Tisdale

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection the best, for sale cheap by E Tisdale

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET

R. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provisions.

WANTED,

Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Hams, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit, etc.

For which the highest market

Price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh, Sept. 16.

TRIAL OF Threshing Machines

At the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Fair to be held at Tecumseh, on Thursday the 16th, 1858. There will be a trial of Threshing Machines for Thirty Minutes each, for a purse of Seventy Five Dollars or over, to be awarded by a Committee of Judges to be appointed by the Committee of Arrangements for said Fair, to the Machine which shall be found to excel, reference being had to the amount and character of the work done on said trial.

Threshing Machines generally are invited to compete Entrance fee $25 Threshing to commence at 10 o'clock. A. M.

B. L. BAXTER, Sec

Tecumseh, Sept., 1st, 1858

THE

NORTHERN LENAWEE

Agricultural Society

Will hold its Third annual Fair In Kneeland's Grove on the east side of the Village of Tecumseh, on

Thursday Sept., 16th, 185

Commencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Entries can be made with the Secretary time before the Fair, and no entries will be received after September 26th, at 10 o'clock A. M.

☞ It is expected that this Fair will be of unusual interest, it is therefore confidently anticipated that the Farmers generally will not only attend themselves, but will be well supplied with favorable specimens of their products.

A committee of arrangements will be on the ground, and attend to locating stock and articles for exhibition.

Membership Cards may be had at the office of the Secretary on the Fair Ground.

B. L. BAXTER, M. A. PATTERSON, Secretary. President.

See Pamphlets for 1858.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	14	25
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines) three weeks			$ 50
One Square one week			40
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates

☞ Business cards $5 a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Notices from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent

MAILS CLOSE

	A. M.	P. M.
For the North	4 00
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 20	A. M.	4.57 P. M.
Going South.	6.30	"	2.40 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ The Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society are holding their third annual Fair, to day, in this village.—The village is full of people who seem to enjoy themselves. The Expositor of yesterday, gave the Fair an excellent puff, but never said a word about our balloon—cause it wasn't silk.

☞ Dr. Barr will be at his office the 25th of this month.

☞ Look at Kings" windows, in Bidwells Block, this evening.

☞ We noticed a beautiful stock of Furniture at the ware rooms of D. Van Tine. Call and see it.

REMARKABLE SHOT.—A gentleman residing in Dinwiddie County, Va., killed a deer last week with one of Colt's revolvers at a distance of 138 yards. He discovered the deer while walking around his farm, and having no other weapon with him, he determined to test the efficiency of that arm with but little hope, however, of success. Nor was he aware that his shot had taken effect until his arrival at the spot where the deer stood, when he discovered marks of blood upon the ground, which increased as he advanced in the direction which the game had taken.

☞ We find the following encouraging item in the New York Tribune of yesterday:

The earnings of the Michigan Southern and Nor. Indiana Railroad for the third week in August, and for same period last year, are

	1857.	1858
Aug. 3d week,
Passengers,	$24,098	$17,491
Freight,	16,664	25 471
Mail,	930	1,047
Total	$41 692	$44,009
Increase,	$2 317

The increase, it will be seen, is in freight traffic, the passenger business showing a large decrease

The Captured Negroes.

It is stated, that the President has accepted the proposition made by the American Colonization society, and that the negroes on board of the Echo, captured by the Dolphin, instead of being sent back to the ports from whence they came will be transported to Liberia. Then for a stipulated amount which the government is to pay, and which is less than $100 per head, the society agrees to provide for them for one year, and to give them such education as can be imparted in that time. It is said the United States frigate Niagara, will bear them to their destination

REMOVAL.—We learn that Dr. J. F TERRY, of this city, is about to leave us and contemplates making detroit his future place of residence And while we bear oak for him that success and patronage in his new home which is due to skill and merit, we regret the change that deprives us of a worthy citizen, as well as a scientific and successful Oculist.—Toledo Blade

SINGULAR PALLIATIVE FOR TOOTH-ACHE.—A little horseradish scraped, and laid on the wrist of the side affected, will in many cases, give speedy relief. A better way is to place a little scraped horseradish in the mouth, or the tooth, and around the gum. It relieves the pains in the gum and face also. The mouth may afterwards be rinsed with camphorated water milk warm.

—More than forty million pounds were imported into this country last year, to make paper from, which shows how great is the manufacture of this necessity. One fact about the same "old rags" is curious, many of them come from Alexandria, and are sent to this port from the mummy pits of Egypt and the interior. The material of the paper you read in the morning possibly constitutes the former wrappage of one of the Pharaohs, who never had the pleasure of enjoying his daily journal.

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on

GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times."

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 4 406

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	35 00
650 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
500 Parlor Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Setts, Ear Drops and Pins,	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (larg. size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	3 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	3 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 50
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6500 Gold Rings, (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents Gold Rings,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
3500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleave Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
8000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
16000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mossic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books, &c &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G EVANS, Publisher.

407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or, that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00	9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted water, acids, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelets	4 00	9d
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00	9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	8c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	3c

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00 12

The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Bunney, 18x24 1 00 12

The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50 9c

Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards 50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.

400 406 Broadway, New York.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.

105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.

160 " wild land in Allegan County.

80. " " Eaton county.

5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.

50 thousand Pine Shingle.

50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.

1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH, September 16 1858.

Wheat	95@0
Flour	5 00@5 50
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	40@55
Corn	55
Oats	30@40
Clover seed
Beans	50@60
Potatoes new	30@35
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	12
Tallow	@10
Lard	10
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	4 00@4,500
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8@10
Sheep pelts	35@40
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00@5 00
Lath	1 50
Shingles pine	$3@3 50
do Wood	1 50@1 75

Mich. Sou. & orth. Ind.

1858 RAIL ROAD 1858.

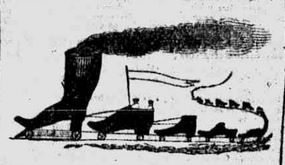
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 58	A M	3 50 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 30 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	00 0 "
Arrive at			12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 50 10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 55 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at			12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at			12 45 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 20 "
Arrive at	7 35	"	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg Baltimore Philadelphia, New York. Buffalo, All thru and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS;

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS LeBARON,	WALLAS GRAY,
D. L. SHULES,	JEROME ALLEN,
J. A. BELRS,	ALFRED JAMES,
O. G. ADAMS,	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 381y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

MRS. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

O. G. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept., 1st 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

BY

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO. OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY.

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, April 5th

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, - - - MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " "	$300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms: May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None

Call such if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE.

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the tracks but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-Running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly Attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E TINDALL.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine is put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable Known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor. New York.

Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.

July, 1858. 400m4

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. R. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by seeing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

Miscellaneous.

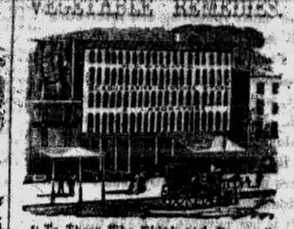
DR. ROBACK'S

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills

THE GREAT

SCANDINAVIAN

VEGETABLE REMEDIES.



"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class, who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuraligia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actual effects were compared by sagacious men, with the distinguished Physician's statements, and it was found that every stage of the progress of cure, was precisely as he had described it—The result was that the mind of the country became interested, and that person highest standing in every city and the Union, patronized the preparati admitted the claims of the illustrious to be the First Medical Discoverer of

The Blood Purifier and Pills.

are now universally recommended by well informed and candid persons, as an immediate curt for

Indigestion,

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramps in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleepliness, Nightmare,

General Debility,

Nervous Tremore, Fainting Fits, Epilepsy, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples on the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Mercurial Sores, Glandular swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Virtus' Dance, Nervous Twitchings,

Female Complaints,

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS,

Of distinguished men in every profession, warmly recommending the preparations may be seen at Dr Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal propbilities which Physicians have heretofore tried in vain to combine in one preparation. They relieve the bowels, purify the bile and blood, and invigorates the constitution, at one and the same time To this fact all who try them will subscribe The absence of minerals, and of every stupifying drug, renders them harmless, even to the most delicate female, or the feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper than any other Pills, for it takes a less number of them to produce a better effect.

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1, per bottle or $5, per dozen. Of the Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or 5 boxes for $1

☞ Read Dr Roback's Special Notices and Certificates, published in a conspicuous part of this Paper from time to time. Dr. Roback's Medical Almanac and Family adviser, containing a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information can be had gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Rooms, No. 6 east Fourth st, 3d Building from Main street, Cincinati, O. Labatory in Hammand street.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O. March 8, '58.

Dr. C. W. ROBACK.—Dear Sir; For the benefit of suffering humanity permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for Indigestion and Liver Complaint, I have suffered from the above mentioned diseases for five years and have tried a great many physicians, but all to no purpose. I was advised by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. I was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your office and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and one box of Pills to commence with, and bless the day I found your valuable medicines, for I am enjoying good health at present, and feel confident that the cure is permanent. Let others buy and take what they please, as for me, give me the Blood Purifier and Pills for all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs I take no other medicines, and have not for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, T. V. DUBOIS.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh

N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Clinton.

G. V. HAWKINS Medina. F. N. BUTLER, Morenci.

R. L. BIRD Clayton. W. H. JOHNSON, Hudson.

And by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh, Jan. 28, 1858 376m

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY, Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.

R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 9d, 185. 384tf

AGRICULTURAL.

The Farm and Garden

These words stand at the head of our department, indicating what is one of the most ennobling and interesting of all the industrial pursuits of man. The Farm and the Garden—these are household words everywhere, or, at least, wherever the Olive Branch is read. No matter what a man's present employment may be, his beau ideal of the future is a a nice farm and garden where he and his family shall dwell in domestic felicity.

It is our purpose to make this department of the Olive Branch a perennial source of entertainment, not only but a medium of diffusing useful knowledge to all tillers of the soil wheresoever located in our great confederacy States. Give us a hearing, then, and we have no doubt it will recieve your earnest and cordial approval.

Agricultural Education.

A notion seems to prevade the public mind that eductation is not only essentral, but indispensable so to success in life, in almost every vocation except that of farming. It is not easy to account for this exception. There is no vocation among the industrial pursuits of man that gives a wider scope to the exercise of the mind than that of the farmer. Spring, summer, autem and winter, in our latitude, presents to the observer a great variety of pleasing and delightful changes, to all, and especially so to the shepherd, the herdsman and the husbandman. These are in close, intimate and constant communion with Nature, who reveals her mysteries only to the hungaring and thirsting ones for knowledge, who watch her processes with the most untiring and vgilant attention. To do this with any degree of success and satisfaction one must have been in some sense of the notion, educated.—and if liberally so, all the better; for we maintain, that all, no matter what is to be their vocation, should be educated, and the more thoroughly the better. Away with the notion that none but professional men need education. All need it, all should have it.

The preyalent notion that has so long prevailed, that the farmer does not need much intellectual culture has kept below their true social position, the agricultural population of the civilized portion of the world, as compared with that of the callings, But as a hopeful omen, one that augurs a brighter future for this large class, attention is beginning to be directed to this subject, and in response to the demand for a better education for farmers, schools and colledges are chartered, organized and opened in different parts of our country for imparting agricultural knowledge. In this work both the West a the South are in advance of New England. The reason for this is pribably owing to the fact that these portions of our counfry are bettter adopted naturally to agricultural pursuits than the Eastern States. Their great leading enterprise is manufacturing and commerce. At least it is so claimed, though probably much less capital is employed even in New England in both of these great interests than in agriculture.

That farmers everywhere need a better education than is now possessed none will deny. If an uneducated man is deemed unfit to teach you children, to preach to your family on Sunday, to proscribe for its members in time of sickness, to give advice in matters relating to the rights of property and person, to carry on trade and commerce whether domestic or foregin to edit agricultural as other papers, to superintend a cotten factory, or to manage the affairs of a bank or a rail road, how then can such a one be fit to superintend the work of a farm, whether for himself or some other person? There is a wonderful difference between walking in the luminous way of knowledge and that of mere tradition. Protestants repudiate and profoundly eschew tradition and superstition in religious matters, while they adhere, pertinaciously to it in things relating to the farm and all appertaining thereto.

It is hoped that farmers will take hold of this work of diffusing useful knowledge among their own brethern, and hasten the day when we shall have agricultural schools for teaching rural economy, and the arts of good husbandry, as we now have for the arts of teaching and of the learned professions. Let the day come when the farmers shall understand their business, theoretically and practically as well as they may. To bring this about they must be liberal in the use of their money, and influence in the establishing of schools for imparting a better agricultural education.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain sum of money secured to be paid by a certain indenture of mortgage, bearing date October 8th, 1853, made by Jedediah Hemenway to Jacob S Smith, Junior, and recorded in the office for the record of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Z of Mortgages on pages 266 and 267, October 14th, 1853, at 11 o'clock A M, and on which said mortgage is claimed to be due twenty-nine hundred and ninety-nine Dollars, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to collect the same.

Notice therefore is hereby given, that the said mortgage described as viz: the east half of the south west quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section three in Township one south of range five east in Blissfield, except ten acres sold off of the north end, to Nathan Chroves, will be sold at public auction on the 20th day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in the City of Adrian.

JACOB CHEEVER, Jr., Mortgagee.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attorneys. April 15th, 1858 356w13.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was recorded in the Register's office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A M on the 30th day of October, 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 266 267 and 268 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and Interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage. Therefore the premises in said mortgage described as viz: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres more or less will be sold at the Circuit Court Room in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the tenth day of September next at one o'clock P M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 504t13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James F. Merritt to William H. Merritt dated April 2nd A D 1858 recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee Michigan on the 19th day of May A D 1858, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit, all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) south of range three (3) west excepting the South twenty (20) acres or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH H. HALL Assignee

STAPLY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee

Tecumseh July 1st 1858 508w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-seventh day of April, A. D. 1857, executed by Augustus Kellogg and Sarah Kellogg, his wife, of the City of Adrian, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, to Allen B Ward, which mortgage was also duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, in Liber Q of Mortgages, on page 16, and on the 28th day of April, A. D. 1857, and on which mortgage is claimed to be due the sum of Two Hundred and Forty-nine Dollars and no cent for principal and interest, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage as follows, to wit: The north half of the north west quarter of section Twenty-six in the Township and Village of Tecumseh in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known and described as follows, to wit: Sixty acres and Sixty-eight (60 & 68) rods of land off of the Village will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the north front door of the circuit court house in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee, on the fourth day of September, A. D. 1858, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B WARD Assignee.

Dated June 15th 1858

Administrators Sale.

Pursuant to an order and Licence from the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee I shall sell at public vendue on Thursday the 5th day of August next, at One o'clock in the afternoon at the Riga Hotel in the village of Riga in said County of Lenawee the following described Real Estate of which Christian Demuth died seized and possessed viz. All that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Riga, in the county of Lenawee, and State of Michigan and known and described as follows, to wit: The North-East Quarter of the North-West Quarter of Section number Three (3) in Township number Nine (9) south of range number Five (5) East containing forty acres more or less or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the charges of administration of the estate of Christian Demuth, deceased. Terms made known at sale.

BENJAMIN DEMUTH. Administrator.

Tecumseh June 10th, 1858.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A D 1856, executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B Bowen and Thomas M Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folio 721 and 722 on page 25. Thomas M Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 15th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and two acres more or less will be sold at public auction, on the 22d day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B. BOWEN. Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH. Assignee.

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day of April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County known and designated as The East half of the South West Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J R BENNETT, Sheriff

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 15th, 1858. 356w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss: By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the said County of Lenawee, to me directed dated the 14th day of April 1858 I did on the 20th day April aforesaid levy upon all the right title and interest of Simeon H Southworth in and to the following described property, to wit: All that certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Seneca, in said County known and designated as The East half of the South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight and the South half of the West half of said South west Quarter of Section Twenty-eight all in Town Eight South of Range Two East, which interest of said Simeon H Southworth in said land, I shall expose for sale at public auction on Thursday the Twelfth day of August next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the City of Adrian.

J R BENNETT, Sheriff

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated June 14th 1858. 356w

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows viz: The west half of the south east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section ten; also the west half of the south west quarter of section eleven, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen the same I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J R BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th 1858 399w6

Legal Advertisements.

SHERIFF SALE

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A D 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty nine degrees and forty five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-six links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Sheriff Sale.

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A D 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A D 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty nine degrees and forty five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B Hoeg late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY. } Commissioners.
SIRELL C. LEBARON. }

August 2d. 1858. n405w4

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-moddled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

LOCK, LOOK, LOCK!

EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him—Terms moderate.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

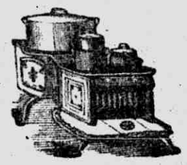
Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore.
There's a hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand.

B. J. BIDWELL.

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative proprities

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties, a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.

New York. And For Sale By

ALL DRUGGISTS.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured. It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is hand-somely Illustrated; all for $2 a year. Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Miss ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Miss DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRIZE!

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies one year	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty One copies one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do
50 do	60 00	do
100 do do	50 00	do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40 to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded with in one week, by mail or express, post paid

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS.
335] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS OF THE WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

HIGH TONED, USEFUL AND INSTRUCTIVE JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10	copies to one P. O.	12 50	per annum.
15	" " "	15.00	" "
20	" " "	20.00	" " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established ourselves expressly to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, these employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can BUY BETTER than any single purchaser can. In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We haven elsewise giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying commission of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm L. King of Naylor & Co., New York
David S. Brown of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot Philadelphia
G Buty Blake, of Blake Howe & Co., Boston.
F Cabot & Co. Boston.
Stanfield Wentworth & Co. Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others

N B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their consulting Surgeon as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat es commanded the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases for the year ending January 1st 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value

Address for Report or treatment Dr GEORGE H CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association, No 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO FAIRCHILD Secretary.
EZRA D HEARE WELL President

390y

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer

☞ See Advertisement.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes' Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR

Tecumseh, April 1858.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

FOR SALE

At Prices To Suit The Hard Times,

I have some of Easterly's Celebrated Light Draught Reapers and Mowers Combined.—These Machines are Warranted to work well, and on Suitable Ground, if well managed, will cut from 12 to 16 acres per day.

☞ Please give me a call and examine for yourselves

S. W. CROSMAN, Agent

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858 4

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.

Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.

Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J BIDWELL.

Tecumseh Oct 12th,

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

THE GREAT SCANDINAVIAN

VEGETABLE REMEDIES.

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class, who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actions were compared by sagacious men, with its distinguished Physician's statements, and it was found that every stage of the symptom became interested, and that persons in the highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronized the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious Swede to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age

The Blood Purifier and Pills.

are now universally recommended by well informed and candid persons, as an immediate cure for

Indigestion,
Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramp in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplness, Nightmare,

Gastric Debility,

Nervous Tremors, Fainting Fits, Epilepsy Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Legs, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples on the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Mercurial Sores, Glandular swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia,

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Tremors,

Female Complaints,

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS.

Of distinguished men in every profession, warmly recommending the preparations may be seen at Dr Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal properties which Physicians have heretofore tried in vain to combine in one preparation They relieve the bowels, purify the bile and blood, and invigorates the constitution, at one and the same time To this fact all who try them will subscribe The absence of minerals, and of every stupifying drug, renderizes them harmless, even to the most delicate female, or feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper than any other Pills, for it takes less number of them to produce a better effect

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1, per bottle or 5 per dozen. Of the Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or 6 boxes for $1

☞ Read Dr Roback's Special Notices and Certificates, published in a conspicuous part of the Paper from time to time. Dr. Roback's Medical Almanac and Family adviser, containing a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information can be had gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Rooms, No. 6 on Fourth st, 3d Building from Main street, Cincinati, O Labatory in Hamsand street.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O. March 8, 1858

Dr C. W. ROBACK.—Dear Sir; For the benefit of suffering humanity permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for indigestion and Liver Complaint. I have suffered from the above mentioned diseases for five years and have tried a great many physicians, but all to no purpose, I was advised by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. I was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your office and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and one box of Pills to commence with, and bless the day I found your valuable medicines, for I am enjoying good health at present, and am confident that the cure is permanent. Others buy and take what they please, but to me, give me the Blood Purifier and Pills for all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs. I take no other medicines, and have not for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, T. V. BUSBY.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNE, Clinton
G V HAWKINS Medina. F. N. BUTLER Somerset
R. E BIRD Clayton. W. H. JOHNSON Hudson
and by Druggists and Merchants generally

Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858 378

Farmers Save Your Money

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merrill's Improved Milled and Grain

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 45. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 23, 1858. WHOLE NO. 410

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. Wo CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.,

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, M CH.

B. J BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATIONARY, PAPER

HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, Railroad and Kilbuck Streets

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMFORT,

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS,

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. HILLS. S. L. BAXTER.

HILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

G. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN HOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.

Brownville Michigan

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Store, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

Shop TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

339y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP

Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Groceries, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 391

From the Waverly Magazine.

The Dying Child.

I'm dying, mother, dying—lay your hand upon my brow
That I may feel its gentle touch, for I am weary now,
This heart is growing cold, mother, it soon will cease to beat,
And I shall go to Heaven then, and there shall Cora meet.

She came to me last night, mother, in robes so pure and white,
And then she asked me not to stay away from Heaven's light;
And when I said I did not know the way so far from home,
She said that she would lead me there if I would only come.

I know she was an angel, mother, sent by God above,
I think I hear her singing with the children of His love;
They are singing, oh! so sweetly, I long to be at rest
In yonder shining Heaven the mansion of the blest.

And now a last farewell, mother, you would not have me stay,
For God will ever love you still when I am far away.
So do not weep when I am gone, I'll leave you not alone,
Farewell! again farewell, mother, I'm going, going home.

* * * * * * *

Then they laid him down to rest where the drooping willows weep,
And angel spirits o'er him their silent watches keep,
While oft at hour of twilight the mother steals away
With saddened heart, but peaceful, above her child to pray.

A Thrilling Adventure.

We question whether, in the history of "hairbreadth" escapes, a parallel to the following can easily be found. The story was related by an old and valued friend, now residing in the country, but whose early days were spent near the tragic adventure here recorded. We give the story as it was related, in the words of the hero:

It was about the year 1805, that I settled in Virginia, near the fall of the Kenawa. The country at that time was an unbroken wilderness. But few settlements had been made then by the whites, and they were so far apart as to render vain all hope of assistance in case of an attack from hostile Indians—numbers of whom still infested the neighborhood.

I lived there alone with my wife for several months unmolested, and, by dint of perserverance—being then young and hardy—had succeeded in making quite a large clearing in the forest, which I planted with corn, and which promised an abundant yield

One morning after we had dispatched our humble meal, I had just prepared to venture forth upon my regular routine of labor, my attention was arrested by the tinkling of a cow-bell in a corn-field.

"There," said my wife, "the cow is in the corn-field.

But the ear of the back-woodsmon becomes, by education, very acute, especially so from the fact that his safety often depends upon the nice cultivation of that sense. I was not so easily deceived. I listened—the sound was repeated. 'That,' said I, in reply to the remark of my wife, 'was not the tinkle of a bell upon the neck of a cow. It is a decoy from some Indian who desires to draw me into ambush.'

Believing this to be the case, I took down my old musket, (I had no rifle,) and seeing that it was properly loaded, I stole cautiously around the field towards the point from which the sound seemed to proceed. As I had suspected, there in a cluster of bushes, crouched an Indian waiting for me to appear in answer to his decoy bell, that he might send the fatal bullet to my heart. I approached without discovering myself to him, until within shooting distance, then raised my piece and fired. The bullet sped true to its mark and the Indian fell dead.

Not knowing that he might be accompanied by others, I returned with all speed to the cabin, and having firmly barricaded the door, I watched all day from the port-hole, in anticipation of attack from the companions of the Indian I had killed.—To add to the danger and seeming hopelessness of my situation, I discovered that I had but one charge of powder left. I could but make one shot, and then, if attacked by numbers, I should be entirely in their power. Determined to do the best with what I had, I poured out the last charge of powder and put it into my musket, and then waited for the appearance of the night, feeling confident of an attack. Night came at last. A beautiful moonlight night it was, too, and this favored me greatly, as I would thereby be able to observe the movements of the enemy as they approached my cabin. It was some two hours after nightfall, and as yet I had neither heard nor seen a sign of the Indians, when, suddenly, I was startled by the baying of my dog at the stable I knew the Indians were coming. The stable stood a little to the west of the cabin, and between the two was a patch of clear ground. upon which the light of the moon fell unobstructed. Judging from the noise at the stable that they would advance from that direction. I posted myself at the port-hole on that side of the cabin.

I had previously placed my wife on the cross-pole in the chimney, so that in case our enemies effected an entrance into the cabin, she might crawl out through the low chimney and effect her escape. For myself I entertained no hope; but determined not to be taken alive, I resolved to sell my life dearly.

With breathless anxiety I watched from the port-hole. At length I saw them emerge from the shadow of the stable and advance across the vacant ground toward my cabin. One—two—three—great Heavens! six stalwart Indians, armed to the teeth, and urged on by the hope of revenge, and I alone to oppose them with one charge of powder. My case was desperate, indeed. With quick, yet stealthy step in close single file, they approached and were already within a few yards of the house, when a slight movement of the forward Indian changed the position of the entire six, so that a portion of the left side of each was uncovered. They were in a range—one aim would cover all—Quick as thought, I aimed and fired. As the smoke cleared away I could hardly credit what my senses showed me as the result of my shot. The fifteen slugs with which I had loaded my musket had done their work well—five of the six Indians lay dead upon the ground, and the sixth had disappeared.

Although no enemy was now in sight, I did not venture forth until morning.—There lay the bodies of five Indians undisturbed, together with the rifle of the other. Securing the arms and amunitions of the fallen Indians, I followed up the trail of the missing one until it reached the river, beyond which point I could discover no trace whatever. From the amount of blood which marked the trail, together with the unmistakeable evidences that he had picked his way with difficulty, I was led to believe that he was mortally wounded, and in order to prevent his body from falling into the hands of his white foe he had groped his way to the river and thrown himself into the current, which had borne him away.

The Indians had killed my cow, and that, you may be assured, was no trifling loss, yet, in my gratitude for my escape from the savages, I would have been utterly willing to have made sacrifices. I was well provided—by means and amunition taken from the six Indians—in case of a second attack; but this, fortunately proved to be my last adventure with the savages. Not one of the band had escaped to tell the tale and incite his brethren to revenge the death of his other comrades.

"Ah," exclaimed the old man, while the tears gushed from his eyes at the memory of that eventful night, "that was a glorious shot; the best I ever made"

The hero of this adventure lived to see the rude wilderness, where he had pitched his lonely cabin, transformed into smiling fields, and peopled by hardy and enterprising pale-faces, among whom his last days were passed in peace and plenty, undisturbed by the presence of his old time foes.

CLASSICS FOR ARKANSAS.—A story is told of a Bostonian's first appearance in polite society in Arkansas. The company were engaged in dancing, but the loveliest female present occupied a chair at the window without a partner. Stepping up to the lady with a palpitating heart, his mind greatly excited for fear of a refusal, he exclaimed,

"Will you do me honor to grace me with your company for the next set?"

Her lustrous eyes shone with unwonted brilliancy, her white pearly teeth fairly glistened in the flickering candle light, her heavinly snowy bosom rose and fell with joyful rature, as she replied:

"Yes sir-ee! for I have sot, and sot, and sot till I have tuk root!"

☞ An anxious mother in Main thus writes to her son in California:—

"My dear son—Come home. A rolling stone gathers no moss. Your affectionate mother."

To which young America, with equal laconism replies:—

"My dear mother—Come here. A setting hen never gets fat. Your affectionate son"

The Father's Curse

BY MINNIGREY.

The night was clear and cold; the north wind went wailing round the street corners with a hollow cheerless sound, piling up, here and there, huge snow-banks in the silent streets. Silent and deserted save now and then the jingling of sleigh bells told of some late returner from a party, ball, or theatre, or the shrill cry of the watchman proclaiming the hour of night.

'Twas past midnight when a female form, but slighly protected from the piercing cold, passed with a rapid but uneven gait through an obscure street in the lower part of the city of Memphis, and entered a dilapidated building at the extreme end of street. Poverty, guant poverty reigned within. The fire had long since gone out, and the wind came whistling down the chimney and beneath the door, scattering the ashes around the room.

There was a broken chair; a box, holding a few plates, a bunch of straw, covered with some carpet and an old shawl,—Yet, among all this poverty and misery, lived one to whom sorrow and care were unkown. Upon that miserable bed of straw, carefully covered, lay sleeping a beautiful child; and, as it slept, it dreamed, and a smile beautiful as an angel's caused the dimples to play around its mouth.

'O, God! I never thought a father's curse would be so hard to bear,' exclaimed the woman, as she bent above the sleeping child. 'I never thought, when I left my father's house in anger, that a child of mine would ever want for bread. God in heven, hear my prayer! give me bread—bread for my child! Let me not be his murderer.'

''Twould be but just, Julia,' exclaimed a man who had entered unobserved; and stood closely muffled beside her.

'Who are you, that tells of justice?' asked she, slowly rising and turning towards the stranger. She had been very beautiful, but care and want had made deep inrods upon her beauty.

'Ah!' said the man, slowly, mediatingly, 'you have changed since we last met. I, too have changed. There, does your memory serve you now?' and he dropped his cloak upon the floor.

'James Cleve!' exclaimed the woman, bitterally. 'What would you here? Have you come to exult over the misery you have made? You have always haunted my pathway like a phantom of evil.—What new calamity awaits me? Speak!' and she folded her arms, and haughtily conformed him.

'Julia,' said he, 'three years ago I met you at your father's home, blessed with every comfort a father's love could suggest, surrounded by many loving friends and perfectly happy I loved you, and I sought your's in return; you said you scorned the love of such as me, that my money was all that made me; and more, to my most inveterate enemy, to one whom I had sworn to hate through all eternity, you committed the treasure I had asked for, your wealth of love. I told you of my vow, and warned you not to share my hate—a hate that would haunt you throught life, and after death could I so will it. You listened to all I said in silent scorn, much as you listen now; and when I finished, you vowed, come what would, none other than Charles Benton should call you wife. You kept your vow, and married him. Now see if I have not mine. You married, and your father, in anger, refused evermore to look upon his child. I, his friend and counsellor, upheld him in his determination. Benton was poor, compared with your father and myself; and, disappointed at receiving a portionless bride, and galled by your father's contemptuous treatment he left the city, and sought employment elsewhere. 'Twas useless; I had been there before him, and gold is powerful.—Maddened by his ill success, he sought the gaiming table. He lost, through another I lent him money, and again he lost; and then he won a little, not enough to cover his loss, but enough to entice him to play again with the vain hope of winning back his own. I say vain hope, because his partner was my tool, and it was far from my plan to have Benton winner in the end. Thus have matters gon on for weeks and months; but the end has come; to night when I left him in the gamblers den, a corpse lay at his feet, and he was branded murderer! What think you—have I not fulfilled my vow?'

Julia listened in silence, and, as he told of his deep laid villany, a deep crim on flush spread over her cheeks, and in to her dark eyes sprang a wild, bright ful light, that made Cleve, accustomed as he was to their gaze, quail before th fierce consuming fire he had kindled there

'James Cleve,' said she, 'though you have embittered my whole life, though you have blasted my joy and turned th gall of hatred, with which your own heart runneth over, into mine; though you have made me an outcast and a begger upon the earth, yet I scorn and detest you still—Begone! and know that mine is no servile spirit to be crushed by your cowaerdly. treacherous scheming My father, though you have estranged him from me, will not see me starve. I will go home; I will ask for bread, that I and my child may not die and he will give it to me.'

Cleve smiled a cold, derisive smile.

'Julia, to night I met your father, and I told him of Benton, where and how I had seen him last; and then I spoke of you and he said.

'Tell me,' said Julia, leaning eagerly forward 'did he say I might come home and bring my babe? Did you come to take me home? Oh! my babe, we shall not starve; we will soon be warmed and fed once more!' and she caught the child to her bosom and kissed it. 'We will go now; we will not keep you waiting.'

'Fool!' exclaimed Cleve. 'He said your child he was willing to receive and bring it up as his own, but you he never wished to see; from the hour you left his door with Charles Benton you have ceased to be his child, and his curse should follow you forever!'

The rapid transition of thought and feeling from one extreme to the other was greater than Julia, exhausted as she was, could endure, and she fell upon the floor in a deep faint. Cleve summoned a lodger from another room, and telling her to inform Mrs. Benton that he would call again in an hour, left.

Fifteen minuets later Mrs. Benton opened her eyes and gazed around. Her attendants, thinking her looking for Cleve delivered the message.

'Coming again!' said she, 'I don't recollect;' and she raised her hand slowly to her head. 'O, yes! I remember now 'Yes,' said she musingly, 'it must be.'—And as soon as she was strong enough she got up and arranged the babe's dress as best she could, and laid it down again; and then she stood and gazed upon it, and the soft tender lines about her mouth went all away, and her features assumed a stony, determined look, and her eyes were cold and bright as the diamond's light.

At the expiration of the hour, Cleve returned.

'Ah! you are willing to let the child go,' he exclaimed, as his eye fell upon it. 'It is the best thing you could have done;' and he drew from beneath his cloak a child's cloak and hood, and laid them upon Mrs Benton's arm; she put them on, and giving the child to him, cau ht up her own ragged shawl, and followed him out of the house, and was fairly upon the street before Cleve noticed her presence.

'Julia,' said he, stopping, 'you must not come—you cannot come!'

'I only want to see you take it in, and then I'll trouble you no more.'

She spoke sadly, mournfully, although Cleve did not notice it then; yet, in days following, those words, that tone, often, to often for his own peace of mind, recurred to him; he only told her to fall behind, to follow at a distance; and as he opened her father's door, far down the street, he saw her standing in the clear, cold, moonlight. Half an hour later a female form glided rapidly among the trees that gew upon the banks of the Mississippi a short distance below the city; a moment, and its turbid waters flashed and parted, and, far down in the deep dark waves one of life's weary ones found rest.

☞ A nobleman having given a grand party, his tailor was among the company, and was addressed by his lordship:—

"My dear sir, I remember your face but forget your name."

The tailor whispered, "I made your breeches."

The nobleman took him by the hand and thus exclaimed.—

"Major Breeches, I am happy to see you!"

☞ "Bill, you young scamp, if you had your due, you'd get a good whipping."

"I know it daddy, but bills are not always paid when they become due.'

☞ "What did you give for that horse neighbor?"

"My note."

"Well, that was cheap."

American Board of Foreign Missions.

The annual report of the Treasurer shows the following expenditures for the past year:

Zulu Mission		$13,173 19
Caboon "		19,943 31
Grecian "		1,480 39
North American "		73,711 20
South " "		15,534 64
Syrian "		28,670 60
Assyrian "		11,702 40
Nestorian "		11,017 72
Bombay "		7,336 94
Ahmadnugar "		12,405 33
Satara "		1,615 00
Kohlapoor "		629 40
Madras "		6,419 73
Madura "		31,772 76
Ceylon "		15,700 90
Canton "		5,506 59
Fuh-chau "		3,990 70
Shanghai "		5,889 61
Sandwich Islands "		26,060 00
Micronesia "		8,224 34
Choctaw "		6,564 61
Cherokee "		5,246 19
Dacotah "		1,477 78
Ojibaway "		6,768 80
Tuscarora "		1,124 64
Seneca "		2,490 54
Abenequis "		552 06
Agencies "		13,894 02
Publications		10,062 06
Secretaries		5,270,00
Treasurers		4,690 00
New York expenses		4,885 82
Arcot and Amoy Missions		16,191 23
Bal. of debt Aug. 1st, 1857		2,847 59
Grand Total.		$374,889 35
Receipts,		334,018,48
Balance,		$40,890 87

Profitable Whaling Voyage.

Schooner Watchman, Capt. C W Hassey, of Nantucket, returned to this port about two weeks since from a whaling cruise in the Atlantic Ocean, having been absent about a year. While cruising in Sam Bay the schooner captured a sperm whale, from which was obtained eleven barrels of oil worth about $450. The most valuable part of the whale, which was a very large one consisted, however in the extraordinary secretion in the intestines of about six hundred pounds of ambergris, a solid opaque, inflamable substance, possessing a peculiar scent, which it always retains. The ambergr s is supposed to be the product of disease of the liver, since it is found in whales of a sick and lean appearance, which, being struck with a lance or freightened by the approach of a boat, give indications of ill health, by emitting a yellowish secretion, which colors the water. It is found in no other than the spermacetti whale, and is usually found in lumps weighing from one to thirty pounds. The largest piece before known weighed one hundred eighty-two pounds, and was purchased of the King of Tidore, by the Dutch East India Company. Another piece found inside a whale near the Windward Islands, was sold for £500 sterling. The article melts easily into a kind of yellowish resin, and is soluble in alchohol, in which it is used as a perfume. It is also employed in refining gold, and by Catholics burning incense in their churches. Whaling vessels touching at Catholic ports are often besieged by the priest seeking to obtain ambergis. The article, however, is rarely obtained, and from its scarcity commands a great price, selling at from ten to sixteen dollars an ounce. The quantity obtained by Captain Hussey was, upon his arrival, shipped to this city, and stored for a single night in a store on city wharf. The owners of the schooner hoped to realize $6000 from the sale of it, and to guard against loss, obtained a policy of insurance and set a watch over it. The next day the entire quantity was sold to an enterprising firm of druggists in this city for the large sum of $10,000, the whale thus yielding $10,450, said to be the most valuable on record. The purchasers will probably realize $60,000.—We learn that the article is destined for a foreign market.—Boston Journal.

THE CABLE IN TROUBLE.—For some days it has been feared that all was not right with the cable Indeed the resignation of Mr. Field created some doubt about the harmony of the directors, and the Telegraph of yesterday confirmed them. It is intimated that some of the "Electricians" on the other side, after having failed to make their system available, have determined that no other shall be used, and so have been tampering in some way with the European end of the line They are indignant that the system invented by Professor House operates so much more successfully than theirs, and is likely to be accepted This triumph of Yankee genius they are resolved to avenge, if the suspicions of yesterday are well founded.

Scene at a German Watering Place.

The St. Louis Democrat is favored with on occasional letter from a European tourist, who is evidently a cultivated person, and a graceful writer. His last gave a description of the fashionable watering place of Weisbaden, from which we make an extract which is worth reading:

'I left the Rhine a little below Mayence, and made a short visit to Weisbaden, some eight or ten miles east of the river. This is a beautiful place, and one of the Saratogas of Germany. The principal spring here throws up water in large quantities, mingled with gas, which produces a constant grugling sound, somewhat like water running from a jug. The water of this spring though clear as a crystal, has a temperature of about one hundred and thirty, and, of course, is too hot to be swallowed without cooling. Its taste, when cool, somewhat resembles that of the Congress Spring at Saratoga, but when first dipped up it tastes very much like hot chicken broth, well seasoned with salt and pepper.

I took a stroll early one morning over the beautiful grounds, and around the springs crowds crowds of people, each with a tumbler in hand, were walking up and down cooling of the boiling draught before they could drink it and this done, returning to the spaing for another glass. The high and the low seemed here to meet together, for miagling in the crowd I saw laces and rags, beauty and deformity wealth a povorty side by side, all intent upon imbibing as much as possible of the health-giving waters, invalids form but a very small part of the company here.—Counts and princes, lords and ladies, as well as bells and dandies, gamblers and blacklegs, are all mingled together with cripples and crutches. In one part of the grounds is a large palace-like structure called the Kursall, in which are not only dining-rooms, reading-rooms, concert rooms and dancing rooms, but more conspicuous and more frequented than all the others, are the gambling-rooms. I was amazed to see the engerness with which the infatuated crowds around these tables watched the progress of the play, and often staked large sums upon the mere turn of a die. I had before seen gambling upon the Mississippi steamers, but compared with Weisbaden, that was no gambling at all. At these tables sat elegantly-dressed ladies in white kid gloves, and slovenly half-druken back-drivers, side by side, staking money often upon the same figure. Even old men, bowed down with the infirmities of of age, were here, reaching out the money with trembling hand, and laying it upon the board, while mayhap at their side stood a youth of fifteen, with eyes kindled and cheeks glowing with the fires of a newly-begotten passion. Some timed ones, doubtless new beginners in the nefarious business, laid down silver, but the most part used only gold. and some staked thousand frank notes. Poor, deluded fools! They must know that not one in a hundred of those who stake money around those tables ever wins as much as he looses.

☞ The subjoined card appears among the advertisements of a Richmond daily paper:

"TO THE PEOPLE OF VIRGINIA!—I hereby proclaim myself a candidate for the office of Gov. of Va., and shall urge with whatever ability I posess, the wisdom of accepting 100,000,000 of acres of the public land, the money accruing therefrom to be applied to gradual extinction of Slavery; by purchasing the young slaves and their migration beyond the United States. Had Virginia applied the 100,000,000 of acres that she gave to the United States in 1787, to this purpose the banks of her majestic river would now be teeming with a thrifty white population, and strewn with cities, villages and cottages. She would (among all the States of the Federal Union) havr been first in Agriculture, first in commerce and first in Manufactures. Give me but a fair field to combat my rivals—I ask no other favor—and the triumph shall be mine.

Your servant, ever faithful and true.

HENRY ABRAM."

BIRTHS ON A STEAMER.—A singular circumstance occurred on the Steamer Superior during her last trip from Louisville to Cincinnati. A lady passenger gave birth to a pair of twins—fine bouncing girls—as the boat was about making a landing at Warsaw. Scarcely had the pleasurable excitement consequent upon such occasions subsided, when intelligence was received in the cabin that a German woman on deck had become the mother of three boys.

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

The Legend of Washington Lake.

Asleep on the green earths bosom,
Our tiny lakelet lies;
Fringed by wooded slopes and blossoms,
Tinted by the azure skies,
And o'er its silver wavelets
The white sail doth not row,
Where once the light bark floated,
Now glides the snowy prow.

Once to its depths was mirrored
The sporting Indian child,
Who, as the wild deer wayward,
Roamed through the greenwood wild,
Free as the warbling echo
In the distance breathing clear,
Or foam-chain on the billow
Rocked by the summer air.

Once the warriors cry resounded
Among the distant hills,
And fearless footsteps bounded
Through highland, vale and dells,
And where the windswept, laden
With wealth of summer bloom,
The dusky forest maiden
Welcomed the hunter home.

All day beneath the Maple
She wove the wampum braid,
Or where the dancing ripple
Gleamed through the wary shade,
She waited for his coming
And watched the waters blue,
Whereon at early morning
He launched his fleet canoe.

The hue and gold of twilight
Faded to a violet hue,
And with the diamond starlight
Fell the stilly pearl-like dew,
When with dark plumes waving gaily
A warrior neared the strand,
And moored his barge securely
On the spray besprinkled sand.

His step was light and agile
As the panther of the wild,
As he sprang beside the fragile
Form, of the chieftain's child,
And whispered as he pointed
Across the moaning tide,
Beyond the waves the wild Fawn
Shall be the Hurons bride.

Swift as a darting arrow
He seized the captive maid,
And lest a cry of terror
Should echo through the glade,
With battle-axe uplifted
Her sire form he bore.
To his light canoe that drifted
Gently from the pebbly shore.

She saw the camp fires growing
Dim 'neath the towering trees,
And on her dark cheek glowing
Felt the balmy home ward breeze,
And the death-scorn weapon snatching
From the warlike Huron brave,
Quick as the lightning flashing
She hurled him in the wave.

He sunk beneath the water
While with the oaken oar,
The Chippewaya fair daughter
Fled to her fathers shore,
But ever doth a shadow
Oer the tiny lakelet roam,
Called in the red man's language freedom,
By the pale-face Washington. H. H. S.

The Atlantic Monthly.

The October no. of this standard magazine of American Literature is promptly received. Like every No yet issued, it is of marked character. 'The autocrat of the Breakfast Table' 'marries the school mistress and is off' 'The new world and new man' is an article worthy of notice, so also are 'Her Grace, the Drum-mer's Daughter' and 'The Birds of the Garden and Orchard.'—Published monthly by Phillips Sampson & Co Boston—Terms $3.00 per annum

Petersons Magazine.

The October No of Peterson is received and always welcome The embellishments a Fashion Plates are a marked feature as usual and among its Literary articles we notice the continuation of 'Catharine Lincoln' a thrilling story by Frank Lee Benedict also of 'King Philip's Daughter' by Mrs Stephens, 'Much ado about nothing' by Lizzie Williams and 'The Deformed' by Sarah Hamilton—Published by Chas J Peterson Esq Philad—Terms $2,00 per annum

Lady's Home Magazine.

The October No of the Lady's Home Magazine by T. S Arthur, Esq is promptly upon our Table Its plates are beautiful, and its patterns valuable Its reading matter is always good 'Our Children' 'or the power of Habit,' by Arthur, is concluded in this No., 'The fortunes of Master Lee' and 'Wee Two,' are also worthy of notice. Address T. S. Arthur & Co., Publishers Terms $2 per annum

Godey's Lady's Book.

The October No of this standard Book of Fashions, Ladies work Patterns, and Original Literature, is promptly welcomed to our sanctum. We always have to notice it upon arrival, or the Ladies get hold of it, and its stories must all be read, and its fashions and patterns worked before we can get hold of it again. The present is a fine No., well worthy its predecessors. 'The Miracles' are an interesting steel engraved copy of the celebrated cartoons of Raphael, five in number. Address Godey's Lady's Book, Philadelphia.—Terms $3 per annum

---

THE PRINTER, No. 5, is received.—It retains its usual amount of interesting reading, advertising, &c. It is a welcom visitor. Henry & Huntington Publishers, No. 1, Spruce St., N. Y. Terms $1.

☞ Gov. BINGHAM will deliver the Annual Address before the Kalamazoo Agricultural Society on the 25 inst.

The County Fair 6th 7th and 8th.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BARTON, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1858.

Northern Lenawee Fair.

The Fair of this association held at Tecumseh on Thursday the 16th inst., according to previous notice, was well attended, and quite exceeded the expectations of those most interested in its success. It was expected that an unfortunate diversion, by the way of a general Sabbath School Festival at Adrian accompanied with an announcement of a Balloon ascension, would, and it no doubt did, to a certain extent, lessen the attendance here upon that occasion.

Still the attendance was a decided advance upon that of any previous year, as evidenced by increased receipts, while the show in the various departments, so far as the peculiarities of the season permitted were a manifest improvement upon that of any Fair since the organization of the Society. This is all the more gratifying and flattering inasmuch as many, seeing the odds and circumstances arayed against them, were disposed in advance to consider the whole thing a failure.

It has shown conclusively that the farmers of Northern Lenawee can be relied upon in any emergency, to stand by and support an organization especially devoted to the promotion of their individual interests, and further that they understand and appreciate the value of this organization to them in this respect.

The show of cattle upon the ground was pronounced by competent judges to be superior, in proportion to its extent, to that of our last State Fair. Indeed we do not believe that in any portion of the State there can be found a better class and quality of stock than is found in Northern Lenawee. We have seldom seen anywhere so marked an improvement in this respect, as has appeared from year to year at our annual Fair.

There were a great many fine blooded horses upon the ground though in this respect not perhaps superior to the Fairs of the former year. The exhibition of fruit in the Floral Hall quite exceeded our expectations, and indeed would, notwithstanding the unfavorable season, compare well with that, of seasons of more abundant fruitfulness.

The trial of the Threshing Machines occupied, instead of two hours as at first designed, the most of two days, and excited a continued interest, and constantly drew together a multitude of spectators One of the Battle Creek machines threshed the least, and one the most grain in the 30 minutes assigned for trial, but the judges upon the whole, having regard to the quantity threshed and quality of the work, awarded the premium of $100, to the machine owned and operated by Thos Burlingham, being a machine manufactured by Messrs. Burlingame & Yauger of this place.

The citizens of this village for the most part contributed liberally to the support of the Fair, many of the mechanics giving two or three days to the erection and removal of the necessary buildings for its accommodation, and our merchants contributing also to supply a deficiency in the proceeds to meet the amounts awarded

There will be a meeting of the executive committee on Saturday at 1 o'clock P M. at the office of the Secretary, at which time the report of the Judges will be examined and a list of the awards made out accordingly which we hope to publish in the Herald the following week.

We must not omit to mention as a matter of editorial courtesy, that the Editors of both county papers were present and, also gave both before and since the Fair, in their respective organs, a flattering notice in behalf of the association—The whole no of entries for exhibition were about 600 and the number of exhibitors a little over 200. In this respect also the Fair of last week exceeded that of any former year.

From Washington.

Washington, Sept. 22.

The Post Master General, Attorney General and Secretary of the Treasury have come to an agreement as to private concerning the Post Office, Court and Custom House demonstrations in Philadelphia.

The steamer Water Witch left for Norfolk to-day and the Fulton will follow to morrow morning. They will there take on board the remainder of their crew, thence proceed without delay to Buenos Ayres to await the arrival of the other vessels of the Paragua expedition

The President's anticipated return this evening has brought to Washington a number of prominent politicians.

Philadelphia Items.

Philadelphia, Sept 22.

Robinson Lee, Esq, formerly of the firm of Lee & Bankes, of this city, died last evening. He has been engaged in the breadstuff trade for nearly a quarter of a century.

Mr. Newbinger, the anti-Lecompton candidate for Congress in the 1st district, has challenged Mr. Florence the Democratic candidate to meet him in public discussion eight distinct charges.

General News.

Quebec, Sept. 21.

The steamship North Britton, from Liverpool on Wednesday, the 8th inst., arrived at this port this A M., having been detained below over night by the storm. Though the political intelligence, generally speaking, by the North Briton is not of importance, there are some points of marked interest, especially in relation to the Atlantic Telegraph The R. M. steamship Niagara, from Boston and Halifax, arrived at Liverpool on Saturday, the 4th inst. The screw steamship Great Britain from New York, arrived at Liverpool on the 7th inst

The cessation of signals through the Atlantic Cable was announced in London on the 6th, but no particulars had been given to the public. It was believed however, from what had leaked out that the difficulty was near the shore and remediable. The non-working of the Cable had caused a decline in the shares to a nominal quotation of four hundred to five hundred pounds on a par value of one thousand pounds. In addition to the above, we are permitted to state that the New York Honorary Directors of the Atlantic Co., have to-day received a dispatch from the Superintendant in Newfoundland, who states that the electricians have been unable to communicate with Valencia station since the 1st of September; but the electrical manifestations are such that no doubt exists that the difficulty is at or very near the Valentia Office.

[Signed] REPORTER.

A grand banquet in honor of the Atlantic Cable was given at Kilarney on the 7th day of Sept. Chas. T. Bright, the engineer of the Telegraph Company, had been knighted by the Lord Lieut of Ireland. Queen Victoria had opened the Town Hall at Leeds The proceedings were attended with great eclat. The loyalty from China to France and England, for the expenses of the war is believed to be considerably greater than was reported via. Russia.

New York Sept 21

The quarantine indignation meeting of yesterday, was largely attended by the most prominent and wealthy residents of the place But one feeling pervaded the meeting; that the quarantine establishment was a nuisance that should be speedily abated

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune announces the failure of the old banking house of Chubb & Co., in consequence of speculations in Western lands

There were rumors yesterday afternoon of a meditated attack upon Castle Landing Depot, for the purpose of destroying it. The Commissioners of the migration consequently applied to the Police Department, for assistance, when the Superintendent sent a body of 75 policemen, who remained on the premises all night. Two boat crews of Harbor police were also cruising around the garden until morning. There was also a guard inside, armed with volcanic rifles

The Journal of Commerce says that eight Portuguese sailors landed at Manhattan Point on Saturday, from a brig, which was seen standing off and on. They had with them a large amount of money, in doubloons One of them was sick and died soon afterwards On his death bed he confessed that he and his companions belonged to a slaver brig, which recently landed a cargo of Africans in Cuba.—The remainder of sailors proceeded to Sag Harbor

A dispatch from Charleston says, the Niagara with the captured negroes will sail from that port to-day

Gen Walker went out yesterday in the Star of the West, accompanied by Col. Van Natzer, a distinguished filibuster.—The United States they are bound to Nicaragua, but will remain at Panama for the present to mature their plans for another foray in that country Cannon, small arms and ammunition, it is said were sent out in the small Canal Steamer which left this city a few days ago. Men and material also went out in the Herrman Steamer, which sailed a few weeks since for the Pacific

Washington, Sept. 21.

Messrs Chubb Bros, Bankers and Brokers, who suspended payment yesterday report their liabilities to Washington Depositors at $15,000, and their assetts ample They continue their Collection and Commission business, hoping at an early day to arrange with their Creditors. They make no assignment.

The joint commission for running the boundary between the United States and Texas will not commence operations till spring.

The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that Tamarinds preserved in Sugar are subject to a duty of 30 per cent; Cotton socks with Tops, 15 per cent; Spring Steel, the same rate of duty.

The Secretary of the Navy received a despatch this morning, stating that the Niagara with the captured Africans, left Charleston last night, for Africa.

New York, Sept. 21.

The Vanderbilt Democratic Reformers have nominated Edwin C. Litchfield for Congress, in Taylor's District.

Terrific Adventure in the Mammoth Cave.

At the supposed end of what has always been considered the longest avenue of the Mammoth Cave, nine miles from its entrance, there is a pit, dark, deep and terrible, known as the Maelstrom. Tens of thousands have gazed into it whilst bengal lights were thrown down it to make its fearful depths visible, but none ever had the daring to explore it The celebrated guide Stephen, who was deemed insensible to fear was offered a hundred dollars if he would descend to the bottom of it, but he shrank from the peril A few days ago, a Tennessee Professor, a learned and bold man, resolved to do what no one before him had dared to do, and making his arrangements with great care and precaution, he had himself lowered down by a strong rope a hundred feet, but, at that point, his courage failed him, and he called aloud to be drawn out. No human power could ever have induced him to repeat the appalling experiment

A couple of weeks ago, however, a young gentleman of Louisville, whose nerves never trembled at mortal peril, being at the Mammoth Cave with Professor Wright of our city and others, determined, no matter what the dangers and difficulties might be, to explore the depths of the Maelstrom. Mr. Proctor the enterprising proprietor of the Cave, sent to Nashville and procured a long rope of great strength expressly for the purpose. The rope and some necessary timbers were borne by the guides and others to the point of proposed exploration. The arrangements being soon completed, the rope, with a heavy fragment of rock affixed to it was let down and swung to and fro to dislodge any loose rocks that would be likely to fall at a touch. Several were thus dislodged, and the long continued reverbation, rising up like distant thunder from below proclaimed the depth of the horrid chasm. Then the young hero of the occasion, with several hats drawn over his head to protect it as far as possible against any masses falling, falling from above and with a light in his hand, and the rope fastened around his body, took his place over the awful pit and directed the half dozen men who held the end of the rope, to let him down into the Crimerian gloom.

We have heard from his own lips an account of his descent. Occasionally, masses of earth and rock went whizzing past, but none struck him. Thirty or forty feet from the top, he saw a ledge, from which as he judged from appearance, two or three avenues led off in different directions About a hundred feet from the top, a cataract from the side of pit went rushing down the abyss, and as he descended by the side of the falling water and in the midst of the spray he felt some apprehension that his light would be extinguished, but his care prevented this. He was landed at the bottom of the pit, a hundred and ninety feet from the top. He found it almost perfectly circular, about eighteen feet in diameter, with a small opening at one point, leading to a fine chamber of no great extent. He found on the floor beautiful specimens of black silky gypsum crystals, vastly larger than were ever discovered in any other part of the Mammoth Cave, and also a multitude of exquisite formations as pure and white as virgin snow. Making himself heard, with great effort, by his friends he at last asked him to pull him partly up, intending to stop on the way and explore a cave that he had observed opening about forty feet above the bottom of the pit. Reaching the mouth of that cave, he swung himself with much exertion into it; and, holding the end of the rope in his hand, he incautiously let it go, and it swung out apparently beyond his reach The situation was a fearful one, and his friends above could do nothing for him.

Soon, however, he made a hook of the end of his lamp, and by extending himself as far over the verge as possible without falling, he secured the rope. Fastening it to a rock, he followed the avenue 150 or 200 yards to a point where he found it blockaded by an impassable avalanche of rock and earth. Returning to the mouth of this avenue, he beheld an almost exactly similar mouth of the other on the opposite side of the pit, but, not being able to swing himself into it, he fastened the rope around his body, suspended himself again over the abyss, and shouted to his friends to raise him to the top.—The pull was an exceedingly severe one, and the rope, being ill adjusted around his body gave him the most excruciating pain. But soon his pain was forgotten in a new and dreadful peril When he was 90 feet from the mouth of the pit, and 100 from the bottom, swaying and swinging in mid air, he heard rapid words of horror and alarm above, and soon learned that the rope by which he was upheld had taken fire from the friction of the timber over which it passed Several moments of awful suspense to those above, and still more awful to him below ensued. To them, and him, a fatal and instant catastrophe seemed inevitable. But the fire was extinguished with a bottle of water belonging to him-self, and then the party above, though almost exhausted by their labors, succeeded in drawing him up to the top He was as calm and self-possessed as upon his entrance into the pit, but all of his companions, overcome by fatigue, sank down upon the ground, and his friend Professor Wright from overexertion and excitement fainted and remained for a time insensible. The young adventurer left his name carved in the depths of the Maelstrom—the name of the first and only person that ever gazed upon its mysteries.—Louisville Jour.

Not Found Yet—Little Hope Left

We learn by the Detroit papers, that up to 11 o'clock last night, no tidings were had of Mr. Thurston, the submarine navigant. All hope of his discovery alive seems to be given up, and the most that can now be looked for, as far as he is concerned is the finding of his remains

The Tribune of last evening says:

In our conversation with Mr Bannister he gave it as his opinion that the gas would sufficiently exhaust to let the balloon down within the time named He thinks it would escape very slowly indeed from the neck of the vessel, and there was about 13,000 cubic feet of rarefied hydrogen in it at the time of the second ascension

The sky was clear and the atmosphere free from commotion on that day, which was favorable When they first came down at Knight's station, Uncle Jon complained of feeling slightly squeamish Mr Bannister felt no disagreeable sensations whatever, but says that when adverse currents are met, the balloon rocks back and forth, causing severe sea-sickness, profuse vomiting &c., until the stomach is emptied This, with the rarity of the atmosphere at a great altitude, occasions severe hunger, and, if protracted, necessitates bodily prostration. So that longer be remained in the sky, the weaker would the reckless aeronaut become and the more likely to release his hold.

That the balloon came down as we stated yesterday there is no doubt A lumberman who came up on last evening's train states positively that it landed on the farm of Joseph Marks, Esq., Municipal Councillor for the Township of Pinkerry West, four miles west of Bapties Creek and about thirty miles from Windsor. He further states that Mr Marks proceeded on Sunday and took the silk of which it was wholly made into his house

The Cable in England.

The London Times takes strong exceptions to the manner in which the laying of the Atlantic Cable is spoken of in the U. S. It thinks our people are disposed to claim more of the credit of the enterprise than belongs to them According to the Times England furnished not only most of the pecuniary means employed by the company, but pretty much all the science skill and energy which secured success to the enterprise It charges Capt Hudson of the Niagara, with being dish artened and disposed to give up, on the return of the squadron after the failure last summer It is a little singular that the long article in which the Times undertakes to make a proper division of the honors of that event, no recognition is made of the part borne by Mr Field the real organizator of the whole enterprise! If our English cousins have no credit to spare to him we think other Americans need hardly look for any. It may be, however that when the Telegraph Co get a machine that will work the line, the Times will ascertain what country it comes from

Washington, Sept 19.

The steamers Fulton and W. Witch, forming part of the expedition for Paraguay, are now ready for sea and will probably leave to-morrow for Norfolk—Guns of very heavy calibre have been selected for both vessels—the armament of the Fulton consisting of one 11 inch shell gun on a pivot and four of 9 inch in broadside; that of the Water Witch of one 9 inch shell-gun on a pivot. In addition, the Fulton will carry two boat howitzers and the Water Witch three, one of which is a heavy 24 pounder, mounted upon a pivot on the forecastle Both vessels are supplied with small arms and ammunition of the most approved kind including the Sharps and Minnie muskets together with revolvers

GATHERING GRAPES.—Cut the stem near the vine with care and leaving but the top in boxes or tubs between layers of the best white cotton batting, to avoid all scent from the cotton, store in a cool place By pursuing this method, we have heretofore, in winter, found the stem with the grape's perfectly sound, not even wilted, and they richly contribute to the delicacies of the table.—Rural New Yorker

Boston Sept 21

The second examination of Townsend, the mate of the slaver brig Putnam, is assigned for to morrow before U S. Commissioner Loring. It is rumored, that the defence will be, that Townsend was only a passenger, and that the real Capt of the brig is a Spaniard, now imprisoned as one of the crew, in Charleston, Mass. Mrs. Townsend has visited her husband in jail, and it is said, that several well known parties in New York, have been anxious to get an interview with him.

The Illinois Balloon Peril—The Children Safe.

We have already noticed the case of the balloon that accidently went up on Friday last, nee Centralia, Ill. The Lieutenant was playfully letting it up and down with a young lady, a little girl and a little boy in it. While doing so the young lady jumped out of the balloon, which so suddenly lightened it that before the balloonist could get it under his control, it broke loose, taking with it the little girl and boy. It floated off westward and we now learn that the balloon came down about 28 miles south west of Centralia, and the children were rescued from their perilous position.

By more accident, it apears, the little girl got hold of the rope which opens the gas valve, and by pulling ob it lowered the balloon. Its anchor caught in a tree, and on Saturday morning they were discovered by a farmer, who soon got them down in safety to terra firma.

Special Notices.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
22 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Rubber pushie Vials,
Graduated Measures, nursing
Bott es, &c.
Glass Ware for Chemists Druggists, Perfumers Pocket pieces, etc Graduated Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application exc-408m3

Barley Wanted

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.
A. JAMES & CO.,
Tecumseh, Aug 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, whereby if we must, peaceably if we can "
CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every description, promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,
The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by S. T. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

All the articles of Patent Medicines sold throughout the Country, nothing to deceive a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery for all cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or In termittent.

Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 4 4-4w

New Advertisements.

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on or next before, each full moon

100 Chloe Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For sale Low, at the Cheap Store of
B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th

A Card from Dr. James M Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above institution as chief Physician and Lecturer, years of steady devotion to the cure of pulmonary consumption and its kindred diseases together with my individual observations and extensive practice in my professional researches, added not a little by a perfect system of Inhalation, has enabled me to arrive at a certain, safe and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat Lungs and Air Passages. By I mention the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly absorbed into the circulation of the blood, and through the lungs, thereby avoiding the use of Medical Institutions of any kind, to the exclusion of general treatment, and although I do not consider it a useful adjuvant in the cure of some of these fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it necessary in most cases, that such patient should take the aid of both general and local treatment, the success of my treatment in the above diseases and the high character of the institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to a large extent to need any comment from me. At the solicitation of many of my friends and professional friends the sick who call upon the poor at the above charity, have been long and liberally supported, and for the consideration I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my skill and treatment within the reach of all, and I examine myself to be accurate in those only who at the interview, are able to visit me at my office. Hoping that those in the wrong may receive early and earnest attention to me, prefer I not be considered the public I would remind them once in conclusion, that I can now (to consult personally or by letter on all diseases of the throat and lungs, on the same terms and in the institution prepared) exhibit such individual cases, Dr Jarrett's Pectoral Balsam &c. &c. will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canada. Price $10 per month for each patient which will include medicine sufficient for one months treatment also the Inhaling Vapor and an inhaling apparatus. Payment as above $5 to be paid to express agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine and the balance $5 at the expiration of the month if the patient is cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients residing in the interior of Dr Jarrett's treatment may rely on the immediate and permanent relief in the above named diseases in 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M JARRETT M D
No 6 Broadway cor Fourth St. N. Y.

P S. Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the infirmary, where in the treating cases can be witnessed and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected. 11

To-Days Advertisements.

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use.

Wire down and no further communication at Present.

To those of my patrons who desire that a chance at my late arrival of New Goods, will please call and purchase before VICTORIA comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 16th.

A. B WARD.
Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

Detroit Eye Infirmary

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit, No 94 Woodward Avenue, over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to treatment of the eye, and he hopes his experience and success for the past seven years will insure him a continuance of the confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th. 6t

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Coarse Fine, Course and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th. E. TIDDEL

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection, the best, for sale cheap by E Tiddel
Tecumseh, Sept. 16

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET

E. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provisions.

WANTED,

Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Ham, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit, &c. For which the highest market price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh, Sept. 16 6m

WILLIAMSON'S

PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNES BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on
GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,
Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at
"Prices to suit the Times."
Satisfaction Warranted.
Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 6m

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!
Splendid Gifts!
At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOKERS

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his STAR GIFT BOOK and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular price, will receive one of the following articles valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100
550 Patent Anchor do do	50
4 0 Ladies' Gold Watches 18k cases	50
100 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	25
500 Parlor 7 Octave do	200
500 Rosewood 8 ts Piano Forte Legs and Pins.	50
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets	25
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	25
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10
0 0 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5
600 Gold Pencil Cases with Gold Pens,	5
1000 extra Gold Pens with cases and holders	5
2500 Gold Pens, (Ladies')	3
5000 Gilt Pens with Silver Cases,	2
2500 Ladies Gilt Pens with Cases and Holders	2
6500 Gold Rings (Ladies')	2
9000 extra Gold Rings	1
4500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	1
7500 Misses' do	50
9000 Pocket Knives,	50
1000 Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	50
500 do Silver Buttons,	50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	50
1000 Ladies' Pearl Card cases,	50
5000 Gents' Cameo Jet or Mosaic Pins,	50
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins,	50
9000 Articles of Gold Jewelry Gift Books &c.	50

Interspersed in the above, worth from 25 cents to $100.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to a person ordering ten books to be sent to address

Send for a Catalogue. Address,
G. G. EVANS, Publisher
407m3} 439 Chestnut Street, Philad.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters
THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW
For the public for the cure of Sick Headache, Sours or Eruptions of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Jaundice, Dizziness, Coldness of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Dysentery, Bilious Colic, Bilious Fever and Ague Dyspepsia Dropsy, and Female Complaints, Piles, Fever and Ague, and Fever and Ague Dyspepsia Dropsy, and in fact all diseases arising from a disordered state of the stomach or Liver, or Bowels, or Kidneys, or Impure Blood, or Loss of Appetite, Constipation of the Bowels, Costiveness, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.
TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	12	20
One-quarter do	5	8	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square, one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business cards of 4 lines, unless contracted with other advertisements, $5.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Notice to Trespassers.—In instances requiring advertisements to be forbid, (when we are unknown to the publisher) must be accompanied the cash or second their advertisement through a responsible agent.

MAILS CLOSE

	A. M.	P. M.
For the North	4 00	1 30
Eastern and Southern	4 30	7 30
Jonesville, via Cambridge Macon, & Cottierville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7
Mason—Friday	10
Ann Arbor & Lake Shore—Tuesday &	9

Rail Road Time

	A. M.	P. M.
	8 40

18.

For State

the head of the next commit

☞ The Michigan Farmer is to be published weekly.

☞ Hon. Henry Waldron will please accept our thanks for Patent Office Reports, 1857.

☞ The Baloon fever still rages in our village. Another ascension will be made on Saturday evening, if the weather is favorable.

☞ Between two and three thousand people attended the Fair held in this village on Thursday last. We shall publish the list of premiums next week. The Executive Committee are requested to meet at the office of the Secretary, on Saturday next, at ten o'clock, A. M.

SQUIRREL HUNT.—Those who wish to participate in a party hunt, are requested to meet at Emerson & Stocking's shop, on Saturday next, at six o'clock, P. M., to make suitable arrangements.

☞ Do you want any clothing? If so, call and examine George Heesen's new goods. He will warrant a good fit.

☞ AUCTION.—Wm. Cheever will sell at public auction, Tuesday, Oct., 5th, at his farm, near Dundee, a valuable lot of property. See posters.

☞ A COTILLION PARTY will be given by H. Nimocks, in the village of Clinton, on Friday evening, Oct. 8th. Music by Luther and Allen's band,—Ball $1.50.

☞ Our friends who intend to visit the city of Jackson, the 7th and 8th of next month, will please remember that the Exchange is kept by Stanton & Tiffany, who will give you the best the city affords and charge reasonable.

FRESH OYSTERS.—A James & Co are now receiving some of those nice fresh oysters. As our readers are so well acquainted with them, it is unnecessary for us to say anything further.

INTERESTING TO NEWSPAPER PROPRIETORS.—One of the Courts of the State of Indiana recently made a decision which is of interest to all newspaper proprietors throughout the Union. A controversy existed relative to a charge for advertising between the Commissioners of Hamilton county and the Patriot newspaper. It was held by the Judge that "the published terms of a newspaper constituted a contract. If work is given to a newspaper publisher, without a special contract contravening the published terms, the publisher can charge and receive according to the terms so published. It is not necessary to prove what the work cost or was worth; the publisher has a right to fix the estimate value of his columns, and if so fixed no other question need be asked, but the price thus charged can be recovered."

☞ Frank Leslie was refused a ticket to the telegraph dinner in New York, because he had exposed the stamp tailed cows in his paper, and having purchased a ticket, he was forcibly expelled from the hall by police, at the order of certain aldermen. Is there any meanness too small for New York aldermen?

SWAMP LANDS.—There have been sold of the swamp lands, up to the 26th of August, 60,813 acres. The State has received in cash for them $44 900, and will receive yearly interest on $64,000 more until payment is made to the State. The purchasers which must be within ten years. Over four millions of acres of these lands are now in market, having been advertised and offered at public sale, and the cost of advertising is paid for, and a surplus remains in the Treasury of over $30,000, and the State receives besides nearly interest enough to pay the interest on one-third of the $216,000 of the State debt for which new bonds were issued according to an act of the Legislature passed last winter.

State Fairs for 1858.

Michigan, Detroit, Sept. 28, 29, 30, & Oct. 1.
Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.
Illinois, Centralia, September 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.
Iowa, Oskaloosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshire, Dover, Oct. 6, 7, 8.
New York, at Syracuse, Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28.
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October, 4, 5, 6, 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St. Johns, Oct. 13, 14
St. Joseph, Centerville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28, 29, 30.
Genesee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7.
Northern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 29
Berrien, Niles Oct. 6 and 7.
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.
Ottawa, Eastmanville, Sept. 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct. 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5, 6 and 7.
Branch, Coldwater, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

To Good to be lost.

A good one is told of a worthy deacon in the city of S., in Northern Ohio. The deacon was the owner and overseer of a large pork packing establishment. His duty was to stand at the head of the scalping through, watch in hand to time the length of the scald, crying "Hog in!" when the just slaughtered hog was to be thrown in the through, and "Hog out" when the watch told three minutes. One week the press of business compelled the packers to unusually hard labor, and Saturday night found the deacon completely exhausted. Indeed he was almost sick the next morning, when church time came; but he was a leading member, and it was his duty to attend the usual Sabbath service, if he could. He went. The occasion was one of unusual solemnity, as a revival was in progress.—The minister preached a sermon well calculated for effect. His perforation was a climax of great beauty. Assuming the attitude of one intently listening he recited to the heedless auditory;

"Hark! thy whisper, Angels say—"

"HOG IN!" come from the deacon's pew, in a stentorian voice. The astonished audience turned their attention from the preacher. He went on, however, unmoved—

"Sit ter spirit, come away"

"HOG OUT!" shouted the deacon—"TALLY FOR HOG OUT!"

This was too much for the preacher and audience. The latter smiled, some snickered audibly, while a few boys broke for the door to 'split their sides,' laughing outside, within full hearing. The preacher was disconcerted entirely—sat down—arose again—pronounced a brief benediction, and dismissed the anything else than solemn minded hearers. The deacon soon came to a realizing sense of his unconscious interlude, for his brethern reprimanded him severely, while the boys caught the infection of the joke, and possible occasion afforded an opportunity for them to say "Hog in"—"Hog out!"

THOUGH HE KNEW BETTER.—A little boy on waking in the morning was introduced to a new comer in the shape of a baby sister. After glancing first at the baby and then at its sick mother, the little fellow suddenly turned to his father and said:

'Pa, I should thought you would have known better than to bring this baby here when mother was so sick and unable to take care of it.'

☞ A Yankee chap, down in Holt, Kansas, occupying an old Daguerrean wagon by the road side, was discovered a short time since, washing and scouring an old gun barrel. On being asked what he intended to do with it, replied that he was fixing up to go in the liquor business, and to avoid the law, he was going to make use of this tube instead of glasses, thereby it being it appear beyond dispute that he is selling liquor by the barrel! The fellow is doing a thriving business. A great many persons have been "shot in the neck" at this novel contrivance.

☞ "I wish my portrait taken," said a young man from the country to a daguerreotypist.

"Very well, sir, take a seat here."

"You warrant a resemblance?"

"Certainly. For many years, and even when old age overtakes you, there will become traces of your features left."

"But suppose I catch the small pox, how can you warrant a durable likeness?"

"Just bring it back," said the artist smiling, "and I'll punch a few holes in it."

☞ One day, at a farm house, a wag saw an old gobbler trying to eat the strings of some night caps that lay on the ground to bleach. 'That, said he, is what I call introducing cotton into Turky.'

THAT'S SO.—A distinguished wag about town says the covering the ladies wear, now a days, are bare faced full goods. The perpetrator of this is still at large.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH, September 16 1858.

Wheat	90 @ 95
Flour	5 00@5 25
Buckwheat
Rye
Barley
Corn	50
Oats	40@45
Clover seed
Grass	3 50@4 00
Potatoes new	30
Onions	62
Apples, Green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	12
Tallow	10
Lard	7
Cheese	6
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	6
Beef,	4 00@5 00
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl	4 50
Sides	4
Calf skins	8@10
Sheep pelts	37@40
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do dairy per sack	1 50
Hay	5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	3@4 50

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind

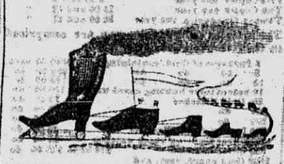
1858 RAILROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 55	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00		4 40
Leave Toledo for Detroit	8 00		60
Arrive at			12 55 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55		3 45
Arrive at	9 55		6 45
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 55 10 05
Arrive at	7 30		3 00
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 30		1 50
Arrive at	7 20		3 50
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25		1 50
Arrive at			12 05 5 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25		8 30
Arrive at			12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30		9 50
Arrive at	7 35		3 25
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35

All trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Delaware, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad at Detroit with trains on the great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee & Michigan Central Railroads at N. Y. & E. R. R. crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem and for New York and all points south at Bergen Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis road at Chicago with all the Railroad running north west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.
June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Oppenheimer's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858. 876w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858

NEW GOODS,

DAILY ARRIVING

At Shell's Old Store, Tecumseh.

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh April 22d. 388m3.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

SUGAR and COFFEE,

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS,

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See
T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target rifles with patent muzzle sights made to order equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns, Rifle and Pistol Barrels, Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Guns fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh May 19th, 1857.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS:

FRED EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS LEBARON,	WILLIAM GRAY,
D. L. SCALES,	JEROME ALLEN,
J. V. BEERS,	ALFRED JAMES,
O. O. ADAMS,	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 14th, 1858. 391y

1858 THE TECUMSEH HOUSE.

STRING, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usually kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh, June 16th, 1858.

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy weather as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 22nd, 1857. 380m3

C. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. F. Hale's New Brick Store, is now ready to furnish his friends and customers with WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A call is solicited.

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at Exchange Hotel, Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and hopes, as usual, to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1st, 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

(OPPOSITE C. S. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE,

P. ANGIER, PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Apothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those desiring to have new goods, that he has in warehouse and for sale the largest and most complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have 4 or 5 assortment, which will be kept full, and ordered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse to companies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in a Union

DAVID VAN FINE.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 380y

PROTHEGARIS HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all Kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Robick's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Liniment and Coalition Powders for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 5th.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

I am prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1 000 000
PHŒNIX	$800 000
HOWARD Westport N. Y.	$350 000
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn	$150 000
CHARTER OAK	$200 000

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The subscriber announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County. This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to none.

Call room if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established. And the possibly he will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TURPENTINE CAMPHENE AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS.

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May, 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Suit you Pick" every time, and warrant our work. Not to Rip in the Eye."

JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh Nov 20, 56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

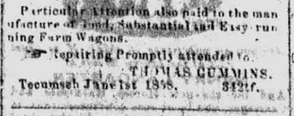
THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial Vehicles, that he is purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c. always on hand, or Made to Order.



Particular attention also paid to the manufacture of Strong, Substantial and Easy running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Hall's

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR,
New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

ICE CREAM.

SODA WATER.

LEMONADE,

ORANGES and LEMONS

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO
Tecumseh, June 24th, 1858.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no alterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquor, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby 18th, 1858. 378m3.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee" Self-Scouring Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will appreciate, by using these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand.

B. J. BIDWELL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

Miscellaneous.

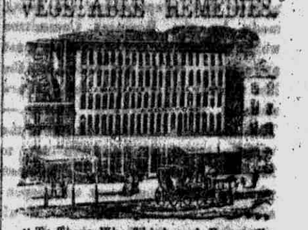
DR. ROBACK'S

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

THE GREAT

SCANDINAVIAN

VEGETABLE REMEDIES.



"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class, who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Diseases, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actual effects were compared by sagacious men, with the distinguished Physician's statements, and it was found that every stage of the progress of cure, was precisely as he had described it.—The result was that the mind of the country became interested, and that persons of the highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronized the preparations, and admitted the claim of the illustrious Swede, to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age

The Blood Purifier and Pills.

are now universally recommended by well informed and candid persons, as an Immediate cure for Indigestion.

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramps in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache.

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplessness, Nightmare.

General Debility,

Nervous Tremore, Fainting Fits, Epilepsy, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples on the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Mercurial Sores, Glandular swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia,

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Twitchings.

Female Complaints,

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS,

Of distinguished men in every profession, warmly recommending the preparations may be seen at Dr. Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal properties which Physicians have heretofore tried in vain to combine in one preparation. They relieve the bowels, purify the bile and blood, and invigorates the constitution, at one and the same time. To this fact all who try them will subscribe. The absence of mineral-, and of every stupifying drug, renders them harmless, even to the most delicate female, or the feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper than any other Pills, for it takes a less number of them to produce a better effect.

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1, per bottle or $6, per dozen. Of the Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or 5 boxes for $1

☞ Read Dr. Roback's Special Notices and Certificates: published in a conspicuous part of this Paper from time to time. Dr. Roback's Medical Almanac and Family adviser, containing a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information can be had gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Rooms, No. 6 east Fourth st. 3d Building from Main street, Cincinnati, O. Labatory in Hammand street.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O. March 8, '58.
Dr. C. W. ROBACK.—Dear Sir: For the benefit of suffering humanity, permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for Indigestion and Liver Complaint. I have suffered from the above mentioned diseases for five years and have tried a great many physicians but all to no purpose. I was advised by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. I was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your office and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and one box of Pills, commenced with, and bless the day I found your valuable medicines, for I am enjoying good health at present, and feel confident that the cure is permanent. Let others buy and take what they please, as for me, give me the Blood Purifier and Pills for all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs. I take no other medicines, and have not, for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, T. V. DUBOIS.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian. R. BROWNELL, Clinton.
G. V. HAWKINS Medina. F. N. BUTLER Monroe.
L. E. BIRD Clarkston. W. H. JOHNSON Hudson
and by Druggists and Merchants generally.
Tecumseh Jan 28 1858 378m

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merrill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857. Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and County premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor,
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on
E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 356tf

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Ellis, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 24, 1857. 360tf

AGRICULTURAL.

From the Michigan Farmer.

Preparations for the State Fair.

We are pleased to be able to announce that preparations are being made by the Business Committee which will render the State Fair most attractive. As we announced in the last number the grounds selected are situated on Woodward Avenue.—The contract for construction of the various buildings has been let to Messrs. Adams & Co., gentlemen who are amply competent and responsible, and who have command of all the lumber needed for such work.

The buildings for the accommodation of articles to be exhibited under cover will consist of Floral Hall, which will be one hundred feet long and fifty feet wide, and three large halls each one hundred feet long and thirty feet wide, for Domestic Manufactures, for Mechanic Arts and for Agricultural products. In the hall of Mechanic Arts, Mr. Augustus, Day, the proprietor of the improved Shingle Machine, proposes to erect his steam engine and to supply those who may so desire with steam power to work their several inventions. Behind these there will be a poultry house fifty feet in length, furnished with a double row of coops.

In the center of the grounds, will be located the grand amphitheatre, with three or four tiers of seats around it. In this amphitheatre, will be exhibited and judged all Blood cattle, and the various classes of horses, and such other stock as it may suit the Executive Committe to have shown in the ring. This amphitheatre is one hundred feet in diameter, and no person will be permitted to go inside of it except the Officers or the Judges and the persons who may have charge of the stock. In its center will be a pavilion which will serve as a office for the Secretary of the amphitheatre, and also as a stand for the music; on one side of this amphitheatre, will be the President's stand, where he will receive his guests, and and oversee the general direction and management of the Fair. Beneath this stand, will be located the Secretary's office, where will be made the entries,

Along the South fence will be seven hundred and fifty feet of pens for sheep and Swine, each pen with half shed roof, along the west fence, and outside of the track will be two ranges of sheds for cattle, and also two long ranges of posts and rails, each six hundred feet in extent; on the opposite side of the grounds there will be along the fence, on two sides, ranges of stalls for horses with shed roof, and also for stallions and blood horses, a range of eighty stables, with tight roof and manager and enclosed stalls; so that when once on the grounds, there will be no permission given to take any of the animals off until the Fair is ended.

It will be seen by the programme published on another page that one day is especially set apart for the examination of cattle, and the Business Committee have provided that no interference shall take place until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, by placing such obstructions across the track, that no driving can be done on it.

They have also provided that meals will be served on the ground at a rate not exceeding thirty cents. Messrs. Foster & King in whose hands this department has been placed, having agreed upon that price. They promise to give satisfaction.

On the north side of the grounds, a twenty acre lot has been secured, which will be used solely to accomodate those who visit the fair with their own teams. Upon this lot will be erected posts to which teams may be fastened, and where they may be left with safety while their owners visit the fair.

We have reason to believe that the exhibition of horses and cattle as well as other stock, will be the largest ever seen in Michigan.

Farther it may be added, that the present executive committee, and the working members of the society are acting together with the greatest harmony and union to render the fair all it should be. Answer have been received from a large number of those appointed judges accepting the position.

To Remove Dandruff.—Take a thimbleful of powder refined borax, let it dissolve in a teacup full of water, first brush the head well, then wet a brush with the mixture and apply to the head. Do this every day for a week, and twice a week after for a few times, and you will effectually remove the dandruff. So says a lady friend who has tried it.—Ex.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James B. Morrill to William H. Clough, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 18th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 49, 50 and 51, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount be aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at two o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st. 1858 338w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bearing date the twenty-first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Everett to John C. Woodruff, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June, 1856, which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857, by the said John C. Woodruff to Allen B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 736, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained, and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) original plat of said Village, will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.

Dated June 15th. 1858 Assignee.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1858, executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d 1856, in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 28th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres more or less, will be sold at public auction on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Billsbearing date the First day of June, 1857, on which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 286, 287 and 288, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid. One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of tht north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction so the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 394t3

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock P M on Saturday the 25th instant PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee

Tecumseh September 10th. 1858.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee. ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Amenus Van Valkenburgh, Randall P Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valk burgh minors

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Harlon B Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition and that the next-of-kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN

(A true Copy) 406t3 Judge of Probate

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858 to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows, viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten, also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein, I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff

Dated July 5th 1858 399w6

Probate Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the City of Adrian on Saturday the Fourth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.—In the matter of the Estate of Abram Hair deceased

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Susana Hair widow of deceased, praying that letters of Administration, on the estate of said deceased may be granted to herself and Charles Hair, heir at law of deceased, or some other suitable person, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the fourth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for four successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy) n408w4

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B. Hoeg late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY, } Commissioners.

SIRELL C. LEBARON, }

August 2d. 1858. n406w4

Legal Advertisements.

SHERIFF SALE.

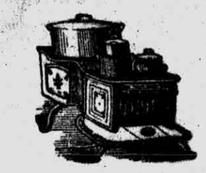
STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee, dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton in and to the following described property to wit: all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Cambridge in said county of Lenawee, known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by begining at the quarter section line and northeasterly ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty two links to a stake, thence south seventy-six degrees, east ten chains and thirty-three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy-six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty-five chains to beginning, containing about seventy eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten; also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R. BENNETT, Sheriff.

By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff.

Dated July 5th, 1858. 399w6

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!
EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House,

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated American Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers,

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Gold Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	Post 6 00 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00 9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00 9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50 9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00 9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	6 00 9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00 9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00 6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00 6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00 8c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3 00 8c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00 8c
Set of Gold Cornelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00 8c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00 8c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00 8c
Among the Engravings are: The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide	1 00 12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24	1 00 12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer	50 9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards	50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated Price only 50 cents a year

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.

400 406 Broadway, New York.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Miss DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PREMIUM,

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list:

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$16 00 to $25 00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do
Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $60. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
Proprietors.
395] 835 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL,

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates,

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15 " " "	15.00 " "
20 " " "	20.00 " " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 25 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy articles cheaper than any single purchaser can. In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends, wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity may require it to be varied from that. We have no time giving now at length the scope and plan, but are ready with statement of our charges for buying or selling of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake Howe & Co., Boston.
F Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Westworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Agents employed are the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c., &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2, South Ninth Street Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
EZRA D HEARSEWELL, President.
390v

SPRING MEDICINE

GET THE BEST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS

AND

Phœnix Bitters

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE NOW before the public, for the cure of Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, and in fact most all diseases soon yield to their curative properties

It has been computed that during the last twenty five years upwards of FOUR MILLIONS of persons have been benefited by the use of these medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties. A single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimate of every patient. By their use the BLOOD IS RESTORED TO A HEALTHY STATE and freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure.

The afflicted have in these medicines a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect

PREPARED BY

W. B. MOFFAT, M. D.
New York, And For Sale By
ALL DRUGGISTS.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

DR. ROBACK'S

SCANDINAVIAN

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them, HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Chese for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S
Blood Purifier and Blood P
THE GREAT
SCANDINAVIAN
VEGETABLE REMEDIE

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class who always look before they leap, for honest and rational judgment public opinion that Dr. ROB PURIFIER and PILLS success. When th

Gr
First

Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhœa, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actual effects were compared by sagacious men, with a distinguished Physician's statements, and it was found that every stage of the progress of cure, was precisely as he had described it. The result was that the mind of the patient became interested, and that person of the highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronized the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious Author to be the First Medical Discovery of the age.

The Blood Purifier and Pills are now universally recommended by the informed and candid persons, as an infallible cure for

Indigestion,
Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramp in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,
Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplessness, Nightmare,

General Debility,
Nervous Tremore, Falling Fits, Hysterics, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,

Scrofula,
Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples in the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Rheumatic Sores, Glandular swellings, Scrofulous Humors, Tetter, Tumors,

Neuralgia,
Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Virtus' Dance, Nervous Twitchings,

Female Complaints.
Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Weakness of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Leucorrhœa,

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS,

Of distinguished men in every profession warmly recommending the preparations to be seen at Dr. Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal properties which Physicians have heretofore in vain to combine in one preparation, to relieve the bowels, purify the blood and invigorates the constitution, at one and the same time. To this fact all who try them will subscribe. The absence of mineral, or of every stupifying drug, renders them safe for the feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper as to price than other Pills, for it takes less number of them to produce a better effect.

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier, $1, per bottle or $5, per dozen. Of the Scandinavian Blood Pills, 25 cents per box, or five boxes for $1.

☞ Read Dr. Roback's Special Notices, published in a conspicuous part of this Paper from time to time. Dr. R's Medical Almanac and Family advertising a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information can be had gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Rooms, No. 8 Fourth st., 3d Building from Main street, Cincinnati, O. Labatory in Hammond st.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O. March 1st, 1858.
Dr. C. W ROBACK.—Dear Sir; For the benefit of suffering humanity permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for Indigestion and Live Complaint. I have suffered from the above mentioned disease for five years and have tried a great many physicians, but all to no purpose. I was induced by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. It was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your agent and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and a box of Pills to commence with, and before the first day I found your valuable medicine to be of service to me. I am enjoying good health at present, and am confident that the cure is permanent. I would say to others buy and take what they please, but as for me, give me the Blood Purifier and Pills. I have tried all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs, and I take no other medicines, and have not for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, F. V. [illegible]

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR Tecumseh, N. BIDWELL, Adrian, R. BROWN, Ypsilanti, O. HAWKINS Medina, F. W. BUTLER, Jackson, R. E. BIRD Clayton, W. H. JOHNSON, Palmyra, and by Druggists and Merchants generally.

Tecumseh Jan 28 1858

Farmers Save Your M

By buying a new Seperator and H[illegible] er for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall

These Machines are R. T. Mc[illegible] Milled and Grain Saving Castings Patented April 8th 1851 and is Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Ypsilanti, Mich., and took the first premium at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block

VOL. 8. NO. 46. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 30, 1858. WHOLE NO. 411

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
L. A. RAYNOR, President. Wm. W CLARK, Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street
340yl TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J BIDWELL
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340yl TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340yl TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c
Union Block, Chicago Street.
340yl TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets
340yl TECUMSEH MICH.

B. H BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
340yl TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THURMAN SUBLETT & CO.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Rail Road and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. T. WATTERWORTH A. COMFORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT
Warehouse, Rail Road Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. S. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

W. S. STACY. S. P. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN ROUGHTON,
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
340tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street.
291y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts
308y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT.
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office
and
Tecumseh, Michigan.

PETER SHARP
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

From the Waverly Magazine.

The New Mown Hay.

Why do you look so sad, mother?
Why do you look so sad?
Is it because our Sandy sleeps?
I'm sure you should be glad
You know how apt young children are
To think and go astray:
But he is sleeping sweetly now
Beneath the new mown hay.

Then do not weep again, mother,
O! do not weep again;
'Twill cause your boy cheer to fade,
And that would give me pain!
I wept for many a dreamy hour,
When I alone did play,
And thinking that our Sandy slept
Beneath the new mown hay.

The mowers whispered very low,
When to his mound they came,
But I was very near to them
And heard them speak his name;
They said our Sandy was not there,
As many falsely say:
'Twas but his dust that then remained
Beneath the new mown hay.

Then do not be sad, mother,
O! do not be so sad,
That sandy sleeps forever more—
I'm sure you should be glad;
And we shall see him very soon,
Where beauty dwells always,
And think how soon we, too, must sleep
With him, beneath the hay.

Then, mother, dry your falling tears,
And weep no longer now;
For angels took our Sandy home—
A smile was on his brow!
Though I was very, very young,
I know I heard him say
It must be sweet in summer hours,
To sleep beneath the hay.

Let that Horse drink.

When a boy, I was riding in a one-horse carriage with an aged lady relative myself holding the reins As we passed through a fording, the horse showed a disposition to drink, which I thwarted by touching him with the whip.

'Stop, my son, and let that horse drink,' said the old lady.

'Why, aunty,' I replied, 'he is not thirsty; he only makes believe; it's not an hour since he drank'

'Let him drink,' said she, 'he knows his own wants best. Whether he really needs it or not, you see it will please him to be allowed to drink, and he does a great deal to please you Always remember, my son, that when you can gratify a dumb beast by doing anything so cheap as a drink of water from a running brook, it is very churlish to refuse it'

I have always remembered it. To this day I seldom drive a horse through a fording, but I think of my gentle aunt with that blessed heart of hers for the poor dumb beast, who knew his own wants best Her admonition left a soft layer among the strong ledges of my human nature, and I hope I have been a somewhat kinder man for the bias which was then given to my feeling for the helpless.

These impressions were strengthened by another incident which occurred after I became a man, and had a home of my own. A company of friends from abroad were to dine with me and attend a public meeting in the afternoon One of them was late, and dinner was waiting when he arrived.

'Come,' said I, 'sit right down, and I will see to your horse when we are through with this.'

'No,' he replied, 'let us see to the horse first He and I are both hungry; but he should have the first chance, for he cannot speak for himself, and I can.'

UNWRITTEN POETRY.—Far down in the depths of the human heart there is a fountain of pure and hallowed feeling, from which, at times, swell up a tide of emotions which words are powerless to express—which the soul alone can appreciate. Full many hearts overflowing with sublime thoughts and holy imagining, need but the 'pen of fire' to hold enraptured thousands in its spells. The 'thoughts that breathe' are there, but not the 'words that burn.' Nature's own inspiration fills the heart with emotions too deep for utterance, and with the poetry of the heart lies forever concealed in its own mysterious shrine.

Unwritten poetry! It is stamped upon the broad blue sky; it twinkles in every star. It mingles in the ocean's surge, and glitters in the dew-drop that gems the lilly's bell It glows in the gorgeous colors of the decline of day, and rests in the blackened crest of the gathering storm cloud. It is on the mountain's sight, and in the cataract's roar—in the towering oak, and in the tiny flower; where we can see the hand of God, there beauty finds her dwelling place.

Prayer was not invented; it was born with the first sigh, the first joy, the first sorrow of the human heart.

Recovery of the Balloon!

STATEMENT OF MR. BANISTER.

From the Detroit Free Press.

There has been no occurrence of late years, in our community, excepting the laying of the Atlantic telegraph, that has excited so general and intense an interest as the wonderful and mysterious disappearance of the aeronaut Thurston into the depths of the unfathomed space above, of which we have given a sketch in a previous issue.

On every corner, in every store, shop or office, at every dinner table, in every family circle, all claises of our citizens have made this unprecedented and thrillingly horrible adventure the common topic of conversation. The rumor was started yesterday morning that the balloon had descended in Canada, in the vicinity of Baptiste Creek, and that the aeronaut was safe The news flew like wildfire, and was telegraphed all over the country Soon it had acquired an air of authenticity, and it was reported that Mr Thurston would arrive in this city, en route for Adrian, by the twelve o'clock train from the east So intense was the feeling manifested on the receipt of this information, that men could not conceal their joy. As an instance of this, one gentleman of high standing and respectability, on being told the news, while standing in the Post Office, burst into tears, and started on a run for the ferry wharf, to await his arrival But the reports were too good to be true, and, upon investigation, it was found that the balloon had undoubtedly descended and been secured, but no positive information had been received of the safety of the aeronaut, and the natural conclusion was that he was lost. One of the Free Press reporters, however repaired at once to the locality, and will investigate the case fully. We are as yet without information from him, but from a passenger who came up on the mixed train which arrived here between two and three o'clock yesterday, we learn that the balloon was seen by the station agent at Baptiste Creek on Thursday afternoon at half past two o'clock, at an elevation of but two or three hundred feet from the ground, moving in a westerly course It continued on this course for a distance of one and a half miles, when it suddenly appeared to collapse and fall to the ground in a piece of woods. The station master immediately sent a company of men after it, as he supposed there was certainly an aeronaut with it. These men searched the woods for several hours without finding it, and then returned to the station. The next day information was received at the station that the balloon had been secured on the lands of Joseph Marks, Esq., Municipal Counsellor for the township of Tilbury West, four miles west of Baptiste Creek, and about thirty miles from Windsor. No mention was made of the unfortunate aeronaut, and of course nothing is yet known The impression prevailed that, if he was found with the balloon he would have returned to this city immediately, and hence to Adrian. This does not follow: for after so perilous an adventure, in which he attained so high an altitude, he would naturally be very much exhausted, and might have suffered so much from cold, and loss of blood as to require careful nursing for some days, if not weeks, to restore him to a condition to travel If this had not been the case, he may have been injured in being dragged by the balloon through the woods, striking again the tree tops, or by falling when he had reached a position where he would judge it to be safe for him to jump from his ungovernable car

Mr Banister, the companion of Mr Thurston in the ascent which preceded the unfortunate accident, passed through this city yesterday, on his way to Baptiste Creek, where he is confident of finding Mr Thurston, and from him we gather the following interesting narrative of the whole occurrence:

The balloon was let loose from Adrian on Thursday Morning at a quarter before nine o'clock It was capable of containing 35,000 cubic feet of gas On this occasion there were but 17,000 feet of carbonated hydrogen gas in it. There were 160 pounds of sand-ballast taken. The balloon rose in fine style to an estimated altitude of two and a half miles,—At this point Mr. Banister represented the view to have been beautiful beyond description. The day was clear and pleasant, the atmosphere free from mist and smoke, and no objects intervened to shut out the vast expanse of variated city and country beneath them Looking to the east their vision embraced the whole western end of Lake Erie, studded with picturesque islands, and an occasional vessel the only sign of life on the vast expanse of water. Nearer to them was the city of Monroe, as if buried in a rich grove, which only afforded them an occasional sight at the buildings. Further to the south lay Toledo and Maumee City, just underneath and behind them, were the city of Adrian, and the neighboring towns of Manchester, Tecumseh and Clinton. The Michigan Southern Railroad, and its branches from Adrian to Monroe, and to Jackson, were distinctly traced out, and the trains could be seen traveling along them. Further west their vision extended to the village of Coldwater, with the intervening towns of Hillsdale, Jonesville, and numerous smaller places; turning towards the north, the city of Jackson lay just faintly discernable, far away in the distance; Ann Arbor with its rich rolling country, and Ypsilanti, its near neighbor, were spread out beneath them as a toy puzzle, which the child puts together for his amusement. Still following around, the eye rested upon Detroit, with its tall spires and endless mass of buildings, and the beautiful river which flows so silently by it, which could be seen from the St. Clair till it was lost in Lake Erie. Farmers working in fields, carriages moving along the highways; boats sailing upon the waters; the bustle and stir of City life, with the quiet and retirement of the country; the variety of the rolling country and prairie, rivers and lakes, were all pictured out beneath them—a scene that would well repay one for attempting even the hazardous experiment of a balloon ascension, to look upon.

The aeronauts remained in the air forty five minutes, descending at half past nine; in the open country in the township of Riga, Lenawee county south-east of Adrian, a distance of about seventeen miles. They remained seated in the car half an hour, with the valve open to allow the gas to escape when a number of persons assembled from the adjoining farms. Mr. T. thought that they might get out, and with the assistance of the people take off the car and netting, and let the balloon turn over, throwing its mouth upwards, so as to allow a more rapid escape of the gas, which was his customary manner of emptying balloons. They accordingly removed the car, and the netting was unloosed from the valve disk so as to allow it to come off. While these preparations were being made, the people who had assembled assisted in holding the monster down. Mr Thurston then crawled inside of the netting, and proceeded to the top of the balloon, which had been hauled down to a horizontal position, when he took the valve disk, which is of wood, of a circular form, and about thirteen inches in diameter, and, compressing the balloon, thrust the disk between his legs, and grasped the balloon in his arms, saying to the bystanders, 'You may see another ascension now.' He then told Mr. Banister to cut the cords that held the mouth of the balloon down. Banister remonstrated, saying there was too much gas in it But Mr. Thurston insisted, and the cords were cut, at which the balloon bounded upwards, as has been described Mr J Westerman who lives in that vicinity, also had hold of it at the time, and was lifted up about ten feet when he let go, and fell to the ground. Mr Westerman says that the mouth of the balloon was open, and he saw Mr. Thurston open it to the extent of eighteen inches He noticed the cord by which the valve was operated passing through the opening, the end hanging outside. Mr. W. thinks that when the mouth of the balloon turned up and it arose in the air, this cord got entangled about the opening, and, as the balloon stretched out with Mr. Thurston's weight, the cord, being fast to the valve on the inside, was drawn down so as to entirely close the mouth, now at the top.

The fact which was observed by Mr. Westerman's wife and daughter, as well as others, that the mouth with a portion of the collapsed balloon, like a neck, was lying on the distended portion, as the top of a great bag partially filled, when tied, would fall over upon the side, confirms these suspicions. This in our mind is a satisfactory explanation of the cause of the calamity

Mr. Westerman also gave the result of his observations, made with a compass, as to the course taken by the balloon. He says that at first it started off on a course east 5 deg. south, which was followed six or eight miles, when it changed to the north-east, and when it finally disappeared behind a cloud at 25 minutes past 12 M, the direction of the balloon from that point where it started in Riga, on section No. 32, was north 50 deg. east. Mr W. and his son estimated the height when last seen by them, at three miles. An examination of the map will show, according to Mr. Westerman's observation, that the balloon passed a little to the east of a direct course to Detroit, and that possibly it passed over the Detroit river.

Mr. Banister watched it with a glass until it had reached its highest elevation and says that Thurston maintained his seat and seemed to be perfectly easy.—His theory is that the carburated hydrogen gas passed off more slowly than ordinary hydrogen gas, with which balloons are commonly inflated, and that thus the unfortunate man was deceived He does not agree with Mr. Westerman in the opinion that the mouth was closed He also thinks that Thurston expected to go up for a short distance, an occurrence that had often taken place in his (Thurston's) experience, as he called out to the people to follow on after him. When Mr. Westerman let go, the balloon bounded off at a rate of a mile a minute, so that it had attained a height of nearly three miles before the astonished people could realize that it had left them. There were in it at this time about 13,000 cubic feet of gas.

Mr. Banister is confident that Thurston is safe, and establishes his opinion on the following basis: The balloon having descended proves that the gas had escaped; this of course has been gradual, as the balloon was seen moving along, neither ascending or descending, before it finally rested. Thurston was safe on it until it had attained its highest elevation, where he was beyond the reach and influence of counter-currents of air, so that there was no swaying of the balloon to cause giddiness or sickness; the danger was consequently passed. His descent would be gradual and easy He probably reached terra firma in a somewhat exhausted condition, and was obliged to let the balloon go. This being relieved of its weight, a rain bounded up, and travelled along until a sufficient quantity more of gas had escaped to allow it to fall According to this theory, Thurston may be several miles from where the balloon was secured, and not unlikely laying in the woods, unable from the effects of his adventure to help himself, or he may have been picked up by some backwoods people, and, being unable to communicate with them from the effects of cold or loss of blood, is now laying under their care.—All, however, is conjectured, but a few days will clear the whole thing up; and the facts will be known If he has fallen off and been killed by the fall from a giddy height, his body must be found, as, saving the crossing of the Detroit river, his rout lay the entire distance over land, and the track is well defined. Mr. Banister, after visiting the locality where the balloon was found, if he does not find the unfortunate man, will follow back on the track, and continue the search until the body is recovered.

LATER.

Upon the strength of unsubstantiated rumors to the effect that the balloon had come down near Baptister Creek, one of our reporters started for that locality on Monday. With some dimonity it was ascertained that there was no communication between Baptiste Creek station and the place where the descent had been made and Belle River, the next nearest station, was selected as the point for leaving the Great Western Railway—He arrived at that unpretending settlement somewhere about midnight, and with no little difficulty picked his way through the marshes in which it is built to a one horse French tavern, where lodgings in a dilapidated garret and a bed that lacked two feet in length of the usual complement were obtained. In the morning a pair of French ponies were engaged with much difficulty, with an old lady of the same nationality for a driver. The old lady said the people had seen a balloon as it passed up the lake shore on Thursday.—Several of them asserted that the balloon passed them within two hundred feet of the ground, and that they distinctly saw Mr Thurston clinging to it. One man said that Mr. Thurston had a handkerchief tied around his head, and that as he passed he drew up his feet several times and let them down as though they were tired or cramped All united in the statement that he was hanging to the balloon, although they saw nothing strange in the perilous position he maintained from ignorance of the manner of conducting such matters. They stated that it passed on about eight or ten miles, until near the mouth of Baptiste Creek, when it lowered, and changing its course sailed out over the lake as far as the light-house at the mouth of Thames River, and from thence inland several miles, until it finally dropped, During its progress up the lake shore it several times sailed out over the lake with the varying currents of air Its elevation was also different at various times, the balloon rising until it was small as a man's hat, and again descending to within a few feet of the tops of the trees It thus continued on, and was lost to the dwellers on the lake shore in the woods further in land.

After a drive of about 15 miles through the woods, the house of Mr. Marks was reached, where the balloon was found safely secured and stowed away. Here nothing was known of the existence of an aeronaut, and those in possession of the balloon were under the impression that it had been adrift and without any control. At the time of its descent several persons were present, and large numbers also flocked in from the surrounding country to see it. A dispute then arose among the ignorant Frenchman as to its ownership, every one of them laying a claim upon it, from the fact of having seen it in the air. The whole party of land pirates pitched upon it, and would have cut it up into strips and divided it had it not been for the interference of Mr. Marks, who being an intelligent man and an Englishman, took it from them and refused to let them have it again They were about to cut it up to get possession of the silk, of which they intended to make dresses for their wives, notwithstanding the fact that it was saturated with linseed oil As there is a thousand yards of fine drab silk in the balloon, all Canada would undoubtedly have come out in oiled silk dresses had they been successful in their piratical designs. The balloon was secured and brought to Detroit

The country in the vicinity of Baptiste Creek is very low and marshy for a distance of several miles around The supposition is that the balloon descended to the ground when over the marshes in the neighborhood of the River Thames light house, and that Thurston then disengaged himself from it. Being relieved of his weight it of course ascended into the air again, and after floating around for some time descended a second time, when it was secured At the last descent it became entangled in a tree and was torn in two places, in rents which were four feet long. The balloon which is one of the largest class, is not materially injured, and will be repaired without much difficulty. Those who secured it state that its mouth was open at the time of its descent—This would leave an opening of about a foot or eighteen inches. They further state that notwithstanding that fact there was much difficulty in relieving it of gas with which it was to a large extent filled. In order to do this it was found necessary to lay it down on the ground, and commence at one end, to twist it gradually thus forcing the gas out at the other extremity. This may account for the buoyancy of the balloon, and the distance that it travelled, which is explained by Banister by the fact that car'bureted hydrogen with which it was filled, is much slower to escape than the pure gas Banister is now engaged in searching the woods and marshes in the vicinity for the purpose of finding Thurston. He is quite confident that he will find him alive, but the prospects are not very good for such a result. We have no hope that he will be found alive, although his remains will probably come to light sooner or later That he is in the marshes near that vicinity there can be no doubt. The only chance for finding him alive is, that he may have been rescued by some of the fisherman who live on the lake shore, and may yet remain in their charge. This is not very probable, however.

The balloon came down at half past two o'clock of the same day he went up, having been in the air about four hours.—The numerous reports in regard to having been in the air for twenty four or forty-eight hours are alike improbable and without foundation.

The balloon is open to the inspection of the public at our counting-room. It is in the same condition as when it came down with the unfortunate men, with the exception that the silk has been pulled apart and spread in order to prevent its sticking together so closely as to become useless. The portion which was clasped in his arms was compassed so tightly as to render a separation almost impossible—The small valve upon which he sat still retains its position, and is regarded with feelings of the greatest curiosity. It was about half torn off by his weight, and hangs exactly as he left it.

Ford.

Still Later—Thurston given up.

Banister and other friends of poor Thurston, who went in search of him, have returned tired and disheartened. They arrived at Detroit last evening. The Advertiser says:

"In a conversation we had with Banister, he said that on this last expedition they had made a thorough search in the neighborhood where the balloon descended, and through a circuit of several miles around. They then proceeded north to the river, followed it up to 'Little Bear Creek,' and eight miles up the last channel to Wallecksburg. Not the slightest clue could be found. He describes the journey as the most arduous he ever undertook in his whole life, leading them through deep swamps and wide marshes, many times impassable without the aid of boats. He said he had entirely relinquished the idea that Thurston came into Canada at all.

He has taken great pains to sift the rumors in regard to a man's being seen upon the balloon, thoroughly, and is convinced they are without foundation in fact. A reward of twenty five dollars was offered the hunters and others who inhabit that region, (enough to excite them to effort,) for the recovery of the body—Banister thinks now, that the violent motion of the balloon swaying to and fro in the air, and its great elevation (three miles, caused the unfortunate man to resign his hold and drop to the earth in which case he must have been dashed into such minute particles as to leave but few traces.

Thurston was forty-five years of age, a man of much industry and perseverance, and widely respected where he was known.

He leaves an interesting daughter wholly unprovided for, and we think public sympathy would turn in the right direction if it should assume a substantial form towards this afflicted orphan. We understand that Banister proposes to engage a hall and give a full description of his own marvelous adventures in the air, as well as the particulars of the late calamity, illustrated and made plain by diagrams, the proceeds to be employed for the benefit of Mrs Thurston We think it a commendable undertaking, and hope it will be abundantly successful."

Revolutionary Anecdote.

In the Fourth of July sermon on 'The Hand of God in American History,' preached at Putney last Sabbath, by the Rev. Pliny H. White, several incidents were narrated to show how largely our Revolutionary sires were influenced by religious considerations in carrying on the war. Among these incidents was the following, which, if ever printed before, must have been buried in some obscure place, only to be exhumed by the prying research of an antiquary.

One of the regiments in the battle of Bennington was commanded by a Colonel, who when at home, was a deacon. He was a calm sedate, determinate man, and went to the battle because he was impelled by a sense of duty. His whole parish was in his regiment; so was their beloved pastor, without whose presence and blessing they scarcely thought themselves in a way to prosper. The Colonel was ordered by General Stark to reinforce one of the wings which was suffering severely.—He marched at the instant with his forces, but as slowly and composedly as if he had been marching to a conference meeting. The officer in command of the corps to be relieved, fearing that he should be compelled to give way, sent to hasten the Colonel. 'Tell 'em we're coming,' said he, and marched steadily on. A second messenger, came with intelligence that the wing was beginning to fall back.—'That will make more room for us; tell 'em we're coming,' replied the Colonel, with unmoved countenance and unaccelerated pace. A third message reached him, just as his troops emerged from behind a coppice, in full view of the enemy whose balls now began to whistle about them. 'Halt!' commanded the Colonel; 'form column and attend prayers.' And there in the face of the enemy, did the regiment pause, while solemn prayer was offered for their success in the deadly struggle they were about to begin Prayer being ended, the Colonel addressed his men in a speech which, for brevity, conciseness and vigor, may bear comparison with any that Cæsar or Napoleon ever addressed to their troops 'Soldiers,' he said, 'our wives and children are in the rear, the Hessians are in front, give it to them.' They did 'give it to them,' and that band of foreign mercenaries melted away before those Christian soldiers as the hosts of the anti-canonised Philistines melted away before the armies of Israel. —Vermont Phœnix.

THE HERALD.

E. L. BAXTER . . . . . EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1858.

The Dangers of Anarchy.

It has been long conceded by those who have given much and serious attention to the subject, that some of the greatest, if not the very greatest of evils which threaten the peace and perpetuity of our republican government, are to be looked for, in a wide spread and not altogether unpopular spirit of insubordination.

The manifestation of such a spirit has always been justly looked upon with unfeigned distrust and alarm—and well it may be, for there is nothing more insidious in its nature or more dangerous in its tendencies than this. Neither in a government like ours, when the will of the people is the supreme law of the land, and when should any equal legislation be found to have inadvertently or even improperly occurred, there is open to all a legal and constitutional redress, is there anything more reasonless and unjustifiable than this.

Under this aspect of the case, having regard both to its dangerous tendencies, and its utter unreasonableness, we should naturally expect that an intelligent government, would stand ready at all times, and in any event, to suppress the first out-breakings of this turbulent spirit, and to visit upon its mischievous and insubordinate violence, the severest penalties of the law. That a sense of right, as well as a conscious need of self protection upon so vulnerable a point would impel them to this.

But such does not seem to have been the more recent policy of our government in such matters

When Brigham Young first defied the Federal authorities President Fillmore, instead of promptly enforcing unequivocal submission, reappointed to the succeeding administration of President Pierce until the indignant fiat of the nation compelled his successor to set about arresting the unblushing violence and rampant treason, of the intestine foe.

But even then, lest the majesty of the the law should at length be vindicated, and intestine foes taught a lesson before which bloody treason should afterwards tremble and hide its deformed head, all the arsons, treasons, assassinations and crimes of that den of iniquity were pardoned in advance under proclamation from the chief executive, provided only they would submit for the future under this idemnity for the past.

So too it was in Dorr's rebellion in Rhode Island. The crime of treason was overlooked for the sake of present quiet. So too of the Vigilence Committee of New Orleans and California, the Blue Lodges of Missouri and the military of Kansas—and so too it is and will be of the Richmond county arsons and rebellion in the quarrantine war on Staten island.

Now we do not refer to these matters in order to express any opinion as to the abstract rights and wrongs involved in them, but only to show the frequency, and the dangerous tendency of civil insubordination We do not believe the community at large sufficiently regard the perniciousness of such a spirit or the enormity of such a crime. If these lesser insubordinations may be lightly regarded, and passed over with impunity, because forsooth they are incurred in behalf of objects invested with a popular sympathy, and a spirit of lawless anarchy is thus fostered and rendered honorable notwithstanding it is treason to the law, and the legitimate authority of government who shall predict the day, or dare long to defer it, when for some larger cause, or more pervading popular sympathy, or more extended and yet more lawless anarchy shall arise, and setting at defiance the established forms and authority of the government, shall involve the nation in all the horrors of a civil war, and wash out the last vestiges of our free institutions in fraternal blood?

When therefore we see such men as Geo. W. Curtis, coming boldly out and endorsing the violence of a mob on Staten Island, we are alike surprised and pained—for we feel and know that the prevalence of such disorganizing sentiments can only lead to the most ruinous results—It cannot be otherwise They that seek the protection of law, must learn to abide by the law, and they that would escape the horrors and ruin of anarchy, must learn to hold and treat anarchy as a crime.

CANE CIDER.—The Nashville Homestead says that, beside the excellent syrup and sugar made from Chinese sugar cane, there is another article obtained from it which is of a pleasant taste. It is obtained by putting the expressed juice of cane into any clean wood or glass vessel, allowing it to stand ten or twelve days, when it will assume the appearance of limpid water and is fit for use. The flavor is like our best cider, we suppose it might be properly called cider.

An account of the State and County Fairs will be given in the Herald.

LIST OF PREMIUMS,

Awarded at the Annual Fair of the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society, held at Tecumseh, September 16th, 1858.

ON BLOOD CATTLE.

L. Potts, Best Durham Bull, 4 years or over	Sire Don	$2 00
J. M. Merritt, best	do 2 yrs	2 00
E. Smith, best	do calf	1 00
D. W. Palmer, 2d best	do	50
E. Smith, best dd cow 4 yrs		2 00
do	do 3 yrs	2 00
D. W. Palmer 2d best	do	1 00
E. Smith, best heifer calf		1 00
do 2d best	do	50
S. Rappleye, best durham & devon cross, bull, 4 yrs		2 00
P. C. Mills, best	do 1 yr	1 00
H. C. Church, best	do bull calf	1 00
D. C. Blair, 2d best	do	50
E. Smith, 2d best	do heifer calf	50
J. Richard, best	do heifer 2 yr	2 00
do	do devon bull do	2 00
Thos Briggs,	do calf	1 00

GRADE AND NATIVE CATTLE.

John Rector, best grade bull	3 yr	2 00
O A Blackman,	do 2 yr	2 00
G. W Stacy	do 1 yr	2 00
Daniel Warring, 2d	do do	1 00
G. N. Bowen, best grade cow	4 y	2 00
E. Smith, 2d	do	1 00
Elijah Estes, best	do 3 y	2 00
Giles Turner, 2d	do do	1 00
J. W. Keeney	do 2 y	2 00
John Richard, 2d	do do	1 00
E. Smith, best	do heifer 1 y	2 00
J W. Keeney 2d	do	1 00
W. V Whipple, best	do bull do	2 00
John Richard	do heifer do	1 00

WORKING OXEN AND FAT CATTLE.

Nathan Place, best fat cow		1 00
D. S Buck,	do pr working oxen 4y	2 00
Joshua Taylor 2d	do	1 00
Joseph Bowerman	do 3y	2 00
W. A. Hall,	do 2y	2 00
J F. Wimple 2d	do do	1 00
J. W. Keeney,	do 1y	1 00

HORSES

W. S. Can, best horse for all work 4yrs and over	2 00
B J. Bidwell, best morgan mare (Flora Temple) for all work 3y	2 00
B. J. Bidwell. 2d best colt for all work (Gifford Morgan) 3y	1 00
J. H. Green, 2d best colt 2y	1 00
J. C. DePuy, best do 1y	1 00
Gilbert Horton, 2d do do	50
P. Gannug, best mare and colt	2 00
James Osborn, 2d do	1 00
B J. Bidwell, best span carriage horses	2 00
O. J. Rappleye, 2d do	1 00
B. J. Bidwell, best blood stallion (Morgan Bussorah) 8ys	2 00
N Prentiss, 2d best do 4y	1 00
B. J. Bidwell, blood stallion Gifford Morgan Jr. 2d) 2y	1 00
dp best morgan colt (Tecumseh Chief) 3y	2 00
N. Burroughs, 2d best colt 3y	1 00
C. M. Baker, do 2y	1 00
S. Elwood, 2d " do	50
F Coats, best do 1y	1 00
Geo. Dell, 2d do do	50

SHEEP AND WOOL

W. A. Hall, best 5 midl' wool'd ewes	1 00
do do do lambs	1 00
do best french buck	1 00
do 2d do	50
J. G, Roberts, best 5 french merino ewes	1 00
Stewart Paterson, 6 spanish lambs	1 00
do do ewes	1 00
Jas. Camburn, do long wool buck	1 00
S. Kinney, do spanish do	50
F. McLain, do long wool lambs	1 00
G. W. Stacy, do mid'l wool buck	1 00
do 2d do	50
do do do lambs	50
Thos Goodrich best 9 spanish bucks	1 00
J. W Cole, do mid'l wool'd lambs	1 00
E S. Holdridge, do pen spanish ewes	50
do do spanish buck	1 00
do 2d long wool do	50

SWINE

B, J. Bidwell, best boar	3 00
E Estes, do sow and pigs	3 00

POULTRY

B. J Bidwell, best brahma fowls	50
A. K Waldron, do white shanghai	50
L. Kelly, do bantams	50
do do turkeys	50

FARM IMPLEMENTS

Burlingame & Yawger, best plow for general purposes	1 00
do cultivator	1 00
D. R. Raymond, seed drill	1 00
E Estes, field roller	1 00
do hay rigging	50

DOMESTIC MANUFACTURES 1ST CLASS

Mrs F. W. Wickwrie, 10 yds domestic full cloth	50
" E. Gilbert, 10 yds rag carpet	50
" B F. Kennedy, pr cot'n stock'gs	50
" C. Chatterton, do woolen do	50
" Lebni Kelly, do do socks	50
" A D. Hall, do do mittens	50
" Burlingame do do gloves	50
Miss Libbie Thompson, fine shirt	50
Mrs B Chatterton, 1 lb woolen yarn	50
" L. Kelly, 1 lb mixed yarn	50

DOMESTIC MANUF' 2D CLASS

C. & W. B. Rowland, 6 calf skins	50
do 1 side harness leather	50
do 1 cow hide	50
do 1 side sole leather	50
do 1 hip skins	50
B J Bidwell, pr woman's boots	50
do single soled calf boots	50
do coarse boots	50
do kip boots	50
J S Gilmin, double carriage harness	50
do single do	50
D VanTine, cottage bedstead	50
do sofa	50
do arm chair	50
do rocking chair	50
Thos. Cummins, 2 horse carriage	1 00
do 1 horse do	1 00
do carriage trimming	1 00
T H Mosher, flour barrel	50
J L Tallman, 12 corn brooms	50

BUTTER, CHEESE, &C.

Mrs. E Gilbert, white bread	1 00
" B J Bidwell, brown bread	50
" F T Romyne, best butter	1 00
" J O Roberts, 2d do	50
" Robt Liddle, best cheese	1 00
" J L Tallman, box honey	50

VEGETABLES, &C.

S Rappleye, best and greatest vari'ty veg	1 00
do do beets	50
W H Osborn carrots	50
J L Tallman, Onions	50
Jas. Kennedy, Cabbages	50
S Rappleye spanish peppers	50
G W Pennock, 12 ears seed corn	50
A D Hall, 2 Punkins	50
S Rappleye, half pk lima beans	50
Isaac Adams half bu Potatoes	50
A Skinner, half bu table turnips	50
S Rappleye, crook neck winter squash	50
T Coats squash of other varieties	50
E Rundel half bu wheat	50
B J Bidwell, do barley	50
do do oats	50
do do buck wheat	50
do pk Timothy seed	50
do do clover do	50
S Davison, greatest variety ears corn	50

FLOWERS &C.

Miss M E Osborn, animal painting, in oil	50
W A King, oil paintin, dream of arcadia	50
do crayon do	50
Mrs C M Bissell, daguerrotype	50
Miss Endora Graves, green house plants	50
" Augusta Patterson, boquet nat flowrs	50
B J Bidwell, horse drawing in oil	50

ORNAMENTAL AND SHELL WORK

Miss Francis Aten, patch work, quilt	50
" Alma C Briggs, worked bdkf	50
" Patience Aten, ornam'l leather wk	50
Mrs G W Stacy, embroidered child dress	50
Miss O S Chatterton, do lace cap	50
do worked undersleeves	50
Mrs Albert Camburn, do collar	50
" E H Button, silk embroidery	50
" T W Cummins, workd ottoman cover	50
" S Catlin, do lamp mat	50

FRUIT

Israel Pennington, best and greatest variety	of apples	2 00
J G Roberts, 2d	do	1 00
I Pennington,	do pears	1 00
J Richard, 2d	do do	50
Geo Dell,	do peaches	1 00
E F Blood,	do grapes	1 00
E Estes, 2d	do do	50

Those to whom Premiums have been awarded will please call upon the Secretary and take orders for the amount, which will be paid at once upon presentation to A Anderson, Treasurer.

M. A. PATTERSON, Prest.

B. L. BAXTER, Secy.

Tecumseh, September, 25th, 1858.

We the undersigned were present at a trial of D C. Smiths' Patent Husking Machine. The Machine husked well, both in the shock and on the hill, doing the work better and about twice as rapid as by hand.

We cheerfully recommend it to the favor of the farming community, as a first rate labor saving machine, valuable alike for its economy, simplicity, durability and perfection of work.

C. A Stacy, P. Bills, P. R. Adams
B. L. Baxter, I H Hamilton
J. G Roberts, C. Hewitt, S. Davison
P Davison, A. Waller.

Tecumseh, September 23d, 1858

I have had frequent opportunities of seeing Mr Smith's Corn Husker thoroughly tried, and fully concur in the above statements, relative to its merits.

M. A. Patterson,
Pres. Nor Len. Ag Society

A NEW CORN HUSKER.—D. C Smith, Esq. of Tecumseh, Mich., has recently obtained letters patent for a Corn Husker, which is quite different from anything before invented for that purpose. He showed it to us a few days since, and used it in husking a bundle of corn on the stalk, which he brought to our office with him. As a think from its simplicity, that it will come into general use by our corn growers It is a light (weighs some 3 or 4 pounds.) machine, which the operator attaches about his body, and operates it with one hand, while the other hand is free to throw the corn into the heap or wagon. With it one man can do the work of two or more men in the ordinary manner It is equally adapted to the hill or shock The machine can be made by any good blacksmith, at a small cash price.—Emory's Journal of Ag'l.

State Fairs for 1858.

Michigan, Detroit, Sept. 28, 29, 30, & Oct. 1.
Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14, 15
Illinois, Centralia, September 14, 15, 16, 17, 18
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.
Iowa, Oscaloosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September, 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshier, Dover, Oct 6, 7, 8.
New York, at Syracuse, Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October, 4, 5, 6, 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St Johns, Oct. 13, 14.
St. Joseph, Centreville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28, 29, 30.
Genessee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7.
Northern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 16
Berrien, Niles, Oct. 6 and 7.
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7, and 8.
Ottawa, Eastmanville, Sept 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct. 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5, 6 and 7.
Branch, Coldwater, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

General News.

Halifax, Sept 27th.

To Cyrus W Field, N. Y.:—I have arrived here on my way to Bay of Bull's arms, and make regulations to test the Cable in concert with Valentia. Good and regular currents from New Foundland were received up to the day I left Valentia—the 12th—but no words had been received since the 2nd instant. The testing shows a loss of insulation three miles from Valeutia, but I hope to work through it. I leave here as soon as possible. The steamer for St Johns does not start till the 7th of October, but shall try to get there by gun boat or otherwise, immediately. (Signed by) LUNDAY,

From Valentia Office.

New York, Sept 27th

The great four mile race over the fashion course was won by Nicholas 1st over Tar River, in two straight heats—Sue Washington was distanced

The Directors of the Erie Road ratified this P. M. the doings of the Railroad Convention. The fare to Buffalo goes to $8 to-morrow.

It is understood that the Pacific Mail Co have bought all Vanderbilt's ships in the Pacific, and a weekly line to California will be established; also, that Vanderbuilt furnishes part of the ships necessry for the weekly line on this side.

The steamship Florida was disabled in her machinery off Cape Hattaras on Wednesday P. M. Her passengers were transferred to the brig Mary E Williams, to be landed at Eybee. Next day, when returning under canvass, she was taken in tow by the steamer Augusta, hence for Havana, and arrived here late last night.

Cincinnati, Sept. 27th.

Yesterday morning a fire broke out in the flouring mill of Pierce Shehan, extending to the feed store of George A Moore, which was entirely destroyed—Shehan's loss, $19 000. Insured $6 500. Moore's loss, $1.500 Insured 400. A stable with two horses was also destroyed.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.

Deaths by yellow fever yesterday were 43—a large decrease as compared with previous days.

Washington Sept 27

Gov Denver, writing to the Secretary of the Interior, September 17th, says that late news from Pike's Peak leaves no room to doubt the correctness of the reported discoveries of gold in that vicinity. The explorers have found gold on the Arkansas on the heads of the Kansas and on the South Fork of Platte rivers, embracing an extent of country, of more than three hundred miles. The richest mines yet found are on Cherry creek, a tributary of the Platte, directly north of Pike's Peak. Gov Denver had not yet heard of quartz but the best information would seem to indicate a great similarity between these mines and the first discoveries in California In view of the present condition of affairs in that region, Gov Denver advises that the lands there, be withdrawn from pre-emption, if they are open to settlement leaving them as the mining districts of California, free for all who may see fit to engage in working the mines.

The country he believes, is or has been, claimed by the Utahs, Cheyennes, the Krowas, and the Arrappoes, and he does not know that their title to it has ever been extinguished. If it has not, there will be no trouble in withdrawing the lands from the operation of the pre-emption laws and if it has, then they ought to be withdrawn any how, and the facts and reasons reported to Congress next winter. It would, he adds, be advisable to send out some competent person to examine the mines and report the facts in connection with them. The survey of R R. route from Hudson to Superior and Bayfield was a distance of 164 miles, has been approved by the Secretary of the Interior, which secures to the company a large and valuable tract of land.

Washington, Sept 28th.

Pursers Kelly, Harwood and Jackson have been ordered to the Paraguay expedition. Purser Hambleton to the Naval Academy; Purser Warrington to the Navy yard, Warring, Fla.; Purser Buchanan to the Navy yard at Washington in place of Purser Bates, detached.—Commander sells has been detached from the Mobile District, as light house inspector, and appointed Secretary to the light house at Washington. Lieut. Chapman has been appointed light house inspector of the Mobile district Commander Sands has been detached from the coast survey and ordered to the Bureau of Construction, Equipment and Repairs.

New York, Sept. 25.

A private dispatch from Halifax to Mr. Cunard says, the Captain of the Rosenbeath thought the burning steamer had a walking beam, but he did not observe any paddle boxes He thought she was a wooden ship, but his mate states she was of Iron. She had a long overhanging bow. Offers of 25 per cent to effect insurance on the Austria, were refused by the Wall street officers yesterday.

Halifax, Sept. 25.

Capt. Shaw, of the bark Arabian, which arrived this morning, reports that at 7 o'clock on the morning of the 15th inst. he fell in with an iron screw steamer on fire, apprently of 1200 tons She had a gilt crown, eagle head and a straight stem head, raked well forward, and her bottom had red paint on. Her upper works were destroyed and the wood work above and below was all consumed. Her masts were gone, and her sides fallen in. The funnel was lying on the starboard side but its color could not be told. The Arabian passed around the stern of the steamer but no name was distinguishable. She is supposed to have been burning 48 hours

The Arabian sighted a brig four miles to leeward, but could not descry boats or of suffering in the distance. Dispatches to private parties in this city corroberate the above. The description given makes it almost certain that the burning vessel was either the Austria or the Alps, while the statement as to figure head would seem to show that the former is the ill fated steamer, that of the Alps being merely a scroll head while the Austria's was an Austrian eagle.

Burning of the Austria.

By last night's telegraph report, we have the following additonal particulars of the burning of the screw steamer Austria, on its voyage from Bremen to New York. At about 7 o'clock, the barque Maurice sailed for Fayal, to deposit the rescued passengers At about 2 o'clock, the same P. M, she fell in with the Barque Lotus, Capt. Trefy, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, from Liverpool for Halifax.

The fire is known to have arisen from the very culpable negligence of some of the crew. The Captain and Surgeon considered it expedient to fumigate the steerage with burning tar. The operation was to be performed by the boatswain, under the superintendence of the 4th officer—The boatswain heated the end of a chain to dip in tar to produce smoke. The end became too hot to hold, and he let it drop upon the deck, which is set on fire The tar upset and immediately all about was in flames. A feeble attempt was made to extinguish it, but without effect. There was nothing at hand to meet such an emergency The rescued passengers saved nothing but the clothes on their backs, and even the greater part of these were torn off and otherwise lost.

Six hundred souls were supposed to be on board, including women and children. Mr Brew is the only British subject saved. He is in the British civil service, on his way to British Columbia He will proceed to Boston in the steamer Eastern State on Tuesday, en route to New York

When Capt Waters, of the Prince Albert, ascertained that twelve of the Austria's survivors had arrived, he kindly offered all a free passage and detained the steamer for the purpose of allowing them to embark. Ten of them availed themselves of his generosity, and sailed for New York on Friday at 5 o'clock P M.

Washington, Sept 24.

In a letter from Capt. Chauncey of the Steamer Niagara, received by the Secretary of the Navy, he speaks of the captured Africans as being in an unhealthy condition generally. Twenty-eight of them were suffering by diorrhœ, and nearly one-third with Opthalmia. Two died within a day after being received on board his vessel.

Boston, Sept. 24.

It is rumored that R N. Woodworth, who has lately resigned the office of Cashier of the Brighton Bank, is defaulter to that institution to the amount of thirty-thousand dollars The Bank is however amply secured from loss

Savannah, Sept 24

The total number of yellow fever cases developed in this city from the 15th to the 21st, both inclusive was 20 No new cases were developed on Wednesday or Thursday There is no delay whatever in business, and the alarm was subsided

New York, Sept, 24.

By advices from Turks' Island we learn that Ex President Valverde, of St. Domingo, arrived with his suite at that Island on the 3d of September.

New York, Sept. 24.

It is stated that the Cunard steamer Alps, has a cross deck walking beam on her second deck.

The great four mile race on the Fashion course is postponed till Monday, on account of the storm,

The Steamship Vigo, on to-morrow will take out 230 passengers and about five hundred thousand dollars in specie.

New York, Sept., 24th.

Great dissatisfaction exists in this country, with the reserve maintained at Trinity Bay, in contrast with the frank communications from Valanta to the British public. Give us dailey information of the state of telegraph under your charge.—Signed by Peter Cooper, Cyrus W. Field Wilson G. Hunt, E. M Archibald, W. Sherman. Taken to the offices of the honorary members in New York, but they could not be seen, hence the absence of their signitures.

Despatches from you and from McKay are contradictory.

Special Notices.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
33 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, Etc.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. 43cs408m3

Barley Wanted.

The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,
Tecumseh, Aug. 5th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."

CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe coataining full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name. Address, O. P. BROWN, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [41m3

$5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN, 41m3 Lowell, Mass.

$32.00 in one day—$62.50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book.
41m3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-suffers the means of cure To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV EDWARD A WILSON,
41[m3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR. NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inflamitary

Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases, together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation,—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive direct and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Bronchia. By Inhalation the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment The success of my treatment in the above diseases and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulte personally or by letter, on all diseases as acute, and that the medicines, the same as used in the institution, prepared to suit each individual case. Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers &c. &c. will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. Terms—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows viz: $12 per month for each patient which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also Inhaling Vapor and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6. To be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month, if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.
No 3.0 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St. N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected

43cs408m6

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

A CHOICE selection of Perfumary for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

To-Days Advertisements

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP
BY
Burlingame & Yawger,
WE

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 20 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best.

BURLINGME & YAWGR.
Tecumseh, Sept. 1858. 41

OYSTERS
By the Keg, Can or Dozen.
OHIO ALE,
ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrel
Genuine Hamburgh Cheese
SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to [illegible] date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 295, 297 and 298 and was given to secure the payment of One hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and Twenty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage therefore the premises in said mortgage described, viz: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres more or less), will be sold at the Circuit Court room in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee, at public auction or to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at 10 o'clock P. M. PERLEY BILLS, Assignee
Tecumseh, June 1st. 1858. 39[3

The above Sale is postponed, and will take place at the same place at One o'clock, P. M. on [illegible] 25th Instant. PERLEY BILLS, Assignee
Tecumseh, September 16th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed and will be made at the same place at one o'clock P. M. on the 4th day, October, 4th 1858 PERLEY BILLS, Assignee
Tecumseh, September 25th, 1858

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use—

Wire down and no further communications at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire a chance at my late arrival of New Goods, please call and purchase before Victoria comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 16th.

A. B WARD
Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit

No 94 Woodward Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that past experience and success for the past four years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th.

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Coarse Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E Tindall

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection the best, for sale cheap by E Tindall

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET

R. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provissions.

WANTED,

Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit For which the highest market Price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh, Sept. 16.

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER.

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at "Prices to suit the Times."

Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th.

A CHOICE LOT OF FAMILY GROCERIES At Union Hall

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jayne's Medicines at Apothecaries Hall

Prayer was not invented; born with the first sigh, the first first sorrow of the human heart.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS	SIX MONTHS	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	7	10	20
One-quarter do	5	7 1/2	15
One Square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 00
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business cards $3, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Postmasters from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 30	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow & Springville—Monday, Wednesday and Friday	9	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	9 20	A. M.	5 57	P. M.
Going South	6 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

Republicans of First District.

The Republicans of the 1st. Representative District, including Macon, Tecumseh, Franklin, Cambridge, and Woodstock, will meet at Springville, in Cambridge, on Tuesday October 5th, 1858, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative. Each town is entitled to one half the number of delegates to which they were entitled in the county convention.

Wm. W. OSBORN.
Chairman of Committee.

Woodstock, Sept., 27th, 1858.

☞ Saturday evening last, was celebrated in fine style with Music, Baloons, Fire Balls and Canon. The largest baloon was found on Monday, eight miles south east of the village, and returned to 'go up' next Saturday.

☞ Chas. DeMott has Harper for October.

☞ $2,35 to the State Fair and back, by M. S. Railroad.

☞ Jones & Scherer have received the Fall and Winter fashion plates from Williams, N. Y.

☞ A large amount of property is to be sold at public auction, Saturday Oct., 2d., at the residence of Mrs. Maria Stillson.

☞ Ladies' Repository for October is a capital number. Its contents cannot be surpassed. Is Published by Swarmstdt & Poe, Cincinnati; Terms $2.

OUR ADVERTISERS.—Persons wishing New Goods, are requested read our advertisements.

AN EDITOR I LIGHT. We believe it is rare that editors indulged in a drop but when they do, their readers are sure to find it out. A Syracuse contemporary was called upon to record a melancholy event, at a time when his head was a little heavy, and he did it up in the following manner:

"Yesterday morning, at four o'clock p. m., a man with a heel in the hole of his stocking, committed arsenic by swallowing a dose of suicide. The inquest of the verdict returned a jury that the deceased came to the facts in accordance with his death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely loss. In death we are in the midst of life!"

☞ The Chicago Herald says:—"The best maderia wine used in the United States is manufactured from cider, elder-berries, aloe-juice, and acetate of lead, flavored with one very old and much worn boot to the barrel. This last ingredient produces the peculiar "leathery" taste so greatly admired by connoisseurs. Positive fact!"

☞ Discontinuing to advertise is like taking down one's sign. It is a sort of intimation of retirement from business, and the public treat it as such. Or they may regard it as evident that something has gone wrong in the business which requires privacy for investigation. Whatever construction may be put upon it, the result is disastrous. Now, we advise all our readers who may have fallen into the common error of the season, to come out of their holes, to put up their signs once more and advertise in as many papers as they did in the best times. While business creates advertising, it is equally true that advertising creates business. It creates a talk and a stir in business circles, and reminds people that they have no right to be leading drones' lives, even though times are dull.—Phila. Bulletin.

☞ We are enjoying a beautiful shower. Farmers have been compelled to abandon their plow for some time yet. Wheat that has been sown is sprouted.

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, M CH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS,

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT

Warehouse, Rail Road Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. R. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, S &c.

Brownville Michigan.

Ale.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,

402 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st. 1858. 394

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH, September 30 1858.

Wheat	95a100
Flour	5 00a5 50
Buckwheat	37
" flour	1 50
Barley	40a55
Corn	55
Oats	40a45
Clover seed
Beans	80a90
Potatoes new	30a35
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5a6
Butter	12
Yallow	9a10
Lard	10
Eggs	7
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	4 00a5 00
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8a10
Sheep pelts	35a40
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 25
do diary pr sack	16
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

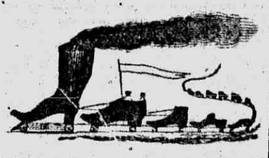
1858 RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 55	A. M.
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"
Arrive at	12 35	5 40 P. M.
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"
Arrive at	12 45	3 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago	12 55	10 04 "
Arrive at	7 30	" 10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	" 1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20	" 3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	" 1 50 "
Arrive at		12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	" 8 40 "
Arrive at		12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	" 9 30 "
Arrive at	7 30	" 3 25 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg Baltimore. Philadelphia. New York. Buffalo. All baay and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads: at N Y & B R R crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

June 10, 1858. J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS.

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th 1857.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON.	D. D. MARSHALL.
DELOS LeBARON.	CALLAS GRAY.
D. L. SHOLES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BELRS.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st, 1858. 391y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m6

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and he pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept, 1st 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - PROPRIETOR.

TOLEDO. OHIO.

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr Robsack's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April, 7th.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH. . . . MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $800,000.
HOMSTEAD Westchester, N Y $150 000
ÆNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn $150 000
CHARTER OAK. " $200 000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27th, 1858

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug store of H Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is also well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye." JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov 20, 56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE

MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by S. TINDALL

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by S. TINDALL.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay

CHARLES DeMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modded it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair treat of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood

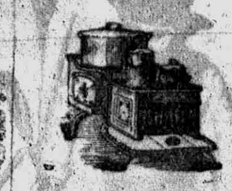
☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feb. 18th, 1858. 378m3

New Advertisements.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore,

There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton, And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone, We can Beat Adrian all Holler, If we don't we'll give you a dollar, Selling Nails at $4 a keg, From that we shan't budge a peg. Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred, And yet more that might be numbered. Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size. Be sure you find the Gothic Hall. Don't fear the Hardness of times, At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him—Terms moderate.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
500 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
500 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
4-0 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
500 Parlor Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Setts, Ear Drops and Pins,	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Cents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1,000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	4 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	2 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 00
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
2500 Gold Rings, (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Cents Gold Rings,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
2500 Misses' do	1 50
2000 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Roosm Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleeve Buttons,	2 00
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
3000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	2 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry Gift Books, &c &c, not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $20

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G EVANS, Publisher.

407m3 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d. 1857. 355tf

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Lanisides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " Eaton county.
5 Houses and lots in this village; also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices January 4th Union Hall.

AGRICULTURAL.

We the undersigned were present at a trial of D C. Smiths' Patent Husking Machine. The Machine husked well, both in the shock and on the hill, doing the work better and about twice as rapid as by hand.

We cheerfully recommend it to the favor of the farming community, as a first-rate labor saving machine, valuable alike for its economy, simplicity, durability and perfection of work.

C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, P. R. Adams
B. L. Baxter, T. H. Hamilton
J. G. Roberts, C. Hewit, S. Davison
P. Davison, A. Waller.

Tecumseh, September 23d, 1858

I have had frequent opportunities of seeing Mr. Smith's Corn Husker thoroughly tried, and fully concur in the above statements, relative to its merits.

M. A. Patterson.
Pres. Nor. Len. Ag. Society.

A New Corn Husker.—D C Smith, Esq. of Tecumseh, Mich., has recently obtained letters patent for a Corn Husker, which is quite different from any thing before invented for that purpose. He showed it to us a few days since, and used it in husking a bundle of corn on the stalk, which he brought to our office with him. We think from its simplicity, that it will come into general use by our corn growers. It is a light (weighs some 8 or 4 pounds,) machine, which the operator attaches about his body, and operates it with one hand, while the other hand is free to throw the corn into the heap or wagon. With it one man can do the work of two or more men in the ordinary manner. It is equally adapted to the hill or shock. The machine can be made by any good blacksmith, at a small cash price.—Emory's Journal of Agl.

Smith's New Corn Husker.—Our aversion to patent corn huskers is pretty well known; therefore, when we say that we have seen a machine that does all it promises, farmers will say that there is "something in it." Yes, we have actually seen a corn husker which husks corn, and does it well. In appearance, this machine very much resembles a pair of blacksmith's tongs and a steel trap merged into one. By the politeness of Mr Smith, the patentee, we witnessed its operation last Tuesday afternoon. It was submitted to several severe tests, and in ease came off triumphant. So far as our knowledge extends, it is by far the best husker yet presented to the public. It is very simple, and therefore very durable.—Other inventors aimed too high—they wished to bring forth a machine which would husk by horse power—and they failed. If corn could be readily dried in the husks, we have no doubt that an apparatus could be contrived for husking and shelling at a single operation; but so long as it must first be husked, then dried, and shelled afterwards, we do not see that a great double-fisted, horse power machine can ever be very serviceable. We shall believe when we have seen. But Mr. Smith's invention is a man power machine, by which one person can perform the labor of two—thus saving half the labor of husking. It is equally adapted to the hill the shock or the heap. It does not weigh four pounds, is attached to the wearer by a plate band around the waist and a leather strap over the neck, and an active man can husk about two thirds as fast as he can pluck off the ears. Another advantage is, that the husker has the perfect control of one hand, so that he can, if he chooses, throw the corn into a wagon as fast as it is husked. Altogether it is a wonderful contrivance.—Prairie Farmer.

State Fairs for 1858.

Michigan, Detroit, Sept. 28, 29, 30, & Oct 1.
Connecticut, Hartford, October 12, 13, 14, 15
Illinois, Centralia, September 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
Indiana, Indianapolis, October 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.
Iowa, Ocatahoosa, September 28, 29, 30, and October 1.
Kentucky, Louisville, September 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1, 2.
Missouri, St. Louis, September 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
New Jersey, Trenton, September, 15, 16, 17.
New Hampshire, Dover, Oct. 6, 7, 8
New York, at Syracuse, Oct. 5, 6, 7, 8.
Ohio, Sandusky, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, September, 28, 29, 30, and Oct. 1.
Rhode Island, Providence, September, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.
United States, Richmond, Va., October 25, 26, 27, 28.
Vermont, Burlington, September, 14, 15, 16, 17.
Wisconsin, Madison, October, 4, 5, 6, 7.

County Fairs.

Clinton, St. Johns, Oct. 13, 14
St. Joseph, Centreville, Sept. 29, 30.
Eaton, Charlotte, Sept. 28 29, 30.
Genesee, Flint, Oct. 6 and 7.
Lenawee, Adrian, Oct. 6 and 7.
Northern Lenawee, Tecumseh, Sept. 16
Berrien, Niles, Oct. 6 and 7
Jackson, Jackson, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.
Ottawa, Eastmanville, Sept 22 and 23.
Barry, Hastings, Oct. 13, 14.
Kent, Grand Rapids, Oct 5, 6, 7.
Calhoun, Marshall, Oct. 5, 6 and 7.
Branch, Coldwater, Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

60,000
BUSHELS OF
Wheat Wanted.
E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, Apr'l, 5th.

A CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall

Agency for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E Merrill to William H. Forster dated April 22nd A. D. 1856 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 16th day of May A. D 1856 in Liber 2 of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed to be due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at the date

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east, excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said payment amount aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

STACY & WOOD. Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh July 1st. 1858 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a sum of money secured by mortgage, bear ng date the twenty-first day of February 1856 executed by Augustus Escott to John C. Woodruff and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan in liber W of Mortgages on folios 597 and 598, on the Twenty-fifth day of June 1856 which said Mortgage was duly assigned on the 17th day of July 1857 by the said John C. Woodruff to Silas B. Ward which assignment is also duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in liber Y of Mortgages on folio 738, upon which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity have been commenced for the recovery of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said Mortgage contained and in pursuance of the Statute, the Mortgaged premises described herein, to wit: All the certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township and Village of Tecumseh County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as village lots No's Sixty-one and Sixty-eight (61 & 68) in original plat of said Village will be sold at public auction, at the door of the Circuit Court Room, in the City of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan on the Twenty-fourth day of September A. D. 1858 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

ALLEN B. WARD.
Dated June 15th 1858 Assignee.

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A D 1855, executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas st. cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723 Thomas St Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 28th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty six dollars and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty one township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27 h day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Cobb Wellow's in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B BOWEN Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH. Assignee.
Dated July 23d 1858. 402w13

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Billsbearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County in Liber Z. of mortgages, on the 30th day of October 1857, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to recover or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (some more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee
Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394t13

The above Sale is postponed and will be made at the same place at One o'clock, P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee
Tecumseh September 10th 1858.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight

Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Amenus Van Valkenburgh Gardian T Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Van Van Valk nburgh minors.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Harlon B Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors for reasons therein set forth

Thereupon it is ordered That Monday the Eleventh day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition and that the next of kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN, Judge of Probate
(A true Copy) 400w3

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the county of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust claims and demands against the estate of James B Hoeg late of Tecumseh in said county deceased, will meet at the office of Stacy & Wood in the village of Tecumseh, on Monday the sixth day of September next, and Tuesday the twenty fifth day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and passing upon such claims

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the sixth day of July last past hath been allowed by the said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance

CONSIDER A. STACY, } Commissioners.
SIBELL C. LeBARON, }
August 21, 1858. 396w4

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee dated the 19th day of March A. D. 1858, to me directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1858 levy upon all the right, title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows viz: The west half of the north east quarter of section eleven; also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter section three also the east half of the east half of the north west quarter of section ten, also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen, therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue, on Thursday the 26th day of August next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room in the city of Adrian.

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated July 5th, 1858 399w6

Sheriff Sale

STATE of Michigan, Lenawee County, ss. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee dated the 19th day of March A D 1858 to me directed and delivered I did on the 8th day of April A. D 1858 levy upon all the right title and interest of Thomas Brairton, Edward Brairton and James Agen in and to the following described property, to wit: All those certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Cambridge in said County of Lenawee known and designated as follows, viz: All that portion of section eleven town five south of range two east, bounded by beginning at the quarter section line and northeasterly, ten chains from a post on the south line of said section eleven, running thence south eighty-nine degrees and forty five minutes, west seventeen chains and forty links to a stake and stones, thence north fifteen minutes, west thirty chains to a stake and stones, thence north eighty nine degrees and forty five minutes, east two chains and twenty links to a stake, thence north one degree, east nineteen chains and forty-two links to a stake, thence south seventy six degrees, east ten chains and thirty three links, thence north nineteen degrees and thirty minutes four chains and seventy six links to the road, thence north twenty-nine degrees east to Iron Lake, thence along the south bank of said Lake to the quarter section line aforesaid, thence along said line south fifteen minutes about fifty five chains to beginning, containing about seventy-eight acres. Also the east half of the east half of the south east quarter of section three; also the east half of the east half of the north east quarter of section ten and also the west half of the north east quarter of section ten, and also the west half of the east half of the south west quarter of section three, all in town five south of range two east, which interest of said Humphrey Agen, Thomas Brairton and Edward Brairton therein I shall expose for sale at public vendue on Thursday the 26th day of August next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Circuit Court Room, in the city of Adrian

J. R BENNETT, Sheriff.
By John McConnell, Deputy Sheriff
Dated July 5th, 1858 399w6

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all.
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall,
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 356tf

LOCK, LOOK, LOOK!
EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of
HENRY LANCASTER,
And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him—Terms moderate.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

SUMMER GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS,

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House,

Encouraged by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, the United States Journal, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858, and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of engravings, and a splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, which Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Our is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid	Post
gold throughout	6 00	9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00	9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00	9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Bar Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	3c
Superb French Shin Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	3c
A Miss's ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	3c

Among the Engravings are:
The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00 12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney. 18x24 1 00 12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50 9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W Edwards 50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent who will be richly paid therefore.

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 406 Broadway, New York.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cotton wood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED
IS
The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales Sketches, &c., that can be procured.—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is hand-somely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free. An application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3oy&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE

THE
GOLDEN PRIZE.
ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly Golden Prize is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

Elegantly Illustrated Every Week

A PRIZE IN EVERY.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS

Three Copies one year	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty One copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The Articles to be given away are comprised in the following list:

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each,
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do
100 do do	50 00	do
300 do do	30 00	do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	25 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to 22 00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Finger and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Wedding Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40 to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded with in one week, by mail or express, post paid.

All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS.
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY
TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
EDITORIAL NOTES AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money
MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter, be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1 50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12 50 per annum.
15 " " "	15 00 " "
20 " " "	20 00 " " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO
F. S. CABOT & CO.,
BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one certainly every merchant has sometime very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the item active of some business or the purchase of some article that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having by some published by a considerable observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us for execute orders, for other purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the articles rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain that being constantly in the market buying largely for cash, we can now serve them any single purchaser can. In fact we cease to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it and know where to go to find everything to the first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money, accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions, quite might require it to be varied from that. We have even engaging our attention the copy and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying one of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the reply.

REFERS BY PERMISSION TO

Wm G. Lambert of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm L. King of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield Wentworth & Co. Boston.
J. C. Cabot of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies. Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

The Howard Association in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual diseases and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks of several years ago, resolved their consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of disease in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, and other diseases of the Sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, also for are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to those who need. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE E. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association No 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO FAIRCHILD, Secretary
EZRA D HEARSEWELL, President
3999

SPRING MEDICINE!

GET THE BEST, GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills. These unrivalled Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer

See Advertisement.

CHAIN
PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James

AMOS VAN ORMER
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

DR. ROBACK'S
SCANDINAVIAN
Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money.

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums wherever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship Fast and Perfect Threshing and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. Brown, Proprietor.
R. T. Merrill, Agent.

For further particulars please call on
E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S
Blood Purifier and Blood P
THE GREAT
SCANDINAVIAN
VEGETABLE REMEDIES

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class who always look before they leap, and form honest and rational judgment gives law to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Diseases, Sick Headache, Weakness, Scrofula, Pruritus Old Sores, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Piles, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Worm Diseases, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actions were compared by sagacious and distinguished Physicians and statesmen, it was found that every stage of the progress cure, was precisely as he had described. The result was that the mind of many became interested, and that persons of the highest standing in every city across the Union patronized the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious discoverer to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age.

The Blood Purifier and Pills

are now universally recommended by the well informed and candid persons, as an infallible cure for

Indigestion,
Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Pain in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,
Liver Complaint,
Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of appetite, Sleeplessness, Nightmare,
General Debility,
Nervous Tremore, Fainting Fits, Low Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of Flesh,
Scrofula,
Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples on Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Scald Head, Sores, Glandular swellings, Scrofulous tumors,
Neuralgia,
Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Palsy, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Tremors,
Female Complaints,
Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Disease of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Kidneys,

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS.

Of distinguished men in every profession warmly recommending the preparations may be seen at Dr Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal properties which Physicians have heretofore in vain to combine in one preparation. They relieve the bowels, purify the blood, and invigorates the constitution. In a word at the same time they do the work of all of which will Subscribe. The absence of mineral or of every stupifying drug, renders them safe to the most delicate female, or the feeblest child. No one can doubt their superiority after one single trial—they are not only better, but in fact, cheaper than any other Pills, for it takes less pills to effect a cure, to produce a better effect.

Price of the Scandinavian Blood Purifier $1, per bottle or $5, per dozen, to the Scandinavian Blood Pills 25 cents per box, or 5 boxes for $1

See Dr. Roback's Special Notice and Certificates, published in a conspicuous part of this Paper from time to time. Dr. Roback's Medical Almanac and Family Adviser, containing a great amount of interesting and valuable Medical information, is given gratis of any of his agents throughout the country.

Principal Office and Sale Room No. 4 Fourth st, 3d Building from Main, Cincinnati, O. Labatory in Hamilton, O.

CARLISLE, Warren Co., O., May 1st, 1858.
Dr. C. W. ROBACK.—Dear Sir: For the benefit of suffering humanity permit me to say that I have found your Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills, a sure cure for indigestion and Liver Complaint. I have been afflicted for five years and have tried a great many physicians. But all to no purpose, I was induced by a friend to try your Blood Purifier and Pills, and I did so. I was living in Cincinnati at the time, and I went to your office and purchased one bottle of the Purifier and a box of Pills to commence with, and in one day I found your valuable medicine was doing me good. I am enjoying good health at present, and am confident that the cure is permanent. I know others buy and take what they please, but give me the Blood Purifier and Pills for all chronic diseases which arise from impure blood or derangement of the digestive organs. I take no other medicines, and have not for the last eighteen months.

Most truly, T. TUCKER.

For sale by HENRY TAYLOR, Tecumseh
N. BIDWELL, Adrian, R. BROWNING, Clinton
G. W. HAWKINS, Medina, P. N. BUTLER, Ypsilanti
R. E. BIRD, Clayton, W. G. JOHNSON, Manchester
And by Druggists and Merchants generally.
Tecumseh, Jan 28 1858

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND Phœnix Bitters.

TH

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 47. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 7, 1858. WHOLE NO. 412

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
T. R. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W CLARK, Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street
3407 TECUMSEH, M. CH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DEMOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS,
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

A. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMFORT,
H. G. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT
Warehouse, Rail Road Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS,
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. MILLS. E. L. BAXTER.
MILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW.
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. A. STACY. E. S. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON,
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan

A. HANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
339y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
339 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.
Two Doors East of the Post Office.
403 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP
Notary Public, Ridgeway Michigan.
Has a General Assortment of DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

HENRY TAYLOR'S
MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS
AND
Phœnix Bitters
FAMILY MEDICINES

From the Waverly Magazine

My Prairie Home.

On the rolling western prairies,
Dressed in flower-besprangled green,
Where the scenery ever varies,
And fair lakelets show their sheen;
Where from over hill and valley
Oft the cheering breezes come,
And with flowers and leaflets daily,
Stands my own loved prairie home;

Stands within a green grove's bosom—
'Tis a quiet, shady cot,
And a thousand bright flowers blossom
Close beside the vine-wreathed spot,
Sweetest bird-notes, wild and thrilling,
Song of joy and praise and love,
Flo't upon the breeze, filling
Every nook of this fair grove.

Near a silver streamlet dances,
Lightly down its rocky way;
Mirrors back the golden glances
Of the coming God of day,'
Here are rural scenes and bowers,
Secret cloisters in the grove,
Where, 'mong fairy birds and flowers
I may sit and dream of love.

Here, unvexed by irksome duties,
Gazing on the bright and grand,
Ever changing, gorgeous beauties
Of this golden prairie-land.
Oft I strive while gladness lingers
In my heart a pure, deep sea,
Swift to strike with skillful fingers
The fair lyre of Poesy!

Here, the skies are blue above me,
Arched with Hope's bright rainbow o'er,
And the ones who dearly love me
Guard from sorrow evermore.
Pointing to the glorious ardon,
To my own unworthy name;
If I bear the toil and burden,
Written on the roll of Fame.

The Run for Life.

Philip Rodney, a Planter living in the interior of Arkansas, had missed several hogs from the pen in which he was fattening them for the Autumn. The pen was built at the base of a high hill which hid it from the house, and ju on the edge of an upland jungle or thicket of undergrowth, which extended along the nearest spur of some neighboring hills, which swelled up to a height almost entitling them to be called a mountain range. Surprised and chagrined at the loss of his hogs, Mr. Rodney determined to keep a strict watch, and, if possible, to detect the depredator upon his property

One morning just at dawn of day, he heard the squeal of a hog in the direction of his pen, and springing out of bed and putting on his garments he hurried to the rescue of the squealing porker As soon as he came in sight of the pen, he saw a large bear with a hog in his mouth and fore paws, leisurely retreating to the thicket. Returning to the house for his gun, a trusty rifle, of large bore, he soon came back to the pen, but both bear and hog had disappeared.

Mr Rodney, who was a bold, adventurous man, of high courage and great physical strength, at once determined upon pursuit. The blood of the mutilated hog forming a distinct trail upon the ground, it was an easy matter to follow the track of its captor. Entering the thicket and going forward a short distance, he saw the bear some forty or fifty steps in advance of him, deliberately munching the hog for his morning meal To raise his rifle, aim and fire, were but the work of a moment. The bear fell, apparently lifeless, at the crack of the gun.

Feeling certain, from the range of his aim, and the plump fall of the bear, that he was killed outright, Mr Rodney approached with a view of taking a nearer look at his bulky proportions; but when within a few yards of where he lay, the bear, to the great surprise of the Planter, rose slowly up, gave a deep guttural growl, and started forward in the direction of the neighboring hills

Mr. Rodney, seeing the copious discharge of blood from the wound made by his ball, and observing that the bear staggered in his gait, followed on after him, expecting soon to see him fall; but the bear moved slowly and steadily on, never once looking back at his pursuer, keeping up a low moan or growl indicative of pain or anger or both combined, and having reached the base of the steepest and highest hill of the group, he began the ascent with a still slower pace and still deeper growls. Mr Rodney, was only a few paces in the rear, and gaining upon him every moment At last, when near the summit of the hill, he came quite up to the bear, whose steps staggering and slow, seemed faltering with fatigue and loss of blood, and thinking that a slight push only was necessary to bring him to the ground, Mr. Rodney gave the bear a severe punch with the butt of his gun.

The blow seemed to recall both strength and spirit to the now enraged and desperate beast, for, turning quickly and sharply round, he stood within a few feet of his pursuer, upon whom he manifestly proposed making an immediate attack.

Mr. Rodney comprehended the peril of his position in a moment He had no weapon but his gun, which he had not reloaded after the first discharge, and to defend himself with its blows, considering the size and massive weight of the bear, was utterly impossible His only hope of escape, therefore, was to retreat down the hill, which he began at once with rapid strides.

The bear, accelerated in his speed by the momentum of the descent, and, perhaps, also by pain and anger, rushed headlong in pursuit. From crag to rock and rock to crag, the Planter leaped with an agility and speed almost incredible to himself. Well he knew, that once within the reach of those terrible jaws gaping to rend and devour him, his wife would be a widow, and his children fatherless, ere he could commend himself and them to the mercy of heaven in a prayer.

Every moment seemed to increase the speed and fierceness of the bear When the chase began he was only a few feet in the rear of the Planter At the bottom of the hill the distance between them was lessed by more than half. Mr. Rodney, though hard pressed, and with no time to lose, ventured to cast one backward glance at his pursuer. The sight was enough to strike even his stout heart with terror.—The tongue of the bear, red and swollen protruded from his livid mouth; white foam covered his lips; his teeth, sharp and shining, were visible in the jaws open already for the seizure of his victim; the ears thrown back close to the head, like those of an angry horse, and a stream of fire seemed to issue from the sockets of his glaring eye balls. Escape longer than for a few minutes seemed now utterly impossible. A distance of more than a mile lay between the Planter and his home. Thick bushes and branches impeded every foot of the way as far as the hog pen near which he must pass to emerge from the jungle in the direction of his house. To deviate from the path he had come, which was partially trodden down by the transit of himself and the bear over it, and by the occassional visits of the latter to the pen, would be to entangle himself in the undergrowth, and fall an immediate victim to the rapacity of his pursuer, whose heavy bulk enabled him to force a swifter passage through the ticket. Along this path, therefore, Mr Rodney darted with the speed of a man who is conscious that his life depends upon his fleetness. Half the distance had been passed between the hill and the pen. Only a hand-breath of space remained between him and the muzzle of the bear, outstretched and open to seize him. The hot foam spattered over him, and the hotter breath almost blistered his skin through the thick covering of his clothes. There! he's gone! No! the sharp crack of a rifle rings through the woods, and the bear springs forward and falls dead across the legs of the Planter, who has been thrown, by his death leap prostrate upon the ground

A hunter going early that morning to join his comrades in the chase for deer, chancing to cross the path of Mr. Rodney and the bear, saw the peril of the former, and, firing from a close distance, sent a rifle ball through the brain of the latter There was a feast of bear-meat for many days at the house of the hospitable Planter, at which, we may be sure, the hunter aforesaid was the most honored of his guests.—Home Journal

CAN'T COME ON DECK.—As an omnibus, chartered by a party of sailors for the purpose of visiting Jones' woods, was passing through Division street, New York, it was stopped at the corner of Market Street by an Irishman and his Biddy, who insisted upon being allowed to get in. The sailors were opposed to this infringement on their rights, although a greater number of them had clambered up to the roof, upon which they sat in the broiling sun to enjoy the prospect The driver tried to explain to the Irishman that the onibus was engaged; he would understand nothing, but kept reiterating:

'Isn't it an omnibus, ye spalpeen?—This is a free country? If you don't let us in sure, I'll have the law of yez.'

Tired of the fellow's pertinacity, the spokesman of the sailors, after turning his gun several times, exclaimed.—

'Let the lubbers into the hold, but I'm blowed if they shall come up on deck!'

A boy was lately asked by his teacher 'who first bit the apple?'

To which he replied,—

'I don't know, but I guess it was our Sal, for she eats green apples like thunder.'

A Public Rebuke.

ANECDOTE OF JUDGE WHITE.

The late lamented Judge Hugh L. White, of Tennessee, became conspicuous at a very early period of Life, as a jurist and a statesman He fixed his permanent home near Knoxville, amidst the scenes of his youthful sports and the companions of his boyish days. Rarely has a young man, continuing in his own country and among his own kindred, so soon attained such literary and political pre-eminence. From his youth, the Judge was characterized by profound reverence for the ordinances of the gospel He was a regular attendant at the house of worship. And while he was a Presbyterian, that being the Church of his fathers and the Church of his choice, he was benevolent and generous toward other branches of the great Christian family. He gave to the Methodist Church at Knoxville, the ground on which their house of worship was built; and occasionally he would appear in the congregation, and join with them in their worship

Now, in those days, there was a notable presiding Elder in that region, called Father Axley, a pious, laborious, uncompromising preacher of the gospel, who considered it his duty to rebuke sin wherever it should presume to lift up its deformed head within the limits of his district. And while Father Axley was a man of respectable talents, undoubted piety, and great ministerial fidelity, he had, moreover, a spice of humor, oddity, and drollery about him, that rarely failed to impart a characteristic tinge to his performances. The consequence was, that amusing anecdotes of the sayings and doings of Father Axley abounded throughout the country

On a certain day a number of lawyers and literary men were together in the town of Knoxville, and the conversation turned on the subject of preaching and preachers. One and another had expressed his opinion of the performances of this and that pulpit orator. At length Judge White spoke up—"Well, gentlemen, on this subject each man is, of course entitled to his own opinion; but I must confess, that Father Axley brought me to a sense of my evil deeds—at least a portion of them—more effectually than any preacher I have ever heard" At this, every eye and ear was turned; for Judge White was known never to speak lightly on religious subjects, and, moreover, he was habitually cautious and respectful in his remarks concerning religious men—The company now expressed the most urgent desire that the Judge would give the particulars, and expectation stood on tiptoe

"I went up," said the Judge, "on evening, to the Methodist church. A sermon was preached by a clergyman with whom I was not acquainted; but Father Axley was in the pulpit. At the close of the sermon, he arose, and said to the congregation. 'I am not going to detain you by delivering an exhortation. I have risen simply to administer a rebuke for improper conduct, which I have observed to night' This, of course, waked up the entire assembly; and the stillness was most profound, while Axley stood and looked, for two or three seconds over the congregation Then, stretching out his large, long arm, and pointing with his finger in one direction, 'Now,' said he, 'I calculate that those two young men, who were talking and laughing in that corner of the house, while the brother was preaching, think that I am going to talk about them. Well, it is true that it looks very bad, when well dressed young men, who you would suppose, from their appearance belonged to some genteel, respectable family, come to the house of God, and instead of reverencing the majesty of Him that dwelleth therein, or attending to the message of his everlasting love, get together in the corner of the house,' (his finger all this time pointing straight and steady as the aim of a rifleman) and there, through the whole solemn service, keep talking, tittering, laughing, giggling thus annoying the minister, disturbing the congregation, and sinning against God.

"'I am sorry for the young men. I am sorry for their parents. I am sorry they have done so to-night. I hope they will never do so again' But, however, that's not the thing that I was going to talk about. It is another matter, and so important, that I thought it would be wrong to suffer the congregation to depart without administering a suitable rebuke. 'No,' said he, stretching his huge arm, and pointing in another direction, perhaps, that man, who was asleep on the bench out there, while the brother was preaching, thinks that I am going to talk about him Well, I must confess, it looks very bad for a man to come into a worshiping assembly, and instead of taking his seat like others, and listening to the blessed gospel, carelessly stretch himself out on a bench, and go to sleep! It is not only a proof of great insensibility with regard to the obligations which we owe to our Creator and Redeemer, but it shows a want of genteel breeding. It shows that the poor man has been so unfortunate in his bringing up, as not to have been taught good manners He does'nt know what is polite and respectful in a worshiping assembly, among whom he comes to mingle. I am sorry for the poor man. I am sorry for the family to which he belongs. I am sorry he did not know better. I hope he will never do so again. But, however, that is not what I am going to talk about.

"Thus Father Axley went on, for some time, 'boxing the compass,' and hitting a number of persons and things that he was not going to talk about, 'and hitting them hard till the attention and curiosity of the audience were raised to the highest pitch, when, finally he remarked, 'The thing of which I was going to talk, is chewing tobacco. Now, I do hope, when any gentleman comes here to church, who can't keep from chewing tobacco during the hours of public worship, that he will just take his hat, and put it before him, and spit in his hat You know we are Methodists You all know that our custom is to kneel when we pray. Now, any gentleman may see, in a moment, how exceedingly inconvenient it must be for a well-dressed Methodist lady, to be compelled to kneel down in a great puddle of tobacco spit!'

"Now," said Judge White, "at this very time, I had in my mouth an uncommonly large quid of tobacco. Axley's singular manner and train of remark had strongly arrested every one's attention.—While he was striking to the right and left, hitting those things that he was not going to talk about, my curiosity was roused, and conjecture was busy to find out what he was aiming at. I was chewing my quid with uncommon rapidity, and spitting, and looking up at the preacher, to catch every word and every gesture; and when at last, he pounced on the 'tobacco,' behold, there I had a great puddle of tobacco spit! I quietly slipped the quid out of my mouth, and dashed it as far as I could under the seats, resolving never again to be found chewing tobacco in a Methodist church.

[Western Sketch Book.

IMPORTANT HINT IN WASHING CLOTHES.—The American Agriculturalist asserts that the great secret of the success of nine out of every ten of the washing fluids mixtures, and machines which have been sold over the country for many years past, it is not owing so much to the inherant qualities of the articles themselves as to the process of soaking, which they invariably recommend If people pursuing the old fashioned system of washing will simply take the precaution to throw all the clothing to be washed into water ten or fifteen hours before beginning operations, they will find half the labor of rubbing and pounding saved in most cases. Water is, of itself, a great solvent, even of the oily matrials that collect on clothing worn in contact with the body, but time is required to effect the solution.—Every one is aware of the effect of keeping the hands or feet moist for a few hours—the entire external coating of secretion is dessolved The same effect is produced by soaking for a few hours clothes soiled by the excretory matter of the skin

YANKEE ALL OVER. Bayard Taylor says that a Yankee, in walking in St Petersburgh, one muddy day, met the Grand Duke Constantine. The sidewalk was not wide enough for two to pass, and the street was very deep in filth—whereupon the American took a silver rouble from his pocket, shook it in his closed hand, and cried out: 'Crown or Tail?' 'Crown,' guessed the Grand Duke 'Your Highness has won,' said the American, looking at the rouble and stepping into the mud. The next day the Yankee was invited by the Grand Duke to dinner.

☞ An old farmer who had been badly cheated in St Paul, says of it:

"If Gabriel, when he comes to blow the last trumpet, should happen to light at St Paul, there'll be no resurrection, for they'll swindle him out of his trumpet before he can make a single toot."

☞ A pleasant wife is a rainbow in the sky, when her husband's mind is tossed with storms and tempests

From the Waverly Magazine.

Country Washing Day.

Up in the morning early
Soon after break of day,
Brush, hast, being ready,
Men go to gather hay!
The parlor being tasted
Young ladies at the tub,
Old lady getting dinner—
We hear a rub to rub.

I am ordered from the kitchen,
But very hard to move;
Young ladies say they are afraid
I'll with them fall in love;
I move off now, yes, very quick,
No time I will delay,
They say they never want to see
Me on a washing day.

At twelve men come to dinner,
The day's excessive hot,
I go into the kitchen,
O! what a lovely spot;
Old lady sets the table
Young ladies leave the tub,
They all sit round to dinner,
Then steps the rub-to-tub.

Dinner now being over,
We all join in a play
Young ladies they grow angry
Because its washing day;
Old lady washing dishes,
Young ones o'er the tub,
And all grow pleased to hear again
The sound of rub-to-tub.

'Tis four o'clock the afternoon,
Young ladies nearly done,
They tell me they will finish
Before the set of sun;
Old lady then gets supper,
The men all come to tea,
The clothes are all out drying
Upon the drying-tree.

Supper now being ready,
They all sit down to eat,
I pass around the butter
And then also the meat;
All eat a hearty supper—
All's done at once is said,
Out in the porch we sit awhile
And then off to bed

The First Glass

BY MRS. M. P. A. CROSIER.

'Alice, will you be mine?'

The wine, fearfully ominous, sparkled in the cups upon the table, even as Alice said 'Yes,' but she saw no evil potent there

* * Four years had passed 'Twas night. The ticking of the clock broke upon the stillness of the small room where the wife wearily watched by the window with terrible distinctness. There was no light, no fire in the room, and with her babe on her bosom, Alice at length crept under the thin covering of her couch, and harkened for footsteps, which she almost feared would come The hours wore heavily away, measured only by the striking of the clock in the corner.

If she fell asleep, it was only to dream frightful dreams, and awake trembling

O, the horrors of a night—alone, with a drunken husband abroad!

The clock struck three The gate opened. Irregular footsteps came up the path—they were upon the door-stone A hand was on the latch—a moment more, and with a single imprecation a heavy form fell prostrate upon the floor

The wife shrieked, and sprang to her feet—the cold air was rushing in furiously, and the babe missing its mother awoke and cried

Alice endeavored to arouse her husband but another fearful curse was all her consolation

She removed him sufficiently to close the door, then covered him with a blanket from her own bed, and retired to her babe to weep away the hours till morning

A heavy breathing assured her of Henry's life, and the reality of a husband insensible from intoxication sent the hot blood rushing to her brain till she almost feared for her own sanity.

One—two—three—four!—could it have been but an hour? and two more to daylight.

She prayed, 'O, God! must it—must it be my Henry, my once loving husband, a confirmed inebriate? Must my child forever bear the disgrace of a drunken father?—help, Oh, help me to save him!' Daylight came, but still he slept on.—Alice moved lightly around, prepared the best breakfast she could, and waited for his waking.

He did wake at length, and beheld her smiling over him with streaming and swollen eyes.

'My husband, O, my husband!'

'Where's something to eat?' he snarled out. Alice could not speak, but pointed to the table, where were the last half loaf of bread and a few potatoes.

'Why don't you get me something better? you know I can't eat such a breakfast as that,' he said savagely.

'Henry,' she replied, 'this is all that we have!'

This idea seemed somewhat to awaken him to reason, and he essayed to reach the table.

'Did you say this was all? what are you going to do?' said he, something of his old tenderness of manner returning.

'Never mind me, Henry, I am not hungry,' she replied, 'I can eat a piece of bread.'

He sat down—his head ached—but he was sober.

Alice threw her arms around his neck, and kissed him—yes, kissed that bloated face—it was his whom she had loved in his manliness, his whom she still loved, even in his degredation. She then laid her beautiful child in his arms, their smiling little Georgie, 'O, husband can you ever drink any more?' she asked pleadingly.

He looked at his wife—he looked at his child, and the tears started to his eyes.—'Wife,' said he, 'do you remember where and when I took the first glass of wine?'

It was unkind—Alice felt it; but she knew that strong drink had partially effaced his finer feelings, and she only wept, and fell upon her knees, exclaiming 'God forgive me!' She had long since repented—bitterly repented, that she ever offered to her noble lover the tempting goblet, and this reproach was hard to bear but she bore it like a Christian.

Henry was overcome, and kneeling by her side, whispered, 'Alice, pray for me.' She did pray, and he prayed—it was the first time their voices had ever ascended in unison to the throne of grace, and Alice felt that God heard them.

When they arose, the husband drew her to his bosom, and said, 'I am weak, dear wife; pray for me every day, and I will try to overcome temptation'

Was not Alice happy? and did not God bless her ardent prayers?

Two years later, and a passer-by would not have known the cottage; and had he entered to spend a night with the loving family, he never would have suspected that it had once been a drunkard's home.

Cheese vs. Canon Shot.

The greatest amunition that we have heard of lately, was used by the celebrated Commodore Coe, of the Montevedian Navy, who, in an engagement with Admiral Brown of the Buenos Ayres service, fired every shot from his lockers.

'What shall we do, Sir?' asked his First Lieutenant; 'We've not a single shot aboard—round, grape, canister, double-headed, are all gone.'

'Powder gone, eh?' asked Coe.

'No, Sir, got lots of that.'

'We had a confounded hard cheese—a round Dutch one—for desert at dinner to day, don't you remember it, hey?' said Coe,

'I ought to—I broke the carving knife in trying to cut it'

'Are there any more on board?'

'Yes, about two dozen; we took 'em from a dodger.'

'Will they go into the eighteen pounders.'

'By thunder, Commodore, but that's the idea, I'll try them,' cried First Lieutenant.

And in a few moments the fire of old Santo Marie, (Coe's ship) which had ceased entirely, was re-opened, and Admiral Brown found more 'shot flying over his head. Directly one of them struck his main mast, and as it did so shattered and flew in every direction.

'What the devil is that which the enemy is firing?' asked Brown—but nobody could tell.

Directly another one came through a port and killed two men who stood near him; then striking the bulwarks, burst into flinders.

'By Jove, this is to much, this is some new-fangled Paixhan or other—I don't like 'em at all' cried Brown, and then as four or five more of them came slap through his sails, he gave the order, 'fill away,' and backed out the fight, receiving a parting broadside of Dutch Cheese

This is an actual fact; our informant was First Lieutenant on Coe's ship.

HOURS OF SADNESS.—Though youth be a season of jolity, yet it is in hours of sadness that the man is most strongly reminded of the days of yore. The deep feeling of melancholy is the only one that extends like a clue through life; that blends present, past and future into one, and places our identity palpably before us It is the point at which we all feel at home; and when, after intervals of apathy and distraction, we return to it, it seems as if life, like time, were but a series of revolutions, and at certain periods found itself at the very goal from whence it first started.

Hold up my friend—this is the sad

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Two Pictures.

THE PAST.

My life was like a tempest wild and strong
Rushing resistless of all curb or check,
And on its wings my heart was borne along
Until I feared it would be a fearful wreck
Upon the dark, tumultuous sea of wrong
O how I longed for some soul-stirring power
To calm the spirit of such wild unrest,
(If only for one brief and transient hour,)
Within my lonely and unquiet breast—
That peaceful moments in a pleasant shower
Would cool my burning brain and make me blest,
But years passed by like waves upon the Ocean,
Nor stilled me stormy life, nor soothed its fierce commotion

THE PRESENT.

My life is now a stream whose gentle tide
Flows betwixt banks bedecked with flowers,
Upon its waves, my heart doth joyous ride
And cast cool shadows—though the placid hours,
And a bright spirit float'th by my side,
Who soothes and guides me like an Angil blest,
And calms my soul with such a magic power,
That now my heart doth know no more unrest,
No storms do ever o'er my pathway lower,
Or wake the sleeping billows in my breast,
The radiant Future to my fancy seems
A Realm of Beauty, radiant as those we see in dreams.

E M HALE.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Sabbath School Pic nic.

The Macon Picnic held in a beautiful grove on Mr Farley's land, Sept 22d, was a good time Infant voices were attuned in holy songs. All who heard, acknowledged the power of music, and the truth of the saying 'out of the mouth of babes thou has perfected praise,' feeling in their hearts, it was good to be there.

The address of Rev. Mr Harmance on Style, was a demonstration of the truth, that a 'word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of Silver.'

Rev H. G. Blinn gave a brief, but significant address, illustrative of the beautiful harmony that exists among those of whom it is said 'one is your master, even Christ, and all ye are brethren.'

The report was abundant in supplying, and excellent in kind, and so tastefully arranged as to reflect favorably on those who had its management

After the collation, Rev. E Steel entertained the children in conversation in which they committed themselves decidedly against profanity, lying, fighting, the use of tobacco and intoxication.

Mr. Mandeville of Adrian sung a thrilling song, followed by an address so appropos, as to touch every heart, and convince all, that though he could not see, he had a heart to feel, and a tongue to describe the the importance of that biblical knowledge 'which is able to make us wise unto Salvation through faith in Christ.

Mr. Mead directed the singing. I have seldom enjoyed similar festivities with equal gusto, and can but hope the best of consequences may follow I' SHARP

Ridgeway, Sept 27th 1858.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—A touching case was presented the other day to the consideration and charity of one of the Good Samaritans who now take care of the sick, relieve the destitute, and feed the starving. A boy was discovered in the morning, lying in the grass of Chariborne street, evidently bright and intelligent, but sick A man who has the feeling of kindness strongly developed went to him, shook him by the shoulder, and asked him what he was doing there.—'Waiting for God to com for me,' said he 'What do you mean?' said the gentleman, touched by the pathetic tone of this answer, and the condition of the boy, in whose eyes and flushed face he saw the evidences of the fever. 'God sent for mother, father, and little brother,' said he, 'and took them away to his home, up in the sky; and mother told me, when she was sick, that God would take care of me. I have no home, nobody to give me anything; and so I came out here and have been looking so long up in the sky for God to come and take care of me, as mother said he would He will come, wont he? 'Mother never told me a lie.' 'Yes, my lad,' said the man, overcome with emotions, 'he has sent me take care of you' You should have seen his eyes flash, and the smile of triumph break over his face, as he said, 'Mother never told me a lie, sir: but you've been so long on the way' What a lesson of trust, and how this incident shows the effect of never deceiving children with idle tales' As the poor mother expected, when she told her son 'God would take care of him,' he did, by touching the heart of this benevolent man with compassion and love to the little stranger.—New Orleans Delta

☞ Quite an excitement was created in Adrian on Friday, in realation to the finding of a body in a swamp at Huron near Monroe, Mich, supposed to be Thurston's; but several persons who were acquainted with the missing aeronaut, visited the spot and pronounced the remains to be those of some other person

It is almost certain that Thurston fell in the swamp near the mouth of Themes river, Canada; and, if so, there is but little hope of finding the body, as the tall weeds and grass effectually prevent a person seeing more than half a rod in advance, and the body might be passed a short distance to either side without being discovered.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BARBER, EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1858.

School Libraries

Again has our attention been called by an ardent friend of the cause to the unfortunate practical incongruities in the law regulating our common school Libraries. The intention of the Law was no doubt good, and it was designed to afford the largest amount of useful reading to the greatest possible number. But such is not by any means its result

The books are purchased, and we believe for the most part judiciously purchased by the school Inspectors according to the means afforded them for that purpose, and placed in the hands of the township clerk

After being properly marked and numbered so as to be ready for distribution, they are perhaps a few times drawn and returned by the several school Directors, but they soon become lodged somewhere, and are seldom or never seen by one tenth part of the citizens or children of the town entitled to draw them

The school Directors too, have ordinarily no convenient place or facilities for properly keeping them, and having ordinarily quite as many other duties by virtue of their office as they feel that they can afford to perform gratuitously, they are for the most part inclined to neglect drawing them at all.

Now we all know how soon books, unless well cared for, and carefully handled, become injured and destroyed and no one will be surprised to learn that this is especially the case with our common school libraries as now deposited and distributed, when distributed at all,

The books when drawn or returned by the school Directors are usually carried in an open wagon, or still worse in baskets—and if 'two removes are as bad as a fire,' what must be thought of a plan that requires, four such removes, of that which is perhaps the most liable to injury of all household goods, every year

We could perhaps become reconciled to this manifest loss and sacrifice, if it were found to result in a more general and extensive reading of these books, while they should last, but we have seen it does not even do this, and therefore in our opinion the whole plan should be at once and materially changed

We some time since suggested that at least the Union Schools should be awarded their distinct portion of the Library Fund, and allowed to purchase permanently, each in its own behalf, and in view of its own especial wants, a Library for itself We are now inclined to the belief that it were far better that every school district should do this

The result would thus be that whatever books the district did purchase, they would feel a permanent interest in, and they would at least be read, taken care of and preserved. 'Beware of the man of one book' is an old adage, and so too a small library well mastered, is much better for a district, than a large one but partially read and broken up, scattered and destroyed. There would then be no broken sets, but when required, what there were could readily be found

In most of the single districts, where the school is only kept up a portion of the year, it would no doubt be better and safer that the books should be kept elsewhere than at the school house,—it would therefore be well to provide for the election of a Librarian, to hold his office somewhat permanently, whose business it should be to receive, distribute and take care of the district Library.

It should also be made a condition of receiving their proportions of the Library fund that each district should first provide a suitable Library case for receiving and preserving the books We hope some such law as this will receive the attention of our next Legislature to take the place of the wasteful and ineffectual one that now exists, and that such action will be taken upon the subject, as shall meet an important and well recognized demand of the public interest in this respect.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—In Cincinnati on Wednesday evening, Sept. 29th, we learn from the Enquirer, the Fourteenth Ward Fusionists prepared themselves to pay a visit to their friends of the Seventeenth Ward, mounting their connon in an express wagon, which they fired as the procession passed along. The procession made a partial halt to fire a gun, when, by some carelessness in passing the torch from the furnace in the wagon to touch off the gun, a spark fell into the magazine and exploded some twenty or thirty cartridges, riddling the wagon, scattering the contents and throwing the occupants to a distance of fifteen or twenty feet.

Of those in the wagon two were seriously injured, and a third, Mr. Lewis Lee, was so badly burned on the head, breast and abdomen, that there was barely a hope for his recovery.

The Proceedings of the Republican Convention at Springville, will be found in the 2d local column.

General News.

New York, Oct. 4.

Advices from Havana state that an American ship had landed a cargo of Slaves at Cardenas She left the African coast with upwards of 900 Slaves, of which nearly 250 died on the passg from starvation.

A Spanish official had been sent to Cardenas to investigate the matter.

The Weather at Havana was cool and pleasant. The health of the city was improving fast.

Sugar was firm and quiet, though there had been heavy sales during the week.—Stock at Havana and Matanzas reduced to 125,000 boxes Molasses, stiff at 5 reals for clayed. Freights very dull. No Americans engaged during the week.—Exchange on London, 15; Northern cities, 4½.

A letter from Havana to the Herald says: a number of secret agents of Santa Anna had arrived at that port, from St. Thomas, en route for Vera. Cruz They had plenty of gold, and left on the English mail steamer, after having had interviews with the son of the Ex-Dictator and some Spanish and Mexican officials.

It was said the Spanish Government would take the Cable to Key West at its own expense.

Washington, Oct 2.

Dr Billings arrived at New Orleans on Monday, bringing dispatches from our Minister at Mexico, Mr. Forsyth, to our government. His principle object is to purchase minnie rifles for the liberal army, for which purpose he is well supplied with funds He says the Americans are much thought of by the liberal party, and occupy high stations of trust He is of the opinion that Sonora will soon be ceded to the U S. for a consideration On the 5th of Sept., a force was preparing to march on Jalapa, Cheagarif's head quarters.

Baltimore, Oct. 4.

The train from Philadelphia, due here at 3 o'clock this morning, was detained till 6 o'clock by running over a horse at Ferrville. The baggage car was thrown from the track and Peter McGirk, the baggage master killed, and another named Jarger, severely hurt. No passengers injured.

Charleston, Oct 4

The health officers report 64 deaths from fever during the week ending Saturday inclusive.

Quebec, Oct. 4

We have ascertained the following further particulars from the rescued passengers of the Austria:

The Pumps on board the ill-fated vessel, in connection with the fire engine, were not in working order Some attempt was made to render it available, but the progress of the flames was too rapid—Near the forecastle, ropes were made fast to chains outside, and to these numbers clung, but as the flames progressed, one by one gave way, and found a watery grave. On the low sprit, the passengers were laid out. Tier upon tier, piled one on top of the other, sometimes four deep. This was a last resource, and from this they were finally driven until only one man was left seated on the extreme end Eighteen persons got hold of the chain, forming the bowsprit stay, and clung to it till 4 o'clock. The following morning, a seaman clambered from the stay to the bowsprit and found there was a probability of extinguishing what fire there was there, and gave directions to those clinging to the stay to dip portions of their clothing in the sea and pass the same up to him, and the fire was so far subdued as to render the bowsprit a place of comparative safety. They remained there until the boats from the Kedarina picked them off Eighteen persons were found on the bowsprit, three in the water at the vessel's side, and one aft on the railing of the steamer A young girl with her brother had remained all night on the bowsprit, clinging to the rigging.

New York, Oct. 5.

The presentation decree of the National Assembly of Venezuela, inviting Gen. Paez to return to that Republic, took place at the Metropolitan Hotel to day The hotel was splendidly decorated; 200 distinguished citizens and foreigners were present. Gen Paez accepts the invitation and will return with the Commissioners

Private advices say the Spanish Government has ordered a new reinforcement of three thousand troops and all the large vessels of War unemployed to proceed to Cuba immediately.

A private letter from Charleston, says the yellow fever is raging to an awful extent, fully as fatal as at Norfolk two years ago.

New Orleans, Oct 4.

The steamship Orizaba, from Key West, found the British Brig Esparanza floating about in the Gulf—the Captain dead and all the crew sick with fever, and towed her into Apalachicola. The deaths from fever yesterday were 68—for the week, 380.

Savannah, Oct. 4.

The interments yesterday 6, 3 fever.

First Furrow by Steam on Illinois Soil!

On Thursday afternoon, September 16th, while the Centralia Fair Grounds were full of spectators, delighted at the fine show of articles which they met on every side, their attention was suddenly arrested by a puffing and screaming inside the entrance gate, which for a moment made us think a locomotive, partaking of the general excitement, had run off the track and made its way into the enclosure. Rushing ahead of the crowd, which commenced moving in that direction, we mounted the huge dark machine, which was throwing off volumes of steam and smoke, and demanded, "Who they were, and what their business was?"

"Fawkes' Steam Plow, from Lancaster, Pennsylvania—come to break your broad prairies and make them fruitful!" was the reply

"Drive up to the Business Office and receive our greetings."

Away they went over the rough ground and across the dead furrows with the majesty of an elephant and the ease of a lumber wagon On reaching the office of the Executive Committee, thousands of farmers, and farmers' wives, with their sons and daughters, surrounded them, when all burst forth in three hearty cheers for the "Steam Plow"—cheers as loud and sincere as ever went up from Illinois soil.

Mr. Fawkes the inventor, being called out, stepped up with alacrity on the top of the engine's coal box His full dark eye, high broad forehead and well developed brain commanded a respect, of which a truckling politician might be proud, in spite of the smut on his face and the dust on his coat. He said—

"I am not an orator—I am only a simple self-taught mechanic. If I have brought the object of my pursuit to a practical achievement, I hope to have your support. If I havn't got it yet, I will have it, if God spares my life—(cheers) I have spent all that I have in it, and drawn largely on the generosity of my friend, Mr Dickinson As for the 5000 dollars, we don't care much about that, but you may as well give it too us first as last, for we are going to stay till we get it."

When he closed the burst of applause was unbounded, in which all heartily participated.

Arrangements were then made for exhibiting the engine in the ring the next morning at 9 o'clock This drew a larger crowd than would otherwise have been in attendance At the appointed hour on Friday, the land locomotive, steam plow, farm engine, or whatever you please to call it, made its appearance inside of the ring The frighted horses went out, and the excited multitude shouted: Mr F. stood at the "wheel," and put his pet through various evolutions. It propelled, backed, turned, stopped, started and suddenly changed direction and rate of speed to perfect satisfaction The car of the Lockport band was then attached to the engine The steam whistled, off they started, the band played "Wait for the Wagon," and again the people shouted! Round and round the ring it went at the rate of five or six miles per hour But "Will it plow?" and "When will it plow?" were the questions to be answered and solved. The trial was announced for 2½ o'clock P. M., outside the grounds. Men anxious to return home to their families resolved at once to wait till another day and see the plowing done.

Soon after the hour appointed, the engine with the plows attached, guided and controlled by Fawkes, trundled out on the open prairie. The ground was hard; "hard and harder," some said "than a brick." They started, the plows would not go in; men mounted the beams; they started again; the furrows rolled off the mould boards delightfully. By altering their position slightly, they went all right. There seemed to be the elements of success in the man and his horse. The draft was nothing In ground of the usual plowing condition it could have drawn twice as many plows The six furrows were turned straight and deep enough, and well laid over After each one of several repeated trials the people shouted. It was meet they should Fawkes was again called for; again he mounted the back of his steam plow horse, and after repeating in substance his short speech of Thursday, said—"I was born in Lancaster county, Penn. I am a poor man, though that is no disgrace; it is very inconvenient sometimes I went to Virginia, but soon found that was no place for me. While there, however, I was not idle, but invented this plow. I am not a man of science, but I knew I was right. I got my first engine made in Philadelphia. It was not made right The second I took to Christiana, Penn., my birth place, and have made it, what it is before you to-day, myself I have worked hard. I did not expect to take the premium offered by your society, but I intend to make her right, and will take it before I am through."

This is the substance and mostly the words used by Mr. Fawkes. Mr. Dickinson was then called out. He said: "Fawkes came to me with his invention in his handkerchief; I took him to my room and examined it, and told him to go ahead and I would help him through even if it broke me Here it is! We mean to make it what you want it! I challenge you to bring anything that will plow better in the same condition of soil."

This was an experimental trial The next morning was designated for the trial in presence of the committee, but it was finally concluded to defer the test trial a few weeks for Mr Fawkes to make some alterations in his plows, to adapt them to the prairie soil; and also to give time for other steam plows to be on hand at the same time, of which there are two at least entered for competition—one from Buffalo N. Y., the other from Dayton, Ohio Of the time and place due notice will be given. It is expected to be held at some point farther north, probably on the Grand Prairie.

As a considerable number of persons interested in the success of this great undertaking remained until after the departure of the morning train, Mr Fawkes engineered his machine out to the plows to satisfy their curiosity He drove out in front of the plows, turned, backed up and stationed his engine with precision. He then turned round and set in for a new furrow, turned the back furrow handsomely as it done by horses; made the entire turn at the opposite end in three quarters of a minute, and plowed the distance, thirty rods in two minutes, carrying six twelve inch plows. The operation was conducted with as little detention as could be expected He is satisfied that he has got the essentials requisite for a successful steam plow for general field, farm and stationary purposes, upon which most spectators are united.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company kindly opened their locomotive shop to enable Mr. Fawkes to alter and perfect his machine preparatory to a full and complete trial, when the other machines come on.

On our way home, we heard a gentleman of wealth and standing say, that "He had four hundred acres of prairie near Chicago to plow, and if Fawkes would plow it to the satisfaction of good judges of plowing, he would pay all the machine cost and five hundred dollars more

We took an accurate sketch of the machine as in operation on the ground, which is now in the engravers hands, and will appear in our next with a full description and history of the invention up to the present time.

The inventor remains at Centralia for the present, making some slight alterations and expects to meet two other steam plows in competition with him, next month in the neighborhood of Mattoon—one from Dayton, Ohio, and one from Buffalo, New York.—Emerson's Journal of Ag.

Dissolution of the India Company.

The English East India Company, the most extensive monopoly and the most powerful corporation which ever existed, has become defunct by act of Parliament, and all its vast possessions have passed under the direct control of the British crown It was first chartered December 31, 1660, under the style of 'The Governor and Company of Merchants of London, trading to the East Indies,' and the duration of its franchises was limited to fifteen years Powers were given to the Company to elect their Governor, Directors and officers; to inflict punishment not in violation to the laws of England; to export goods free of duty for four years, and to have certain privileges in exporting coin, and from this small beginning dated the history of a company, which for nearly two hundred years tells of more ambitious plans, fortunes made and lost, lives spent, health wasted, hopes, fears, wrongs, elsewhere only to be found in a nation's record From the published life of Hastings to the tale of a soldier who returns to his native English village with only his scars for his reward, we have the experience of a people, from a despot to a peasant, and all servants of this Company.

The first expedition to India by the Company was in 1661, and consisted of a fleet of five ships, varying from 600 to 130 tons with an outlay of $350 000 This trip was so prosperous that by it the Company attained a power that was never lost while it had existence A tho' continually interfered with by private traders, and by the Dutch, French and Portuguese East India Companies from 1668, when it first obtained a small foothold on the Island of Bombay, it gradually extended its jurisdiction over all the powers and territories of Hindoostan, and even extended them to China, where it monopolized the tea and opium trades In 1698 a rival company was chartered because the old company refused to loan the English government £2,000,000, but the two were consolidated soon after. The charter was renewed from time to time, but in 1832 the Company's commercial privileges were terminated by the act of 3 and 4 William IV The wonderful increase that has since taken place in the trade with India, proves the sagacity of the measure, and the justice is even more evident It is to be hoped that a corresponding improvement in the political condition of the country will take place now that the Company have ceased to exist as a political power.

DIED

In this Village, September 15th, ELIZA, wife of G. V. CANNNER Aged 51 years 6 months

Special Notices.

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm, if small one preferred. Inquire of JACOB TOTTEN

Tecumseh, October 1st., 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Curtis & Stilson is this day dissolved by mutual consent The accounts and notes of said firm are left in the hands of George Curtis, who alone has authority to settle the same, at the old stand of said firm.

GEORGE CURTIS
JOSEPH P. STILSON.

Tecumseh, Oct., 4th, 1858.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,

22 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK

MANUFACTURER OF

Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, &c.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. ex6oct08m3

Barley Wanted.

The subscribers is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.

A. JAMES & CO.,

Tecumseh, Aug 6th.

Positively

The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can"

CHAS. DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Dr. H James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name Address, O. P. BROWN, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [41im3

☞ 5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25 000 on one better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN, 41im3 Lowell, Mass.

☞ $32.00 in on day—$62.50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents Send 4 stamps for letters and book. 41im3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV EDWARD A WILSON,
41im3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P O Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inveterate Dysentary,

Price invariable $1 00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 401-3w

A Card from Dr. James M Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician and a twelve years' course of steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological researches, aided not a little in perfecting a system of Vegetable Medicines—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive direct and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat Lungs and Air Passages By inhalation the Vapor and simple prepar'tion of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument I do not advise the use of Medical Institution of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those painful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases and the high character of the institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are too well known to need any comment from me At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported and after due consideration I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping thereof to find the arrangement will give entire satisfaction both to my professional brethren and the public I would respectfully announce in connection, that I am now in constantly personally or by letter on all diseases as above and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case Inhaling Vapors Medical Instruments &c. &c. will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canada. TERMS—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows viz. $10 per month for each patient which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use—also Inhaling Vapor, and an inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6, to be paid in Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine and the balance $6 at the expiration of one month if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment Patients, by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom fails to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered For further particulars address JAMES M JARRETT, M D.

No 8 9 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St N. Y.

P S—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected 41

ex6oct08m6

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale 48 Apothecaries Hall.

To-Days Advertisements.

List of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Tecumseh, for the quarter ending September 30th, 1858.

Atwood Marshall		Jones Sarah
Bacon Ira		Karslmer William J
Bennett Jas H		Kramer Lamont J
Breeler A		Larned Gubie C
Burleson Jobe		Lafler Mrs. Chas.
Brown T P		Lyon F
Brown Henry		Lanning Samuel
Brake Mary		Miller A W
Collum John		Manley Miss Nellie
Craft Mary Ann	2	Mosher Samuel
Clark Melvinah		Manly Rev. Wm. B
Clements C B		Mesler William
Chandler David		McCollum Martha
Casely John		McNitt William
Clark Elizabeth		Nobles Abner
Cook Catharine		Perry Hon. R B
Dunn Dennies		Pratt Mary A
Dennis O F		Robbins John	2
Dennis Hamilton J		Rose Elias
Douglas George L		Ralp William
Dillingham Jas. A		Ripley Antoinette
Fernsdorf L		Shane Aaron
Freeman Hattie		Smith Chas J
Ferridge Harriet M		Sutton Clark or Joh
Fisher Eva		Stafford Andrew
Gilmore Mr (merchant		Traxler Frank
Gilles A		Vanliew James
Hazzard William		VanAistyne Myron
Harbough Edwin R		Ward Sarah	1
Harton Benjamin		Waller H A
Haviland Laura S		Woodruff J C
Jackson Andrew		Waterman Ira D
Jones Sarah A
James John J

Persons calling for the above Letters will please say they are advertised

WM. McNAIR, P. M.

List of Letters remaining in the Post Office Clinton, October 1st., 1858.

Abel Lorenzo		Nuffer Fred
Annesbib Ira M		Packard Addie
Baker Nancy	2	Payne Lyman
BeDell Amy		Pattrjee Miss C
Currier Sarah E		Payne G W
Caldwell A H		Perkins Nevas
Chatham W J		Summers Sally
Faucher W H		Trowers Mabel
Fletcher S		Warner Miss
Gould Joseph	2	Wright George
Hamilton Abram		Weltz Jessilan
Mires William		Winters Mr
Mackay R W		Welch & Co

Persons calling for the above Letters will please say they are advertised

D. REES, P. M

THE "Broadway Omnibus"

The Greatest Paper of the Age

A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly and a Paper that is a Paper.

A budget of Wit, Humor, Facts and Fun drawn from life—"Here you are, only one right away, Broadway, Broadway, right!" Only Fifty Cents—jump in and ride all the year. Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at least five cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up Broadway, down the old Bowery, through Chatham and other principal streets, giving you ample time to see the Elephant and get a good peep at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by candle light, by star light, and will drive the "OMNIBUS" to some parts of the city where there is no light. We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the great metropolis and also amuse many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Throw Physic to the dogs" If you have the Blues, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunately troubled with a scolding wife, we will guarantee to make you forget your trouble, laugh almost in spite of your self, and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "OMNIBUS" at once. The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction for the Price, Fifty Cents a year in a brace—three copies to one address. The Dollar, the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get us up Subscribers and receive one copy free! All communications should be addressed to

CHAS. P. BUTTON,
Editor, "Broadway Omnibus"
41 1w6c 207 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE

STOVES, STOVES

The Subscribers having just returned from New York, are now prepared to supply the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity with the best and most approved patterns of

Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room

STOVES,

They are constantly receiving additions of Mechanic's and Farmer's Tools.

IRON, STEEL, NAILS

And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State

DEWEY & ATWELL

Tecumseh, Oct., 7th.

LATEST NEWS FROM

ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people usually go to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use.

Wire down and no further communication at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire to have a chance at my late arrival of New Goods, please call and purchase before WINTER comes over—she is expected to be present on our Balloon Ascension the 16th.

A. B. WARD.

Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

Pure Solar Salt Group

A New and Superior article—sale of Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salts, for sale Sept. 16th

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit for the best, for sale cheap by

STONE COAL,

Blossburg and New Castle Coal for sale, quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic for sale, Cheap for Cash by N. TIBBALS

Tecumseh, June 12, 1858.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD,
CORNER OF MAIN RAIL ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR
One Column	$15	$25	$40
One-half do	10	15	25
One-third do	9	12	15
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One square (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, special rates.

Legal Advertisements the usual rates
National Law $5 a year; unless contracted with other advertisements.
No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.
Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via, Cambridge Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 07 P. M.
Going South	6 20	"	2 40 "

Local and Miscellaneous.

Town Board.

The Township Board for auditing accounts for the Township of Tecumseh, will meet at the office of the Township Clerk, on Friday, October 8th, 1858, at 1 o'clock P. M.

All persons holding claims against said Town are requested to present them at the above stated time.

By order of the Board.

C. D. STEPHENS, Town Clerk.

AUCTIONS.—Gragg S. Henry has his sale at Clinton, on Saturday, Oct. 9th.

Chas. W. Sawdey's sale at the residence of Mrs. I. H. Miles, on Saturday, Oct. 16th.

Thos. Goodrich will sell at his residence, on Thursday, Oct. 14th. See Posters.

Is there any person among our readers that wish to exchange a farm for Village property. See special notices.

The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" is Advertised for an Excursion, in another colum.

The schools of the Village of Manchester have been united, and placed under the charge of a corps of experienced teachers, for the purpose of affording proper educational advantages at home.

The weight of freight shipped at Tecumseh station for the month of September, 1858, was 1083527 lbs; transportation charges, $1155 69.

STILL THEY COME.—Boots & Shoes at J. W. Osborn's. Fresh Groceries A. James. Hardware, Dewey & Curtis.

For the Tecumseh Herald

ENIGMA.

My 10, 26, 20, is a natural gift to all mankind
My 22, 9, 26, 21, 6, is the ruination of thousands
My 10, 1, 31, 17, 6, is a part of a vessel
My 20, 18, 7, is a fish
My 22, 17, 26, 20, 15, 31, 9, should be paid
My 20, 11, 14, 15, is an article of dress
My 12, 19, 6, 29, 26, 3, is a female name
My 20, 23, 14, 13, 8, is the name of a bird
My 25, 17, 10, 8, is an animal
My 2, 11, 10, 8, 14, is the name of a prophet
My 19, 28, 23, 18, is a necessary though distructive article
My 10, 5, 20, 20, 30, 10, is the name of an Indian
My 15, 16, 9, 13, 20, 22, is a vegetable
My whole is yet a mystery.

MARY L

The Board of Regents of the University have unanimously resolved against removal of the Medical department, and against the admission of females.

A Canada paper says that a gentleman recently turned five horses into a field of rusted oats and they were all found dead the next morning Rust is supposed to be caused by a very minute insect, which lives on the juice of the straw, and the rust is its poisonous secretions.

An Example for Boys.

We have a carrier connected with this office, says the Trenton True American, who is between the ages of 13 and 14, who occupies a seat in the highest class of our Public Schools, has the geography of the country at his tongue's end, and can cipher round a bevy of school-masters, and in two and a half years more, which will make him sixteen, he will probably read Cicero and Homer to boot. But in addition to acquirements at school he has three hundred dollars in the Savings Bank, drawing five per cent. interest, and is daily adding thereto, all gathered together by selling newspapers between school hours.

If there are any of our readers who have any extra papers this week, we would say call soon.

The Republican Convention.

The Republicans of the 1st Representative district, in the County of Lenawee, met in convention at Springville, Tuesday, Oct. 5th, 1558.

James Eddy was chosen Chairman, and C. D. Stephens Secretary.

Moved that the chair appoint a committee of two to examine credentials and report to this convention, motion prevailed and the chair appointed D. D. Piper and C. P. Hendry said committee.

The committee reported Delegates from Woodstock,—John Newberry, Erasmus Osborn, Jas. M Spear.

From Cambridge—Willard Smith, S. Kinney, Nelson Kinney.

From Franklin—Edwin Cook, Jas. B. Wells, C. P. Hendry.

From Tecumseh—Timothy Deuel, J. C. Eddy, C. D. Stephens, D. D. Piper Charles Larzelere.

From Macon—I. N. Smith, Isaac Pennington, J. P. Collins.

The chair informed the convention that its object was to nominate a candidate to represent this district in our Legislature. Also, appointed Timothy Deuel to act in concert with the secretary as tellers.

Motion was made and prevailed that the convention proceed to an informal ballot.

The 1st., informal ballot resulted as follows:

F. J. Hough,	4
G. D. Perry,	2
Jabez Perkins,	3
Wm. Larzelere,	3
J. C. Satterthwaite,	2
W. W. Osborn,	2
Totab	16

The 2d informal ballot resulted as follows

F. J. Hough,	4
G. D. Perry,	2
Wm. Larzelere,	3
J. C. Satterthwaite,	2
W. W. Osborn,	5
Total	16

The 3d informal ballot resulted as follows

F J. Hough,	4
G. D. Perry,	2
Jabez Perkins,	6
Wm. Larzelere,	5
Total,	17

Mr Cook of Franklin, here withdrew Mr Perrys' name, and proceeded to a 4th informal ballot with the following result.

F. J Hough,	3
J Perkins,	6
Wm Larzelere,	5
W W. Osborn,	3
Total,	17

Mr. Spear of Woodstock, here withdrew Mr Osborn's name. A 5th informal ballot resulted as follows:

F J. Hough,	3
Jabez Perkins,	9
Wm. Larzelere,	5
Total,	17

Motion made and supported, that Jabez Perkins be declared nominated; objected to by some, and the motion withdrawn Motion made and prevailed, that the convention proceed to a formal ballot, and resulted as follows:

Jabez Perkins,	9
Wm. Larzelere,	8
Total,	17

Dr Jabez Perkins, of Springville, was declared nominated unanimously.

The following resolution was heartily adopted.

Resolved—That this convention as representing the Republicans of this representative District, have perfect confidence in the integrity and ability of our candidate Mr. Perkins, and believe that he will be ever faithful to the principles of Republicanism.

Moved and supported, that the chairman appoint a committee of three with authority to call meetings and conventions in this Representative district for the next two years; motion prevailed, and the chairman appointed Chas D. Stephens, D D. Marshall and Chas. Larzelere such committee.

Convention adjourned with three cheers for Perkins.

JAS C. EDDY, Chairman.
CHAS D STEPHENS, Secy.

A very curious incident occurred when the paying out of the Atlantic Cable commenced in mid. ocean The splice had been made, and the cable was being lowered over the stanns of the vessels when, a little before it touched the water, a sea gull, fatigued, no doubt, after a long flight, perched on it, and his claws getting fast in the tar with which the cable was coated he was unable to extricate them, so that the bird was dragged down under the water and drowned He made desperate efforts to save himself, but to no purpose, as he stuck fast, and when he found himself going down his despairing screams sounded far across the waters. The stangeness of the occurrence, and the terrible agony of the poor bird, caused some sensation on board the vessels.

During the last week, 10,000 children applied for admission to our public schools, and were turned away, because there was no room for them. Their rejection prevented thirty thousand more from applying.—[N. Y. Hotel Register.

Send them to Michigan.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH, October 7 1858.

Wheat	95a100
Flour	5 50a6 00
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	50a60
Corn	40a45
Oats
Clover seed	50a60
Beans	30a35
Potatoes new	62
Onions	62
Apples, green	5a8
do dried	12
Butter	8a10
Tallow	10
Lard	8
Eggs	7
Cheese	6
Chicken, dressed	7
Turkey do	4 00a5 00
Beef,	4 50a5 00
Pork	8 50
White fish per bbl.	4 50
do half bbl.	4
Cider	8a10
Calf skins	37a40
Sheep pelts	1 75
Salt, fine	2 25
do coarse	18
do dairy per sack	5 00
Hay	00 00 a 4 50
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
" cedar	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858 RAIL ROAD 1858.

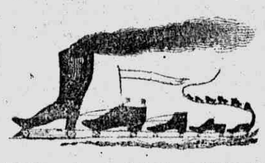
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38	A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	1000 "
Arrive at	12 35	6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 05	"	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago		12 50	10 04
Arrive at	7 30	"	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20	"	5 15 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50 "
Arrive at		12 10	7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40 "
Arrive at		12 46	10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 36	"	5 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35	"

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo All baggage lost on and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad at Detroit with trains on the Great Western Detroit & Milwaukee & Michigan Central Railroads at N Y & S R R leaving with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Michigan City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style Satisfaction Warranted

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh April 22d 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS.

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS. FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET.

R. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provisions.

WANTED,

Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Hams, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit, etc.

For which the highest market Price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh, Sept. 16. 409.

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON	D D MARSHALL
DELOS LEARNARD	WALLACE GRAY
D L SMILES	JEROME ALLYN
J A BEERS	ALFRED JAMES
O O ADAMS	GEO. SPAFFORD

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 381y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL,

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 a. m until 4 p. m. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather

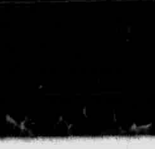
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

C. C. ADAMS,

Having encased a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st 1858 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.



Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at Exchange Hotel, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept., 1st 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R. P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO. OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures

Finished Coffins

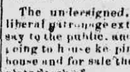
Of all sizes on hand as usual A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN FINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858

J. W. Beers & Bro.



BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Commentor either near or remote Shoes tugd for nothing, and all other work in proportion Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street. TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, Apr', 5th.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH, : : : MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following Reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000 000.
PHŒNIX "	$300 000.
HOME STEAD Westport N Y	$150 000
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn	$150,000
CHARTER OAK "	$200 000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None Call soon if you want the first choice.

JONES & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall. One door east, where he is firmly established And the proability is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1868.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."

JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov 20, 56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles that he has purchased the future Concern, and is continuing the manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Style of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good Substantial and Easy running Farm Wagons.

Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents,

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH" SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and remodelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquor, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides. Bark and Wood

All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

O. & W. B ROWLAND

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

OYSTERS

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodward Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 403y

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore, There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton, And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone, We can Beat Adrian all Holler, If we don't we'll give you a dollar. Selling Nails at $4 a keg, From that we shan't budge a peg. Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred, And yet more that might be numbered. Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size, And every thing you may surmise. Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware, Full enough to make you stare. Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all, Because you find the Gothic Hall, Don't fear the Hardness of times, At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stavle of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him—Terms moderate.

TECUMSEH

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

—BY—

Burlingame & Yawger.

WE

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR, we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best.

BURLINGME & YAWGER.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1858 411

CHAIN

PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Steere, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d. 1857. 355tf

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jayne's Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Butternut, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 8th Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR, for sale by E. TINDALL.

AGRICULTURAL.

LIST OF PREMIUMS,

Awarded at the Annual Fair of the Northern Lenawee Agricultural Society, held at Tecumseh, September 16th, 1858.

ON BLOOD CATTLE.

L. Pons, Best Durham Bull, 4 years or over, Sire Don $2 00
J. M. Merritt, best do 2 yrs 2 00
E. Smith, best do calf 1 00
D. W. Palmer, 2d best do 50
E. Smith, best do cow 4 yrs 2 00
do do 3 yrs 2 00
D. W. Palmer 2d best do 1 00
E. Smith, best heifer calf 1 00
do 2d best do 50
S. Rappleye, best durham & devon cross, bull, 4 yrs 2 00
P. C. Mills, best do 1 yr 1 00
H. C. Church, best do bull calf 1 00
D. C. Blair, 2d best do 50
E. Smith, 2d best do heifer calf 50
J. Richard, best do heifer 2 yr 2 00
do do devon bull do 2 00
Thos Briggs, do calf 1 00

GRADE AND NATIVE CATTLE.

John Rector, best grade bull 3 yr 2 00
C. A. Blackman, do 2 yr 2 00
G. W. Stacy do 1 yr 2 00
Daniel Warring, 2d do 1 00
G. N. Bowen, best grade cow 4 y 2 00
E. Smith, 2d do 1 00
Elijah Estes, best do 3 y 2 00
Giles Turner, 2d do do 1 00
J. W. Keeney do 2 y 2 00
John Richard, 2d do do 1 00
E. Smith best do heifer 1 y 2 00
J. W. Keeney 2d do 1 00
W. V. Whipple, best do bull do 2 00
John Richard do heifer do 1 00

WORKING OXEN AND FAT CATTLE.

Nathan Place, best fat cow 1 00
D. S. Buck do pr working oxen 4y 2 00
Joshua Taylor 2d do 1 00
Joseph Bowerman do 3y 2 00
W. A. Hall, do 2y 2 00
J. F. Wimple 2d do do 1 00
J. W. Keeney, do 1y 1 00

HORSES

W. S. Can, best horse for all work 4yrs and over 2 00
B. J. Bidwell, best morgan mare (Flora Temple) for all work 3y 2 00
B. J. Bidwell 2d best colt for all work (Gifford Morgan) 3y 1 00
J. H. Green, 2d best colt 2y 1 00
J. C. DePuy, best do 1y 1 00
Gilbert Horton, 2d do do 50
P. Canning, best mare and colt 2 00
James Osborn, 2d do 1 00
B. J. Bidwell, best span carriage horses 2 00
O. J. Rappleye, 2d do 1 00
B. J. Bidwell, best blood stallion (Morgan Bussorah) 8ys 2 00
N. Prentiss, 2d best do 4y 1 00
B. J. Bidwell blood stallion Gifford Morgan Jr. 2d) 2y 1 00
do best morgan colt (Tecumseh Chief) 3y 2 00
N. Burroughs, 2d best colt 3y 1 00
C. M. Baker, do 2y 1 00
S. Atwood, 2d do do 50
F. Coats, best do 1y 1 00
Geo. Dell, 2d do do 50

SHEEP AND WOOL

W. A. Hall, best 5 middle wool ewes 1 00
do do do lambs 1 00
do best french buck 1 00
do 2d do 50
J. G. Roberts, best 5 french merino ewes 1 00
Stewart Paterson, 6 spanish lambs 1 00
do do ewes 1 00
Jas Camburn, do long wool buck 1 00
S. Kinney, do spanish do 50
F. McLain, do long wool lambs 1 00
G. W. Stacy, do mid'l wool buck 1 00
do 2d do 50
do do do lambs 50
Thos Goodrich best 9 spanish bucks 1 00
J. W. Cole, do mid'l wool'd lambs 1 00
E. S. Baldridge, do pen spanish ewes 50
do do spanish buck 1 00
do 2d long wool do 50

SWINE

B. J. Bidwell, best boar 3 00
E. Estes, do sow and pigs 3 00

POULTRY

B. J. Bidwell, best brahma fowls 50
A. K. Waldron, do white shanghai 50
L. Kelly, do bantams 50
do do turkeys 50

FARM IMPLEMENTS

Burlingame & Yawger, best Threshing Machine 100 00 do plow for general purposes 1 00
do cultivator 1 00
D. R. Raymond, seed drill 1 00
E. Estes, field roller 1 00
do hay rigging 50

DOMESTIC MANUFACTURES 1ST CLASS

Mrs F. W. Wickwrie, 10 yds domestic full cloth 50
" E. Gilbert, 10 yds rag carpet 50
" B. F. Kennedy, pr cot'n stock'gs 50
" C. Chatterton, do woolen do 50
Lebni Kelly, do do socks 50
" A. D. Hall, do do mittens 50
" O. Burlingame do do gloves 50
Miss Libbie Thompson, fine shirt 50
Mrs. B. Chatterton, 1 lb woolen yarn 50
" L. Kelly, 1 lb mixed yarn 50

DOMESTIC MANUF 2D CLASS

C. & W. B. Rowland, 6 calf skins 50 do 1 sad. harness leather 50
do 1 cow hide 50
do 1 side sole leather 50
do 3 kip skins 50
B. J. Bidwell, pr woman's boots 50
do single soled calf boots 50
do coarse boots 50
do kip boots 50
J. S. Gilman, double carriage harness 50
do single do 50
D. VanTine, cottage bedstead 50
do sofa 50
do arm chair 50
do rocking chair 50
Thos. Cummins, 2 horse carriage 1 00
do 1 horse do 1 00
do carriage triming 1 00
T. H. Mosher, flour barrel 50
J. L. Tallman, 12 corn brooms 50

BUTTER, CHEESE, &c.

Mrs. E. Gilbert, white bread 1 00
" B. J. Bidwell, brown bread 50
" T. T. Redfyne, best butter 1 00
" J. O. Roberts, 2d do 50
" Robt. Liddle, best cheese 1 00
" J. L. Tallman, box honey 50

VEGETABLES, &C.

S. Rappleye, best and greatest variety veg 1 00
do do beets 50
W. H. Osborn carrots 50
J. L. Tallman, Onions 50
Jas. Kennedy, Cabbages 50
S. Rappleye spanish peppers 50
G. S. Peacock, 12 ears seed corn 50
A. O. Hall, 2 Pumpkins 50
S. Rappleye, half pk lima beans 50
Isaac Arms half bu Potatoes 50
A. Skinner, half bu. table turnips 50
S. Rappleye, crook neck winter squash 50
T. Coats squash of other varieties 50
B. J. Bidwell, do barley 50
do do oats 50
do do buck wheat 50
do pk Timothy seed 50
do do clover do 50
S. Davison, green est variety ears corn 50

FLOWERS &C.

Miss M. S. Osborn, animal painting, in oil 50
W. A. King, oil paintin, dream of arcadia 50
do crayon do 50
Mrs C. M. Bissell, daguerreotype 50
Miss Enders, Grave, green house plants 50
" Augusta Patterson, bouquet cut flowers 50
B. J. Bidwell, horse drawing in oil 50

ORNAMENTAL and SHELL WORK

Miss Francis Aten, patch work quilt 50
" Alma C. Briggs, worked bdkf 50
" Patience Aten, ornam'l leather wk 50
Mrs G. W. Stacy, embroidered child dress 50
Miss O. S. Chatterton, do lace cap 50
do worked undersleeves 50
Mrs Albert Cauburn, do collar 50
" E. H. Borton, silk embroidery 50
" T. W. Cummins, worked ottoman cover 50
" S. Catlin, do lamp mat 50

FRUIT

Israel Pennington, best and greatest variety of apples 2 00
J. G. Roberts, 2d do 1 00
I. Pennington, do pears 1 00
J. Richard, 2d do do 50
Geo. Dell, do peaches 1 00
E. F. Bissell, do grapes 1 00
E. Estes, 2d do do 50

The committee to whom Premiums have been awarded will please call upon the Secretary and take orders for the amount, which will be paid at once upon presentation to

A. Anderson, Treasurer
M. A. PATTERSON, Prest.
B. L. BAXTER Secy
Tecumseh, September, 25th, 1858.

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain mortgage, made and executed by James E. Norris to William H. Merritt dated April 2nd A. D. 1855 recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds in and for the County of Lenawee Michigan on the 10th day of May A. D. 1855 in Liber 2 of Mortgages on folios 40 41 and 42 and on which there is claimed due the sum of one Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres of so much thereof as is necessary to sell to pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said County of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

Dated July 1st 1858. JOHN C. TILL Assignee
STACY & GOODMAN Per Assignee
Tecumseh July 1st 1858. 398w13

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856 executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas J. Conden and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folios 720 and 722 and 723. Thomas J. Conden assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith May 24th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-six Dollars and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan described as the west half of the the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number two, one township south, one south of range two east containing one hundred and forty acres more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27 th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said County of Lenawee

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee
Dated July 23d 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight. Present, Fernando C. Beaman Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Amenas Van Valkenburgh Randall T. Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valk enburgh minors.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Harlon B. Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon It is ordered That Monday the Eleventh day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition and that all next of kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN
(A true Copy) 4093 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857 in Liber Z of mortgages on Folios 266 267 and 268 and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent

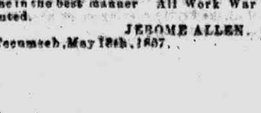
All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section three four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (more or less) will be sold at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee at public auction on the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee
Tecumseh June 1st 1858 394t3

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock P. M. on Monday October 4 h 1858 PERLEY BILLS. Mortgagee
Tecumseh September 25th 1858

GUNSMITHING.



The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR.
New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 406m4

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

BY

Burlingame & Yawger

WE

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER
Tecumseh, Sept 1858. 411

OYSTERS

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT.

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell

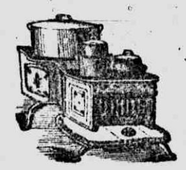
Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler.
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From hat we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Woolen Ware,
Full enough to make you stare
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Unproved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county
5 Houses and Lots in this village also Ten Lots nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices
January 4th Union H'd

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by
E. TINDALL

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halle'

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chesnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chesnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
600 Ladies' Gold Watches 18k cases	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted	15 00
900 Parlor Timepieces	10 00
3000 Cameo Scarf Ear Drops and Pins	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (long size double case)	10 00
500 Gold Lockets (small size)	7 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases with Gold Pens	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens with cases and holders	3 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils	2 50
2000 Ladi s Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6500 Gold Rings (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents Gold Rings	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins	2 00
2500 Sleeve do	1 50
3000 Pencil Cases	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs	2 00
2000 do Sleeve Buttons	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops	2 50
8000 Ladies' Pearl Cased Pens	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo Set or Nozale Pins	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry Gift Books &c &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

Evan's new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above

N. B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country

Any book publishes in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address

Send for a Catalogue. Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher
407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Ar Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offers on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous efforts.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest and first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-sided Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00 9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8,00 9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as gold, and gold pen	2 50 9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00 9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00 9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00 9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00 6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6,00 6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00 3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3 00 3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00 3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00 3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00 3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00 3c
Among the Engravings are:
The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long 17 inches wide	1 00 12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24	1 00 12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer	50 9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards	50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated Price only 50 cents a year

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining and popular works of the day

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11 The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 406 Broadway, New York.

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscribers is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER
Tecumseh, September 3d 1857. 355tf

Agency for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes' Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED

IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales Sketches, &c., that can be procured. It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375mBov&d. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mr. DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckel & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PURSE FREE,

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "
AND TO CLUBS
Three Copies one year at	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty One Copies one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	25 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	50 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00 do
1000 Gold guard vest and Fob Chains	$10 00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets Bracelets Brooches, Ear Drops and Breast Pins Sleeve Buttons Rings Shirt Studs Watch Keys Gold and Silver Thimbles and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch worth $40 to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded with in one week, by mail or express, post paid

☞ All communications should be addressed to DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
3951 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES.
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS
RELIGIOUS QUESTIONS.
SELECTIONS POETRY TALES &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P O 12 50 per annum.
15 " " " 15 00 " "
20 " " " 20 00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one certainly every merchant has sometimes very strenuously wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in the great metropolis to whom he could send for the first selection of some business by the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or do buy himself with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, (shielding purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can get better bargains than any single purchaser can. In fact we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time are thoroughly acquainted with it and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rate. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce (cash) sometimes in money accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have views of giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying one of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO
Wm G. Lambert of V. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York
Wm L. King of Naylar & Co., New York.
David S. Brown of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake Howe & Co. Boston.
F. Cabot & Co. Boston
Stanfield Wentworth & Co. Boston.
J. C. Cabot of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual diseases and the deception practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by ignorant, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give SPECIAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, and in case of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is now free to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age and all that is the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association by their Annual report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases for the year ending on January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa Involuntary Seminal Weakness Impotence, Gonorrhœa Gleet, Syphilis the vice of Onanism or self abuse &c., and ordered a continuance of the same plan of treatment as in the past.

In the directors' annual review of the past feel assured that their actions in this sphere of benevolent duty have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young and they have reason to believe that numbers have with renewed health to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism masturbation, or Self abuse and other diseases of the sexual organs by the consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases also are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Reports or treatment by GEORGE E. ABBOTT, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association No. 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors
GEO FAIRCHILD Secy U.S.
3961 EZRA D'HARAWELL President

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE BEST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and derange Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body, that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Their cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer

☞ See Advertisement

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicine and for the relief and cure of chronic diseases arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves. There is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR
Tecumseh, April 1858

Farmers Save Your Money

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums when ever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship Fast and Perfect Threshing and Saving of Grain A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858 380tf

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on

GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times,"

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.
Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 406

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S
Blood Purifier and Blood
THE GREAT
SCANDINAVIAN
VEGETABLE REMEDIES

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are already to test the merits of a permanent covery or invention, and if satisfied of cellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning, who always look before they leap, and honest and rational judgment gives public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, *Liver Complaint, Nervous Diseases, Scrofula, Purulent Old Sores, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Pi

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 48. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 14, 1858. WHOLE NO. 413

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wedo W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

840y1 TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKEY,

BOOTS AND SHOES,

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

840y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.

840y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

841y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATIONARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE

840y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS,

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Warner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets

840y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. J. COMFORT.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

840tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHEUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. W. BILLS. E. K. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

R. R. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

840tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.

Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

840tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

801y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

808y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 39t

From the Waverley Magazine.

When Shall we Meet Again.

The stars are pailing in the sky,
The night is on the wane;
How swift with love the moments fly—
When shall we meet again?

Look, even now bright morning opes,
And day begins her reign,
That bids me part from those I love—
When shall we meet again?

O! can'st thou not, before I go,
Sing o'er that favorite strain
That finds its echoes in my heart—
When shall we meet again?

Fortune and Fame in other lands
I seek far o'er the main,
Yet oft I'll think of thee and say,
When shall we meet again?

And should success my labors crown,
My toil be not in vain,
Soon I'll return to love and home—
Soon shall we meet again!

But should misfortune prove my lot,
Sickness, distress, and pain,
E'en death—thou shalt not be forgot—
In Heaven we'll meet again!

From the Waverly Magazine.

The Blasted Oak.

BY ARDELL CHARIDEN.

'I will always hate you for that, Emeline Bradley,' I said angrily, to my cousin, who stood before the mirror in our dressing room arranging the braids of her luxuriant raven hair.

'Will you?' she answered, quietly turning her flashing black eyes upon me, and smiling disdainfully; 'because, if you will, I want to know it. I intend to hate you, anyhow; and if the feeling is mutual, it will be pleasanter for us both.'

We, that is Emeline and myself, had been engaged in what cousin Warren called a pitch battle; and Emeline had made some remark that annoyed me exceedingly, and called forth this angry rejoinder.

'It is past my comprehension,' dear, good Uncle Fred would say, 'why you girls cant agree better, when there is only two of you, and so much alike.'

And doubtless it was this very similarity in personal appearance, intellectual qualities and temperament that prevented our being the very best of friends. In those days, when the warm, healthful blood of youth bounded in our veins, we were proud, passionate and headstrong, and, above all, ambitious to excel each other in whatever pursuits engaged us.—We were nearly of an age, both orphans, and both inmates of Uncle Fred Bradley's family; and, notwithstanding our mutual rivalry, were inseperable companions, and confidents in every girlish joy or sorrow.

Uncle Fred had but one child, a son, when we first went there to live, was travelling in Europe. He came home the summer Emeline and I was eighteen—a handsome young man, frank, generous and warm-hearted; and we both fell in love with him at the first sight. At least I did, and was nearly distracted with jealous doubts and fears, when Emeline said, in answer to some remarks of mine, 'that for her part, she adorned Warren, and, if I had no objections, she meant to captivate him.'

Of course I had no objections—at least I expressed my perfect indifference in regard to her intention, but I soon learned, to my mortification, that she was more in earnest than her jesting manner indicated, and that Warren yielded to her attractions without a struggle.

About this time Eugene Caswell, a promising young physician, located in town, and, on the strength of old college acquaintance with Warren, became a frequent visitor at our house. For all his good looks and agreeable manners, Emeline seemed to conceive a dislike for him from the first; and to make amends for Warren's apparent indifference to me, I flirted desperately with his friend, utterly regardless of the consequences.

One October evening we were all together in the parlor, Warren reading aloud a wierd old legend of ghosts, witches and lonely graveyards. When he had finished he threw down the book, with a laugh, saying:

'There, I musn't read any more, or you ladies will be afraid to go to bed tonight. As it is, I dare say, you'll dream of skulls, cross-bones and broom-stick-riding witches. Won't you, Helena?

'Do you really believe in ghosts, Warren,' I inquired.

'I think I do, and with good reasons. If you had only seen what I have! you've never been out to the 'Blasted Oak' at midnight, Helena?'

'The Blasted Oak!' I exclaimed, with an involuntary shudder. 'I would not go there; nothing could tempt me. But what did you see?'

'Not much,' he answered, with a glance at Dr. Caswell; 'beside, the secret is not entirely my own, and if it were I should decline telling it.'

'What folly,' said Emeline, when we went to our own room. 'I had as soon go out to the 'Blasted Oak' after dark as not.'

'Would you?' I asked, quickly, for her words seemed to imply a want of courage in myself that did not quite seem to please me.

'If you think you are braver than me, just try it.'

'I'll go out there any time you choose.'

'To-morrow evening, then; and the next, We go alone, you know.'

'No, not to-morrow night, for I have promised to ride with Dr. Caswell. And of course I go first.'

'What difference will it make?' said Emeline, abruptly. 'You need all the time you can get to screw your courage to the sticking point.'

Nothing more was said until the next evening, when Emeline went to prepare for her adventure, and I to ride with Eugene.

'You'd better not go,' I said, as she brought out a thick walking dress and a pair of neat little boots.

'Why not?' has your courage failed?'

'By no means, only it looks like rain, and you may get wet.'

'I'm not afraid,' said Emeline, with a laugh; and wrapping her shawl around her she left the room; coming back in a moment to tell me not to sit up for her if I got back first.

The place familiarly designated as the 'Blasted Oak' was a clearing in the forest nearly two miles north of Uncle Fred's. There was one neighbor between our residence and the border of the wood; the rest of the way was by a straggling footpath through a pasture, then through a growth of scattered pines and hemlocks. The clearing was two or three acres in extent, and through the centre ran a wide and rapid stream. There was a bridge of fallen trees across the stream, and on the bank two graves, level with the surrounding earth, and with a rude wooden cross at the head of each.

Years before—so the story went—when the country around was almost a broken wilderness, a man and woman had pitched their tent on the bank of the stream, and commenced clearing away the forest trees. They were strange, teciturn, unsocial people, and of their former country and home, the crimes or misfortunes that had driven them to this location could only conjecture.

In the depth of a cold winter some hunters, who passed through the clearing, on their way to the settlement, saw the body of the man suspended, cold and lifeless, from the limb of a great oak. The snow beneath was piled high above a grave, and the feet of the dead man almost reached it, as he swayed to and fro in the wind. They buried him there also—with her who had shared his smile, and the stately oak, which had flourished for many years, kept watch above their graves. The next summer the tree was shorn of its strength and beauty by a flash of lightning, and only the charred and blasted trunk, and a few leafless branches, remained to tell of its former glory.

From that time the place began to have an evil name; people said that the sins of the suicide had brought a curse upon it, and strange stories were told of a body being seen swinging from the tree, with its skeleton hands stretched down toward the mounds; and of unearthly sounds that issued from the mouldering hut—shrieks, curses and dying moans.

These stories were handed down from parents to children, ridiculed by some, believed by others, and gradually the 'Blasted Oak' was avoided after nightfall.

It was to this place that Emeline had gone; and, full of restless anxiety, I lay awake waiting her return. She came in from her fool-hardy errand at last, and removed her bonnet and shawl, shaking the water from them, for it had commenced to rain.

'You'll find my name written on the old cross, Helena,' said she, as she lay down beside me, and there was a tremor in her voice, caused either by fatigue or fright, that did not tend to re-assure me.

The following day was cold and rainy, but, towards night, the clouds cleared away, and I set out on my excursion.—The road was wet and muddy, but I had often walked double that distance without fatigue, and was not likely to experience much this time. The leafless branches of the oak, casting long shadows on the grass, and the blackened stem, looking like a gaunt ghostly sentinel, sent a shudder through my frame when I first beheld them; but, with desperate courage, I hastened over the bridge, and, kneeling down by the wooden cross, began to trace my name. The stir of a leaf or the rustle of the wind through the hemlock boughs caused me to look round with beating heart and suspended breath; and when I rose to my feet, my task completed, I was fain to lean against the oak to gather strength and courage.

There was nothing really tangible to excite my fears, only the place and the hour; and gradually I grew less timid, and, with something of a bravado air, began to retrace my steps. I had got about midway of the bridge, which was wet and slimy, when, incautiously stepping on the edge of one of the logs, my foot slipped and I was precipitated into the water. The water was higher than usual in consequence of the heavy rain and, in spite of my frantic struggles, it carried me rapidly downward.

Fortunately the bank was lined on one side with a dense growth of hemlock bushes, and in my passage I managed to catch hold of a stout limb, by which I could support myself without drowning, while the steep ascent forbade all attempt to climb it. Knowing that morning would bring assistance, I began quite philosophically to calculate the time that would elapse, and the probability of my strength holding out, when, above the rush of the water I heard a rapid footstep crossing the bridge, and in another moment a dark form was standing by the charred stem of the old oak.

A sensation of superstitious fear and horror almost chilled the blood in my veins, but my terror was changed to delight at hearing my name pronounced in a familiar tone.

'Warren,' I called back very faintly, for I was weak with the joy it imparted. He uttered an exclamation of pleasure; and, guided by my voice, soon reached my shelter, and, parting the bushes with his sinewy arms, assisted me to the bank. Carrying me like an infant to a fallen tree, he threw off his coat and folded it around me.

'Do you think you can walk?' he said, anxiously. 'You must not sit here in your wet garments, you'll take your death-cold.'

'Oh! I can walk well enough after a moment. But please put on your coat. I cannot think of depriving you of it.—Tell me how you happened to come; I can never be grateful enough—never!'

'Don't mention it,' he said, impatiently; and, seating himself beside me, he drew me to his arms and went on in a low hurried voice. 'The happiness of this hour would attone for a lifetime of suffering. Never until to-night have I known how dear you were to me; how utterly desolate life would be without your presence. Are the hopes I have cherished in vain, dearest girl? Speak only a word, Helena, to tell me my love is not rejected.'

Ah, the rapturous joy that filled my soul when I knew that the noble heart against which mine beat so wildly, was all my own! But in a moment I thought of Emeline, who loved him so well.

'Never! never!' I said to myself, 'will I build my happiness upon the ruin of her hopes.' The thought, too, that Warren, by his attentions, had awakened hopes in her bosom only to destroy them, steeled my heart against him. And, withdrawing myself from his arms, I said:

'No, Warren, it can never be. I shall always love you as a friend and cousin—nothing more. Let us go home.'

He arose without a word, and supported me with his arm, scarcely speaking until we reached his father's.

'Good night,' I said, when he left me, holding out my hand as I spoke.

He folded me to his breast a moment, and pressed a burning kiss upon my lips.

'Forget what I have said, Helena; and may Heaven bless you forever.'

He was gone; and, with a sense of utter desolation stealing over me, I entered our pleasant little room. Emeline raised her head from the pillow at once, and asked:

'Did Warren find you, Helena?'

'Yes. What possessed him to come after me?'

'He saw you when you started, and asked where you were going, and I wouldn't tell him. After a while he began to mistrust that you had gone to the 'Blasted Oak.' It's wonderful how awfully he felt about it. I always knew,' she went on, with a good deal of impatience in her tone, 'that Warren liked you pretty well, but I never thought he was quite so deeply in love. But I am sure I'm glad of it; only I don't see how you can have him and Dr. Caswell both.'

'I shall have neither!' I began; but she interrupted me by saying:

'You'll marry Warren in less than three months, or I'm no prophet. You like him, and you needn't deny it, and if he has not asked you already it's only because you've flirted with the doctor so abominably.'

'He has asked me, and I refused on your account,' I said, determined to make a clean breast of the whole matter.

'What a foolish girl!' she rejoined, laughing pleasantly, 'when I would hardly marry him to save his life. To be frank, I like Eugene much better.'

'Why, Emeline! I thought you disliked him,' I exclaimed, in surprise.

'You're an innocent little darling, Helena. You know two years ago, when I was at Aunt Mary's I met him often, and we got quite attached to each other. Finally I broke off with him because Julia Drew told me he was engaged to her, which I have since learned was utterly false. But that's nothing to do with your case. Only you have Warren, and if Caswell returns to his first love, well and good; if not, let us go to sleep, and not worry about trifles.'

For once she proved a true prophet; in pleasant Christmas time I became the wife of Warren Bradley, and at the same time Eugene and Emeline were united.—Years have passed since then; the 'Blasted Oak' still keeps its sentinel watch over the lonely graves, but its traditions are nearly forgotten; and Warren laughingly declares that of all the people who have visited the haunted locality, he is the only one who has seen a real live ghost.

The Happy Sleigh-Ride.

BY JOHN INLEY.

There was a deal of sleigh-riding last winter in New Hampshire. Not less in the streets of the city, either, than out over the breezy roads of the country.—Sleighing parties have come out as thick as mushrooms over night. The suburban hotels and the snug little boxes of country taverns have been full. The white landscape has been crossed all over with dark lines of harnessed sleighs, cutting it up like a chequer-board. During no winter these twenty years past, has resin been in such demand for fiddle-bows. Till midnight and long after, old folks and young have 'shaken the foot' to the most inspiring tunes that cat-gut knew how to produce.

Up in Snipperham, they have been having as gay a time as ever they had in their lives, with their sleighing parties during the season just closed.

Like the young fellow with the miraculous neck-tie, they had given their whole time and attention to it; and it is very likely the young folks, in particular, will have reason to remember it all their lives.

Amos Mark will, there is no doubt.—For it so happened that Amos had once found his way to the heart of Mary Jones, and forthwith made up his mind to take up a permanent possession; probably by right of discovery. Mary seemed not at all unwilling either, and in truly promised, as matters for a time were going, to make him a good wife.

But they must up and quarrel. Nobody ever knew what it was about, and more than half the folks thought it was all about nothing. At first it was only a coldness and visible estrangement, then succeeded a little more twang to the feeling, which flowed out into rancor. And finally they scratched and spit like two jealous cats with their backs up—though I would not have the reader suppose it was in each other's faces. They fought only in good substantial English, employing their tongues for weapons, and using up a pretty big stock of intense adjectives in the operation, till in this way the difference grew so great that there was no probability they would ever come together again. They avoided one another on principle, and when they glanced at each other across the church, and it so happened that their expressive eyes met, anybody could see that they had better both be at home than in their seats in the sanctuary.

But when all hands turned out one bright frosty morning for a sleigh ride over to Pokaboket, and began to assemble at the little village tavern as the general rendezvous before starting, Amos Mark discovered that Mary Jones was there among the rest, and that she came in company with John Bailey.

The first thought of Mary, when she espied her lover was—'Well, if I'd thought he'd been here, I'm sure I should'nt have come.'

And on his part the same first thought was—'Well, if she wasn't here I should seem to enjoo it, and to see her around all the time—' and the actual thought he did not presume to finish.

Amos himself carried Mary Megee, a girl with the same favorite Christan name, but otherwise bearing no resemblance whatever to the object of his early love. He turned out with a smart chestnut horse and a gay little cutter, all tucked in so comfortably and cosily with a couple of bear skins, and counted on having a right down good time of it. The party was very large and the morning was very fine. A brisk air like the air of Snipperham early that day, was as exhilerating as a bottle of Newark champaign. The crowd were all in fine humor, and began to pour out of the door and bundle into the sleighs as they drove up. Such laughing and cackling among the girls! I think you never listened to in all your life. And the horses set up a prancing and pawing as they came up, while those who received their cargoes started off on a good round trot, shaking the music from their necks and sides in wreaths and curls on the frosty air.

The tavern stoop was crowded with stay-at-homes, to cheer the rest as they started. Old Snipperham was wide awake. Everybody felt like firing off a dozen rounds or so with a swivel, or running up the stars and stripes to the hickory flag-staff on the middle of the green; or shouting or doing something they never thought of before. Their puny bodies seemed a great deal to small to hold the whole of their effervescent gaiety. It would work out in every sort of way, and appeared for the time to have got the uppermost hand of them.

They drove plump through Pokaboket, which was a good ten miles away from Snipperham, and then returned to get warm and find a hot supper waiting. At the table they did full justice to their ancient Snipperham reputation. Girls and all, they eat down to it as they would about a serious day's work. How the oysters vanished! How the roast turkey took wings again! How the nick-nacks melted from the table, like butter on a mealy-mouthed flatterer's tongue! What a discord of male and female gabble all around the room! What work they made with trying to help one another! What haste they were in to swallow the heaped piles on their plates as if they were at their last meal, and it wast to last all their lives.

Pokaboket was alive and swarming.—The citizens turned out en masse, and flocked over to see the fun go on. The ladies and children packed the windows with living beads, and pointed eagerly to every Snipperhamer they could see around the tavern door.

It was dusk, and a little after, when they got the fiddles ready. And it was half an hour after before they limbered themselves out enough to go to dancing.

They went at that pretty much as they went at their supper; hit or miss, each one for himself particularly. The ladies were especially well taken care of, because nobody could conveniently get along without them.

Well, they danced and danced. The fiddle squeaked and squealed. The old hall floor cracked and swung and vibrated. And the windows shook and rattled till it was after twelve o'clock, when the head man said it was time to leave off and start for home. And the sets broke up in disorder, and the fiddle stopped as if they were attacked with the asthma.

The committe footed the bill, the teams were brought round to the door, and the gentlemen and the 'young fellers' were all ready to take their ladies and start for Snipperham by the bright moonlight that was flooding the earth.

One stepped up after another to the girls packed away in the entry, and asked them if they were equipped, and carried them out to their sleighs. Finally Amos Mark plunged in, rushed up to a young lady, whom he thought from her habiliments to be Mary Megee, and inquired—

'All ready?'

'Yes,' she answered, through her thick veil and went after him.

There was a great deal of confusion in getting off, and a vast discord of bells and voices all mixed up in a snarl before the house. It would have been a hard place indeed, for a man to tell his own wife from any other woman. But they all bundled in at last, and Amos, the last place in the line, began the return ride of ten miles from Snipperham.

To tell the truth, as it was, the Pokaboket 'Tom and Jerry' had some considerable influence on the sentiments of a portion of the sleigh-riders, and upon Amos Mark especially.

He felt so much warmed up that he could do no less than make himself surprisingly agreeable to the girl under the same bear-skin.

'Mary,' said he, speaking low under his burden of mufflers, 'how do you like it?'

She said it suited her.

'Are you cold?'

'Oh, no, indeed, ain't cold a bit.'

'Glad of it. I'm warm myself. I hope you've enjoyed yourself, havn't you?'

'Oh, first rate! Had a beautiful time!'

By-and-by Amos began to square up against her. She did not seem to resist it much. He then took hold of her hand and began to squeeze it. And she tried to squeeze back as hard as he did—Finally he spoke to her again.

'Mary, said he, 'I love you. Do you love me?'

She hesitated a moment.

'Say,' he continued, 'don't you love me?'

'Yes,'—but it was spoken softly and timidly.

Ah! what a moment of bliss was that; they felt repaid for their days labor many and many times over. They cuddled up together under those robes, and said many a sweet thing, and told many a secret, that nothing short of this cozy ride, the excitement of the dancing, and the warmth of the Tom and Jerry could have tempted them to do.

Then followed a long silence for a couple of miles.

Mary spoke up sharp and quick when that distance had been travelled, 'why John, this isn't your horse?'

She had just noticed it.

'It's my horse though,' said Amos, 'and my name isn't John either. What are you talking about, Mary?'

She now became so thoroughly alarmed that she thrust aside her veil with the robe before her, and turned around and stared Amos Mark full in the face. She even pulled down the comforters from her eyes and nose, to get a better view of him.

There he was though not John Bailey, by any means, as she had supposed, but Amos Mark, her accepted and former lover.

And she—she was Mary Jones, his very bitterest enemy.

There was no help for it though. It wouldn't do to call for assistance. She had to sit and think the matter over in sulky silence, till finally Amos spoke and said—'Well, it ain't such a dreadful mistake after all. What is there to hinder our being friends again, sure enough?'

Mary acquiesced—they made up right there in the sleigh—and in less than twelve months they were the gayest and happiest married couple in all Snipperham.

"THE JOHNSONS DIDN'T ASSOCIATE WITH EVERYBODY."—Among the thousands who met at Indianapolis to welcome Col. Johnson, of Kentucky, when he made his electioneering tour through the Western States in 1840, was "old Charlie," a negro who was once the servant of the Colonel, but was now free and settled in Indiana. Charlie was now in full feather. He took the old soldier under his protection, installed himself as door-keeper, and no one was permitted to shake hands with his former master, unless by Charlie's introduction. While the crowd was at the door, a portly pompous man came up, and, taking the negro by hand, said:

"How d' do, Charlie? glad to see you."

Charlie's dignity was touched by this familiarity, and he refused to recognize the gentleman.

"Why I used to know you," said the man, "when you belonged to Col. Johnson."

"Very likely, sar, very likely," replied Charlie, "there was a great many people that knew us Johnson's that we didn't know. The Johnson's didn't associate with everybody."—Harper's Drawer.

☞ A gentleman and his wife accompanied by their only child—a bewitching little girl of five summers—attended a party at the house of a friend. While on their way to the house, the mother exclaimed, taking the child by the hand—"Now Allie, dear, let me impress one thing upon your mind; don't be rude with the other little girls whom you will meet at the party."

"And mother," replied the quick witted pet, "let me impress one thing upon your mind; don't come away till the party is out."

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1858.

Rotation in Office.

It is a somewhat popular theory of the present day that there should be a frequent rotation in office.

While there is reason in this, and it has many advantages, there are also disadvantages connected with it, which are we fear often times too much overlooked.

The theory which requires a frequent rotation in office, looks upon office as a matter of favor bestowed upon the individuals in reward for public or more often partizan services In this view of the case only, it is right of course that such marks of especial favor should not be monopolized by a few, nor held for a protracted length of time, but rather distributed somewhat equally among the many who have no doubt rendered themselves worthy of a participation in them.

So too many are equally strenuous that whatever offices a party has to bestow, shall be distributed geographically and locally upon the same principle of rotation. This too, other things being equal, is of course desireable and right.

But those who would make these considerations to be of primary importance, or paramount to an unquestioned ability and adaptation to the performance of the duties which the offices to be bestowed imposes, place we think too low an estimate upon the importance and true character of the relations thus established.

We hold that no man, whatever his services may or may not have been, can entitle himself to the bestowment of any office, by reason of such service, nor has or can have any right to claim it as a reward.

Offices were not made, neither ought they to be so desecrated, as a mere compliment to a geographical locality, or reward some private individual—but they are rather a high and sacred duty which every man owes to his country whenever the voice and suffrages of his fellow men unite in calling upon him for its performance, a sacred trust which ought not to be either eagerly sought, nor yet when properly bestowed, lightly rejected. The public have a right to call upon those whom they may think especially fitted to serve them in an official capacity, but it illy becomes any one, proclaiming his own fitness, a fitness it may be so artfully concealed as never to have been discovered by others, to come forward and claim this especial confidence and trust at their hands.

But when the selection has been made and experience has shown that it was well made, and that these public duties were entrusted to discreet and faithful hands. It is the part of wisdom, in our opinion to long ponder before making a transfer merely for the sake of a change, or only as personal or geographical compliment.

Public trust and public duties are of too high and important a character to be thus made the mere football of party favoritism or intrigue.

Experience is always of value in every department of human labor, and it is not wise nor right that the public should be constantly depriving themselves of the value of this experience, merely to satisfy the clamors of those who are ready and willing to claim office as a matter of personal emolument or favor.

In our opinion men should in the first place be selected for office, for their known and peculiar fitness for the faithful and successful performances of its duties, and then when upon trial it is shown that the selection was well made, and the have proved themselves to be every way equal to and worthy of the trust, considerations of public good, will ordinarily indicate that there should be no sudden change, nor causeless withdrawal of that trust. Office we know is, or may be, honorable, but what we would insist upon is, that it should be regarded as a public service, not a private benefit, and should be held to be a claim which community has upon the individual, not the individual upon community, seeking rather the man, instead of being sought for by him.

THE EVIL OF A BAD TEMPER.—A bad temper is a curse to the possessor, and its influence is most deadly wherever it is found. It allied to martyrdom to be obliged to live with one of a complaining temper. To hear one eternal round of complaint and murmuring, to have every pleasant thought scared away by this evil spirit, it is a sore trial. It is like the sting of a scorpion—a perpetual nettle, destroying your peace, rendering life a burden. Its influence is deadlier; and the purest and sweetest atmosphere is contaminated into a deadly miasma wherever this evil genius prevails. It has been said truly, that while we ought not to let the bad temper of others influence us, it would be as unreasonable to spread a blister upon the skin, and not expect it to draw, as to think of a family not suffering because of the bad temper of any of its inmates.

Destruction of the Crystal Palace

New York, Oct. 6.

The destruction of the Crystal Palace with its contents yesterday was complete, so rapidly did the flames spread, that in less than 25 minutes from the commencement of the fire, the immense dome fell. Nothing was saved excepting one hose carriage, a hook and ladder carriage, and some half a dozen articles of trifling value. The fire originated as stated last night, in the lumber room, and was no doubt the work of an incendiary. There were in the building at the time some 2 000 persons principally women and children. The consternation among these was fearful, many were knocked down and trampled, but none were seriously injured excepting one man who was killed The loss is variously estimated at from one million to one and a half million.—The palace originally cost eight hundred thousand dollars, one estimate makes the worth of the articles on exhibition about half a million. Three fire engines belonging to the city and valued at from $2,000 to $3,000 a piece were destroyed. Two of these had been placed in the building but a few hours before the fire commenced. There were nearly 4,000 contributors to the exhibition, some of whose losses were quite large. The American Institute lose $100,000—There were among the losses 16 engines valued at $30,000, 40 pianoes including 12 of Chickering. $30,000 worth of turning lathes, $6,000 worth of sewing machines, $7,000 in the daguerreotype department, $6,000 worth of plows, $5,000 worth of vehicles of different kinds $15,000 in the watch, clock, and jewelry department. Loss very heavy. The fur depot contained a large quantity of very valuable goods, the loss is heavy, three large finished caliopes, $16,000 machines of various descriptions, $85,000 picture gallery, $10,000 stationary, $25,000 jewelry, dimonds, and watches, $30,000 stoves, furniture, &c., $6,000 steam and caloric engines $13,000, wearing apparel $25,000 motive power and machinery belonging to the institute $15,000 one account states that Robert Rait, jeweler, lost a case of dimonds valued at $50,000. Among the works of art lost are Marochetti's statute of Washington valued at $15,000 Kiss' Amazon $10,000 Thorwaldsen's Saviour and Apostles, Caveries colossal marble statute of Daniel Webster, colossal group man struggling with a bear, group of lovers going to a well, with many other pieces, including life-size busts of O'Connell, More, Father Mathew, Washington &c.,

The only articles known to have been saved in addition to the hoes carriage and ladder truck, were one case of patent pistols, belonging to a Philadelphia exhibitor a case of prize medals, belonging to the Institution, valued at $8,000, a case of jewelry valued at $8,000, belonging to Robt. Rait. No doubt the fire was the work of an incendiary. A strong smell of camphene was detected in the building when the fire commenced Previous to the fire a boy was seen dodging about between the palace door on 42 street and a liquor shop opposite, and just before the alarm was given three boys were seen hurrying away from 42d street entrance, and running at a rapid speed down the street The supposition is that rags or other material was saturated with camphene, lighted and thrown into the lumber room There is nothing left standing of the Palace but the iron towers at the angles, and a small portion of the iron sides. Everything combustible about the building and contense is reduced to ashes. The iron parts of the machinery and other articles on exhibition, together with the framework of the building, are one undistinguishable mass. The glass is fused into large masses. The report that one man was killed is untrue. There was no loss of life whatever, and no severe injuries to any one. The police and managers of the Institute are busy in investigating the origin of the disaster.

Robbert Canning Brown, an Englishman, a clerk in the London and Liverpool Insurance Co., was arrested last night on a charge of defrauding the institution of a large amount.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—The Sussex Herald says, on Thursday morning, of last week, a little son of Andrew Morris, of Hardystone township, descended a well to recover a bucket which had been detached from the rope. The well was about forty feet deep—the lower portion to the extent of some twelve feet, having been blasted through solid rock, and all above that being stoned up. A ladder 16 feet long, was let down to enable the boy to pass down and up the smooth or rock bored part of the well, and a rope was affixed to his body to draw him out in case of danger. He descended safely, secured the bucket, and was coming up when just as he reached the orfice of the peforated rock, a stone against which the top of the ladder rested, fell out, and was followed by others. The noise of the falling stones gave intimation of danger to the little boy's brother who stood at the windless, and who made a vain attempt to draw him out. But the well crumbled down when once started, with fearful rapidity, and in a short time, the boy in the well was buried up and his life crushed out of him Nothing now remained but to unearth the remains of the boy, which was accomplished, after 16 hours of labor, at 1 o'clock on Friday.

General News.

New York, Oct. 8.

The U. S. steamer Hatty Lane, of the Pattguay Squadron, sailed this P. M. direct for St. Thomas where she will coal and proceed to Buenos Ayres.

Syracuse, Oct. 8.

The New York State fair closed to-day. The receipts of the last two days have fallen off on account of the weather.—Aggregate receipts are a little under ten thousand dollars.

Oswego, Oct. 8.

The wind is unabated with a heavy sea rolling. Several vessels arrived last night and to-day more or less damaged and fears are entertained for the safety of those out. The Osprey lies on the inside of the piers a total wreck. The mate, Captain's wife and child were washed overboard and are not yet recovered.

New York, Oct. 9.

Sir William Gore Ousely will leave for Central America in the British War Steamer Valorous, which is hourly expected at this port.

The Courier correspondent says: Gen. Jarez has been received as Envoy Extraordinary from Nicaragua, having previously engaged to exchange ratifications of the treaty of 1857 unconditionly, and to pay our indemnity for the lives and property destroyed by the allied army during the filibuster war. He also repudiated the Belly contract.

Washington, Oct. 8.

The Secretary of the Treasury has on appeal decided that shaved shingles being manufactured, and the other process than hewing or sawing, are not embraced in timber and lumber, admitted free under the reciprocity treaty with Great Britain, be subject to a duty of 24 per cent He has also decided that walnuts and limes in salt and water are each chargeable 15 per cent.

John S. Burns, a master in the line of promotion in the Navy, has resigned.

It is said that Governor Denver declines to withdraw his resignation as Governor of Kansas.

Dr. Charles H. Hitchcock has been appointed inspector of drugs and medicines at San Francisco.

New Orleans, Oct 9.

The Howard Association of New Orleans deem it their duty to inform the country that the prolonged existence of Yellow Fever and the present great mortality, are solely owing to the influx of strangers, who rapidly fall victims. Timely notice will be issued by this Association, of the decadence and disappearance of the disease. Signed,

F. Smidt, President.

D. Q. Ricardy, Secretary.

Deaths from fever, yesterday, were 58.

Montreal, Oct. 8.

The steamer Lady Elgin from Galway, Sept 23d, arrived at Quebec at half past 3 o'clock this P. M. Her news has been anticipated by the Canada at Halifax.—The extensive distilery of T. & W. Molson in this city, was destroyed by fire this morning, Loss $40,000. Insurance small.

Cincinnati, Oct. 9.

A collision occured on the O. & M. R. R., last night near Mitchel, Ind, between two freight trains. A conductor, engineer, fireman and two breakmen were killed.

New York, Oct. 2.

A steamer of the Vanderbilt line was to have left to-day, but the agent thereof having declined to favor us with a list of her passengers, we are unable to state that she did sail, or whether there were any passengers or specie booked for her. The Times' Washington correspondent announces the approaching removal of Mr. Faran, the recently appointed Postmaster at Cincinnati. He is a Douglas sympathiser.

The case of Superintendent Tallmadge was decided yesterday before the Police Commissioners. He is censured for not sending men to the Quarantine at the commencement of the riot, but is reinstated in office.

The steamer Delaware, hence for Philadelphia, came in contact off the Woodlands last eve, with the pilot boat Geo. Steers. The latter lost its bowsprit and had her bows stove in three or four feet which caused her to leak badly. The Delaware towed her to Quarantine and proceeded on her voyage.

A Havanna letter of the 24th, received via Charleston, reported the weather cool, but the public health not improved. The Brig Nancy, had not been released. A dreaded robber known as Asturiand, had been arrested near Havana.

The Steamer Decautur, from New London for New York, broke her shaft off Saybrook. It was deaking so shadly that the Captain ran her ashore on Black Point. A steam pump has been sent to her assistance.

Detroit, Oct. 3.

Flora Temple and Prince trotted in harness over Foster's course to-day; mile heats; best two in three. Flora won the two first heats; time 2 31¼ and 2 34.

St. Johns, N. B., Oct. 2.

Last night two Tanneries and a Coach Factory, were burned on Union st.

Washington, Oct. 12.

Secretary Cass, having recovered from his recent sickness was to-day at the State Department where he was to have an appointment with Gen. Jerez, but the latter sent an apology for not meeting his engagement. One of the conditions upon which he was received as Special Minister from Nicaragua was that he should deliver the Cass Yrisarri Treaty as originally framed. This he was denied to various gentlemen, but the State Department is in possession of the names to whom he made the Declaration. There is no doubt that he will be dismissed, should he much longer delay to comply with this condition.

The object of the instructions recently issued to one naval forces was specifically to protect the rights and property of the Canal Co in connection with the Transit.

Boston, Oct. 12.

The Suffolk Bank to-day notified the Bank of Mutual Redemption that for the present and until further notice it will send to the Mutual the bills of such banks as are redeemed at that institution, and that it will redeem for the mutual such banks as keep their accounts at the Suffolk Bank. This is supposed to be the end of the bank controversy. A new Bank, called the Bank of the Metropolis, with a capital stock of $200.000, is to go into operation on the 9th of Nov. At a meeting of the stockholders to-day Samuel A. May was elected President, and Wm. H. Foster, Cashier.

The Republicans of the 4th District in Convention this afternoon nominated Hon. Alexander H. Rice, of Boston, in place of Mr. Comins, who recently declined the nomination. The democrats in the first District to-day split in the Congressional nomination. The Regulars nominated Hoses Rates, of Plymouth, and the Bolters Mathias Ellis, of Carver.

New York, Oct. 12.

The notes of the Tioga Co. Bank, of Pa, were thrown out to-day in Phila.—It is reported the Lichfield Bank, of Conn. went into a Receiver's hands to-day.

The steamship City of Baltimore from Liverpool 29th ult., arrived this P. M. The Borussia arrived out on the 28th.—The New York arrived at Breman on the 23d.

Letters from Valentia report no improvement in the electrical condition of the Cable. The fault, however, did not get worse, for occasionally considerable and distinct reversals were discernible—The opinion that the principal fault in the Cable is near the shore gained ground, although Prof. Thompson's opinion was directly opposed to such a supposition.—It was supposed that something would be done towards under-running and repairing the Cable during October, which is generally a fine month on the Irish coast.—Mr. Henley's gigantic magnetic electrical machine had arrived at Valentia and been put in operation, and with the aid of this instrument Mr. Henley hopes to be able to work through the Cable during some part of each day, even if the fault should prove irreparable. It was the nearly unanimous opinion at Valentia that the laying of 12 or 16 miles thick shore end of the Cable would tend permanently to obviate a great many difficulties. In regard to the continuance of experiments nothing was to be done with the Cable until the preconcerted experiments at both termini had been made. They would, it was expected, demonstrate the possibilty or impossibility of working the line in its present state.

New Orleans, Oct. 11.

The deaths from Yellow Fever were 55. For the week they foot 390.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 12.

A number of the Students in the Sophomore class of Brown's University have been suspended in consequence of some disorder.

Albany, Oct. 12.

The American and Republican Conventions met to-day. At last accounts nothing had been done except appointing Conference Committes.

Troy, Oct. 12.

The Democrat Convention to-day nominated David L. Seymour of Troy, as their candidate for Congress in the 13th Congressional district.

St. Louis, Oct. 12.

A despatch from Independence the 10th, per United States Express to Boonville says: the Santa Fe mail with dates to the 20th ult. has arrived.

Accounts of a battle between 300 Navajos Indians and a small detachment of United States Troops on the 29th of August, are confirmed.

Captain McLeans wound is severe, but not dangerous.

The National Democrats have elected every Member of the Legislature so far as heard from.

Lieut. Ray arrived with the mails.

INDIA.—The dates are Bombay, Sept. 7th. The fugitive rebels from Gwalior, after their defeat, retreated towards the Chumbul. Sir Hope Grant's force was in the neighborhood of Sultampere, its movements being impeded by the rains. The 69th and 67th native regiments, which were disarmed, had attempted to seize the arms of the Fusileers, but were repulsed and a great many of them killed.—The British lost five men. The Gwalior rebels have obtained possession of the town of Sapra Paten, which they were preparing to defend.

Journal of a Defeated Candidate.

THURSDAY.—Received the nomination for an office in the City Council. Surprised and indignant. Remonstrated with committee. Was told I must place myself in the hands of my friends. Eventually did so.

Friday.—Immense poster on a brick pile opposite my house; my name in two foot letters. Great anguish on the part of my wife and family, who believe that every officer of the city government must according to law, be indicted and tried at the end of his term. Friends meeting me in the street, say there is a rumor about town that I am up for office, a rumor which ought to be contradicted.—Other friends offered ironical congratulations, and leave me in doubt whether the office is unfit for me or I the office. Old gentlemen says he wont believe it; for he knew my father and he was a very respectable man.

Saturday.—Man on the stoop of my house, with big stick and terrier. Broad shouldered, slovenly person, with a sanguinary eye. Came to advise me to beware of a class of ruffians that go round election times extorting money from candidates. Offers his services to 'tend the polls. Customary, committee. He whistles to his dog. Engage him at $5, cash down. We part with mutual expressions of esteem.

Going in, find six men smoking in my parlor—delegates from a target excursion. Customary, they say, for candidates to give prizes on these occasions. Refer them to my committee. Captain very polite—tells me he will give me time to think about it, and will come on Sunday with the whole guard, to let me see what a fine looking set of fellows they are. Result, $10 for a prize.

Evening.—Excited person calls for a subscription for a banner. Man comes with a wooden leg—wants a new one. Three more banner men. Clergyman for subscription to deserving charity. Seven men to attend polls. More cripples. Delegation want there fire engines painted. Man without arms, to post bills. A woman for subscription for a coffin. Children all crying up stairs. My wife in hysterics. General terror and confusion.

Midnight.—Torchlight procession; kettle-drum; serenade; make a speech rotten egg hits me in the eye; general fight: spanners, brickbats, clubs, banners, torches and fists.

Wednesday.—Wake up defeated! Tell all my friend's I don't care for myself, but feel sorry for the city.—My wife goes home to her mother; the children are sent where they cannot be under my influence. No home—no friends—no wife—no money!

TREATY WITH CHINA.—A dispatch from Washington states that information has been received at the State Department from Mr. Reed, our minister to China, that he had succeeded in negotiating a treaty similar to those made by France and England with the Celestials. We are to have a minister at Pekin, and it is said that the Emperor regards the U. S. with much favor.

The navy magazine at Havana filled with powder, shells and rockets, exploded on the 29th of Sept. 28 persons were killed and 105 wounded and probably more under the ruins. Nineteen new sugar houses were destroyed, and a number of houses damaged. The whole city was shocked. The gas works were rendered useless and the city was in total darkness. Police and troops were guarding the spot. Concha was the first officer on the ground aiding the unfortunate. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

☞"Mama, may I go fishing?' Yes, sonny, but don't go near the water; and recollect if yon are drowned, I'll skin you as sure as you are alive.'

☞A man attempted to spell crockery, yesterday, and proceeded thus: Kraughkerreigh—but expired in a spasm before he could make a y, with which he intended to end the word.

☞A young woman named Rebecca Rakestraw, committed suicide, at Wabash, Ind., on Wednesday, by swallowing morphine. The Intelligence says, this is the fourth suicide in that town this summer.

THUNDER! Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said when he hath needless hit his head, "Thunder!" When one's suspender give away, while dancing briskly with ladies gay, where is the man can help but say, "Thunder."

Special Notices.

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm. A small one preferred. Enquire of JACOB TOTTEN.
Tecumseh, October 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Curtis & Stilson is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The accounts and notes of said firm are left in the hands of George Curtis, who alone has authority to settle the same, at the old stand of said firm.
GEORGE CURTIS.
JOSEPH P. STILSON.
Tecumseh, Oct. 4th, 1858.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
22 CLIFF STREET, NEW YORK
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, Etc.
Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&eo408m3

Barley Wanted.
The subscriber is prepared to pay the HIGHEST MARKET PRICE For Barley. Bring along your samples.
A. JAMES & CO.,
Tecumseh, Aug. 5th.

☞ Positively ☜
The subscriber regrets the necessity of giving due notice that he is compelled to a liquidation of past Notes and Accounts, "forcibly if we must, peaceably if we can."
CHAS DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name Address, O. P. Brown, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [41lm3

☞5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis: EPHRAIM BROWN, 41lm3 Lowell, Mass.

☞$22.00 in on day—$52 50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book.
411m3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address
Rev. EDWARD A WILSON,
41lm3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,
The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 21 of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.
The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested; by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.
Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents. Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inflammatory
Price invariable $1.00 per bottle.
Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 401-4w

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as chief Physician, and twelve years' previous devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhilation,—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By inhalation, the vapor and curative properities of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhilation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases and the high character of the institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself as heretofore to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction both to my professional brethren and the public I would respectfully announce in connection that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines the same as used in the institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhaler &c. will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. TERMS—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows viz: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use: also Inhaling Vapor and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payments as follows $6 to be paid to express agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M.D.
No 5 6 Broadway, cor Twelfth St. N.Y.
P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected. 1y
c&eo405m6

STONE COAL.
Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857. 844

To-Days Advertisements.

Commissioners Notice.
Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust all demands against the estate of Abram Hair, late of Tecumseh in said county, deceased, will meet at the late residence of said deceased in said township on Saturday the Thirteenth day of November and Saturday the Third day of April next, from 9 o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiving and examining upon such claims.
We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the 9th inst. have been allowed by said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance.
G. D. PERRY,
A. J. HUNTER, } Commissioners
Tecumseh, Dec. 9th, 1858. [41lm6

Guardian Sale.
By virtue of a license to me granted by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County and State of Michigan, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, at the dwelling house of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh, in the Township of Franklin, on the Thirteenth day of November next, at one o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the undivided twenty-four, forty-ninth parts of all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin, in said County, and described as follows, to wit: The East half of the South East quarter of section Sixteen in Township five South of range three [3] East, (subject to the right of dower of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh therein,) being all the interest of Amanda VanValkenburgh, Randall T. VanValkenburgh, and Elizabeth A. VanValkenburgh minors therein.
Terms of sale made known on day of sale.
HARLOW B. CHURCH
Guardian of said Minors
Dated October 11th, 1858. 41lm4

"The Tailor Shop"
The subscribers continue in a Tailoring Business, at their stand, Bidwells Block, upstairs. They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.
Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.
All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Satisfaction warranted.
☞ Cutting done to order.
JONES & SCREAM

THE
"Broadway Omnibus"
The Greatest Paper of the Age!
A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly Journal and a Paper that is a Paper.
A budget of Wit, Humor, Fun and Sense drawn from life—"Here you can right away, Broadway, Broadway"—Only Fifty Cents—jump in and take a ride. Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at the fifty cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up and down the old Bowery, through Chatham and to other principal streets, giving you some time to see the Elephant and get a good peep at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c. We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by candle light, by star light, and will drive the "Omnibus" to some parts of the city where there is no light. We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the great metropolis, and also amuse many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Know Thyself" is the dogs." If you have the Blues, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunate troubled with a scolding wife, we will guarantee to make you forget your troubles, laugh almost against your will and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "Omnibus" at once. The "Broadway Omnibus" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction for Price, Fifty Cents a year in advance—six copies to one address, One Dollar. This is the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get subscribers and receive one copy free. All communications should be addressed to
CHAS. F. HUTTON,
Editor, "Broadway Omnibus,"
411w6c 297 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE
STOVES, STOVES
The Subscribers having just returned from New York, are now prepared to show the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity the best and most approved patterns of
Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room
STOVES.
They are constantly receiving from Mechanic's and Farmer's Iron Store, And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State
DEWEY & CURTIS
Tecumseh, Oct., 7th.

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.
Correspondence between the Queen and President.
Queen—Where do your people steer most inclined to buy their goods?
President—After investigating the matter, should say that the store of
A. B. WARD,
Is the most Popular place to Purchase kinds of Goods for family use—
Wire down and no further communication at Present.
So those of my patrons who desire a chance at my late arrival of New Goods please call and purchase before Wednesday comes over—she is expected to be up our Balloon Ascension the 16th.
A. B. WARD
Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

Pure Solar Salt Ground
A New and Superior article—also for sale Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E. TINDALL.
WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit brand, the best, for sale cheap by E. TINDALL.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.

CORNER OF MAIN AND ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$30
One-half do	10	15	20
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	8	10	14
One Square, (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North	4 00	P. M.
Eastern and Southern, Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Macon—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	9	"

Rail Road Time

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South.	6 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

WANTED.—Corn and Potatoes at this office.

NEW GOODS.—Mrs. Wagoner has received her stock of Millinery.

David Henderson is opening his supply of Gents Furnishing Goods.

George Heesen has received Scott's fashion plates for 1858-9

☞ Hon. Henry Waldron will address his Republican friends, at Ridgeway on Thursday Oct., 21st., at 1 o'clock, P. M.

☞ Joel C. Carpenter was nominated for State Senator at Palmyra, Mich., last Saturday.

NEW PAPERS.—Ypsilanti Herald, by H. B. Bissell; Grand Rapids Journal, by T. D. Morrell; Democratic Union, by J. G. Ingstaf, are received and welcome to our exchange.

☞ "The Angels Told Me So" is the title of a sheet of music received from Horace Waters, publisher, 323 Broadway N. Y.

Chas. W. Sawdey's sale at the residence of Mrs. I. H. Miles, on Saturday, Oct. 16th.

ACCIDENT.—A fellow, (Bob Jones) from Adrian we believe, had a sudden rush of brains to his head while viewing our Fire Department, Oct., 5th. He sent the Editor of the Fireman's Journal, Detroit, $2, and received the following prescription:

In another column will be found a spicy article from our friend Bob Jones of Tecumseh, relative to fire doings there. We endorse all the truth he has written, but we infer from his frequent reference to the Adrian Watchtower, that "Thereby hangs a tale." The personale of the letter will be overlooked, when it is taken into consideration that the writer has no intention of what he says.

☞ New Haven is in danger of being shorn of her glory. The long rows of Venerable trees, which have given her the name of the "City of Elms," are dying from the poisonous vapors that escape from the leaky gas pipes. No less than 20 fine trees, many of them a quarter of a century old have recently been killed from this cause on Wooster Place.

A Model Legislature.

In our verdancy and holy horror of the law, we had supposed a legislative body of necessity to be a convocation of wise-acres and sooth-sayers men—big with the fate of the country. Our preconceived notions were inconceivably shocked upon getting within the magic circle, to find Honorables with hats on and coats off—heels on top of the next Honorable's desk—cigars in mouth—and if the truth must be told, sundry bottles, which look as though they might contain ink, but didn't smell like it, on the desks. With all due respect to the Legislature of Minnesota, we must say, the first boy's Lyceum, we ever attended in a country village, was conducted with more gravity, decorum, and an equal observance of parliamentary rules."—Rounds' Monthly Printers' Cabinet.

☞ The "ships of the Plains" have proven a success. Forty-nine of the camels belonging to the U. S. are now at Cape Verde, sixty miles from San Antonio. Only one of those imported has died, while ten have been added by birth. These young American-born camels thrive well, and promise to grow up equal in all respects of those imported.

A Scene on the Gallows.

P. S. Turley, formerly a clergyman, was executed on Friday week in Kanawha county Va., for the murder of his wife. On the gallows he made a speech, attributing commission of the crime to his intemperance.—The Kanawha Star says:

After speaking, he requested that Jerusalem my happy home," might be sung. He said that many present had sung it with him on more happy occasions. He started the tune himself. While singing, he called his aged father on the platform, threw himself upon his neck, interrupted his singing only long enough to say "farewell," and then continued to take the lead. His mother with his little daughter, came forward at his request, and he shook hands with her, and took the little one in his arms, kissed it, and all present seeming to be interrupted. So also with a brother. They all left the ground before he fell. He also while singing, shook hands with several others. Among them, two of the brothers of his murdered wife. He had a smile on his face most of the time. There were but few dry eyes on the ground during

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK, Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

B. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.

Post Office Building, Chicago Street

341y1 TECUMSEH

J. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS,

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS.

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Corner, Railroad and Hilbuck Streets

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE A. COMFORT,

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER.

Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW.

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

C. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC,

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, S &c.

Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street,

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office.

403 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP,

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st. 1858. 394

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH, October 14 1858.

Wheat	80@90
Flour	5 50@6 00
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	55@60
Corn	55
Oats	30@35
Clover seed
Beans	50@60
Potatoes new	25@40
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	13
Tallow	8 @10
Lard	10
Eggs	6
Cheese	8
Chicken, dressed	7
Turkey do	7
Beef,	3 50@4 25
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8@10
Sheep pelts	30@50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 00
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00@5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	3@4 50
do black ash	1 00@1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

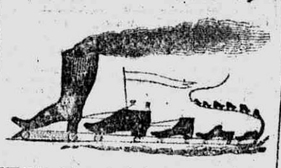
Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38 A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00 "	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00 "	60 0 "
Arrive at		12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 "	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55 "	5 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago		12 50 10 06
Arrive at	7 30 "	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 "	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20 "	3 25 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25 "	1 50 "
Arrive at		12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25 "	9 40 "
Arrive at		12 40 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 "	9 30 "
Arrive at	7 30 "	3 25 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, All hany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothacary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh. April 22d. 468m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS.

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET.

R. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provisions.

WANTED,

Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Hams, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit, etc.

For which the highest market Price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh. Sept. 16. 409

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON.	D. D MARSHALL.
DELOS LeBARON.	WALLACE GRAY.
D. L. SHOLES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BELMS.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

MRS. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 8 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street one door south west of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 13th. 360m3

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept., 1st 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY.

(OPPOSITE H. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

☞ Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes good for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Rags paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH. : : : MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " "	$200,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

ROSIN and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye".

JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE

MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 4th Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 18 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquor, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

OYSTERS.

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT.

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

TECUMSEH

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

—BY—

Burlingame & Yawger.

—WE—

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR, we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the County.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

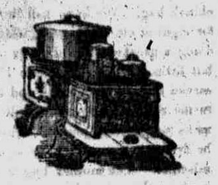
And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1858 411

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore, There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton. And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone, We can Beat Adrian all Holler. If we don't we'll give you a dollar. Selling Nails at $4 a keg. From that we shan't budge a peg. Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred, And yet more that might be numbered. Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size, And every thing you may surmise. Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware, Full enough to make you stare. Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all, Be sure you find the Gothic Hall. Don't fear the Hardness of times, At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganised condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York. Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh. July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 8d, 1857. 356tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.

105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.

160 " " wild land in Allegan County.

80 " " Eaton county.

5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.

50 thousand Pine Shingle.

50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.

1000 feet of Butternwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 409y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior Article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGRICULTURAL.

From Emery's Journal of Agriculture.

The Chinch Bug.

Mr. Hinckley complains about the chinch bug. We have had them with us for eight or nine years past. Some seasons doing a great deal of damage and others but little. During that time I have observed their habits closely and have come to the conclusion that they will stay with us as long as they please. They will not be driven but they may be coaxed out of mischief. The mother bug or egg layer is about the size and very much resembles the rose bug, with a long blue wing folded up under the spotted wing, which enables them to migrate at pleasure. They will winter in stubble, old corn stalks, under anything that is convenient, and come out when it is warm enough for vegetation to start, but do not lay eggs before the middle of June. From my experience with them, I find it best to clear the land of old corn stalks and all kinds of rubbish, plow under deep the stubble of small grain. Where small grain is sown, roll it as soon as sown, and again when it is four or five inches high. This prevents their getting under the stool to lay the eggs, as that is where they do lay them. To prevent them from going from the small grain into the corn, I leave a vacant strip twenty-five or thirty feet wide between them, prepare that for a crop about the middle of June and sow it with corn or oats, that makes a hiding place and fresh feed for them, where they will remain until the corn planted is out of the way of them. This is what I mean when I say they can be coaxed.

Sugar Cane in Illinois.

We have traveled over the State in different sections considerably recently, and find fields of cane frequent, and of good growth. Some of these fields will mature the seed. The growth surpasses anything of a similar character we have ever before seen, tillering out until there are from ten to twenty seed stalks in a hill. The farmers speak in the highest terms of it, not alone because of its value as a forage crop, but because of their success last year in the manufactre of syrup and sugar. It has induced increased cultivation, and we believe sugar making will yet become a prominent feature in Illinois — We have heard large stories the past two weeks of the profits which grow out of its culture. One man in Henry county sold $250 worth of syrup made from cane grown on three fourths of an acre; others tell larger or smaller stories in proportion to the extent of the trial they have made. We predict the number of acres planted in Chinese sugar cane next year will be larger than that planted the curent year. It has proved itself no humbug.

Hog Cholera.—J. T Warden writes the Country Gentleman that he "made a strong solution of alumn water—all the water would bear,—and drenched all I found with this disease upon them, and gave to the lot (about 100 head) a pound of pulverized alumn in some swill feed each day for two weeks, by which time all remaining seemed healty. Out of twenty two drenched with a pint of solution each —administered with the assistance of a rops behind the tusks, and a horn with small end sawed off. I lost five head, and with the exception of two, the remaining seventeen appear to have entirely recovered."

A Suggestive Myth —There is myth connected with the Hyacinth, professing to give the origin of its name, which is worthy of note, not merely as a bit of local history interesting to floriculturalists, but as suggestive of a beautiful social lesson. It is this:

There was a boy child, named Hyacinthus, so rarely beautiful in form, feature and disposition, that he became a great favorite of Apollo and Zephyrus at the same time. The latter, becoming jealous of his rival, suffered himself to shoot Hyacinthus with an arrow, in the worst dog-in-the-manger spirit. Appollo caused a beautiful flower to spring from the blood of the murdered child, to which he gave his name as a memento, and it has borne it ever since, no anglicised into "Hyacith. 'Tis thus that the blood of the good and the true of our race, when spilt amid the jealous conflicts of Vice and Wrong, with their rivals, Right and Virtue, becomes the seed of many a flower of humanity, sending forth the happifying influence of a sweetly blooming life upon the world!—Ex.

Mutton is the most wholesome meat, the easiest digested, and the best suited to invalids, while pork, as every body knows, is the most unhealthy fresh eaten. Our people eat too much pork and too little mutton. It requires a strong digestive apparatus to receive much pork without injury.

Dough Nuts.—One pint bowl of raised dough wet with milk; knead in a teacup of sifted sugar, two eggs, and a heaping table spoonful of butter; let it rise again, roll and fry; fresh chopped orange peel is the best seasoning.

Seed.—Let it be a settled maxim of the gardener—the first and best of everything must be saved for seed.

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E. Merritt to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 19th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber 4 of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42, and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Ninety-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the middle east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east, excepting the South two (2) acres of it as mined thereon as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the court Room in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at said day.

JOSEPH H. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOODS, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858. 336w13

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d, 1856, in Liber W of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 15th, 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the north west quarter and the north east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon, at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee

EUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee

Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight Present, Fernando C. Beaman Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Ambrose Van Valkenburgh Rachel T. Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valkenburgh, minors.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Hiarion R. Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the next-of-kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN

[A true Copy] 406 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

Jacob Emens made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing date the First day of June, 1857 which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County and Michigan on A. M. on the 20th day of October, 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, came more or less will be sold, at the Circuit Court, Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 398d13

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock, P. M. on Monday, October 4th 1858 PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee. Tecumseh, September 25th, 1858

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

BY

Burlingame & Yawger.

WE

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry,

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR, we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1858! 411

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

FOR SALE,

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.

105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.

160 " wild land in Allegan County.

80 " Eaton county.

6 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.

50 thousand Pine Shingle.

50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.

1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 5th Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by

E. TINDALL

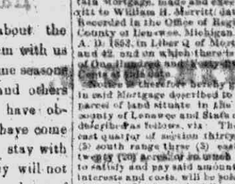
STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domesticuses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,

Just opposite Ward & Moore,

There's Hardware, cheap, good and new

For Sale by Messrs. STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton.

And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,

We can Beat Adrian all Holler,

If we don't we'll give you a dollar.

Selling Nails at $4 a keg,

From that we shan't budge a peg.

Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,

And yet more that might be numbered.

Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,

And every thing you may surmise.

Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,

Full enough to make you stare.

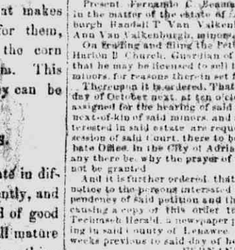
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,

Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.

Don't fear the Hardness of times,

At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf



PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

An unrivalled Medicine for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, Sole Proprietor, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.

Curtis & Sidson, Agents, Tecumseh.

July, 1858. 400m3

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will incure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th. 409y

JOB PRINTING,

Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F.

Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M.

Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at E. Hall's'

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 617 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

The Only Original Gift Book Store.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
350 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
500 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	25 00
200 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted	15 00
300 Patent Timepieces	10 00
300 Cameo Sets, Ear Drops and Pins	10 00
300 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	3 00
2500 Gold Pencils, (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 00
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6500 Gold Rings, (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Cents Gold Rings,	2 00
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	1 00
3500 Misses' do	75
2000 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2500 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 00
2000 do Sleave Buttons,	2 00
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
8000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
12000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books, &c &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

Evan's new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores.

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above,

N. B.—Being largely intersted in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country.

Any book published in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher.

407m3 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House.

Encouraged by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the United States Journal, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, announcing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time-keeper	$60	00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50	00
Large Double-Hide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	$ 00	Post 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00	9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	5 00	9c
Superb [illegible] Locket, engraved and burnished	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	6 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Sleeve Buttons	6 00	9c
Gold Band Cameo Pin for Lady	3 00	9c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	9c
Gold Pens Gilt or Pencil for Gent	2 00	8c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00	8c
Set of Engraved Studs	2 00	8c
Set of Gold Canadian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	30
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 18 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	3c
A Misses Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	8c

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00 12

The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24 1 00 12

The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50 9c

Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards 50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.

400 406 Broadway, New York.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured — It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely illustrated: all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,

375m8ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly Golden Prize is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages of forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

Elegantly Illustrated Every Week

A PRESENT,

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 4 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	$5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	$8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty Copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
50 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10 00 to 30 00 do

Gold Pockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,

Proprietors,

395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATLY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
AGRICULTURAL MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best Washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer.

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.

Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12,50	per annum.
15 " " "	15.00	"	"
20 " " "	20.00	"	" and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO,

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in that great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article; that he could not make it convenient to go in person to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the true principle named. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can; in fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No one who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends, wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent., although in special case of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the reply.

☞ REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.

Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G. Baty Blake, of Bitkes Howe & Co., Boston.

F. Cabot & Co., Boston.

Standish Wentworth & Co., Boston.

J. G. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.

And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the lawful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, age, occupation, habits of life, &c., and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associate so commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, the use of Bougies or Self abuse &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that the labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Nationalism, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual system, the consulting Surgeon will be sent (by mail, in sealed envelopes) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases also for distribution, are constantly being published. Gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for the Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE H. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon and Secretary Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia.

By order of the Directors.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.

390y EZRA D. REARWELL, President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. Brown, Proprietor.

R. T. Merrill, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on

GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times,"

☞ Satisfaction Warranted,

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 406

TIMOTHY SEED,

For Sale by E TINDALL.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

THE GREAT SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE REMEDY.

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class who always look before they leap, and who seek honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Pulmonary Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Scrofula, Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actions were compared by sagacious men, who distinguished Physician's statements, and was found that every stage of the disease was precisely as he had described. The result was that the mind of the became interested, and that person of highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronized the preparations, admitted the claims of the illustrious host to be the First Medical Discoverer of the

The Blood Purifier and Pills

are now universally recommended by informed and candid persons, as an immediate cure for

Indigestion,

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Pain in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplines, Nightmare,

General Debility,

Nervous Tremors, Fainting Fits, Folly, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Eruptions on the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Scrofulous Sores, Glandular Swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia,

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Virtus' Dance, Nervous Twitching,

Female Complaints.

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS,

Of distinguished men in every profession, warmly recommending the preparations now before us, can be seen at Dr. Roback's Office.

In the Scandinavian Vegetable Blood Pills are united the three great medicinal properties which Physicians have heretofore tried in vain to combine in one preparation. They relieve the bowels, purify the blood, and invigorates the constitution, all at one and the same time. To this fact all who try them will subscribe. The absence of minerals, and of every stupifying drug, renders them safe to use, even to the most delicate female, and the fee

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 49. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 21, 1858. WHOLE NO. 414

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. B. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Killbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

A. D. SATTERTHWAITE. A. COMFORT.
J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

P. BILLS. D. L. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

O. A. STACY. E. S. WOOD.
STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street,
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN HOUGHTON,
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brooklville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
340tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatuma Sts.
340y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, : : Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

A Home Picture.

BY ANNIE PRESTON.

An old man sat by the chimney side—
His face was wrinkled and wan—
And he leaned both hands on his stout oak cane,
As if all his work was done.

His coat was old-fashioned gray,
With pockets both deep and wide,
Where his specs and steel tobacco-box,
Lay snugly side by side.

The old man liked to stir the fire,
So near him the poker was kept;
Sometimes he mused as he gazed at the coals—
And sometimes he sat and slept.

What did he see in the embers there?
Ah! pictures of other years;
And now and then they awakened smiles,
But oftener they started tears.

His good wife sat on the other side,
In the high back cane-seat chair;
You see 'neath the frill of her muslin cap,
The sheen of her silvery hair.

She wears a blue checked apron now,
And is knitting a sock for him;
Her pale, blue eyes have a gentle look,
And she says 'They are growing dim.'

I like to call and tell the news,
And chat an hour each day,
For it stirs the blood of the old man's heart,
To hear of the world away.

Be kind unto the old, my friends,
They're worn with this world's strife,
Though bravely once perchance they fought
The battle first with life.

They taught our youthful feet to climb
Upward life's rugged steep;
Then let us lead them gently down
To where the weary sleep.

The Widow's Ruse.

BY ELLIOT.

Widows, to take them as a class, are generally smart, exceedingly—especially the young ones—old ones only prove that they are not, by remaining single. As a proof we have a little narrative to relate of one, who 'tangled' an old bachelor up in the section where I once resided for a time.

Uncle Ben Carlton, as almost every one called him, was a bachelor, in hale health of fifty years or thereabouts, and a confirmed and boastful woman-hater, almost especially did he seem to detest widows, for with them he would have nothing to do—although he would sometimes smile at some nice joke played upon him by a pretty village girl, and had been known on two occasions to lend his umbrella to Esther Comstock, the belle of the place, and the best singer in the choir of the church which he attended. It was raining hard, and he insisted upon her taking it, both times, and he lent it in true old bachelor style, for he didn't lend himself with it, but walked home alone in the rain.

In vain did several very pretty widows in our place 'set their caps for him'—he was well off, and not ill-looking, either—but in vain did half-mourning, coquettish ribbons, pretty bonnets, faultless gaiters, and neat ancles, attempt to 'catch his eye.' His eye-teeth, it was reported, had been cut when he was quite young and succeptible—if so, he was determined evidently never let them dentate on him again.

But one widow there was amongst us, keen as a briar, pretty as a pink, who had made her mind up to 'tangle him in her web,' and as she made no secret of it, he was doubly on his guard against her.

Susan Whitman was her name—she had been married young, and a merciful Providence soon relieved her of a husband who was as utterly worthless as a man could be, and who hardly left enough property to bury him decently.

Susan, therefore, was poor, but her nimble fingers were unusually expert with the needle, and it did not trouble her to get along, for she was naturally industrous and very popular in the village.

Every one who had heard of her intended capture of old Uncle Ben, had laughed at it as a matter of impossibility, but none more than himself. But she quietly worked on in the even tenor of her way, rendering herself liked and respected by all, and even winning his respect, for he had a truly benevolent heart, and had known of her sufferings, and even felt pity for her when she was linked to a worse than worthless husband.

And pity is so near akin to love, that it surely is a dangerous relative, worse than a pretty cousin by all odds.

About this time a cousin of Susan's, speaking of cousin's is the time to bring it in, came to the village to practice his profession, that of a physician, and having the reputation of long practice in the city of P——, he very soon had an excellent practice in the village. Being a married man, and his wife liking company, he soon got Susan ensconced in his house. And shortly after that it began to be noticed that her visits out around became less frequent, her cheek more pale than usual, and soon a rumor was spread abroad, and rumors fly on rapid wings in small places, that poor Susan was actually going into a decline. Of course love must be the cause of it—she had never caught cold, had been careful of her health always—nothing but love could produce such an effect. Pity for her was felt and expressed by all, and many a cold eye was cast, and a colder shoulder turned upon Uncle Ben for his heartlessness in the matter. For a time he laughed at this—then he got mad, and finally when she kept in doors altogether and was reported to be in a very dangerous condition, he began to be really annoyed if not alarmed.

One sabbath day when the village pastor had preached an unusually eloquent sermon, from the 16th verse of Paul's, fifth chapter, in the first Timothy, about the relief of widows, Uncle Ben left the church in a humor of unusual melancholy A portion of the sermon seemed to be meant for him, and him only. His conscience seemed to upbraid him with the thought that poor Susan was dying, and her death would be laid at his door.—While in this mood he accidentally met her cousin.

'Doctor a few words with you, if you please!' said he, in a tone as sad and solemn as if he felt that his own end was approaching.

'Certainly, sir, but I pray you be in haste for I fear I am wanted at home!' said the doctor, rather coldly.

'Is Susan Whitman very low, doctor?' asked Uncle Ben in a tremulous voice.

'Very sir, very! Her days on earth are numbered!' replied the doctor, seriously.

'Heavens—you don't say so! Tell me doctor what is the cause, what disease affects her?'

'If you do not know, sir—no one should!' said the doctor sternly, and he passed on.

'Mercy on me, what shall I do—what shall I do?' mouned Uncle Ben. 'If she dies and they blame me for it, I never can live in this village afterwards. What shall I do?' he repeated, and his words were overheard by the minister who was at that moment approaching.

'What is the matter Brother Carleton what troubles your spirit so? Confide in me as a spiritual adviser and a friend!'

Uncle Ben could not refuse, and he opened his mind to the pastor freely and asked his advice.

'Poor soul, from my heart I pity her, if it would make her mind easier, and relieve her even at the dying hour, I would advise you to marry her!' said the pastor, who was in no way averse to receiving a fat fee, as marriage fees generally are.

'If you advise it, I know not how I can avoid it!' said uncle Ben with a shudder. 'And if it must be, the sooner it is over the better! Come with me to the house and let the ceremony if she wishes be performed at once, for I cannot bear this suffering much longer!'

The pastor was less loth than he by all odds, and he went without any hesitation.

'If she wasn't a widow I could bear it a great deal better!' murmured poor uncle Ben as he went along.

The minister made no comments upon this, and they soon arrived at the house, where, upon starting their business to the doctor, they were shown into the parlor to await the result of a message of proposal through the cousin to the poor invalid. It soon came and uncle Ben was 'accepted,' as some comfort to a breathing heart.

He and the minister were shown into the darkened room, and soon, very soon, the ceremony was performed. Uncle Ben's voice trembled while he uttered the necessary responses and he was so nervous that he hardly heard what Susan said, though each word she uttered was spoken in clear and distinct tone. After all was over, uncle Ben having heard himself pronounced the young widow's husband, was about to turn away with a sigh, when he was rather, astonished by hearing his bride say in a tolerably strong voice:

'Surely, dear husband, you will not refuse your poor Susan the tribute of a bridal kiss!'

Half shuddering, he bent down to render a chaste salut, when he was considerably more astonished by finding a pair of warm, round, plump arms clasped about his neck, and a pair of sweet pouting lips pressing kiss after kiss upon his mouth.—And before this surprise had time to cool the windows were thrown open by the doctor cousin, and pretty Susan bounded from her couch in as good health as one ever enjoyed' and clad in a neat bridal dress of spotless white.

'Dear' husband, you are tangled, and by a widow!' she cried, as she looked up lovingly in his face and passed her dimpled hand over his cheek gently.

For a moment he tried to look angry, but it was in vain.

'You are the handsomest and best woman in town, and I don't care!' he cried with a sweeter smile than he had ever been known to wear before.

'And no longer a widow, therefore you must love me!' she said archly.

'I'm bound to do that!' replied Uncle Ben, as he put a ten dollar gold piece in the minister's ready hand.

'And my doctor's bill is free!' said the conniving cousin.

'If it was a thousand dollars I would not begrudge it, now that your patient has recovered so rapidly!' said Uncle Ben.

Thus, happily for those most concerned, ended THE WIDOW'S RUSE.

Daniel Webster Matched by a Woman.

In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Boggen's will, which was tried in the Supreme Court some years ago, Mr. Webster appeared as counsellor for the appellant. Mrs Greenough, wife of Rev. William Greenough, late of West Newton—a tall, straight, queenly looking woman, with a keen black eye, a woman of great self-possession and decision of character, was called to the stand as a witness on the opposite side from Mr. Webster. Webster at a glance, had the sagacity to foresee that her testimony, if it contained anything of importance, would have great weight with the court and jury. He therefore resolved, if possible to break her up; and when she answered to the first question put to her 'I believe,' Webster roared out:

'We don't want to hear what you believe, we want to hear what you know!'

Mrs. Greenough replied, 'That is just what I was about to say sir,' and went on with her testimony; and notwithstanding his repeated efforts to disconcert her, she pursued the even tenor of her way, until Webster becoming quite fearful of the result, arose apparently in great agitation, and drawing out his large snuff box, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom, and carrying the deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with a gusto; and extracting from his pocket a very large handkerchief, which flowed to his feet as he brought it to the front he blowed his nose, which rang distinct and loud through the crowded hall.

Webster—'Mrs. Greenough, was Mrs. Boggen a neat woman?'

'I cannot give you very full information as to that, sir; she had one very dirty trick.'

'What's that ma'am?'

'She took snuff.'

The roar of the court house was such that the future Defender of the Constitution subsided, and neither rose or spoke again until after Mrs. Greenough had vacated her chair to another witness—having ample time to reflect upon the inglorious history of the man who had a stone thrown upon his head by a woman.

NOVEL EXHIBITION.—On Monday evening, at the Cooper Institute, Dr. Boynton proposes to condense into one exhibition, the principle improvements of an entire course of Natural Philosophy, Chemistry and Electro-Magnetism. He proposes to suspend a rod of iron in the air; lift a boy by electric power; load a small cannon with water and fire it off with an icicle; set water on fire, make a bonfire of ice; make the water-gas light, and give a variety of galvanic and electro-magnetic experiments; the whole to close with a balloon ascension. The particulars will be found in the advertisment.—N. Y. Tribune.

BAD IS TOO BEST.—A friend of ours was travelling lately, while afflicted with a very bad cough. He annoyed his fellow travelers greatly, till finally one of them remarked in a tone of displeasure—

'Sir, that is a very bad cough of yours.'

'True, sir,' replied our friend, 'but you will excuse me—it's the best I've got.'

"OH FOR SOME QUIET SPOT!"—Tell me ye, winged winds, that around my pathway roar, do ye not know some quiet spot where hoops are worn no more? Some lone and silent dell, some island or some cave, where women may walk three abreast along the village pave? the loud winds kissed around my face and answered—"Nary place."

Written at My Mother's Grave.

BY GEO. D PRENTICE.

The trembling dew-drops fall
Upon the shutting flowers; like souls at rest
The stars shine gloriously, and all
Save me are blest.

Mother, I love thy grave!
The violet, with blossoms blue and mild,
Waves o'er thy head; when will it wave
Above thy child?

'Tis a sweet flower, yet must its
Bright leaves to the morning tempests bow;
Dear mother, 'tis thine emblem; dust
Is on thy brow.

And I could love to die;
To leave untasted life's dark, bitter streams,
By thee, as erst in childhood, lie,
And share thy dreams.

And must I linger here,
To stain the plumage of my sinless years,
And mourn the hopes of childhood dear,
With bitter tears?

Aye, I must linger here,
A lonely branch upon a withered tree,
Whose last frail leaf, untimely sere,
Went down with thee.

Oft from life's withered bower,
In still communion with the past, I turn
And muse on thee, the only flower
In memory's urn

And when the evening pale
Bows like a mourner on the deep blue wave,
I stray to hear the night winds wail
Around thy grave.

Where is thy spirit flown?
I gaze above—thy look is imaged there!
I listen, and thy gentle tone
Is on the air.

Oh! come, while I press
My brow upon thy grave; and in those mild
And thrilling tones of tenderness,
Bless, bless thy child.

Yes, bless your weeping child;
And o'er thine urn, religion's holiest shrine,
Oh! give his spirit, undefiled,
To blend with thine.

The Two Homes.

Two men, on their way home met at a street crossing, and then walked on together. They were neighbors and friends.

'This has been a very hard day,' said Mr. Freeman, in a gloomy voice. And as they walked homeward, they discouraged each other, and made darker the clouds that obscured their whole horizon.

'Good evening,' was at last said hurriedly; and the two men passed into their homes.

Mr. Walcott entered the room where his wife and children were gathered, and without speaking to any one, seated himself in a chair, and leaning his head back, closed his eyes. His countenance wore a sad, weary, exhausted look. He had been seated thus for only a few minutes, when his wife said in a fretful voice:—

'More trouble again.'

'What is the matter now?' asked Mr. Walcott, almost startled.

'John has been sent home from school.'

'What?' Mr. Walcott partly rose from his chair.

'He has been suspended for bad conduct.'

'O dear!' groaned Mr. Walcott—'where is he?'

'Up in his room; I sent him there as soon as he came home. You'll have to do something with him. He'll be ruined if he goes on in this way. I'm out of all heart with him.'

Mr. Walcott, excited as much by the manner in which his wife conveyed unpleasant information, as by the information itself, started up, under the blind influence of the moment, and going to the room where John had been sent on coming home from school, punished the boy severely, and this without listening to the explanations which the poor child tried to make him hear.

'Father,' said the boy with forced calmness, after the cruel stripes had ceased—'I wasn't to blame, and if you will go with me to the teacher, I can prove myself innocent.'

Mr. Walcott had never known his son tell an untruth, and the words fell with a rebuke upon his heart.

'Very well—we will see about that,' he answered, with forced sternness; and leaving the room he went down stairs, feeling much more uncomfortable than when he went up. Again he seated himself in his large chair, and again leaned back his weary head, and closed his heavy eyelids Sadder was his face than before. As he sat thus, his eldest daughter, in her sixteenth year, came and stood by him. She held a paper in her hand—

'Father,'—he opened his eyes.

'Here's my quarter's bill. Can't I have the money to take to school with me in the morning?'

'I am afraid not,' answered Mr Walcott half in despair.

'Nearly all the girls will bring in their money to-morrow; and it mortifies me to be behind the others.' The daughter spoke fretfully, Mr. Walcott waved her aside with his hand, and she went off muting and pouting.

"It is mortifying," said Mrs. Walcott, a little sharply: 'and I don't wonder that Helen feels annoyed about it. The bill has to be paid, and I don't see why it may not be done as well first as last.'

To this Mr. Walcott made no answer. The words but added another presure to the heavy burden upon which he was already staggering. After a silence of some moments, Mrs Walcott said,

'The coals are all gone.'

'Impossible!' Mr. Walcott raised his head, and looked incredulous. 'I laid in sixteen tons.'

'I can't help it if there were sixty tons instead of sixteen; they are all gone.—The girls had hard work to day, to scrape up enough to keep the fire in.'

'There's been a shameful waste some where,' said Mr. Walcott, with strong emphasis, starting up and moving about the room with a very disturbed manner.

'So you always say, when anything runs out,' answered Mrs. Walcott, rather tartly. 'The barrel of flour is gone also: but I suppose you have done your part, with the rest, in using it up.'

Mr. Walcott returned to his chair, and again seating himself leaned back his head and closed his eyes at first. How sad, and weary, and hopeless he felt!—The burdens of the day had seemed too heavy for him; but he had borne up bravely. To gather strength for a renewed struggle with adverse circumstances, he had come home. Alas! that the process of exhaustion should still go on—that where only strength could be looked for on earth, no strength was given.

When the tea-bell rang, Mr Walcott made no movement to obey the summons.

'Come to supper,' said his wife, coldly. But he did not stir.

'Are you not coming to supper?' she called to him, as she was leaving the room.

'I don't wish for anything this evening. My head aches very much,' he answered.

'In the dumps again!' muttered Mrs Walcott to herself. 'It's as much as one's life is worth to ask for money, or to say anything is wanted.' And she kept on her way to the dining-room. When she returned, her husband was still sitting where she had left him.

'Shall I bring you a cup of tea?' she asked.

'No, I don't wish for anything.'

'What's the matter, Mr Walcott?—What do you look so troubled about, as if you hadn't a friend in the world? What have I done to you?'

There was no answer, for there was not a shade of real sympathy in the voice that made the queries—but rather of querulous dissatisfaction. A few moments Mrs. Walcott stood near her husband; but as he did not seem inclined to answer her questions, she turned away from him, and resumed the employment which had been interrupted by the ringing of the tea-bell.

The whole evening passed without the occurrance of a single incident that gave a healthful pulsation to the sick heart of Mr. Walcott. No thoughtful kindness was manifested by any member of the family; but on the contrary, a narrow regard for self, and a looking to him only that he might supply the means of self gratification.

No wonder, from the pressure which was on him, that Mr. Walcott felt utterly discouraged. He retired early, and sought to find that relief from mental disquietude in sleep, which he had vainely hoped for in the bosom of his family.—But the whole passed in broken slumber and disturbing dreams. From the cheerless morning meal, at which he was reminded of the quarter's bill that must be paid, of the coal and flour that were out, and of the necessity of supplying Mrs. Walcott's empty purse, he went forth to meet the difficulties of another day, faint at heart, and almost hopeless of success. A confident spirit, sustained by home affections, would have carried him through, but unsupported as he was, the burden was too heavy for him, and he sank under it. The day that opened so unpropitiously, closed upon him a ruined man!

Let us look in for a few moments, upon Mr. Freeman, a friend and neighbor of Mr. Walcott, He also, had come home weary, dispirited, and also sick. The trials of the day had been unusually severe; and when he looked anxiously forward to scan the future, not even a gleam of light was seen along the black horizon.

As he stepped across the threshhold of his dwelling, a pang shot through his heart; for the thought came: 'How slight the present hold upon all these comforts!' Not for himself, but for his wife and children was the pain.

'Father's come!' cried a glad voice on the stairs, the moment his footfall sounded in the passage; then quick, pattering feet were heard—and then a tiny form was springing into his arms. Before reaching the sitting-room above, Alice, the eldest daughter, was by his side, her arm drawn fondly within his, and her loving eyes lifted to his face.

'Are you not late, dear?' It was the gentle voice of Mrs Freeman.

Mr. Freeman could not trust himself to answer. He was too deeply troubled in spirit to assume at the moment a cheerful tone, and he had no wish to sadden the hearts that loved him, by letting the depression from which he was suffering, become too clearly apparent. But the eyes of Mrs. Freeman saw quickly below the surface

'Are you not well, Robert?' she inquired, tenderly, as she drew his large arm-chair towards the centre of the room.

'A little headache,' he answered, with a slight evasion.

Scarcely was Mr. Freeman seated, ere a pair of hands were busy with each foot, removing gaiter and shoe, and supplying their place with a soft slipper. There was not one in the household who did not feel happier for his return, nor one who did not seek to render him some kind office.

It was impossible, under such a burst of heart shine, for the spirit of Freeman long to remain shrouded. Almost imperceptibly to himself, gloomy thoughts gave place to more cheerful ones, and by the time tea was ready, he had had half forgotten the fears which had so haunted him through the day.

But they could not be held back altogether, and their existence was marked, during the evening, by an unusual silence and abstraction of mind. This was observed by Mrs. Freeman, who, more than half suspecting the cause, kept back from her husband the knowledge of certain matters about which she had intended to speak to him—for she feared they would add to his mental disquietude. During the evening, she gleaned from something he said, the real cause of his changed aspect. At once her thoughts commenced running in a new channel. By a few leading remarks, she drew her husband into conversation on the subject of home-expenses, and the propriety of restriction in various points. Many things were mutually pronounced superfluous, and easily to be dispensed with; and before sleep fell soothingly on the heavy eyelids of Freeman that night, an entire change in style of living had been determined upon—a change that would reduce their expenses at least one-half.

'I see a light ahead,' were the hopeful words of Mr. Freeman, as he resigned himself to slumber.

With renewed strength of mind and body, and a confident spirit, he went forth the next day—a day that he had looked forward too with fear and trembling.—And it was only through this renewed strength and confident spirit that he was able to overcome the difficulties that loomed up, mountain high, before him. Weak despondency would have ruined all.—Home had proved his tower of strength—his walled city. Strengthened for the conflict, he had gone forth again into the world, and conquered in the struggle.

'I see a light ahead' gave place to 'The morning breaketh!'—Orrange Blossoms.

☞There is a railroad down South, which runs one train a day, drawn by a locomotive of about coffee-pot power.—The conductor is so polite that if a lady shouts out, "Mr Conductor, I should like a drink of water," he immediately jumps off, blocks the train with a stick, and attends to the lady's wants.

☞"Is there a letter for me?" inquired a lady of a notoriously snappish postmaster.

"No!" growled he.

"When will there be one?"

"I don't know anything about it, and I don't care."

"Then I'll take a bar of soap."

☞A divine informed a sailor that the devil was chained up. 'How long is the rope?' 'Oh,' was the dignified reply, 'it extends over the world.' 'Does it?' rejoined Jack; 'if so, the lubber might as well be loose.'

Hon. W. Preston, has accepted the appointment of Minister to Spain.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, ... EDITOR.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1858.

The General Banking Law.

In a few weeks more the people will be called upon by their votes to decide for, or against, the General Banking Law passed at the last regular Session of our Legislature. It will be remembered that by our new constitution, no Bank can be chartered in the State, except under a general banking law, and further that no such general law can become of any force, until after it has been submitted to, and approved of by the electors of the State at a general election.

While hasty and illy advised legislation upon this important subject is thus efficiently guarded against, by these constitutional provisions, its practical effect is likewise to retard all legislation upon the subject, making at least two years necessary to the complete passage and approval of any law that shall become operative.

Such a law is now presented to the people, which may be found published at length as an appendix to the new compiled Laws of Michigan. We do not know that the approval or rejection of this law has in any respect been made, or is considered a party question, but on the contrary, it is we think one in which the interests of all parties, and of the entire people is one and the same.

The first thing to be considered is, whether the people desire any Banks or Banking Law at all. The charters of the few Banks now existing in this State are rapidly expiring, and cannot under the constitution be renewed, so that if we are to have any banks at all, it must be under a general law of some kind. We know that there was at one time, a large and influential portion of this nation a general prejudice against, and war upon all banks. Under the peculiar and extensive monopoly at that time afforded to the banks there was both need and reason for such distrust and prejudice. But that time, as well as the reasons for that popular prejudice has the most part passed away.

The question is now pretty well seen and understood to be, not whether we shall use a paper or specie currency, but whether we shall use a paper currency of our own State, secured under and amenable to our own laws redeemable at home and paying a specific tax into our own treasury, or whether we shall use an irresponsible paper currency of other States, secured we know not how, if at all, redeemable abroad, amenable only to the laws, and paying taxes only to the treasury of another State. And such a question it would seem not difficult to decide.

The use of a paper currency of some kind, it is evident, both from its convenience, and its adaptation to the purposes of commerce, can not be, or at least will not be dispensed with. The next thing then to be attended to, is to see that any circulation of bank paper authorized by our laws is made amply secure,—and the bill holder indemnified against inconvenience or loss. For if this is not to be the case we had rather the people should suffer loss from the inadequately secured issues of another State, rather than our own.

Is then the law now presented to the people worthy of their approval in this respect? This is after all the question which are they called upon to decide. An examination of the provisions of the law will we think satisfy any one upon this point. The only fault which we find seriously urged against the law is that so carefully guarded, and requires so large securities that it will be found to tie up capital to such an extent that capitalists will incline to organize under it.

We do not, for our part apprehend that such would be the result, but even if it should be to a certain extent, we would far rather that it should be so, than that for the sake of an increased facility for issuing under it, the bill holders should be rendered in any respect imperfectly secure. The intention was manifestly to make the bill holders secure in any event, and we believe that at least is effectually done.

We believe it to be the duty and interest of the people to approve of the law. Should it be found so stringent as to be but little used, it can be amended, and it will take no longer to do so, than it will to pass a new law if now rejected. In the mean time the people are safe from an irresponsible currency, at least so far as our own State is concerned.

If rejected, and if afterwards a less stringent law should be passed and adopted, and the people should be found to suffer from it, an uncomfortable load will be found resting upon the shoulders of those who should now take upon themselves the responsibility of rejecting the present one.

Our opinion therefore and advice would be that all should unite in voting for the adoption of the general Banking law now presented to us.

The weather is clear and pleasant to-day.

Extensive Forgery of Turkish Paper Money.

J. Hosford Smith, Turkish consul of this port yesterday made an affidavit to the Mayor, in which he testified that he had received a dispatch from his government, informing him that Mrs. Sevastri, under the assumed name of Madame Baifman, a Moldavian had arrived in Constantinople with six hundred thousand "caimes," or pieces of paper money, of the value of twenty piastres each, and that, upon her examination by the authories, it appered that this counterfeit money had been printed for her in this city, by one Harrison, No. 80 Duane Street. On this affidavit a warrant was issued, and William L. S. Harrison, with eight journeyman printers, and boys was brought to the Mayor's office. Mr. Harrison gave up the dies and caimes in his possession.—They resemble in shape the old continental bills, but are somewhat larger. Mr. Harrison claims to have done the work openly, without any intent to defraud.—A woman speaking broken English called upon him some time since with a genuine caime, as he supposes, and asked him if he could get up such a bill. He thought it was a label, or something of the sort, and in good faith got up a fac simile, and openly printed the bills. When the Woman was about to leave she informed Harrison that her funds were exhausted, and gave him a note of $300 for the balance due him.

Mr. Harrison was held to bail in the sum of $2,000.

The woman who was circulating this money in Turkey was first suspected from the fact that she paid a custom house officer too liberally for overseeing her baggage. When she was searched, the bills were found in trunks with false bottoms, and a mattrass. The counterfeit is pronounced perfect by Turks who have seen it here. It is the only paper currency in Turkey, and being without date or number, would undoubtedly have passed without question. The bill is on imperial green paper, a color held sacred in Turkey which the government alone is permitted to use. On the top and sides of the bill are the following words in Turkish: 'To be paid to the bearer without interest twenty piasters.' At the top of the note is the Sultan's toga, surrounding which is a quotation from the Koran.—Underneath are the words, 'Twenty piasters, paper money, to be used in the place of gold at the Bank of Constantinople.'—At the base is the seal of the mint, and on the back the seal of the Minister of the Treasury. The toga is considered sacred and is guarded by three of the highest officials in the mint, whose sole duty it is to watch it.

Mr. Harrison was examined this forenoon. The Turkish consul and a Turkish gentleman were present. They expressed the opinion that this is the beginning of a movement to flood the country with the false money and would have ruined the currency had it not been detected. The District Attorney and Mayor were of the opinion that Mr. Harrison printed the bills in good faith, without knowing for what they were intended. He was accordingly discharged. Until recently the penalty for uttering base money in Turkey, was death. It is now imprisonment.—N. Y. Post.

☞The Branch County Republican says: A strange mortality appears to exist among the Cattle of Mr. Warren Bennet of Bronson. He informs us that he has lost from his herd eight cows, within eight days. He says that the disease is what is termed the "Mad Itch." The first symtoms are said to be an irritation about the nose, which is immediately followed, by scratching and raving, terminates fatal within twenty-four hours. He says he has tried every remedy which human ingenuity could devise, but without success. He attributes the disease to no other cause than that his cows have been pasturing in a field with hogs, but how this should have so bad an effect we do not understand. It would be well for farmers to pay attention to this subject, and see if they are endangering the lives of their cattle by allowing them to run with hogs. For our part we should prefer that the whole race of hogs should be banished from the earth, rather than that one cow should suffer from their presence.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT.—A Yankee went out walking round the city for a change; and while to himself a talking, felt a feeling very strange, painful and alarming, from his caput to his knees; he suddenly discovered he was covered o'er with bees! They rested on his eyelids and perched upon his nose; they colonized his peaked face and swarmed upon his clothes. They explored his awaking nostrils, dave deep into his ears; they crawled upon his trowsers, and filled his eyes with tears? Did he yell like a hyeana? Did he hollow like a loon? Was he scar't, and did he "cut and run?" or did the critter swoon? Ne'er a one. He wasn't scar't; he never swore a mite; he never swoons or hollers; but heaved em in a nail keg tight and sold them for two dollars!

The deaths in New Orleans yesterday by Yellow Fever were 52.

Capturing a Detective.

An amusing incident occurred at Toronto recently, which certainly deserves a place in the record of "clever captures," recently made by the Police of that city. It appears that while Sergeant Hastings was attending to some duty at the Union Depot, about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, his attention was directed to the movements of a shabby looking personage on the platform. The sergeant eyed the man for a short time, and not liking his appearance, he took up a position in front of him, for the purpose of getting a good look at the stranger. The man was dressed in a rough sailor's jacket, a good deal the worse for wear, with red shirt and blue drugget overalls above his trowsers, which were rolled up in true "rowdy" fashion. Having carefully noted the wearing apparel, the Sergeant turned his attention to the man's face. On doing so, he was surprised to observe that the mustaches which decorated the upper lip of the stranger were begining to peel off and hung a little awry. This discovery caused Mr. Hastings to approach closer to the man, when he observed that the large black busby whiskers and beard of the stranger had to a certain extent parted company with his face, and those which nature had provided him, being of a light sandy color, were discernable underneath. This was a settler, and the Sergeant immediately made up to the mysterious individual, and without any ceremony placed his hand on his shoulder and solicited his company into one of the waiting rooms. The stranger followed but informed Mr Hastings that "it was all right," as he was a detective officer from New York State on important police business! This his captor rather doubted, being of opinion that the Empire State would in all likelihood have sent a more respectable representative. He accordingly took no notice of the remark, but proceeded to search his prisoner, and the first articles he brought to light were two highly finished revolvers. The stranger was then quietly informed that he might accompany the Sergeant to the Police Office, and he was marched along Front Street. While passing along, the American reiterated his former statement, but the Sergeant only kept a closer eye on him in case he might attempt to make his escape. On reaching the office the Chief was sent for and interrogated the prisoner, who produced documents to prove that he was Mr Suydam, a Deputy Sheriff from New York State, and that he was pursuit of a person who was supposed to have fled to Canada, after committing murder in States about six weeks ago. Mr Suydam was immediately released, amid a good deal of merriment in which he joined. Before leaving, however, Sergeant Hastings gave him a hint that his "make up was a leetle" too extensive, and might lead him into future trouble, and like his whiskers be easily seen through. The Deputy Sheriff left for St. Mary's by the afternoon train, no doubt fully impressed with the activity and acuteness of our Police force.—Toronto Globe.

Sights in the Sky which We are Missing.

Our people hardly know what magnificent astronomical sights these clouds of the past evenings or two have been shutting from our view.

The comet was nearest the earth on Saturday night, its distance being forty-five millions of miles—so near as to be within nine lengths of its tail to this city, a pretty considerable distance terrestrially considered, but only a moderately wide berth for that celestial navigator.

It was then at its greatest brilliancy, its nucleus rivaling in size the stars of the first magnitude and its tail flaunting to the zenith. The magnificence of the spectacle in the Southwest heavens was doubtless much enhanced by the presence of the silver cresent of the new moon, and the flaming light of Venus, now at her greatest spendor.

Astronomers say the path of the comet pierces the plane of the orbit of Venus, at a point near the orbit itself, and Venus and the comet are both approaching this point. Venus is about passing it now, and the comet is only one week after her; but this interval will give ample scope to the latter to pass without collision, its tail included, for at the rate at which these travelers on the celestial highways proceed, the first twenty-four and the second thirty-six miles per second, when nearest on the 18th, they will yet be eight or ten millions of miles asunder. If however, further observation shows that the comet's motion is more rapid than supposed above, or the attraction of the planet accelerates its mode of travel, the proximity may be greater. It will be worth while, if the sky is clear, watching the comet at this time, to observe whether it undergoes any marked phsical changes.—Missouri Democrat.

☞A little French woman was arraigned before the Police Court of Buffalo, the other day, on complaint made by a large man that she had kicked him. She plead guilty and was fined three dollars. Wonder if he didn't feel cheap?

General News.

St. Louis, Oct. 16.

The Central Committee of Kansas have called a Free State Delegate Convention to be held at Leavenworth, Nov. 10, for the purpose of discussing various questions connected with the present political organizations of the Territory, determining the true policy of the party, and considering the speedy admission of Kansas into the Union as a Free State.

New York, Oct. 16.

The British frigate Valerous leaves on Wednesday or Thursday next for Nicaragua with Sir Gore Ousely and suite. The steamship Arago sailed to day for Southampton and Havre with 175 passengers and $436,819 in specie.

New Orleans, Oct. 16.

The Howard Association announces that for the past week the epidemic shows no abatement, being fed by daily arrivals of strangers and unacolimated persons.—Deaths by Fever yesterday 48.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 16.

John D. Ashmore has been elected to Congress in Colonel Orr's District, the latter gentleman declined re nomination. The rest of the delegation is unchanged.

The Banks of Augusta will on and after Monday next sell New York sight exchange at par.

Cincinnati, Oct 16.

Last night a fire broke out in the building occupied by Poage and Prague, Commission Merchants; James Wilson, Storage House; W. W. Morgan, Pattern Shop, Columbia street. Messrs. Poage and Prague's loss is $1,600, fully insured. Morgan's loss is $500. Wilson's $1,000. Neither insured.

Oswego, Oct. 18.

The tug boat, J. H. Bloore exploded her boiler early this morning outside the harbor, scalding the cook, so that he will not probably recover and badly burting the captain and one or two of the deck hands. The engineer is missing. The wreck has been towed into port.

The schooner Albion, bound for this port and owned by Doolittle, Irvin and Wright of this city is supposed to have been lost with all on board, in the great gale of the 7th. She left Cleveland for Welland canal on that day, and is said to have gone down off Erie. The vessel was insured in the North Western Co., of Oswego.

Savanah, Oct. 17.

There were no deaths from yellow fever yesterday.

Charleston, Oct 17.

There were 40 deaths from yellow fever in this city for the week including yesterday.

New Orleans, Oct. 16.

Emigrants by hundreds continue to arrive here, notwithstanding the yellow fever. The number of deaths yesterday were 48.

New York, Oct. 18.

The Times Washington correspondent says: The State Department have received no communication from the Society Islands on the subject of annexation. The paper presented by Count Sartiges asked the withdrawal from these Islands of two Americans who were intermeddling with their political affairs. The American Consul refused to forward this paper and hence it was sent through the French officials.

River-Du-Loupe, Oct. 18

There are as yet no signs of the steamer Anglo-Saxon now fully due, with four days later news from Europe.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 18.

The Vanderbilt steamer Ariel, Capt Ludlow, from Bremen and Havre via Southampton, Oct. 6th, passed Cape Race, on Sunday, the 17th inst at 5 P. M. The Ariel has 250 passengers for N. Y.

There is no improvement in the working of the Atlantic Cable at Valentia.

The Submarine Telegraph Co., have issued proposals from Hull, Elba, in Hanover and Trowning, Denmark.

A meeting is to be held at Paris, in Nov., to make arrangements for the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Suez. The specie in the Bank of Austria, amounts to $11,000,000, and the aggregate amounts held in the Banks of England, France and Austria, is £5,005,000. A part of this amount is omitted.

There were large quantities of tea at Canton, awaiting the re-opening of trade for exportation. Trade has been rasumed at Shanghai.

Rumors were afloat. that there were two French ships of war at Lisbon, demanding the restitution of Charles George.

The King of Denmark was quite ill.—Lord Elgin was at Japan and U. S. Commissioner Reed at Shanghai. Affairs at Canton were in a most unsatisfactory state. Cholera had appeared among the Chinese army.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.

The Reading (Pa.) Gazette anounces the appointment of J. Glancey Jones as Minister to Austria. Judge Porter has resigned his commission of Supreme Judge held by the appointment of Governor Packer.

New York, Oct. 18.

The Piccolomini excitement reached fever heat this morning. All the tickets offices were besieged at an early hour by an eager crowd and every seat in the house was sold at an early hour.

St. Louis, Oct. 19.

The third Overland California mail arrived last night, bringing letters to the 24th, but no papers. Five passengers came through. The first and second mails from St Louis were met, and were progressing finely. No Indian interference as yet has been met with.

The Steamer flying cloud sunk at Devils Island on the 17th. She cost $55,000. The condition of her cargo, which was large and valuable, is not ascertained.

On the same day the steamer Rodolph sunk at Goose Island. She was valued at $20,000, and insured for $15,000. Both boats will probably be raised.

Quebec, Oct. 19.

The S S Anglo Saxon from Liverpool, with dates to the 6th inst., arrived at this port at an early hour this morning. News anticipated.

Sandusky, Oct. 19.

Godard the Balloonist, came down last night at 10¼ P. M., 15 miles from here. Steiner came down at 11 P. M., one mile from here.

St. Johns, Oct. 19.

The S. S. Pacific from Galway, on the 12th inst., is now due, and is fully expected between now and to-morrow morning. Her advices will be three days later than those by the Europa, now due at Halifax.

Boston, Oct. 19.

Ten lives were lost, consisting of all on board, by the wrecking of the fishing schooner Eastwood, on the 2nd inst., on the North Cape of Prince Edward's Island. She belonged to West-Port. Me.

Trinity Bay, Oct. 18.

To Peter Cooper, Esq., for the Directors at New York. I regret to say that the preconcerted signals arranged by Thompson have failed to elicit any improvement in the reception of signals here. I do not know if any improvement has taken place at Valentia. I commence repeating the same system on Monday next. [Signed,] C. V. DeSaunty.

New York, Oct. 15.

The steamer Star of the West arrived at an early hour this morning, bringing upwards of $140,000 treasure, including $325,000 for Wells Fargo & Co., and 64,000 for Freeman & Co. She brings California dates of the 21st Sept. She left at Aspinwall the sloop of war Saratoga all well. The steamer Golden Gate from Panama with the Atlantic mails of Sept. 5th was passed on the eve of the 25th, four days sail from San Francisco. At Acapulco was the sloop of war St. Marys bound to Panama also, the ship's Star of Hope and Neptune's Favorite.—California news uninteresting. Advices of the success of the Atlantic cable had occasioned great rejoicing, and Monday the 27th had been selected for a grand celebration of the event.

Government stables at Benicia Barracks were burnt on the 13th of Sept. together with horses, mules, carriags, provender &c. The lump of gold recently found in Columbia by Strain had been melted and run into a bar weighing upwards of 400 ounces, and sold for nearly $7,500 James Hennisy, one of the Vigilant Committee exiles, recently brought a suit at Downieville, against the Committee for damages, but it being found impossible to empannel a jury who were not prejudicial in favor of the committee, the suit was abandoned.

The 8th anniversary of the admission of California into the Union was celebrated at San Francisco on the 7th ult, Geo. F. Wardwell, clerk for A. D. McCreary & Co., San Francisco, had been detected in a series of forgeries upon his employers. A smart shock of an earthquake was felt at San Francisco on the evening of the 12th. Advices from Frazer river to Sept. 6th, mining news cheering. River falling rapidly. Miners were realizing as high as $80 a day. Dry diggings had been found near Fort Yale. No new Indian difficulties.

The steamer Sea Bird, belonging to San Francisco was burnt on the passage from Victoria to Fort Langley. No lives lost. Boat and cargo valued at $50,000.

Valparaiso dates to Aug. 31st is received. It was reported at Valparaiso that Gen. Echenque had started on another Revolutionary expedition to Peru.

Callao dates are to the 13th of Sept.

The frigate Merrimac had gone to Valparaiso. The Decatur was at Callao.

The frigate Roanoke touched at Aspinwall on the 20th of Sept.

It was reported that General Lamar demanded two million dollars from Costa Rica as recompense for the shooting of some Americans at Virgin Bay and the taking of the place is somewhat doubtful.

Montreal, Oct. 16.

Jackson, known as the American deer finished last night the feat of walking 115 hours continuously, and at the conclusion offered to walk half an hour longer. A large crowd was present to witness the conclusion of the task.

Special Notices.

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm. A small one preferred. Enquire of JACOB TOTTEN. Tecumseh, October 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Curtis & Stilson is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The accounts and notes of said firm are left in the hands of George Curtis, who alone has authority to settle the same, at the old stand of said firm.

GEORGE CURTIS.
JOSEPH P. STILSON.

Tecumseh, Oct., 4th, 1858.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
22 CLIFF STREET, NEW YORK.
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, Etc.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package. A liberal discount made to the trade. Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&eod08m3

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name. Address, O. P. Brown, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [411m3

☞5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies. Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN, 411m3 Lowell, Mass.

☞$32,00 in on day—$52.50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book. 411m3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-suffers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON,
411m3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Schrafula, Erysipelas, Piles and Rhematism, Chronic or Inflamitary.

Price invariable $1 00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-4w

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhilation—has enabled me to arrive at a decided, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhilation the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhilation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjunct in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are to well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who enter the Infirmary, or such were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted promptly or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case; Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers &c., &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. Terms—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows viz: $12 per month for each patient which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also Inhaling Vapor and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6. to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No 820 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St. N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected. 11

c&eod08m6

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description, Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No. 14, I. O. of O. F.
Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.
Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E. TINDALL.

To-Days Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Sarah Niblack and Sylvenus H. Niblack made their Mortgage to William B. Whitnah bearing date August 27th, 1856, to secure the payment of One Hundred and Eighty Dollars and interest at ten per cent, one year from the date thereof, and have made default in the payment of the same. Said mortgage was recorded September 8th, 1856, at 8 o'clock A. M. in the Lenawee County Registers office, in Book F of mortgages, on pages 98 and 99. There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, One hundred and ninety two dollars and fifty eight cents, and no proceedings at law have been instituted to collect the same. Notice is therefore hereby given, that the land in said mortgage mentioned, to wit. That certain piece or parcel of land situate upon Block 11, of Henry Hewitt's plat or addition to the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, bounded as follows: Commencing at the south east corner of lands here[illegible] Stacy to William McCombs, [illegible] west on the north line of said McCombs twelve rods, thence north parallel with Pearl street four rods, thence east parallel with the first line twelve rods, to the west line of Pearl street, thence south on said west line of Pearl street six rods, to the place of beginning, will be sold at public auction on the 21st, day of January next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, in the city of Adrian.

WILLIAM B. WHITNAH, Mortgagee.
BILLS & BAXTER, Attys.
Tecumseh, October 20th, 1858. [411m3

TECUMSEH EXCHANGE,
BY W. P. SMALLAGE,
(Near Rail Road Depot)
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

Scientific Lectures.

Prof. EDGERTON of Palmyra, Wayne Co., takes pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Tecumseh, that he will commence a course of Scientific lectures upon the Rise, Philosophy and Progress of Creation, Astronomically and Geologically illustrated, at Union Hall, on Monday Eve. Oct. 25th, at 7 o'clock. The first lecture free. All are cordially invited.

"The Tailor Shop."

The subscribers continue in the Tailoring Business, at their old stand, Bidwells Block, up stairs. They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.

Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.

All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Satisfaction warranted.

☞Cutting done to order.

JONES & SCHEIER.

THE
"Broadway Omnibus."
The Greatest Paper of the Age.
A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly Magazine and a Paper that is a Paper.

A budget of Wit, Humor, Facts and Sense drawn from life—"Here you are, right across right away, Broadway, broadway, right up." Only Fifty Cents—jump in and take a ride. Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at less fifty cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up Broadway, down the old Bowery, through Chatham and the other principal streets, giving you ample time to see the Elephant and get a good look at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c. We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by comic light, by star light, and will drive the "Omnibus" right! We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the Eastern sharpers, and also amuse many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Brew Physic to a dog." If you have the Blews, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunately troubled with a scolding wife, we will endeavor to make you forget your troubles, in spite almost against your will, and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "Omnibus" at once. The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction. Price, Fifty Cents a year in advance. Specimen copies to one address, One Dollar; the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get up subscribers and receive one copy free? All communications should be addressed to

CHAS. P. BURTON,
Editor, "Broadway Omnibus,"
411w6c 297 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE
1858
STOVES, STOVES

The Subscribers having just returned from New York, are now prepared to supply the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity with the best and most approved patterns of

Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room

STOVES,

They are constantly receiving all kinds of Mechanic's and Farmer's Tools.

IRON, STEEL, NAILS,

And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State.

DEWEY & CURTIS.

Tecumseh, Oct., 7th.

LATEST NEWS
FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use.

Wire down and no further communication at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire to have a chance at my late arrival of New Goods, please call and purchase before Victoria comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 10th.

A. B. WARD.

Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD,
OFFICE IN MAIN BASE ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance, sending advertisements to this Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North Eastern and Southern.	4 00	P. M.
	2 00	P. M.
Jonesville, via. Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday	7	"
Mason—Friday	10	"
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday	8	"

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 29	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South	8 30	"	2 40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

WANTED.—Corn and Potatoes at this office.

☞ Prof. Edgerton will lecture at Bidwells Hall next week. See special notices.

☞ We understand Mr. Beaman and Mr Beecher will address our citizens on Wednesday evening next.

☞ William Cheever, of this place, has a good span of farm horses for sale.

MEAN.—By refering to proceedings of the Supervisors, in to-days paper, you will observe that the "Hudson Gazette," "Morenci Journal," and "Tecumseh Herald" are obliged to publish their doings the next year cheap as dirt. The Tower has 60, the Expositor 15, and the Herald 411 subscribers in this village The con-equence is, if we don't publish their proceedings, about 460 voters in this section will forget their is a Supervisor in the county. Subscribers we will do it at Mr. Hough's price—nothing

☞ A Grand Sale of Native and Blooded Cattle, will take place at the residence of John Davenport, in Franklin, Wednesday, Oct 27th.

☞ What a first rate chance Moses had for laying a telegraph through the Red Sea!

The School Inspectors

For the Townships of Tecumseh, Franklin, Raisin and Adrian will meet on Saturday October 30th, 1858, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the School House in fractional school district, composed of part of each of the above named townships, to take into consideration a petition to make the following additions to said school district, viz: The n w quarter of s w quarter of section 31 in township of Tecumseh and the n quarter of section 36 in township of Franklin; also some other small additions.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

CARD.

Having accepted the nomination for Representative in Lenawee County Representative District No 2, I have resigned the office of Post Master at Ridgeway, Mich

PETER SHARP.

Oct. 16th, 1858.

Election Notice.

The voters of the Township of Tecumseh will take notice that a General Election, for said Township, will be held at Union Hall, in the Village of Tecumseh, on Tuesday, November 2d, 1858, commencing at 9 o'clock, A. M., at which election are to be chosen the following State Officers, viz:

A Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, a Member of the State Board of Education (in place of Witter J. Baxter, whose term of office will expire January 1st, 1859,) a Representative in Congress for the 2d congressional district of the State of Michigan, a Senator for the 11th, Senatorial District and a Representative for the 1st, Representative District in the County of Lenawee

Also, the following County Officers for the County of Lenawee are to be chosen at said Election, viz: One Sheriff, one Register of Deeds, one County Treasurer, one County Clerk, one Prosecuting Attorney, one Circuit Court Commissioner, two Coroners and one County Surveyor.

The following Act will also be submitted to the people for their approval or dis-approval in pursuance of Sections 60 and 61 of said act. An act of the Legislature of the State of Michigan, entitled, an act to authorize the Business of Banking, approved Feby. 16th, 1858.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

Republican Nominations.

Moses Wisner, for Governor
Edmund B. Fairfield, Lieutenant Governor
Nelson G. Isbell, Secretary of State.
John McKinney, Treasurer.
Daniel L. Case, Auditor General.
James W. Sanborn, Com. of state land office
Jacob M. Howard, Attorney General.
John, M. Gregory, Sup. of Public Instruction
Witter J. Baxter, Mem. of the Board of Ed.
Henry Waldron, Rep. to Congress-2d Dist.

County Ticket.

Joseph R. Bennet, Sheriff.
Benjamin Turner, Register of Deeds.
Almond L. Bliss, County Clerk.
Rodney R. Beecher, Prosecuting Attorney.
James Geddes, County Treasurer
Andrew Howell, Circuit Court Com.
Alonzo Colgrove, John Stretch, Coroners.
Burton Kent, County Surveyor,

Senatorial Nominations

Joel Carpenter, Senator 10th District.
Gideon D. Perry, 9th District
Jabez Perkins, Rep. 1st District.
Peter Sharp, 2d District.
Orson Green, 4th District.

Democratic Nominations.

Charles E. Stuart, Governor.
George C. Munro, Lieutenant Governor.
Jonathan P. King, Secretary of State.
David G. Jacokes, Sup. of Public Instruction.
Edward Kanter, Treasurer
John Ball, Com. of Land Office.
John J. Adam, Auditor General.
James O. Sut[illegible]—d, Attorney General.
Andrew [illegible]aura Board of Education.
Member A. S[illegible]eep. in congress 2d Dist.

Democratic County Nominations.

Joseph H. Cleveland, Sheriff.
Orange Lamb, County Clerk.
Fredrick Heart, Register of Deeds.
Thomas M. Mosher, County Treasurer.
Orange L. Rood, County Surveyor.
Alanson J. Bixby, Circuit Court Com.
John Cavender, J. A. Higgens, Coroners.

Senatorial Nominations.

Charles H. Dewey, 10th district.
Michael A. Patterson, 11th do
Stephen V. Miller, Representative 1st dist.

Board of Supervisors.

On the 13th, petitions were presented by Messrs. McAllister, Baker and Lowe, from Citizens of their several townships, praying that Commissioners be appointed under an act entitled An Act to Provide for the Draining of Swamps &c.

On motion of Mr. Lamb, the petitions were referred to a committee appoited by the chair consisting of McAllister, Hodges and Lowe.

The committee on County buildings made a report this morning. In relation to the Poor House they recommend no appropriations further than to construct a drain to carry off waste water from the back door, and repairing the dreans under the floors of the cells. In relation to the jail, an appropriation was recommended for the construction of a water-closet vault, inside of the jail for the accomodation of the prisoners. They also recommended painting the fence, around the County offices. In relation to a Court room, the Commissioners presented to the Board the condition of the accomodation's in each of the two Halls, —Odd Fellows and City; and the matter was referred to the committee of the whole, whereupon a special committee, to inqure in relation to each of the Halls and the amount of rent required to secure them, was appointed as follows: Larzelere, Swords Hampton, Dewey and Mickley.

Thursday, 14th.—The Committee on claims reported in favor of the allowance, of a long list of accounts amounting in the aggregate to $876,93 Accounts amounting to $46,99 were previously reported.

The committee to settle with the Sheriff, reported verbally, and presented the Sheriff's account recommending its allowance. The report was accepted and adopted. The Sheriff's bill amounts to $1887,31.

The committee appointed for the purpose recommended the appointment of commissioners, petitioned for by Mr McAllister and others.

Mr. Brown moved that a certain state road in the township of Hudson, be vacated. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Brown, Gillett and Mickley.

On motion of Mr. Hough, the sum of one-fortieth of mill on the dollar, was ordered to be assessed on the taxable property of the county for the encouragement of Agriculture, Horticultur and the Mechanic Arts.

Friday 15th.—The committee on Claims made a fourth report. The amount allowed at this session is $2739,46.

The petition of Z. Baggerly to be refunded taxes illegally assessed, was laid on the table.

The Treasure presented a schedule of taxes charged back by the Auditor General and ordered to be re-assessed amounting to $570,70.

The committee on the State road in Hudson reported in favor of vacating a part described.

A resolution offered by Mr. Dewey, requesting Justices to inqure in relation to criminality of persons accused, before issuing process to avoid malicious prosecutions and unnecessary county expense, was adopted.

A resolution offered by Mr. Crane was adopted, requesting the Executive Committee of the Co. Ag. Soc. to offer a premium of $20 for the best 100 pounds of sugar and a like premium for the best barrel of syrup from the sorghum.

Further action on the petition in relation to draining swamps was postponed to next session.

Stephen Allen, Jervis Cheney and B. J. Narvey, were elected Superintendents of the Poor.

Mr. Hunt, from the committe on Equalization, made a report which was laid on the table.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Lamb proposing to give $15 to each newspaper in the county, thet published the proceddings of the Board.

Mr. Hough offered as amendment, proposing to give $30 to the two Adrian city papers for publishing proceedings. If they decline, then the Clerk is authorized to procure the publicatio in some one paper, at an expense not to exceed $30.

Mr. Hough's amendment was adopted.

Saturday 16th.—The report of the Com. on Equalization was taken up. It was amended on motion of Hough, by taking 2½ per cent from Franklin and adding the same to Medina.

The report was then adopted.

The committee to settle with the Supts. of the Poor made a report.—The consideration of the report was postponed to next session.

On motion of Mr. Harvey it was ordered that $24,000 be levied on the property of the county for 1858.

A resolution offererd by Mr. Hough was adopted, instructing each Supervisor to examine the dockets of Justices and ascertain what fines have been imposed and paid within the last six years.

At noon the Board adjourned to December 27th at one o'clock.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH, October 21 1858.

Wheat	85@90
Flour	5 50@6 00
Buckwheat	25
" flour	1 50
Barley	50@55
Corn	55
Oats	30@35
Clover seed
Beans	50@60
Potatoes new	35@40
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	13
Tallow	8 10
Lard	10
Eggs	8
Cheese	7
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	3 50@4 25
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calfskins	8@10
Sheep pelts	50@50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 00
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 @ 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3@4 50
do black ash	1 00 @ 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

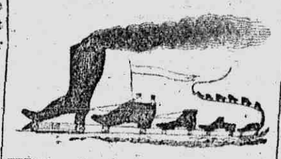
1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

Leave Adrian for Toledo	7 38 A M	3 30 P M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00 "	4 40 "
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00 "	00 0 "
Arrive at		12 35 6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 "	3 45 "
Arrive at	9 55 "	6 45 "
Leave Adrian for Chicago		12 50 10 04
Arrive at	7 20 "	10 00 "
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 "	1 30 "
Arrive at	7 20 "	3 26 "
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25 "	1 50 "
Arrive at		12 10 7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25 "	8 40 "
Arrive at		12 46 10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 "	9 20 "
Arrive at	7 35 "	3 28 "
Leave Toledo for Elkhart		10 35 "

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, All bany and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Mich City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

June 10, 1858. J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice CASH paid for Hides.

Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh,

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857] 344

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE

Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON,	D. D. MARSHALL,
DELOS LEBARON,	WALLAS GRAY,
P. L. SHULES,	JEROME ALLEN,
A. BELBE,	ALFRED JAMES,
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

1858

THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.

Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy or cellar clear weather.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m6

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Halls' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited

Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 280m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.

Tecumseh Sept., 1st. 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,

—BY—

STANTON & TIFFANY,

(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)

JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.

R P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR

TOLEDO, OHIO.

SHAVING SALOON.

FRANK JONES.

Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.

TIM BROWN.

Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 363y

APPOTHECARIES HALL

CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

Brandreth's Pills.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery.

Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders, for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

60,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, April 9th.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH. - - - MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital $1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " " $300,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y $150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn. $150,000.
CHARTER OAK " $200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.

May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County

This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS, TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE, AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."

JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, & the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

January 9th Union Hall.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS,

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 15 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wool.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

OYSTERS

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT.

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

TECUMSEH

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

—BY—

Burlingame & Yawger.

—WE—

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium

THRESHER and SEPERATOR,

we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1858i 411

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!

NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store, Just opposite Ward & Moore, There's Hardware, cheap, good and new For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton.
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $3 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come age, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes!

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER. SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 30, 1857. 355tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
165 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
100 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
3 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodward Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th. 402y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGRICULTURAL.

Flea for Moles.

Hogg, the Ettrick shepherd, observed that on lands tended by the mole, the foot-rot in sheep was much less prevalent than where they had been extirpated. An intelligent farmer in the south of England writes:

"From long and attentive observation, I feel satisfied that no animal is more beneficial in its calling than the mole.—The farmer, I think, ignorantly and wantonly destroys them. Were he to reflect a little, and make a few observations he would, in most cases, protect and not destroy them, as they are very interesting assistants to his labors. They destroy the wire-worm and all kinds of grubs, and so beneficial is this, that I have seen many fields of corn greately injured, if not destroyed, by the moles not being permitted to work in them. I never allow them to be trapped. Year before last I had a field of wheat in which the moles were busily at work. I was anxious to preserve them; but, in my absence, a neighboring mole-catcher entrapped them.—Exactly at the place from which they were removed, and for an acre further into the field, the wire-worm entirely destroyed my wheat. I made it my business to examine many places in the neighborhood where traps were set. In one field I saw eight traps in an area of an acre of wheat. I examined the place and found the worm at the foot of almost every plant. Several other fields were examined where traps were set, and with the same results."

Some time ago I was passing with a friend over a field, and he observed that it would grow nothing on account of the wire-worm. I told him to get moles—"Why," said he, "we can't keep them out of it; we destroy quantities of them every year!" I said, "Don't destroy them." He took my advice, let the moles mind their own business, and since that time the field has borne excellent crops. This may be new to some of your readers.—Ann. Agricul.

To Make Hard Candels of soft Tallow.

I noticed a request, a short time since, in the Country Gentleman, for a recipe to make soft tallow hard. I send you one I know by experience to be good. To twelve pounds of tallow take half a gallon of water, to which add three table-spoons of pulverized alum, and two do, saltpeter, which heat and dissolve; then add your tallow and one pound of beaswax, boil hard all together, until the water evaporates, and skim well while boiling. It should not be put in the mold hotter than you can bear your hand in. The candles look much nicer when the wicks are not tied at the bottom. It is not only a disagreeable task to cut the wick off, but it injures the molds. Never heat your molds to draw your candles in cold weather.

Perhaps it is not generally known that tallow from beeves fed on corn or grain is much softer than when fed on grass or clover. Therefore the tallow from grass fed cattle should always be hard with the addition of very little alum and beeswax. In very cold weather much less alum must be used, or they will crack so as to fall to pieces sometimes; and a third more of each should be used in very warm weather if the tallow is very soft. With a little management you can always have hard tallow for summer use where you make all your own candles.—Country Gentleman.

The Foot of a Horse.

It is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity which no mere human inventive faculty ever could have devised. Often has the human hand been taken to illustrate divine wisdom; but whoever may examine the horse's foot will find it scarcely less curious. Thought all its parts are somewhat complicated, yet their design is simple and obvious. The hoof is not as it appears to the careless eye, a mere solid lump of insensible bone, fastened to the leg by a joint. It is made of a series of thin layers, or leaves of horn, about five hundred in number, nicely fitted to each other, and forming a lining to the foot itself. Then there are as many more layers belonging to what is called the coffin bone, and fitted into this. These are all elastic. Take a quire of paper and insert the leaves, one by one, into those of another quire, and you will get some idea of the arrangement of these several layers. Now, the weight of the horse rests on as many elastic springs as there are layes in his four feet—about four thousand; and all this is contrived, not only for the easy conveyance of the horse's own body, but of human bodies, and whatever burden may be laid upon him.

☞ In a village school, recently, when the scholars were parsing, the word waif occurred in the sentence in consideration. The youngster who was up—a bright-eyed little fellow—puzzled over the word for a few moments, and then, as a bright idea struck him, he burst out with—

"I can conjugate it—positive waif, comparative wafer, superlative sealing wax."

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James F. Merritt to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 19th day of May A. D. 1856, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42. And on which there is claimed to be due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh, July 19th, 1858. 398w13

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d, 1856, in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith May 26th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less will be sold at public auction, on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon, at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.
Dated July 23d, 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight. Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Amenza Van Valkenburgh, Randall T. Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valkenburgh, minors.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Hadley B. Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the next-of-kin of said minors, and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN,
(A true copy) 40963 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Ellis bearing date the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Register's office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less, will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room in Odd Fellows Hall in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee
Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394t13

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock P. M. on Saturday the 25th Instant. PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.
Tecumseh September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock, P. M. on Monday, October 4th 1858. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee
Tecumseh, September 20th, 1858

Guardian Sale

By virtue of a licence to me granted by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County and State of Michigan, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, at the dwelling house of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh, in the Township of Franklin, on the Seventh day of December next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the undivided twenty four, forty-ninth parts of all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin, in said County, and described as follows, to wit: The East half of the South East quarter of section Sixteen in Township five South of range three (3) East, (subject to the right of dower of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh therein,) being all the interest of Amenzo VanValkenburgh, Randall T. VanValkenburgh, and Elizabeth A. VanValkenburgh minors therein.

Terms of sale made known on day of sale.

HARLOW B. CHURCH,
Guardian of said Minors.
Dated October 18th, 1858. 414w6

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust all demands against the estate of Abram Hair, late of Tecumseh, in said county, deceased, will meet at the late residence of said deceased in said township on Saturday the Thirteenth day of November and Saturday the Third day of April next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days for the purpose of receiveing and passing upon such claims.

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the 9th inst., hath been allowed by said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance.

G. D. PERRY,
A. J. HUNTER, } Commissioners.
Tecumseh, Oct., 14th, 1858 [415w4

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

Live and Let Live.

NEW MAET MARKET.

R. R. FULLER,

Has opened the Store, formerly occupied by H. Taylor, where he intends to keep a supply of Meat and Provisions.

WANTED,

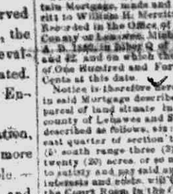
Butter, Eggs, Lard, Cheese, Chickens, Hams, Oats, Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Fruit, etc.

For which the highest market Price will be paid in cash.

Tecumseh, Sept. 16. 409

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

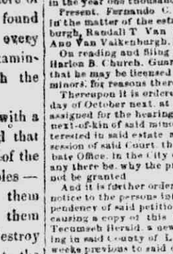
Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf



PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, Sole Proprietor, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

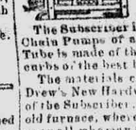
For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent exterminaton of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN



PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James

AMOS VAN ORMER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 356tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, March 16th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr. J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodward Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 399y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
500 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
150 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, hunting cases	15 00
900 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	10 00
500 Parlor Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Setts, Ear Drops and Pins,	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 10 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
900 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	3 00
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 50
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6000 Gold Rings, (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents Gold Rings,	2 50
2000 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
2500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleave Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
5000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo Jet or Mosaic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books, &c. &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $20.

Evan's new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores.

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above.

N. B.—Being largely intersted in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in this country.

Any book published in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included, An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher.
407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the United States Journal, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Our's is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00	Post 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined.	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00	9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00	9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3 00	3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	3c

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide 1 00 12

The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24 1 00 12

The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer 50 9c

Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards 50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 406 Broadway, New York.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Chean for Cash by E. TINDALL,
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED

IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
374m3ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
Colonel G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D,
HENRY CLAPP, Jun.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Miss ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Mrs DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE

GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckat & Co.

The New York Weekly Golden Prize is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

Elegantly Illustrated Every Week

A PRIZE WITH

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
20 do do do	50 00 do
50 do do do	20 00 do
100 do do do	10 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	25 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00 do
300 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
Heavy Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30.00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Gent and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Key, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40, to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS.
355 Broadway, New York.
395]

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY

TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents, and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter, is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &c.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention. Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum,
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O. 12.50 per annum.
15 " " " 15.00 " "
20 " " " 20.00 " " and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER

WANT ANY THING

FROM NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established a house to supply it. We have executed thousands of orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable. Being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can save terms than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything to the best and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends, wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent. although in special cases of very large or very small transactions, equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the reples.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Estey Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Westworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or self abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their efforts in this noble, benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
EZRA D. FAREWELL, President.

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE BEST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

DR. ROBACK'S

SCANDINAVIAN

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them, HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, April 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.
Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

WILLIAMSON'S

PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on

GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times,"

Satisfaction Warranted.
Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 406

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S

Blood Purifier and Blood Pills

THE GREAT

SCANDINAVIAN

VEGETABLE REMEDIES

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Scrofula, Weakness, Scrofula, Premiture Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actual effects were compared by sagacious men, with distinguished Physician's statements, and was found that every stage of the disease cure, was precisely as he had described. The result was that the mind of the country became interested, and that person of the highest standing in every city of note in the Union, patronized the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious discoverer to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age.

The Blood Purifier and Pills

are now universally recommended by all informed and candid persons, as an immediate cure for

Indigestion,

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Groin in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of appetite, Sleeplessness, Nightmare,

General Debility,

Nervous Tremors, Fainting Fits, Epileptic Fits, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Wasting of the Flesh,

Scrofula,

Sore Leg, Ulcers on the Body, Pimples in the Face, General Eruptions, Boils, Recent Sores, Glandular Swellings, Secondary Symptoms,

Neuralgia,

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Stiff Joints, Paralysis, St. Virtus' Dance, Nervous Twitchings,

Female Complaints,

Sexual Weakness, Barrenness, Diseases of the Womb, Weakness of the Back, Loins, Limbs,

AUTOGRAPH LET

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 50. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 28, 1858. WHOLE NO. 415

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKEY,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

FANCY GOODS.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

Union Block, Chicago Street,

340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.

BOOKS & STATIONARY.

Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.

340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER

Post Office Building, Chicago Street.

341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

L. B. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATIONARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.

New Brick Store, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY

Richard's Block, Chicago Street

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAN CUMMINGS.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS

OF EVERY DISCRIPTION.

Corner, Rail Road and Kilbuck Streets

340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE. J. COMPORT.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

Warehouse, Rail Road Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHEUS STERNS.

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER

Shop, Chicago Street, near Foundry.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. P. HALE. E. L. BAXTER.

HALE & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

E. S. STACY. S. D. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.

340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.

Brownville, Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.

370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.

North Side, Chicago Street.

391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.

339y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,

—AND—

INSURANCE AGENT,

(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)

TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Office Three Doors East of the Post Office,

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.

A General Assortment of

GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,

Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets

Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

Let Me in

BY FLORENCE PERCY

When the summer evening shadows
Veiled the earth's calm bosom o'er,
Came a young child, faint and weary,
Tapping at a cottage door
"Wandering through the winding wood-paths,
My worn feet too long have been;
Let me in, Oh, gentle mother,
Let me in."

Years passed on—his eager spirit
Gladly watched the dying hours;
"I will be a child no longer,
Finding bliss in birds and flowers;
I will seek the bands of pleasure,
I will join the merry din;
Let me in to joy and gladness,
Let me in."

Years sped on—yet vainly yearning,
Murmured still the restless heart—
"I am tired of heartless folly,
Let the glittering cheat depart;
I have found in worldly pleasure
Naught to happiness akin,
Let me in to love's warm presence
Let me in."

Years flow on; a youth no longer,
Still he owned the restless heart;
"I am tired of love's soft durance,
Sweet-voiced syren we must part;
I will gain a laurel chaplet,
And a world's applause will win;
Let me in to fame and glory,
Let me in."

Years fled on; the restless spirit
Never found the bliss it sought,
Answered hopes and granted blessings
Only new aspiring brought;
"I am tired of earth's vain glory,
I am tired of grief and sin,
Let me in to life eternal,
Let me in."

Thus the unquiet, yearning spirit,
Taunted by a vague unrest,
Knocks and calls at every gateway,
In a vain and fruitless quest;
Ever seeking some new blessing,
Some new happiness to win—
At some portal ever saying—
"Let me in!"

From the London Journal.

The Haunted Road-side Inn.

Robert, an innkeeper in a small, flourishing town on the Upper Rhine, had become rich through the custom which his house had for many years enjoyed.—All at once however, it fell off; for travelers who had been in the habit of putting up there, either avoided the place altogether, or preferred the inferrior accommodations of another inn. Of the cause of this decline of his trade he could not long remain ignorant. The fact was, that his house was haunted by a ghost: and what traveller, weary with his journey would like to have his rest broken at night by the pranks of a spectre?

Sigismund, a distant relative, who had an eye on the fair Rosina, the only daughter of the host, had of late years been frequently at this house, either on visits to the family, or when traveling upon business. He was accustomed always to sleep in the same room in the upper story; and there he was destined to make the discovery, so unlucky to his kinsman, that the house was haunted.

One night, when all the family had retired to bed, and were in their first sleep, Sigismund was roused by the spectre.—Almost beside himself with terror, he rushed out in his shirt, ready to break his neck down stairs, he called up the master of the house. It was not without great difficulty that Robert could draw from him an explanation respecting the nature of the circumstance which had had thrown him into such vehement alarm. Having at length somewhat recovered from the fright occasioned by the appiritions, he gave the landlord the following account.

"I was fast asleep, when a white, death like figure opened my door, which I had locked before I went to bed. The noise awoke me. The spectre had a bunch of keys in one hand, and in the other a lamp which gave but a feeble light. It walked past my bed, paced the room several times, then set the lamp down on the table, and slipped into bed with me I endeavored to cry out, but could not. Fear and horror paralysed my senses.—God knows how I got out of bed without falling a prey to the hideous apparition!"

The trembling Robert awoke his people, and after maturely considering the pros and cons, he ventured, in their company, and well armed to approach the haunted chamber. He found the door fast. Sigismund, as far as he could recollect, had pulled it after him, that the ghost might have less chance of overtaking him in his flight. As he had taken out the key of the door after locking it when he went to bed, and laid it on the table that stood by the bedside, it was found necessary to bring the master-key before they could gain admission. This was accordingly done; and all eyes looked round for the spectre, but in vain—it was gone. Sigismund; however, durst not resume possession of his deserted bed for the remainder of the night.

Robert could not tell what to think of the story of his kinsman. He was too well acquainted with his character to suspect that he was played off a hoax; he knew, too, that he was not a greater coward than himself; he had, therefore no just cause to doubt the accuracy of his statement. At the same time, he was vexed when he reflected that the spectre might think fit to return; his house would, in consequence, get a bad name, and his business might be ruined. In spite, then, of his excessive fear of ghosts, as there was a possibility of delusion, he deemed it incumbent on him to investigate the matter more closely. To this end he repaired, the following night, accompanied by Peter, the most trusty of his people, well armed, to the haunted chamber. He assigned to Peter the post of danger and honor by the door, while he himself took possession of an easy chair, at the remotest corner of the room. The great house lantern containing a lighted candle, was placed on the table.

Long did they thus wait in vain for the visit of the spectre. Both of them found it difficult to keep their eyes open, and nothing but the supposed danger of their enterprise furnished them with unusual powers of vigilance. Sleep, nevertheless, began the exercise its daspotic sway over the landlord. He could not help nodding, and it was but now and then, and with incoherent words, that he answered the observations addressed to him by Peter. The latter, meanwhile, heard, as he thought, something coming up stairs, and imagined that he could distinguish soft steps. The effect upon his sleepy senses was powerful and instantaneous.—He gave his master notice of the impending attack. Sleep, however had complete power over the landlord; and under these circumstances, Peter deemed himself justified in leaving his post and rousing his master, by no very gentle shake, to the conflict Both, trembling, drew their cutlasses, and took post behind the arm-chair. The spectre was already at the door, and the bunch of keys which it carried rattled like chains. The door opened, and the figure of a living corpse presented itself. It was covered from head to foot by a white shroud, walked twice around the room, and then glided, with a deep sigh, into the bed.

Glad to see the coast thus far clear, Robert seized the lantern, and made a precipitate retreat down stairs—not only leaving his arms in the possession of the enemy, but, in haste, dashed the lantern with such force against the balusters, that it was shattered to pieces.

Peter, who, at the first appearance of the spectre, had squeezed his eyes together, and in his fright commended his soul to all the saints; had meanwhile sunk on the floor behind the arm-chair. He saw nothing, heard but little of what was passing about him, and awaited his fate with patient resignation. The crash of the lantern—which should have recalled his senses—only served to increase his stupification.

Robert hurried to his bed, without undressing, and covered himself over, head and ears in the clothes, so low had his courage fallen after its late excitement.—Next morning, at a very early hour, he called up his servants and family, and eagerly enquired how poor Peter was; but no one had seen or heard anything of him since the preceeding night.

The cheering light of day, which dispels fear, and restores courage to the faint-hearted, once more raised Robert's spirits. Accompanied by his people, he went in quest of his lost attendant, to the place where he had left him. Peter, probably fatigued and exhausted with terror, had sunk into the arms of his kind deliverer, sleep—and lay snoring, at full length, on the floor behind the arm-chair. His good natured master rejoiced sincerely at this sighs; for he was sorely afraid lest the spectre had carried off the poor fellow.

The adventure of the night was soon known to all town-folks The more sensible of them laughed heartily at the landlord's absurd conduct, and called him a stupid, superstitious, chicken hearted coward. This language soon reached his ears; and vexed him to such a degree that he repaired immediately to the burgomaster of the town to make affidavit of the particulars of the affair. At the same time, he requested the magistrate to take measures for ascertaining the reality of the apparation; for in no other way could he retrieve his lost honor in the estimation of the incredulous public.

The magistrate complied with his request, and the town sergeant was sent for, with four courageous fellows to pass be next night in the haunted chamber. Whether the spirit deemed its opponents, a this instance, too formidable, or whether it had actually decamped, so much is certain, that it did not see fit to show itself to the party that was anxious for its appearance. The men repaired to their post the two succeeding nights, but the obstinate ghost was not to be seen.

Robert had thus put himself to a useless expense; and, if he had previously been the talk of the whole town, he now became the butt of general ridicule.

It was not long before Sigismund, in company with a friend, again passed through the place. He was informed that the spectre, which had once given him since terrified the landlord and Peter almost out of their lives, and resolved not to sleep any more in his kinman's house. The courteous solicitation of the fair Rosina, however, had greater influence over him; he could not refuse her invitation, and ventured once more to lodge under the same roof with her; but only on express condition that he should not lie in the haunted chamber.

His friend and fellow traveler was of a different way of thinking. Desirous of an interview with a ghost, he insisted on having a bed prepared for him in the very room which the spirit had been accustomed to visit. The landlord was not a little gratified to to think that he had at last met with a person willing to avenge, as he termed it, the honor of his house.

Sigismund's friend took his measures with coolness and deliberation. He placed on the table by his bed, a brace of loaded pistols, provided himself with a couple of candles, in addition the night lamp, went to bed unconcerned, slept soundly and awoke the next morning without hearing or seeing anything of a spirit. He did not fail to impress upon the mind of his companion the silliness of the fear of apparitions, and begged of him as a friend, to bear him company the following night, that he might not appear a coward in the eyes of his Rosina.

Sigismund sensible that his friends exhortations were well meant, plucked up a spirit and repaired with him, at bed time, to his former chamber. All the inmates of the house had retired to rest, and not a sound disturbed the midnight silence. All at once, faint steps were heard ascending the stairs and slowly approaching nearer and nearer to the room. The same pale spectre dressed in white, which had terrified him once before, again made its appearance. Sigismund, overwhelmed with horror, never thought of the pistols which lay near the bed, but again sought by himself, with the ghost.

His fellow traveler, though not a little startled; closely watched the apparition. It approached him; and he could not help shuddering when he saw it preparing to get into bed to him, he sprung out, and had a good mind not only to quit that, but, like Sigismund, to abandon the field also. On second thought, however, he mustered courage, seized a pistol in one hand, and a candle in the other, drew back a little, and thus awaited what was to happen.

The ghost seemed to take no notice of its armed antagonist, so much more closely did he watch the apparition. He approached nearer to the bed, on which the unwelcome visitor lay most quietly, and scrutinized its features. His terror gradually subsided, and ceased to bewilder his senses. Heavens! how agreably he was surprised, to recognize in the slumbering figure the lovely Rosina! For fear of disturbing the fair night walker, he durst not, though strongly tempted, steal a single kiss, but softly quitted the room to call her parents and his friend.

None of them, however, were in any hurry to obey the summons. The jocose and confident manner in which their guest spoke of his discovery, and a word which he whispered in the ear of his landlady, induced the latter to follow him alone to the haunted chamber, for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the nocurnat apparition.

Ashamed to be surpassed in courage by a woman, Robert and Sigismund could not, therefore stay behind. They sneaked after the advance guard, and before they ventured to go into the chamber, cautiously peeped in at the door, while the mothers eyes had been for some time fondly fixed on her darling. She knew from former experience that Rosina had a predisposition to walking in her sleep, and she was too thoroughly convinced, of her virtue and innocense to attribute her being in such a situation to any other cause than that singular disorder.

It was long before her timid spouse would trust either the assurance of his better half or his own senses; till at last Rosina herself furnished evidence too strong to be resisted. She quitted the bed with her eyes shut, took up the night lamp, which had gone out, and walked through the astonished company, who made way for her, out of the room. They followed her in silence, because they had either not sufficient presence of mind to wake her at first, or because they wished to spare her the embarasment of so awkward a situation.

She found the way down stairs, without once tripping, to her chamber. All retired again to rest, and Sigismund, in particular resumed the place which his Rosina had occupied, with very different feelings from those which he had left it.—The inference which he drew in regard to her sentiments towards him; from her behavior in the liveliest of all dreams could not be but exceedingly flattering to him. Nothing, therefore, could prevent him, the next morning, from making Rosina a formal offer of his hand, and explaining to her parents his other views.—They had little to object, and the heart of Rosina still less.

Thus the horrors and apprehensions of a supernatural visitation terminated in a most joyous wedding, which was consummated in the same chamber where the innocent Rosina had twice filled her lover with inexpressible alarm.

Long chase after a Runaway Wife.

That wives will forget their marriage vows and run away, is everyday exemplified, but husbands will not always follow over land and sea in search of vagrant criminoline. A case which came up in Justice's Court yesterday, however, sets an example for loving husbands that has no paralled on record, and but for the criminal reality connected with it, would throw the latest romance into obscurity

It appears that the elder brother of a family residing in Naples, Italy, married a wife considerably junior, and she became the 'old man's darling.' Like Melnotte he'd 'have no friends that were not lovers,' and with pride he pointed to his pretty wife, and made her his idol, his temple of devotion morning and evening In an evil house a younger brother, Michael Angelo Gitto, looking with loving eyes upon his sister-in-law, and she was won from her allegiance to her lord. The guilty pair made their escape to this country, bringing with them a little daughter, and leaving the husband and two little boys in their deserted Italian home. The brother lover and his fair companion came to this city some months ago and opened a confectionary store on Main street.

In time the husband learned their whereabouts, and, taking his two motherless boys with him, he sailed for Cincinnati, arriving here a day or two ago. He at once sought out the guilty pair, and implored the wife to return to her allegiance, but to no purpose. He was rudely spurned by both wife and brother, and as a last resort, he had them arrested for adultery on Tuesday.

The case was to come up before the Justice yesterday, but mutual friends interfered. Unlike the 'Misanthrope,' who feared the jeers of boys and girls, should they see him with his runaway wife upon his arm, the elder Gitto, with tears coursing down his cheeks, besought her on his knees to return to the sunny clime of Italy, and make his home once more a heaven of domestic peace. The scene was affecting; the picture being rendered complete by the pleading looks and tears of the little boys, who had accompanied the father in his long and tendious journey. There was a choice between the penalty for adultery and a husband's arms The wife hesitated, the husband pleaded, friends counselled obedience, and all combined at length prevailed. She consented to return to Italy with her husband. The guilty brother agreed to pay the costs and lawyer's fees—the husband took his runaway wife upon his arm, and the children by the hand, and left the court-room so overjoyed with his recovered treasure, that he actually kissed the hands of a friend who had been mainly instrumental in bringing about a consummation of his happiness under such circumstances.

There is sufficient romance in this plain unvarnished tale, to form the basis of a novel. A man who would follow a runaway wife from Italy, and then beg of her on his knees to accept his proffered forgiveness, cannot be a bad husband and deserves a better wife.—Cincinnati Gazette.

A Revolutionary Relcic

The following interesting document was recently found among the papers of Maj. John Jacob Schaefmyer, a deceased patriot of the Revolution. It is a discourse delivered on the eve of the battle of Brandywine, by Rev. Joab Trout, to a large portion of the American soldiers, in presence of Gen. Washington, Gen. Wayne, and other officers of the army.

REVOLUTIONARY SERMON.

"They that take the sword shall perish by the sword."

SOLDIERS AND COUNTRYMEN:—We have met this evening perhaps for the last time. We have shared the toil of the march, the peril of the fight, and the dismay of the retreat alike; we have endured the cold and hunger, the contumely of the internal foe, and the courage of the foreign oppressor. We have sat, night after night, beside the camp-fire; we have together heard the roll of the revellie, which called us to duty, or the beat of the tattoo, which gave the signal for the hardy sleep of the soldier, with the earth for his bed and the knapsack for his pillow.

And now, soldiers and brethren, we have met in the peaceful valley on the eve of battle, while the sunlight is dying away beyond yonder heights, the sunlight that to-morrow morn will glimmer on scenes of blood. We have met amid the whitening tents of our encampment; in the time of terror and gloom have we gathered together—God grant that it may not be for the last time.

It is a solemn moment. Brethren, does not the solemn voice of nature seem to echo the sympathies of the hour?—The flag of our country droops heavily from yonder staff—the breeze has died away along the green plain of Chadd's Ford—the plain that spreads before us glittering in the sunlight—the heights of the Brandywine arise gloomily and grand beyond the waters of yonder stream—all nature holds a pause of solemn silence, on the eve of uproar and bloodshed and of strife to-morrow.

"They that take the sword, shall perish by the sword."

And have they not taken the sword?

Let the desolated plain, the blood-sodden valley, the burned farm-house blackening in the sun, the sacked village, and the ravaged town, answer—let the starving mother, with the babe clinging to the withered breast that can afford no sustenance, let her answer with the death-rattle mingling with the murmuring tones that marked the last struggle of her life; let the dying mother and her babe answer.

It was but a day past and our land slept in the quiet of peace. War was not here; wrong was not here. Fraud and woe, and misery and want dwelt not among us. From the eternal solitude of the green woods, arose the blue smoke of the settler's cabin, and golden fields of corn looked forth from amid the wastes of the wilderness, and the glad music of human voices awoke the silence of the forest.

Now, God of mercy behold the change! Under the shadow of a pretext, under the sanctity of the name of God, invoke the Redeemer to their aid, do these foreign hirelings slay our people! They throng our towns—they darken our plains, and now they encompass our posts on the lonely plain of Chadd's Ford.

"They that take the sword, shall perish by the sword."

Brethren, think me not unworthy of belief when I tell you the doom of the British is near. Think me not vain when I tell you that beyond the cloud that now enshrouds us, I see gathering thick and fast, the darker clouds and blacker storm of Divine retribution!

They may conquer us to-morrow—Might and wrong prevail, and we may be driven from the field; but the hour of God's own vengeance will come!

If, in the vast solitude of eternal space, if in the heart of the boundless universe, there throbs the being of an awful God, quick to avenge, and sure to punish guilt, then will the man George Brunswick, called King, feel in his brain and his heart, the vengeance of an eternal Jehovah! A blight will be upon his life—a withered brain, and an accursed intellect; a blight will be upon his children and on his people. Great God, how dread the punishment!

A crowded populance, peopleing the dense towns where the man of money thrives, while the laborer starves; want striding among the people in all its forms of terror; an ignorant and God-defying priesthood chuckling over the miseries of millions; a proud and merciless nobility adding wrong to wrong, and heaping insult upon robery and fraud; royalty corrupt to the very heart, and aristocracy rotten to the core; crime and want linked hand in hand, and tempting men to deeds of woe and death—these are a part of the doom and retribution that come upon the English throne and the English people!

Soldiers—I look around upon your familiar faces with a strange interest. To-morrow morning we will go forth to the battle—for need I tell you that your unworthy minister will march with you invoking God's aid in the fight—we will march forth to battle! Need I exhort you to fight the good fight, to fight for your homesteads, for your wives and children?

My friends, I might urge you to fight by the galling memories of British wrong. Walton—I might tell you of your father butchered in the silence of the night on the plains of Trenton; I might picture his grey hairs dabbled in blood; I might ring his death shriek in your ears.—Shelmere—I might tell you of a butchered mother, and a sister outraged; the lonely farmhouse, the night assault, the roof in flames, the shouts of the troopers as they dispatched their victims, the cries for mercy and the pleadings of innocence for pity. I might paint this all again in the vivid colors of the terrible reality, if I thought our courage needed such wild excitement.

But I know you are strong in the might of the Lord. You will march forth to battle on the morrow with light hearts and determined spirit, though the solemn duty—the duty of avenging the dead—may rest heavy on your souls.

And in the hour of battle, when all around is darkness, lit by the lurid cannon glare, and the piercing musket flash; when the wounded strew the ground, and the dead litter your path—then remember, soldiers, that God is with you. The eternal God fights for you—he rides on the battle-cloud, he sweeps onward with the march of the hurricane charge—God the awful and infinite, fights for you and you will triumph.

"They that take the sword, shall perish by the sword."

You have taken the sword, but not in the spirit of wrong or ravage. You have taken the sword for your homes, for your wives, for your little ones. You have taken the sword for truth, and justice, and right, and to you the promise is—be of good cheer for your foes have taken the sword in defiance of all that men hold dear, in blasphemy of God—they shall perish by the sword.

And now, brethren and soldiers, I bid you all farewell. Many of us may fall in the battle of to-morrow. God rest the souls of the fallen! Many of us may live to tell the story of to-morrow, and in the memory of all will ever rest and linger the quiet scene of this autumnal night.

Solemn twilight advances over the valley; the woods on the opposite heights fling their long shadows over the green of the meadow; around us are the tents of continental host, the suppressed bustle of the camp, the hurried tramp of the soldiers to and fro among the tents, the stillness and awe that marks the eve of battle.

When we meet again, may the shadows of twilight be flung over a peaceful land. God in heaven, grant it. Let us pray.

PRAYER OF THE REVOLUTION.

Great Father, we bow before thee; we invoke thy blessings, we deprecate thy wrath, we return thee thanks for the past, we ask thy aid for the future. For we are in times of trouble, oh Lord and sore beset by foes, merciless and unpitying.—The sword gleams over our land, and the dust of our soil is dampened with the blood of our neighbors and friends.

Oh! God of mercy, we pray thee to bless the American arms. Make the man of our hearts strong in thy wisdom; bless, we beseech thee, with renewed life and strength; our hope, and Thy instrument, even George Washington; shower thy counsels on the Honorable the Continental Congress; visit our host, comfort the soldier in his wounds and afflictions, nerve him for the fight, prepare him for the hour of death.

And in the hour of defeat, oh, God of Hosts, do thou be our stay; and in the hour of triumph, be thou our guide.

Teach us to be merciful. Though the memory of galling wrongs be at our hearts, knocking for admittance, that they may fill us with the desire of revenge, yet let us, oh, Lord, spare the vanquished, though they never spared us, in the hour of butchery and bloodshed.

And in the hour of death, do thou guide us to the abode prepared for the blest; so shall we return thanks unto thee through Christ our Redeemer. God prosper the cause. Amen.

THE HERALD.

E. BAXTER, ... EDITOR.

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1858.

Public Duties of Private Citizens.

It is a very common error on the part of private citizens to feel and act as though they had nothing to do with public duties. That if they attend faithfully and honestly to their own private business they have done all that is required, and nobody has any right to complain of them.

Now although this is in a certain sense true, yet it also embraces a practical and dangerous fallacy which a few moments candid consideration will we think render sufficiently apparent.

Although private citizens may not feel impelled to the same interest in public affairs as those holding an official relation to them, yet it is oftentimes quite as important to their private interests that they should be properly administered, as that more individal and private matters should be well managed.

It really matters but little to a man whether he has to pay Fifty or one Hundred dollars to meet a private loss unnecessarily incured, or a private tax improperly laid, or foolishly expended, except that in the latter case he has the consolation, if consolation it is, of knowing that many others are equally involved in the same loss with himself. If then such a loss does occur, through the profligacy or mismanagement of those who are left in charge of these matters, and any individual as a private citizen has from first to last given no heed to the matter, but carefully kept away from every caucus or convention convened for the purpose of nominating suitable men to be supported for office and equally away from the polls and from expressing on his part any choice as to who should be the public agent for the control of these matters, then we can only say that it only comes such an one to find any fault with the loss, but that he should the rather pocket it the best way he can

And more than that, that he should feel that he owes it to be the more intelligent and more patriotic interest and watchfulness of others that his loss is not many times more than it is.

Public affairs will not take care of themselves, nor is it always the most sensible or most prudent thing imaginable to leave it wholly to office holders, or office seekers, to manage them as shall best suit their own inclinations or convenience.—The very men who are least inclined to mingle much in politics are oftentimes the men who are the safest advisers and judges of the true public interests, and in any event every man owes it to himself, and to his neighbor and to the entire country, to give the decision and verdict of his own act and mind, an utterance and efficiency at the popular convention and at the ballot-box

He cannot neglect or refuse to do it with safety to himself or to those around him.

He has no right to stay away from both and then find fault with what is done.—A man has never a right to find fault with what is done politically or publicly until he has himself done whatever he legitimately could to make it different. To keep aloof from all that goes to make up or give direction and shape to public sentiment, and then simply complain of, or find fault with it, is neither honorable nor sensible.

What we hold then, and would urge upon the attention of our readers is this. That no man is so much a private citizen that he can with safety or propriety neglect the duties which he owes to the public. That among these are a faithful attendance upon the primary political meetings, which shall best accord with his sentiments and affinities, and always a prompt and faithful attendance upon the ballot box. No man in free America, where the people are the sovereigns; reigning and ruling by the only true and indisputable "jure divino," should ever consent, health and other circumstances permitting to stay away from the polls, and thus leave to the arbitrament of chance, that which it is alike his privilege and his duty, in the experience of the untrammelled right of an intelligent freeman, to himself help to decide. A single vote may sometimes decide a question in which he feels, and has, it may be, an important interest. He should never incur the risk and shame of suffering it to be decided against his better judgment, and what he believes to be the better public interest, for the want of his single vote!

Curious Suit.—Under this head the Detroit Tribune says:

A Young man named Harry Lewis, has commenced a suit against a young lady named Mary Ann West, to recover some $70 worth of wedding "fixings" which he bought for her recently. She don't want to marry him and he is bound to lose no money by the operation. He alleges they are his, having been obtained by her without consideration. Per contra she declares they are all "her'n" and has replevined them. And thus the matter stands at present.

LITERARY NOTICES.

Petersons Magazine.

The November No. of Peterson is received. It is embelished as usual with a steel plate engraving, colored Fashion Plate, work patterns, and music. Among its contributors we notice, "William the Conquerer" Mathew Georgii" and a continuation of "King Philip's Daughter." The number is a good one. Published Monthly by C. J. Peterson Esq., Phila., Terms $2 per annum.

Godey's Lady's Book.

The November No of Godey is duly received and we need not say is always welcome. The Inn Keepers' Daughter is a fine plate engraving. Its colored Fashion Plate is beautifully executed, and worth the cost of the number itself. Among its contents we notice Nellie's Diary continued, Margarets Home continued, by Alice B. Haven (formerly Mrs. Neal,) and Disbursements, by Pauline Forsyth. Aderess, Godeys' Ladys' Book, Philad. Terms $3, per annum.

Lady's Home Magazine.

The November No of the Ladies' Home Magazine is promptly received and welcome to our exchanges. It is well embellished as as usual, and contains its usual variety of reading matter. Among these we notice Pass It By, by Jessie May, and We Two, concluded by Virginia F. Townsend. Published mothly by T. S. Arthur, & Co, Philad.—Terms $2 per annum.

METAL TIPS TO BOOTS AND SHOES.—The saving in shoe leather which the small metallic tip on the toe of a boot or shoe effects is very great, and the invention is one of practical utility. Children are remarkably fond of kicking out the toes of their shoes, thus rendering them useless and making it necessary that another pair should be procured, although no other part of the former pair is injured. By the use of these tips, which may be made of silver, copper, iron or any other malleable metal, the boot or shoe may be worn until it is really "done up," and they are so secured that so long as any portion of the sole remains, the tip will be held fast. They do not increase the weight of the shoe above half an ounce or an ounce. It is the invention of G. A. Mitchell of Turner, Me, and and was patented on the 5th of January Economically speaking, there is no doubt of its value, as one pair of boots or shoes—men's, ladies' or children's—can be made to last nearly twice the time they would without the tips.—Scientific American.

THE TAX LAND SALE.—Owing to the confidence of tax titles as a result of the decision of the Supreme Court, the sale of lands for delinquent taxes was well attended, and a large amount of land sold. All the lands returned to the State last year were taken to this sale.—Ottawa Clarion.

ODD FELLOWS' THANKSGIVING DAY.—The U. S Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, at the recent session in Baltimore, adopted the proposition to, "to set apart the 26th of April, 1859—the fortieth anniversary of the organization of the order—to be observed by the entire membership under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of the U. S. as a day of thanksgiving to Divine Providence for the unexampled prosperity which attended the order since its organization on the American continent." The city of New York was selected for the place of this national jubilee, and a committee appointed, who are charged with the details.—This will be a magnificent display. On a like celebration in Boston, several years ago, ten thousand Odd Fellows marched in the procession.

☞ We would invite the attention of our readers to the new Ague Cure advertised in our columns. It is from such a quarter as will give the public confidence in its efficacy, and we have learned from reliable sources, that its virtues will sustain their expectations. Citizens of the west can not fail to appreciate the paramount value of them, of a safe and certain remedy for this afflicting distemper without either Quinine or minerals, and consequently without injury to the constitutional health. We have more than ordinary satisfaction in proclaiming this remedy, because we are convinced it will answer a crying want among us and serve to relieve a great amount of suffering.—Republican, Warsaw, Ind.

FROM THE ALMS-HOUSE TO AFFLUENCE.—James Boon, 85 years of age, an inmate of the Poor-House at Kingston, Lenoir county, N. C., with his family, consisting of a wife and three children, it is said has inherited a handsome estate amounting to $150,000.

☞ "Who ever heard of a widow committing suicide on account of love?" A little experience is very wholesome.

☞ No one can be happy without a friend, and no one can know what friends he has, until he is unhappy.

☞ The Governor of New Hampshire has appointed Thursday November 25th, as a day of Thanksgiving. It is the first appointment.

General Banking Law of Michigan.

In Feb., 1857, the Legislature of Michigan enacted a General Banking Law which is to be submitted to the people for their approval or disapproval at their general election in November next. Very little interest has been manifested in this law, and it has been published in but a few papers in this State.—As it is soon to be voted upon by the people, we will give its principal features.

Section 1 provides that the capital stock of any association organized under this act, shall not be less than $50,000; that three-fourths of it (the capital stock) may be invested in public stocks, as security for its circulating notes.

Sec. 6 says: "It shall be lawful for any person or persons orgauized under this act, to provide for an increase of their capital from time to time." From this it appears that the capital may be increased to any amount desired by the stockholders. All notes must be signed by the President or Vice President, and by the Cashier.

The Stocks of the United States, the State of Michigan, New York, any of the New England States, Pennsyivania, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio or Kentucky, may be used as securities. The rate of interest on these securities must be equal to 6 per cent per annum.

Sec. 10 says; "It shall not be lawful for the State Treasurer to take such stock at above 25 per cent of its current market value, to be determined by the average value of such funds at the Stock Exchange in New York city for four weeks next preceeding the time of their receipt by the Treasurer.

The plates of the bank, and the blank notes thereof, are kept in the custody of the Treasurer, and every note delivered to any party or parties for circulation, must have stamped upon its face, "Secured by pledge of public stocks," and be signed by the Register.

Sec. 14 makes it obligatory for the bank to redeem its notes in gold when the amount presented exceeds $10; when it is $10 or under, in gold or silver. If such bank shall refuse thus to redeem, it is the duty of the holder of the note to have them protested in one package, and the Treasurer, on receiving and filing such notice, gives notice, in writing to the President or Cashier, to pay the same and if they omit to do so, it is the duty of the Treasurer to give twenty days' notice in some newspaper printed at the seat of government and one published in the county where said bank is located, that all of the circulating notes of said bank will be redeemed out of the trust funds in his hands for that purpose, and he is required to sell, within twenty days, enough of the securities of said bank to redeem any of its notes, whether protested or not.

The stocks not to be sold at less than their market value, nor on credit.

Sec. 16 provides that all mutilated bills or notes (which are returned to be exchanged) must be destroyed by said Treasurer in the presence of the Secretary of State and an agent of the bank whose notes are to be burned before any other circulating notes are delivered in lieu thereof. This is a good precaution, but in addition to it, there should be a provision for recording the amounts and descriptions of the bills thus destroyed.

The Treasurer has power to appoint one or more Registers to countersign and register the notes, to hold their office during the continuance of said Treasurer in office. The Register is required to execute a bond of $10,000 for the faithful dischargo of his duties—salary $800

Sec. 30 gives the Treasurer power to make good any depreciation that may take place in the securities, by demanding a return of notes, &c.

Sec 33 says: "Every banking institution under this act shall at all times be subject to the inspection and supervision of the State Treasurer.

Sec. 52 provides for a specific tax of one per cent on the capital stock, in lieu of all other taxes.

If any individual or association, under this act, shall put in circulation any notes which are not registered and countersigned in the Treasurer's office, they subject themselve to a fine of $500, and imprisionment in the State Prison three years.

Sec. 55 makes it obligatory upon the banks to redeem their notes in Detroit at ½ per cent discount. If any bank shall fail thus to redeem their notes through their appointed agent, they shall pay to the person making the demand 20 per cent interest per annum, until the same shall be redeemed; and if they fail to redeem it in 10 days the Treasurer may proceed to advertise and sell the securities.

Banks are not allowed to issue fractional notes.

DEAR KISSES.—William Cratt, of Wareham, Virginia, has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment, at hard labor, for kissing a young woman against her will.

Never mind, Cratt; if you had kissed her with her will, your servitude might have been longer and labor harder.—Boston Post.

General News.

New York, Oct. 26.

The Royal Mail Steamship Persia from Liverpool, at 4 P. M. of the 16th, and of the Vigo from the same port, on the 13th, arrived this morning.

The Vanderbilt arrived out on the P. M. of the 12th.

A prospectus had been issued for the formation of a company for the Galway line with a capital of £50,000 in £10 shares.

Lieut. Higginson, a share holder in the Atlantic Telegraph, had applied on the Guild Hall Police Court for a summons against the Company for its failure to register its list of Shareholders, but it was not granted.

The race for the Cesarewitch handcup was won by Rocket by a head. The American mare Prioress and the Brewer running a dead heat for second place—The fact that Prioress had for a second time run a dead heat for this race, though this time for second place only was the most remarkable incident connected with the Cesarewitch.

At the regular meeting of the iron masters at Birmingham, a greatly improved tone was observeble. Buyers were numerous and prices were firmly maintained, while the manufacturers were reluctant to enter into contracts for delivery at distant dates.

The officers and crew of the ill fated Austria had published a card claiming that they did all that was possible for them to do under the circumstances, and that the captain did the same.

FRANCE.—The meditation of a friendly power has been accepted by France and Portugal in the dispute between them.—It was suggested that the Portuguese Government should order the Charles Georges to be given up on condition that French ships of war should previously withdraw from the Tagus and return to France, so as not to let it appear that the surrender was made under the menace of their guns. The decree permitting the importation of foreign goods iron into France was about to be renewed with certain modifications.

The Duke de Malakoff was marrid to Madam Paniegan in the Imperial Chapel at St. Cloud, on the 12th.

The monthly statement of the Bank of France shows a decrease in bullion of £1 770,000. The discounts had increased £1,350,000.

The latest accounts from Paris say that no doubt was entertained of a pacific solution of the difficulty with Portugal.

AUSTRIA.—A panic was prevailing on 'Change at Vienna, caused by the fears of the speculators at the approaching resumption of cash payments by the Bank.

The Cologne Gazette says Austria will demand explanations from the pope respecting the augmentation of the French forces at Rome.

PORTUGAL.—The free importation of breadstuffs is permitted until the end of May, 1859.

MORROCCO.—The Vice-Consuls of Spain and France at Tetuar, Morrocco, have been assassinated. No particulars given. Energetic measures to obtain satisfaction were expected.

A Paris telegram says the two ships of war lately sent to Lisbon would proceed to Tetuar to avenge the massacre.

TURKEY.—The Turks in Candia had again made such a display that it was feared the massacre of the Christians was intended. Great excitement prevailed. Two additional battalions of troops were to be sent to the Island. Reports are received that the Porte has refused to cede the Island of Perim to England.

INDIA.—The Bombay mail of the 24th of Sept., had arrived at Suez. The disarmed troops at Mooltam mutinied on the 21st of August, and their almost total extermination was the consequence.

The fugitive Rebels from Powree were defeated with great slaughter on the 5th of Sept.

Four emessaries of Nena Shahib had been captured at Gwalior, endeavoring to corrupt the native troops, who informed their officers of them. The culprits were executed.

The Gwalior fugitives after occupying the town Patun and seizing a large amount of treasure and 40 guns, were again defeated in the field on the 13th of September and dispersed in all directions.—The British captured 30 guns.

A private telegram says, that renewed alarm had arisen at Calcutta, so that the troops were kept uder arms. Seven thousand Insurgents were said to be in the province of Calcutta, but avoiding engagements. This story is pronounced a fabrication.

CHINA.—Hong Kong mail of Aug. 24, had arrived at England. Admiral Seymour had returned to Japan but Lord Elgin had proceeded to Jedde with the steam Yacht which he made a present to the Emperor.

It was rumored at Canton that one of the Commissioners who met the Embassadors in the North and who bears the character for conciliation had been appointed Viceroy of the Canton province

The town of Canton was spared by the British though the forts were destroyed. The report that the place was sacked was unfounded. The Chinese were coming back by degrees to Hong Kong and Macao.

Trade continued dull at Hong Kong. At Amoy little or nothing had been done in teas. At Tuchen, there had been a moderate business and an advance of 1 and 1½ taels at Shanghai. The exports were 8,000,000, pounds a year. A very moderate business had been done at the former prices.

Silks had given way but had subsequently recovered. The American sloop of war Germantown; was in the Canton river. Other steamers, Mississippi and Powhattan, at Japan.

Mr. Reed was at Shanghai, awaiting the arrival of the Chines Commissioners to settle the tariffs, &c.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian mail of Aug. 16th had reached England. News anticipated by the telegraph. A nugget of gold weighing 2,100 ounces was being exhibited at Melbourne. The electric telegraph was in operation between Melbourne and Adelaide.

London Money Market.—There was reduction in the Bank rate of discount, which remained at 3 per cent, though the minimum rate in the open market was not over 2½ per cent and in some cases rather lower. The action of the Bank had called forth considerable censure and caused a re-action in the buoyant tone which pervaded the stock exchange.

Letter from Hon. Francis P. Blair, Jr.

St. Louis, October 26.

Frank P. Blair, Jr. publishes a letter in reply to Isaac H. Sturgeon, declining to answer certain interrogatories of the latter in reference to a conversation between him and Douglas at Washington last winter, on the ground that he holds private conversation sacred. He says, however, that the letter written by him to B. Gratz Brown, was in strict accordance with the wishes of Douglas himself and that he deemed that the object of the interview was to mitigate through him the hostility of the radical democratic press of St Louis.

He also states that he had no agency whatever in giving currency to the contents of that letter. That the character of the invitation and message of Douglas received throught Mr. Colfax was not such as to prepare him for hearing of Douglas calling for three cheers over his defeat in this District.

A dispatch from Independence says, the Santa Fe mail with dates to the 4th, arrived on the 23d.

The accounts of the battle with the Navajo Indians are confirmed. Mr. Yost, their agent, had formally suspended his relations with them. He states that their wealth consists of 25,000 sheep and 60,000 horses, which if destroyed, will drive them to desperation, and a second Florida war may be expected.

New York, Oct. 26.

The London Daily News publishes a long letter from Mr. H. Hyde, the Business Manager of the Hughes Telegraph Instruments, in response to the insinuations of Mr. Whitehouse in regard to the adaptability of the Hughes Machines for Ocean telegraphing. Mr. Hyde refutes the several statements of Mr. Whitehouse, exposes his designs and shows that the Hughes Instruments have clearly proved their superiority over all other systems for working the Atlantic Cable.

The Schooner Harvest, from Sandusky, Ohio, arrived at Hamburg, Oct. 5th.

The pork packing establishment of Messrs Eisner in Broadway, Williamsburg, was burnt last night. Loss $5000; no insurance.

It is reported that a farmer named Wm. McAllester, residing in Hempstead, L. I., was robbed and murdered by a highwayman on the Jamaica road last night.

Louisville, Oct 25th.

The New Albany Expedition did not go to Brandenburg, yesterday. They expect to go to-day. A meeting has been called here for the purpose of denouncing the proceedings of the officers in capturing Bell.

LATER.

The Expedition heavily armed for the rescue of Horace Bell left last night for Brandenburg, inland, whither Bell has been transferred. It is reported that Kentuckians here and elsewhere are concentrating to meet them.

Louisville, Kentuckey, Oct. 26.

The steamer H. D. Newcomb from Dairo to New Orleans, yesterday, struck a snag at the foot of Island No. 11, in the Mississippi river, sunk and broke in two. No lives or baggage lost. Boat total loss.

HEAVY TELEGAPHIC CABLE.—Then we telegraph cable between England and Holland has been successfully laid down. It is the heaviest yet submerged, weighing 1,260 tons, although the distance is only 140 miles. This would be 9 tons to the mile, or 8 tons heavier than the Atlantic cable, which weighs only one ton to the mile.

Montreal, Oct 11.

Eleven lives were lost by the explosion of the steamer Hercules, yesterday morning. The boat was owned by Calvin Brack, of Kingston, C. W.

Special Notices.

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm. A small one preferred. Enquire of JACOB TOTTEN. Tecumseh, October 1st., 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Curtis & Stilson is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The accounts and notes of said firm are left in the hands of George Curtis, who alone has authority to settle the same, at the old stand of said firm.

GEORGE CURTIS.
JOSEPH P. STILSON.

Tecumseh, Oct., 4th, 1858.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
22 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK

MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homeopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, Etc.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&oc408m3

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name Address, O. P. BROWN, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [41lm3

☞ 5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars. gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN, 41lm3 Lowell, Mass.

☞ $32,00 in on day—$62,50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book. 41lm3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption.—is anxious to make known to his fellow-suffers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A WILSON,
41lm3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

Of all the articles of Patent Medicines sold Throughout the Country, nothing is doing a Better Cure than Dr. Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for all cases of Scrofula. Erysipelas, Piles and Rheumatism, Chronic or Inflamitary.

Price invariable $1,00 per bottle.

Sold by Curtis & Stilson, Tecumseh, and by Druggists generally throughout the country. 404-1w

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation,—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properities of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation to the exclusion of general treatment; of any kind, to the contrary I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases. yet I deem it very necessary, that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulte personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers &c. &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. Terms—By terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6, to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month. If the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M.D.
No 820 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St., N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected. c&cc408m6

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description. Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.
Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 60, F. & A. M.
Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

To-Days Advertisements.

DR. J. F. TERRY,
RESIDENT OCULIST
No. 94 WOODWARD AVENUE,
(Over Doughty, Straw & Co's Book Store.)
DETROIT, ... MICHIGAN.

D. D. HENDRSON,
Is now prepared to sell Clothing 25 per cent Cheaper than Any other house in the State.
My stock of
READY MADE CLOTHING
is complete.
Call and examine this stock before purchasing elsewhere.
CUTTING, Done in order, and Satisfaction Warranted.
Shop nearly opposite the Post Office.
Tecumseh, Oct. 28th. 41tf

TECUMSEH EXCHANGE.
BY W. P. SMALLAGE.
(Near Rail Road Depot)
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

"The Tailor Shop."

The subscribers continue in the Tailoring Business, at their old stand, Bidwells Block, up stairs. They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.

Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.

All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Satisfaction warrant.

☞ Cutting done to order.

JONES & SCHERR.

AYER'S
Ague Cure,
FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF
Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, Inflammating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of FEVER AND AGUE from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body; and in bilious districts, where FEVER AND AGUE prevails, every body should have it and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over every other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, amongst which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few who ever suffer from Intermittents, if they will avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills
FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC

are so compounded that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or resist them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, or restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find health or energy restored by a remedy at once simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disorder of the Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in the Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in the Stomach, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or from obstruction of its functions. They are an excellent remedy for the renovation of the blood and the restoration of tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from the verge of and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies have flooded the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmations of its virtues on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too public to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Chas. DeMott, and Geo. Curtis, Tecumseh, and by druggists every where.
West & Truax, Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

STONE COAL.
Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale. Chean for Cash by S. TINKER.
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.
CORNER OF MAIN AND RAIL ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	8	12	20
One-quarter do	5	10	15
One Square, (12 Lines,) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50

Each subsequent insertion, up to three months 25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.

☞ Business cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisement through a responsible Agent.

MAILS CLOSE

For the North Eastern and Southern	4.00	P. M.
	2.00	P. M.
Jonesville, via Cambridge, Moscow, & Springville—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday		5 "
Macon—Friday		10 "
Ridgeway & Lake Ridge—Tuesday & Saturday		9 "

Rail Road Time.

Going North	8 20	A. M.	4 57	P. M.
Going South.	6.30	"	2.40	"

Local and Miscellaneous.

"Volume Nine."

Two more numbers and the Herald will commence the nineth volume—A large amount is due on our books, which we hope will be settled before the 11th day of November next.

☞ T. T. Romyne advertises his valuable Farm for sale.

☞ The Lenawee County Musical Convention will be held at Adrian, commencing Monday, November 8th, and continue five days, under the direction of Prof. R. Lomis.

Macon, Oct., 27th, 1858.

Publisher of the Herald Dear Sir. In the last number of the Herald, I noticed an article in the local column headed MEAN In that article you state that you are obliged to publish the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, of this county cheap as dirt," and the conclusion to which any one will come by a perusal of your statements are this, that myself with a majority of the Board of Supervisors were mean, while you were oblided to publish our proceedings, to refuse or neglect to pay you for so doing.

If your premises are true, your deductions are correct, if not, your charge of meanness will fall on some other head than ours. The obligation under which you say laid to do this work, must be in yielding obedience to a known and positive law, or in performance of a contract entered into between you and your subscribers. It cannot be the first, for all the law says on the subject is this, "They (that is the Board of Supervisors) shall cause to be made out and published yearly, immediately after their annual meeting, in at least one newspaper" &c. Now they have not employed you, consequently you are under no obligation through, or by them to do it. The obligation then under which you are laid must be in compliance of a contract as above mentioned, and that too with the expectation on your part, that the county would foot the bill, but the sequel shows that you will have to pay about $15 for tuition "in the school of experience" with that class of individuals who it is truthfully said "will learn in no other—here I think is where "the shoe pinches."

In conclusion, I would ask in as much as there are 460 voters in your vicinity whose minds are enlightened and memories refreshed only through the columns of the Herald, that you publish this letter that they may exonerate the Board of Supervisors from the charge you have prefered against them. Hoping, Sir, that you will prove faithful in the discharge of all your obligations, I remain

Respectfully Yours
F. J. HOUGH.

Friend Hough you quite mistake the meaning of my local. It has been customary to receive $15, for publishing the proceedings of the Supervisors, and as it is the only 'phat take' the Herald receives from the county, I thought it mean to take it away. However the "school of experience" has taught me that there is more than one way to skin a kitten, therefore I don't think I shall pay a $15 rate bill this season. In order to exonerate the Supervisors we re-publish the following:

"A resolution was offered by Mr. Lamb proposing to give $15 to each newspaper in the county, that publishes the proceedings of the Board."

I do not think Mr. Lamb was mean for offering the above; but here is where the 'shoe pinches.'

"Mr. Hough offered an amendment, proposing to give $30 to the two Adrian city papers for publishing proceedings If they decline, then the Clerk is authorized to secure the publication in some one paper at an expense not to exceed $30. This amendment was adopted."

These 460 voters, receive weekly and monthly, over 500 papers which refresh their memories, still they look for the report of the Supervisors in the Herald, it being the only county paper they receive. Hoping, Sir, that I have faithfully discharged most all of my obligations, I remain

Respectfully Yours.
G. SPAFFORD.

School Inspectors Notice.

The board of school Inspectors for the township of Tecumseh, will meet at Union School house in Tecumseh, on Saturday, Nov., 6th, 1858, at 1 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the Primary schools of said Township.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

Apportionment of State and County Tax for 1858.

Adrian city 1st Ward	641,19
2d "	1,072,50
3d "	649,85
4th "	937,06
Adrian township	1,515,91
Blissfield	769,31
Cambridge	648,23
Dover	954,23
Fairfield	1,025,10
Franklin	1,264,61
Hudson	1,425,84
Medina	1,170,38
Macon	837,74
Madison	1,426 74
Ogden	477,34
Palmyra	733,73
Raisin	1,264,12
Ridgeway	557,87
Riga	309,95
Rollin	773,28
Rome	1,425,84
Seneca	1,027,80
Tecumseh	1,460,52
Wood	642,78
Total	$24,007,12

☞ I hear Prof. Ederton's lectures at Bidwell's Hall.

THE PRINTER, published by Henry & Huntington, No 1 Spruce st, N. Y., still continues it interesting history of printing &c. The proprietors announce something rich for December.

☞ Read "General Banking Law" in another column.

WANTED.—Corn and Potatoes at this office.

☞ David Henderson has received his stock of Clothing.

The School Inspectors

For the Townships of Tecumseh, Franklin, Rasin and Adrian will meet on Saturday October 30th, 1858, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the School House in fractional school district, composed of part of each of the above named townships, to take into consideration a petition to make the following additions to said school district, viz; The n w quarter of s w quarter of section 31 in township of Tecumseh and the n e quarter of section 36 in township of Franklin; also some other small additions.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

A CARD.

Having accepted the nomination for Representative in Lenawee County Representative District No 2, I have resigned the office of Post Master at Ridgeway, Mich

PETER SHARP.

Oct. 16th, 1858.

Election Notice.

The voters of the Township of Tecumseh will take notice that a General Election, for said Township, will be held at Union Hall, in the Village of Tecumseh, on Tuesday, November 2d, 1858, commencing at 9 o'clock, A. M., at which election are to be chosen the following State Officers, viz:

A Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, a Member of the State Board of Education (in place of Witter J. Baxter, whose term of office will expire January 1st. 1859,) a Representative in Congress for the 2d congressional district of the State of Michigan, a Senator for the 11th, Senatorial District and a Representative for the 1st, Representative District in the County of Lenawee.

Also, the following County Officers for the County of Lenawee are to be chosen at said Election, viz: One Sheriff, one Register of Deeds, one County Treasurer, one County Clerk, one Prosecuting Attorney, one Circuit Court Commissioner, two Coroners and one County Surveyor.

The following Act will also be submitted to the people for their approval or dis-approval to pursuance of Sections 60 and 61 of said act. An act of the Legislature of the State of Michigan, entitled, an act to authorize the Business of Banking, approved Feby 10th, 1858.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

Republican Nominations.

Moses Wisner, for Governor.
Edmund B. Fairfield, Lieutenant Governor
Nelson G. Isbell, Secretary of State.
John McKinney, Treasurer.
Daniel L. Case, Auditor General.
James W. Sanborn, Com. of state land office
Jacob M. Howard, Attorney General.
John. M. Gregory, Sup. of Public Instruction
Witter J Baxter, Mem. of the Board of Ed.
Henry Waldron, Rep. to Congress-2d Dist.

County Ticket.

Joseph R. Bennet, Sheriff.
Benjaman Turner, Register of Deeds.
Almond L. Bliss, County Clerk.
Robbert R. Beecher, Prosecuting Attorney.
James Geddes, County Treasurer.
Andrew Howell, Circuit Court Com.
Alonzo Colgrove, John Stretch, Coroners.
Burton Kent, County Surveyor.

Senatorial Nominations.

Joel Carpenter, Senator 10th District.
Gideon D. Perry, 9th District
Jabez Perkins, Rep. 1st District.
Peter Sharp, 2d District.
Orson Green, 4th District.

Democratic Nominations.

Charles E. Stuart, Governor.
George C. Munro, Lieutenant Governor.
Jonathan P. King, Secretary of State.
David C. Jacokes, Sup of Public Instruction.
Edward Kanter, Treasurer.
John Ball, Com. of Land Office.
John J. Adam, Auditor General.
Jabez G. Sutherland, Attorney General.
Andrew Y. Moore, Board of Education.
Consider A. Stacy, Rep in congress 2d Dist

Democratic County Nominations.

Joseph H. Cleveland, Sheriff.
Orsamus Lamb, County Clerk.
Fredrick Heart, Register of Deeds.
Thomas H. Mosher, County Treasurer.
Orange M. Rood, County Surveyor.
Alonzo F. Bixby, Circuit Court Com.
John Cavender, J. A. Higgens, Coroners.

Senatorial Nominations.

Charles H. Dewey, 10th district.
Michael A. Patterson, 11th do
Stephen V. Miller, Representative 1st dist

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co

TECUMSEH, October 28 1858.

Wheat	85a90
Flour	5 50a6 00
Buckwheat	2a
Bran	50
Barley	50a55
Corn	55
Oats	35a35
Clover seed
Beans	50a60
Potatoes new	35a40
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5a6
Butter	13
Tallow	a 10
Lard	10
Eggs	9
Cheese	9
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	3 50a4 25
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8a10
Sheep pelts	30a50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 00
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	$3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

Mich. Sou. & North. Ind.

1858. RAIL ROAD 1858.

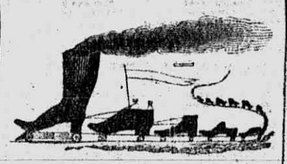
Leave Adrian for Toledo	58	A.M	3 30	P.M
Arrive at Toledo	9 00	"	8 40	"
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	6 45	"
Leave Adrian for Detroit	8 00	"	6 05	"
Arrive at			12 35	6 40
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55	"	3 45	"
Arrive at	9 55	"	6 45	"
Leave Adrian for Chicago			12 56	10 04
Arrive at	7 50	"	10 00	"
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20	"	1 30	"
Arrive at	7 20	"	3 25	"
Leave Detroit for Adrian	7 25	"	1 50	"
Arrive at			12 30	7 00
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 25	"	8 40	"
Arrive at			12 46	10 02
Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30	"	9 30	"
Arrive at	7 36	"	3 25	"
Leave Toledo for Elkhart			10 35	"

All Trains connect at Toledo with trains for Pittsburg, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Buffalo, Albany, and Boston and other points east and south via Lake Shore Railroad; at Detroit with trains on the Great Western, Detroit & Milwaukee, & Michigan Central Railroads; at N A & S R R Crossing with the trains on the New Albany & Salem road for Michigan City and all points south; at Chicago Junction with trains on Rock Island and Chicago, Alton & St. Louis roads at Chicago with all the Railroads running north, west and south.

J. D. CAMPBELL, Acting Supt.

June 10, 1858.

A. Randall & Co,



WILL continue to do business at the old stand, one door west of Appothecary's Hall, where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice
CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 28th 1858 376w8

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING
At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh:

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HESSEN.
Tecumseh, April 22d. 368m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of draft which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

A CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall

Miscellaneous Cards.

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON	D. D. MARSHALL.
DELOS LABARON.	WALLACE GRAY.
D. L. SHOLES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BEERS.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st: 1858. 391y

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.

STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

MRS. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m3

O. C. ADAMS,

Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is Solicited
Tecumseh, March 1st. 1858. 380m2

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.
Tecumseh Sept., 1st. 1858.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY,
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT,)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R. P. ANGIER, - - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO. OHIO.

SHAVING SALOON.
FRANK JONES.
Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.
TIM BROWN.
Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Wholesale & Retail.

FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian
DAVID VAN TINE.
Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

APPOTHECARIES HALL
CURTIS & STILSON.

A well selected assortment of all kinds of Goods usually kept at a Drug Store.

Dr. Roback's Scandinavian Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.
Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
Brandreth's Pills.
Kennedy's Medical Discovery.
Sloans Ointment and Condition Powders for sale at Apothecaries Hall

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Common Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E. Tindall.

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection, the best, for sale cheap by E Tindall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS,

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.
TECUMSEH. MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " "	$500,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.
May 27th. 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN
MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines,
DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

ROSIN and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh, Nov. 20. 58. 314

Southern Michigan

CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c. always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Dre Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DeMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20. 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modelled it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

OYSTERS

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.

Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

TECUMSEH
FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,
—BY—
Burlingame & Yawger.
—WE—

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR, we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER.
Tecumseh, Sept. 1858 411

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Local Advertisements.

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!
EVERYBODY LOOK!

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of
HENRY LANCASTER,
And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

THE
"Broadway Omnibus."
The Greatest Paper of the Age

A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly sheet, and a Paper that is a Paper.

A budget of Wit, Humor, Facts and Scenes drawn from life—"Here you are, right away, right away, Broadway, Broadway, right up" Only Fifty Cents—jump in and take a ride. Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at least fifty cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up Broadway, down the old Bowery, through Chatham, and the other principal streets, giving you ample time to see the Elephant and get a good peep at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c &c. We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by candle light, by star light, and will drive the "OMNIBUS" to some parts of the city where there is no light! We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the great metropolis, and also show many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Throw Physic to the dogs" If you have the blues, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunately troubled with a scolding wife, we will guarantee to make you forget your troubles, laugh almost against your will, and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "OMNIBUS" at once. The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction for all Price, Fifty Cents a year in advance—three copies to one address. One Dollar; the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get us two subscribers and receive one copy free? All communications should be addressed to
CHAS. P. BRITTON,
Editor, "Broadway Omnibus,"
411w6c 297 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE

STOVES, STOVES!

The Subscribers having just returned from from New York, are now prepared to supply the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity with the best and most approved patterns of

Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room

STOVES.

They are constantly receiving all kind of Mechanic's and Farmer's Tools,

IRON, STEEL, NAILS

And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State
DEWEY & CURTIS.
Tecumseh, Oct., 7th. 412

LATEST NEWS
FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use—

Wire down and no further communication at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire the first chance at my late arrival of New Goods will please call and purchase before VICTORIA comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 16th.

A. B. WARD.
Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

WILLIAMSON'S
PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

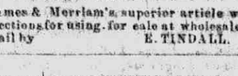
Miniatures taken on
GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,
Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at.

"Prices to suit the Times,"

☞ Satisfaction Warranted,
Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 408

WATER LIME—
Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

GUNSMITHING.



The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted
JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 15th, 1857.

AGRICULTURAL.

Pears.

Planting pear pips for the purpose of raising new varieties, is a very interesting employment. Some eight inch pots should be kept at hand, filled to within an inch of their rims with tolerable fine mold, and when a fine pear is eaten or one decays, the pips should immediately be planted in the pots about a half an inch deep. A piece of preforated zinc, or woven wire, should be placed over the pot to keep out the mice and birds, and let the rain enter. The pots may remain out of doors all winter. In March or April the young plants will make their appearance. The wire covers may then be removed, and as soon as the young plants have made six leavs, they may be either potted into single pots and planted out in a rich border, in May, or at once transplanted from the seed pot to the border. They will, if the soil be rich, each make a shoot from one to two feet in length the following season; this will make a graft or grafts, which should be grafted on strong stocks on the branches of bearing fruit trees, and in a few years fruit may be expected.

The raising of pears from seed may be made more interesting if the sorts from which they are raised be known; for this purpose only one kind should be sown in a pot, and its name should be placed with it. In a very few years they show their origin in their leaves, and seem to go in races. I have at this moment a number of seedlings raised from Neplus Meuris.—They nearly all look alike. Some of them have born fruit exactly like their parent, one or two however much larger, but unfortunately they ripened in October and were not remarkably good. I have also a batch of seedings from Beurre d'Aremberg; these with one or two exceptions, are apparently of the same race. One of them bore some fruit the past season, exactly like the Beurre d'Aremberg, but they ripened on the tree the first week in September, and were of delicious, flavor, so that if an early pear of the same flavor were wanted, it would be a requisition. Seedlings from Passe Colmar and Glout Morceau retain their family likeness in their habits very remarkably, and this will account for so many new pears being so much like our older varieties, there are some eight or ten new soils ripening at different periods, and nearly as the Glout Morceau tribe, among which Buerre Bachelier seems hardier than its perent--Victoria later, and so on.

So writes a correspondent in the Horticulturist.

Does Chinese Sugar Cane Kill Cattle?

I have fed this plant to all kinds of stock for the past four seasons, in every stage of its growth—green, ripe and cured as fodder. I have found it the best soiling plant I ever raised—horses, mules, sheep, swine, goats and cattle, rapidly fatten when fed on it. I fed two hundred and fifty bushels of the seed during the last winter, to sheep, goats and poultry, and I attach the relative value of oats to it as winter food for these animals. In April last I sowed twenty acres broadcast in Sugar Millet, intending it as a pastere for calves and mich cows. On the first of July I turned the milch cows, sheep, goats, calves, swine and geese upon it, and have not lost a single animal. They have all improved rapidly; and although I have large numbers on the field, the herbage bids fair to keep ahead of all demands upon it. I made it a point to take my animals from good pastures, and feeding them well before turning them in, allowing them plenty of salt. If a half starved cow is turned on wheat, peas, or Indian corn she is just as likely to die from overeating as she is from Chinese Sugar Cane. The disease which kills cattle when over-fed on green fruit in a hungry state is termed hoove, the best cure for which is a drench of a pint of salt dissolved in a gallon of water. This will relieve animals sometimes in a minute, Peas, of all green food, is the most dangerous, from the flatulent nature of the plant. I have frequently seen half a dozen cows die in a few hours after they were turned into a luxuriant pea-field in the fall, and as frequently have seen others relieved by the above dose. A cow which like the asses of Ephraim, had been feeding upon the east wind during the winter, and grazed upon the roadside and bushes, might be expected to die from joy after an over feed of sugar millet. I do not think with the proper precautions, it is in any wise more dangerous than any other green food we are accustomed to feed, and would advise its extended use as a soiling and hay crop in the South.

A. G. SUMNER,

Legal Advertisements:

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage made and executed by James E. Morton to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853, recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 18th day of May A. D. 1853, in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42 and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The east half of the northeast quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the South twenty (20) acres, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue at the Court Room in the City of Adrian, by said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Tecumseh July 1st 1858 498w13

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April ninete-nth A. D. 1856, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien E. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856, in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723 Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 18th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Register's office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan described as the west half of the the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one, township seven south of range two east containing one hundred and twenty acres more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27th day of November next at 11 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee

LUCIEN B. BOWEN, Mortgagee.
LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 27th, 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

Present, Fernando C. Beaman Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Amenzo Van Valkenburgh Randall T. Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valkenburgh minors.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Harlow B. Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered That Monday the Eleventh day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition and that the next of kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN
[A true Copy] 40663 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Billsbearing date the first day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 26th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage. Therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction so the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee
Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858. 394l3

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock, P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant.

PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock, P. M. on Monday October 4th 1858 PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.
Tecumseh, September 25th, 1858

Guardian Sale

By virtue of a licence to me granted by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County and State of Michigan, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, at the dwelling house of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh, in the Township of Franklin, on the Seventh day of December next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the undivided twenty-four, forty-ninth parts of all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin, in said County, and described as follows, to wit: The East half of the South East quarter of section Sixteen in Township five South of range three [3] East, (subject to the right of dower of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh therein,) being all the interest of Amenzo VanValkenburgh, Randall T. VanValkenburgh, and Elizabeth A. VanValkenburgh minors therein.

Terms of sale made known on day of sale.

HARLOW B. CHURCH,
Guardian of said Minors.

Dated October 18th, 1858. 414w6

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust all demands against the estate of Abram Hair, late of Tecumseh, in said county, deceased, will meet at the late residence of said deceased in said township on Saturday the Thirteenth day of November and Saturday the Third day of April next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiveing and passing upon such claims.

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the 9th inst., hath been allowed by said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance.

G. D. PERRY, }
A. J. HUNTER, } Commissioners.

Tecumseh, Oct., 14th, 1858 [413w4

Mortgage Sale.

Sarah Niblack and Sylvenus H. Niblack, made their Mortgage to William B. Whitnah, bearing date August 27th, 1856, to secure the payment of One Hundred and Eighty-one Dollars and interest at ten per cent, one year from the date thereof, and have made default in the payment of the same. Said mortgage was recorded September 8th, 1856, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Lenawee County Registers office, in Book H of mortages, on pages 98 and 99. There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, One hundred and ninety two dollars and fifty eight cents, and no proceedings at law have been instituted to collect the same: Notice is therefore hereby given, that the land in said mortgage mentioned, to wit: That certain piece or parcel of land situate upon Block 11, of Henry L. Hewitt's plat or addition to the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, bound ed as follows: Commencing on the west line of Pearl street in said village, at the north-east corner of lands heretofore sold by C. A. Stacy to William McComb, thence west on the north line of said McCombs twelve rods, thence north parallel with Pearl street six rods, thence east parallel with the first line twelve rods, to the west line of Pearl street, thence south on said west line of Pearl street six rods, to the place of beginning, will be sold at public auction on the 21st, day of January next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, in the city of Adrian.

WILLIAM B. WHITNAH, Mortgagee.
BILLS & BAXTER, Attys.

Tecumseh, October 20th, 1858. [414l3

STONE COAL.

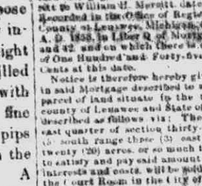
Blossburg and New Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL,

Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 844

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes!

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th 358tf

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh
July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain. 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
165 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cotton wood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 409y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Oct. 16th.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

A CHOICE LOT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!!

Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following Gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
500 Parlor Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Setts, Ear Drops and Pins,	5 to 10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 00
300 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
800 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	2 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens with cases and holders	3 50
2000 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6000 Gold Rings (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents Gold Rings,	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
2500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives,	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleeve Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
8000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry Gift Books, &c &c, not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

Evan's New Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above,

N. B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country.

Any book published in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher.
407m3 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House,

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long-established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers,

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium. Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00	Post 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00	9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00	9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	3c
Among the Engravings are: The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington, 22 inches long by 17 inches wide	1 00	12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24	1 00	12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer	50	9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards	50	9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 406 Broadway, New York.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner, Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated, all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m3Nov&c. 241 Centre St. N. Y.

MISS SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
MRS ANNA WHELPLEY,
MISS VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
MRS DI VERNON,
MISS HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckett & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRIZE!!!

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "
AND TO CLUBS.
Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00 each.
5 do do do	200 00 do
10 do do do	100 00 do
18 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00 do
20 Gold Watches	75 00 do
50 do	60 00 do
100 do	50 00 do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00 do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00 do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00 do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00 do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40; to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $90. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS,
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50 per annum.
15 " " "	15.00 " "
20 " " "	20.00 " " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent, and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FROM NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in the great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article, that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having been satisfied by a considerable extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can BUY BETTER than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands, and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usually five per cent, although in special cases of very large or very small transactions, equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business, with a statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the reply.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lamberd, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
O. Batz Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St. Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such disorders by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c. and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to the very important and much neglected cause.

An invaluable Report on Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address, for Report or treatment, Dr. GEORG B. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary. EZRA D. ROCKWELL, President.
390y

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not equaled. Try them. HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on
GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times."

☞ Satisfaction Warranted.

Tecumseh, Aug. 24th, 406

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S Blood Purifier and Blood Pills

THE GREAT
SCANDINAVIAN
VEGETABLE REMEDIES.

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or Invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class, who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Fits, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the manner in which they operated. Their actualities were compared by sagacious men, with distinguished Physician's statements and it was found that every stage of the proposed cure, was precisely as he had described. The result was that the mind of the country became interested, and that person of the highest standing in every city and town in the Union, patronised the preparations, and admitted the claims of the illustrious dead, to be the First Medical Discoverer of the age

The Blood Purifier and Pills.

are now universally recommended by all informed and candid persons, as an immediate cure for

Indigestion,

Costiveness, diseases of the Kidneys, Cramp in the Stomach, Wind, Colic, Pain between the Shoulders, Nausea, Headache,

Liver Complaint,

Jaundice, Pain in the Right Side, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplessness, Nightmare,

General Debility,

Nervous Tremore, Fainting Fits, Spasms, Mental Irritation, Despondency, Lurking

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 51. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, NOVEMBER 4, 1858. WHOLE NO. 416

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,
J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wed. W. CLARK. Cashier.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.
DRY GOOD'S, CROCKERY, NOTIONS. &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street.
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.
JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL
JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VAN TINE.
FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING,
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.
CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, RailRoad and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO,
MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS.
BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW.
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

STACY & WOOD.
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
331y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
309y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

PETER SHARP.
Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 391

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD.
CORNER OF MAIN RAIL ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$50
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	8	10	15
One Square. (12 Lines,) three weeks,			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements the usual rates.
☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.
☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.
☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.
Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.
Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

Miscellaneous Cards.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description. Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Dr. J. F. TERRY,
RESIDENT OCULIST,
No. 94 WOODWARD AVENUE,
(Over Doughty, Straw & Co's Book Store,)
DETROIT, - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

O. C. ADAMS,
Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's' New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.
Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th. 360m5

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.
MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON.	D. D. MARSHALL.
DELOS D. BARON.	WALLAS GRAY.
D. L. BOWLES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BELBE.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. G. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st.. 1858. 391y

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.
Tecumseh Sept., 1st. 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.
STRONG, LANDON & CO., Proprietors.
☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

TECUMSEH EXCHANGE.
BY W. P. SMALLAGE.
(Near Rail Road Depot)
TECUMSEH, —— MICHIGAN.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO. OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.
FRANK JONES.
Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.
TIM BROWN.
Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

From the Household Words.

A Princes Royal.

I remember to have fallen in once with certain American captains and colonels and men at arms, in a small place on the Brazos river, a few miles north of Jose Maria, in Texas. I had paid a visit to this place, near which a dear companion of my youth had been murdered. We were school fellows, and for five years we had been brother officers in the same regiment. We went to the United States just when the war broke out with Mexico, and became captain of a company of Kentucky riflemen. A few months after the battle of Vera Cruz, he was deputed by the officers of his brigade to present to Gen. Taylor—who was on leave of absence at New Orleans—a gold medal as a token of respect. Choosing the nearest way from the camp, across the country, he set out on his errand with a guide and two servants, all on horseback, armed to the teeth. In Jose Maria, my poor friend unwisely exhibited the medal to a crowd of respectable looking persons, calling themselves colonels, majors and captains, who seemed to take pleasure in studying its engravings. He did not even remark in what a hurry some of those colonels were to start before him. But the medal has, in ten years, never more been heard of, and my old comrade and two of his companions were found shot dead in the ravine.

It was near that place that I also fell among colonels. There was one of them who took a great liking to my horse, when he saw me giving it to the hostler. He tapped it repeatedly on the neck, declaring it with oath, to be a nice animal and no mistake—which assertion he repeated afterward over and over again to his fellow men in the coffee room, who when they had been out to satisfy their curiosity; agreed with him upon the matter.—"Now wouldn't that be a nag for you, major?" he said to a tall powerful man, with rough beard and disgusting features, who sat a little apart from the rest, and wore a large gray coat. The major said nothing, but stalked out of the room, soon afterward, followed by the colonel. The others had again taken up their old topic of conversation, and were talking politics, rather vehemently as I thought, when the waiter—a German—came up to me, and told me in our language, that I had better take care, as those two ruffians outside had set eyes upon my horse, and would be sure to steal it if I gave them the slightest chance. Annoyed at this intelligence, I asked my countrymen what he thought it would be best for me to do.

"Why, said he, you have fallen in with a bad set, and, if you want to keep your horse, I should advise you to escape as soon as possible."

After a little reflection, I resolved to start at once, and I made for the stable. There I found the colonel again, most urgently talking to the hostler, who only looked at me in an impudent manner when I told him to bring out my horse, and paid me no further attention. I therefore began to bridle for myself.

"I say, captain!" said the colonel, coming up to me after a while, and tapping me on the shoulder.

"Sir."

"Come on, man! don't make a fool of yourself! I want to buy that 'ere 'orse, captain!"

"Do you?"

Thank Heaven I was in the saddle by that time.

"Do I! Am I the man to be put out of my way by one of these 'ere chawed up Germans?"

He laid both of his hands upon the bridle of my horse. My blood generally boils at an insulting word against my countrymen; especially when I am far from home in foreign lands. In a trice, the stick of the riding whip came down upon the colonel's head, while the horse, urged to a powerful leap, threw him ten yards upon the ground. As I knew very well that, according to the customs of the country, this was a revolver affair now, and as I had no wish to become entangled in such business, I did not wait until the colonel had picked himself up, but rode forward without delay.

I was stopped by the waiter, whom I heard calling after me, and who was out of breath when he came up to me at last.—The honest fellow gave me a direction, which I was afterwards glad to have followed. He said that the colonel, though a coward, was a most desperate villian, not at all likely to give way so soon, but that the worst of the whole set was that tall fellow, the major, whom he suspected to have gone in search of some of his companions. "You will be chased by a couple of these rogues," he said, "as I am a Saxon! Let me advise you. Follow your way up north until you are out of sight, then do you turn back to the south, as far as Jose Maria. At the ravine south east of that place turn to the left, and, following the course of the brook, ride for your life. Twenty miles up the stream you will come to a settlement, called the Wood Creek. Old Delamotte lives there and he's the man for you to trust."

I offered the waiter a few pieces of money, but he would not take them; a hearty shake of the hand, and this he took cordially.

"Stop!" he said when I had already set spurs to my horse. He lifted up each of the horse's legs, and looked carefully at the shoeing. "All right," he said "I thought the 'ostler might have played you one of his tricks, but he has not yet had time, I suppose. Now, go ahead, and don't forget the Frenchman!"

I darted off.

It was eleven o'clock in the morning. I had to make twenty miles to the ravine which my countryman had pointed out to me. But my horse was worthy of the colonel's admiration; and in spite not only of the roundabout way I had taken in accordance with my friend's advice, and half an hour's delay for rest at Jose Maria, it was but five in the evening when I reached this melancholy spot.

I stopped and looked about me. The surrounding country was all barren and desolate, the soil sterile. There was a wooden cross erected on the spot of the murder, and beneath it lay the mortal remaids of the man whom I had known in the full glow and joy of youth.

A strange feeling made me linger in the place. The little rivulet smoothly gliding eastward showed me the way I was to go, I could follow its course with my eyes to a far distant forrest, the high grass of the prairie having burned a track down as it always does at this time of the year. Yet I still lingered.

The horse began to neigh softly, and to prick up his ears. He was familiar with these prairies, as I had bought him but a few months ago at Little Rock, in Arkansas. There was something the matter.

I listened, but heard absolutely nothing. I alighted, and pressing my ear to the ground, listened again. The earth trembled faintly with the tread of horses yet at a long distance; but when I mounted again, I could hear the sound. It was rapidly approaching from the direction of Jose Maria, and although the woods on that side of me prevented me from seeing anything, I had but little doubt who were the horsemen. Now, colonels, majors, captains, let us see what can be done!—My horse gave such a sudden and vigorous jump when I merely touched him with the whip that I was almost thrown from my seat. I lost my cap, and a gust of wind threw it against that very mound by which I had been bound to the ravine.—To pick it up would have been a waste of time: and as I wished to be out of sight before my pursuers had set foot upon the prairie, I left and sped away, taking as straight a line, as possible in the direction of the distant forest, to avoid the windings of the little brook, yet without losing sight of it. In the brave horse there was no slacking of pace; there was no stumbling. I turned round three or four times during my rapid course, but except a long, thin cloud of dust and ashes, raised by myself, I saw nothing whatever. In an hour or so the forest was before me, and then reining up a little, I again made for the brook.

I had traced its windings for about another hour when I arrived at a clear space in the wood, and got sight of a block house.

"Qui vat la?" asked a deep voice.

"Un ami!" was the answer.

"There were two men near the house, one with gray hair and weather-beaten features, and the other in the prime of youth, both Frenchmen.

The old man looked, with some astonishment at my panting horse covered with foam, at his dilated nostrils and quick-beating flanks.

"Why it seems you are in a hurry," he said.

In a few words I explained the motive of my visit, and told him my adventures at Santa Madred, not forgetting to report the advices of the German waiter at the coffee-house, that I should trust in him for help.

He listened eagerly to my narrative, and when I gave him a minute description of the colonel and major, his attention grew to be intense.

'Again those two scoundrels,' he said. 'Well, man, stay into the house. Never mind the horse, the lad will rub him dry. We have a few hours before us yet.—They know by this time where you are, and will consider twice before they will call here; though we are quite sure to hear of them at nightfall.'

I expressed my regret at the trouble I was bringing upon him; but he only laughed and replied: 'Never mind, we are their match.'

'But we are only three, and after all we don't know how many ruffians the tall fellow may bring with him.'

'Let him bring a score, we are their match, I tell you. Do you account the Princess Royal nobody?

'The what?'

'The Princess Royal: la Princess Royal!' he laughed again. 'Don't stare at me, you'll see her by-and-by.'

The block house had a very durable appearance; it was two stories high, and the upper room was neatly furnished. On the wall I observed a portrait of Gen. Moreau. My host was no friend of the first Emperor of the French: the present Emperor he mentioned only once during our conversation, and I had better not say what he said.

He lighted a candle and began to block the windows up, whilst I was eating and drinking what he had placed on the table. The lad made all safe on the ground floor, and secured the door.

'Now we are all right!' said the old man taking his seat at the table, and mixing rum and water in a large bowl.

'Au triomphe de la bonne!' he said touching glasses with me.

'But I don't see any arms,' I presently suggested.

'Arms? I have plenty of that stuff.—How do you think a man could get along in these woods without arms? But we shant want them to-night.' Again he laughed. 'We have the Princess Royal.'

He moved the candle with the other things from the table, and went out of the room.

The door was opened again about five minutes afterward. I heard the crack of a whip. I saw a rapid flash before my eyes, and with a mighty bound, that made my very blood run cold, a large jaguar leaped in, alighted with a heavy pounce upon the table.

'La Princess Royale!' announced my host.

I do not know exactly what figure I may have presented at that moment; but I should not wonder if anybody were to tell me that I looked like a caravan.

'Don't be afraid of her,' said the laughing Frenchman, when he saw me still as a mouse, scarcely venturing to turn my looks to her cruel eyes.

'She is decent as a cat when I am by. Caress her, she likes to be fondled; it's the weak side of the sex, you know.'

I touched her delicate fur but slightly with my hand, stroking it softly down her strong and beautiful back, the right way of the fur, you may be sure.

She bent her powerful and elastic limbs under my frail hand, and fanning the air with her curved tail, seemed to encourage me to bestow more caresses.

'Well, how do like the Princess?' asked my host.

'Why she is indeed handsome, and I have seen none in the world more majestic.'

'Take her down stairs, George, he said to the lad, handing the whip over to him, 'and keep a look out yourself; but mind don't you give her any more supper She shall help herself to-night.'

He placed the cradle and our glasses again upon the table, and began to sip his grog quite leisurely.

'By Heavens, man.' I said, after a pause, 'it cannot be your real purpose to set the tiger on those people?'

En, parbleu!" replied he, 'and why not? What else do they deserve? Are they not also tigers? You don't know them as I do! The tall rascal is a convicted felon, and ought to have been hanged two years ago at San Francisco. He contrived an escape and fled to Kansas. As to the other rogue, there is hardly a crime he has not stained his hands with. Make your mind easy about that.'

A sudden thought came into my mind, and I asked him whether he knew anything about that murder of my friend ten years ago in the ravine near Jose Maria?

No, he knew nothing about that. It was before his time, only he should not wonder if the Major had a hand in it; it looked very like him.

We were interrupted by a loud knocking at the door. The lad came in soon afterwards, telling us that he could descry five of them, all on horseback.

The old man rose, and moved one of the mattresses a little aside, he looked cautiously through the window. It was about 9 o'clock, and the darkness began to set in with the rapidity peculiar to southern climates.

The knocks were repeated more vehemently, accompanied with a loud summons to open the door.

'Here they are, sure enough!' said the old man. 'I wonder why this Major doesn't go to Kansas; he is the very man for Kansas politics.'

'If you don't open now, you French dog, said a coarse voice, 'we'll break the door.'

The eyes of the old man flashed fire, but he spoke never a word.

'You know me Delamotte,' said another voice, which I heard before 'You know Colonel Brown. But though we 'ave to settle an old account, I 'ave no business with you this time, it's the stranger I want, he has stolen a 'orse; give him up to us and we'll be off in a minute.'

'No use talking to that old miser,' said the former voice, with an oath.—'Come on, boys, break that door in, and end it!'

He seemed to suit the word, for a tremenduous crash came.

'En avant,' said the old man to the lad, and they both went down stairs.

I rose and paced up and down the room with rapid steps. Something terrible, awful was going on.

The whole block house shook and trembled with the violent kicks and blows which were dealt at the door, but nevertheless I coul hear distinctly when the iron bar was removed from it, and then—I felt as if all my blood were rushing suddenly to my heart—leaving not one single drop in any limb of my whole body.

A roar—not at all like those you may hear in the Zoological Gardens, Regent's Park, at feeding time—but a hundred times wilder, sharper, more piercing, more furious; then human cries and despair—the trampling of flying horses—the quick report of fire arms—then again the roar, but this time much louder, more savage, more furious, more horrible; then a heavy fall and a confused noise of grinding teeth; then nothing more because I stopped my ears with my hands.

When I turned round, my host sat at the table again, sipping his grog as if nothing had happened.

'I am afraid,' he said, after a while, 'the Princess has been wounded. I have never heard her roaring in that way.—Well, we must see after this to-morrow. It would be a dangerous job for any man to go near her to-night!'

Next morning I stood by his side when he opened the door. My first glance fell upon the tiger cowering in a thick brown-red pool. She was licking at a red spot on her left flank, which seemed to have bled profusely, but with both her powerful fore paws she clung to a deformed and shapeless mass which bore no likeness to anything I had ever seen. The corpse of a horse, frightfully mutilated, lay close by, and the whole ground was strewn with fragments of a horrible appearance. My host having examined them all with intense curiosity, cracked his whip and moved straight towards the tiger.

A hollow menacing roar warned him off; the savage creature showed its formidable range of long and powerful teeth, and had lost all signs of her old tameness.

'She is thirsty for more blood, the Princess Royal is,' said the Frenchman That is nature, you know. She can't help it, I suppose; and as I should be grieved to kill her, we must wait till she comes round again.'

We had to wait long. After three days, the old man himself beginning to doubt whether she ever would come round again, was forced to kill her after all.

When we were thus enabled to examine at leisure that horrible battle-field, he drew my attention to some remnants of a coat in which the gray color was still to be distinguished.

'He has had his reward?' said the old man though it costs me dear. Better than all those majors was my poor old 'Princess Royal.'

☞ It is proposed to establish an institution for the education of young ladies, in which the science of weavology, spinology and cookology will form a part.—After obtaining these accomplishments, they may receive a regular diploma, with the honored degree of F. F. W.—Fit For Wives.

The Light at Home.

The light at home! how bright it beams
When evening shades around us fall;
And from the lattice far it gleams
To love, and rest, and comfort all,
When wearied with the toils of day,
And strife for glory, gold or fame,
How sweet to seek the quiet way,
Where loving lips will lisp our name.

When through the dark and stormy night
The wayward wanderer homeward hies,
How cheering is the twinkling light,
Which through the forest gloom he spies!
It is the light of home, He feels
That loving hearts will greet him there,
And softly through his bosom steals
The joy and love that banish care.

The light at home! How still and sweet
It peeps from yonder cottage door—
The weary laborer to greet
When the rough toils of day are o'er!
Sad is the soul that does not know
The blessings that its beams impart,
The cheerful hopes and joys that flow,
And lighten up the heaviest heart.

SOMETHING ROMANTIC.—Some seven or eight years ago, a middle aged farmer arrived in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, from California, and after a short stay in the city engaged himself to work on a farm about fifteen miles in the country toward Ewa. There he has lived ever since, delving along very quietly, never speaking unless spoken to, earning for himself a reputation for eccentricity.—Recently, circumstances led to his case being mentioned in a certain circle when it appeared quite probable that our farmer was the same person who eight years ago "mysteriously disappeared" from one of the Western States, where he had a farm and was comfortably situated.

Letters of inquiry were immediately dispatched to the locality indicated, and by a recent mail answers returned, confirming the identity of the stranger. It seems that about eight years since, while working in the field on his farm, he received a blow on the head from a falling tree, which rendered him quite oblivious of who and what he was and caused him to wander off without knowing where.—Thus he found his way to these islands, and but for an accident, would perhaps, have eventually died here. During his long absence from home, two of his three children have died, and his anxious wife had despaired of ever seeing him again.—It is to be hoped that the unconscious wanderer will soon be restored to his friends.—Honolulu Commercial Advertiser.

The individual above referred to is doubtless none other than Josiah Burton whose wife, son and daughter now reside in this city.—Grand Rapids Eagle.

LOOKING GLASSES.—The fair belle as she arranges her tresses before the miner, or the hirsute man, who shaves his head by its aid, does not consider the "dreadful trade" of those who have been engaged in the manufacture. The silvering of the glass is done principally in France and Germany. The process is one of the most curious of the modern arts, and is an extremely simple one. A sheet of tin foil somewhat larger than the glass plate, is laid upon a smooth table, and quick-silver poured over it until the foil is covered with a thickness of a tenth of an inch or more. All impurities being swept off from the surface of the mercury and the glass plate made scrupulously clean, it is brought even with the edge of the table, and pushed gently forward sideways, so as to slide over the mercury bath, its edge just dipping beneath its surface, so as to push before it all impurities, and to exclude all air bubbles.

Weights are then evenly applied to the glass, and the whole table inclined to such an angle as to favor the drawing off of the superfluous mercury. This requires some days or weeks according to the size of the plate. There is a constant risk in the whole pocess, even when the greatest care is practiced. The larger the glass, the greater the danger of breakage and imperfections. Sometimes the amalgam crystalizes, producing flaws, which require the operation to be repeated. It is these causes which make large mirrors so very costly. In addition to this, high wages must be paid to the workmen, as the mercury produces salivation, destroys their health, renders some of them cripples for years, and prematurely shortens the lives of all.

'Tally,' said a mother to her daughter, who had seen but three summers, 'what would you do without your mother?'

'I should put on every day just such a dress as I wanted to,' was the prompt reply.

Why can't the captain of a vessel keep a memorandum of the weight of his anchor instead of weighing it every time he leaves port?

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Weep Thou.

Weep thou with those who weep,
Aye weep thou with thy friend;
Thy heart in union keep,
Till time and life shall end.

Disturb not those who weep,
It may be for their sin;
Thus in contrition deep,
Let better life begin.

Shared the fear that's shed,
By friends on earth below;
Above the loved one dead,
Though happiness they know.

Let those who weep, weep on,
The heart will lighter feel;
When sympathies are gone,
They pierce the soul like steel.

Let those who are joyous weep,
Their feelings to express;
Their joy ourselves so deep,
Bursts forth in excess.

Scoff not at manhoods tears,
They show his heart's not hard;
In all your doubts and fears,
He will you kindly guard.

In sympathy weep thou,
With those in trouble cast;
Twill lighten grief below,
And sweeten death at last.

W. D.

New York, Nov 1.

The steamship Borussia arrived here yesterday morning from Hamburg, and Southampton with European news to the 18th—two days later.

The intellignce is not important.

A Decree has been published in Madrid which places American steamers running regularly between ports of the United States and Cuba on the same footing as English steamers visiting Cuban ports.

The difficulty between France and Portugal remains unadjusted.

Atlantic Telegraph shares had fallen to 300 and 350 pounds.

The commercial advices are not later than those by the Persia.

The steamship Empire City also arrived from Havana yesterday, 26th.

An expedition of 400 marines on board the steamship Burenguela had been sent to Tampico to force Garza to make restitution of the money he had made the foreign merchants pay.

Two British screw steamers had arrived with cooley slaves and another was reported to have landed 1,600 negroes from Africa.

The Sugar market was more active and stock on hand somewhat reduced.

Washington, Oct. 30.

The President has prepared and will forthwith issue a proclamation in the usual form for the prevention of filibustering expeditions to Central America.

Mr. Butterfield arrived here to day with a view to obtain protection to the California overland mail, which he says could be rendered at a comparatively small expense, and which would enable him to shorten the time of transit to twenty-two days.

Gen. Paez and suite dined with the President and members of the Cabinet at the residence of Gen Cass, by invitation. Gen. Paez to day delivered to the Secretary of State a letter from President Martinez in apology for the offensive allegations against the United States in the manifesto on the occasion of the contract formed with Mr. Belly.

Our Government has no complaint to make with regard to France in connection with her movements in Central America.

A new contract has been entered into by Gen. Irrez and a Philrdelphia company represented by J. C. Van Dyke, for a Nicaragua Transit The Administration knows nothing officially of the Transit.

The report that Geo. N. Sanders had gone to Kansas on business of the President and is likely to succeed to the Governorship, has no truthful foundation.

The Attorney General has given an opinion in reference to the proper construction of the Act of June last, which provides that the title to a land warrant issued after the death of a person who had applied for it according to the prescribed form shall vest in the widow, if there be one; and if there be no widow, the heirs and legatees of the claimants; he draws the following conclusions: First, that a warrant issued after the death of the claimant who has left a widow and children is for the widows benefit alone—Secondly, if the deceased claimant leaves a widow and two sets of children, the warrant enures to the benefit of her heirs and legatees; and Thirdly, the heirs are those who are so declared by the Law of Claimants Domicile

Vincennes, Oct. 27

This evening just at dusk a man went to the residence of Jno. Price, a Conductor on the O. & M. R. R., begging for something to eat. The servant girl took him a plate of victuals, and as she handed it him he struck her on the head with a slung shot, felling her to the floor and inflicting a mortal wound. The assassin then rushed upon Mrs. Price, who succeeded in escaping out of a back door Her cries alarmed the neighbors, but the villian escaped and has not been arrested. His object is supposed to have robbery.—Mrs. Price and the girl were alone at the time.

☞ Advices from Callao are to the 28th of September.

Election Returns

Adrian Township.—Rep. maj. 59; Wisner 32; Waldron 32; Turner 11; Clark for Representative 30.

Brassfield.—Wisner, Rep. Gov. 70 maj; Fairfield, do., remainder of State officers 77; Waldron, 80; Carpenter, 92; Sharp, 77; Bennett, 60; Bliss, 103; Turner, 36; Geddes, 74; Beecher, 77; Howell, 77; Kent, 77; Coroners, 77.

Cambridge.—Democratic majority for Stuart 28.

Dover.—Wisner, 18; Waldron, 16; Perry 18; Cleveland, Dem. for Supt 8; Hart, Dem. for Reg. 5; Green, Rep. for Representative 18.

Fairfield.—Wisner 56; Bennett 14; Turner 7.

Franklin.—Republican State officer 160.

Hudson.—Rep. State officers 140; Bennet 145; Turner 186.

Macon.—Rep. State officers 41.

Medina.—Rep State officers 89 maj.: Waldron 85; Beecher 89; Bennet 60; Bliss 89; Turner 41; Geddes 89; Howell 92; Coroners 89; Perry 89; Green 85. So reported by Wm. Tompkins, Esq

Madison.—Rep. State officers 64; Waldron 58; Bennett 13; Clark 84.

Ogden.—Wisner 77; remainder of the Rep. State officers 79; Waldron 68; Beecher 80; Bennet 75; Bliss 80; Turner 74; Howell 79; Coroners 79; Kent 77; Carpenter 62; Sharp 49

Palmyra.—Rep. State officers 96 maj. Waldron 95; Bennett 81, Bliss 104; Turner 85; Geddes 96; Howell 95; Carpenter 96; Sharp 96.

Raisin.—Wisner 105; Waldron 106.

Riga.—Dem. maj. for Stuart 20; Cleveland 38.

Ridgeway.—Rep. State officers 26.

Rome.—Wisner 53; Waldron 47.

Seneca.—Stuart, for Gov. 4; Hrrt, for Register 6.

Tecumseh.—Wisner 30; Stacy 16; Hart 9.

Woodstock.—Stuart Dem for Governor has 41 majority.

Michigan Election.

Detroit gives the State ticket from 300 to 400 maj. Republicans claim 8 of the 11 Aldermen and a portion of the County ticket. Returns from the State are meagre, and indicate a tight vote, in consequence of the severe storm which prevailed throughout the State to-day.

The Republicans have undoubtedly elected all their Congressmen.

St. Joseph Co., 600 rep., maj.

Hillsdale Co. complete, gives Wisner 1400, Fairfield 500; Waldron 1500 maj. All the county officers Republican.

Sherwood is 16 rep. Madison 40 rep. Bronson dem. 10, Giliad, 90 rep. Batavia, 27 rep. Union 116. Coldwater, for Gov. 160. Congress 103 County ticket average 50 rep. California tie. Quincy, rep. maj. 101.

Detroit, Nov. 3d.

Boisterous weather last night, prevented returns from towns, unless immediately accessible by telegraph, from coming.

Additional returns place the election of Howard, rep. for Congress in 1st dist in doubt though his election is yet claimed by the republicans by a fair maj.

The democrats appear to have made small gains in the western part of the State while the republicans hold their own in the southern.

Returns yet too meagre to properly estimate the republican maj. for State ticket.

Boston Oct. 2.

The result of the election in this State to-day, judging from returns thus far received, is favorable to the Republicans.—In this city the vote for Governor foots up. Banks 6348; Beach 6357; Lawrence 916.

The returns from 70 cities and towns give a plurality of 9,000 for Banks.

The Dem's, elected elected B F Butler to State Senate and Caleb Cushing to House of Representatives, in the 4th Congressional District.

Alexander H. Rice republican, is elected by 1,000 plurality, in the 5th Dist.

Burlingame's election is conceded. In the 6th Dist., John B Alley republican is elected.

Boston, Nov. 3.

Returns from all but 15 towns give Banks 65,000; Beach 32,000 round numbers; Senators 37 republicans; 3 dem's. Representatives, 192 rep's; 19 dem's.; 10 Americans; 9 to hear from. Burlingame's maj. for Congress upwards of 4,000.

River Du Loupe, Nov. 1.

A steamer has just hove in sight, supposed to be the Indian, from Liverpool.—We expect to receive her news soon.—The boatmen have gone for it, but probably not in season for the afternoon edition to-day.

☞ "I know I am a perfect bear in my manners," said a fine young farmer to his sweetheart.

"No, indeed you are not, John, you have never hugged me yet. You are more sheep than bear.

General News.

A Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 31.

By James Buchanan, President of the United States. Whereas, information has reached me from sources which I cannot disregard, that certain persons, in violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, are making a third attempt to set on foot a military expedition within their territory, against Nicaragua, a foreign State with which they are at peace. In order to raise money for equiping and maintaining this expedition persons connected therewith, as I have reason to believe, have issued and sold bonds and other contracts pledging the public lands of Nicaragua and the transit route through its territory as a security for their redemption and fulfillment.

The hostile design of this expedition is made manifest by the facts that these bonds and contracts can be of no possible value to their holders unless the present Government of Nicaragua shall be over thrown by force. Besides the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of that Government in the United States, has issued a notice in pursuance of his instructions, dated the 27th instant forbidding the citizens or subjects of any nation except passengers intending to proceed to Nicaragua over the transit route from Ocean to Ocean to enter its territory without a regular pasport signed by the proper Minister or Consul of the Republic resident in the country from whence they shall have departed. Such persons, with this exception, will be stopped and compelled to return by the same conveyance that took them to the country. From these circumstances the inference is irresistable that persons engaged in this expedition will leave the United States with hostile purposes against Nicaragua. They cannot, under the guise which they have assumed, that they are peaceful emigrant, conceal their real intention; and especially, when they know in advance that their landing will be resisted and can only be accomplished by an overwhelming force.

This expedient was successfully resorted to previous to the last expedition and the vessel in which those composing it were conveyed to Nicaragua obtained a clearance from the Collector of the port of Mobile. Although after careful examination no arms or amunitions of war were discovered on board, yet when they arrived in Nicaragua they were found to be armed and equipped, and immediately commenced hostilities. The leaders of the former illegal expeditions of the same character have openly expressed their intention to renew hostilities against Nicaragua. One of them, who has already been expelled twice from Nicaragua, has invited through the public newspapers American citizens to emigrate to that Republic, and has designated Mobile as the place of rendezvou and departure, and San Juan Del Norte as the point to which they are bound. This person, who has renounced his allegiance to the United States and claims to be President of Nicaragua and has given notice to the Collector of the port of Mobile that two or three hundred of these emigrants will be prepared to embark from that port about the middle of November

For these and other good reasons, and for the purpose of saving American citizens who may have been honestly deluded into the belief that they are about to proceed to Nicaragua as peaceful emigrants, if any such there be from the disastrous consequences to which they will be exposed, I, James Buchanan, President of the United States, have thought it fit to issue this, my proclamation, enjoining on all officers of the government, civil or military, in their respective spheres, to be vigilant, active, and faithful in suppressing these illegal enterprises, and in carrying out their standing instructions to that effect, and exhorting all good citizens by their respect for the laws and their regard for the peace and welfare of the country, to aid the efforts of the public authorities in the discharge of their duties. In testimony whereof, I hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the U. S. to be affixed to these presents. Done at the city of Washington, this 30th day of October 1858, and of the Independence of the United States the 83d. [Signed]

By the President. James Buchanan, Lewis Cass, Sec'y of State.

Washington, Nov. 1.

The following officers have been ordered to the steamer America: Commander Jos. F. Green: Lieutenants, Cuyler, Belknap, M. P. Jones, Adams and Green; Engineers, DeLuce, Snyder, Whitaker, Develin and Brown.

The following have been ordered to the steamer Metacomet:—Lieut. Commanding Macomb, Lieutenants, Moore, Fairfax and Celley. Both the above vessels are for the Paraguay expedition.

J. H. Rathbun has been appointed Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps, vice Paine, dismissed. Lieut. Moffit has been ordered to the coast survey. Lieut. Livingtton of the Navy has resigned.

☞ Mr. Buckalee was recognized as American Minister by the Government of Equador on the 16th of Sept.

From the Chicago Press and Tribune.

A Heavy Swindling Operation—Two Drovers Defranded out of $8,000.

A most singular case of what appears to be a pretty severe swindling operation for the victims of the same, came to light in this city on Monday night or rather Tuesday morning. From the history of the case as far as we have been able to glean the same, as well as by the testimony given at the examination of the two parties arrested yesterday afternoon before Justice Milliken, the following appears to be the outline of the case.

In the spring of the present year two men named A. L. D. Benham, and Jas. A. Barnet, residents of Texas, started from Gonzales Co., in that State, with a herd of five hundred cattle and beeves, intending to find a market at Fort Leavenworth. The change in the aspect of affairs on the frontier not long after induced them to abandon their purpose, and they were much discheartened thereat, both being young men, and their means being chiefly in their herd.

While grazing their cattle and waiting for something to "turn up," they came across a man named Garret Dorland, of Ashland county Ohio, who was about to start for this city with a drove of mustang horses, and with them, after some chaffering, he agreed to take the whole herd of five hundred and twelve cattle and beeves at about sixteen dollars per head, for a total sum of $8,272.

Garret Dorland was then with his son, John Dorland, a resident of Texas, and a younger son, George, belonging in Ohio, and an agreement was made whereby the two, Barret and Benham, should join company with the Dorlands, and aid in bringing the herd to Chicago, receiving for their services at the rate of $20 per month. For the price of the herd, the elder Dorland gave his note for four months from June 15th, 1858.

Appended to the note, which was in evidence yesterday, was an agreement regulating the payment of the note, and containing a stipulation whereby John Dorland was to staud in the old man's stead in case of his, the elder Dorland, failure to fulfill the agreement.

The parties came on to Chicago, reaching this city about the 15th instant, the day the note matured. Finding it difficult to realize on the herd, the elder Dorland, who seems to have conferred with the holders of the note throughout, determined to kill and pack the cattle for sale in New York. He did so; and from Messrs. Hubbard & Huat obtained advances to the amount of $6,400.

The statement of Benham and Barnett agrees in the report of representing that Dorland continually deferred attention to his note until last Monday night, when he suddenly turned up missing. The whole party was stopping at the Sollitt House, on Franklin st.; and throughout Tuesday the sons entertained, or affected to entertain, great anxiety in his behalf, lest he had been robbed and murdered,

The younger Dorland finally on that day produced a letter, which he stated he had received from his father, as follows:

Chicago, Sept. 28, 1858.

John, it is with a sorrowful heart I write this. After you left me, I went up to town to the auction room, and from that to where there was a large crowd.—After leaving there, and got nearly to our boarding house, I discovered my vest pocket was cut open and three thousand dollars gone. What to do I did not know. I just concluded I would say nothing about it, and "put" on the cars for home and get the money if possible, and return by Thursday. I want you to sell the horses if you can, and pay it to Barnet and Benam. They probably will think it strange, but I thought it best for me to start this evening, as I can get here by one o'clock to morrow. Do the best you can till I get back. I wanted to pay them, but they would take nothing but gold or drafts, and would not allow any discount. If they had taken it they would have had their money now. But I can't say whether I can pay them now or not, till I get home.

Yours, in haste, G. Dorland.

Benham and Barnet at once caused the arrest of the two Dorlands, who were taken into custody on Wednesday by City Marshal Rehm and Officer William Douglas, and were yesterday brought before Justice Milliken, charged with conspiracy with their father to defraud the sellers of the cattle of their money.

The case was not concluded last evening, but stands adjourned to 2 P. M. today. We have given its main features, which have a bad look as far as regards the missing Dorland, and certainly for the two losers, who seemed much cast down at their heavy loss.

Madison, Ind., Oct. 28.

Shrewsbury & Price's Flouring Mill, one of the largest in the country, was entirely destroyed by fire this morning.—Two thousand bushels of wheat were burned. Loss $50,000; insured $20,000.

Savannah, Oct. 27.

The deaths in this city to-day were three, of which two were of yellow fever.

We clip the following from a letter of the Salt Lake correspondent of the St Louis Republican:

I have been engaged in matters of my own business for several days past, that I fear that my letter will be rather uninteresting. However I have snatched one or two days from the week and visited some objects of interest in this immediate vicinity, among which I may mention that great wonder of the world, Great Salt Lake itself. Yesterday morning in company with Capt. John D. Radford an old St Louisian, (who does not know Jack Radford, both in the mountains and at home,) Judge Sinclare and Mr. Henry Habot, we paid a visit to this great wonde ful curiosity It lies about eighteen miles northwest of this city, and the drive is a beautiful one. Our ambulance was well stored with proveuder, for Capt. Radford was the sutler upon the occasion, and and after about two hours' drive we approached the margin of the great lake.—For miles the long flats from which the water had receded, presented the appearance of snow and ice, so perfectly incrusted was it with pure salt, the crystalized deposits flashing in the sunlight like myriads of diamonds. We finally came from the flat and rode miles over a plain of hard, undulterated salt, as hard almost as a graveled turnpike. Talk about your 'shell roads,' give me the Lake flat, white as snow, sparkling with saline diamonds, and as level as a billiard table.—Limestone, gravel, boulders and Russ pavements will do very well for the States, but we in the mountains here dash our nags at a "two forty speed" over plains of immaculate and crystalized salt, no dust, no circumscribed boundaries of hedge or fence, but a wide expanse so white, that a bridal dress would be unsullied if brought in contact with its polished surface.

Salt Lake receives all the washings of the mountains as well as the various streams in this valley, yet it is a fact, which admits of no doubt, that the Lake is gradually drying up. Whether this be attributed to the process of evaporation or some other agency has not been satisfactorily settled, nevertheless the fact is well substantiated.

There are a number of salt boilers upon the shores, but they are almost a needless institution, except for refining processes, as the natural deposits alone would supply the world for thousands of years. Some estimate may be formed of the strength of the water, when from four gallons of water one gallon of pure salt can be obtained On our trip yesterday we forded a portion of the lake and came very near swamping our mules, and bivouacked, on Antelope Island, about four miles distant from the main beach. Antelope Island rises like a mountain from the lake, and is about as rugged and rocky a fomation as ever was we had by water It is very large, I do not know its extent abounding with springs, and it is said to be an excellent herding ground or range. One thing, however, I particularly observed, if for no other reason than it could not be avoided, and that was the immense number of lizards that beset us at every step. I could not put my foot down without bringing it in contact with these disagreeable-looking reptiles, as thick as grass hoppers in an ordinary season in a garden.

We corraled upon a rocky point, where, after administering some oats to our mules, we drew forth our provision box and went in with a keen appetite, and washed down our vituals with several bottles of pure Missouri wine. As we looked upon the labels of the labels of the bottles lively recollections of home and the dear ones far away, came swelling up, and the dear old 'border ruffian State' was, you may rest assured, pledged in our bumpers. In our party was a small specimen of the genius African—a very little nigger, whom we had purposely brought along to experiment with, to be used as a sort of hydrometer, not for the pursose of ascertaining the specific gravity of the water, but to see what effect its action would have upon his ebony skin.

As we all went bathing, young cuffee was stripped also, and when he came out and dried, he was the most crystalized looking nigger that ever was seen in the Territory. His black skin formed a spendid back ground to bring the salt out in a bold relief, and if he had been greased and tarred and suddenly stuck in a snow-drift, the metamorphosis could not have been greater; there, with his wooly head and dusky features, he stood his cranium not unlike the 'night hawk' on the jack-staff of a steamboat. It was no original thought of ours, we had hear of it before, and the expeiment was beautiful.

New York, Nov. 1.

The Washington correspondence of the Times, confirms the report that a new Nicaragua Transit company is about being formed in Philadelpha. Messrs. Vandikes and Wallace are the parties who have the contract which was executed by Jercq on Saturday. It is understood that Commodore Vanderbilt is a secret partner in the enterprise. The contracts require semi-monthly mail for 50 years, or should a railroad be built for 60 years.

Special Notices.

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm. A small one preferred. Enquire of JACOB TOTTEN. Tecumseh, October 1st, 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the name of J. W. Beers & Brother, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, all those indebted to the late firm, either by note or account, are hereby respectfully requested to call and close up the Company affairs without delay.

J. W. BEERS.
S. A. BEERS.

Tecumseh, Nov 1st., 1858.

The undersigned will continue the Business at the Old Stand, and would solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed upon the Company until "run out of Town by Competitors at a Sacrifice of Six or Seven Hundred Dollars."

J. W. BEERS.

Tecumseh, Nov. 1st., 1858.

A. H. C. BROCKEN,

22 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homœopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursing Bottles, Etc.

Glass Ware for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package A liberal discount made to the trade Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&eo408m3

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. The child was cured and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name Address, O. P. Brown, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. [41lm3

☞ 5000 Agents Wanted to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN, Lowell, Mass. 41lm3

☞ $32,00 in one day—$52,50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book. E BROWN, Lowell, Mass. 41lm3

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address

Rev. EDWARD A WILSON,
41lm3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!

DR NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrofula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested, by the use of these valuable medicines. The pills and bitters are also a cure for rheumatism, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B Moffat, 335 Broadway, N Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and N'w Castle Coal of the best quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic uses for sale. Cheap for Cash by E. TINDALL, Tecumseh, June 12, 1857 344

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of Steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation—has enabled me to arrive at & declare direct and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are diffused and dressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside are to well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the institution, prepared to suit each individual case Inhaling Tubes, Medical Inhalers &c. &c. will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. Terms—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $6 to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month. If the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No 5.9 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St. N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected c&eo408m6

A CHOICE LOT OF FAMILY GROCERIES

At Union Hall

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

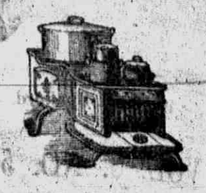
A New and Superior article—also Common Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E. Tindall.

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection, the best, for sale cheap by E. Tindall.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. W. Halls'

To-Days Advertisements.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

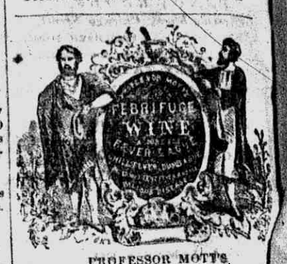
Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler.
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th



PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Bumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles, and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, Sole Proprietor, New York

☞ To whom all orders must be address

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and speedy extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst cases yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

John Winer, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stillson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m6

CHAIN PUMPS.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORNER.
Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857.

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
100 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county
5 Houses and Lots in this village, and 2 Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Pine Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL
Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit

No 94 Woodward Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage. 400y

Detroit, September 16th,

"The Tailor Shop."

The subscribers continue in the Tailoring Business, at their old stand, Bidwells Block, up stairs. They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.

Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.

All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Ssatisfaction warranted.

☞ Cutting done to order.

JONES & SCHEEK

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY
GEORGE S. SPAFFORD,
CORNER OF MAIN AND ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$45
One-half do	10	15	30
One-third do	9	14	20
One-quarter do	6	10	15
One Square. (12 Lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square one week			50
Each subsequent insertion, up to three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates.

☞ Business Cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

Local and Miscellaneous.

"Volume Nine."

ONE more number and the Herald will commence the nineth volume.—A large amount is due on our books, which we hope will be settled before the 11th day of November next.

Election News.

We are unable to give the official news this week. Lenawee Co, is Republican 1100.

FIRE.

Tecumseh was visited with another severe fire on the evening of Nov. 2d, commencing with A. Randall & Co's. Shoe Store on Chicago Street, and destroyed also, George Curtis' Drug Store and Jas. Gilmans Harness Shop Brown's Barber Shop, with a large share of their contents. The loss as near as can be ascertained is as follows:

H. Randall & Co., entire stock, $15-00, insured $14,00; George Curtis $4500, insured $2000; J. S. Gilman $200, insured; H. A. Adams, building $1000, not insured; Jos. Church, $300, not insured; T. Brown $50, no insurance; M. P. Henry $300, insured; Henry Taylor $250, insured. Total loss probably $4000.

As there was no fire in the Shoe Store during the day and as no traces of about $180 in gold belonging to Mr Church, and kept in the Store, can be found, it is generally believed that the money was stolen and the Store then set on fire to conceal the theft. It was only by the most preserving and unremitting efforts that the dwelling house of M. P. Henry on the one side, and Union Hall and Bidwell's block on the other, were preserved.

GOVERNOR BINGHAM has appointed Thursday, Nov., 25th, as a day of Thanksgiving. Where is our turkey?

☞ John P. Sievers, offers for sale at public auction, Saturday Nov. 6th, at his residence, a large amount of property.

☞ David VanTine has received a new stock of cane for chair seats.

☞ The new Rail Road time table will be found under the market reports

☞ L. D. Barker, of Adrian, has opened the Empire Saloon, a few doors below Walby's Bank, in fine style.—Our friends visiting Adrian will always find an excellent meal at the Empire.

☞ After this week we will issue the Herald on Wednesday instead of Thursday as heretofore.

School Inspectors Notice.

The board of school Inspectors for the township of Tecumseh, will meet at Union School house in Tecumseh, on Saturday, Nov., 6th, 1858, at 1 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the Primary schools of said Township.

C. D. STEVENS, Town Clerk.

☞ T. T. Romyne advertises his valuable Farm for sale.

☞ The Lenawee County Musical Convention will be held at Adrian, commencing Monday, November 8th, and continue five days, under the direction of Prof. R. Lomis.

☞ The committee, having in charge the building of the Free Church in Sturgis, got up a bee to haul brick from the yard near Kidd's mills, and some sixty or seventy teams turned out. The procession entered the village, headed by a band of music and a large banner, on which was inscribed "Free Church." A capital dinner was prepared for the teamsters to which ample justic was done. On the succeeding Saturday another turn out was made, and thus the brick for the entire church was hauled, without expense. Such acts are praise worthy and reflect great credit on the community. They expect to have the church dedicated, about the last of November.

Miscellaneous Cards.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description, Promptly Executed at THIS OFFICE.

DR. J. F. TERRY,
RESIDENT OCULIST,
No. 94 WOODWARD AVENUE,
(Over Doughty, Straw & Co's Book Store.)
DETROIT. - - - - - MICHIGAN.

O. C. ADAMS,
Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

MRS. E. M. BISSELL.

DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE ARTIST.

Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh Oct. 14th. 360m5

THE Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.

Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.

MEMBERS!

FRED EMERSON, DELOS LeBARON, D. L. SHOLES, J. A. BELKS, O. G. ADAMS, D. D. MARSHALL, WALLAS GRAY, JEROME ALLEN, ALFRED JAMES, GEO. SPAFFORD.
Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

DENTAL SURGERY.

Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.
Tecumseh Sept, 1st 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.
STRONG, LANDO N. & CO., Proprietors.

☞ Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

TECUMSEH EXCHANGE,
BY W. P. SMALLAGE.
(Near Rail Road Depot)
TECUMSEH, — MICHIGAN.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
☞ General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R. P. ANGIER, - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO, OHIO.

SHAVING SALOON.
FRANK JONES.
Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.
TIM BROWN.
Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F.
Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M.
Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

A. RANDALL & CO.
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office.
403 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

F. BILLS. B. I. BAXTER.
BILLS & BAXTER.
ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW.
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.
GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c
Brownville, Michigan.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH, November 4 1858.

Wheat	85@90
Flour	5 50@6 00
Buckwheat	1 00
" flour	3
Barley	50@55
Corn	55
Oats	30@35
Clover seed
Beans	50@60
Potatoes new	35@40
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5@6
Butter	13
Tallow	a 10
Lard	10
Eggs	9
Cheese	9
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	3 50@4 25
Pork	4 50@5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	4
Calf skins	8@10
Sheep pelts	30@50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	2 00
do diary pr sack	18
Hay	00 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	3@4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

POST OFFICE TIME TABLE.

MAILS CLOSE AS FOLLOWS

Northern	4 00 P M
Eastern and Southern	2 00 P M
Jonesville,—Monday. Wednesday. Friday	7 00 P M
Macon—Friday	10 P M
Lake ridge—Tuesday. Saturday	9 P M

WM. MCNAIR, Post Master.

M. S. & N. I. R. R.

1858. Fall Arrangement 1858.

On and after Tuesday October, 26th, 1858, until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave Tecumseh Station as follows:

For Adrian	at 6 30 A M and	2 53 P M
For Jackson	8 29	4 36

Trains leaving Chicago and Toledo, and connecting with Trains on the Jackson Branch, run as follows:

Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 A M	10 00 P M
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 15 A M	8 30 P M

Trains will run between Adrian and Detroit, and Adrian and Jackson, connecting with Trains for Toledo and Chicago as follows:

Leave Adrian for Monroe and Detroit		8 00 A M
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 A M	3 45 P M
Leave Detroit for Monroe and Adrian		5 50 P M
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 A M	1 30 P M

J. D. CAMPBELL, General Superintendent.

D. D. HENDERSON,
Is now prepared to sell Clothing
25 per cent Cheaper than
Any other house in the State.
My stock of
READY MADE CLOTHING
is complete.
Call and examine this stock before purchasing elsewhere.
CUTTING Done to order, and Satisfaction Warranted.
Shop nearly opposite the Post Office
Tecumseh, Oct 28th. 415

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.
NEW GOODS
DAILY ARRIVING
At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh.
PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I would respectfully invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cloths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Nothing charged for showing my Goods.
☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.
GEORGE HEESEN.
Tecumseh. April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH
AT THE NEW
Grocery & Provision Store,
(One door west of J. E. Hall.)
TEA
SUGAR and COFFEE
MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,
SODA, CREAM TARTAR,
SPICES OF ALL KINDS.
Candies Nuts and Figs,
BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK
And other articles not mentioned.
☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.
Tecumseh April 29th, 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!
I have for Sale the "Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work and great ease of DRAFT; which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.
☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

60,000
BUSHELS OF
Wheat Wanted.
E. TINDALL
Tecumseh, April, 5th

Medical Advertisement.

AYER'S
Ague Cure,
FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF
Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of FEVER AND AGUE from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body; and in bilious districts, where FEVER AND AGUE prevails, every body should have it and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few will ever suffer from Intermittents, if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,
are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions. They are an excellent alterative for the renovation of the blood and the restoration of tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

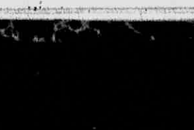
PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.
LOWELL, MASS.
Chas. DeMott, and Geo. Curtis, Tecumseh, and by druggists every where.
West & Truax, Wholesale Agents, Toledo, O

Wholesale & Retail.
FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public, and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of
FURNITURE
ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins
Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.
☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian
DAVID VAN TINE.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.



BLACKSMITHS.
Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs. Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of
B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

TIMOTHY SEED.
For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.

Life and Fire Insurance Agent.
TECUMSEH, - - - MICHIGAN.
Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Capital	$1,000,000.
PHŒNIX " "	$500,000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N. Y	$150,000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn.	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200,000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms.
May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of
ITALION and AMERICAN
MARBLE
ever offered in Lenawee County
This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to None.
Call soon if you want the first choice.
EMERSON & STOCKING.
Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,
The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established and the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of
PAINTS, OILS,
TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,
AND ALCOHOL
A large stock of Patent Medicines,
DRUGS and DYE STUFF.
GOOD LIQUORS
For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.
A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES,
All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs
Wanted in Exchange for Goods,
HENRY TAYLOR.
Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c., for sale at the Drug Store of H. Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!
The undersigned have entered into co-partnership in the
TAILORING
Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any "Professor," or "Accomplished Artist" this side of Paris.

Mr. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none. Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Cut in the Eye."
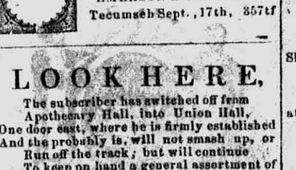
JONES & SCHERER.
Tecumseh Nov. 20, '56. 314

Southern Michigan



CARRIAGE
MANUFACTORY.
THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of
CARRIAGES
as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.
☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.
THOMAS CUMMINS.
Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

CRACKERS.
A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.
January 4th Union Hall.

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes Medicines at Apothecaries Hall.

Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW
WINTER GOODS,
JUST RECEIVED AT THE
GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE.
Purchased in New York at
PANIC PRICES.
Since the Great Business Explosion,
20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime
NEW GOODS.
Will be Offered at COST, for the next
30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS
Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. J. BIDWELL.
Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858. 1858.
"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."
The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of
Drugs & Medicines,
PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,
Books & Stationary,
New Spring Patterns of
WALL PAPER,
VARNISHES of all KINDS.
Also, a Few Well Selected
GROCERIES,
All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no adulterations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.
CHARLES DEMOTT.
Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.
In Full Blast!
The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modded it into a
TANNERY,
would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.
We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.
☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.
C. & W. B. ROWLAND.
Tecumseh, Feby. 18th, 1858. 378m6.

OYSTERS
By the Keg, Can or Dozen.
OHIO ALE,
ON DRAUGHT,
Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.
Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.
SMOKED
HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH.
Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO
Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,
—BY—
Burlingame & Yawger.
—WE—
Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry
Horse Powers from 2 to 10 Horse.
Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.
Our One Hundred Dollar Premium THRESHER and SEPERATOR, we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.
Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country. Sugar Cane Crushers,
And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best.
BURLINGME & YAWGER.
Tecumseh, Sept. 1858. 411

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Local Advertisements.

LOCK, LOOK, LOOK!
EVERYBODY LOOK

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so, just call at the Livery Stable of
HENRY LANCASTER,
And see the new Horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best the country affords. Call and see him—Terms moderate.

THE "Broadway Omnibus"
The Greatest Paper of the Age
A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly sheet, and a Paper that is a Paper.

A budget of Wit, Humor, Facts and Scenes drawn from life—"Here you are, right away right away, Broadway, Broadway, right up" Only Fifty Cents—jump in and take a ride. Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at least fifty cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up Broadway, down the old Bowery, through Chatham and the other principal streets, giving you ample time to see the Elephant and get a good peep at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c. We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by candle light, by star light, and will drive the "OMNIBUS" to some parts of the city where there is no light! We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the great metropolis, and also amuse many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Throw Physic to the dogs" If you have the Blues, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunately troubled with a scolding wife, we will guarantee to make you forget your troubles, laugh almost against your will, and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "OMNIBUS" at once. The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction for all. Price, Fifty Cents a year in advance—three copies to one address, One Dollar: the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get us two subscribers and receive one copy free? All communications should be addressed to
CHAS. P. BRITTON.
Editor, "Broadway Omnibus."
41Iw6c 297 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE
STOVES, STOVES!
The Subscribers having just returned from from New York, are now prepared to supply the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity with the best and most approved patterns of
Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room
STOVES.
They are constantly receiving all kind of Mechanic's and Farmer's Tools,
IRON, STEEL, NAILS
And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State
DEWEY & CURTIS
Tecumseh, Oct., 7th. 412

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.
Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?
President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of
A. B. WARD,
Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use—
Wire down and no further communication at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire the first chance at my late arrival of New Goods will please call and purchase before VICTORIA comes over—she is expected to be present at our Balloon Ascension the 16th.
A. B WARD.
Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

WILLIAMSON'S
PICTURE GALLERY,
USBORNE'S BLOCK.
Miniatures taken on
GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER.
Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at
"Prices to suit the Times,"
☞ Satisfaction Warranted.
Tecumseh, Aug. 24th. 400

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting.
Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner. All Work Warranted.
JEROME ALLEN.
Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

WATER LIME.
Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

Sensation Literature.

Graham's Magazine represents the following burlesque as part of the performance of a company of negro minstrels. The finale is prodigious:—

Samuel Lansing to Brudder Wite.

Mr. Wite, does you ober dispill de expresshun ob spirits when you's laborin' under lucination ob carnivorous detractions wid literary pussons?

Brudder Wite. Wha'—wha'—wha' dat?

S. J Do you ebber, Mr. Wite, read de magazines, de newspapers, and dem like scarificators of de mentalect? Jist you gib fo' cents for de New York Ledger, T'a bin a readin sich a putty story in da'. Sich a story. It was jist de most interestnest fut ebber was, and dat's a fac done gone fo' sartin.

B. W. Bound to hyar dat story. Jist am

S. J. Nuf to make a feller trimmle all ober. Dem stories is allers so harrerin. Law bless you, honey, dey claws you an skears you like a cat does de mice; dat's a fac. Jist tink of a feller's bein in a battle, killin all de enemy wid an ole broom hannle, ketchin up de bloody willin ob a Fits Chanum de Snortolio, and flinging him up more'n eleben miles.—

B. W. —jis'—jis'—jis' you shut up—Ya h! Who you spose gowine to believe—

S. J. Dat's what de Ledger says—any how. Well den, arter killin de willin, de feller tuck one tremenjus leap arter de fly in foe, froo de atmusfere, pintin his pistols at de treatin enemy, wen de flints strike fiah in his volver and blow up de percussin caps—

B W. Wa—wat dat? How could a volver pistle hab flints and cushum caps too?

S J. Anyhow dat's wat de Ledger says. Well den de feller got participated into de briny deep—

B. W. Wy don't you say de ocean?

S. J. Kase he didn't fall into de ocean. 'Twas into de briny deep. Anyhow, dat's wat de Ledger sez. Well, den arter dat de sun cumes into his eyes, and he get blind an swum fo' fo'teen thousand miles—

B W Oh, shaw! You git out—Who—who's a gwine to swaller dat?—Blind man swim fo'teen thousand miles—yah! yah! yah!

S. J. (settled.) Dad's wat de Ledger sez—anyhow. Well den the chap cums to a dessert islan' wha dere wusn't nuffin to eat, an' nobody to talk to ob any consequency, and no sicty wot I mentionin', an' dar he libs fo' fo'teen yeas.

B. W. See hyar. Jist tell us now how dat man libed fo'teen years da, when he couldn't get nuffin to eat?

S. J. Dat's wat de Ledger sez—anyhow. Well, den de man's true lub what he hadn't seen fo' nineteen years—

B. W. Now—now how you gwain to tell me any gal 'mained true fo' nineteen yeas, an' she neber seed de man de 'hole time?

S. J Well—dat's wat de Ledger sez—and de chap he started one morn'n to swim arter a vessel, kase he seen his sweetheart abo'd up in de riggin'. You see she'd gone to sea dispised as a sailor.

B. W. 'Spised you mean.

S. J. Yes—yes—skized—dat's what de Ledger sez An' only think—it jist shows wot true lub kin do, an aint it wond'ful now, and dat's jist a fact—dat gal jis went an' drest herself up in sailor close, an' der wasn't one sole abo'd, nur de cap'n neither didn't know she wus a gal.

B. W. How de debbel, den, did dat dar chap dar way off on de desert islan' know who she wus, hey? Splanify dat if you please.

S. J. Well dat's what de Ledger sez An' de chap jumps into de sea, to swim to de wessel, but jis den dere sprung up a tremenjus gale, an' washed him off fur ober so fur, till he cums to de foot ob a forty fiedcation, an' kase 'twus arter dark an' de frunt do' wus shut, he jist climed up to one of the cannins an' crep into de mouf of de cannin, an lay down an went to sleep.

B W Now stop dar. I should jis like to hab you expressify to me how a man's gwain to git into de mouf ob a cannin?

S. J. Well—dat's wot de Ledger sez—an wile he wus asleep, dere come on a war in de night 'tween de two countries, an de cannins wur all fish'd off—

B. W. Wot! Wid de man in dem?

S. J. Dat's wot de Ledger sez—and he got shooted back again into dat berry 'dentiele desert islan'. Well, durin' de night de ship had got racked, and eberybody got drowned, 'cept de gal, and she swum asho' an cum to whar de feller lay soun' asleep.

B. W. Now, you mean to say dat dat feller hadn't done got awaked up de whole time, while he was shooted out de cannin an' fell onto de islan'?

S. J. Dat's wot de Ledger sez—neber waked up at all; and de gal she seed her lubber, and great big tears cum into her eyes, and she crepped up eber so softly and layed down by his side, and jis' put her putty wite arms roun his neck an wus jis' a goin' to kiss him wen, all at wunst—

Chorus. Go on! go on!

S. J. Dar it says—"to be continued." Dat's wot de Ledger sez."

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage made and executed by James E Merrill to William H. Merritt dated April 2nd A D 1853 Recorded in the Office of Registry of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, on the 12th day of May A. D. 1853 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 426, 27 and 28 and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows viz: The west half of the northeast quarter of section thirty five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting the south twenty (20) acres or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interest and costs will be sold at public vendue at the Court Room in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day

JOSEPH E HALL. Assignee

STACY & WOOD. Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858. 398w13

Mortgage Sale

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D 1856. executed by John W Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B Bowen and Thomas M Cooley and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee April 22d 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723 Thomas M Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith May 28th 1857 and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof is four hundred and thirty-six dollars. and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, deperibed as the west half of the the north east quarter and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres more or less will be sold at public auction on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee

LUCIEN B BOWEN. Mortgagee

LORENZO SMITH. Assignee.

Dated July 23d 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN. County of Lenawee. ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Amenza Van Valkenburgh Randall T Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth Ann Van Valkenburgh, minors.

On reading and filing the Petition duly verified of Harlon B Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next. at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the next of kin of said minors and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C BEAMAN

(A true Copy) 409w3 Judge of Probate

Mortgage Sale

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P Billsbearing date the first day of June 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock A M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages on folios 266, 267 and 268, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid, One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described, to wit: the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction on the high noon on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS. Mortgagee

Tecumseh, June 1st 1858. 394l13

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock, P. M. on Monday October 4th 1858 PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, September 25th, 1858

Guardian Sale

By virtue of a licence to me granted by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County and State of Michigan, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, at the dwelling house of Elizabeth Van Valkenburgh, in the Township of Franklin, on the Seventh day of December next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the undivided twenty-four, forty-ninth parts of all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin, in said County, and described as follows, to wit: The East half of the South East quarter of sextion Sixteen in Township five South of range three (3) East, (subject to the right of dower of Elizabeth Van Valkenburgh therein,) being all the interest of Amenzo Van Valkenburgh, Randall T. Van Valkenburgh, and Elizabeth A. Van Valkenburgh minors therein.

Terms of sale made known on day of sale.

HARLOW B. CHURCH,

Guardian of said Minors.

Dated October 18th, 1858. 414w6

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust all demands against the estate of Abram Hair, late of Tecumseh, in said county, deceased, will meet at the late residence of said deceased in said township on Saturday the Thirteenth day of November and Saturday the Third day of April next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days, for the purpose of receiveing and passing upon such claims.

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the 9th inst., hath been allowed by said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance.

G D PERRY, }
A. J. HUNTER, } Commissioners.

Tecumseh, Oct., 14th, 1858 [413w4

Mortgage Sale.

Sarah Niblack and Sylvenus H. Niblack, made their Mortgage to William B. Whitnah, bearing date August 27th, 1856 to secure the payment of One Hundred and Eighty-one Dollars and interest at ten per cent, one year from the date thereof, and have made default in the payment of the same. Said mortgage was recorded September 8th, 1856, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Lenawee County Registers office, in Book H of mortages, on pages 98 and 99 There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, One hundred and ninety two dollars and fifty eight cents, and no proceedings at law have been instituted to collect the same: Notice is therefore hereby given, that the land in said mortgage mentioned, to wit. That certain piece or parcel of land situate upon Block 11, of Henry L. Hewitt's plat or addition to the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, bound ed as follows: Commencing on the west line of Pearl street in said village, at the northeast corner of lands heretofore sold by C. A. Stacy to William McComb, thence west on the north line of said McCombs twelve rods, thence north parallel with Pearl street six rods, thence east parallel with the first line twelve rods, to the west line of Pearl street, thence south on said westline of Pearl street six rods, to the place of begining, will be sold at public auction on the 21st, day of January next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, in the city of Adrian.

WILLIAM B. WHITNAH, Mortgagee.

BILLS & BAXTER. Attys.

Tecumseh, October 20th, 1858. [414w13

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of B. J. BIDWELL.

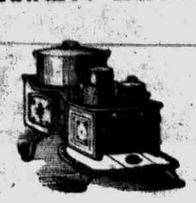
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th,

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

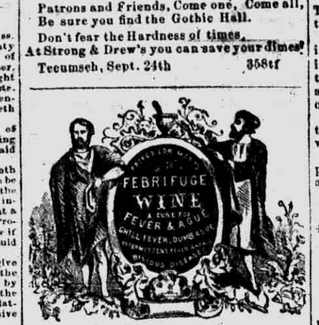
Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes!

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th 358tf



PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

AN UNRIVALLED MEDICINE for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, SOLE PROPRIETOR, New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC!

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

JOHN WINER, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old furnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will incure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 409y

"The Tailor Shop."

The subscribers continue in the Tailoring Business, at their old stand, Bidwells Block, up stairs.

They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.

Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.

All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Sastisfaction warranted.

☞ Cutting done to order.

JONES & SCHERER.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!! Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ONLY ORIGINAL GIFT BOOK STORE.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
500 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100.00
500 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	25 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches, warranted,	15 00
500 Xerxes Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Setts. Ear Drops and Pins.	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 10 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets. (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases. with Gold Pens.	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens. with cases and holders	2 50
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2500 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils.	2 50
2500 Ladies Gold Pens. with Cases and Holders	1 50
2500 Gold Rings. (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents. Gold Rings.	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 00
2500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives.	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 50
2000 do Sleave Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
8000 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases.	5 00
15000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	3 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry. Gift Books. &c &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25

Evan's new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores.

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above,

N. B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country.

Any book published in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included.

An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue. Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher,
407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS
OF THE
United States Journal Publishing House.

ENCOURAGED by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers,

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is a list of a few of the articles, which the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch. warranted a perfect time-keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00	9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00	9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00	9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50	9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00	9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00	9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 00	6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00	6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00	9c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00	9c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	3 00	3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs	2 00	3c
Set of Gold Carnelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00	3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 16 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00	3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00	3c

Among the Engravings are:

The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide	1 00	12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24	1 00	12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer	50	9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards	50	9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large fallo pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.
400 409 Broadway, New York.

D. D. HENDRSON,

Is now prepared to sell Clothing

25 per cent Cheaper than

Any other house in the State.

My stock of

READY MADE CLOTHING

is complete.

Call and examine this stock before purchasing elsewhere.

CUTTING Done to order, and Satisfaction Warranted.

Shop nearly opposite the Post Office

Tecumseh, Oct. 28th. 415

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Common Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E. Tindall.

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection, the best, for sale cheap by E Tindall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE
VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED
IS
The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured — It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m8ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss SOUTHWORTH,
COLONEL G. W. CROCKETT,
CHARLES BURDETT,
THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH, M. D.
HENRY CLAPP, JUN.,
GEORGE ARNOLD,
SAMUEL YOUNG,
Mrs ANNA WHELPLEY,
Miss VIRGINIA VAUGHAN,
Miss DI VERNON,
Miss HATTIE CLARE,
FINLEY JOHNSON,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Beckel & Co

The New York Weekly GOLDEN PRIZE is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED EVERY WEEK

A PRESENT,

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2 00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3 50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5 00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8 00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5 00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8 00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15 00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30 00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list;

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
10 patent lever hunting cased watches	100 00	do
20 Gold Watches	75 00	do
50 do	60 00	do
100 do	50 00	do
300 Ladies' Gold Watches	35 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	30 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10.00 to $25.00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10.00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets; Brooches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve Buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs, Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40. To any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $80. Every subscriber will also receive a present.

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers' name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded without one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
PROPRIETORS,
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or nervevate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES.
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS.
RECENT INVENTIONS.
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western paper.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum.
Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50	per annum.
15 " " "	15.00	"
20 " " "	20.00	" and one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent; and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER
WANT ANY THING
FRO NEW YORK?
IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some articles that he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerable extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, involving purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, those employing us have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the time and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can buy better than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market so extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are a usual five per cent. although in special cases of very large or very small transactions equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business with a statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the replies.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.

Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.

David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.

Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.

G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.

F. Cabot & Co., Boston.

Stanfield Worthworth & Co., Boston.

J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.

And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine,) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the Relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill, of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st, 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self abuse &c. and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year

The Directors on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially in the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet &c are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr GEORG R CALHOUN Consulting Surgeon Howard Association No 2 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors

GEO FAIRCHILD, Secretary.
390r EZRA D H EARWELL, President

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

DR. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN Blood Purifier and Blood Pills.

I have at all times a supply of these admirable preparations. As Spring Medicines and for the relief and cure of chronic disease arising from impure blood or a deranged state of the digestive organs or nerves, there is abundant evidence to prove that they are not excelled. Try them, HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, April 1858.

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by E. Tindall.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums whenever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain. A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

WM. BROWN, Proprietor.
R. T. MERRILL, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on E. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted. JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S Blood Purifier and Blood P
THE GREAT
SCANDINAVIAN
VEGETABLE REMEDIES

"To Those Who Think and Reason."

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it.

Tecumseh Herald.

By G. S. Spafford. LITERATURE AND SCIENCE—PROGRESS AND TRUTH—MORALITY AND RELIGION. Office in Bidwell's Block.

VOL. 8. NO. 52. TECUMSEH, LENAWEE COUNTY, MICHIGAN, NOVEMBER 11, 1858. WHOLE NO. 417

BUSINESS CARDS.

The Bank of Tecumseh,

J. A. RAYNOR, President. Wm. W. CLARK. Cashier.

Union Block, Chicago Street.

TECUMSEH.....MICH.

A. ANDERSON.

DRY GOODS, CROCKERY, NOTIONS, &c.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. J. BIDWELL.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKEY,
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Metropolitan Block, Chicago & Railroad Sts
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

A. B. WARD.

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY,
FANCY GOODS.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

HENRY TAYLOR.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
Union Block, Chicago Street,
340y1. TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES DE MOTT.

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PAINTS, OILS, &c.
BOOKS & STATIONARY.
Patterson's Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. JAMES & CO.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
Corner of Chicago and Railroad Streets.
340y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

E. H. BUTTON.

JEWELER AND WATCH-MAKER.
Post Office Building, Chicago Street.
341y1 TECUMSEH MICH.

J. E. HALL

JEWELRY, BOOKS, STATINARY, PAPER
HANGINGS AND NOTIONS.
New Brick Store, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

DAVID VANTINE.

FURNITURE AND UPHOLSTERY
Richard's Block, Chicago Street
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL.
AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
330y TECUMSEH MICH.

THOMAS CUMMINGS.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Corner, Rail Road and Kilbuck Streets
340y TECUMSEH MICH.

J. C. SATTERTHWAITE & CO.

MILLERS—PRODUCE, LUMBER, AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ENOCH TINDALL.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.
Warehouse, Rail Road Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

ALPHIUS STERNS,

BLACKSMITH AND HORSE-SHOER
Shop, Chicago Steret, near Foundry.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

A. RANDALL & CO.

BOOTS AND SHOES.
Shop, Chicago Street, above Railroad.
370tf TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

TIMOTHY DEUEL.

GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, NOTIONS.
North Side, Chicago Street,
391y TECUMSEH, MICH.

Dr. SAMUEL CATLIN,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Residence, corner Pearl & Potawatama Sts.
393y TECUMSEH, MICH.

JOHN CUMMINS,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE,
—AND—
INSURANCE AGENT,
(Office—Over Anderson's Store.)
400 TECUMSEH, MICH.

CHARLES HEWITT,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Office—Three Doors East of the Post Office,
403 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

P. BILLS. B. L. BAXTER.

BILLS & BAXTER.

ATTORNEYS & COUNCELLORS AT LAW,
MR. BAXTER IS NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

NATHAN BOUGHTON.

GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARY, &c.
Brownville Michigan.

C. A. STACY. E. B. WOOD.

STACY & WOOD.

ATTORNEYS & COUNSELLORS AT LAW,
MR. WOOD IS NOTARY PUBLIC,
Office—Union Block, Chicago Street.
340tf TECUMSEH MICH.

PETER SHARP.

Notary Public, Ridgeway, Michigan.
A General Assortment of
GROCERIES, NOTIONS, MEDICINES &c.,
Grocery, corner Main and Ridge Streets
Ridgeway, June 1st, 1858. 394

SOCIETIES.

Tecumseh Lodge No, 14, I. O. of O. F. Meets every Tuesday Evening, at Union Hall, at half past 7 o'clock.

Tecumseh Lodge, No 69, F. & A. M. Holds its regular communications at Union Hall, the Friday evening on, or next before, each full moon.

Miscellaneous Cards.

JOB PRINTING,
Of every Description. Promptly Executed at
THIS OFFICE.

Dr. J. F. TERRY,
RESIDENT OCULIST,
No. 94 WOODWARD AVENUE,
(Over Doughty, Straw & Co's Book Store,)
DETROIT. - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

O. C. ADAMS,
Having engaged a window in J. E. Hall's New Brick Store, is now ready to repair all kinds of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY, in a workmanlike manner, and on the shortest notice. Satisfaction warranted to all who may favor me with their work. A Call is solicited
Tecumseh, March 1st, 1858. 380m2

Mrs. E. M. BISSELL.

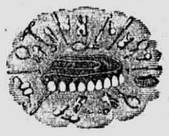
DAGUERREOTYPE, MELAINOTYPE AND AMBROTYPE
ARTIST.
Rooms open from 9 A. M until 4 P. M. at her residence on Logan Street, one door south east of the New Union School building. Likenesses taken in cloudy as well as clear weather.
Tecumseh, Oct. 13th. 360m5

THE
Tecumseh Sax-Horn Band.
Is prepared to furnish choice music for Celebrations, Concerts, &c., on short notice and at prices to suit the times.
MEMBERS!

FRED. EMERSON.	D. D MARSHALL.
DELOS LEBARON.	WALLAS GRAY.
D. L. SHILES.	JEROME ALLEN.
J. A. BEERS.	ALFRED JAMES.
O. O. ADAMS.	GEO. SPAFFORD.

Tecumseh, May 1st., 1858. 391y

DENTAL SURGERY.



Dr. BARR, of the firm of Barr & Baldwin, Ypsilanti, Mich., would respectfully inform the citizens of this place and vicinity, that he will be at their office in Tecumseh, the last 10 days in each month, and be pleased to waite upon all who may favor him with a call.
Tecumseh Sept., 1st 1858.

1858
THE TECUMSEH NURSERY.
STRONG, LANDON &CO., Proprietors.

Nursery, foot of Chicago Street, near the Globe Mills. We have on hand a general assortment of everything usuall kept at a First Class Nursery.
Tecumseh June 16th, 1858.

TECUMSEH EXCHANGE.
BY W. P. SMALLAGE,
(Near Rail Road Depot)
TECUMSEH, — MICHIGAN.

STANTON'S EXCHANGE,
—BY—
STANTON & TIFFANY.
(OPPOSITE M. C. R. R. DEPOT.)
JACKSON, - - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.
General Stage Office.

ISLAND HOUSE.
R P. ANGIER. - - - PROPRIETOR
TOLEDO. OHIO

SHAVING SALOON.
FRANK JONES.
Bidwell's Block, Up-Stairs.

SHAVING SALOON.
TIM BROWN.
Appothecary's Hall, Up Stairs.

"The Tailor Shop."

The subscribers continue in the Tailoring Business, at their old stand, Bidwells Block, up stairs. They hereby tender their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to them, and respectfully ask for a continuance of the same.

Report of Fashions, for Fall and Winter of 1858-9 received, which all are invited to call and examine.

All work entrusted to us, will be done in the most workman like manner. Satisfaction warranted.

Cutting done to order.

JONES & SCHERER

Be Content.

Mistaken mortal, ever fretting,
Grasping, grinding, groaning, getting—
Be content!

If thou hast enough, be thankful,
Just as if thou hast a bankful—
Be content!

If fortune cast thy lot but humble,
Earn thy bread and do not grumble—
Be content!

Have the rich, thinkest thou, no trouble?
Twice thy wealth; thy sorrows double—
Be content!

List the lore of learned sages,
Those wise men of the Grecian ages—
Be content!

Their reck'ning up of all earth's riches
Was compassed in one short phrase, which is—
Be content!

The rich man gets with all his heaping
But dress, and drink, and food, and sleeping—
Be content!

Though in the sleep the rich men gain not,
Poor men sleep when rich men may not—
Be content!

When winds about thy dust shall scatter,
Where goes thy gold—to thee what matter?
Be content!

Remember, thou for wealth who rakest,
Naught thou broughtest, naught thou takest.
Be content!

The Teachings of Philosophy.

What matter where the bar may be
To which our world is cited;
Though here, or in eternity—
Each wrong must yet be righted—
No drop of blood was ever spilt,
That washes out another's guilt.

There is no bankrupt law for sin,
Though heretics may preach it
No limitation-act steps in,
Though Paul himself might teach it;
For aged, though the time's delayed,
Each mortal debt must once be paid.

The felon, tired and doomed to die,
Might shuffle off his sentence,
And claim the largest liberty
By pleading true repentance,
And good that plea and righteous, even,
If sin could ever be forgiven.

When life has closed, whoever gains
The station God assigned him,
And pays his debt and breaks the chains
Which Sin has forged to bind him,
Is fitted for the bliss of heaven
And never needs to be forgiven.

The Rector's Daughter.

In the quaint old village of Thyndon, England, dwells its good old rector, a widower, with one unmarried daughter.—The other lives at Merton's End—as a happy and adored wife. We have some thing to tell of that fair dame—a deed so courageous that the village has been two—three degrees prouder of itself ever since it happened.

The squire had fallen in love with the fair Adelaide, and the wedding day was to be on the morrow of that on which our adventure happened. Grand preparations were made for the wedding; and the rector's fine old plate, and the costly gifts of the bride, were discussed with pride and pleasure at the Hare and Hounds, in the presence of some strangers who had come down to a prize fight which had taken place in the neighborhood.

That night Adelaide, who occupied a separate room from her sister, sat up late—long after all the household had retired to rest. She had had a long interview with her father, and had been reading a chapter to which he had directed her attention, and since, had packed up her jewel's, &c. She was consequently still dressed when the church clock tolled midnight. As it ceased, she fancied she heard a low noise like that of a file; she listened, but could distinguish nothing clearly. It might have been made by some of the servants still about, or perhaps it was only the creaking of some of the old trees. She heard nothing but the sighing of the winter wind for many minutes afterwards. House-breakers were more myths in primitive Thyndon, and the bride elect, without a thought of fear, resumed her occupation. She was gazing on a glittering set of diamonds, destined to be worn at the wedding, when her bed room door softly opened. She turned, looked up, and beheld a man with a black mask, holding a pistol in his hand, standing before her.

She did not scream, for her first thought was for her father, who slept in the next room, and to whom any sudden alarm might be death, for he was old, feeble and suffering from the heart complaint. She confronted the robber boldly, and addressed him in a whisper: "You are come," she said, "to rob us. Spare your soul the awful guilt of murder. My father sleeps next to my room—and to be startled from his sleep would kill him. Make no noise, I beg of you."

The fellow was astonished and cowed. "We won't make no noise," he replied sullenly, "if you give us everything quietly."

Adelaide drew back and let him take her jewels—not without a pang, for they were precious love gifts, remarking at the same time that two more masked ruffians stood at the half opened door. As he took the jewel-case and watch from the table, and demanded her purse, she asked him if he intended to go into her father's room. She received a surly affirmative: "He wasn't agoing to run a risk, and leave half the tin behind!" She proposed instantly that she should go herself, saying: "I will bring you what ever you wish, and you may guard me thither, and kill me if I play false to you." The fellow consulted his comrades, and after a short parley, they agreed to the proposal; and with a pistol pointed at her head, the dauntless girl crossed the passage, and entered the old rector's room. Very gently she stole across the chamber, and removing his purse, watch, keys, and desk, gave them up to the robbers, who stood at the door. The old man slept peacefully and calmly, thus guarded by his child, who softly shut the door, and demanded if the robbers were yet satisfied.

The leader replied that they should be when they got the show of plate spread out below, but that they couldn't let her out of sight, and that she must go with them. In compliance with this mandate, she followed them down stairs to the dining-room, where a spendid wedding breakfast had been laid, to save trouble and hurry on the morrow. To her surprise, the fellows—eight in number when assembled—seated themselves and pepared to make a good meal. They ordered her to get them out wine, and to cut her own wedding cake for them; and then, seated at the head of the table, she was compelled to preside at this extraordinary revel.

They ate, drank, laughed, and joked; and Adelaide, quick of eye and ear, had thus time to study, in her quiet way, the figures and voices of the whole set.

When the repast was ended, and the plate transferred to a sack, they prepared to depart, whispering together, and glancing at the young lady. For the first time, Adelaide's courage gave way, and she trembled; but it was not a consultation against her, as it proved. The leader, approaching her, told her that they did not wish to harm her—that she was a "jolly wench, reg'lar game," and they wouldn't hurt her, but that she must swear not to give an alarm till nine or ten the next day, when they should be off all safe. To this she was of course obliged to assent and then they all insisted on shaking hands with her. She noticed through this parting ceremony, that one of the ruffians had only three fingers on the left hand.

Alone in the despoiled room, Adelaide, faint and exhausted, awaited the first gleam of daylight; then, as the robbers did not return, she stole up to her room, undressed, and fell into a disturbed slumber.

The consternation of the family the next morning may be imagined; and Adelaide's story was still more astounding than the fact of the robbery itself. Police were sent for from London, and they, guided by Adelaide's lucid description of her midnight guests, actually succeeded in capturing every one of the gang, whom the young lady had no difficulty in identifying and swearing to—the "three fingered Jack" being the guiding clue to the discovery. The stolen property was nearly all recovered, and the old rector always declared—and with truth—that he owed his life to the self-possession and judgment of his eldest daughter.

The only ill effect of the great trial to her nerves, was a disposition on the part of the young heroine to listen for midnight sounds, and start uneasily from troubled dreams; but time and change of residence soon effected its cure.

EVIDENCES OF GOOD CHARACTER.—A Hoosier was called upon the stand, away out west to testify to the character of a brother hosier. It was as follows:

'How long have you known Bill Bushwack?

'Ever since he was born.'

'What is his general character?'

'Letter A, No. 1. 'Bove par a very great way.'

'Would you believe him on oath?'

'Yes, sirree—on or off, or any other way.'

'What, in your opinion, are his qualifications to good character?'

'He is the best shot on the prairies or the woods; he can shave a eye-winker off a wolf as far as a shooting iron will carry a ball; he can drink a quart of brandy a day, and chews tobacco like a horse.'

The streets are very muddy.

'Annie Laurie'

"If you want to hear 'Annie Laurie' sung, come to my house," said a man to his friend. "We have a love-lorn fellow in the village, who was sadly wrecked by the refusal of a girl whom he had been paying attention to for a year or more.—It is seldom he will attempt the song, but when he does, I tell you it draws tears from eyes unused to weeping."

A small select company had assembled in a small pleasant parlor, and were gaily chatting and laughing when a tall young man entered, whose peculiar face and air arrested the attention. He was very pale, with that clear vivid look which consumptives so often have. His locks were black as jet, and hung profusely upon a square white colar. His eyes were very large and spiritual, and his brow such an one as poets should have. But for a certain wandering look, a casual observer would have pronounced him a man of uncommon intellectual power. The words "poor fellow," and "how he looks," went the rounds as he came forward bowed to the company and took his seat One or two thoughtless girls laughed as they whispered that he was "love-cracked," but the rest treated him with a respectful difference.

It was late in the evening when singing was proposed, and to ask him to sing 'Annie Laurie,' was a task of no uncommon delicacy. One song after another was sung, and at last that one was named. At its mention the young man turned deadly pale, but did not speak; he seemed instantly to be lost in revere.

"The name of the girl who treated him so boldly was Annie said a lady, whispering to the new guest—but oh! I wish he would sing it, nobody else can do it justice.

"No one dares sing Annie Laurie before Charles," said a lady; would it be too much to ask you to favor the company with it? she added timidly.

He did not reply for a moment—his lips quivered a little, and then looking as if he saw a spiritual presence he began.—Every soud was hushed—it seemed as if his voice were the voice of an angel. The tones vibrated through nerve, pulse and heart, and made one shiver with the pathos of his feelings; never was heard melody in a human voice like that—so plaintive, and soulful—so tender and earnest!

He sat with his head thrown back, his eyes half closed, the locks of hair glistening against his pale temples, his fine throat swelling with the rich tones, his hand lightly folded before him; and as he sung—

'And 'twas there that Annie Laurie Gave me her promise true—'

it seemed as if he shook from head to foot with emotion. Many a lip trembled—and there no jesting, no laughing, but instead, tears in more than one eye.

And on he sang, and on holding every one in wrapt attention, till he came to the last verse—

'Like dew on the grewas lying
Is the fa' of her fairly feet—
And like winds in summer sighing,
Her voice is low and sweet,
Her voice is low and sweet—
And she's all the world to me—

He paused before he added—

'And for bonnie Annie,
I'd lay me down and did'

There was a long solemn pause. The black locks seeme to grow blacker—the white temples whiter—almost imperceptibly the head kept falling back. The eyes were closed shut. One glance at another—all seemed awe-struck—till the same person who urged him to sing laid her hand gently on his shoulder saying:

"Charles, Charles!"

Then came a hush—a thrill of horror crept through every frame—the poor tired heart had ceased to beat—Charles, the love betrayed was dead!

A certain physician at sea made great use of sea-water among his patients.—Whatever disease came on, a dose of the nauseating liquid was first thrown down. In process of time the doctor fell overboard. A great bustle consequently ensued on board, in the midst of which the captain came up and anxiously inquired the cause, 'Oh nothing, sir,' answered a tar, 'only the doctor has fell into his medicine chest.'

☞ Here is a genuine specimen of principle—'Why didn't you pocket some of those pears,' said one boy to another, 'nobody was there to see you?' 'Yes, there was—I was there to see myself, and I don't want ever to see myself do a mean thing.' That chap can't make a politician—not at all.

☞ A true heart dances no hornpipe on the tongue.

How the Miner Lives.

The following sketches of life in the mines are from the Trinity (Weaverville, Cal.) Journal;

"CAMPING OUT."

"Camping out" in the mines means living in the open air, without any shelter except the shadow of a tree or a shanty made of boughs. There are some pleasures as well as a good many inconveniences in this sort of life. After the day's labor is done, the proprietor of the "bush shanty" turns towards his camp with something like the ploughman's instinct when he 'homeward plods his weary way.' True it is that there is little there to attract him; no wife to welcome him home, no child to climb upon his knee, not even a dog to come out and meet him. The fire has gone out, and the deep silence is broken only by the monotonous grieving among the firs; yet the miner's inhabitiveness prompts him to seek the shelter of the same tree, and spread his blankets on the same spot where he slept the night before.

The building of his brush house is the work of an hour; a notch is chopped in a tree six feet from the ground, deep enough to hold up the end of a "ridge pole;" the other end is held up by a post to which the ridge pole is tied. Sticks are leaned up against the pole, then all is covered with limbs of young firs; the body of the tree helps to cover up one end, the other is left open. The ground inside is covered with small brush; a fire is built in front and the camp is complete. Sometimes they do not take the trouble to build any shelter at all, but spread their blankets under a tree or clump of bushes, building their camp-fire against the nearest log. Their provisions and cooking utensils lie scattered about in all directions; nothing has its proper place except the revolver, pipes and tobacco, all of which can be found at a moments warning. The miner's kitchen department may, perhaps, interest some of our housewives. They bake bread at every meal; the dough is kneaded in a tin pan used for gold washing, a thin cake is put in an iron frying pan, which is set up before the fire and propped up by the handle with a forked stick; a small fire is built behind the pan, to bake both sides at once, and the baking is complete in about twenty minutes. Then the cake is taken out and the pan is used for frying beef-steak or whatever else they have to cook; the coffee has boiled in the meantime, and the meal is ready and is soon disposed of, the party sitting on the ground, around the frying-pan, which answers for a common dish. This is what is called "camping out," and hundreds of people are living in that way, keeping in advance of the settlements, and "prospecting" for new diggings in unexplored places. There are miners who do nothing else but 'prospect' wandering with no fixed habitation, never satisfied, always looking for some imaginary spot which is to reward them for all. They are generally men who came here five or six years ago, during the 'flush time,' and now they will not be content with the comparitively small wages of the present, and thus they float, sometimes flug,' but oftener 'dead broke,' poor forever, and still 'camping out.'

In some places the miners have to sink shafts thirty, fifty, or a hundred feet, before they reach the deposit of gold. The shaft is a circular hole, five or six feet in diameter, resembling a common well, and is generally the work of two persons—one to dig and the other drawing up the dirt and rocks in a half-barrel tub, by means of a rope and windlass. Sometimes shaft-sinking is slow and laborious; large, hard rocks are encountered, which have to be split with wedges, or blasted with gunpowder; in other places hard cement is met with, which yields reluctantly to the heavy blow of the miner. Returning to work in the morning, they often find five or six feet of water in the hole, which has to be lifted out with the tub and windlass; then the miner is let down, and resumes his work, which is far from agreeable, the mud and water dripping down from the ascending tub, on his back, as he stoops to dig. Occasionally a stone in the side of the shaft becomes loosened by the water from melting snow near by, and comes whizzing down past his head, but if it don't hit him, 'all right!' and he digs away. If the rope becomes untwisted, or too far worn, he is in additional peril, and yet, strange to say, fewer men are killed in shafts than above ground. While this is progressing, the operators are said to be "not down yet;" that is, they have not reached ground containing gold. In river mining, after the water has been turned from the channel, through a flume, a great deal of sand, gravel and rocks, must be removed before getting at the gold. While this removal of rubbish is going on, the miners are 'not down yet.' In surface mining, in the dry diggings, it is sometimes necessary to remove thirty, or even fifty feet of 'top dirt'—earth containing no gold—before any reward is expected; when so occupied they are 'not down yet.' The peculiarity of very few people's condition in the mines is, that they are 'not down yet'—they are making nothing. There is always something to hinder their making money, just now; there is either too much water, or not enough; too much 'top dirt,' or too many big rocks obstruct them; the ditch men charge too much for water, or the sluice wastes the gold—something prevents them from 'working to advantage,' and their hope is in the morrow. Full of gilded phantasms is the miner's to morrow' and the soul, entering upon the territory of dreams, climbs up golden ladders to the castle gorgeous with the wealth of the sleeper's imagination, but the morrow's sun melts the sleepers castle away, like the frost-forest on the widdow pane.

And so it is all over the world; the majority of people never 'get down' to where it pays; they are always 'sluicing off top dirt,' blasting rocks, or bailing water, and the ground caves in on them!

The Lawyer's Advice.

'Soon after I was admitted to the bar, I accidentally happened in the court room during the trial of some criminals. After being there a short time, a man was arranged, charged with commission of the crime of horse stealing. He pleaded not guilty; and the court, finding that he had no counsel, and that he was too poor to fee one, directed me to defend him. A jury was about to be empanneled, when I stated to the court that I knew nothing of the case, and desired an interview with my client. This was not only granted me, but the court permitted me to withdraw from the room with my client, and directed me to give him the best legal advice I could. We retired, and after the lapse of some minutes, I returned to the court room and took my seat in the bar. The court asked me if I was ready. I replied, that I was. But where is your client? said the Judge. I replied: Your Honor advised me give him the best advice I could, and on ascertaining from him that he was guilty, and that proof was conclusive, I advised him to run and give the court a wide berth; and if he has faithfully followed my advice he is now out of your jurisdiction.' The scene that followed must have been a laughable one, and such our venerable friend asserts that it was. The Bench was almost paralyzed with fear, and scarcely knew how to proceed, or what to do, while on the countenance of every member of the bar, and every spectator present, there was a smile of glee.

A Bundle of all Sorts.

☞ The woman who, 'burst her sides laughing,' had them mended by her husband coming into her parlor with muddy boots.

☞ Found—ninty five dollars, by a lawyer in Lowell, who returned it to the owner. One of the papers says, 'that the act may be honest and honarable, but it is unprofessional.'

☞ Some writer says that the word would' in Rufus Choate's hand writing resembles a small gridiron struck by lightning.

☞ The most casual remark lives forever in its effects. There is not a word which has not a moral history. And hence it is that every idle 'word,' which men utter, assumes a character so important, that an inquest will be held on it in the general judgment.

☞ Never borrow a cotton umbarella; a silk one can be obtained with the same degree of effort and last quite as long.

☞ 'Why is a young lady preparatory to dressing in her crinoline, like a flour barrel? Because the hoops will have to be raised before the head will go in.

☞ A dying west India planter, groaning to his favorite negro servant, sighed out. "Ah sambo I'm going a long journey.' 'Never mind massa,' said the negro, consolingly, 'him all the way down hill.'

☞ A Yankee editor says that he liked to die larfin, to see a drunkin' chap tryin' to pocket the shadow of a swinging sign for a pocket handkerchief.

☞ Friendship is a silent gentleman that makes no pride

Original Poetry.

For the Tecumseh Herald.

Tó ——

Dear friend of mine, full well I know,
Thy soul is wrapt in deepest woe,
That God has touched you from above,
But oh! the God is in his love;
That you from earth might look away,
Unto the realms of endless day.

Thy mother lost? Oh no she's not,
Sacred forever be the spot,
Where now lies low her loved remains;
Her soul from earthly cares and pains;
Now freely we trust in worlds above,
Rejoices in a Saviour's love.

Art left alone? can God be kind,
And thus afflict thy youthful mind?
Thou'rt not alone. I here is your friend,
List to his loving voice attend;
When thy mother doth forsake,
I will thee to my bosom take.

And oh dear friend, now in thy youth,
Remember that his word is truth;
Not one kind promise e'er shall fail,
Then though the midday sun should pale,
Lean thou on his Almighty arm,
And he will shield you from all harm.

He'll be you friends that's kind and true,
That will both love and cherish you,
Lastly with his blessings doth abound,
Our duty lies our pathway round,
Let love to Him within you live,
Enjoy the blessings he may give. W. D.

Washington, Nov. 6

ticism. Walker's visit here is not directly with the Government. It is in part to ascertain the extent of the proposed British interference. He is satisfied there will be no hindrance to lawful emigration to Nicaragua, and denies the truth of the statement that there has been any sale of bonds or of the Transit Route: hence, he declares that part of the President's proclamation must have been founded on incorrect information, and further that passengers leaving Mobile are expected to pay their own expenses and act upon their own responsibility.

The emigration is under the auspices of the Southern Emigration Company, which has been in existence six months, and which has branches in Alabama, Missouri, Louisiana and Georgia. There is no clashing of interests between it and the Canal Company.

Gen Walker will probably leave for Mobile to morrow, though it is not certain that he will go out with the first party to Nicaragua.

Washington, Nov. 7.

The contractors have notified the Post Office Department that they will despatch their steamer Cahawba, from Charleston on an extra trip to Havana on the 13th inst. carrying the mail. She will leave Havana on her return on the 20th.

A private letter from Galveston, dated Oct. 20 states that the yellow fever was making fearful ravages. Six physicians had died. The writer advises absentees not to return until the first of December.

There has been no frost, and with a change to warm weather, the fatality increased.

The Steamship General Rusk, which arrived at New Orleans on the 1st, brings information from Northern Mexico.

General Vidaurri issued a proclamation calling on several merchants along the frontier to pay the sums annexed to their names amounting to $150,000, or to remove with their goods from the country, although the goods had paid him duties He says: 'I will give no explanation and wish no questions asked, but enforce it on you.' His officers are to see this carried out. Many Americans and foreign merchants were preparing to remove, when he revoked the decree, and left for parts unknown

The Brownsville flag of the 27th ult., endeavors to show that the Liberal cause is not so desperate as is reported. It says that 400 of Vidaurri's men were captured and massacred by Miramon. The Bulletin official of the 16th says that Vidaurri had resigned the Command in Chief of the Northern forces of Col. Laragoso, who had began an active re-organization of the forces and had equipped a force of more than 2,000 men. A forced loan and voluntary contribution had been commenced at Monterey, by which it is thought that ample means would be raised to make a new effort against Miramon.

The Bulletin says, that Vidaurri's resignation was caused by treason in his own camp, his guns having been spiked previous to the recent battle, to which his defeat is attributed.

The Ecclesiastics were committing depredations and burning Haciendas.

At last accounts Blanco and other Generals were threatening San Luis, and a battle was anticipated there soon.

The ship Cornelia Lawrence was burned in Mobile Bay, and is supposed to have been fired by her crew. Only a small portion of her cargo was savad.

SUB-MARINE CABLE-CROSS THE NIAGARA.—As we go to press, a sub-marine telegraph cable is being laid across the Niagara, by the Montreal Telegraph Company. The cable, we are informed, is a portion of that employed in the Gulf of Newfound, but abandoned on account of being too heavy. It is wound upon a large reel, which was placed on a scow, and towed by a steam tug across the river.—The cable is about one inch and a half in diameter, and contains three conducting wires, each one being thoroughly insulated. Its length is something over three fourths of a mile.—Buffalo Commercial, Saturday.

THE HERALD.

B. L. BAXTER, } Editors

TECUMSEH:

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1858.

PROCLAMATON

In conformity to a well established custom, I have thought proper to designate, and I hereby appoint Thursday the twenty fifth day of November, as a day of general Thanksgiving and Praise to Almighty God,

On that day I earnestly invite the good people of this State to assemble in their several places of worship, and make a public and grateful acknowledgment of the goodness of Divine Providence, which has brought us safely through another year with blessings and mercies innumerable. Let us be thankful for propitious seasons, in which the fruits of the earth have ripened and been gathered to supply our wants; for peace and tranquility; for the tolerance of free thought and free discussion; for the unabated zeal which animates our people to educate and enlighten, and thus elevate and improve all classes; for the love of liberty and the desire to perpetuate free institutions which prevails; for the serious thought which so many have given to the duties they owe their Maker and their fellow men, and which has prompted the resolution 'to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly before God.' And let us earnestly implore a continuance of the blessings which have been showered so abundantly upon our favored land.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capital in Lansing, this twentieth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight. KINSLEY S. BINGHAM

By the Governor,
JOHN MCRANSOM, Secretary of State.

Fillibusterism Again.

It will, we apprehend, seem a little singular to some that the President should be compelled a second time to issue a proclamation against the noted fillibuster of Nicaragua,—and it may perhaps occur to them that this second proclamation might have been spared had the President been more profuse in tendering the hospitalities of the White House to the bandit chief heretofore declared so dangerous and inimical to the nations interests and honor.

To those who carefully observed how gratefully the President recognized commodore Paulding's services, in so promptly and efficiently carrying out the instructions of the former proclamation, there is little occasion for a warning voice lest they may construe too strongly and too literally, the emphatic language of the present. The error into which Com Paulding fell, will not be likely soon again to be incurred by any intelligent official of the present administration.

And yet we must say that we exceedingly regret that our goverment should ever consent to thus act with Punic faith towards any other nation or power upon the face of the globe.

Let the tottering, fraud established, and wrong sustained monarchies and tyrannies of the old word adopt whatever code of hollow hearted, machaeveleidn policy and diplomacy, they please, it is beneath the dignity, and inconsistent with the whole tenor and character of our republican government, to imitate them in this respect.

We are not afraid to say just what we mean, and to do just what we say, and what we believe to be right, however unlike it may be to the king-craft of other lands. This was unquestionably the policy and the practice of the sturdy patriots and statesmen of one first half century, and under which we have risen to a position of power and respect, unknown in the history of courts and palaces, and it must be regarded as of more than questionable utility, to say nothing of its morality, to now lay it aside, for that which is so diametrically opposite, and unsuited to our institutions and character.

We have said that as a principle of diplomacy, we believe it to be of a more than doubtful utility, but still more than this do we regret its influence and demoralizing tendencies upon the youth of our country. It is to them only a lesson of fraud and treachery, of hollow pretension and double dealing, sanctioned adopted by the highest official authority in our government, and those who have taken the initiative in this lesson for the evasion of the form and letter of the law, must not be disappointed if at the last the lesson shall be found to have been but too faithfully learned, and to be equally applied to other matters, where a similar application shall be less sought for, and far less desirable.

St. Louis, Nov 6.

The overland mail from San Francisco with dates to the 11th ult., has arrived.—The Alta Californian furnishes the following summary of news since the departure of the steamer. The first mail from St. Louis reached San Francisco unexpectedly on the morning of the 12th ult., 24 days out. Arrangements are being made for appropriately celebrating the event. Telegrams have been received from the summit of Sierra Nevada.

The steamer Cortes sailed for Victoria on the 9th, with only 20 passengers. The steamers were returning daily, loaded down with the disheartened. The total amount of Fraser River dust deposited in San Francisco mint to Oct. 1st., was $57,000.

On the 9th, a fire broke out in Jamestown, which destroyed 27 houses. Loss $250,000.

Business generally, since the departure of the last steamer, was quiet, but the demand from the country was full.

A New Robinson Crusoe—The wreck of the Wild Wave—Remarkable Experience of the Captain.

San Francisco Thursday, Oct. 5.

Among the passengers who leave for New York in the steamer Panama, is J. M. Knowles, of the clipper-ship Wild Wave, which has been missing for several months, and long since been given up as lost, with all on board. As the Captain's story is a very interesting one, I have obtained the particulars from him for your readers. The ship left New York in September last, for San Francisco, where she arrived on the 14th of January, leaving again in ballast on the 9th of February last, for Valparaiso.

The strong easterly winds which prevailed for some time after starting, forced the vessel considerably to the westward of the usual track of vessels bound for the South American ports. All went well however, until the night of the 4th of March. Captain Knowles had taken fair observations daily, and on the night in question supposed himself at least sixteen or eighteen miles from any land.—An hour after midnight he discovered breakers upon the lee bow. The helm was put hard down but the ship missstayed, and while wearing, struck upon a sunken coral reef, and soon fell over on her side and bilged. A heavy surf broke over the ship, and it became evident at once that she must be lost. Her top masts were cut away, to ease her as much as possible.

Daylight at last revealed their position and showed that the vessel had struck the reef surrounding Oeono, a very low lagoon island, a mile and half or two miles in circumference, the reef extending in some places two miles from the shore. Soon after daylight the boats were got out and all hands landed. In the course of the day the Captain succeeded in getting his nautical instruments and a supply of provisions ashore. During the ten days following they were unable to get out to the wreck more than twice, in consequence of the surf. While upon the island Captain Knowles made very careful observations, from which he ascertained that Oeono lies 16 miles East of the position ascribed to it on the latest English charters, by which he had navigated the ship. To this error of the chart, the loss of the Wild Wave is attributed.

Upon the 14th of March, he started in his life-boat with his first mate, Mr. James F. Bartlett of Binghampton, N. Y., and five men, for Pitcairn's Island, 75 miles to the southward, expecting to find relief there, not to be had at Oeono, which is out of the usual track of vessels in any trade. When he left, the ship had not broken up, and the Captain got out his specie and carried it down with him. Pitcairn's Island, it will be remembered, is a fertile and pleasent island, only four miles in circumference.

Arriving at the island, in forty-eight hours, he found it inhabited, the settlers having been removed to Norfolk Island. In landing, too, the life boat was stove and ruined. Of course the unfortunate men were now without a boat of any description, and had no tools with which to construct one. There seemed to be nothing for them to do but possess themselves in patience until next February or March, when they might hope for succor by the whaling fleet bound up the Pacific. The island abounds in tropical fruits, which, with goats and chickens left by late settlers, promised abundant support meantime, So the Captain fitted up a deserted tenement, and made himsef comfortable as possible. An old gun barrel picked up on the Island was mounted upon a rude stock, so that one could fire it with a match while aimed by another. I this duel fashion the goats were brought down for meat.

In walking about the deserted settlement one day they found old rusty tools, consisting of a few axes, planes and augers. With these the Captain determined to build a boat to get away with, and the party proceeded at once to carry the plan into execution. Of course it was no small undertaking, for they had no saws, nor rigging, nor iron-work for fastenings. They went into the woods, however, with their axes, hewed a shingle plank out of each tree, until the whole was ready to put together.

In the meantime they found a few nails and burned a couple of houses to get more. With these and wooden pins, they fastened the vessel and in about three days had it ready to launch, a trim-looking though frail schooner, thirty feet in length. From the quantity of condemned ropes picked up on the island, they made oakum to caulk the seems, as well as rigging for the schooner. The sail of the life-boat and some old sail cloth also picked up at Pitcarn's, furnished sails for the John Adams, as the new craft was christened. From a bucket full of tar and several pounds of rosin found in a deserted tenement, the bottom seams were pad, and the rest were painted with some refuse white lead from the same source. The hold was eight feet deep and well decked over. It only remained to get a set of colors. These the Captain soon provided, an old shirt furnishing the white stripes and stars, some trimmings from the church pulpit the red, and the curtains before a bank in a deserted house furnishing the blue for the field.

After three weeks effort the Adams was launched, provisioned with jerked goats' meat, chickens, fruit, a few cans of of perserved meats, and an abundance of water. Three of the sailors fearful of the craft, preferred to remain where they were. So Captain Knowles, his mate, and two men set sail from Pitcairn's on the third of July for Tahiti, intending to call in at Oeono Island, where he had 32 men. The first night out, they encountered a severe gale from the north-west, which lasted three days, forcing them so far to the eastward that they could not make Oeono. They bore away accordingly for the Marquesas, 1,300 miles from Pitcairn's, where they arrived safely on the 5th of August. Here they found the U. S. sloop-of-war Vandalia, Commander Sinclair, who immediately got under weight for Tahiti, to get wood and water and proceeded thence to the rescue of the Wild Wave's crew, remaining on Oeono and Pitcarn's. To Tahiti Captain K. and his companions also proceeded. The mate went with the Vandalia on her errand of mercy, and Captain Knowles was carried by the French frigate Eurydice to Honolu, whence he started for San Francisco on a merchant schooner, arriving here on the 28th of Sept, bringing his colors and his specie with him.—He starts for home to-day, as already stated, and carries the first news of his ship, which has reached the East since last spring. His family who live at Cape Cod, have long since given up all hope of ever hearing from him, as he learned from his friends here.

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE—MAN WITH A PETRIFIED WIFE.—A few days since a gentleman residing in Rising Sun, Ind. who had married a second time, wished to remove the body of his wife to a new cemetry. Preparations were made to that effect, and laborers opened the grave in the usual manner; but when they reached the coffin they could not lift it, so great was the weight. After obtaining considerable assistance however, the men succeded in raising the coffin from the tomb. They then had such curiosity that they could not resist the temptation of peeping into the coffin and learning the reason for its unusual weight. They did so, and found much to their surprise, instead of the remains of a corpse a stone figure, the exact counterpart of the woman who had died. This strange story soon spread, and hundreds and thousands of persons were present to see the strange spectacle.

The husband took the body of his departed spouse home and has it there now, where it is visited by hundreds of the curious and scientific. The body seems to have been petrified, and to have become a perfect stone woman. The probability is that the body has become adipocere, and will before long melt or crumble.

How the living wife likes the deceased, or how she relishes the idea of seeing No 1 installed, though a statue, in her place and herself neglected, is more than we can say. The affair, at best is a peculiar and novel one, and we marvel that the squint Indians do not arrest the twice-married individal for bigamy.—Cin. Inq.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.

When the St. Louis Overland Mail o September 10th reached San Francisco, the mail via. the Isthmus of the same dates had not arrived.

Oregon dates to the 22nd of September mention a credited rumor that two hostile Chiefs named Qualchien and Quail were captured and shot.

A messenger had arrived at Shasta with despatches from Fort Van Couver for Fort Reading. Though the despatches would change the destination of the troops for Oregon, the Washington forces now there will be able to keep the Indians under subjection without additional aid.

The Sacramento Mercury publishes a communication revealing the existence of a project to make a fillibustering incursion into Sonora.

The Utah Correspondent of the Republican gives an account of the outrages committed on the person of Marker and daughter nine years since by two Utes Indians at Spanish fork.

Governor Cumming demanded the surrender of the offenders through Indian Hart. It was refused and a requisition was then made upon General Johnson, and a detachment of men proceeded to the scene of the outrage and effected the delivery of the culprits, who were sent to Salt, Lake City and placed in the custody of the U. S. Marshal.

One Indian was unintentially killed, which may lead to further disturbance; in view of which, a posse of military was stationed at the Spanish Fork for the protection of its inhabitants.

The District Court had adjourned till the 1st Monday in November.

☞ A great step is gained when a child has learned that there is no necessary connection between liking a thing and doing it.

General News.

New York, Nov. 8.

The Piccolomini excitement continues unabated. There is another crushing house at the Academy to night. Four thousand tickets were disposed of this morning within two hours after the office was opened. Many were obtained by speculators and re-sold at exhorbitant prices.

The members of the Castleton, Staten Island Board of Heath, five in number, have been arrested and held to bail for having voted for the resolution, declaring the quarantine a nuisance, and calling upon the people to abate it. The amount of bail demanded was $300,000, for each member.

A complaint has also been served upon the Board of Supervisors of the County of Richmond, by the Board of Emigration, demanding judgment for $250,000, that being the amount of damages arising from the quarantine outrages.

Messrs Ray and Tompkins, held for examination on charges of Arson, and not in the matter of quarantine outrages, have been discharged.

Robert Willis, the Broadway Gambler, was committed to prison, to-day, on the charge of murder, made against him recently by his servant girl. There is no clue yet to the name of the person murdered. Mr. Busteed, counsel for Willis, got out a writ of Habeas Corpus, and brought the prisoner this P. M. before Judge Russel, who immediately discharged him.

Two murderers, Thom Mulroe and James McCormick, both sentenced to be hung on the 16th of December, escaped from Sing Sing prison on Saturday night, and have not yet been retaken.

A private despatch from New Orleans says, that on the 5th inst., the yellow fever had entirely subsided at Galveston.

Frederick Crowe, the Missionary who was recently banished from San Salvador for distributing the Bible there, died on Saturday in this city from sickness caused by exposures and sufferings in that country.

A young man named Wm. R Tompkins was killed on Saturday evening in an affray in a Broadway Concert Saloon kept by Messrs Fox and Wadsworth. Last evening while the performances were going on in the same saloon the police made a descent upon it, arresting all the proprietors and about one hundred persons composing the audience.

The Times Washington Correspondent says that Gen. Walker's object at Washington is to induce President Buchanan to withdraw the proclamation, or at least to modify it. Should he fail in this object he will, he says, disregard the proclamation and sail immediately for Nicaragua.

Washington, Nov 8.

The following officers have been ordered to sail from Aspinwall on the 20th to relieve those of the St. Mary's, now at Panama;—Lieutenants Moore, Wells and Phelps; Surgeon, Mason; Assistant Surgeon Magee; Purser, Pitchie. It is said that the list of Lieutenants has now been exhausted, every officer of that rank having been assigned some duty.

Boston, Nov. 8.

Captain Dobson, late master of the Brig Isle De Cuba, which recently arrived here in charge of the mate, arrived at New Bedford, and was arrested immediately and brought to this city for examination on the charge of being engaged in the Slave trade.

Portland, Me., Nov. 8.

A cattle train on the Grand Trunk R. R., run off the track near Gloucester, today, killing Mr. Hazleton the Engineer, and slaughtering a number of cattle.

New Orleans, Nov. 8.

Deaths from yeer Saturday 13 Total deaths last week 135. There was a good frost this morning.

Sandy Hook, Nov. 9

The steamer Kangaroo has passed this point en route to N. Y. with Liverpool dates of the 27th.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.—The Breadstuffs Market had a declining tendency. All articles slightly lower. Provision market very dull.

New Haven, Nov. 8.

The large daguerotype-case factory of Newel C. Hall, in Park st. in this city took fire this evening and was destroyed. Part of the stock was saved. Over 100 persons are thrown out of employment in consequence. Loss $16,000. Insured in Hartford, New London, and Springfield.

New York, Nov. 9.

$50,000 in bills of the bogus concern called the New England Bank of Falmouth have been put in circulation by several Wall street brokers; one of the parties, J. W. Underhill, was arrested yesterday. The bills are signed E. Rittenhard, President, and Blank Martin, Cashier.

Baltimore, Nov. 7.

Corrie and Cross were arraigned this morning for the murder of officer Rigdon and the cases were removed to the county court, where they no doubt will find speedy justice.

MARRIED.

On the 9th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Hyde at the residence of the bride's father, near Tecumseh, JAMES R. HOWLETT, of Minneapolis Minnesota, to Miss SARAH S. GRAVES, of Tecumseh.

The happy couple have our best wishes.

DIED

November 10th, JANE DEMOTT, aged 59, at the residence of her son, Charles DeMott, Tecumseh.

The peacefulness of her departure following her previous prolonged sufferings, so patiently endured, heals the wounds inflicted by it. It was the peacefulness of the Christian's faith, robbing death of its victory, and inspiring, the submission, patience, and fortitude with which she underwent many month of suffering. Funeral Services at the Presbyterian Church, Friday, Nov., 12th, at 2 o'clock, P. M. Com.

At Toledo, O., on Wednesday Oct. 27th, after a brief illness, JAMES HAMPTON, aged 82 Mr. H., was one of the early settlers of Tecumseh, having removed from the State of New York to this place nearly a quarter of a century ago, where he continued to reside until within a few months past. The most of his children still reside in this vicinity and his remains were brought to this place for interment. Having been so long and so favorably known to the citizens of this place and constituting one of the rapidly diminishing band of its early settlers, his demise will be felt to be one of more than ordinary interest.

Special Notices.

The School Inspectors

For the townships of Tecumseh, Franklin, Adrian and Raisin will hold an adjourned meeting at the School house, in fractional School district, composed in part of each of the above named townships, on Saturday November 20th A. D. 1858 at 10 o'clock A. M for the purpose of taking into consideration a petition to make the following additions to said School district, viz. The N W quarter of S W quarter of sec 31—the E half of S E quarter of sec 31—and W half of S W quarter of sec 32—in the township of Tecumseh. The N E quarter of sec 36 in the township of Franklin—and the E half of the S E quarter of sec 1 in the township of Adrian. CHAS. D. STEVENS Township Clerk, for the town-ship of Tecumseh.

SUPERBLY BEAUTIFUL!
JUST OUT
The Cosmopolitan Art Journal
FOR DECEMBER.

Over seventy pages—choice articles—elegantly illustrated—Splendid Steel Engravings.—Price 50 cents. Specimen copy sent on receipt of 18 cents, in stamps or coin. Address C. L. DERBY 548 Broadway N. Y

I would like to exchange my Village Property for a Farm. A small one preferd. Enquire of JACOB TOTTEN.
Tecumseh, October 1st., 1858.

DISSOLUTION.

The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the name of J. W. Beers & Brother, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, all those indebted to the late firm, either by note or account, are hereby respectfully requested to call and close up the Company affairs without delay.

J. W. BEERS.
S. A. BEERS.

Tecumseh, Nov. 1st., 1858.

The undersigned will continue the Business at the Old Stand, and would solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed upon the Company until such time as Town by Competitors or a Sacrifice of Five or Seven Hundred Dollars.

J. W. BEERS.

Tecumseh, Nov 1st., 1858

A. H. C. BROCKEN,
23 CLIFF STREET NEW YORK
MANUFACTURER OF
Glass Syringes, Homeopathic Vials, Graduated Measures, nursers
Bott es, etc.
Agent for Chemists, Druggists, Perfumers, Photographers, etc. Green Glass Ware by the Package. A liberal discount made to the trade. Orders from Country Druggists and Dealers solicited. Price Lists sent on application. c&eo406m3

Dr. H. James, The Retired Physician discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and general debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefitting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the receipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, FREE, on receipt of their name Address, O. P. BROWN, No. 19 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J. 411m3

5000 AGENTS WANTED to sell 4 new inventions. Agents have made over $25,000 on one—better than all other similar agencies Send four stamps and get 80 pages particulars, gratis. EPHRAIM BROWN,
Lowell, Mass.
☞ $12,00 in on day—$62,50 in two days were cleared by agents, retailing my patents. Send 4 stamps for letters and book.
411m3 E BROWN, Lowell, Mass.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow-suffers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A WILSON,
411m3c] Williamsburgh, Long Island.

MEDICAL NOTICE!
DR. NOTEMAN,

The Analytical Physician, will be at his office Williamsons' Boarding House, the 1st and 2d of every month for consultation with patients laboring under the various Chronic diseases such as Consumption, Prolapsus Uteri, Scrotula, Diseases of the Liver &c. Consultations free. P. O. Address, Adrian, Mich. 393

MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS AND PHOENIX BITTERS.

The very painful symptoms which precede the attacks of fever and ague can be suppressed and all danger arrested by the use of these valuable medicines. The Pills and bitters are also a cure for Dyspepsia, and every variety of bowel complaint.

Sold by W. B. Moffat, 335 Broadway, N. Y. Taylor & Curtis Agents, Tecumseh.

☞ BLANKS of all kinds for sale at J. E. Halls'

To-Days Advertisements.

NEW FEATURES—FIFTH YEAR OF THE COSMOPOLITAN ART ASSOCIATION
SUPERB ENGRAVINGS!
Cosmopolitan Art Journal!
VALUABLE PREMIUMS &c. &c.

This popular Art Association, now in its fifth year of unparalleled success, having purchased, and engraved on Steel, Herring's great painting, "THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH" will now issue copies (to subscribers only) on heavy-plate paper, 20 x 28 inches on the following

(TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.)

Every person remitting three dollars, will receive a copy of the superb Steel Engraving, after Herring's celebrated Painting,

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH,

Also a copy of the beautiful

Cosmopolitan Art Journal,

A elegantly illustrated quarto Magazine. Also 6 season tickets of Admission to the Exhibition at Dusseldorf, and Western Galleries of the Association.

There will also be given to the subscribers seventy-five hundred valuable works of Art, comprising fine Oil Paintings, Bronzes, Sculptures, &c., &c., from celebrated American and foreign Artists.

Subscriptions will be received up to Jan. 1, 1859. On the evening of that date the premiums will be awarded to subscribers.

For full particulars, see December Art JOURNAL, price 50 cents. Specimen copies sent to those desireing to subscribe, on the receipt of 18 cents in postage stamps or coin. Address

C. L. DERBY, ACTUARY C. A. A.
Eastern Office, 548 Broadway, N. Y. Or, Western Office, 100 Water-st., Sandusky, O.

"Endorsed by Eminent Physicians"
THE GREATEST REMEDY KNOWN FOR Dyspepsia, Debility, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Diarrhea, Hemorrhoids, Jaundice, Blood Diseases &c. &c. &c.
DR. BRUNON'S BITTERS

Also, as a prophylactic against Fever and Ague, Cholera, Summer Complaints, &c.

This remedy has a very pleasant taste and will be taken as readily by children as adults. The afflicted are invited to Try it.

Pint Bottles—50 Cents,

Send for a circular giving full particulars Address COMSTOCK & CREGER,
Sole Agents, 742 Broadway, N. Y.
Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.
411m3w

A. Randall & Co,

WILL continue to do business at ANDERSON'S STORE where they will keep on hand a large and general assortment of

BOOTS & SHOES

Of their own manufacture warranted good and substantial. Also, a large and well selected stock of Eastern Boots & Shoes, of every description and of good quality.

All Kind of Money Taken.

REPAIRING done on the shortest notice. CASH paid for Hides.
Tecumseh, January 25th 1858 3tf

GLOBE MILLS,
Tecumseh, Lenawee Co., Mich.

The Subscribers having become the Proprietors of the well known "Globe Mills" and having put the same in first rate order for Milling, are now prepared to do Custom work in a way will give Satisfaction to those who favor their Grists.

Choice Family FLOUR of the Globe Mill Double Extra Brand, of other grades. Also, Shorts and Coarse mixed Middlings, for Sale in quantities to suit purchasers.

Cash Paid for Wheat at Market price. Old customers are invited to continue, and new ones are solicited to give us a trial.

Days for grinding Buel wheat—Tuesdays and Fridays.

We have retained the services of Mr. Th Baylis and Mr Lyman T. Baylis, so long favorably known in the Milling business.

Orders for Flour or Feed filled promptly and delivered at Railroad Depot free of Cartage.

WM. HAYDEN & CO.
Tecumseh Nov 10 406m3

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by Daugal McCaughen and Hellen McCaughen his wife to Thomas Osborn, Dated September 21st, 1858, recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County, Michigan on the 21st day of November, A D 1858 in Liber R of Mortgages on folios 102, 103, 104 and 105 and assigned on the 13th day of April 1858 assigned to William B. Whitnall as assignment thereof recorded in the Register's office aforesaid on the 8th day of November A D 1858, and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof, the sum of Five hundred and Thirty-three dollars and Seventy one cents. Notice is therefore hereby given, that by virtue of a power in said mortgage contained, the land in said mortgage described, viz all these certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Township of Tecumseh, Lenawee County Michigan and described as following, viz: The East quarter of the North East quarter of section Twenty-three, and the South East quarter of the North West quarter of said section (24), all in town four south of Range East, or so much thereof as is necessary to realize the aforesaid sum of money with interest and costs of foreclosure, will be sold at public vendue, at the Circuit Court room in the city of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, on the 18th day of February next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day. Subject nevertheless to the incumbrance of a certain other mortgage made said Dougal McCaughen and wife, for the sum of One Hundred and Ninety-six Dollars and Seventy-six Cents, dated April 20th, 1857.

WILLIAM B. WHITNALL, Assignee.
STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.
Dated, November 10th, 1858. 411w6

A CHOICE LOT OF
FAMILY GROCERIES
At Union Hall.

STONE COAL.

Blossburg and New Castle Coal of superior quality for Blacksmithing and Domestic use for sale, Cheap for Cash by E. TINKER.
Tecumseh, June 12, 1857

Pure Solar Salt Groun

A New and Superior article—also Coarse Fine, and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept. 16th E. TINKER.
WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Lake, the best, for sale cheap by E. TINKER.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

IS PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY

GEORGE S. SPAFFORD,

CORNER OF MAIN RAIL ROAD STREETS.

TERMS, ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, IN ADVANCE!

RATES OF ADVERTISING!

	THREE MONTHS.	SIX MONTHS.	ONE YEAR.
One Column	$15	$25	$40
One-half do	9	14	20
One-third do	6	10	15
One-quarter do	4	7	10
One Square, (12 lines) three weeks			1 50
One Square, each week			50
One Square each insertion, after three months			25

☞ Legal Advertisements at the usual rates

☞ Business cards $5, a year, unless contracted with other advertisements.

☞ No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, except at the option of the publisher.

☞ Parties from a distance sending advertisements to the Herald, (who are unknown to the publisher) must in all cases inclose the cash, or send their advertisements through a responsible Agent.

Local and Miscellaneous.

☞ Since the fire, the new block of stores have progressed wonderfully.—Mr. Gilman will occupy his within 10 days.

☞ There will be 20 or 30 vacancies to be filled at the commencement of the winter term of the Michigan Agricultural College.

☞ A. Randall & Co., have received a new stock of boots and shoes, and will occupy a portion of Anderson's store for the present. Mr. R. informs us that the stock which was burned, inventories $2100.

☞ Globe Mills.—This celebrated mill was purchased during the summer, by Messrs. Hayden & Co., of Jackson, who has, we are informed, invested about $5000 re modeling the building and perfecting its machinery. It is supposed to a little the best mill in southern Michigan. We notice the proprietors have retained the services of Thomas and Lyman Baylis who are well known, as excellent millers. Give the Globe a trial.

☞ A Democratic Paper, called the Daily Herald, has been started at Toledo, by Dennet & Boyd.

☞ The December number of the Cosmopolitan Art Journal is received. It contains over seventy pages of useful reading: two beautiful steel engravings 'Cleopatra applying the Asp' and 'The first pair of Boots,' the list of Paintings and Statuary to be distributed among Subscribers Jany 1st. 1859. The 'Village Blacksmith' an Engraving, 30x38 inches, the Journal, and a chance in the annual distribution for $3. Apply at this office.

☞ A. James & Co., will pay the highest market price for Furs.

We are much obliged to Charles Lauderbe for the following official returns, in time for this issue.

1st.	Rep. Dist.	Perkins,	208
2d.	do	Sharp,	350
3d.	do	Clark,	197
4th.	do	Green,	421
10th	Sen. Dist.	Perry	582
do	do	Carpenter	599
Congress		Waldron	1134
In favor of Banking Law			1160

COUNTY TICKET.

Geddes	1224
Bennet	1145
Bliss	1287
Turner	649
Beecher	1201
Howel	1250
Stretch	1180
Colgrove	1147
Kent	1194

STATE TICKET.

Wisner	1186
Fairfield	1171

Second Congressional District.

The following are the reported majorities for Waldron in this District:

Monroe County,	Waldron,	85
Lenawee	" "	1,235
Hillsdale	" "	1,500
Branch	" "	1,059
St. Joseph	" "	537
Cass	" "	325
Total majority		4,732

Every Republican Senator, (seven.) and 15 of the 16 members of the House are elected. Monroe elects one Loco Representative by 40 majority. Every Republican County officer is elected in this district, except Sheriff and Register in Monroe.

Response.

Tell me ye wingèd winds that o'er my pathway flit
Do ye not know some decent place where Louis never chew and spit,
Some lone Cigarless spot where ladies may repose
Without some Spaniel moustached face, to perch beneath her nose?
The wild winds smiled in exultation
And answered yes, Tecumseh R. R. station.

☞ We learn from the Angola Republican that at the last term of the Circuit Court for Steuben Co, Indiana, twenty one divorce cases were on the Calender, ten of which were then and there granted, and the balance continued. The editor of the Republican congratulates himself on this state of things, as it makes work for the printer.

☞ The Marshall Statesman contains the following editorial notice:

ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED.—Mr Jacob Vanderzeuch, of Homer, and Miss Miranda Hubert of Litchfield.

Mich. Sou. & Nor. Ind. R. R. Co.

Report of Earnings for October 1858 and 1857.

	1858	1857.
Receipts from Passengers	$97,270,41	135,120,50
Freight	94,459,88	78,395,44
Mails	4,635,14	4,118,00
Expres', Miscell'	15,27599	4,871,93
Total	$211 641,31	$223,595,87
Expenses	84,381,28	144,570,88
Net Earnings	127,260 05	78,934 99

The increse of net earnings, compared with October 1857, amounts to $48,325,-06. It will be remembered that this road was the first that showed a tendency to go down hill in the stock market, during the financial flurry of last year. The continued improvement in the monthly exhibit of net earnings for this year, no longer leaves any doubt that the road is capable of restoring itself, through the wisdom of the present management, to its original position as one of the most valuable in the country, and it will be gratifying to the share holders and all interested, that it is the first to exhibit an improvement.

Subscribe at Once.

If you wish to secure a copy of that elegant Engraving, "THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH," and the ART JOURNAL, with the other premiums, be sure and subscribe $3. before the 1st of January 1859. Specimen copies of the above, and full particulars given, by applying to Geo Spafford, Agent. See advertisement elsewhere headed—New Features, &c.

LIST OF PETIT JURORS drawn at the office of the County Clerk, Oct. 27th, 1858, to serve a term of the Lenawee Circuit Court to be held at Odd Fellow's Hall in this city, commencing Tuesday, Nov 16th. No Grand Jurymen were drawn R Colbath, M. H. Roberts, J. Birdsal A. Wilcox, James Farrar, J. Cross, J. M. French, Adrian City; David Older, Adrian Township; Isaac Allen, Cambridge: James W. Adams, C. S. Dewey, Blissfield, Warren Prentis, Rufus Baker Fairfield; David R. Stroud, Enoch Barling, Jesse R Treadwecll, Hudson; Jehiel Miller, E. B. Fulkerson, John Pennington Ebenezer Harmon, Macon; James H. Thompson, Madison; Charles S Ingals, Seneca; A J. Knight, Riga.

Information Wanted.

Of a girl named Mary Ann Rogers — She left Perrysburg a fortnight ago for Toledo. Any information of her whereabouts, will be thankfully received. Direct Somerst, Hillsdale Co, Mich.

DAVID O. ROGERS.

Exchanges please copy the above

MY TRIOTS.—On Monday a lad picked up near the canal, a few miles this side of Boston Township, a bonnet and shawl, to the latter of which was attached a letter dated 15th inst., directed to Mrs Maria Johnson, Tecumseh Mich., and signed Eliza Williams. It is from an erring sister to one married. She narrates the miseries of a life of prostitution, induced by seduction and subsequent desertion, states that she had at last became a cook on a canal boat, and could endure life no longer. The letter was handed by the boy to a Mr. Georgg. Storrs, Jr., a farmer on his way to the city. The presumption is that the writer of the letter has drowned herself. So we learn by the evening papers.—Cleveland Review, Oct. 20th.

☞ The American ship Kalamazoo, Capt. Taylor, now at City Point, Va., with salt and iron from Liverpool, is a genuine floating wonder, and illustrates the idea of Babel as astoundingly as would a human menagarie of all the tame and wild bipeds in existance. The captain is a Quaker from Pennsylvania; his wife is an Irish woman; the first mate is an Irishman, the second a Virginian, the cook a Chines, the stewardess a "Cornwall girl," (married to the cook!) two of the sailors are Malays, two negroes one a Manilla man, two more Swedes.

☞ During a thunder shower that passed over the town of Petersham, Mass. last week, a bolt of lightning passed down a rod attached to the residence of a Mrs. Pierce. The lady was sitting at the window immediately adjacent to the rod at the time, and was somewhat stunned.—But she was greatly astonished to find, on examination, that every one of her upper teeth had been extracted by the shock without her knowing it, and were laying about loose on the floor.

☞ Where's the man that was to bring us some good apples on subscription? We have been anxiously looking for him to come 'round, but begin to think that he, or his apples, "has failed to connect." The fact is we want some apples, and the man who brings us some shall receive the thanks of "the Printer," besides credit on our books for the same.

☞ A company of Dragoons is being formed in Jackson, to be called the "Jackson Dragoons." Success to them.

COMMERCIAL.

Tecumseh Market.

Corrected weekly, by A. James & Co.

TECUMSEH, NOVEMBER 1 1858.

Wheat	90a?
Flour	5 50a6 00
Buckwheat flour	37
"	1 75
Barley	50a55
Corn	55
Oats	30a35
Clover seed
Beans	50a60
Potatoes new	30
Onions	62
Apples, green	62
do dried	5a6
Butter	14
Tallow	a 10
Lard	10
Eggs	10
Cheese	9
Chicken, dressed	6
Turkey do	7
Beef,	3 50a4 25
Pork	4 50a5 00
White fish per bbl.	8 50
do half bbl.	4 50
Hides	6
Calf skins	8a10
Sheep pelts	30a50
Salt, fine	1 75
do coarse	1 88
do diary pr sack	1 88
Hay	6 00 a 5 00
Lath	4 50
Shingles, pine	3a4 50
do black ash	1 00 a 1 25

POST OFFICE TIME TABLE.

MAILS CLOSE AS FOLLOWS

Northern	4 00 P M
Eastern and Southern	2 00 P M
Jonesville,—Monday. Wednesday. Friday	7 00 P M
Macon—Friday	10 P M
Lake Ridge—Tuesday Saturday	9 P M

WM. MCNAIR, Post Master.

M. S. & N. I. R. R.

1858. Fall Arrangement 1858.

On and after Tuesday October, 26th, 1858, until further notice, Passenger Trains will leave Tecumseh Station as follows:

For Adrian	at 6 50 A M	and 2 53 P M
For Jackson	" 8 29	" 4 36

Trains leaving Chicago and Toledo; and connecting with Trains on the Jackson Branch, run as follows:

Leave Chicago for Adrian	6 30 A M	10 00 P M
Leave Toledo for Chicago	11 15 A M	8 20 P M

Trains will run between Adrian and Detroit, and Adrian and Jackson, connecting with Trains for Toledo and Chicago as follows:

Leave Adrian for Monroe and Detroit	8 00 A M
Leave Adrian for Jackson	7 55 A M	3 45 P M
Leave Detroit for Monroe and Adrian		5 30 P M
Leave Jackson for Adrian	4 20 A M	1 50 P M

J. D. CAMPBELL, General Superintendent.

D. HENDERSON,

Is now prepared to sell Clothing 25 per cent Cheaper than Any other house in the State.

My stock of

READY MADE CLOTHING is complete.

Call and examine this stock before purchasing elsewhere.

CUTTING Done to order, and Satisfaction Warranted.

Shop nearly opposite the Post Office.

Tecumseh, Oct 28th. 415

1858. SPRING TRADE 1858.

NEW GOODS

DAILY ARRIVING

At Snell's Old Store, Tecumseh,

PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES.

Would Respectfully Invite the Citizens of Tecumseh and the Public in general to examine my New Stock of Goods, consisting of Spring Cl ths, Cassimers, and Vestings, for Custom Trade. Also

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

Nothing charged for showing my Goods.

☞ Give me a Call.

CUTTING Done to Order in the Latest Style. Satisfaction Warranted.

GEORGE HEESEN.

Tecumseh, April 22d. 388m6.

CHEAP FOR CASH

AT THE NEW

Grocery & Provision Store,

(One door west of J. E. Hall.)

TEA

SUGAR and COFFEE

MOLASSES, SYRUP, SALERATUS,

SODA, CREAM TARTAR,

SPICES OF ALL KINDS.

Candies Nuts and Figs,

BUTTER, EGGS, FISH, HAMS, PORK

And other articles not mentioned.

☞ Call and See T. DEUEL.

Tecumseh April 20th, 1858.

Ploughs! Ploughs!!

I have for Sale the 'Celebrated Genesee, Brinckerhoff Plow, so much in repute in Western New York. It is unequalled for quality of work, and great ease of DRAFT, which are considerations, the farmer will fully appreciate, by useing these unrivalled Plows. They are well made of selected timber and all warranted to do first rate work.

☞ Points, Landsides and Extras always on hand. B. J. BIDWELL.

80,000

BUSHELS OF

Wheat Wanted.

E. TINDALL

Tecumseh, April, 5th

Medical Advertisement.

AYER'S

Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of FEVER AND AGUE from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body; and in bilious districts, where FEVER AND AGUE prevails, every body should have it and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few will ever suffer from Intermittents, if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,

are so composed, that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions. They are an excellent alterative for the renovation of the blood and the restoration of tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed by cures on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY

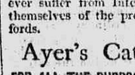
DR. J. C. AYER & CO.

LOWELL, MASS.

Chas. DeMott, and Geo. Curtis, Tecumseh, and by druggists every where.

West & Truax, Wholesale Agents, Toledo, O

Wholesale & Retail.



FURNITURE, CHAIR AND SOFA FACTORY,

The undersigned, thankful for the very liberal patronage extended heretofore, would say to the public and especially to those just going to house keeping, that he has in warehouse and for sale the Largest and most Complete Stock of

FURNITURE

ever offered in this place. His Furniture is all of his own manufacture, of thoroughly seasoned lumber, and made by superior workmen. Of Sofas I have a good assortment, which will be kept full, and offered at low figures.

Finished Coffins

Of all sizes on hand as usual. A Hearse accompanies each coffin free of charge.

☞ I wish it distinctly understood that you can do better here for cash than in Adrian

DAVID VAN TINE

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

J. W. Beers & Bro.

BLACKSMITHS.

Horse Shoeing and General Blacksmithing done in a Style and Workmanship not to be surpassed by any Competitor either near or remote. Shoes toed for nothing, and all other work in proportion. Boys paid for bringing us jobs Shop on Chicago Street, TWO Doors East of Foundry, Tecumseh, Michigan. 393y

100 Cider Barrels, and 100 Pork Barrels, For Sale Low, at the Cheap Store of

B. J. BIDWELL.

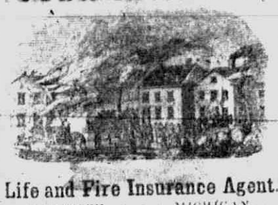
Tecumseh, Oct. 15th.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by E. TINDALL.

Variety.

JOHN CUMMINS.



Life and Fire Insurance Agent.

TECUMSEH MICHIGAN.

Is prepared to take risks in the following reliable Companies.

ETNA of Hartford, Capital	$1 000 000.
PHOENIX "	$300 000.
HOMSTEAD Weedsport, N Y	$150 000.
ÆTNA LIFE, Hartford, Conn	$150,000.
CHARTER OAK "	$200 000.

And other equally responsible companies. Policies promptly issued on favorable terms. May 27th, 1858.

NEW MARBLE.

The Subscribers announce that they have received the best and most beautiful assortment of

ITALION and AMERICAN

MARBLE

ever offered in Lenawee County. This marble will be worked up to order, in a style second to none.

Call soon if you want the first choice.

EMERSON & STOCKING.

Tecumseh Sept., 17th, 357tf

LOOK HERE,

The subscriber has switched off from Apothecary Hall, into Union Hall, One door east, where he is firmly established And the probably is, will not smash up, or Run off the track; but will continue To keep on hand a general assortment of

PAINTS, OILS,

TERPENTINE, CAMPHENE,

AND ALCOHOL

A large stock of Patent Medicines.

DRUGS and DYE STUFF.

GOOD LIQUORS

For Medicinal and Mechanical purposes.

A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF

FAMILY GROCERIES,

All For Cash or Ready Pay.

Butter and Eggs

Wanted in Exchange for Goods.

HENRY TAYLOR.

Tecumseh, May 1858.

Rosin and Tar for sale cheap at Union Hall by H. TAYLOR.

BIRD Cages, Bird Seed, &c, for sale at the Drug Store of H Taylor.

GOOD NEWS!

The undersigned have entered into copartnership in the

TAILORING

Business, for the purpose of better facilitating our business, and would say to our patrons and friends, that we are now ready to attend to the wants of all who may be in need of work, in a style not to be excelled by any Professor, or 'Accomplished Artist' this side of Paris

MR. SCHERER is late from Paris, and is as good a workman as the country affords, and he will warrant his work inferior to none.

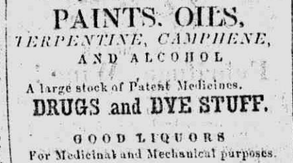
Mr. JONES is too well known as an accomplished Tailor to need any puff.

Please give us a call and see what we can do, as we will "Give you Fits" every time, and warrant our work "Not to Out in the Eye."

JONES & SCHERER.

Tecumseh, Nov 20, '55. 314

Southern Michigan



CARRIAGE

MANUFACTORY.

THOMAS CUMMINS, Proprietor.

The Subscriber would respectfully tender his thanks to the Patrons and Friends of the late firm of Cummings & Smith, in the above Establishment, and begs to inform them and those in want of Good and Substantial vehicles, that he has purchased the Entire Concern, and is continuing the Manufacture of every Description of

CARRIAGES

as heretofore, at the Old Stand, Corner of Kilbuck and Rail Road Streets, as usual of the best materials and workmanship.

A choice Assortment of the Newest and most Fashionable Styles of Open and Covered Buggies, Family Carriages, Sulkies, &c, always on hand, or Made to Order.

Particular Attention also paid to the manufacture of Good, Substantial and Easy-running Farm Wagons.

☞ Repairing Promptly attended to.

THOMAS CUMMINS.

Tecumseh June 1st 1858. 342tf.

WATER LIME—

Ames & Merriam's superior article with directions for using, for sale at wholesale or retail by E. TINDALL

AGENCY for the Sale of Dr. Jaynes' Medicines at Apothecaries Hall

Drv Goods, Boots & Shoes.

NEW

WINTER GOODS,

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

GREAT WESTERN CASH STORE,

Purchased in New York at

PANIC PRICES.

Since the Great Business Explosion,

20,000 Dollars Worth of Prime

NEW GOODS.

Will be Offered at COST, for the next

30 Days, For Cash,

CREDIT Entirely SUSPENDED

GOODS

Only Sold for Pay On Delivery.

Good French Merinoes, selling from 2 to 4 Shillings per yard less than old prices.

Calico 4, 6, 8, and 10 cents. Usually sold at 6, 8, 10 and 13 cents.

B. I. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, Dec. 10th, 1857.

1858, 1858.

"THE READY CASH SAVES MANY A SMASH."

The Subscriber offers an Entire New Stock of

Drugs & Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS and DYE STUFFS,

Books & Stationary,

New Spring Patterns of

WALL PAPER,

VARNISHES of all KINDS.

Also, a Few Well Selected

GROCERIES,

All of which having been purchased with reference to "The Hard Times" will be sold at prices accordingly. There will be no admi terations to make low prices, but the Times compel small profits and Ready Pay.

CHARLES DEMOTT.

Tecumseh, May 20, 1858.

NEW TANNERY.

In Full Blast!

The Subscribers have purchased the Old Starch Factory, and re-modified it into a

TANNERY,

would say to our old friends, that having had a fair trial of tanning with both hot and cold liquors, have concluded that the old process is the best, and would therefore invite all persons wishing hides tanned on shares to give us a call.

We Will Pay The Highest Market Price for Hides, Bark and Wood.

☞ All Work Warranted Good, or no pay required.

C. & W. B. ROWLAND.

Tecumseh, Febr. 18th, 1858. 378m3.

OYSTERS

By the Keg, Can or Dozen.

OHIO ALE,

ON DRAUGHT,

Or by the Half Barrell or Barrell.

Genuine Hamburgh Cheese.

SMOKED

HALIBUT, HERRING and COD FISH, Mackerel and White Fish by the barrel or half barrel, at A. JAMES & CO.

Tecumseh, Sept. 24th, 1858.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

BY

Burlingame & Yawger.

WE

Continue to keep on hand, and Manufacture to order, at the old Foundry

Horse Powers, from 2 to 10 Horse,

Threshers, Seperators and Mowers, of the best quality and most thorough material and Workmanship.

Our One Hundred Dollar Premium

THRESHER and SEPERATOR,

we can recommend as unequaled in Quality of its work, the amount it can thresh, and the durability of the Machine.

Our Clover Thresher and Huller, we believe Superior to anything of the kind in the Country.

Sugar Cane Crushers,

And all kind of Agricultural Implements cheap as the cheapest, and better than the best. BURLINGME & YAWGER.

Tecumseh, Sept. 1858. 411

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR for sale by E. TINDALL

Local Advertisements.

LOOK, LOOK, LOOK!

EVERYBODY LOOK

Are you an unbeliever in this? If so just call at the Livery Stable of

HENRY LANCASTER,

And see the new horses, Harnesses and Carriages, and be at once convinced that it is a fact! He is prepared to furnish those wishing anything in his line of business with the best he country affords. Call and see him.—Terms moderate.

THE

"Broadway Omnibus"

The Greatest Paper of the Age.

A Beautifully Illustrated Monthly sheet, and a Paper that is a Paper.

A budget of Wit, Humor, Facts and Scenes drawn from life—Here you are, right away right away, Broadway, Broadway, right up! Only Fifty Cents—jump in and take a ride! Once seated in our "OMNIBUS," we will endeavor to both amuse and instruct you, and give you, in the course of the year, at least fifty cents' worth of Fun and useful information. We will show you up Broadway, down the old Bowery, through Chatham and the other principal streets, giving you ample time to see the Elephant and get a good peep at the Peter Funks, Confidence Operators, &c &c. We will show you the city by day light, by gas light, by moon light, by candle light, by star light, and will drive the "OMNIBUS" to some parts of the city where there is no Night! We will endeavor to post you on all the tricks and traps of the great metropolis, and also amuse many an hour with interesting reading matter. "Throw Physic to the dogs." If you have the Blues, the Dyspepsia, Gout, Rheumatism, or are unfortunately troubled with a scolding wife, we will guarantee to make you forget your troubles, laugh almost against your will, and grow fat. Everybody should subscribe to the "OMNIBUS" at once. The "BROADWAY OMNIBUS" will make its appearance on the first of each month filled with amusement and instruction for all. Price, Fifty Cents a year in advance—three copies to one address—one Dollar; the cheapest paper in the States! Who will get us two subscribers and receive one copy free? All communications should be addressed to

CHAS. P. BRITTON,

Editor, "Broadway Omnibus."

411w6e 207 Pearl Street, N. Y.

FALL TRADE

STOVES, STOVES!

The Subscribers having just returned from from New York, are now prepared to supply the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity with the best and most approved patterns of

Cooking, Parlor & Dining Room

STOVES.

They are constantly receiving all kind of Mechanic's and Farmer's Tools,

IRON, STEEL, NAILS

And all other articles in the Hardware line, which we offer as low as can be bought in the State

DEWEY & CURTIS.

Tecumseh, Oct., 7th 412

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

Correspondence between the Queen and President.

Queen—Where do your people seem most inclined to buy their goods?

President—After investigating the matter, I should say that the store of

A. B. WARD,

Is the most Popular place to Purchase all kinds of Goods for family use—

☞ Wire down and no further communication at Present.

So those of my patrons who desire the first chance at my late arrival of New Goods will please call and purchase before VICTORIA comes over—she is expected to be present at our Ball on Ascension the 16th.

A. B. WARD.

Tecumseh, Sept. 15th.

WILLIAMSON'S PICTURE GALLERY,

USBORNE'S BLOCK.

Miniatures taken on

GLASS, IRON, LEATHER AND PAPER,

Ambrotypes, Melainotypes, Leather and Paper Transfers, taken at

"Prices to suit the Times,"

☞ Satisfaction Warranted,

Tecumseh, Aug. 12th. 406

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, warranted by far, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN.

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for Sale at Apothecaries Hall.

AGRICULTURAL.

From Emery's Journal of Agricultural.

Imphee or African Sugar Cane.

I observe in your recent numbers, many reports of the success of the Chinese sugar cane, but nothing of its rival, the Imphee.

I am by no means disposed to detract from the value of the sorghum saccharatum, for last year we raised and manufactured it with decided success. From about one-quarter of an acre, we manufactured about ninety-four gallons of syrup, superior to the common molasses of our markets, and it kept through the season quite as well. I tried some experiments in sugar making but with only partial success. I obtaind by filtration of the juice, a beautiful clear syrup, and from the bottom of the bottle, in which it remained for some months, a small quantity of sugar was obtained. I tried to make sugar by the same process that is required for the manufacture of maple, but with no marked success.

At the Grundy county Fair, the first premium on syrup was awarded for a specimen which I exhibited, and, intent on finding the genuine sugar plant, I invested the amount of the premium in Imphee seed, paying about the same amount in addition for transportation. The season was so wet that in our level grounds it was impractictable to plant till past the middle of June. Even then, the only available piece of ground was a small patch of sod measuring about twenty rods. On this I planted two varieties of the Imphee, which matured their seed before the frost in the early part of this month. From both these varieties I have obtained syrup of a quality every way superior to that from the Chines sugar cane; and from both I have obtained good sugar without filtering the syrup, or adding anything to clarify except a small quantity of lime. In fact, I took no more care or trouble than in the manufacture of maple sugar.

From these experiments, I am satisfied that if the earlier varieties of the African sugar cane can be introduced into this State, in a few years, we may largely export sugar instead of importing it at present.

The syrup I have manufactured from the Imphee is fully equal to the best golden syrup of our sugar refineries, and has some of the bitter taste complained off in the sorghum.

I am trying some further experiments in reference to the preparation of sugar and syrup from the Imphee, which I will communicate to you in a future paper. Yours truly.

H. M. Tracy Cutler.

Near Dwight, Oct. 21, 1858

Hungarian Grass.

I notice that the land from which I took a crop of Hungarian grass this season has grown to weeds but very little if any, while a piece from which wheat was taken has all sorts of stuff two feet hight. The Hungarian grass appears to use up the weeds. It also is preferred by my horses to timothy, and is entirely free from dust. What say others who have raised it?

K. K. Jones.

Salt in Indiana.

Some hands recently engaged in digging a well near Moore's Hill, Indiana, struck a vein of salt water at the depth of thirty one feet from the surface, which, on being boiled, gave specimens of salt of excellent quality. A stock company was formed to prosecute the work and enter into the manufacture of the article extensively.

Apples should be Saved.

Orcheds are costly, and the fruit thereof should not be wasted. If your swine run in your orched, the "windfalls" will not hurt them. If they do not, it should be the business of Bob, Jack, Mary or Kate to gather them each morning either for feeding or drying.

Cider Saves Pigs.—C. T. Alvord of Wilmington, Vt., when he finds that a sow is inclined to devour her pigs, mixes her feed with cider, until she is somewhat intoxicated. This, it seems, quiets her nerves, and renders her manageable, besides curing her unnatural appetite. Four quarts of good cider is found a large enough dose.

"My dear," said a smiling spouse to her other half, "I am going a shopping to-day, and want a little change." "Pooh!" responded the savage, "that would be no change at all; you go a shopping every day."

Legal Advertisements.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of a certain Mortgage, made and executed by James E. Merritt to William H. Merritt, dated April 2nd A. D. 1853 Recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, Michigan on the 16th day of May A. D. 1855 in Liber Q of Mortgages on folios 40, 41 and 42 and on which there is claimed due the sum of One Hundred and Forty-five Dollars and Fifteen Cents at this date.

Notice is therefore hereby given that the premises in said Mortgage described to wit: all that tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan known and described as follows, viz: The east half of the north east quarter of section thirty-five (35) in town five (5) south range three (3) east excepting five South twenty (20) acres. or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy and pay said amount as aforesaid due with interests and costs, will be sold at public vendue, at the Court Room in the City of Adrian, in said county of Lenawee, on the first day of October next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

JOSEPH E. HALL, Assignee.

STACY & WOOD, Attys for Assignee.

Tecumseh, July 1st, 1858. 398w13

Mortgage Sale.

Mortgage dated April nineteenth A. D. 1856, executed by John W. Myers and Benjamin F. Myers to Lucien B. Bowen and Thomas M. Cooley, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in the County of Lenawee, April 22d, 1856 in liber V of Mortgages folios 721 and 722 and 723. Thomas M. Cooley assigned his interest in said mortgage to Lorenzo Smith, May 28th 1857, and said assignment was duly recorded in said Registers office. The amount claimed to be due at the date hereof, is four hundred and thirty-six dollars, and no proceeding having been had for the recovery or collection thereof, notice is hereby given that the premises described in said mortgage, situate in the township of Dover, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, described as the west half of the the north east quarter, and the south east quarter of the north west quarter, of section number twenty-one, township seven south of range two east, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less will be sold at public auction, on the 27th day of November next at 1 o'clock in the after noon at Odd Fellows Hall in the city of Adrian, being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said county of Lenawee.

LUCIEN B. ROWEN, Mortgagee.

LORENZO SMITH, Assignee.

Dated July 22d, 1858. 402w13

Probate Notice.

State of Michigan, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian on Wednesday the Eight day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight. Present, Fernando C. Beaman, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Amenzo Van Valkenburgh, Randall T. Van Valkenburgh and Elizabeth A. Van Valkenburgh, minors.

On reading and filing the Petition, duly verified of Harlon B. Church, Guardian of said minors, praying that he may be licensed to sell the Real Estate of said minors, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the Eleventh day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said Petition, and that the next-of-kin of said minors, and all other persons interested in said estate are requested to appear at a session of said Court, there to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the Petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said Estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

FERNANDO C. BEAMAN.

[A true Copy] 4003 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale.

JACOB EMENS made a mortgage to P. Bills bearing sale the First day of June, 1857, which mortgage was Recorded in the Registers office for Lenawee County at 11 o'clock, A. M. on the 30th day of October 1857, in Liber Z of mortgages, on Folios 206, 207 and 208, and was given to secure the payment of One Hundred and Twenty-two Dollars and Twenty Cents, and interest at ten per cent.

All of said amount and interest is due and unpaid, and no proceedings at law have been commenced to foreclose or collect said mortgage, and there is now claimed to be due and unpaid the One hundred and thirty-four dollars and forty two cents on said mortgage, therefore the premises in said mortgage described to wit, the east half of the north west quarter of section thirty four in Town five south of range five east in the State of Michigan containing Eighty acres, (same more or less) will be sold, at the Circuit Court Room, in Odd Fellows Hall, in the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, at public auction to the highest bidder on the Tenth day of September next at one o'clock P. M.

PERLEY BILLS Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, June 1st, 1858. 393d13

The above Sale is postponed, and will be made at the same place at One o'clock, P. M. on Saturday the 25th instant.

PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, September 10th, 1858.

The above Sale is further postponed, and will be made at the same place at one o'clock P. M. on Monday, October 4th, 1858. PERLEY BILLS, Mortgagee.

Tecumseh, September 25th, 1858

Guardian Sale

By virtue of a licence to me granted by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County and State of Michigan, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, at the dwelling house of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh, in the Township of Franklin, on the Seventh day of December next, at one o'clock in the afternoon of that day, the undivided twenty-four, forty-ninth parts of all that tract or parcel of land situate in the Township of Franklin, in said County, and described as follows, to wit: The East half of the South East quarter of section Sixteen in Township five South of range three (3) East, (subject to the right of dower of Elizabeth VanValkenburgh therein,) being all the interest of Amenzo VanValkenburgh, Randall T. VanValkenburgh, and Elizabeth A. VanValkenburgh minors therein.

Terms of sale made known on day of sale.

HARLOW B. CHURCH,
Guardian of said Minors.

Dated October 18th, 1858. 414w6

Commissioners Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Commissioners to examine and adjust all demands against the estate of Abram Hair, late of Tecumseh, in said county, deceased, will meet at the late residence of said deceased in said township on Saturday the Thirteenth day of November and Saturday the Third day of April next, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon on each of those days for the purpose of receiveing and passing upon such claims.

We further give notice, that six months next ensuing the 9th inst., hath been allowed by said Judge of Probate to creditors to present their claims to us for allowance.

G D PERRY, }
A. J. HUNTER, } Commssioners

Tecumseh, Oct., 14th, 1858 [413w4

Mortgage Sale.

Sarah Niblack and Sylvenus H. Niblack, made their Mortgage to William B. Whitnah, bearing date August 27th, 1856, to secure the payment of One Hundred and Eighty-one Dollars and interest at ten per cent, one year from the date thereof, and have made default in the payment of the same. Said mortgage was recorded September 8th, 1856, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Lenawee County Registers office, in Book H of mortages, on pages 98 and 99 There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, Two hundred and Twenty Dollars and Twenty-one Cents and no proceedings at law have been instituted to collect the same: Notice is therefore hereby given, that the land in said mortgage mentioned, to wit. That certain piece or parcel of land situate upon Block 11, of Henry L. Hewitt's plat or addition to the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, bound ed as follows: Commencing on the west line of Pearl street in said village, at the north-east corner of lands heretofore sold by C. A. Stacy to William McComb, thence west on the north line of said McCombs twelve rods, thence north parallel with Pearl street six rods, thence east parallel with the first line twelve rods, to the west line of Pearl street, thence south on said west line of Pearl street six rods, to the place of begining, will be sold at public auction on the 4th, day of February next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of Lenawee, in the city of Adrian.

WILLIAM B. WHITNAH, Mortgagee.

BILLS & BAXTER, Attys.

Tecumseh, October 27th, 1858. [410w13

CRACKERS.

A Prime article of Cleveland's Crackers by the barrel or pound, at reduced prices.

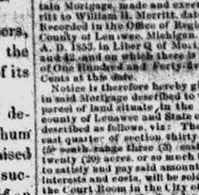
January 4th Union Hall.

TIMOTHY SEED.

For Sale by P. TINDALL.

Miscellaneous.

Hardware! Hardware!



NEW HARDWARE!!

PLEASE GIVE US A CALL

At the New Brick Mammoth Store,
Just opposite Ward & Moore,
There's Hardware, cheap, good and new
For Sale by Messrs STRONG & DREW.

☞ We are now Receiving

Stoves, Iron and Nails by the Ton,
And we CAN'T and SHAN'T be outdone,
We can Beat Adrian all Holler,
If we don't we'll give you a dollar.
Selling Nails at $4 a keg,
From that we shan't budge a peg.
Iron for Wagons at $4 per hundred,
And yet more that might be numbered.
Nice Cutlery and Tools of every size,
And every thing you may surmise.
Such piles of Tin and Wooden Ware,
Full enough to make you stare.
Patrons and Friends, Come one, Come all,
Be sure you find the Gothic Hall.
Don't fear the Hardness of times,
At Strong & Drew's you can save your dimes

Tecumseh, Sept, 24th 358tf

PROFESSOR MOTT'S

Febrifuge Wine!

An unrivalled medicine for the cure of Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Loss of Appetite, and every Disease arising from a disorganized condition of an impure or defective state of the blood.

☞ This Wine in put up in Quart Bottles and offered to the Public as the cheapest and most reliable known Remedy for the above Diseases.

JOHN WINER, Sole Proprietor,
New York.

☞ To whom all orders must be addressed.

TO THE PUBLIC

For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all other Bilious Fevers, the most pleasant and certain Remedy, is

PROF. MOTT'S FEBRIFUGE WINE.

Its virtues have been repeatedly put to the test in the severest cases of Ague, and it has invariably resulted in the complete and permanent extermination of this troublesome complaint from the system. It matters not how long or how short a time the disease may have afflicted you, the Wine will certainly work a cure in a few days. One bottle is in general sufficient, and the very worst forms yield to the use of two. It is kept for sale in quart bottles, by every respectable Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines throughout the Western States.

John Winer, Proprietor, New York.
Curtis & Stilson, Agents, Tecumseh.
July, 1858. 400m4

CHAIN PUMPS!

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Chain Pumps of all Sizes and Kinds. The Tube is made of the best white oak, and the curbs of the best black walnut.

The materials can be found at Strong & Drew's New Hardware Store, or at the Shop of the Subscriber, a few doors south of the old farnace, where he will be pleased to wait upon all who may favor him with a call.

☞ Repairing done on Short Notice.

For Reference, apply to M. A. Patterson, C. A. Stacy, P. Bills, J. G. Roberts, A. Anderson, and A. James.

AMOS VAN ORMER.

Tecumseh, September 3d, 1857. 355tf

FOR SALE.

At a Bargain, 140 acres of Improved Land with good Buildings, fine orchards and gardens, in the town of Franklin. Terms made easy.

80 acres of land near the this village.
105 acres of improved land in Jackson Co.
160 " wild land in Allegan County.
80 " " Eaton county.
5 Houses and Lots in this village, also Ten Lots, nicely situated in different parts of this village.
50 thousand Pine Shingle.
50 " Ash and Cottonwood Shingle.
1000 feet of Buttonwood, Cotton and Oak Lumber, for sale Cheap by

B. J. BIDWELL.

Tecumseh, March 18th 1858.

Detroit Eye Infirmary.

Dr J. T. TERRY, formerly of this place, and late of Toledo, has opened an office in Detroit,

No 94 Woodard Avenue,

over Doughty & Straw's Bookstore.

He devotes his attention exclusively to the treatment of the eye, and he hopes that his experience and success for the past fourteen years will insure him a continuation of public confidence and patronage.

Detroit, September 16th, 409y

Farmers Save Your Money,

By buying a new Seperator and Horse Power for 1858. For sale by R. TINDALL.

These Machines are R. T. Merill's Double Milled and Grain Saving Casting Seperators Patented April 8th 1851 and improved 1857 Manufactured by Wm. Brown, Battle Creek Mich., and took the first premium and diploma at the Mich State Fair for 1857, and has taken both State and Co., premiums where ever exhibited, for the last six years, and cannot be surpassed for DURABILITY, Workmanship, Fast and Perfect Threshing, and Saving of Grain, A decided improvement on anything of the kind heretofore offered in this vicinity.

Wm. Brown, Proprietor.
R. T. Merrill, Agent.

☞ For further particulars please call on

R. TINDALL.

Tecumseh, April 8th 1858. 386tf

New Advertisements.

GIFTS! GIFTS!! GIFTS!!! Splendid Gifts!

At 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

The Only Original Gift Book Store.

G. G. Evans would inform his friends and the public that his Star Gift Book Store and Publishing House is permanently established in Brown's splendid Iron Building, 439 Chestnut Street, two doors below Fifth, where the purchaser of each book, at the regular retail price, will receive one of the following gifts, valued at from 25 cents to $100:—

	Each Worth.
550 Patent English Lever Gold Watches	$100 00
550 Patent Anchor do do	50 00
400 Ladies' Gold Watches, 18k cases	35 00
600 Silver Hunting Watches warranted,	25 00
500 Parlor Timepieces,	10 00
500 Cameo Sets, Ear Drops and Pins,	10 00
500 Ladies' Gold Bracelets,	5 to 12 00
500 Gents' Vest and Fob Chains,	10 00
1000 Gold Lockets, (large size double case)	10 00
2000 Gold Lockets, (small size)	5 00
1000 Gold Pencil Cases, with Gold Pens,	5 00
1000 Extra Gold Pens, with cases and holders	3 00
2500 Gold Pencils (Ladies')	2 00
2200 Gold Pens, with Silver Pencils,	2 00
2500 Ladies Gold Pens, with Cases and Holders	1 50
6300 Gold Rings (Ladies')	1 00
2000 Gents. Gold Rings.	2 50
2500 Ladies' Gold Breastpins,	2 50
3500 Misses' do	1 50
3000 Pocket Knives.	1 00
2000 Sets Gents' Gold Bosom Studs,	2 00
2000 do Sleeve Buttons,	2 50
2000 Pairs of Ladies' Ear Drops,	2 50
3500 Ladies' Pearl Card Cases,	5 00
16000 Ladies' Cameo, Jet or Mosaic Pins,	5 00
3500 Ladies' Shawl and Ribbon Pins	1 50
5000 Articles of Gold Jewelry, Gift Books, &c. &c. not enumerated in the above, worth from 25 cents to $25.

Evan's new Catalogue, which is sent free to all parts of the country, contains all the most popular books of the day, and the newest publications, all of which will be sold as low as can be obtained at other stores.

Agents wanted in every town in the Union Those desireing to act, can obtain full particulars by addressing as above.

N. B.—Being largely interested in publishing books, and buying from other publishers in immense quantities for cash, I am enabled to make larger discounts to Country Agents and Book Dealers than can be had at any other house in the country.

Any book published in the United States the retail price of which is one dollar or upwards, will be promptly sent, Gift included, An extra $1 Book and Gift given to any person ordering ten books to be sent to one address.

Send for a Catalogue, Address,

G. G. EVANS, Publisher.

407m3] 439 Chestnut Street, Philad, Pa.

Novel and Extraordinary!

NEW SCHEDULE OF PREMIUMS

OF THE

United States Journal Publishing House,

Encouraged by the Unexampled Success of our novel and extraordinary Premium Offers, in the circulation of the long established and popular pictorial monthly, the United States Journal, and in the sale of our valuable Books, we now announce our new programme of premiums for the season of 1858 and 1859, embracing the celebrated Art Union Series of twelve large and splendid Steel Plate Engravings, and a schedule of Gold Watches, Rich Jewelry of all kinds, gold Pens, etc., offered on a scale of liberality surpassing all previous offers.

Our Jewelry is composed exclusively of the richest first class articles, warranted to be solid gold, or precisely as represented, and every person selects his own premium Ours is the only Publishing House that offers Premiums on this plan, or that furnishes this class of Jewelry.

The following is list of a few of the articles, with the amount of the club for which it is given as a premium, and the postage required for its delivery by mail.

Splendid Detached Lever, Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch, warranted a perfect time-keeper	$60 00
Elegant Lepine Enameled Dial 18 carat Gold Watch	50 00
Large Double-slide Gold Pencil and Gold Pen, warranted to be solid gold throughout	6 00 9c
Beautiful Gold Pencil, warranted to be solid throughout	2 00 9c
Gold Pencil, Gold Watch Key and Gold Tooth Pick combined	8 00 9c
Extension Silver Case Pencil, warranted same as coin, and gold pen	2 50 9c
Rich Gold Band Bracelet	4 00 9c
Fancy Gold Mosaic Bracelet	8 00 9c
Superb lined Gold Locket, engraved and turned	4 00 9c
Set of Gold Cameo Ear Drops	6 00 6c
Set of Gold Coral Ear Drops	6 6c
Gold Cameo Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Florentine Pin for Lady	5 00 6c
Gold Barr Cluster Pin for Gent	2 00 3c
Set of Gold Cameo Studs	2 00 3c
Set of Engraved, lined gold Studs
Set of Gold Cornelian Sleeve Buttons for Lady or Gent	4 00 3c
Superb Friendship Ring, solid 18 carat gold, richly enameled	4 00 3c
A Miss's Ring, solid 16 carat gold set with stone	2 00 3c
Among the Engravings are: The Signing of the Death Warrant of Lady Jane Grey, from the celebrated painting by Daniel Huntington. 22 inches long by 17 inches wide	1 00 12
The Trapper's Last Shot, from the great painting by W Banney, 18x24	1 00 12
The Angler's Daughter, from the great painting by Landseer	50 9c
Sparking, from the painting by F. W. Edwards	50 9c

(For full Schedule, see our Catalogue.)

The United States Journal contains sixteen large folio pages, ably edited and profusely illustrated. Price only 50 cents a year.

Our Catalogue contains over 1,000 of the most useful, entertaining, and popular works of the day.

Any person sending us 50 cents or more, either for the Journal or for Books at the lowest prices, is entitled to the same amount in any of the premiums of his own selection from the schedule. He is also entitled to extra Premiums amounting to $1, and extra Books or Journals amounting to $1, for every club of $10, thus receiving for $10, Books or Journals amounting to $11, and Premiums amounting to $11. The amount to prepay postage on the Premiums, should accompany each order.

Every reader is invited to form a club, and we wish to arrange with some person at every Post Office, to act as local agent and correspondent, who will be richly paid therefore

Specimens and Catalogue sent free on application. Send on a few subscriptions at once, and select your premiums from the above, or when you receive the Catalogue.

J. M. EMERSON & CO., Publishers.

400 406 Broadway, New York.

GUNSMITHING.

The Subscriber is prepared to Manufacture Rifles and Shot-Guns in a workmanlike manner. Target Rifles with patent muzzle and Telescopic sights made to order, equalled by few, and excelled by none, for long range and accurate shooting

Also, Double and Single Shot Guns—Rifle and Shot, Pistols—Fishing Tackle and all other articles in the Sporting line. Locks made to order. Keys fitted, and Repairing done in the best manner All Work Warranted.

JEROME ALLEN

Tecumseh, May 18th, 1857.

A CHOICE selection of Perfumery for sale at Apothecaries Hall.

Miscellaneous.

CHEAP READING.

THE

VERY BEST FAMILY PAPER PUBLISHED

IS

The New York Press.

It contains 16 large closely printed quarto pages, giving during the year one fourth more reading than any of the three dollar monthlies. It is filled with the very best Tales, Sketches, &c., that can be procured—It is printed from clear, new type, on fine paper, in a convenient shape for binding, and is handsomely Illustrated; all for $2 a year.

Specimen copies sent free, on application. Canvassers wanted in every town and City in the country to solicit subscriptions, to whom a liberal commission will be given.

Address DANIEL ADEE,
375m8ov&c. 211 Centre St. N. Y.

Miss Southworth,
Colonel G. W. Crockett,
Charles Burdett,
Thomas Dunn English, M. D.
Henry Clapp, Jun.,
George Arnold,
Samuel Young,
Mrs Anna Wheelpley,
Miss Virginia Vaughan,
Mrs Di Vernon,
Miss Hattie Clare,
Finley Johnson,

Write only for the
GOLDEN PRIZE
GOLDEN PRIZE.

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE

GOLDEN PRIZE.
GOLDEN PRIZE.

THE GOLDEN PRIZE.

ILLUSTRATED.

DEAN & SALTER, Successors to Becket & Co

The New York Weekly Golden Prize is one of the largest and best literary papers of the day—an Imperial Quarto, containing eight pages or forty columns, of the most interesting and fascinating reading matter, from the pens of the very first writers of the day.

Elegantly Illustrated Every Week

A PRESENT.

Worth from 50 Cents to 500 Dollars.

Will be given to each subscriber immediately on receipt of the subscription money. This is presented as a Memento of Friendship, and not as an inducement to obtain subscribers.

TERMS.

One Copy for one year	$2.00 and 1 Present.
One Copy for two years	3.50 and 2 Presents.
One Copy for three years	5.00 and 3 "
One Copy for five years	8.00 and 5 "

AND TO CLUBS.

Three Copies, one year	5.00 and 3 "
Five Copies, one year	8.00 and 5 "
Ten Copies, one year	15.00 and 10 "
Twenty-One copies, one year	30.00 and 21 "

The articles to be given away are comprised in the following list:

2 Packages of Gold, containing	$500 00	each.
5 do do do	200 00	do
10 do do do	100 00	do
100 Silver hunting cased watches	100 00	do
50 Gold Watches	75 00	do
50 do	60 00	do
100 do	50 00	do
200 Ladies' Gold Watches	33 00	do
200 Silver Hunting cased watches	20 00	do
500 Silver Watches	$10 00 to $25 00	do
1000 Gold guard, vest, and Fob Chains	$10 00 to 30 00	do

Gold Lockets, Bracelets, Breeches, Ear Drops, Cuff and Breast Pins, Sleeve buttons, Rings, Shirt Studs Watch Keys, Gold and Silver Thimbles, and a variety of other articles, worth from 50 cents to $15 each.

We will present to every person sending us 50 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $40, to any one sending us 100 subscribers, at $2 each, a Gold Watch, worth $60. Every subscriber will also receive a present

Immediately on receipt of the money, the subscribers name will be entered upon our book, and the present will be forwarded within one week, by mail or express, post paid.

☞ All communications should be addressed to

DEAN & SALTER,
Proprietors.
395] 335 Broadway, New York.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

WEEKLY TOLEDO BLADE.

During the past year this old and popular Newspaper has been

GREATELY IMPROVED

In typographical appearance, and in the character and variety of its contents and it now, in the extent and variety of its matter is

UNSURPASSED

By any Paper within the range of its

Wide Circulation.!

The publishers refer with pride to the improvements of the past as the guarantee that its future will be one of continued progress.

The aim of the publishers of

The Weekly Blade

Will ever be to make it a

High Toned, Useful and Instructive JOURNAL.

And they will, therefore, exclude from its columns whatever has a tendency to debauch the morals or enervate taste. At the same time great care will be taken to please its readers by Providing for their entertainment whatever seems appropriate from the abundant stores of modern literature.

Among the topics thus embraced may be mentioned—

A WIDE RANGE OF NEWS ITEMS.
POLITICAL NEWS AND ARTICLES,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS,
RECENT INVENTIONS,
SKETCHES, POETRY, TALES, &C.

Together with the best washington correspondence to be found in Western papers.

WIT and HUMOR also receive a full share of attention Especial pains are taken to furnish the latest and most accurate quotations of the

Produce, Grain, Cattle and Money

MARKETS

Of the principal cities of the Union, as well as Liverpool and London.

A special department will hereafter be devoted to the

Interests of the Farmer

The proprietors invite a comparison between the Weekly Toledo Blade and any Western Weekly Journal, feeling assured that it is well worthy the attention of the reading public as a Good, Interesting, Agreeable and Valuable Newspaper for all classes of readers and especially as a

Paper for the Fireside.

The wide circulation which the Weekly Blade has attained enables the proprietors to offer it at the following

Extremely Low Rates.

To Single Subscribers $1.50 per annum, Invariably in Advance.

CLUB RATES.

10 copies to one P. O.	12.50	per annum.
15 " " "	15.00	" "
20 " " "	20.00	" " and

one extra copy to the person getting the club.

Payment to be made in advance, and the papers will be addressed to each individual when the names are sent and discontinued at the expiration of the time for which payment is received.

☞ SPECIMEN COPIES SENT ANY PART OF THE UNITED STATES FREE OF CHARGE.

New York Advertisements.

DO YOU EVER WANT ANY THING FRO NEW YORK?

IF SO, SEND YOUR ORDER TO

F. S. CABOT & CO.,

BUYERS, 85 BARCLAY STREET.

Almost every one, certainly every merchant, has sometimes very strongly wished that he had a reliable correspondent and friend living in this great metropolis to whom he could send for the transaction of some business or the purchase of some article. If he could not make it convenient to go to the city to do, or to buy himself, with full confidence that the business would be well done, and at a reasonable expense to him. Having become satisfied by a considerably extended observation and experience that this is an almost universal want, we have established our house to supply it. We have found that thousands of persons from Maine to Georgia are constantly sending to us to execute orders, intrusting purchases varying in amount from 25 cents to as many hundred dollars, and we believe in every case, these employings have been satisfied both with the quality of the services rendered and the equity of our charges. We mean that our charges, shall in all cases be fair and reasonable, being predicated on the line and labor consumed. It is certain, that being constantly in the market, buying largely for cash, we can BUY BETTER than any single purchaser can. In fact, we save to our friends much more in prices than the commission we charge. No man, who only occasionally comes here can be familiar with a market as extensive as this. We being here all the time, are thoroughly acquainted with it, and know where to go to find everything in first hands and at the lowest rates. We have found that many of our distant friends wish to send us country produce to sell, sometimes the proceeds to be invested in goods sometimes in money. Accordingly we have made the very best arrangements to enable us to do justice to those who may consign to us. Our charges for selling are usually five per cent. although in special cases of very large or very small transactions, equity might require it to be varied from that. We have a circular giving more at length the scope and plan of our business, with statement of our charges for buying some of the leading articles, which will be sent on application.

Letters of inquiry only should contain stamps to prepay the reply.

REFER BY PERMISSION TO

Wm. G. Lambert, of A. & A. Lawrence & Co., New York.
Wm. L. King, of Naylor & Co., New York.
David S. Brown, of David S. Brown & Co., Philadelphia.
Joseph Cabot, Philadelphia.
G. Baty Blake, of Blake, Howe & Co., Boston.
F. Cabot & Co., Boston.
Stanfield, Wentworth & Co., Boston.
J. C. Cabot, of Wales, Cabot & Co., St Louis.
And many others.

N. B.—Particular attention is given to procuring Insurance Policies, (Life, Fire and Marine) in the best and most reliable offices. Information furnished of the standing and responsibility of Insurance Companies, Railroads and other corporations.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION

PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

This HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptious practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINE FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to say and that the Associat on commands the highest Medical skill of the age and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, for the year ending January 1st 1858, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis in the vice of Onanism or Self abuse, &c. and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected sense.

An admirable Report on Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c. &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment Dr. GEORG B. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2, South Ninth Street Philadelphia Pa.

By order of the Directors.

GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary
396w EZRA D. REAREWELL, President

SPRING MEDICINE.

GET THE PUREST,
GET THE CHEAPEST,
GET THE MOST EFFICACIOUS

In short, get THE BEST, which are Dr. ROBACK'S SCANDINAVIAN BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD PILLS. These wonderful Medicines are entirely vegetable, leave no bad effects, and can not by any possibility injure the most delicate constitution. Never was a good Spring Medicine so necessary as now, for in addition to the skin diseases and deranged Stomach and Liver, which every winter produces, it is most evident to all who are accustomed to note the powerful influence for good or ill that the mind has upon the body that the anxiety of mind caused by the late wide-spread money troubles, has injured the general health of almost every one. Then cleanse, strengthen and purify your system with the Scandinavian Remedies, and you will probably save yourself from serious illness the coming Summer.

☞ See Advertisement.

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.

—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of Study devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhilation—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not adopt the use of Medical Inhilation of any kind to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary, that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are so well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who enter the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as secret, and that the medicines, the same as used in the institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers &c., &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or Canadas. Terms—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz: $10 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows $5 to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $5 at the expiration of the month. If the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment, Patients, by giving a full history of their case and their symptoms in full can be Cured as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over 30 days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No 320 Broadway, cor. Twelfth St. N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our improved apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and investigated.

eAco409m6

Pure Solar Salt Ground.

A New and Superior article—also Common Fine, Coarse and Dairy Salt, for sale by Sept, 16th E. Tindall.

WHITE FISH—Clark's Detroit Inspection, the best, for sale cheap by E Tindall.

Miscellaneous.

DR. ROBACK'S Blood Purifier and Blood Pills,

THE GREAT

SCANDINAVIAN VEGETABLE REMEDIES.

☞ To Those Who Think and Reason.

The Intelligent in this Country, are always ready to test the merits of a permanent discovery or invention, and if satisfied of its excellence, to adopt, approve and recommend it. It is to this thinking, reasoning class who always look before they leap, and whose honest and rational judgment gives tone to public opinion, that Dr. ROBACK'S BLOOD PURIFIER and PILLS owe their immense success. When this

Great Ambassador of Health

First announced that his Scandinavian Remedies were infallible in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Disease, Sexual Weakness, Scrofula, Premature Old Age, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Acne, Blotches, Pile, Hemorrhoids or Piles, Weak Stomach, Colic, Diarrhea, etc., he stated the grounds in which they